Preface

Compiler's Preface

This book addresses two separate questions. First, how closely can two essentially independent translations of the New Testament from Greek into English approach each other? Secondly, is it possible to compress into a single volume most of the information needed to illuminate the more serious and frequent questions that pertain to the true Greek text and English translation of the New Testament?

John Nelson Darby (JND) translated the Bible into English during the late 1800's, having previously issued translations in both German and French. His translations were informed by the results of the labors of textual critics in the middle 1800's. A world-wide traveller and preacher as well as a prolific writer, he left some 34 volumes of Collected Writings and other works, including a number of hymns. He was born in 1800 and died in 1882. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, with a degree in law, but became an Anglican curate in Ireland until his life changed its course in about 1827. Thereafter, he was often connected in men's minds with the so-called "Plymouth Brethren", among whom he had a leading role.

William Kelly of Blackheath (WK) was profoundly influenced by JND, edited his Collected Writings and helped prepare his translation of the Bible into English. Accordingly, we may suppose he read nearly every word that JND ever wrote and it is notorious that he agreed with essentially every one. He was born in 1821 in Ireland and educated at Dublin University and was identified with the so-called "Plymouth Brethren" from 1841. He lived until 1906 and wrote nearly as much as JND did. For most of his life he was active in the publication of books, pamphlets and journals. In connection with his many expository works, he published a new and independent version of most, but not all, of the New Testament.

Here then were two able men of the same era, with the same or nearly the same religious opinions, with about the same level of education at Irish universities, and with comparable levels of mental energy. They knew each other well, and read each other's works. Each of these men had as his goal in translation a literal version that represented in English as closely as possible exactly what was written in the Greek original. How closely do their two versions compare? The reader of this volume is invited to compare the two versions carefully to note the degree of variation in rendering that appears. If it seems to you that the two versions are in the main quite similar in sense, then we may ask ourselves what the source may be of the great variety of differences in rendering to be found in the large number of modern English versions of the New Testament. No doubt, some of the differences in the modern versions come from differences in abilities of the translators, differences in education of the translators, differences in religious opinions, differences in cultural setting in which the translators lived, etc. etc. Yet I judge that these two versions are so similar that one of the reasons for the wide range of meanings in modern English versions is that not all of the translators have been equally committed to producing in English as closely as possible exactly what was written in the Greek original. Notes are added to WK's version from his expository works which give reasons and opinions for the precision with which he selected the words of his English version. These notes have the cumulative effect of supporting the opinion about many modern English versions that was just expressed.

The second goal of this work was to compile comments by WK on the text and translation of the New Testament. They vary from slight notices to extended discussions, sometimes reflecting (perhaps) WK's estimate of the seriousness of the question at hand. In one place he remarked on the textual critical remarks to be found in most of his expository works:

And so far is it from being true that my books referred to contain a parade of Greek and various readings, that, on the contrary, every scholar must see that I refrain from these topics save where the truth would be, in my judgment, seriously affected by reticence. Further, it was my dislike to talk of "the Greek" and "the right translation," which led me, as I do not infrequently, to speak of the blessed "Spirit of God" saying so and so, which I think I never do unless perfectly sure of my ground. (Bible Treasury 6:218)

The book of Revelation is, however, an obvious exception to the substance of this remark. In their totality, the notes compiled here do not amount to a critical apparatus. Nevertheless, they could be used to evaluate a modern version, especially in those passages where the more serious questions arise, by comparison with the judgment of a translator of the late 1800's, because WK wrote with clarity and a forceful style.

The source of each passage printed here as WK's version as well as a partial bibliography of his expository works is given at the end of this volume. He edited The Prospect from 1848 to 1850, and The Bible Treasury from January, 1857, to 1906 (25 volumes). All unsigned editorial matter, answers to correspondents and unsigned book reviews in these were assumed to be by WK unless otherwise known to be by other authors. WK also contributed to The Christian Annotator from 1854 to 1857. Many of his contributions to this journal were reissued by William Reid in the Bible Witness and Review for the Preservation and Defense of Revealed Truth (1877); these reissued annotations, slightly edited, were used here wherever applicable. An attempt was made to exclude purely expository remarks and to include all critical comments that illuminated WK's opinions on the text and translation of the New Testament into English. In gathering his version from his expositions, the running translation used in the text of the exposition was always refused in favor of a complete translation published separately at the beginning of the expository volume, where available.

Preface

Where the running translation had to be used, the paragraph markings indicate how WK broke up his translation for ease of commentary. In addition, it is possible that he might have revised the final punctuation at the end of each of these portions for inclusion in a larger translation. Missing from WK's version are most of Mat., Mk., and Lk., as well as several brief passages (Jn. 1:47, 1 Thess. 5:28, 2 P. 3:8-10, 18, part of 1 Jn. 3:10).

The plan of the work, then, is to print JND's and WK's versions in parallel columns. In the WK version, each word upon which he has commented is underlined (a "Λ" mark denotes comments on words that WK did not admit into his version). Where the verse number is underlined, the comment embraces the whole verse or it was not clear to which exact words the comment referred. The comments themselves are given separately in verse order. Before each comment, part of the passage commented on is indicated (usually from the WK version, sometimes from E.E.W.'s notes in Exp. of Mark or Exp. of Luke or from JND's version). In the Revelation, comments from Rev. of John, 1860, often cite the original manuscripts, comments from The Prospect often give the opinions of various editors, and comments from WK's expositions often give his own opinions of the same questions. Where possible, these three kinds of comments are listed in this same order. Comments of a general nature are collected in an Introduction. In some cases, redundant comments or comments that seemed designed mainly to describe other versions than his own were omitted.

In issuing this work long after the deaths of JND and WK, we may ask ourselves what they would have thought of it. WK once wrote:

Vain souls who yearn after and affect original power are too feeble to act candidly and with freedom, and are apt to shew extreme jealousy lest they might be thought to make use of another; if they do not, it is to their own loss and that of their readers; for "non omnia possumus omnes." (Lect. Intro. to the Minor Prophets, p. 312)

In just that way, this volume uses the comments on the text and the translations of others in hopes that the reader may find something of profit.

Moreover, the reader should note that if this volume had been prepared in his own lifetime, WK might have revised some of his comments more carefully, might have translated some passages more uniformly. Some of the passages in the WK version were extracted from brief scraps interspersed in his expositions, and have, sometimes, an informality of character that seems a little out of place when presented as part of a formal translation of the whole New Testament. The reader is urged not to make WK an offender for a word. His comments were made over more than half a century. He even translated the book of Revelation four times (1850, 1860, 1871 and 1901)! So if a few slight contradictions are found in the notes, perhaps they were made at different times or in different contexts.

Lastly, WK once remarked on the labors of those who issue copies of the works of others, as is done here:

I have had a deal of writing pass through my hands, but I hardly have seen any, where there is not some mistake made. Particularly when the writing is a copy of another, it is almost always so, and more particularly when the man whose thoughts and words are copied is above the common people. (Lect. on Jude, p.21-3)

For such errors the compiler asks forgiveness from the reader and welcomes suggestions for additions, improvements and corrections.

Lastly, the compiler acknowledges and thanks those who have loaned him out-of-print materials, the many typists who volunteered at various times to assist in the typing, those who helped in proofreading, and others who helped in prayers. These last, the compiler joins in asking that God may use this work for the help and blessing of His people.

INTRODUCTION

I. On the Inspiration of the Scriptures

The Bible is Perfect

...but sure I am that the very points men ordinarily fix on as blots or imperfections in the inspired word are, when understood, among the strongest proofs of the admirable guidance of the Holy Spirit of God. Nor do I speak with such assurance because of the least satisfaction in any attainments, but because every lesson I have learnt and so learn from God's word brings with it the ever accumulating conviction that Scripture is perfect (Lect. Intro to Gospels, p. 91, 92).

[W. K. has written a book, God's Inspiration of the Scriptures, and he held that] there is not such a thing as an arbitrary word in all the Bible (Lect. on Jude, p. 38).

God Controlled the Writers

... the Holy Spirit inspired Paul. Does He not know better than any when to urge this topic, when that? And as to the inspired writers, I know of no sober believer who holds their omniscience, but that of Him who employed them to communicate the truth. It is common, but incorrect, to speak of their infallibility; whereas evidently none can be said to be infallible but God.

The true statement of inspiration is not that the writer became omniscient or infallible, but that the Holy Ghost so controlled his writing as to convey the truth without admixture of error and perfectly for His own design. Hence He might with perfect consistency withhold absolute recollection on a given point here, or a distinct command from the Lord on another point, as in chapter 7 [of 1 Cor.].

But all this leaves unimpaired the divine authority of what He does convey or command as from the Lord. Those orthodox as to inspiration may be incorrect in phrase or a shade of thought; but this in no way lessens the seriousness — indeed sin — of enfeebling inspiration, especially in these perilous times, when God's word is the grand resource of the faithful. For the simple but grave fact that it is His word is not only a truth in itself clearly revealed, but it is the basis and support of every other. Weaken inspiration, and you jeopard all else that concerns God and man, and you may end with nothing better than human ideas (Notes on 1 Cor., p. 21, 22).

The Words Convey the Thoughts of God

It is high time for every christian to stand for the word of God, and for every written word of His. The difficult times of the last days are come. Those that hesitate their dislike, or openly declare it, against what they call "verbal" inspiration, are apt to lose all right sense of God's word. It might be profitable, for such as shrink from the inspiration of the word, to say what remains for themselves to depend on. If you give up to the infidel the words of scripture, he will not leave you the thoughts of God. You may try to separate the truth from the words of God; but truth is communicated by words; and the apostle claims to speak "in words which the Holy Ghost teacheth." The Bible is the only book which possesses such a character; and the christian who is led by the Spirit in searching the word of God will learn how worthy of all confidence is the only and absolutely perfect communication of the mind of God (Bible Treasury 16:66).

Inspiration Exceeds Human Understandings

Here let me take the opportunity of stating that we must not be misled by the word "inspiration" here [in the book of Job]. Elihu does not claim it in the same sense in which the apostle Paul applies it to all Scripture. He uses it simply as the source of that understanding which God gives to man, and in no way pretends to the unfailing, absolute, perfectly communicated word of God. When we talk about "inspiration," we mean the mind of God conveyed so that error is absolutely excluded. Does Elihu herein pretend to any such thing? Would he talk about his opinion if it were so? This is the more necessary, because often one sees danger through a tendency, on the one hand, to let slip the force of Scripture as inspired of God, and, on the other, to weaken it by giving other men or writings such a name as "inspired," which can only be in a lower poetic or figurative sense. The context must always direct us in deciding such questions. In the present instance of Elihu the context seems to me conclusive that inspiration, as applied to him here, does not mean what Paul predicates of every Scripture in 2 Tim. 3. Of the Scriptures, of course, the book of Job is part, and so inspired. The Holy Ghost, from whom it came, whoever might be the instrument, gave us a book as truly inspired of God as 2 Tim., which vouches for all. But the inspiration of the Almighty of which Elihu speaks does not go beyond the source of human understanding (Bible Treasury N7:149).

Neo-Criticism is Essentially Infidel

A journal of the day sent me gives the Dean of Westminster's theory of inspiration, which is really a denial of God in it. Scientific discovery [?] is assumed to have revealed facts plainly inconsistent with Genesis taken literally, and to cast Christians on Origen's mischievous allegorising. The Dean is one of those who do not go as to miracles all the lengths of many Germans, Dutch, and Americans, to say nothing of some Britons. He talks of the vast difference between the historical evidence for our Lord's miracles, and that for many of the O. T. miracles. But such a defence cannot long resist the dead weight of unbelief. Evidence of sense was enough to render inexcusable those who saw; but it is slight compared with God's testimony in Scripture. If men did believe on evidence only, the Lord did not believe in them (John 2:24, 25). Man must be born anew for God's Kingdom; and this is of the Holy Ghost through faith, greater than any miracles, which are a sign to unbelievers, but have per se no power to bring sinners to God. Modern scientists, who dare to assail scripture will have to mend their hypotheses as well as their exegesis; in fact they are scarce better than heathen philosophers. But think of the folly and the sin of professed Christian teachers being influenced by speculative anthropologists, astronomers, biologists, geologists, against God's written word! Ascertained facts are very distinct from human theories, and have never been proved to clash with Holy Writ, ardently desired as this issue has been by some.

Introduction

As to the Dean's principles, they are not of faith and cannot please God, any more than secure the truth to man. "Biblical criticism proper" is the reducing of the current text, injured by human copying and also by editorial guesswork, to the very words of the Holy Spirit as originally written. But neo-criticism is essentially infidel; because it consists of man's mind sitting in judgment on what no Christian can reasonably doubt to be the deposit for faith through the inspired writers. What he calls "the science of literary and historical investigation," or the self-styled "higher criticism," is unbelieving, illegitimate, and spurious, certainly as applied to Scripture, and uncertain for any other ancient book, such as Homer for instance, in the hands of even a first-rate scholar like Karl Lachmann.

The church of God did not take its stand on any such humanitarian ground, but persevered in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, in the breaking of the bread and the prayers. Christians accepted without question, as our Lord taught them, the written word as authoritative and beyond controversy. It was after the departure of the apostles and prophets (the foundation on which the house of God stands), that wicked men and impostors came out more openly, as the apostles warned, to push their school of doubt and incredulity, with all the evils in its train. "I know (said not the least) that after my departure will come among you grievous wolves, not sparing the flock. And from your own selves will rise up men speaking perverted things to draw away the disciples after them" (Acts 20:29, 30). The Christian student, nay the highest teacher, is not called to any such investigation as judging the scriptures, but to judge himself and others, and even what assumes to be the church, by the scriptures. Indeed it became a necessary question to judge which is the church, from the time that it openly split into bodies holding no intercommunion, aggravated since the Reformation by the gradual swarm of rival societies claiming to be churches. Thus, only one can be according to scriptural truth; and if this one had just grounds, it would surely take the place, not of boast, but of humiliation and grief that things had come to such a pass, where once was blessed unity.

If we turn, as the Dean did, from the abstract to concrete facts, his statements are equally shallow, unintelligent, and unfounded; as is the case with all rationalists, even of experts in Hebrew and Greek; which learning has little or nothing to do with their novel criticism. . . .

The fatuous and unspiritual hypothesis of Astruc yields nothing but Dead Sea fruit or even worse. The respective distinction of God's creation, and of the relationships laid down by Jehovah, is of great interest and importance, quite sacrificed by these would-be sages, who leave out God as the author, and deny Moses as His instrument.

. . . The function of a sound and Christian critic is to detect and cast out every slip, or what is worse, any quasi-correction, which crept into the original text through the copyists. In the O.T. this is chiefly in names and dates. In the N.T. are more serious additions, as in Acts 8:37, 9:3,4 (from elsewhere only), 1 John 5:7,8; and omissions, as in 1 Cor. 9:20, 1 John 2:23. But though these and the like have their importance, especially for those jealous for God's word to the minutest degree, as believing in plenary inspiration, they affect most slightly the reliable and blessed testimony of God in the Scriptures. And the most ample grounds are in general extant to convince any upright mind, whatever may be the case. True criticism goes on the ground of faith in God's authoritative and certain written testimony to man; the soi-disant "higher" believes in no inspired deposit in the Pentateuch, &c., in the Psalms, or in the Prophets, according to the measure of their incredulity. And this ungodliness cannot stop there, but will at length undermine the N.T., Christianity, and Christ Himself for themselves and their admirers. (Bible Treasury N5:221-223)

Real Christians Accept the New Testament

[“He that knoweth God heareth us.” 1 John 4:6.] “We” means apostles and prophets sent of Christ, and given for the blessing of His saints. They were inspired of God, and so taught the truth as it is in Jesus. The New Testament consists of these divine communications in a permanent form. As they taught, so the inspired wrote; and as they wrote, so they gave out orally. As the New Testament consists of a number of pieces which were gradually added together, and all was not completely gathered into a single volume as now, there might have been a difficulty for some. The Lord's authority was the end of controversy for the Old Testament to all men of faith. It might have been urged in early days that the new words were so different from the Old Testament, so comparatively simple here and so profound there, that it was hard to say of all the little books then in circulation, the Gospels and the Epistles, that they were certainly inspired of God. It is then of this new word of God that the apostle treats, embodied in the so-called New Testament. This is the further criterion. What the apostles and prophets testified in the Holy Spirit of the Father and the Son in due time contributed this new deposit of inspiration; and the apostle refers to their testimony as being the truth as well as Christ. Christ is the truth personally. The New Testament, giving the oral testimony of these chosen witnesses, is the truth in the written form. Therefore of these he says, “We are of God.” We have in the Holy Spirit set out to you the truth of Christ from first to last; we are of God in and for this work: “He that knoweth God heareth us.”

. . . It was right and necessary that believers henceforth should know the divine authority which God insists on for the apostolic teaching. But it is restricted to the inspired of the New Testament as it had been to those of the Old Testament. There is now, as there was then, gracious guidance in the Spirit to every one that preached or taught the truth; but inspiration has the special character of exemption from error in what was given as the rule of faith. . . .

Clearly then if "he that knoweth God heareth us," every Christian accepts the New Testament as of God; and again he who does not is no real Christian but a skeptic. For hearing the apostles and prophets of the New Testament is inseparable from knowing God now. This, the second test of the truth, goes farther than whether a man be a Christian. To profess Christ and reject plenary inspiration indicates the work of evil spirits. Infidelity as the rule begins with the Old Testament, but it will surely attack and reject the New Testament also. Singular to say, a gentleman who had filled a very important position with the world's honour, active in Sunday School work, and regarded as a devoted Christian, suddenly disclosed one day when we talked together, that, although he fully believed in the Old Testament, he did not believe in the New! The avowal could not but wound a believer beyond measure. To kill another with a revolver seems to me a far less sin against God. Is it not awful to think of such audacious infidelity in one accepted as a Christian teacher? . . .

Nor is there a falser principle than that which has lately overspread the country through the Oxford revival of popery without the pope. They may base it on a saying of the famous Augustine bishop of Hippo; but it was unworthy of his piety. For it robs God of His due, to say that he would not believe the gospel, if the authority of the catholic church did not move him to it. Great a man as he was, here he did not realize what he said; for if one does not believe God's word because He says it through the inspired, one does not truly believe God but rather His vouchers: a real and manifest insult to God. Believing God Himself makes my faith to be of divine source and character. No other faith is acceptable to God. Even to believe on Christ because of the signs He wrought and they beheld was human faith, and unacceptable: "Jesus himself did not trust himself to them" (John 2:24). To look for, or allow any one or body to accredit God's word is a grievous sin against God and a deep injury to man; yea, it would be fatal unless it were a blunder, and the man had really better than such humanly grounded faith.

If any resort to the subterfuge that the apostle speaks only of the oral word, let them know that they are wholly and ungratefully in error when they thus slight the written word. The Lord Himself has ruled that, as bearing authority, Scripture is superior to anything merely spoken, even if He was the speaker who spoke as none else ever spoke. Therefore said He to the reasoning Jews, "Think not that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, Moses on whom ye have your hope. For if ye believed Moses, ye would believe me, for he wrote of me. But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my sayings?" Both were the unimpeachable word of God, one spoken and the other written in the Holy Spirit; but as God's authority to man, the Lord undeniably gives the highest place to the written word, the permanent witness of the divine mind, which allows of meditation and consideration before God as no oral words could. With this we may compare the apostle's statement in Rom. 16:26, which is wrongly translated by the Revisers like others "the scriptures of the prophets," in flat contradiction of "now manifested" just before, and of "made known unto all nations," as well as of its own anarthrous form, "prophetic scriptures" (in contrast with Rom. 1:2). The phrase really applies to New Testament scriptures which had begun to appear in the widest known Gentile tongue, and were going forth as the gospel did to all the nations. (Exp. of Epistles of John, p. 258-259, 263, 265-266)

2. The Role of Textual Criticism

Legitimate Criticism is the Servant of Faith

There is no question agitated in Christendom of greater moment than the true character and claim of the Scriptures. Nor has their divine authority been more widely denied all over the world than in our own day; and this, not merely by avowed skeptics, but by professing Christians of practically every denomination, and by many of their most distinguished representatives. But when the adversary comes in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord does not fail to lift up a standard against him. . . . Legitimate criticism is the servant of faith in seeking to eliminate errors of transcription; but it receives without question every word that was originally written. What is called "scientific inquiry" rises up in its empty pride against the divine authority of Christ, who has ruled what it dares to deny (God's Inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, p. vii-viii).

The business of sound criticism is to eschew every human importation, no matter how early, and to restore the original text which came from God through His inspired messenger (Exp. of Titus and Philemon, p. 69).

We must correct, not the language of Scripture, but our interpretations: we must go back to God's word again and again, and see whether we have not mistaken our bearings (Bible Treasury 4:295).

An Obedient Heart is the Secret of Sound Criticism

There is no place where the selfishness of our nature oftener betrays itself than in the way we look at scripture. We do not ourselves always know how our thoughts of the word of God tell the tale of our state in the sight of God. I do not speak merely of such extreme cases as that of the avowed unbeliever — though he too shews what his condition is — not only not obedient in heart, but rejecting and rebelling against the only light whereby God Himself brings a man out of darkness to the knowledge of Himself. It is plain therefore that, rejecting the word, he as good as says to God that he desires not the knowledge of His ways. But then the children of God themselves let us see what their state of mind is not only by their want of relish for the word, or their want of appetite for every means that will give their souls an increasing enjoyment of the Lord, but, further, by the way in which they take it up, by their understanding, or rather misunderstanding, of it. For this is the secret of true intelligence: people do not understand the word by brighter minds than others, but by a more obedient heart. It is the single-eyed desire to do the will of God which insures intelligence of His word. And the Spirit of God it is that produces both the one and the other. Assuredly the will it is that darkens the understanding; and, where the Spirit of God gives the soul to please the Lord, there the obstruction in the way of His word disappears. When by grace we want to do His will, the light of God is assuredly not withheld: it is the will when not judged which produces darkness for us (Bible Treasury 8:248).

Introduction

Faith, Not Scholarship, Comes First

... remember, in cleaving firmly to scripture — and I do not see there is anything else worth contending for in this world — it is a duty to ascertain, wherever a various reading exists, what has the weightiest claims to be received as the true: we have no need to shut our eyes to any representative of the mind of God. In short, the purest state of the text must be sought as well as the most faithful version. To perpetuate a traditional blunder is not faith, but mere ignorance or obstinate superstition. Therefore I accept, and exhort all my brethren to accept, every help that God affords for the elucidation of His word. To this end every discovery of an ancient Biblical manuscript, every help toward a more accurate version that can be gathered from the study of the languages in which God wrote His word, is most valuable. I do not say that everybody ought to set up for a judge in these matters.

In fact, very few scholars, or even Christian scholars, have this sort of competency. It is easy enough to suggest changes of scripture, and supposed emendations of text and translations. We have all heard of 20,000 corrections collected by a diligent physician. It might be a wholesome check if any competent person dealt with that magazine of misapprehensions, as Bode did with the errors made by Mill and Bengel through trusting the Latin renderings of the old Oriental versions. What a tiny residue would come out from the subjection of the 20,000 to a really critical ordeal! In general you may dismiss at least nineteen out of every twenty supposed corrections of our authorised Bible. They are merely the crude guesses of tyros, the suggestions of such as may be scholars in profane Greek or Latin, but who possessed little or no familiarity with the Bible.

Again, it is monstrous for persons to sit in judgment on such matters, unless they do so as Christians. I deny that genius or scholarship will enable a man to understand aright either the Hebrew or the Greek scriptures. The best of scholars have made the grossest of mistakes here. Take Dr. Richard Bentley. Did not he and the like commit very painful blunders in scripture? I admit the scholarship of the famous Master of Trinity in his own sphere. He was, no doubt, a man of very unusual power, and of the largest attainments in the remains of Greek and Roman letters; but then, as a rule, no man is at home outside his own business. I do not trust people who speak confidently on what they have not made their own. I value the simplest artisan in his own craft more than the ablest philosopher who prattles about it. No doubt, if a shoemaker were to talk of philosophy, he would not be likely to throw much light on the subject. He might be a genius, undoubtedly, and to this you must give ample weight; but still, in general, one could not expect that men outside their own proper functions would be the most competent to give an opinion of value on matters foreign to them.

On doctrine I hold the opinion of a scholar to weigh about as much as that of a shoemaker. Not only is erudition in itself of no account in spiritual things, but scholarship in one branch does not give competence in another. The Attic nicety, which appreciates Sophocles, may be at fault before the abrupt passes and parentheses of the apostle Paul. But the first of all requisites even for those familiar with Greek, for understanding the word of God is unfeigned faith in the Lord Jesus. The Holy Spirit is the sole power of comprehending and alone gives qualification to judge of divine things; and He dwells only in those who have faith in Christ. At the same time let none suppose that I exclude the use of every aid that can be brought in really and honestly to enable a Christian to read the word of God as closely as possible approaching the original form. It is, to my mind, a positive duty to welcome and apply every such help, let it come from what quarter it may. (Bible Treasury N9:253)

Christ is the One Key to Unlock All

But a man may be a great scholar, and not wise in Scripture. Not a few of the greatest scholars have been rather heterodox. Great learning does not necessarily give even good sense. Further, a man may have both learning and good sense, and yet not be spiritual. If you had ever such ability and attainments you would still require the teaching of the Spirit. Assuredly this is what one constantly finds, if much used to commentaries and writings upon the Scripture, as some Christians have been in their time. You would find it dull work to pore over their discussions, if you had reason to examine the folios and quartos that have passed through the press; you would prove how very little Biblical learning has to do with the real intelligence of the word of God. Learned as many of the writers of these commentaries were — and some of them were also able men indeed — yet somehow or other, when they took up the Scriptures, they failed to apply Christ as the one key to unlock all. They rarely seem to speak out of the possession of the truth; and this is the only way to understand the Bible. You can never understand it unless you have Christ and Christ's work, and its present result in power for the soul, clearly before you, in order out of this to interpret the word of God, which then to a large extent becomes an explanation in God's own language of what you have already got. You have already life in the Son of God if you are a believer; you have by His blood the forgiveness of your sins; you have by faith entered the family of God as His children, and have been sealed by the Spirit till the day of redemption. (Bible Treasury 15:131-132)

Christ's Authority is Superior to Any Criticism

Again, no one alleges that "Christ and His apostles came into the world to instruct the Jews in criticism" (Intro. O. T. i. 126, 127 [by Samuel Davidson]). But does not faith in Christ bind us to accept His authority as superior to any criticism? (Bible Treasury N9:180)

Beware, then, of those who would have you give up Moses. Listen not to the siren voices that would seek to charm you away from the truth of God, and more if they dare to tell you that they are not undermining the Bible, but only denying Moses. Alas! my good friends, to deny Moses is to undermine Christ; for Christ says that Moses wrote of Him. Christ had no question; and this is what satisfies a plain man that believes in Him. People may talk about evidences; and, of course, it is all very fine to do so with those who are not familiar with the subject, and have scanty knowledge of the original tongues. Of one thing let me remind all — whether knowing these languages or not — and it is this. Many a one knows a little Greek and some less Hebrew; but what of that? You know English; but it does not follow that you have at all a mastery of the language. Remember then that most of the young men who learn Hebrew and Greek at college are very far from having a mastery of these languages. Most have a smattering, and this is all. They are then turned off to their parishes and pulpits, where they have no time to become real scholars, as they ought not to pretend to it. This is not said out of the slightest disrespect; but simply to show you the folly of supposing that merely running through a grammar and a few works in a foreign tongue makes it really known. Not at all. Most graduates (no matter what the degree or where) would find it hard to translate unseen Hebrew or Greek. They do not know either of these languages in the least as you all know English; and yet for all that would any of you set up to be great English scholars? Even ordinarily fair and easy translation (to which few are equal without effort and preparation) is but a small step in learning. Enough however on that point.

But I press this upon you — that God has in Christ's testimony given the believer incomparably better proof than all evidences put together. (Bible Treasury 15:117)

The Teaching of the Spirit is Necessary

The truth is that there is no security even in the most accurate and comprehensive scholarship without the teaching of the Spirit, if the subject-matter be the scriptures. Christian translators may often fail through ignorance of idiom; but a worldly scholar never can be trusted at all, spite of consummate linguistic skill, because of his necessary lack of still deeper qualifications. He knows not God and His Son, and has not therefore the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the intelligence of the truth. (Lect. Intro. to the Minor Prophets, p. 414)

3. The Scope of Textual Criticism

The Bible is Written with Exactitude

... dry discussion of text and translation, ... nevertheless is a duty owing to the proper clearance of scripture, obscured as it has been by defective knowledge and insight ... (Exp. of the Two Epistles to Timothy, p. 297-298)

It is important to notice the accuracy of the thought as well as of the language; and the more so, as erudite ignorance takes the unhallowed license every now and then of apologizing for scripture, as if even the apostle's Epistles were deficient in the exactitude which the schools, as they think, alone possess and impart. (Exp. of the Two Epistles to Timothy, p. 145)

Mere Curious Learning is Not Valuable

On mere critical questions, I should never think of disturbing people's minds. There is so much of the deepest moment for our souls with God every day, that the less we have to do with points of curious learning the better. But when it comes to be a matter of correcting what every christian scholar knows to be an error, it is evident that I should be guilty of keeping up a serious mistake if such a point ... were slurred over. (Lect. on Galatians, p. 142-143)

Names and Numbers are Susceptible to Error

Names, numerals, and the like are peculiarly liable to error in transcription. Man's custody or use of scripture is essentially distinct from inspiration: only ignorance or fraud confounds them. (Bible Treasury 19:205)

Conjectural Emendation

Conjectural emendation in N.T. scripture has never approached a proof of its need or value in a solitary example. He Who gave us His word has watched over it; and we need not distrust Him here. (Exp. of Acts, p. 312)

And one may question whether it would not be better, these things being so, to amend our manners instead of assuming to amend the text. (Exp. of Acts, p. 85)

Homœoteleuton

... the omission [in Rev. 20:5] is an error owing to one of the most fertile sources of variants, homœoteleuton, as it is technically called. The clause before (end of ver. 4) closed with the words χίλια ἔτη; and so does the first clause of ver. 5. This naturally misled the eyes of weary scribes. (Bible Treasury 16:96)

Introduction

Conflation

It is not often that words are . . . left out. The more usual fault of those who copied the scriptures was that they added words. They assimilated passages one to another; they thought that what was right in one case must be right in another; and thus the tendency was to blunt the fine edge of the sword of the Spirit which is the word of God. . . . But you need never be afraid of trusting God or His word. Never fear for the honor of the scripture, never shrink from committing yourself to what God says. (Lect. Intro. to Acts, Cath. Epist. and Rev., p.252-253)

On the Use of Internal Evidence

The way to find out the best Greek text is to go up to the oldest of all, and to compare the oldest of all with the different translations made in ancient times, and if these agree, then you have the right one. But they often disagree, and then comes the question, Which is right? Here the all important question is the guidance of the Spirit of God. We can never do without Him, and the way in which the Spirit of God leads persons who are really not only indwelt by Him, but led by Him, is, — does it express the current of the Epistle? Does it fall in with the line of the apostle's writing? (Lect. on Jude, p. 22)

On Knots of Difficulty

Always accept this, my beloved brethren, as a true canon in such questions as to the word of God: never cut the knot of a difficulty in scripture, but wait till God untie it for you. There are difficulties in His word. What is to be done with them? Submit to them; own that you do not understand; pray to God till, in the use of all right means, He clears them up. But never force the word of God. (Bible Treasury N9:376)

No Critical Questions Exist that Threaten the Substance of the Bible

There is no imperfectness in that word, neither does any ground exist to suppose that any part of it has vanished away. No doubt we may detect the flaws of man's negligence, not knowing how to treat with becoming care the precious deposit of truth; but there is nothing more. That is to say, there may be a difference of reading here and there which impairs the full beauty and accuracy of the blessed word of God; but, as to the substance, the most timid may be assured that you have it in the worst editions of Christendom. Do not be uneasy at the talk of critics: it is natural for dealers to cry up their wares. They live in minute points and uncertainty. (Lect. Intro. to Epist. of Paul, p. 322)

4. Manuscript Sources for the New Testament

WK Preferred the Oldest Manuscripts

Let it suffice once for all to hope you will understand me always to speak of the text on the basis of the ancient and best authorities. There is positive evidence of the most convincing and satisfactory kind for the insertions, omissions, or changes, which may be mentioned from time to time. Do not imagine that there is anything like arbitrary innovation in this. The real innovators were those who departed by slip or by will from the very words of the Spirit; and the arbitrariness now would be in maintaining what has not sufficient authority, against that which is as certain as can be. The error then is not in seeking the best supported text, but in allowing tradition to tie us to comparatively modern and certainly to corrupted readings. We are bound in everything to yield to the best authorities. (Lect. Intro. to Acts, Cath. Epist. and Rev., p. 407, see also Rev. Exp., p. 35)

Is not the "perpetual miracle in order to preserve the scriptures" a mistake? A miracle absolutely accomplishes by divine power. It is fully admitted that God works providentially to the end in view; but this is a very different statement and leaves room for the responsibility of man in his care of and reverence for the scriptures, text or translation, exposition or study; and alas! man fails here as everywhere; but God does not, and suffices for every need of His children and work. It is not meant either that any book in the Hebrew Scriptures or in the Greek New Testament is not inspired, or that any book is now lost which ever formed a part of scripture, which consists not only of inspired communications, but of those given and designed to be the permanent standard of divine truth. Even as to this the larger part of Christendom has proved faithless, not by rejecting real scripture, but by accrediting as such the Apocryphal Greek books of the Old Testament. (Bible Treasury 7: 271)

We must beware of idolising the witnesses. (Exp. of Heb., p. 129)

The Textus Receptus is Not the Ipsissima Verba

On Feb. 4 [1857], at Convocation, Canon Selwyn gave notice of a motion, requesting that a body of learned men, well skilled in the original languages of the Holy Scriptures, might be appointed to consider the amendments of the authorized version which had been already proposed, and to receive suggestions from all persons who might be willing to give them. Archdeacon Denison gave notice of the following amendment to that motion, "That it is not expedient that this house give any encouragement to a revision of the authorized version, whether by way of insertion in the text, marginal notes, or otherwise." Dr. C. Wordsworth gave further notice of a motion, striking out a sort of middle path, between the original proposal and the amendment, to the effect that it was undesirable to countenance any efforts towards changing the authorized text, and that alterations which might be made should be confined to the margin.

Dr. Cumming has published a well meant pamphlet on the same subject, the substantial point of which is "to let well alone." But it is deeply to be regretted that he ventures into a field where limits and even surface are unknown to him, and where no flights of popular oratory will cover his mistakes. Thus he assumes that the common Greek Textus Receptus is the original text! and that to seek to purify the Elzevirian edition, is to improve the original!! It is hardly conceivable, yet is it the fact, that Dr. C. does not understand that the original text (or the ipsissima verba of the Spirit) exists in no one edition or manuscript now extant, but must be sought in all the ancient manuscripts, versions, &c., that can be found, each of which helps towards an exact reflex of that text. No doubt a severe exposure must be the consequence of such temerity, to use no harsher word. (Bible Treasury 1:166)

Codex Alexandrinus [A]

Next, the allusion to the Alexandrine MS. in the British Museum is not less dark. For I presume Mr. [Dimbleby] refers to the open N.T. vol. of this Codex which is publicly shown there under glass. But "all antiquarians" of weight in such a question now know that it is about a century or more younger than Mr. D. says, its real date being not earlier than 450 A.D. And it may be added that "this copy" is far from being the same as our English Bible. It has the Apocryphal books, and even of Clem. Rom. the first or genuine Epistle, with a fragment of a second suspected one, to say nothing of such an omission as the beginning of John 8. . . . Mr. D. . . . is not entitled to say that "according to this copy," more than any other copy in the world. . . What does the Alex. MS. say more than any other? (Bible Treasury N1:316)

Codex Sinaiticus [⌚]: Brief Account of Its Discovery and of Its Character

In May, 1844, Professor Tischendorf, when travelling in quest of ancient manuscripts, saw a basket of waste paper devoted to lighting the stove in the convent of S. Catherine on Mount Sinai. From these he picked out and was allowed to take forty-three vellum leaves, fragments of an ancient MS of the Septuagint, parts of 1 Chronicles and Jeremiah, with the whole of Nehemiah and Esther. He did not disguise the extreme antiquity of these remains from the monks, who let him know of more, containing Isaiah and the beginning of Jeremiah. But he published two years after what he had thus rescued under the title of the Codex Friderico-Augustanus (in honor of his sovereign the King of Saxony).

In 1853 Tischendorf visited the convent again, but learnt no more of the MS.: so that he could add nothing to the two copied pages, which he published in the first vol. of his Monumenta Sacra Inedita.

Early in 1859 a third visit was paid; and on Feb. 4 he was preparing to leave the convent when, after walking with the steward and conversing on the interpretation of the LXX, they entered the steward's cell, who produced a book in a red cloth, which Tischendorf on uncovering immediately recognized as the very document for which he had long been so eagerly on the watch. He did not fail to give God thanks: but spent the night in transcribing the Pseudo-Barnabas which was here for the first time found in Greek, and a considerable part of Hermas' Shepherd too written in the same volume. The MS. contained not only more of the Septuagint, but the entire New Testament, written with four columns on each page, and confirming very fully his judgment of its age, founded on the rescued fragments of the so-called Frid.-Aug. MS. Leave was procured to copy the manuscript at Cairo, whither it was brought before the end of February, and Tischendorf spent a couple of months with two natives, but not competent assistants. He did not copy it, as I understood from the discoverer, but collated it on the pages of the seventh edition of his own Greek Testament. No one need wonder that there were not a few oversights in so vast a work done in such a hurry and with such inefficient help.

But this was not all. Tischendorf urged on the monks the desirableness of their presenting such a manuscript as a worthy gift to the champion of the Greek church, Alexander II., Emperor of Russia. Because of the death of the archbishop it was not possible for the brethren at Sinai to do so yet, though done since I believe. Meanwhile Tischendorf was allowed to carry off the MS. and shew it to the emperor, who entrusted him with the task of preparing an edition of 300 copies, in four volumes folio, to be defrayed by himself and appear in 1862, on the thousandth anniversary of the Russian Empire. In 1863 appeared at Leipsic the text in a single 4to. vol. (as also in 8vo.) for more ordinary use.

It appears that during the interval between the rescue of the leaves in 1844 and the delivery of the rest to Tischendorf for collation in 1859 two persons are known to have examined the manuscript. About 1845 or 1846 Porphyrius, a Russian Archimandrite, saw it but to no great purpose, judging by the remarks Tischendorf quotes; as did also a Major Macdonald, whose description points to it alone. (Porphyrius, it seems, succeeded in getting some small portions of the MS. (of Genesis and Numbers 5-7), which had fared only less ill than those destined to light the stove which Tischendorf secured in 1844; for they had been used to bind books.)

The Sinai MS. (⌚) stands alone in presenting the entire New Testament. All others of nearly equal antiquity are more or less defective. Thus the Alexandrian (A) wants the first twenty-four chapters of Matthew, a portion of John's Gospel, and the central parts of 2 Corinthians: and the Vatican (B) has only to Hebrews 9:14 (save the Catholic epistles precede) and hence has neither the four pastoral Epistles nor the Revelation. The Ephraim Palimpsest of Paris (C) is a mere collection of fragments; and the Cambridge MS. of Beza (D) of the Gospel and Acts) has only the first half of the New Testament in Greek and Latin. Others are as deficient or more so; many copies contain only some few leaves.

The faults of the Sinai MS. on the other hand are better known than those of any other MS. For it alone was thoroughly exposed to view as soon as possible after the date of its discovery. All the other great MSS. were renowned for years before they were accurately collated. Indeed it is only since the publication of the Sinai manuscript that we can be said to have a trustworthy knowledge of the Vatican, though its existence has been known since Sepulveda's correspondence with Erasmus. Again, on no MSS. whatever have the same minute pains been bestowed, though the same diligent Editor did beyond all his predecessors for the Codex Ephraem Rescriptus and many other MSS. of very great importance.

Hence we know what are called clerical errors to an enormous extent in the Sinai MS., partly because, though beautifully written, it abounds in slips ocular and orthographic. Not only is there the very frequent fault of confounding σ , ν , υ , and ω ; ϵ , η , α , and ι , but in repetition of letters, words, and whole sentences, sometimes left often cancelled. Mr. Scrivener mentions that the blunder technically known as Homœoteuton, whereby a clause is omitted because it happens to end in the same words as the clause preceding, occurs not less than 115 times in the New Testament, though the defect is often supplied by a more recent hand.

But there remains the other cause already named why these errors are in the minds of all students. The MS. from the first has been scrutinized to a degree beyond all previous example. So microscopically close is the attention Professor Tischendorf has paid that he gives it as his judgment that at least four hands were employed in writing it; that a scribe whom he distinguishes as A wrote the whole of the New Testament with a slight exception, with part of the Septuagint and Pseudo-Barnabas; that another (B) wrote the Prophets and Hermas; that a third (C) wrote the poetical books of the Old Testament in verses clause by clause according to the sense; and in two columns (just as in the Codex Vat. which has elsewhere three but there also only two columns); that the fourth scribe (D) wrote the rest of the Apocrypha and some ten leaves here and there from Matthew to Revelation. But this is the more precarious as A and B are allowed to resemble each other closely, and C and D. But very competent judges of this do not draw such a conclusion, which is not unusual with collators and not always correct. I mention all this, not because it much affects the value of the MS. (for no one doubts that, written by one or two, or more, it was all done about the same time and from the same copy), but to shew why we must not wonder at a vast number of faults in transcription coming to light when a manuscript was subjected to such an investigation as this.

Again, like most of the remains of high antiquity, there were not only several correctors of the manuscript but correctors of the corrections. At least ten such revisers (Let not this surprise the reader. The same critic traces nine revisers in Cod. Claromont. of far inferior antiquity.) have been deciphered, some everywhere, some only occasionally, and this from the time of the earliest scribe, but most two or three centuries after, and a few comparatively late. It is needless here to go into the minute details which prove the distinctness of the services of these numerous revisers from the scribe himself to the last corrector in probably the twelfth century.

But these marks varying in character as well as in shades of ink serve to confirm the remote age in which the manuscript was originally written; as its own chastely neat forms of letters, its punctuation, its simplicity in titles, and subscriptions, and other marks, akin to the Herculanean Papyri, point to quite as early a date as the famous Vat. MS. — about the middle of the fourth century. Thus the absence of larger letters at the beginning of sentences or paragraphs is peculiar, among New Testament documents, to Codd. Sinait. and Vatic. unless we add Evan. Nh. a fragment of John written in the same fourth century. The Sarravian Octateuch of the LXX. attributed to the fourth century confirms this; and some other witnesses quite as early. Then the four columns in each page is a strong indication of an age at least as great as Codd. Vat. 1290, the oldest rival known; for if Palaeologists have ever argued on the three columns in each page of it as a sign of its antiquity as compared with MSS. of two columns or only one, one may yet more confidently reason from the four columns of the Sinai MS., not to speak of the fineness of the skins. Nor is the accompaniment of Pseudo-Barnabas and Hermas a just ground of prejudice against the antiquity of κ , for in the fourth century such an arrangement was probable, just as we know that A. (or Cod. Alex.) contains the famous letter of Clement to the Corinthians. Other external points of correspondence have been remarked between the Vat. and the Sinai MSS., but I only state the fact without descending to particulars.

As to peculiarity of internal character Tischendorf long pointed out the sameness of Codd. Sin. and Vat. as to Mark 16:9-20, and Ephesians 1:2; and Mr. S. adds Matthew 10:25; 1 Corinthians 13:3; James 1:17 where this coincidence can scarcely be deemed accidental. The same blunder in the last text, found only in κ and B, is very notable. In other instances it agrees with no other single ancient copy (as A, C, or D) against the rest. Sometimes also it stands supported by one ancient version only, or the express statement of an early ecclesiastical writer. These facts I mention as proofs, not of its accuracy in these cases, but of its independence and antiquity.

Enough has been said to expose the falseness of Dr. C. Simonides' claim to have written the Sinai MS. thirty years ago, and this not with a view to impose on any one, but simply as an honest present from his uncle Benedict to the late Emperor Nicholas! It is true that he was already notorious for his efforts to palm off certain MSS. as of the highest antiquity, which can scarcely be imputed to any other source than his own admirable skill in calligraphy. His statement is that the Moscow Greek Bible, published at the cost of the brothers Zosimas, in 1821, and collated with three ancient manuscripts and the printed edition of Cod. Alex., was what he had to transcribe; and that, his uncle being meanwhile dead, he gave the work, in 1841 to Constantius, that very Archbishop of Sinai whose death early in 1859 or before it caused a delay, when Tischendorf saw the MS. as a whole and sought to have it presented to the Emperor of Russia. He added that he found it at Sinai, when visiting the convent in 1844 and 1852. This last has been formally denied by one of the monks for all, who declares that no such person had ever been there. The rest of the tale is equally suspicious. Certainly it could not be the Cod. Sin. that he wrote for his uncle. The Moscow Bible is simply a copy of the Textus Receptus. Why the clerical errors? How the singular and most ancient readings not there, nor even in Cod. A., not to speak of the heaps of corrections over a work of such vast extent? Even the specimens of Simonides, designed to impose on the credulous (the history of Uranius, and the Mayer papyrus fragments of S. Matthew, James and Jude), though proofs of unscrupulous ingenuity, were curd compared with the task of producing, when a mere lad and in a few months, a volume containing near 4,000,000 of uncial letters with the other striking peculiarities named before, and this without fraudulent intent.

It may be interesting to some to know that in the judgment of Tischendorf the Vatican MS. was written by one of his supposed four writers of the Sinai MS., namely D, the fourth. The reasons would hardly be suitable here. At the same time he does not think, as indeed is certain, that they were copied from the same manuscript, older than themselves. On the other hand, he gives ingenious reasons for the opinion that, not the Vatican, but the Sinai MS. was one of the fifty copies of scripture written "on skins in ternions and quaternions" (Vit. Const. iv, 37), which Eusebius prepared, A.D. 331, by the emperor's direction for his new Rome in the east — Constantinople. (Bible Treasury 8:188-190, see also Bible Treasury 4:352)

Sinaiticus and B

Now no sober and intelligent mind can doubt that the weight of \aleph and B is at least equal to ACDE. (Exp. of Acts, p. 310)

The Matter of Recensions is a Vexed Question

It will be noticed that nothing has been said on the vexed question of recensions. The truth is that the time is not come for duly classifying the manuscripts, until we possess an exact and full knowledge of their character and contents. Bengel seems to have been the first to range the authorities in the two great families of the Asiatic and the African. This hint was developed further by Semler, and at length became developed into the elaborate system of Griesbach, who divided them into Alexandrian, Western and Constantinopolitan. That there is a measure of affinity between certain mss., versions and Fathers, is patent to any close observer; so that very often where we have a peculiar reading in one ms., the same form, or something similar, may be expected in other witnesses presumed to be akin to it. This known fact became the basis, in the skilful hands of Griesbach, of his peculiar criticism. Origen was taken as the representative of the Alexandrian text, which was supposed to be confirmed by the characteristic readings of A (partially), B (Vat. 1209), C, L of the Gospels, &c. The Western recension held a high but secondary place in this system, and was looked for in D of the Gospels, E F G of the Pauline Epistles, the Latin versions and Fathers. The immense remaining mass, with not many exceptions, was consigned to the lowest or Byzantine class, which had no favour in his eyes. But, considering our limited knowledge of the authorities, especially in those extremely minute shades which aid in determining the various channels through which the testimony to the original text has reached us, is it not wiser for the present patiently to investigate the facts? Yielding to hypothesis saves much trouble, no doubt, by the way; but is it not the frequent and serious, not to say the sure, hindrance to the acquisition of the truth in the end?

Then, when we examine the matter a little more closely, Griesbach himself is obliged to allow that Cod. Alex. is not consistently Alexandrian in its character, and in fact affirms that, in the Gospels, it is Byzantine (A remarkable acknowledgment, by the way, that Constantinopolitan characteristics, if they are such, as Griesbach allows, are equally ancient as the alleged Alexandrian and Western.), in the Acts and Catholic Epistles Western, and in the Epistles of St. Paul Alexandrian. Thus, the presumption is, that it was copied not only from three distinct manuscripts, but that each of these copied documents, which met by some extraordinary concurrence of circumstances in Egypt, represented even in that remote age the three notable families into which the criticism of the nineteenth century distributed the New Testament witnesses! It is instructive to notice that a German mind, like the amiable J. D. Michaelis', which hesitates on the flimsiest grounds to own the inspiration of the Apocalypse, can receive with credulous admiration not only the general system of Griesbach, but even a detail so utterly improbable as this.

Nor is Cod. Alex. by any means an exceptional case. Even Cod. Vat. 1209, which is assumed to be of the purest Alexandrian water, fails in the very first Gospel, for some of the last chapters of Matthew are referred to the Western recension. On the other hand, Codex Bezae Cantab. (D), which, as the most ancient Greek-Latin MS., is naturally taken as the remarkable type of the Western text, is admitted to show readings and forms of speech which are not only foreign to the Western Fathers, but notoriously agree with the witnesses of the other families. So that the learned D. Schulz, even in re-editing the first and only volume of Griesbach's New Testament he lived to publish (Berolini, 1827), candidly confesses (pp. xxxii-xxxv) that the doctrine of recensions needs to be circumscribed within closer bounds, and to be applied to critical purposes more sparingly and cautiously, than by Griesbach and his followers. Schulz was perhaps not aware that in 1814 Dr. Laurence had subjected Griesbach's peculiar classification to a searching examination, and had shown, satisfactorily in the opinion of competent judges: — first, that, even according to his own "Curæ in Epistolas Paulinas," Griesbach was conscious of five or six distinct classes, and hence, in his triple recension, furnishes only a loose partial approximation to the truth; secondly, that, had there been exactly these three families, the computation of readings adopted by Griesbach is totally fallacious, because, in comparing e.g. A with Origen, only the disagreements of the MS. with the received text are reckoned, and not its agreements. It may be added, that the distinction which this system assumes between the Alexandrian and the Western documents is flatly opposed to the fundamental principle of Bentley, who flattered himself that he had retrieved the true exemplar of Origen, and that the oldest Greek and Latin copies so agreed, both in words and in order of words, as to settle the original text to the smallest nicety. It is plain that, far from seeing the alleged distinction between Alexandrian and Western, their striking mutual support is here assumed as an incontrovertible fact.

Dissatisfied with a scheme, which, however ingenious in itself and applied with rare acumen, treats with systematic indifference nine-tenths of our extant evidence, Dr. Scholz merged in one the Alexandrian and the Western witnesses, and, in theory at least, gave to the Constantinopolitan documents that preference which the critic of Jena had lavished on his few and favoured Alexandrians. But, in fact, we need not scrutinize his work in order to perceive the influence of Griesbach, and the overwhelming preponderance of the Uncials over the numerous and incorrupt (!) mss. of the Greek church. Others, not excepting Griesbach, have been accused of not carrying out principles with a firm and even hand; but no man eminent in criticism has more decidedly contradicted theory in practice than the late Romanist Prof. of Bonn. His ample pages are also disfigured by an excessive amount of unnoticed errata.

The year after Scholz's Vol. I. appeared, C. Lachmann published a manual edition of the N.T., professedly based on Bentley's idea of exhibiting the text as read in the fourth century. A second and larger edition followed in 1842-1850: a great improvement on its precursor, and this partly through the help of the younger Buttmann, who mustered the Greek and Latin authorities, with care and clearness, in the middle of each page. Whatever were the ostensible or the real difficulties of his prototype, Lachmann quailed before none, but at one fell swoop sentenced the mass of the surviving witnesses to an ignominious death, and presented us with a text formed on absolute principles of singular narrowness. His rigour, in professedly rejecting authorities later than the fourth century, is the more unreasonable because he had but one MS. of that date, and it less known then than now; so that he was obliged to relax somewhat, in order to use A and C of the fifth century, and others lower still. A few old Latin copies he searched out diligently, with the Scripture citations in Irenæus, Origen, Cyprian, Hilary, and Lucifer of Cagliari. Clearly, this system, which seems a reaction against Scholz, is not less mechanical, and withal more dangerous, than the rude plan of deciding by a mere majority of votes, without reference to their comparative value. The neglect of internal evidence is a fatal objection to both. But the grand fallacy involved is, that a MS. of the fourth or fifth century must give better readings than one of the seventh or eighth. Now this is in no way certain. There is a presumption in favour of the more ancient manuscript, because each successive transcription tends to introduce new errors in addition to those it repeats. On the other hand, a copy of the ninth century may have been made from one older than any now extant; and certainly some old documents are more corrupt than many of the more recent witnesses. Every ingenuous scholar must own, to say the least, that the oldest manuscripts have some bad readings, and that the modern manuscripts have some which are good. Hence the distinction is not between the united evidence of the most ancient documents (MSS, Versions, Fathers), and the common herd of those more recent; for rarely, if ever, is there such unanimous ancient testimony without considerable support from witnesses of a later day. The truth is that, almost always, where the old documents really agree, there is large confirmation elsewhere; and where the ancients differ, so do the moderns. It is quite unfounded, therefore, to treat it as a question, pure and simple, between old and new. Nor is it the important point of research what particular readings existed in the days of Jerome. For notoriously errors of various kinds had then crept into both Greek and Latin copies; and no antiquity can sanctify an error. The true question is: What, using every available means to form a judgment, was the primitive text? It is often forgotten, that our oldest documents are but copies. Several centuries elapsed between the original issue of the New Testament Scriptures and any manuscripts now existing. All, therefore, are on the ground of copyists differing only in degree. It is not, then, a comparison of eye-witness, and many hearsay reporters, unless we had the original autographs. And, in fact, we know that an historian's account, three centuries after alleged facts, may be and often is corrected, five hundred or a thousand years after, by recurrence to sources more trustworthy, or by a more patient, comprehensive and skilful sifting of neglected evidence.

But we must speak of Dr. Tischendorf. Fewer words are requisite, because he is universally known as the most renowned of living collators. His critical bias may be said to be of the Griesbachian school, though once tinctured by too exclusive attachment to a few favourites of remote antiquity. Accordingly, the first edition of his New Testament (Lipsiæ, 1841) bore frequent traces of the temerity which forgets WHOSE WORD it is that is in question. But with more mature reflection and intimate knowledge of the authorities, sounder principles have grown up. Hence, while in matters of grammar and orthography he leans more than ever to the forms of the most ancient MSS., a decided and increasing deference is shown to the body of evidence, external and internal, in weighing the claims of rival readings. Thus, the later mss. acquire something approaching to their legitimate place, and occasionally come in to strengthen a good and ancient reading against the error in which a few great Uncials conspire. The last or seventh edition (Lipsiæ, 1850) is an immense advance upon its predecessors, in largeness and moderation of views, and in extent and accuracy of information. (Rev. of John, 1860, p. xix-xxiv)

5. A Survey of Editions of the Greek New Testament

Editors Make Errors

I cannot admire the comparison of spots in the sun apparent to the telescope (p. 13 [in How to Study the New Testament by Dean Alford]). We must not confound original perfectness as given of God through inspired men; and providential preservation in man's hands, spite of his feebleness and unfaithfulness in detail. . . .

The Dean proceeds next to compare the original with our Authorized English Version, which he says "abounds with errors and inadequate renderings." (p. 22) This is true; yet I question whether any critical text yet offered would not lead to errors quite as great, and whether his own translation does not abound in renderings quite as inadequate. No doubt many mistakes in the Received Text are corrected by the results of critical labour; but who does not know the too many errors adopted so strangely by Griesbach, Scholz, Lachmann, Tischendorf, &c., by one or more, from which the faulty common text is free? Nor has Dean Alford himself kept clear of this perverse taste. (Bible Treasury 7:254)

Textual critics have to beware of confounding their own private judgment about readings with God's authority in His Word. For instance, Professor Tischendorf's seventh edition acknowledges much to be Scripture which his previous editions had hesitated about or discarded. Of course I am rejoiced at a change for the better; but, where such changing is habitual and extensive, it is impossible to reconcile it with the respect which is due to God's Word. It is not true that we have to choose only between the authority of Rome and the vacillations or the systems of particular critics. The Roman, Greek, and other churches have handed down certain writings as divinely inspired; they have not been as faithful keepers of holy writ as became them; they have admitted, accredited, and perpetuated mutilations, additions, and blemishes. The critics have undertaken to separate the wheat from the chaff, and they as a body have failed as egregiously, and more daringly, than the churches of the West and East as to the sacred deposit. I do not therefore allow the force of the Professor's dilemma, because I believe not merely in Providence (not at all in critical infallibility), but in the guidance of the Holy Ghost, who is not unfrequently forgotten, and especially, I must say, by editors. Few have followed in the path of that godly pioneer, Bengelius. (Christian Annotator 4:108)

A Survey of the Editors

[A review of] A Course of developed Criticism on passages of the New Testament, materially affected by various readings, by the Rev. Thomas Sheldon Green, M.A. etc. London: Samuel Bagster and Sons, and A Supplement to the Authorized English Version of the New Testament, by the Rev. F. H. Scrivener, M.A. Vol. 1. London: William Pickering.

As reference to the chief MSS. and editors of the Greek Testament may be frequent in this and other papers, it seems desirable to give a brief sketch for the sake of those readers who are not versed in such matters. The first printed Greek Testament was that contained in the Complutensian Polyglott. It was completed, it seems, about the beginning of the year 1514; but difficulties occurred to delay its publication till (after the death of its patron, and at least nominal editor, Cardinal Ximenes in 1517) Pope Leo X formally sanctioned its issue in 1520. Previously to its publication, the celebrated Erasmus brought out his first edition in 1516. There can be little doubt that the less costly volume of the Rotterdam scholar contained a text founded on fewer and inferior MSS. and drawn up with censurable haste, when one considers that the word of God was in question. Indeed, Erasmus himself was sensible of the imperfections of the work, though it was not till 1527 that he availed himself of the help afforded by the Complutensian Bible. The MSS. examined by Erasmus remain for the most part at Bâle, where his first edition was printed; those which were used by the Complutensian editors are supposed to be chiefly at Alcalá and Madrid. The last edition of Erasmus bears the date, we believe, of 1535, and this, with extremely few changes, was what R. Stephens adhered to in his third edition, (1550), though he also collated, to a certain extent, some MSS. in the Royal Library of Paris, &c. A little later Beza published some five editions, which follow Stephens' very closely. In 1624 appeared the first of the Elzevir editions, and in 1633 their second was published, which presumed to give the "Textus ab omnibus receptus," as they styled it.

In England, Bishops Walton (London Polyglott, 1657) and Fell (twenty years later) made some considerable collations of various readings; but there they stopped. It was in 1707 that Dr. John Mill published his edition, which, like the Elzevir, professed to adopt the text of Stephens' third edition; but at the same time furnished about 30,000 various readings, with notes expressive of his judgment on the more important of them. Kuster's reprint, three years afterwards, furnished additions from a dozen new MSS.

The excellent J. A. Bengel took the first step in 1734 of editing the Greek Testament, or rather the Revelation, according to the best authorities then known. For it is remarkable that even J. J. Wettstein, in his celebrated edition of 1751-2, did not venture to depart from the "Textus Receptus," but set the readings which he thought genuine immediately below the text. His two large volumes are not less remarkable for the mass of MSS., in general carefully collated, than for its copious Greek and Hebrew quotations in illustration of the sentiments, phrases, words, &c. In 1782-8, C. F. Matthæi published his Greek Testament in 12 vols., 8vo., with readings from more than thirty previously uncollated Moscow MSS. But two of these manuscripts contained all the New Testament, and almost all belonged to what is known as the Byzantine family. Nearly about the same time Alter published his text, chiefly from a Vienna MS., with a valuable comparison of some manuscript copies of the Coptic, Slavonic, and Latin versions. Birch soon followed, first with an edition of the gospels in 1788, and afterwards with a collection of various readings of the rest of the New Testament, collated with great care throughout the best libraries of Italy, Austria, Spain, and Denmark.

Even before Matthæi, Alter and Birch, Griesbach's first edition had appeared (1775-7); but it is the second (1796-1806) which has given that editor so high a place among the critics of the New Testament. He has spared no pains, and neglected no document which was accessible to him. In acumen, too, he was nearly unrivalled.

Dr. M. A. Scholz was the next editor of importance. ("If the value of a production is to be estimated by the amount of labour which has been spent upon it, Wetstein alone [?] can enter into competition with this Romanist divine. For twelve years he was engaged in searching the chief libraries of the continent in quest of manuscripts of the New Testament and its principal versions. He has even extended his travels to the Archipelago and the Greek monasteries of St. Saba, near Jerusalem. By these means he has nearly doubled the list of MSS. of the Greek Testament named by Griesbach and his predecessors. To the 674 MSS which had been collated or referred to by others, Scholz has added no less than 607, which he enjoys the honour of first making known to the world. It must not, however, be supposed that any large portion of them has been carefully examined by this indefatigable editor; we ought rather to wonder that a private individual could do so much, than to murmur at the slight and cursory manner in which the great bulk of his documents has been inspected. The following table will convey some notion both of what Scholz has effected in this matter, and of what he has been compelled to leave undone.

. . . In truth, so far is his edition from realizing his confident boast . . . that it has rendered further investigation on a large scale more indispensable than ever." — Scrivener, pp. 16-19.) He published, in 1830-6, an edition which assumes that the common Constantinopolitan text, met with in the vast majority of more modern copies, is purer than that of the more ancient Alexandrine class to which Griesbach had given (cæteris paribus) a decided preference.

In 1831 appeared the first edition of C. Lachmann, a mere manual, without a statement of his principles or his authorities. But the omission has been repaired in his larger edition of 1842-1850. He professes to fill up the plan projected by the famous Dr. Bentley. But we are convinced that in the two main characteristics of his system of recension, he is rather an antagonist than a disciple. The one is an utter rejection of internal evidence, on the plea that to introduce that element in judging of conflicting readings, is rather to interpret than to edit. The other is a slavish and exclusive adhesion to witnesses (MSS., versions, and fathers) before the fifth century. Of course, it is not contended that the internal evidence should be abused to set aside the clear and consentient testimony of external vouchers; but surely it is a most important veto, in the rare instances where a manifest error has very ancient support, as it is an extremely effective casting-vote, where there may seem to be a pretty even balance of outward evidences. And so far was the learned and penetrating Master of Trinity from a mechanical copying of one or two old MSS., that he himself somewhere explicitly states the value of the more modern and even comparatively faulty copies, in correcting the occasional slips of the most ancient and the best MSS.

Prof. Tischendorf is the last great editor, whose labours need to be noticed. His first edition appeared at Leipsic in 1841; the second, of Leipsic, in 1849, a marked advance on its predecessor, not more in accuracy and fulness of research, than in moderation. In his seventh edition, which is now in course of publication, he has the moral courage and candour to correct many of his immature innovations, and to restore a multitude of ordinarily received readings which his earlier criticism had rashly disturbed. If we can say little in commendation of his first issues at Leipsic and Paris, we may add with truth that his invaluable reprints of some of the best uncial MSS., his laborious and successful collations of the weightiest documents of various sorts and languages throughout the old world, and his generally accurate, prompt, and able application of all to the establishment of the Greek text in as pure a form as possible, and carrying its own proofs in the subjoined authorities, have laid Christian students under deep obligations to him. Indeed, he furnishes in his foot-notes the means, for those who are more jealous for God's word, and more cautious in judgment than himself, to set aside the conclusions arrived at in his text.

But it is high time to leave others, and to say a few words upon the works before us. Mr. Green has proved himself, in former labours, to be learned and sensible, even where one is not convinced by his reasons. Of his "Developed Criticism," we cannot speak in the same strong terms of praise as were due to his "Treatise on the Grammar of the New Testament." The tendency appears to grow in him, as in others, to give an overwhelming preponderance to a very few hoary-headed witnesses. Let him remember that the most acute and experienced of the continental living critics, is retracing many a hasty step taken in younger days. In this respect, there is a wholesome wariness in Mr. Scrivener's "Notes," published some years back, though we think that he pushes his maintenance of the common text to excess. For it is well to bear in mind that to accredit received readings, if not scripture, is dangerous, no less than to reject those which really are scripture, because of a deficiency in the known extant evidence. It cannot be doubted that there are in the common Greek text intrusions from the hand of man, which must be judged if we would enjoy as we ought the perfect word of God. For the value of that word is the measure of the value of a text as immaculate as can be procured and ascertained. Details we may take up another time, if the Lord will.

Our object, in the present paper, is to give such a sample as our narrow limits may permit, of some remarkable changes which it has been proposed to make in the common text of the Greek Testament. For though God, in his providence, has not failed to watch over His word, yet was it entrusted to the responsibility of man, and man has broken down here, as everywhere else. Man has not known how to keep the holy deposit as became him. There were accidental slips of the copyists, as even yet there are, spite of extreme care, not a few errors of the press. Words, clauses, sentences might be, and often were, omitted by oversight. Interchanges of words, that bore some resemblance, occurred now and then. Then, again, it was not uncommon for marginal notes, originally meant as explanations, &c., to creep into the text through the ignorance or negligence of some after-scribe. Finally, it can hardly be doubted that there are traces in intentional tampering with the copies, occasionally in the way of wholly unfounded additions, more frequently attempts at correcting terms and expressions, grammatical or other supposed errors, and, last of all, assimilations of scripture statements, as, for instance, in the corresponding parts of the four gospels. To these and other kindred causes are due the various readings of the ancient MSS. Numerous as they are, they are not out of proportion to the vast body of the copies.

But the task of correcting the Greek Vulgate (i.e., of settling, in each particular case, what were the precise words of the Spirit) is one of no ordinary delicacy. And to us the matter for marvel (we must add, for deep thankfulness) has been the comparative purity, and, indeed, the substantial excellence, of that very "Textus Rec." which it has been of late so much the fashion to despise. It is fully allowed that there are faults in it which not only older and better MSS., but a more careful examination of the then extant documents, might have corrected. Nevertheless, we gravely question whether the critical results of Lachmann, and Tischendorf in his early editions, are preferable on the whole. Sure we are that, in very many instances of serious moment, their latest products are not so trustworthy as yet. For, while the editions of the sixteenth century were formed on insufficient data and were slovenly as to details, the meddling criticism of our own age has made frequent and fearful inroads on the true text. The carelessness of the one and the self-complacent confidence of the other have disfigured it by additions, mutilations, or other blemishes to an amount which, if it be not equal in number and weight, is at least highly discreditable to our ears, with all its boasted appliances.

This is strong language, but it is hardly so stern a condemnation, we submit, as strict righteousness would demand. (Bible Treasury 1:279-280, 295-6)

A Second Survey of the Editors with Emphasis on the Book of Revelation

It is well known that, of the whole New Testament Canon, the book of Revelation fared the worst in the commonly received text. The consequence is that modern versions, including the Authorised English, suffered in proportion as they adhered to that text. Its foundations indeed were not only inadequate, but to some extent unsound. The Elzevirs, who arrogated the high sounding title "Textus Receptus" to their second edition, (1633,) only reproduced, with a few inconsiderable changes, the text of Beza, which in its turn was no more than a slightly altered copy of R. Stephens' third edition. The differences between Stephens' edition of 1550 and the Elzevirian of 1624 amount in the Revelation to twenty-five passages. (Chapter 2:5,14; 3:1,12; 4:3,4,10(twice); 5:11; 7:3,7,10; 8:5,11; 11:1,2; 13:3,5; 14:18; 16:14; 19:1,6,14; 20:4(twice); 21:16; 22:8.) On what, then, was Stephens' edition of 1550 founded? On the Erasmian and the Complutensian editions, with a sparing and perfunctory use, as regards the Apocalypse, of two Parisian mss., 2 and 3.

Thus, it becomes of interest and importance to ascertain the sources of the two primary editions, and the rather as they differed not a little in their character. Now, Erasmus lets us know that, along with some readings of Lorenzo Valla (5.), he had but one Greek copy of the Revelation. This manuscript is numbered 1. in the list [see p. 39]. From internal evidence, and hints dropped by the collator, spite of his extravagant notions of its age and value, we gather that there was a twofold cause of error. It was accompanied by a commentary of Andreas, with which it was so mixed up that the learned editor was not always able to hinder confusion between text and comment. Next, it was deficient not only in particular words here or there, but certainly in the last six verses of the book; so that Erasmus, too impatient of delay, instead of seeking the aid of at least another ms., ventured on retranslating into Greek the Vulgate, as a substitute for the lacking original. To this day traces of that improper intrusion remain unremoved from the ordinary text of Rev. 22:16-21. Besides, the whole work, but more especially the latter portion, bore the marks of the excessive hurry with which it passed through the press. Every one, practically acquainted with the nature of such an undertaking, must deplore the precipitance of a man already burdened with a multiplicity of editorial cares, who devoted less than six months to a work of great extent in itself if well done, and of the utmost moment, as the original form of God's fullest revelation to man. It is to be feared that Erasmus, or his printer Froben, was too ambitious of anticipating the project of Cardinal F. Ximenes de Cisneros, who had engaged learned men on the preparation of his Polyglott ever since the year 1502. The Editio Princeps of Erasmus appeared at Basel in 1516, and others came out in 1519, 1522 (famous for the first insertion of 1 John 5:7), 1527, and 1535. Aldo Manuzio reprinted the first at Venice in 1518 in the same volume as his edition of the LXX. Other republications soon followed. According to Dr. Masch's edition of LeLong, not less than twenty editions were taken from the text of the Rotterdam scholar.

The volume of the Complutensian Polyglott, which contains the N.T. in Greek and Latin, appears to have been completed in the beginning of 1514, as the entire work was about the middle of 1517, a few months before the cardinal's death. But the formal authorisation of Pope Leo X. was not given before March 22, 1520, and Erasmus had not seen a copy in 1522. The effect of its publication was that Erasmus adopted about ninety of its readings for the book of Revelation alone in his two last editions. The Complutensian editors, like Erasmus, speak highly of their mss.; but it is the opinion of many critics, otherwise widely diverging such as Bengel and Wetstein, Griesbach and Matthæi, that their materials were neither ancient nor of distinctive value. What, and where, their mss. are, it is not easy to say. In the library at Alcalá there are no Greek copies of the N.T., nor at Madrid, whither the other chief documents used for the Polyglott were transferred. There was a codex Rhodiensis to which Stunica, the ablest of the editors employed by Ximenes, frequently appeals in his controversy with their rival; but what has become of it is unknown. Nor does this affect the history of the Apocalyptic text, which was not contained in it. Again, the Greek mss., known to have been sent from the Vatican library, are those now numbered 330 and 346; but they contain no part of the N.T. Nevertheless, in the prologue to that part of the Complutensian Polyglott, mention is expressly made of copies "ex apostolica bibliotheca eductis." There are grave historical difficulties pressed by Wetstein (Prolegomena, p. 117), and the absence of any register of such a loan in the Vatican records is the more noticeable, because we know of the pledge given and redeemed by Ximenes as to the O.T. (Vercellone's Pref. to Mai's edition of the Vatican MS.). But, on the whole, the most reasonable conclusion is that the Complutensian editors had the loan, as they pretend, of at least one Greek N.T. ms. from Rome. The story about the sale of the Complutensian mss. to a rocket maker about 1749, told to Professors Moldenhawer and Tychsen in 1784, and repeated with strong indignant comments by Michaelis, almost refutes itself. The fact is that the library was at that time under learned and careful supervision. Was so reckless a proceeding then morally conceivable? Besides, the library catalogue made at Alcala in 1745 tallies with the mss. still extant in Madrid. About the time of the alleged barbarism there was a sale, but it was of old covers of the volumes which the librarian was then causing to be rebound. This probably gave rise to the report in question. But if we cannot now identify the particular documents used for the Greek N.T., those who compare their results, with the readings of the best copies, can hardly fail to coincide with the judgment of Bishop Marsh, that the Complutensian text was formed from modern manuscripts alone.

It is manifest, then, that one faulty and defective ms. of Erasmus, with some readings of Valla; the comparatively modern copy of the Complutensian editors (probably still existing among the numerous mss. of Rome); and the two Parisian copies, collated by H. Stephens for his father, and employed rather more by Théodore de Bèze, compose the entire diplomatic authority on which the received text of the Revelation was founded.

In this unsatisfactory condition the text remained for more than a century. The great mass, including even men of real acquirements, acquiesced in the Stephanic or Elzevirian text. Few suspected that the fairest typography is a light thing compared with the weightier demands of criticism. Nevertheless, the interval was not altogether in vain. Materials, some good, others suspicious or indifferent, had been gradually gathered in various quarters. A mind at once acute and comprehensive, patient of investigation through the least and most wearisome details, and quick to seize latent links that seemed conflicting and opposed, above all, habitually subject to Scripture and imbued with the thought and feeling which the Holy Ghost produces through it — such a mind was wanting to weave the accumulated variety of readings into a consistent system, which should establish itself by its own evidence.

Two collections of readings led to much controversy. One was drawn up by the Marquis of Velez, (Fagiardus (J. Mariana, Tract. pro Ed. Vulg. cap. 17), Faxardus (Lud. de la Cerda, Adver. Sacra, cap. 91) and Fraxardus (B. Walton, Praef. in Biblia Polyglotta), are the forms in which his name is given in Latin, which English writers have variously followed.) on the margin of Stephen's Greek Testament, from sixteen mss., eight of them belonging to the library of the king of Spain. Their character, their contents, how many agreed or differed as to the readings, their very language, were not specified by the collator. The insinuation was that they were bona fide Greek documents, the result a surprising confirmation of the most peculiar features of the Vulgate renderings. It was clear that the marquis must have designedly culled out whatever supported these Latin readings. The suspicion was that more or less, if not all the new matter, was coined expressly to furnish an apparent Greek authority. It is very doubtful whether most of the various readings ever existed save in Latin, which he translated into Greek, where he found nothing already extant to his hand. Mariana himself was not without suspicion, but De la Cerda printed them in his "Adversaria Sacra." — The other body of readings appeared first as an appendix to Poussin's Catena

Patrum Gr. in Marcum (Rom. 1673). It purported to be a collation by Caryophilus, at the instance of Pope Urban VIII., of twenty-two Greek mss. with the Antwerp Polyglott: ten of the Gospels, eight of the Acts and Epistles, and four of the Apocalypse. They were designated "Barberini," perhaps because the collation itself was kept in the cardinal's library, where Birch, it seems, found the manuscript collation of Caryophilus; but the mss. are said to be preserved in the Vatican and other principal libraries of Rome. The Barb. readings were used freely by Mill, Bengel, &c. Wetstein left them out as an imposture, chiefly because of their latinizing tendency. That his suspicions were groundless seems plain from their frequent opposition to the common printed text of the Vulgate. This a forger would have avoided, except perhaps in a few instances to save appearances. (Thus, the so-called Codex Ravianus, or Berolinensis, was clearly a copy of the Complutensian Text, with here and there portions following Stephens. The design may have been to confirm by fraud the feeble evidence of the Monfort ms. (93 of Rev.) in favour of 1 John 5:7. Cod. Rav. retains its place in Tischendorf's catalogue of minuscules, as far as the Gospels are concerned; but feeling assured that it is a forged document, I have not inserted it in my list of Apocalyptic mss., though it contains all the N.T. See Griesbach's Symb. Crit. I., p. cixxxi, et seq.) The rules laid down by Caryophilus, and quoted in Mill's Prolegomena (pp. 138, 139), readily account for their peculiar aspect. On the other hand, Birch's discovery in Rome of Caryophilus' petition for leave to use six Vatican mss. (349, 354, 358, 1150, 1254, and 1209), and of their coincidence, in his judgment, with the Barb. readings, goes far to confirm the genuineness of all. Still, until some scholar succeeds in identifying Barb. 1, 2, 3, 4, their readings must be used with reserve; for they, like the Complutensian, may turn out Roman copies already numbered in the usual lists. An accurate examination of nine mss. at Rome (21. 22. 66. 67. 70. 71. 72. 73. 78.) which are wholly uncited, not to add several others of which we know little, would probably decide.

Again, Patrick Junius first collated the Codex Alexandrinus and H. Grotius used the extracts in his Annot. in N.T. But perhaps the most considerable collection of various readings for that day was furnished by the famous London Polyglott in 1657. There we have, in vol. v., the Alexandrine readings at the foot of the reprinted Stephanic text, and, in vol. vi., the Ussherian collation, &c. It was also the storehouse from which afterwards were long drawn the readings of the Æthiopic and Arabic versions. Bishop Fell followed in 1675 with cursory extracts from many mss. The Apocalyptic stock was enriched by Claude Sarrau's readings from Codd. Petavii 2 and 3 (now numbered 11. 12). Fell's work was reprinted, without critical improvement, by John Gregory (Oxford, 1703), as it had been twice before at Leipsic.

But nearly all that was of value in these collections and editions, with a great deal of new matter, appeared in the justly celebrated edition of Dr. John Mill (Oxford, 1707). (The same year that Mill's Testament appeared, Toinard published his Harmonia Evangelica, founding the text in a great measure upon the collation of the Vatican ms. 1209, and another now unknown in the same library, with the Vulgate: a curious anticipation as a fact of Bentley's theory.) The addition for the book of Revelation consisted of his collation of six British manuscripts (6. 7. 8. 9. 10. 14.), to which Kuster, who republished his book (Rotterdam, 1710, and, at least with a new title, Leipsic, 1723), added extracts from the very ancient palimpsest of Paris (C. of Wetstein), and some readings of Cod. Seidelianus (13.). There can be no doubt that a new era of N.T. criticism began to dawn through the thirty years' researches of Mill, whose Prolegomena still retain much value for the student. Nevertheless, the text is simply a reprint of Stephens' third edition, with some errata corrected. The impulse, however, was given; and two years had not passed before Dr. E. Wells began the issue of his N.T., accompanied by an English version and notes (Oxford, 1709-1719): the first attempt, it would seem, to correct the text of the whole Testament, according to the critical results already attained.

Introduction

About three years before Wells' Testament was completed, the greatest of English scholars, Dr. R. Bentley, announced his plan of a critical edition of the N.T. in Greek and Latin, and wrote a letter to Archbishop Wake in explanation of his views. He finds himself able, he says, "to give the Gr. T. exactly as it was in the best examples at the time of the Council of Nice, so that there shall not be 20 words' nor even particles' difference; and this shall carry its own demonstration in every verse, which I affirm cannot be so done of any other ancient book, Greek or Latin. So that that book, which, by the present management, is thought the most uncertain, shall have a testimony of certainty above all other books whatever, and an end be put at once to all var. lectt. now or hereafter. In a word, I find that by taking 2000 errors out of the Pope's [Clement's] Vulgate, and as many out of the Protestant Pope Stephens', I can set out an edition of each in columns, without using any book under 900 years old, that shall so exactly agree word for word, and what at first amazed me, order for order [which, he had before complained, Mill and the other collators took no notice of], that no two tallies, nor two indentures, can agree better." The same outcry with which Dr. Mill's Testament was received, even by men of some learning like Whitby, broke out more fiercely against Bentley, whose own spirit was proud and intemperate, and whose criticism in profane authors was known to be adventurous. To this he alludes in a letter to Dr. S. Clarke (Ep. LXXVII., November, 1719): "The Church is in great danger from my N.T." His enemy, C. Middleton, had been busy. Notwithstanding, neither labour nor expense was spared. Collations and recollations were made under his direction at home and abroad. In 1720 appeared his prospectus and specimen, consisting of the last chapter of Revelation, and attributing the greatest weight to the consent of the Cod. Alex. with the oldest copies of the Vulgate. (Two of his authorities he cites as "Codd. Gallic." What French mss. those were, nobody knows. Possibly they are among the eleven uncited manuscripts, or others only cited cursum, in Paris. Wetstein numbered them

21. 22. Scholz has given in their stead Codd. Vallicelliani D. 20 and B. 86, but, strange to say, his references under these numbers are Wetstein's. A similar blunder, it may be added, is made by Scholz as to 23. Wetstein meant thereby Cod. Mediceus, a collection of readings made by an unknown Dutchman. For so doubtful a case Scholz substituted Cod. Coislinianus 200, but he only gives under this number Wetstein's citations of Cod. Med.) Nevertheless, the scheme dropt through. Doubtless, the later years of the great scholar's life were embittered by quarrels, disputes, and litigation; but who that weighs his large preparations, his high hopes, his determined character, can satisfy himself that the sole reasons, which forbade the prosecution of his grand design, lay in the opposition of his adversaries and detractors? To find his own outline defective and impracticable, to be obliged to retract or modify, must have been a sore trial, after so confident a programme. The very specimen did not fulfil, in my opinion, the promise; and who, save perhaps one living editor, thinks that it could have been kept everywhere else? At the same time, be it observed, he did not exclude the use of witnesses as low as the eighth or ninth century.

Very different from the Master of Trinity in character and habits, immeasurably inferior in range and depth of scholarship, but a humble, ardent, indefatigable, successful student of the Word of God was J. A. Bengel. His genuine piety, and unimpeachably sound doctrine, did much to show that criticism is not necessarily irreverent, or without unction and practical value. In 1734 his Testament came out, with the Introductio in crisin N.T. prefixed, and the Apparatus Criticus subjoined. The execution of the work was clear, concise, and otherwise admirable. If he had little manuscript authority beyond what Mill furnished, he applied all with real ability, and a seldom failing sense of the internal evidence. What editor has ever surpassed him for confidence in, and love of, the Word of God? In the other books of the New Testament, readings were selected from the previous printed editions, only setting out in the margin his judgment of those better, equal, or worse. The Apocalypse alone, as being the most neglected and necessitous, had the benefit of his revision according to the authority of mss. His own direct addition consisted of the readings of Cod. Uffenbachianus (16.), with better extracts from 13. We omit, with Wetstein, his "Augustanus septimus" (an Augsburg copy of the comment on the Apocalypse by Andreas Cæsarcensis, which contains the text also), and his "Dionysianus apud Joan. Gagnejum." The text was often reprinted; the Apparatus Criticus, without text, reappeared, enlarged and improved in 1763, eleven years after his death.

In 1751, 1752, J. J. Wetstein published his celebrated edition of the New Testament, after having accomplished, Bishop Marsh thinks, more than all his predecessors put together. His intense industry and vast erudition are attested by above a million of quotations, his illustrative notes being as remarkable in their way as his Prolegomena and collected readings. He reprinted the received text, only pointing out in the inner margin the readings he preferred. To him, either directly or through friends, we are indebted for our first acquaintance with the readings of the Apocalyptic mss. B. 4. 15. 17. 18. 19. 26. 27. 28., not to speak of 20. and 24., cited by Blanchini in the two last verses. Besides, C. 2. 6. 11. 12. 14. were known more fully through his book. It is true that he was not free from prejudice, which especially vented itself against the Vulgate, and manuscripts such as the Alexandrine and Vat. 1209, which support that ancient version in numerous and grave discrepancies with the more modern mss. There is no real ground, however, to question the honesty of his intentions, or the general soundness of his judgment.

A great boon was conferred on biblical critics in 1786 by the publication of the far-famed Codex Alexandrinus in facsimile types, under the careful eye of Dr. Woide. His reprint may not be immaculate, but certainly it corrects numerous mistakes, omissions, &c., of Mill and Wetstein, without speaking of those before them. The labours of Professors Alter (1786), Birch (1788-1801), and Matthæi (1782-1788), accumulated a quantity of valuable materials for every part of the New Testament, the Revelation not excepted. From Alter we have our knowledge of 33. 34. 35. 36., Viennese mss. of no great antiquity. Birch, of Copenhagen, collated 37. 38. 39. 40. 41. 42., with Engelbreth's collation of 44., the first three chapters of 45., and select parts of 46. Wetstein had already copied some readings of 25. from Amelotte, to which Birch added more. Matthæi not only republished Knitel's collation of 30., but for the first time collated two Dresden mss., 32. 47, and four of Moscow, 48. 49. 50. 90. It fell to the lot of J. J. Griesbach, perhaps the most distinguished of modern critics for judicial ability, to turn these vast stores to account in his second edition (1796, 1806, twice reprinted in London, besides manual editions): nor these only, for he paid particular attention to the old Latin copies, published by Sabatier and Blanchini, corrected the mistakes of Mill, Bengel, and Wetstein, in their citations of oriental versions, and added the Sahidic as then known, and the Slavonic. His own contribution to Apocalyptic materials consisted only of 29., and, through Paulus, of 31., (the first eight chapters only,) both loosely collated.

From 51. to 89., inclusive, is an imposing roll of Apocalyptic manuscripts added by the late Dr. I. M. A. Scholz, of Bonn (1830, 1836). (The avowed principle of this editor is to base his text on the consent of the multitude of Constantinopolitan copies. In practice, however, he deserted them, and that increasingly, for the few Alexandrian witnesses.) But they are, for the most part, only entered on the list, save 51., which has been recently collated by Reiche. The rest remain wholly uncited, with the following exceptions: 55., twenty-two readings from chapter 1 and twenty-eight from elsewhere; 56., five readings cited; 64., thirty-three readings, all from chapters 1, 2; 68., fourteen readings from this fragment or copy; 69., sixty times in chapters 1, 2 and twice elsewhere; 80., thirty-three readings; 82., sixty-four times in chapters 1, 2 and eighteen times elsewhere; 86., three times in the beginning of the book; 88., forty-five readings from chapters 1, 2 and two elsewhere. The collation of 91. had been published by Ford, (Appendix Evang. Matt. Ex Cod. Rescr., Dublin, 1801), but were first used, as a whole, for the criticism of Revelation by S. P. Tregelles in 1844, whose edition of the book was enriched with the largely increased light of C., the Codex Ephræmi Rescriptus, just before published by A. F. C. Tischendorf.

The text, to which the reader is here introduced [W. Kelly's 1860 Greek text of Revelation], was not put together hastily, having been framed, several years since, for my own profit and satisfaction from the testimony of the best witnesses then known, irrespectively of the Elzevir edition. The advantage has since offered of a better knowledge of the Apocalyptic B. through Tischendorf and, very recently, Mai. The text thus modified might still have rested in privacy but for the demand, urged in various quarters, for the reprint in a separate form of a course of Lectures on the Revelation, which had been already published in a periodical work. But the printer had no sooner entered upon his work than the means appeared of adding a large amount of fresh testimony (87. 93. 94. 95. 96. 97. 98.), never before applied to the correction of the text, from the laborious and fruitful researches of Mr. F. H. Scrivener. This occasioned a delay, and a thorough revisal, so as to incorporate the new information, which bears every internal mark of competent and conscientious exactness. Another result of the delay, for which some at least of my readers will be as grateful as myself, is that I am now enabled to give certain readings from the very ancient Uncial so recently procured by the Russian government, styled by its discoverer Codex Sinaiticus, and probably to be henceforth known as D. in the lists of the manuscripts of the Revelation. These extracts I received from Dr. Tischendorf, to whom I take this opportunity of publicly tendering my warm thanks. A considerable time must elapse before we can expect to see the transcript of this precious document, which is in preparation. . . .

We have now traced the history of the printed apocalyptic text, from its rudimentary shape in Erasmus' early editions, when a single ms., mutilated, and disfigured by scholia, was almost the entire direct testimony, up to the present time, when we have the treasures, more or less open, of four Uncial copies and ninety-eight minuscules, even if we make no use of documents like Barb. 1,2,3,4, and perhaps others which have been neglected since the days of Wetstein. The sum is, that A. and C. are probably as well known as their actual condition allows, that we have a tolerable acquaintance with B. throughout, and that we may ere long expect such a reproduction of D. as is worthy of the most experienced New Testament editor now living. Of the cursives, we have forty-eight, more or less perfectly, ascertained (those bracketed being either defective in part, or a known portion collated): — 2. 4. [6.] 7. 8. 9. 10. [13.] [14.] [15.] 16. 17. 18. 19. 26. 27. [28.] [29.] 30. 31. 32. [33.] 34. 35. [36.] 37. 38. [39.] 40. 41. 42. [43.] [45.] 47. 48. 49. 50. 51. [87.] 90. 91. 92. [93.] 94. (This ms. was originally at Florence, as we know from J. Lamy (De Eruditione Apost. Flor. 1738), whence Wetstein drew his account. Birch described it in his Prolegomena, p. liv., and

Introduction

Griesbach enumerated it, twice by mistake in his mss. of the Gospels, 107 and 201 (by which last number it reappears in Scholz), in those of the Acts 91, and of Paul 104. But none seems to have even suspected that it contained the Apocalypse, though Birch and Scholz collated it here and there.) [95.] [96.] 97. 98. Those occasionally cited, whether only collated in part or defective, are nineteen: — 1. 3. 5. 11. 12. 20. 24. 25. 44. 46. (Scholz says that 46. seems to be a copy of 22.) 55. 56. 64. 68. 69. 80. 82. 86. 88. There remain thirty-one altogether uncited: — 21. 22. 23. 52. 53. 54. 57. 58. 59. 60. 61. 62. 63. 65. 66. 67. 70. 71. 72. 73. 74. 75. 76. 77. 78. 79. 81. 83. 84. 85. 89. In Rome, Florence, Turin, Venice, Munich, and Paris, are found the documents (besides those in Palestine) known to exist but as yet unexplored, as well as some into which Scholz has but dipped. It is some satisfaction to know that the twenty British mss. which contain the Apocalypse are now thoroughly laid bare. . . . Those who wish particulars as to the secondary critical helps (the ancient Versions and Patristic quotations) may find what is known in Marsh's Michaelis, or Horne's Introduction, and the Prolegomena to the more elaborate editions of the New Testament, especially Tischendorf's. To the last I am largely indebted, as also to Griesbach's Symbolæ Criticæ, and Matthæi's first edition of the New Testament. Scholz too and Tregelles have been of use. The reader will bear in mind that I have only cited Andreas (And.) where Codd. Palatinus, Augustanus and Coislianus agree. The revised translation, published by the American Bible Union, (London: Trübner & Co., 1854) has suggested some profitable hints for the English Version. (Rev. of John, 1860, iii-xxv)

Tischendorf's New Testament

In reply to Mr. Coombe.'s inquiries I may be allowed to say that, in my opinion, the new (7th) edition of Tischendorf's "Novum Testamentum Græce" is, as a critical performance, decidedly preferable to any of its predecessors. I have not yet received more than the two first parts, which do not extend beyond the beginning of Mark 10:21; but thus far the information is concisely, clearly, and withal fully given. The paper and typography are unexceptionable. One singular erratum I have noticed in Matt. 23:39, where the text runs Εὐλογημένος ἐν ονόματι κυρίου. Of course the learned editor could not have intended to leave out the words ὁ ἐρχόμενος, as to which there is not the least doubt or discrepancy in the authorities; so that the omission can only be the slip of the author, or, more probable, the printer. The footnotes are drawn up with greater perspicuity and exactness. It is hard to see how they could be improved in either respect without swelling the book needlessly, which when complete will not cost a pound. Those who are best acquainted with the editions of Mill, Griesbach, Scholz, and Lachmann (not to speak of the Textus Rec., Knapp, Tittmann, Hahn, or the mere text-books of Oxford and Cambridge), will most appreciate the work now proceeding under the careful and experienced eye of the Leipsic Professor. I do not mean that people should commit themselves to this edition without using discrimination; for unhappily Dr. Tischendorf has suffered from the laxity as to inspiration which pervades almost all Lutheran divines. I do trust that he may be led to reconsider his previous judgment as to the end of Mark 16 and the beginning of John 8; for I have been struck with the fact, as far as I have observed, that he is becoming more cautious, and that the last edition recurs often to the common readings, which he had too rashly abandoned in his former issues. (Christian Annotator 3:467)

By far the best critical help to such readers is the seventh edition of Tischendorf's Greek Testament, now in course of publication at Leipsic. We have received the first two parts, which carry one as far as Mark 10, and can assure enquirers that Tischendorf's former editions were not more preferable to most of his rivals, than his new recension is to all its predecessors. One very satisfactory result is, that this latest edition returns, in more than one hundred places in St. Matthew alone, to the received text, which the learned Professor had abandoned in his earlier efforts. We hope that this fact may not be lost upon an editor, whose recent writings lead us to fear dreadful havoc in this respect. It is Griesbach whose research and acumen have laid down the grand outlines of a revised text, though no doubt he has fallen into errors here and there, and others may correct him in details. The main desideratum, as to the letter, is a better knowledge of the famous Vatican MSS. B. (Bible Treasury 1:134)

Wordsworth's New Testament

The New Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, in the original Greek, with Notes. By Christopher Wordsworth, D. D., Canon of Westminster. Part I. — the Four Gospels. London: Rivingtons, 1856. Preface, &c., pp. lii; pp. 287, 4to. Dr. W. states that this work is the result of a design formed many years ago, and suggested, both by the existing greater privileges which the age enjoys for the elucidation of scripture, and by the growing evils of the day also. "If Christendom has had her Masora from Germany, she has had also her Cabbala" (p. vi). "There is scarcely any error, however puerile or preposterous, which may not find its advocates among persons enjoying high literary and scientific advantages for the interpretation of the New Testament, and be gravely propounded by them, with an air of superior intelligence, as a true exposition, to be received by the world in the place of ancient interpretations of holy writ" (p. vii). "These evils are not confined to the range of exposition; they menace scripture itself. There is scarcely any portion of the New Testament whose inspiration, genuineness, or veracity, has not been impugned by some one or more of these biblical critics. Some would expunge this portion of the sacred canon, some would cancel that, till at last, if they are to be indulged in their arbitrary caprices, Christendom would hardly be permitted to possess a fragment of the documents of Christ" (viii). But if Dr. W. is thus shown to be in some degree alive to the perils of these last days, what shall we say of his remedies? A return to the general consent of ancient Christendom (i.e. of the third, fourth, and fifth centuries more particularly), and a fuller owning of ministry in due apostolic succession and administration of the sacraments. Such are the means whereby our author hopes to regenerate Germany, and to maintain the authority of God's word. We need scarce add that the failure is complete, as far as interpretation goes, though the integrity of the text is sustained far more than in Mr. Alford's edition, or his German prototypes, Lachmann, &c. But we must apprise all students that if they desire to know and examine the basis on which the text is formed (i.e. the readings of MSS. versions and Fathers), they will not find them here. (Bible Treasury 1:134)

Westcott & Hort's New Testament

Having brought to a close the examination of the Revised Version with the American Suggestions, I may now turn to a review of these volumes on which two very able and learned men have spent the ungrudging labour of some twenty-seven years [THE CAMBRIDGE CRITICAL GREEK TESTAMENT. The New Testament in the original Greek: the text revised by Brooke Foss Westcott D.D. and Fenton John Anthony Hort D.D. 2 Vols., cr. 8vo., Cambridge and London, Macmillan and Co. 1881]. Their outward appearance is at once unpretending and elegant; and the Editors have certainly given the most decisive proof that the old interest of our Island in the study of this, the latest nearest and deepest portion of divine revelation, has revived and extended notably. More strictly than the well-known works of Dean Alford and Bp. Wordsworth, is it a critical contribution, which stands rather with the late Dr. Tregelles' book, and challenges comparison, not so much with Lachmann's latest Edition merely, as with Tischendorf's eighth, scarcely yet completed. The difference however is so marked between them, that, while no careful scholar can dispense with the fulness of information furnished only by the great German Editor, it is surely incumbent on him to weigh this W H Testament, not only for its text in Vol. i. framed with scrupulous care on a full consideration of all ancient evidence, but for its distinctive conclusions according to the principles and their application discussed elaborately in Vol. ii. with notes on select readings throughout. Characterised very differently, they are both indispensable to those who would have before them the variants in the MSS. as well as the judgment arrived at by the most recent Editor on the evidence. Perhaps no edition of the Greek New Testament has exhibited greater boldness than the one before us; yet it may relieve some to know that, according to the estimate of our Editors, not more than one eighth of the text affords questions to all the critics; that much the largest part of that eighth consists of most trivial differences; and that, setting aside orthographical discrepancies, one-sixtieth part might cover what is debatable.

Nevertheless I confess to no small surprise that, whatever may be the value of their book in the hands of competent scholars, the Editors should conceive it to be at all adapted for popular use as a manual text of the New Testament, as intimated in ii. 289: why, will appear in the sequel. This notice may suffice as an introduction to a detailed test.

Their method is thus described (ii. 17, 18), "The mode adopted from the first was to work out our results independently of each other, and to hold no counsel together except upon results already provisionally obtained. Such differences as then appeared, usually bearing a very small proportion to the points of immediate agreement, were discussed on paper, and where necessary repeatedly discussed; till either agreement or final difference was reached. These ultimate differences have found expression among the alternative readings. No rule of precedence has been adopted; but documentary attestation has been in most cases allowed to confer the place of honour as against internal evidence, range of attestation being further taken into account as between one well attested reading and another. This combination of completely independent operations permits us to place far more confidence in the results than either of us could have presumed to cherish had they rested on his own sole responsibility. No individual mind can ever act with perfect uniformity, or free itself completely from its own idiosyncracies: the danger of unconscious caprice is inseparable from personal judgment. We venture to hope that the present text has escaped some risks of this kind by being the production of two editors of different habits of mind, working independently and to a great extent on different plans, and then giving and receiving free and full criticism wherever their first conclusion had not agreed together. For the principles, arguments, and conclusions set forth in the Introduction and Appendix both editors are alike responsible. It was however for various reasons expedient that their exposition and illustration should proceed throughout from a single hand; and [?therefore] the writing of this volume [ii] and the other accompaniments of the text has devolved on Dr. Hort." This will explain some singular results which appear here and there from first to last throughout the work and will in due time call for notice.

The effort throughout is to reduce all to the level of "the scientific." How this works practically remains to be seen.

The following table, copied from p. 15, will be found in several ways helpful to the student and not without interest to every christian reader who will bear in mind that the great Uncials are conventionally cited under capitals, Roman, Greek, or Hebrew.

This, compared with the various editions since the Complut. and Erasmus, may serve to shew “the disadvantages under which the Greek text of the New Testament was first printed from late and inferior MSS.; the long neglect to take serious measures amending it; the slow process of the accumulation and study of evidence; the late date at which any considerable number of corrections on ancient authority were admitted into the slightly modified Erasmusian text that reigned by an accidental prescription, and the very late date at which ancient authority was allowed to furnish not scattered touchings but the whole body of text from beginning to end; and lastly the advantage enjoyed by the present generation in the possession of a store of evidence largely augmented in amount and still more in value, as well as in the ample instruction afforded by previous criticism and previous texts.”

The resources of textual criticism are shown to rise, in judging between variants, from Internal Evidence of “readings” (intrinsic and transcriptional) to that of “documents” and “groups of documents,” as well as to what is called “genealogical” evidence (sometimes complicated by “mixture”); yet there are confessedly rival early readings which do not yield to what is here designated “the highest evidence” but are intrinsically to be condemned. The chief faults in this description are two, and they are very grave to a believer: (1) the reasoning proceeds as if the New Testament stood on no better grounds than any other book; and (2) that the Spirit of God has nothing to do with enabling the believer to form a sound judgment! (Bible Treasury 15:207, 208)

Tregelles' Text of Revelation

[A Review of] THE BOOK OF REVELATION, TRANSLATED FROM THE ANCIENT GREEK TEXT. By S. P. Tregelles. — 1848. London: Samuel Bagster & Sons, &c. [and] ΑΠΟΚΑΛΥΨΙΣ ΙΗΣΟΥ ΧΡΙΣΤΟΥ, ΕΞ ΑΡΧΑΙΩΝ ΕΚΛΟΘΕΙΣΑ. — THE BOOK OF REVELATION IN GREEK, EDITED FROM ANCIENT AUTHORITIES; WITH A NEW ENGLISH VERSION, AND VARIOUS READINGS. By Samuel Prideaux Tregelles, — 1844. London: Samuel Bagster & Sons, &c.:

In the address to the reader, in the more recent of these two works, the editor says: "In the year 1844, I edited the Greek Text of the Book of Revelation from ancient authorities, with an English Translation adapted to the Greek Text so edited, and a Critical Introduction. I have been requested to publish the English Translation in a separate form, in order that it may be more conveniently used by those who wish to study this important book of Holy Scriptures, according as it is given by the most ancient authorities. In complying with the request thus made to me, I have carefully revised the whole: this revision has been carried out, both with respect to the authorities on which the text rests, and also with regard to the translation into English" (Page 1). In this republication of the English text of the Revelation, Mr. T. states that it differs from the former, first, as to A and C, and of a more complete knowledge of B, (the text of which was published by Tischendorf, in 1846,) and of a personal collation of the MS. 38 at Rome, and of the Codex Amiatinus (i.e. the most important MS. of Jerome's Latin version) at Florence, as well as by a more decided carrying out of his own critical principles; secondly, as to differences in rendering, &c., besides correcting whatever appeared to him to admit of it, the order of the Greek has been more followed; the nominative of the personal pronouns, when expressed in Greek, is now marked by capitals; (and "I" by a black letter;) variations of reading are distinguished by an asterisk from those in translation merely; and the anacoluthon, so frequent in the book, is indicated, where practicable, by a dash (—), which here only occurs to this end.

A comparison, however, of the two works has satisfied me that in the course of the last four years the judgment of the editor has wavered and changed considerably as to the text and the translation of the book. More than six hundred variations, great and small, I have observed — a list quite sufficient to discredit the former work, if not indeed both. For what guarantee can we have that such a degree of fickleness will not drag the editor, if left here below for four years more, into another expurgatory index quite as copious? There may be more uniformity, as well as otherwise some changes for the better in the translation; but it is much to be regretted, that while the errors of the former edition are far from being all eliminated in the present work, fresh mistakes have been added to this, from which its predecessor was free. Of this competent persons may form some opinion, even from the samples here given, which are necessarily few, because of the limited space which The Prospect can afford to such subjects.

That Mr. T. is fitted in many respects to be a successful, as he is a laborious and enthusiastic collator of MSS. is well known; but a sound, dispassionate judgment as to different readings requires other and higher qualifications. An old uncial MS. or two ought not to overwhelm other evidence, as it has done in Mr. T.'s system of recension. What is worse, this wrong bias grows upon him. He follows the steps of Lachmann far more closely now than he did four years ago, more I may add practically than he would allow in theory. What the two books I have noticed warrant us in expecting from a work of such gravity as a new edition of the Greek Testament carried out on the same principles, Christians, qualified to form an opinion, must judge for themselves. Of these books I could not in honesty speak otherwise than I have done. — ED. (Prospect 1:86-88)

Some Other Editors

I do not speak of editions of the Greek Testament which aim at exposition, such as Dr. Bloomfield's, Mr. Alford's, or the yet later work of Webster and Wilkinson. As to a just settlement of the text (which is the main object of a critical edition) I should be disposed to think their claims extremely small: . . . (Christian Annotator 3:467)

As Mr. C. desires further information on a matter of such great moment to the Christian student, allow me to contribute a further mite. Much depends on the condition of those for whose use the work is intended. For instance, "the head master" spoken of has found Webster and Wilkinson's book "suitable to the higher classes of a school and the ordinary run of undergraduates." Now every person of fair acquirements knows that this, however well adapted for the mass of youths at a university, is saying very little for the wants of such as desire to search more deeply. Indeed the same individual owns the absence of what is of interest and value to "the more advanced student." . . . Nevertheless, though the text is merely a reprint of the Text. Rec. with few allusions to various readings in the notes, it is at least a comfort to find a new book of the kind free from the poisonous German influences which pervade most of the critical Greek Testaments that are issuing from the press. Mr. Alford's, for instance, is a far more clever and brilliant performance, in spite of Professor Tischendorf's too depreciatory criticism (in 1850) that it was hardly fit for schoolboys. I do agree with this remark, if applied morally; because, in my opinion, Mr. Alford's system, laid down in his Prolegomena and carried out in many of his notes, undermines the proper claim of the New Testament to inspiration. . . .

I have also examined the recent publication of Dr. Christopher Wordsworth containing the four Gospels in Greek, with notes. His text is on the whole creditably drawn up, but he has not given such an apparatus criticus as to satisfy a careful scholar. The notes are derived chiefly from the early Fathers and from the theological literature of the Church of England — of course so far as the latter chimes in with the Editor's strong ecclesiastical views and his decided sacramentalism. . . . (Christian Annotator 4:28)

6. Versions

Septuagint

There can be no doubt of the fact that the Septuagint was generally used by our Lord and the inspired writers of the New Testament. But this fact ought not to be abused to the denial of what is equally certain — that it contains numerous mistranslations throughout, and is in no way to be compared for accuracy with the authorised version. Nevertheless the Holy Ghost condescended to use it freely, adopting its language, where true, even if it differed from the meaning of the Hebrew: just as occasionally He gives a paraphrase which differs from both. It was a most important witness already extant among the Gentiles, and God employed it in grace without in any way guaranteeing the inspiration of the LXX, or of their work. What would be thought of the argument that the works of Menander or Epimenides were inspired because the Holy Ghost cited them in the Epistles of St. Paul? It was not an unnatural thing that the early fathers, Greek and Latin, should attach an exaggerated value to the version chiefly in use among them. Not even Augustine knew the Hebrew original, and of the Latins scarce any, save Jerome. It is much to be regretted that the idea should be revived by a respectable scholar of our own day. (Christian Annotator 3:131)

I am of opinion that the Holy Ghost, citing in the New Testament the language of the Old Testament, while always and only communicating perfect truth, is not limited to the mere literal primary sense which the sentence conveyed. He could even make use of an imperfect version like that of the LXX, not of course, as if he vouched for its representation as a whole, but adopting any particular phrases and thoughts, even where they differed from the original Hebrew, if they expressed additional truth which bore upon the object he had in view. (Christian Annotator 3:325. See also Bible Treasury N5:192)

Peshito-Syriac

I think that the just inference from a comparison of the various texts cited from the Peshito-Syriac is, that this venerable version is lax in representing the true force of different phrases in the Greek New Testament on the subject of the resurrection; not only confounding things which are distinct, but adding, in most or all cases, an idea not suggested by the original. (Christian Annotator 2:200)

German — Elberfeld

As one of those who ventured to commend this new German version, I may be permitted to remind L. H. J. T. that it is published anonymously, so as to rest its claims solely on the intrinsic merits of the work, if it have any. I should think that no scholar can be ignorant of the defects of Luther's translation, more especially if one takes into the account the additional light which MSS. discovered or collated more perfectly during the last 300 years cast upon the original text. Even the Roman Catholic version of Van Ess is in some respects superior to Luther's, and there is no comparison between it and Dr. DeWette's Bible. Nevertheless, rationalism is always more or less irreverent and superficial; and it is no wonder that grave godly ministers of Christ found a lack in any of these versions. To meet this need in a cheap form was the object of the work; and, as far as I can pretend to judge, it is a great advance upon any of its predecessors known to me. It resembles the authorised English version more than perhaps any of the modern continental translations — with this difference, however, that it makes use of many critical helps which were unknown to King James's translators. It may interest some of your readers to hear that the chief hand in the work is "the Irish clergyman," (though really an Englishman), whom a leader of modern infidelity, Prof. F. W. Newman, has put forward as the remarkable representative, in our day, of faith in the Word of God. I know not how L. H. J. T. may appreciate the "standing and authority" of one whose aim is to sink the servant in the praise of the Master; but my opinion is that, if a profound and spirit-taught familiarity with the truth, and a varied, yet exact, knowledge of the letter of Scripture ought to be combined, with lesser qualifications, in order to guarantee a translation, the Elberfeld New Testament has just and large claims on serious Christian men. (Christian Annotator 3:211-212)

German — Berleburg

Though I am unable to speak from personal knowledge, yet in the absence of better answers, I may say that this is a German version in six ponderous folios filled with notes. The version is said to be the most literal of German translations, accompanied by notes of a universalist tendency. It was made about a century and a half ago, I understand, and derives its name from a Westphalian Count, under whose auspices the work was carried on. I am not aware that there has been any reprint of the work, nor any edition of the version separate from the Commentary. (Christian Annotator 2:301)

English — KJV

But some may say, "Do not the scriptures assert as much?" I admit the English version does, but not the word of God; and we must not confound them. We have every reason to thank God for the English Bible, which, as far as I am acquainted with the subject, I believe to be as good a version, if not better than any other current in the world; but for all this, it is only a version, and therefore a work in which the weakness of man appears, and in which are found here and there defects which human infirmity has not been able to avoid. (Lect. on the Church, p.158)

This, I believe, is what the Holy Ghost wrote and meant [in Gal. 5:17]. What we have in our version is, as many of us have long known, positively wrong. I wish not to pass it over, nor to bring it in by an underhand way: but wherever there is anything plainly mischievous in this version, which is but a human one, it is a christian duty to call attention to it; and the more so, as I am always ready to maintain its general excellence and to defend the common Bible we have got against adversaries who would do it dishonour. But it is not a friend's part to justify a real mistake that may have slipped in through human infirmity, or worse.

Here, then, is one of the most serious mistakes, practically. When I insist upon this, it is not a matter that I admit to be open to a question, or that there should be any doubt about. No person acquainted at all intimately with the language in which the Holy Ghost wrote, could hesitate, save through the effect of strong prejudice. I would also observe, that the best men — the ablest scholars, who perhaps differ from my own views as to much I deem important — nay, persons who are dignitaries in the very church which had the principal hand in the production of this version, — admit candidly and with one consent, that the version I have just given is the true one. There is no doubt of it on the minds of persons of the most opposite ways of thinking on other matters, as to what is the true meaning of this verse. (Lect. on Galatians, p.141)

I do not think the slight of the A. V. as compared with the Revision in our day justified. It is true that there were singular mistakes and short-comings in the old version, and more correctness in some respects in the oldest English translation of W. Tyndale. But there are not a few errors of such deep import in the Revision that one can only thank God that as yet so great a failure has not gained general acceptance. At any rate crying up our own day in this respect seems strangely uncalled for. (Bible Treasury N6:9-10)

Our translators were admirable scholars; but we require the truth in our soul to translate scripture properly, and constant dependence on the same Spirit who wrote it. If they had had to do with any other book, they would have translated it correctly; but their theological prejudices hampered them here and there as to the Bible. Their mistakes seem to have chiefly arisen out of habit. Their failure lay not in lack of learning but in traditional bias. They had found others of name before them translating in a certain way, and they followed in the same rut. (Exp. of Epist. of John, p.188)

It is one of the drawbacks of our beautiful authorised version that the translators cannot let the same word go on unaltered even in the same context; so fond are they of ringing the change on the same word. Most who know only the English version would suppose that there must be some shade of difference between "dwell" and "abide" [in 1 John 3:24]. But the Greek gives only the same word. It is the more regrettable, because there is a distinct word for "dwell" which has its own propriety of application. Is it not far better for the English reader also to have the same word? Here it signifies little save to remember that the "dwelling" and the "abiding" mean the same thing. (Exp. of Epist. of John, p.242-3)

English – Newberry's Companion

[A review of] Companion to the Englishman's Bible, by Thomas Newberry. London: Hodder and Stoughton, 27, Paternoster Row, E. C. (pp. 45):

This slender quarto consists of eleven chapters, meant to illustrate and explain the value of his Englishman's Hebrew O. T., and Greek N. T., as far as can be for those who do not know the original tongues. The reader will find in the work not a few profitable hints conveyed in a clear and compact manner. Mr. N. is not a little attached to the Text. Rec. and the A. V., and indisposed to go with the Revisers in their admiration of their own work. (Bible Treasury 17:217)

English – J. N. Darby

[A review of] The First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians. London: Gregg, 24, Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row:

This is a companion to the version of the epistle to the Romans, noticed some short time since. It is valuable in itself, and the more so from the notes which justify and explain some of the changes. 1 Cor. 2:13, last clause, is rendered "communicating spiritual [things] by spiritual [means]." But why "means?" Is not the natural supply of the ellipse furnished by the first part of the verse — λόγους? Not the thoughts only, but the words were from the Spirit: both were spiritual. The sense is substantially the same as in the proposed version; only, as it seems to us, the simpler suggestion is also the more forcible, unless we deceive ourselves. That συγκρινοντες means here "expounding," or "communicating," is abundantly clear. We transcribe the foot note—"The word means, literally, mixing or putting together: but the use of it as interpreting or expounding, is common in the LXX: Numb. 15:34; Gen. 40:8; 41:12,15, συγκριμα and συγκρισις are the words constantly used in Daniel for interpretation and interpreting. It means also to decide or decree: the communication of the judge's mind, as well as of God's, before unknown. To this Numb. 15:34, may be referred. The opposition of ἀνακρινω left no doubt in my mind before I found its use in the LXX." Another interesting thing

Introduction

we may just notice is, that the translator takes καταχρασμαι, not as “abusing,” but “using a thing as one’s own. The apostle, (chap. 9,) as sent of the Lord to preach, had a right to be supported, but he did not use this right. It would not have been an abuse; but he did not use it for himself as a thing he possessed. He weighed the effect as to Christ’s glory.” Παραχρασμαι, as he observes, is to misuse or abuse. We heartily recommend the little book. (Bible Treasury 1:198)

[A review of] The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians. London: T. H. Gregg, 24, Warwick Lane, Paternoster Row:

In making known this new version of 2 Corinthians to our readers, we would cite a few of the notes as a sample of what may be looked for. On 2 Cor. 1:5 the following remark is made: — “I would take this opportunity of drawing attention to the difference between ‘Christ’ and ‘the Christ.’ ‘The Christ’ is the designation of a condition, not a name; ‘Christ’ is a name. Not only these are not used indifferently, but in the gospels, where the word is used alone, it is almost invariably ‘the Christ,’ — the Messiah, or anointed, — while in the epistles it is rarely so. It is used as a name. Some cases are doubtful, because the structure of the Greek phrase requires or prefers the articles. This is the case here. However, on the whole, I believe the article should be inserted here in English.” So, again, it is an interesting observation on 2 Cor. 3:7 that “it is not said that the ministry was glorious, but that the system was introduced with glory — ἐγενήθη ἐν δόξῃ. It is in contrast with ‘subsisting in glory.’” Accordingly, the proposed version runs, verses 7, 8, . . . 11, “But if the ministry of death in letters, graven in stones, began with glory, so that the children of Israel could not fix their eyes on the face of Moses, on account of the glory of his face, [a glory] which is annulled: how shall not rather the ministry of the Spirit subsist in glory? . . . For if that annulled [was introduced] with glory, how much rather that which abides [subsists] in glory.” That annulled, or done away, as the translator adds in a note, is used sometimes a little harshly here. But the apostle uses it as a formula for the old covenant done away in Christ. If this be borne in mind, the harshness will disappear, and the sense be clearer by adhering to the use of it. It is τὸ καταργούμενον in contrast with τὸ μένον. “That which is done away” would be too historical, and too little the abstract character of the old thing which was not to abide. There are other excellent confirmations of the corrections introduced, for which we must refer to the little work itself. (Bible Treasury 1:278)

[A review of] The “Holy Scriptures” commonly called the Old Testament. A new translation from the Hebrew original. Part I. — Genesis to Joshua. London: G. Morrish, 20, Paternoster Square, E. C. (Price 3s. 6d.):

This brief notice is only meant to direct attention without delay to this new English version of the earlier books of the Old Testament. It is based on the Hebrew text with the help of a collation of the late J. N. Darby’s German and French Versions, and had the benefit of his revision in this English form. (Bible Treasury 14:368. See also Bible Treasury 7:191-2)

English – Godwin’s Apocalypse

[A review of] The Apocalypse of Saint John. A New Translation, Metrically arranged with Scripture Illustration. London: Jackson & Walford, 18 St. Paul’s Churchyard. 1856:

An interesting attempt to arrange the one prophetic book of the New Testament according to the parallelistic method of Old Testament poetry. There are a few turns given, in the translation, which are not unhappy; but, on the whole, it fails in representing the apostle John’s majestic simplicity. Who, indeed, has succeeded? Mr. Godwin, however, not only imparts too free and modern an air, but he inclines a great deal too much to the not unfrequently rash changes of Lachmann and other critics. In one instance (Rev. 2:13) he has gone beyond all, and ventures to give a verb, instead of the proper name Antipas, and to render the clause, “and in the days thou wast arraigned.” He says that in this he follows some of the oldest MSS. and Versions. Now it is true that the Coptic diverges in one direction, the Syriac, &c. in another, and that the Alexandrian copy, followed by some later ones, spells the word so as possibly to mean a verb; but we are not aware of any authority for Mr. G.’s version, and we have no doubt that a man’s name is intended. Mr. G. leans toward the Neronian date, in spite of the testimony of Irenaeus; and this upon the slender ground that the internal evidence (i.e., his view) points to the time before the fall of Judaism and Jerusalem. Accordingly Mr. G. makes the seals refer to Jews, the trumpets to idolaters, and the vials “to those who, giving their homage to force and fraud, are really worshippers of Satan” — a scheme in evident accordance with German mysticism and directly tending to blunt the edge of this sharp, prophetic sword of the Lord. (Bible Treasury 1:198)

English – RV

Believing that it may be of service to examine the just published result of the ten years’ labour bestowed by the Committee of Revision on the New Testament, I proceed to give a review of their more noteworthy changes from first to last. In this way the reader will have in the simplest and fullest way the evidence of their work for good or for ill before his own eyes, so as to preclude (as much as possible) any representation of its character otherwise than it really is. The close of the survey will afford a more just and fitting occasion to offer an opinion as to its value as a whole. It is but natural to us all to be either carried away by a hasty conclusion based on what pleases us at a first glance and a general impression, or to be unfairly repelled by corrections which, however well-grounded or wisely applied, shock the prejudices of our ignorance.

Nevertheless none can well overlook the fact that the revisers have studiously sought to preserve the dignified simplicity of the Authorised Version, as they have assuredly purged it from an immense number of inaccuracies, known more or less to the christian scholars who have studied our Bible during the last two centuries and a half. Indeed it was the impulse given to Biblical research by the mass of materials brought to light or considerably better known within the hundred years just passed which forced on this revision, notwithstanding the rather strong obstacles offered through the enormous circulation of the Authorised Version by the chief Bible and other Societies by the public or private printers, who would obviously dread the probable depreciation of their vast stocks, &c. Apart from such influences, every sober and godly believer desires to have revealed truth in the purest form.

But there are two principal sources of difficulty: one of the original text; the other of translation. Of the two the harder to settle is the question of the Greek text; and the answer to this, though not the avowed object of the revisers, was necessarily their first and urgent duty to meet before the task of rendering could be carried on. Although able critics have for a century sought to edit the Greek Testament on documentary evidence of Greek manuscripts, ancient versions, and early citations, none as yet has succeeded in commanding more than partial confidence; neither Griesbach nor Scholz, neither Lachmann, nor Tischendorf, nor Tregelles; neither Meyer in his Critical Commentary, nor Alford nor Wordsworth. Hence it has been a necessity, for any careful and conscientious scholar who would really know the sources, to compare several of these editions, and search into the grounds on which their differences depend, so as to have anything like a correct and enlarged view of the text, and to judge fairly of the claims of conflicting readings. But few of the revisers themselves entered on their grave and responsible task with adequate and special knowledge of that which was essential to the right execution of their undertaking; and though no doubt their long and unremitting occupation with the subject has helped most of them to a much better understanding than they possessed at first, yet it is certain that, in order to do such a work well, mature spiritual judgment, with continual dependence on the Lord, is just as essential as a sound and thorough familiarity with the ancient witnesses of all kinds. For it could not but be that in so mixed a Committee the few adepts, who were at home in all the external matters of debate and possessed of superior learning and ability in these questions, would have an easy and habitual preponderance over the less intelligent majority, especially after these had exposed to those their own shortcomings at an early day. But N. T. critics however skilled and competent, might be men of strong bias and committed to a mistaken or narrow school of recension, which would be sure to tell unfavourably on the revision, unless there were others of equal power and knowledge to stand for larger views with no less firmness and decision. How far one or other of these alternatives may apply to the working of the Revisers is best known to wise men among themselves: the fruit of their labours is before us, and we would now without further preface look into the details, which may disclose enough to outsiders. (Bible Treasury 13:286, 287)

The apostolic epistles afford quite another test of our Revisers; for doctrine far more than narrative materially affects our judgment, as in the earlier half of the New Testament, where a choice of reading or of rendering lies otherwise open to me. A right decision is, if possible, as much more momentous as it is more delicate. (Bible Treasury 13:348)

The closing book of the New Testament stands less correctly than any other in the received text. Hence there is much more comparatively to be noted in comparing the Revised Version with the Authorised. Happily among critics the agreement is unusually great, as few can justify the Erasmus editions, which he only partially corrected by the help of the Complutensian. Hence many errors have been perpetuated through R. Stephens, Beza, and the Elzevirs, of which no scholar acquainted with the more ancient authorities can doubt the correction. So great has been the effect of better copies (MSS. or Vv.), that perhaps no book in the New Testament now commands more consent among scholars as to its text. (Bible Treasury 14:142)

This [Ecclesiastical English: a series of criticisms showing the O. T. Revisers' violations of the laws of the language, &c. By G. Washington Moon, &c. London: Hatchards, 187, Piccadilly. 1886] is the second part of the author's "Revisers' English." Any intelligent reader has only to read the vol. to be satisfied that the Revisers of the O. T. know the English tongue no better than those of the New. Their inconsistency too is as distressing as their ignorance. No better guide could be recommended than the two vols. of Mr. Moon, as correctives of common errors in English speaking and writing, — errors which really bristle in the Revised Version. Was Dr. Angus overawed by Oxford and Cambridge? He should not have forgotten that learned men often write bad English. (Bible Treasury 16:128)

English — Moffatt

[A review of] The Historical N. T., being the Literature of the N. T. arranged in the order of its literary growth and according to the dates of the documents: a new translation, edited with prolegomena, &c. by James Moffatt, B.D. Second and revised edition. Edinburgh: T. & T. Clark, 38, George Street, 1901:

The very title of this humanitarian book will suffice to reveal its unbelieving character to men of faith. Nor need it surprise any to read from the start extracts from Martineau, Westphal, and Goethe, occupying page v. It is the "historical" method of neology, applied by Dr. Driver to the O. T., and here to the N. T. Under cover of a literary investigation the enemy seeks to undermine and overthrow its divine authority. "The enemy," one says; for we need not impute such a consciously sinister design to the author. God in any reality is excluded from the N. T. as from the Old. Man takes His place with entire self-sufficiency.

The work is avowedly "a pioneering edition." For the modern research, chiefly German, pushed forward of late by British and American disciples, is not at all satisfied. Nor will the impulse let them rest, till "the apostasy first come, and the man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition," as the apostle warned at an early day. Development is the key-note, whether for Christianity, or the testimony of apostles and prophets in what is commonly styled the New Testament. Were God in Christ frankly acknowledged to be its author, whatever the instruments to do His work according to His own perfection, such an idea as development must be regarded as intolerable; especially as the latest of its inspired writers takes such pains to repudiate it (1 John 1:1-4, 2:24-27, 4:1-6, 2 John 9-11).

As yet, the historical or new critical school professes to own that the scripture conveys, contains, or represents the word of God; they deny that it is the word, while admitting that it is to be the word of God written. This admission, if it kept its promise aright, would be loyal; but to their mind it means that the writing partakes of the fallibility of the writer, instead of being the perfectly true and reliable reflex of God's mind which admits of no question. For it is the writing, the scripture, "every scripture," which the apostle declares to be God-breathed (2 Tim. 3:16). The issue, for the pioneer at the present juncture, is that the bulk of Paul's Epistles appeared first, from those to the Thessalonians to the Colossians and Philemon; then came 1 Peter; after it the Synoptic Gospels, Mark first (save 16:9 &c.); then the Epistle to the Hebrews; afterwards Luke's Gospel and Acts next; then the absurdity of the Apocalypse of John, before his Gospel, the Epistles 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, being attributed to another John! The Pastoral Epistles are supposed to follow long after Paul by his scholars! 1 and 2 Timothy, with Titus, before 1 Timothy!! After these came the Epistle of James, then of Jude, and lastly 2 Peter ("during the course of the second century, and probably in its first half"), the fragment of Mark being added before the Pastorals. This bold tampering may be illustrated by the effort to turn Rom. 16:1-20 into a note to Ephesians, and 2 Cor. 10-13:10 into an intermediate letter. Who can set bounds to the mania of speculation? Lachmann's pranks were bad enough, however clever, on the Iliad of Homer; but how sinful the profanity in dealing with scripture, and how mischievous to all who are proud of such cobwebs! (Bible Treasury N5:31)

7. Other Helps

Apocryphal Books

... the Latin church has proved a faithless guardian by adding apocryphal Greek writings to that Canon [i.e., the Hebrew O.T.], which even Jerome in his Prologus Galeatus to the Vulgate admits to be not properly included. So similar unfaithfulness was essayed in early days by reading publicly uninspired writings, and joining them, as an Appendix, to the copies of the Greek N.T. But even Rome did not commit itself to so gross an imposture as this last. (God's Inspiration of the Scriptures, p. 18)

... Clement's use of Judith proves nothing as to the estimation in which the book was held in his day. No doubt he cites the faith of Esther (in Clement's epistle from Rome, chap. lv), and possibly he alludes to such Christian instances as Rom. 16:4; but his allusion to ὑποδείγματα ἐθνῶν shows that he is enforcing devotedness on the Corinthian Church by appeals even to heathen testimonies, without raising the question of the value of the writings which contained them.

I agree with Mr. D. that Clem. xxvii. refers to Dan. 4:35, quite as probably as to Wisdom 11:22, 12:12. Polycarp x. may refer to Prov. 10:2, 11:4; but the analogy to Tobit is closer. There is no ground, that I can see, for supposing that Clem. xlv. quotes either Wisdom or Ecclesiasticus; but there is a remarkable instance at the beginning of the chapter, where the writer quotes (evidently as Scripture) that which is found neither in the Bible nor Apocryphal Books: — Γέγραπται γὰρ κολλᾶσθε τοῖς ἀγίοις ὅτι οἱ κολλωμένοι αὐτοῖς ἀγιασθήσονται. In fact it is quite contrary to the legal requirements of the Old Testament, either as to persons or things (cf. Ezra 9:10; Neh. 13; Haggai 2:12). There may have been some confused thought in the mind of the writer suggested by 1 Cor. 7:14; if so, the application is as irrelevant as can well be conceived. Whatever may be the references to the Apocryphal writings in early writers, or even the reading of them by the early Church, it is certain that Jerome himself, the author of that version which Rome accepts as authentic, declares repeatedly that there are twenty-two books of Old Testament Scripture; clearly and absolutely excluding the Apocrypha, however useful he considered it might be: so Athanasius also. (Christian Annotator 2:187)

The Apocrypha Just Now

It is notorious that at the time of the Reformation, certain uninspired writings commonly called the Apocrypha were still printed with the canonical books of the O.T. It was a relic not only of Popery but of the Catholic declension that set in strongly after the apostles. The so-called fathers, Greek and Latin, winked at the dishonour done to scripture by incorporating inspired and non-inspired in the Bible. But even in the darkest ages none of the least intelligence confounded the false with the true, though there they were together read for example of life and instruction in manners, heedless of the levelling up man or levelling down God which must be the result. The reformers were more or less aware that these merely human books were a bad example of life and a spurious instruction of manners, and above all a standing shame put on God's word; but they compromised, partly through the ignorance of high and low, partly through the politic influence of worldly potentates who sought to conciliate their contumacious subjects. Popery at the Council of Trent apostatized as never before so arrogantly and defiantly by binding the uninspired equally with the inspired on its besotted votaries. But Protestants abroad and at home allowed the old compromise.

More than eighty years ago [i.e., 80 years before 1905] controversy sprung up in the British and Foreign Bible Society about allowing the Apocrypha to be mixed up with the scriptures: and in the course of some five years it was decided by the Society to exclude it from their printed Bibles. Indeed for years after the dispute continued and even led to the Trinitarian Bible Society. But within and without the older Society, and of course the new, no doubt can exist that the favourers of the Apocrypha were defeated, including H. Marsh, Bishop of Peterborough, who had been educated in Germany, and more rationalist than superstitious; a man wholly ignorant of divine grace.

It appears from a circular sent to the Bible Treasury that the Bp of Winchester has now become President of the newly formed International Society of the Apocrypha, the avowed object of which is to make more widely known "the spiritual! ecclesiastical!! and literary value" of this incubus on the Bible; and not a few learned men are the associated instruments of this movement. It seems to be deplorable, but not surprising that it should follow the wide-spread faithless and wicked effort to destroy the assured claim of scripture to be the only God-breathed testimony to man; a further working of the spirit of the age to subject His word to pretentious science, which is no science but a letting loose of human will and imagination to destroy divine authority, under the pretext "of literary and historical investigation." Thus when these men are doing all they can to degrade scripture from its unique place, if we believe the Son of God, they and others are seeking the more general study of writings altogether human as Deutero-Canonical; though confessedly the Maccabean books are ridiculously unhistorical and even self-contradictory; and use language incompatible with any divine character (2 Macc. 2:23, &c., 15:37-38), to say nothing of the silliness of Tob. 4:18. How little any of these zealots for the Apocrypha are so instructed in scripture as to be a man of God complete, fully fitted to every good work. (Bible Treasury N5:272)

Sayings of Our Lord

[A review of] ΛΟΓΙΑ ΙΗCOY SAYINGS OF OUR LORD from an early Greek Papyrus, discovered &c. by B. P. Grenfell and A. S. Hunt (Published for the Egypt Exploration Fund by H. Frowd, 1897):

As some desire a brief and reliable account of this discovery, let it suffice to say that it consists of a single leaf from a book (not roll) containing a professing series of our Lord's sayings, found with a considerable number of others in the rubbish-heaps of Oxyrhynchus, the chief town of a nome similarly designated in lower Egypt. Strabo (xvii.), C. Ptol. (iv. 5, §59), and others of less note speak of the place; which derived its Greek name from a fish of the sturgeon species worshipped in a temple there dedicated to it. The present village of Bekneseh is on part of its site.

The document no more approaches the inspired character than other treatises of the second, third, or later centuries. The interest that attaches to this leaf is that it bears sufficient evidence of being written, perhaps as early as A.D. 200, improbably later than A.D. 300. Even this single page (Verso and Recto) is not without gaps which hinder its entire and unequivocal sense.

It does not pretend to be such "narrations" as Luke refers to in his chap. 1:1, though they were but human and therefore without divine authority, even if authentic in the main and ever so well meant. It gives no account concerning those matters which have been fully established, or believed among Christians. It is simply a collection of sayings attributed to the Saviour.

Of these the first (as far as here appears, for it lacks the introductory clause) is the least exceptionable. That which remains appears to be a citation from Luke 6:42, as Lachmann edits and Text. Rec. according to α ACD, a dozen more uncials, most cursives, and seemingly most ancient versions. But the Vatican with 13, 69, 124, 346 has $\epsilon\kappa\beta\alpha\lambda\epsilon\iota\nu$ at the end; and so edit Alford, Tischendorf, Westcott and Hort. Here only we have no longer $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\epsilon\iota$ IC, these words being now gone. Yet the saying here given is the only one that is fairly correct according to scripture, if the introductory words once extant did not clog or alienate them.

The next is an absurdity, but it would seem in accord with the ascetic tendency then in vogue with some, as others leaned to lax ways; for the enemy avails himself of opposites to annul the truth of God. The "saying" is "Except ye fast to (or, probably, abstain from) the world, ye shall in no wise find the kingdom of God; and except ye keep the sabbath, ye shall not see the Father." The construction of the first is not harsher grammatically than the doctrine is unsound and anti-evangelical. The second is if possible more outrageous, as it openly judaizes. Neither a literal nor a metaphorical sense can redeem it.

The third does not contradict fundamental truth, but is wholly unworthy of our Lord and unlike His unique simplicity and depth, though suited to a rhetorical moralist. "Jesus saith, I stood in the midst of the world, and in the flesh was seen of them; and I found all drunken and none found I athirst among them; and my soul grieveth over the sons of men, because they are blind in their heart . . ."

Still stranger is the fourth. "Jesus saith, Wherever are . . . and one alone, I am with him. Raise the stone, and there thou shalt find me, split the wood and there am I." Assuming this to be the sense, what mystical jargon! Eph. 4:6, which the learned editors cite, refers to the Father: if they had alleged ver. 10, it might be more plausible perhaps. It seems nonsense, and assuredly was never uttered by our Lord.

The fifth refers to Luke 4:24, eked out not by citing verse 23, but so varying it to be no longer true, still less inspired.

Introduction

"Jesus saith, A prophet is not acceptable in his own country, nor doth a physician work cures on those that know him."

Nor is the sixth more than true in part. "Jesus saith, A city built on a high hill's top, and established, can neither fall nor be hid." It certainly can fall.

The seventh is only a beginning, so that we can say nothing definitely. (Bible Treasury N1:335-6)

Teaching of the Twelve Apostles

[A review of] The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles, &c., by Canon Spence, M.A. Second edition. London: Nisbet & Co.:

"Teaching of the Twelve Apostles." Such is the title of a recently discovered Greek MS.; or perhaps, more literally, the longer and more pretentious form, "Teaching of the Lord, through the Twelve Apostles, to the Gentiles." Meagre and incorrect, it serves to manifest the melancholy and rapid decline of the second century from revealed truth. The MS. is of the 11th century, and was found a few years ago by Philotheos Bryennios, who afterwards became Metropolitan of Nicomedia, in the library of the Patriarch of Jerusalem in Constantinople. Any scholar can see the strong analogies between it and both the Epistle of the Pseudo-Barnabas and the Shepherd of Hermas, which have been generally referred to the beginning and middle of the second century. Some have argued for its priority even to the former; but even the enthusiastic discoverer does not contend for so early a date as either. The sole value of them all is their united yet unwitting evidence how grievously the church had fallen through Judaism. The exaggerated estimate of the late discoveries, formed by men of various schools in our day, demonstrates the same thing now. In the whole treatise of sixteen chapters, if we except the Lord's prayer and a few texts substantially drawn from scripture, there is not one sentence of weighty truth, not one which indicates the enjoyment of the liberty of Christ, no distinctness as to redemption, not an inkling of the presence of the Holy Spirit sent down from heaven, nor of the heavenly relationship of the church, nor of the special privileges of the christian.

It is worse than defective, as may be shown by a brief notice of chap. 1 only. In it the law usurps the place of the gospel from first to last. Clearly the writer had before him, besides the Old Testament, the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew, the Gospel of John, the Epistles to the Romans and the Corinthians, and that of James; but where is true intelligence of anything? All is letter, and not spirit. There is no testimony how souls receive life, so as to take its way and refuse the broad road of death; no right sense expressed of that grace which alone keeps by the power of God through faith. What a contrast with Rom. 5 or 8, which last shows us how the righteous requirement of the law is fulfilled in those that walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit! So it is with Rom. 13 where love, in us impossible apart from faith and life in Christ, is truly said to be the fulfillment of the law, which the law itself never did make good. Still less is the doctrine an approach to that in the Epistles to the Ephesians and the Colossians and in the First of John.

The writer interpolates "fasting" unwarrantably into his citation of Matt. 5:44, and holds out a false promise to those that love such as hate them ("But love ye those that hate you and ye shall have no enemy"). Had the author never weighed the death of Stephen, or of James the son of Zebedee, or of others who were slain for Christ's sake, to say nothing of Himself, the substance and test of all truth? It is amazing that any christian should think that this weak and even false expectation could be a probable oral tradition of the Master's words. No doubt as an ordinary rule those zealous of good disarm the injurious, as 1 Pet. 3 shows from Ps. 34. But the same apostle teaches that our place is to do good, suffer for it, and take it patiently, which is certainly not law but grace; as Christ also suffered for us, leaving an example that we should follow His steps. Even this Teaching goes on to cite words quite incompatible with his preceding comment: but when he adds "for thou canst not," he exaggerates, unless he means consistently with grace. Indeed his remarks are singularly poor everywhere and in no case suggest a single oral tradition worthy of the Savior. How strange, in the face of Matt. 5:42, to fancy some traditional commandment of the Lord on the subject of giving! And it is really too bad for any sensible christian to say of the closing sentence ("Let thine alms sweat into thy hands, as long as thou knowest to whom thou givest") that it clearly refers to some unwritten saying of authority spoken by our Lord! or by one of His near followers. Most men instructed in the truth and at home in the scriptures will rather judge it as vulgar in style, as beneath inspired sentiment. Indeed it is hard to reconcile with what goes before or with our Lord's words.

There is little or nothing noteworthy in chaps 2,3, save perhaps the sentence which Clement of Alex. quotes as scripture from this treatise, "My child, be not a liar, for a lie leads to theft." It would be as true to say, "Be not a thief, for theft leads to lying." Neither sentiment is scriptural, but wholly beneath its tone. But chap. 4 opens with a call to honor him that speaks God's word as the Lord or Jehovah (for it is anathrous) and for the strange reason, for, when the lordship is spoken of, then the Lord is. Soon after, in urging liberality, comes the word, "If thou professest, by thy hands thou shalt give ransom, or redemption, for thy sins." What sort of doctrine is this? Not God's but man's. It is in vain to refer to Dan. 4:27, where the prophet exhorts the vain and self-willed king, not to ransom, but to break off his sins by righteousness (the LXX say "by alms"), and his iniquities by showing mercy to the poor (or afflicted), "if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquility." How sober is the divine word, as man's is wild and false! I am aware of the effort to make the Chaldee version utter a similar error, and how Greek and Latin and other superstitious minds seized it. But DeDieu and others long ago refuted the heterodoxy, and on linguistic ground. The A. and R. Vv. are right. It is useless to pursue the review into less weighty questions; but in these, too, the treatise departs from scripture. (Bible Treasury 19:95-6)

The Gospel of Peter and the Revelation of Peter

[A review of] The Gospel according to Peter, and the Revelation of Peter . . . London: C. J. Clay and Sons, 1892:

Such is the title of the newly discovered MS. as edited and lectured on respectively by J. A. Robinson, Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Christ's College, and M. R. James, Fellow and Dean of King's College, Cambridge, from the transcript published by M. Bouriant, in vol. ix. of the Memoirs of the French Archæol. Mission at Cairo. The Greek fragments are given with critical notes; and the lecturer's own English version of each. The Gospel is interesting chiefly as an instance of a spurious production of the Docetæ; the Revelation, as a source of the natural dreams of heaven and hell still prevalent in Christendom, especially in the Latin body. They probably date from the second century, though the copy of the fragment found seems to have been written in the eighth of our era. Peter's Gospel is a fable to propagate the hateful heterodoxy that the Lord consisted of two persons! that the divine left Jesus on the cross!! and that the human alone remained to die!!! Not only was Atonement ruined, but the Person divided and destroyed.

This is insinuated plainly enough in the following brief extract: — "And the Lord cried aloud, saying, My strength, my strength, Thou hast forsaken me! And having said this, he was taken up."

There also follows the figment of two men from heaven entering the grave, and three men coming out, two of them supporting the one! and a cross following them!! the heads of the two reaching to heaven, but the head of the one towering up above the heavens. "And heard a voice from the heavens that said, Hast thou preached obedience unto them that sleep? And from the cross! was heard, yea." The aim of fables like these is obvious. What a condition of rapid departure from the truth it argues when such stuff as this found currency among Christian Professors, and got the notice of leading men, not always indignant! (Bible Treasury 19:224)

Enoch

There is a traditional book of Enoch in the Ethiopic language, which appears to have been known in a Greek form now long lost. We have not got the Greek, but learned men have endeavoured with all possible zeal to try and make out that Jude quotes from this uninspired book [in Jude 14]; for the book is evidently one of Jewish tradition, and from internal evidence it would seem that it was written after the destruction of Jerusalem. But there is another thing that appears, I think, to anyone that reads it with, not merely learning, but with spiritual understanding, and that is, that it differs essentially in this very verse that is supposed by some to be quoted from it, from what Jude has given us here by the Spirit of God. . . . Now in that Ethiopic book which I have seen, and of which I have the text, and English translation by the late Archbishop Laurence, as well as a French version of the work by a very learned

Romanist (perhaps a more excellent scholar than the Archbishop I have named, at any rate one more familiar with Oriental languages) — they both agree in what is totally different from what we have here; and what makes it more remarkable is, they agree in asserting an error which is almost universal now in Christendom. (Bible Treasury N6:364-5)

And here be it noted that Professor Volkmar's assumption that Jude quoted from the so-called Book of Enoch is not only unfounded but gross ignorance; for while the words in our epistle fall into harmony with all revelation, those of the Aethiopic document are as different from Jude's as they are opposed to the truth. The apocryphist makes the Lord come in judgment of His holy myriads! instead of His enemies, contrary to all scripture, but the not unnatural thought of any unbeliever, Jew or Gentile. It is untrue that Jude quoted from this pretended Book of Enoch. The κατὰ πάντων of our epistle (15) resists any such idea. Not improbably it was a Jewish forgery; and men who could resort to such iniquity have no true perception of the truth, as here we see that, if the forger meant to incorporate the words of Jude into his fable, he failed even to accomplish this seemingly mechanical task, and taught heterodoxy in the change he introduced, however slight in appearance. Compare either the English version of Laurence (chap. ii. p.2, Oxford, 1821) or the Aethiopic (cap. ii., p.2, Oxon. 1838). M. de Sacy renders the passage correctly enough, "Et venit cum myriadibus sanctorum, ut faciat judicium super eos," &c. His note adds: "Au reste, on pourrait supposer que l'auteur du livre d'Enoch aurait emprunté ce passage de Saint Jude." Very likely the author imitated Jude, and incorrectly borrowed, as we have seen. Certainly Jude did not quote from this apocryphal book, as Professor Westcott like others seems to suppose. (Bible Treasury 14:127-128)

Archeology

What exposes the incredulity at work [in The Interpreter: A Church Monthly Magazine, vol. I., no. 1, Jan. 1905] is this short paragraph. "Scientific processes have wrung her secrets from nature; the historic method has shed new light upon the ancient literature, and patient research in archeology has caused the dim and far off past [?of heathenism] to live afresh." If these students or teachers by grace knew themselves possessed of life in Christ, could they write such trash with cap in hand to such researches, interesting to men who know nothing better, not even seeking the Living One, but occupied with the dust of death? No Christian ought to fear such knowledge as these external pursuits yield; but he will never glean a single atom of divine truth from all of them put together.

Take the nearest approach to anything in Scripture. It was thought wonderful many years ago, as one looks back when Sir H. Rawlinson found and deciphered the cylinder which bore witness to the truth of Belshazzar's reigning in Babylon, notwithstanding the total silence of history. What it proved was that learned men who doubted the prophet believed a cylinder. What is the worth of faith grounded on evidence of this kind?

Introduction

None, if we believe our Lord's estimate as given in John 2:23-25. If it be allowed that there must be antecedent faith, but that these evidences enlighten and sustain, one must demur again on the ground of John 20:5-10. For here were two eminent and pious souls; yet the aim of the inspired record is to show that evidence, no matter how convincing, is not what feeds and edifies, but the truth revealed in the scriptures and God believed therein. Both Peter and John "saw and believed," "For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead." And this is confirmed later in the chapter, where Thomas, who refused adequate testimony and never thought of the scripture, was shamed out of his incredulity by our Lord's condescension, yet rebuked by more than one word; and the true principle was affirmed in ver. 29, "Because thou hast seen, thou hast believed: blessed are those that saw not and believed." This is Christian faith, not the mongrel which Christendom has brought forth alike to ritualism and rationalism as here. (Bible Treasury N5: 238-239)

Josephus

Josephus entirely agrees with the Acts [about Theudas in Acts 5] that it was in the time of the census under Quirinus, A.D. 6 (Antt. xviii. sub. init.). And it is remarkable that the Jewish historian, though describing him there as a Gaulonite of the city of Gamala, subsequently (6) speaks of him, just as Gamaliel does in our chapter as 'the Galilean Judas'. Had this latter mention been withheld, the impugnors of revelation would have become loud in decrying Luke as they are absurd in their disposition to treat Josephus as infallible. (Exp. of Acts, p. 66)

The So-called Fathers

The worthlessness of tradition is made manifest, though unintentionally, by Eusebius (H.E. iii. 31; ed. Heinichen, i. 261-263), who cites a letter of Polycrates, bishop of Ephesus, to Victor, bishop of Rome, before the end of the second century, speaking of Philip as 'one of the twelve apostles', 'and his daughters'. But what could be expected of a man who could in the same letter interlard the scriptural description of John with 'who became priest bearing as he did the mitre' or high-priest's plate? See also Eusebius H.E. v. 24. So rapid was the loss of Christ's truth, so inexcusable in presence of plain scriptural facts before all readers. They may ridicule Papias; but what of one bishop who reports the fable, and of another (among the most learned in his day) who uses it more than once in his History of the Church? Such are very early Christian fathers, ignorant of scripture to the last degree, yet idolized by superstitious men who profess to receive the Scriptures as inspired of God. (Exp. of Acts, p. 109)

How constant is one's disappointment in these Greek and Latin ecclesiastics! Like the Galatians, if they begin by the Spirit, how quickly they pass into a vain effort after perfection by flesh! Not one even of the ablest and most orthodox adheres simply and thoroughly to the delivering gospel of God's grace, though many of them loved the Lord and hated known error. But the full efficacy of redemption was unknown to anyone, so far as I can speak. (Exp. of John, p. 401)

The Talmud

There are perhaps a thousand Greek scholars for one competently versed in Rabbinical literature . . .

The fact really is that, though students in general may be ignorant of a thousand details as to the printed editions and MSS. of the Talmud (as they are of most works, save a few more about the scriptures), they have a far truer conception, in our opinion, of the Talmud than this new article [in the "Quarterly"], with all its charms, is calculated to impart. . . .

It is a curious coincidence, but no more, that the first edition of the Talmud appeared in Venice in 1520 A.D., the same year when Luther burnt the pope's bull at Wittenberg.

. . . We are told (p. 426) that the origin of the Talmud is coeval with the return from the Babylonish captivity. The Rabbinical theory is, that the oral law was coeval with the written law, and that both, however differently transmitted, date from Moses at Sinai. And so it is allowed in pp. 430, 431. There seems no reason to doubt that from their return the traditional system grew up. But it is not true that the little company of returned captives were "transformed into a band of Puritans." The notion of a "fierce and passionate love" thenceforth for the scriptures (if "the scanty records of their faith and history" mean them) is a romance. The prophecies of Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi disclose with unerring distinctness a wholly different state. Our Lord explains it parabolically [in Matt. 12:43-45] . . . At any rate, the post-captivity state of the Jews might be more truly called poverty-stricken than Puritan; and it was during this dearth, when the house was "empty" and "swept" that it had the "garnishing" of tradition — the ground-work of the Mishna, which is supposed to have been copied by R. Jehuda about the end of the second or the beginning of the third century. This in its turn gave rise to its "complement," the Gemara, of which two remain: that formed by the school of Tiberias, called the Jerusalem Talmud (one vol. folio), as the larger compilation founded by the school of Babylon is published as the Babylonian Talmud (12 vols. folio). It is hard to see why so great a mountain should be constructed out of matters so commonly known by all who take interest in the sons of Israel and their history.

. . . it is a descent to take up the account of Hillel and Akiba striving unsuccessfully to arrange the oral traditions of the Rabbis, or of the equivocal success of Jehuda "the saint," who is said to have reduced them, though still unwritten, to one code about A.D. 200.

But it is in vain to justify the reign of tradition which superseded the Mosaic law by the fact that Magna Carta is not the general appeal in English law courts of the day. (p. 443) Rather does it evince the unbelief that everywhere lies under, and often on, the surface of this paper. The law given by Moses was the law of Jehovah: has Magna Carta to boast of such an origin or character? Alas! so far gone is the Jew that the Christian has to remind him of his own singular and exceeding privileges. "For what nation is so great, who hath God so nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things, that we call on him for? And what nation is there so great that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law which I set before you this day?" The writer excludes God from the case and evidently sees a progress from barbarism to civilization in the appeal of modern Jews to the Mishnah, rather than the Pentateuch. . . .

The reviewer next sketches the growth of the vast mass of discussion and exegesis, which followed the collection of the Mishnah, and much of which afterwards entered the Talmud, as the Gemara or commentary on that text: and this in a double form — the Palestinian in East Aramæan toward the end of the fourth century, the Babylonian in West Aramæan which was not closed till about the beginning of the sixth century. But it is natural to tradition to add interminably; and so the Talmud in its turn led to new comments. . . .

After their political ruin and with increasing force as they felt themselves shorn of the witnesses of their ancient power and glory, grew up the Rabbinic system. Extraneous circumstances no doubt helped it on, when it became instinctively and more than ever the idol of the scattered people. No formal assent was needed; no general or special council gives effect to that which commands the evil heart of unbelief.

The reviewer ingeniously tries to palliate the Haggadic or legendary part of the Talmud, as poetry, "a thing beloved by women and children and by those still and pensive minds which delight in flowers and in the song of wild birds. The 'Authorities' themselves often enough set their faces against it, repudiated and explained it away. But the people clung to it, and in course of time gave to it and it alone the encyclopædic name of 'Midrash.'" Will this plea stand? Were not the 'Authorities' the authors and compilers and editors of the Haggadah? Did not the writer know that the Talmud itself (chag.14) applies Isaiah 3:1 to this question, comparing the Halacha to bread and the Haggadah to water, because the latter was even more frequently required, and refreshed more than the former? Their explaining it away is no more than they continually do to scripture: is this too "poetry," a thing beloved by women and children, &c.? It is a perilous task to extenuate man's word, which invariably, though unintentionally and unconsciously, supplants the revelation of God. Scripture became a mere point d'appui, as is notorious for the Halacha and the Haggadah alike. Nor is it correct to say that the authority silently vested in the Talmud belongs exclusively to its legal or Halachistic portion. The Rabbins feigned that God Himself prosecuted their legendary investigations and decided according to their legal determinations. Difference of interpretation only gave occasion to wit; for it was accepted by the sages that diverse comments might legitimately belong to the same text, and one be as right as the other. A wild mysticism was the result, erroneous metaphysics, and absurd physics, false history, and ridiculous geography, heathen myths and spurious morals, by dint of allegorising the letter and literalizing the figure of scripture. Nor the fancy of women and children, but the famous R. Gamaliel framed thirty-two exegetical canons for the Haggadah. . . .

The Persian philosophy left its traces on the Talmud, as did the reveries of the Greek cosmogonists, and there is much in common with the Gnostics who troubled and corrupted early Christians, especially as to angels and demons. It is hardly necessary to say that Rabbinism denies a Mediator between God and man (p. 457). Credulous as to that which even if true could not profit, they believe not the truth which alone can purify the heart by faith. They were only consistent in opposing divine revelation, old or new; they gave up the Divine unity for idols; they refused the incarnate Word, their own Messiah, and only Mediator, but loved fables about Samael, and Naama, and Lilith, and Asmodi, which could only do harm to women and children, and turn still and pensive minds to dreams of some things worse than flowers and the song of wild birds. (Bible Treasury 7:18-20,36-38,57-59,76-78)

8. On Translating the Bible

The Bible is Capable of Being Translated

The Lord Himself and the apostle Paul and Luke often used the Greek translation, not as if it was perfect everywhere but as adequate in its way. No wonder that neither the Veda nor the Korân bear translation, and attain it but slightly for the curiosity of some and of others to refute their vain imagination. The Bible lends itself remarkably to transfusion into all the tongues of men. (Bible Treasury N5:192)

Translation Requires Mastery of Language

Many a one knows a little Greek and some less Hebrew; but what of that? You know English; but it does not follow that you have at all a mastery of the language. Remember then that most of the young men who learn Hebrew and Greek at college are very far from having a mastery of these languages. Most have a smattering, and this is all. They are then turned off to their parishes and pulpits, where they have no time to become real scholars, as they ought not to pretend to it. This is not said out of the slightest disrespect; but simply to shew you the folly of supposing that merely running through a grammar and a few works in a foreign tongue makes it really known. Not at all. Most graduates (no matter what the degree or where) would find it hard to translate unseen Hebrew or Greek. They do not know either of these languages in the least as you all know English; and yet for all that would any of you set up to be great English scholars? Even ordinarily fair and easy translation (to which few are equal without effort and preparation) is but a small step in learning. (Bible Treasury N8:34)

Introduction

An Exact Translation is a Help for Private Reading

I make this remark because it will show the great importance of having as correct a translation of the Scriptures as possible. I think that those who desire intelligence in the word of God ought to possess such a translation for their own private reading. I do not say that they should have it for use in the meetings, as the less said as to points of this kind, especially at a worship meeting or anything of that kind, the better; but I conceive that here I have the object and purpose of seeking to help the children of God to know the truth as much as possible, and therefore I do not scruple to speak of this, though I do not like it. If we all had the truth of God presented to us in the correct and best form there would be no need to dwell upon these things, but, unfortunately, we have been accustomed to an imperfect translation, and consequently it is necessary to shew, in certain cases, what is really the truth. (Bible Treasury N8:377)

Translation is Not by Inspiration

Translation again, like interpretation, as well as editing the text from the varying witnesses, belongs to the responsible use of scripture, and is quite distinct from the fact of its divine inspiration. No doubt the conviction that God inspired every scripture would act powerfully on the spirit of every believer who undertook a work so serious, and is intended to make him feel his dependence on God in the use of all diligence and every means duly to attain the end in view. . . . Hence too the danger and evil for any one to give, whatever the cause of failure, his own mind and not God's in editing, translating, or interpreting. (God's Inspiration of the Scriptures, p. 599-600)

On Translating "Words"

If some suppose it a defect that the same word is used with such shades of difference, let me tell them that their objection makes a demand on Hebrew which is not met by any other language — which, if it could be met, would involve mere barbarism even if practicable to be remembered and used; in fact, there is no language where words do not express varieties of meaning. If the most precise of tongues did not admit of some modification in the use of its terms, such a catalogue would be an intolerable burden. If one were bound to use a new word for every new thought, how cumbrous would human speech become! Man would sink under the weight of that which he had to carry in mind, and utter in its proper time and place. But enough of this, which I merely notice to guard the unreflecting from a common misapprehension. (Pamphlets, p. 23)

A Modern Translator Must Exercise Judgment

It is admitted by all persons of real intelligence that the word "worship" has become narrowed in modern English, and that when the language was in an earlier stage, it embraced all acts of obeisance, such as prostration, which were paid to kings or other superiors, as well as what was paid to a divine Being (or one regarded as divine). So it was in Greek; so it stands in the Authorized Version, because at that time the English word "worship" had a generic force as well as that special reference. But this is not so in present usage; and therefore a modern translator must exercise his judgment. Whether Mr. [Darby] has in every instance succeeded in determining the different senses is more than I would say; but his principle is sound and certain. It is ignorance to suppose that, when Jews came to Jesus to heal their diseases, they meant by their homage to convey their conviction that He was God. That He was God and therefore worthy of honour as the Father is what every Christian rejoices to know, and to pay it; but the true meaning of [προσκυνέω] in these cases throughout the gospels is another matter. In John 4 "worship" is clearly required. On the other hand, "doing homage" may be and is rightly used where God or the Father is in question. (Bible Treasury 7:288, see also Bible Treasury 7:192)

On "Grammatical Slips"

There is no doubt in scripture, as elsewhere, an occasional departure from the strict rules of ordinary syntax. Let nobody by this suppose my meaning is that it is of no importance to know how to use human speech — our own as well as the language that God used especially, or any other tongue we may be acquainted with. But it needs to be borne in mind, at the same time, that there is for the Spirit an energy of truth, as well as rhetorical skill among men, which does not hesitate to set at nought a mere grammatical point for some higher end. This falls in with what is claimed for the word of God — the most perfect form of revealing to men that which God would convey to him. Hence it is, that what some are quick to count blots or blemishes of style are all sanctioned and intended by God's Spirit; and that what sounds at first abrupt, harsh, or strange, spite of that peculiarity whatever it may be, conveys the idea more justly than anything else could. Yet, claiming all this for the word of God and for every line of it, we must not go beyond our text, but hold that the writers only used what can be proved by the best evidence of every kind, external as well as internal, to be the very words of the Holy Ghost. (Pamphlets, p. 372-373)

On "Phraseology"

It is through understanding the thought, the scope, the mind of the person speaking that one knows the phraseology; and not the inverse. If the inner purpose is not received, the outer form is unknown. So it was with Jesus speaking to the Jews; so it is pre-eminently with the testimony in John's writings now. Men complain of mysticism in the expression, because they have no notion of the truth intended. The hindrance is in the blinding power of the devil, who is the source of their thoughts and feelings, as surely as he is the adversary of Christ. Men's judgments flow from their will and affections, and these are under the sway of His enemy. And as he pushes on men, especially those who are most of all responsible to bow to Christ as the Jews then were, to practise the lusts of their father, so violence follows as naturally as falsehood. (Exp. of John, p. 185)

On "Figurative Language"

[A review of] Neil's Figurative Language of the Bible, (Nisbet & Co., 1892):

It is not pleasant but a duty to question and even condemn a few of the author's positions. There is always a danger of exaggeration when a point is made of style (and indeed of other things less weighty), and an unconscious effort to justify a new work by multiplying technical manner and distinctions. It is true that Mr. N. spares his readers J. Holmes' 252 figures! and Mr. G. W. Harvey's systematic discussion, giving them a quantity of chatty remarks. But it is too much to say that no branch of Bible study is more important, and none so utterly neglected. Figures belong to rhetoric for the most part rather than to grammar, but far more generally to common sense; for Christians a spiritual mind is the best guide. The general outline is set out in any ordinarily full grammar. For Scripture, Glassius' Phil. Sacra is well known, whence Keach drew largely for English readers; also W. Jones, J. Brown, T. Horne, and others. Dr. Alex. Carson in our day wrote still more ably and with less prolixity; as also Drs. T. Leland, Blair, Campbell, Lord Kames, and many more since Quintilian.

No doubt the author meant a short, cheap popular treatment. But he greatly over-estimates the value of knowing eastern habits. The true wonder of the Bible is its superiority to age, clime, or race in the main; and there is a real danger, especially in our day, of losing the kernel in excessive attention to the husk of local and temporal surroundings, and the like. Even we, English, talk figures incalculably more than most perceive; and though it might furnish matter for ingenious lectures and interesting papers to analyse this character of every day intercourse, it would be little better than pastime and might readily turn away the mind from the really important. Origen was a greater scholar than any man who ever wrote on figures of speech, and could scientifically explain the simile, metaphor, and every other figure beyond most; yet he fell a victim to a glaring misconception of our Lord's words in Matt. 19:12, and wasted a life of study in windy allegories. It was assuredly no lack of learning that exposed him so greatly to misapply the third case, nor lack of zeal to act at all cost on the supposed meaning. (Bible Treasury 19:79-80)

On "Italics"

The first thing that strikes the mind, as undesirable in an accurate version of the Scriptures, is, that words supplied by the translators, which have no counterpart in the original, should not be designated as such by italics as attempted more or less fully in the Authorised Bible. Dr. Scrivener's Cambridge Paragraph Bible sought this more systematically, and therefore is happier in this respect. In the Revised New Testament, on the contrary, the indication of supply is less than ever. It would have been better for the reader had the amount indicated been far greater. . . . Many an unlettered preacher is thus exposed to dwell with emphasis on words merely inserted by the translators as if they were the veritable expressions of the Holy Spirit, from which error they were better guarded by the Authorised Version, and ought to have been yet more now. It is allowable in a version of a Greek or Latin Classic or of any human composition to supply what seems idiomatically requisite in our tongue without notification to the reader. But Scripture stands alone, and deserves the homage of carefully distinguishing what man judges necessary in the language which reflects the original. In some cases it may prove a danger signal; in all it seems due to God and man. As the tendency of the day is to deny the difference between the word of God and any other book, it is the more imperative. (Bible Treasury 13:287)

On Marginal Notes

What you need to cultivate is a sound judgment, and you will never get it by hunting up so-called parallel passages. The habit is, on the contrary, destructive to intelligence in the word of God. Hence I believe it would be far better if such references were left out of our Bible, and the readers had to learn it thoroughly for themselves. I do not mean you should not have a concordance or kindred help; but the Bible should be printed alone, and is incomparably richer without than with these additions, which habitually mislead by confounding the distinctions which lie under phrases more or less verbally similar. The headings of the chapters and at the top of the columns are often worse than useless, conveying at best the mere views of men, and encumbering the pages which should give only what is divine. (Bible Treasury 16:50)

It might be desirable to note in the margin the Old Testament or Hebraistic form of the proper names which in the New Testament are written [Hellenistically]. (Christian Annotator 3:93)

"... unto acknowledgment of truth." [2 Tim. 2:25]

This last phrase occurs in the First Epistle (2:4), as also in the Second more than once (3:7), and always in this anarthrous form. The reason is not that the preposition (εἰς or any other) gives licence to omit the article where otherwise it would be required, which is a most unreasonable and even a barbarous notion, though, as we all know, it is laid down by Bp. Middleton in his able "Doctrine of the Greek Article", and endorsed by commentators so respectable as the late Dean Alford and Bp. Ellicott, to say nothing of one so loose on this as Winer. It is an error, notwithstanding, which every portion of the New Testament, of the Septuagint, and of all Greek literature refutes, as any scholar may discover by bringing a single chapter closely to the test. The omission of the article depends on a principle wholly independent of the preposition: only the absence of the Greek article in such a construction is more frequent than elsewhere, because prepositions are used very often where character is intended, rather than a definite object set before the mind. Where the latter is meant, with or without a preposition, the article must appear; where the aim is characteristic, it has no place; and such is the case in the phrase before us. (Exp. of the Two Epist. to Timothy, p. 242-243)

Here [in Gal. 2] we see, too, how little the Revisers estimated the force of the anarthrous construction. They put in the margin "works of law," and "law," where their text gives "the works of the law," and "the law;" and they do not always mark this, as twice in the latter part of verse 16. It is as opposed to fact as to philological principle that the article was inserted or omitted arbitrarily. Prepositions are no exceptions, though from their nature they suit with peculiar facility the anarthrous usage; but the presence or the absence of the article depends on its general principle. Thus in Romans 3:19 the article is twice required with νόμος, and once with a preposition; in verse 20 it is twice left out just as correctly, and in verse 21 it is once both omitted and inserted with ν., and in each with a preposition; and in the last verse of the chapter it is twice anarthrous, and in both the object of verbs. It is bad grammar and perhaps feeble theology to confound νόμον with τὸν ν. The apostle generalises, though no doubt "the" law falls under the expressly characteristic term. So it is often in Romans, as in Galatians and elsewhere; but there is not the least backwardness or laxity in giving the article with this word or any other where its presence is really wanted. The indefinite article of our tongue would be quite improper in all or most of these cases; nor does English idiom forbid the exact representation of its anarthrous usage in at least very many instances like these cited, and Galatians 2:19,21, 3:2,5. — Verses 10-13 are valuable in confirming the refutation of the too prevalent fallacy, where we have the broad principle in its characteristic and therefore anarthrous form, and then the article for the particular matter of fact; see again the principle in verse 11, and the fact in verses 12, 13. If the Company had understood the true force of the anarthrous usage, they never would in my opinion have agreed to consign to the margin what ought to have been unhesitatingly set out in the text. (Bible Treasury 13:377)

It may be well also to say that the effort to make the anarthrous form mean no more than a special gift or particular operation of the Holy Spirit is not borne out by scriptural usage. For we find πνεῦμα ἅγιον employed with and without the article, so as to demonstrate that this expression in no way excludes His blessed personality, but only falls under the usual principles of the language. Where it is intended to present Him as a distinct object before the mind, the article appears; where it only characterizes, the phrase is, as ever, anarthrous. Here [in Acts 8], to go no farther, we have πνεῦμα ἅγιον in verses 15,17; but in 18 τὸ πνεῦμα. Were it merely previous mention, we should have had the article in 17 as well as 18. The true solution, however, is not here contextual, but the intention is not to present objectively. Where this is not so, the accusative of a transitive verb is regularly without the article, as being only the complement of the notion expressed by the verb; where it is sought to present the governed word as an object before the mind, the article is added. The usage therefore is thoroughly exact. So in Acts 19:2 we have twice πνεῦμα ἅγιον without the article, but in verse 6 the article in its emphatic duplication; where it seems vain to contend that the Holy Spirit is not meant in all these cases. Is there then not a difference? Unquestionably; but the difference lies, not in the contrast of a special gift with His general influence, as men say, or even with His person, but in the questioned character of what was received in the one case with the definite object before the mind in the other, most suitably accompanying such a phrase as 'came' upon the men described.

This is the true key to Acts 1:2,5, not the mere circumstances of the preposition (strangely supposed by some to be exceptional) which serves to define; as the phrase in verse 8 brings the Spirit into an objective point of view. But it is the self-same Spirit in each case; and could a mistake be greater than to allow that Christ only gave injunctions by a particular gift, and that the disciples enjoyed Him in all His fulness? Compare also Acts 10:38 with 44. So, on the eventful day when the promise of the Father was fulfilled, we find in Acts 2:4 the Spirit both without and with the article, and there according to the principle enunciated: when used to characterize what filled all, it is designedly anarthrous; when the phrase presents a distinctively objective cast of thought, the article is as correctly inserted. The presence or the absence of the article leaves the Holy Spirit untouched and only affects the aspect meant — person or power. Compare verses 17, 18, 33, 38; 4:8, 31 (a very remarkable expression in the text of the oldest codices); 5:3; 6:5; 7:55; 8:29, 39; 9:17, 31; 10:38, 44, 45, 47; 11:15, 16, 24, 28; 13:2, 4, 9, 52; 15:28; 16:6,7. The Epistles would only add and confirm by further instances. (Exp. of Acts, p. 117-118)

... the mistaken comment that the Greek particles "always signify contrast." They may mean no more than distinction, like our "on the one hand" and "on the other." All depends on the nature of the case intrinsically. Thus in 1 Cor. 12:8 to one (μὲν) a word of wisdom, to another (δὲ) a word of knowledge, though here different persons, were varieties rather than contrasts; and in Eph. 4:11 these (μὲν) apostles, and those (δὲ) prophets were so far from being in contrast that they form a joint class in 2:20 and 3:5. . . . Take for instance Rom. 6:11, "dead indeed to sin (μὲν) and (or, but) (δὲ) alive to God in Christ Jesus." To make one grace, and the other conditional, is not only error but absurdity. (Bible Treasury N5:331-2)

[How is it that πᾶς without the article in many cases like ἐξουσία, δικαιοσύνη, κ.τ.λ. means "all" and not "every"?]

A. Because they express moral thoughts, grouping every case under the word; so that it is a question of our language not here admitting "every" but requiring "all" in idiomatic English. With article before or after, πᾶς in English must be translated not "every" but "all." So without it words expressive of moral ideas, as righteousness; joy, fear, power, wisdom; but it really means every such case. So of the common "all flesh," all the individuals without distinction. But ordinary appellatives come under the regular rule which is true of all languages. (Bible Treasury 20:144)

[Bible Treasury 10:32 recommends J. N. Darby's paper, "On the Greek Article."]

Greek Verb Tenses

[A review of] The True Theory of the Greek Aorist, by William Howell, of the Bristol Grammar School, &c. London: Simpkin. Bristol: Kerslake:

The attention of Christians interested in the study of the Greek Testament is directed to this little pamphlet; especially at a time when some essays on Greek syntax have given a one-sided bias to minds inexperienced in such pursuits. Undoubtedly the rigid rule ("never translate the aorist by 'have'") is extremely compendious and would save a world of difficulty. But unhappily it is an error, for there are very frequent cases both in the sacred writings and in profane where the rule fails; and this, for the simple reason that the English preterite is not equivalent to the Greek aorist. The assumption that it is must therefore be, as it is in fact, attended by such an abundance of unquestionable exceptions as to disprove the supposed rule. But there is the less reason to say more now, as the subject has been already handled in these pages.

In the first division of the tract Mr. H. discusses the statements of Buttmann, Donaldson, Jelf, and others. He endeavors to shew from the usage of English (where a so-called present may also express past and future, and where a past may express a future), that the Greek aorist, confessedly indefinite, may be something more than is alleged. He seeks to nullify the precise position of modern grammarians by the conclusions of each and all. This however is rather negative criticism; and the question cannot be decided by lively sallies on the one side, any more than by slips or mistakes on the other.

In the second part of the inquiry, Mr. H. asks, What is this inherent power of the aorist? His answer is, that "the aorist tenses were designed as supernumerary tenses to be used for any and all the other tenses according to the taste of the writer." In support of this the following points are offered:

1. These aorists were first employed in a comparatively advanced stage of the development of the Greek language, the second aorist being more ancient than the first.

2. They have displayed their character by a gradual and eventually an utter extinction of the ancient perfect and pluperfect tenses.

3. It is admitted by authorities that they have been more or less employed instead of all the other tenses.

Euphony and expressiveness, he thinks, may have given birth to the first aorist.

The following eighteen illustrations Mr. H. cites chiefly from the historical books of the New Testament. These I proceed to examine as of interest and importance to the Christian. He wishes to prove that the present, &c., might have fairly done duty instead of the aorist; my aim is to shew that the aorist is employed with propriety, even though in some cases another tense might have been used with little or no sensible loss.

1. It would be strange indeed if the aorist in the first verb, the present in the second, were used with no precise object, seeing that the LXX have thus rendered the prophet; and so it appears in all the synoptic evangelists, who are by no means used merely to repeat their original. To me it seems plain that, while the paths are left for continuous or repeated action in detail, the way of Jehovah is viewed as having been made ready with promptness. The same principle applies to Hebrews 12:13, and the more strikingly, because the aorists of 12 and 13 are followed by an emphatic use of the present in 14.

2. The disciples were not to be anxious (pr.) as a habit as to food and raiment: a look at the birds, an observation of the lilies, however transient, might well reprove it. They were not to be anxious (aor.) at all, said the Lord — not for the morrow. (ver. 34.) It is a stronger statement, excluding even a single instance.

3. The phrase of Matthew seems correctly due to ἕως ἄν ἐξέλθῃτε, which puts a term; whereas Luke's is expressly different and equally exact, καὶ ἐκείθεν ἐξέρχεσθε. Either might be said with truth, but they are not of the same value, and there is no ground for charging with looseness the phraseology of one evangelist more than another.

4. The Lord was still speaking in the Gospel; in the Revelation it is a final warning given peremptorily in each assembly's case.

5. In Luke it is a precise order to the father, and so also singular. In the two first it is more general, as marked in the tense as well as the number.

6. In Matthew 21:2 the true reading is probably not πορεύθητε but πορεύσθε (κ, B, D, L, Z, 33, 13, 61, 69, 126, 157, 346, Orig. Euseb.), and so the tense is the same as that of ὑπάγετε in Mark and Luke.

7. The aorist for the single act (σήμερον) in Matthew is just as proper as the present for the habit (τὸ καθ' ἡμέραν) in Luke. They could not be interchanged without altering each clause.

8. The two aorists are acts viewed as consummated, or in themselves; the two present as calling for continuous consideration.

9. The effort is rendered more definite in Luke by the use in him only of ἐν αὐτῇ τῇ ὥρᾳ which accounts for ἐξήτησαν there only.

10. The aorist in Hebrews 11:29 is strictly correct as being the historical fact. The imperfect in Acts denotes continued or repeated effort in the act.

11. A similar remark applies to the aorist in Matthew 26:4, as compared with the imperfect in Mark 14:1.

12. So in Luke 7:38, it is the graphic power of the imperative, whilst John 12:3 presents no more than the fact historically.

13. If a sower go forth on his task, it might be said either σπείρειν or σπείραι, viewed continuously or as a point; in fact κ, D, L, M, X, with more than sixty cursives, have σπείραι in Matthew 13:3; while in verse 4 of both Gospels ἐν τῷ σπείρειν is used necessarily because it is a course of action, not an act in itself. Thus we see, even when either might be used, that there are limits.

14. The difference is that the perfect gives vigour to style where it is suitable or desired by presenting the fact with its effects up to the present, the aorist gives the past only. In Luke therefore it should be "have (or, are) ye gone out," &c.

15. So with the next set: "I am not come to call" represents Luke. ["I have dined," to use an illustration of our author's, could only be used with propriety of to-day.]

16. There is no need to translate ἀνεστράφημεν differently in 2 Corinthians 1:12 and in Ephesians 2:3, "we bore ourselves," or "had our way of life" suiting both; and so in fact Mr. Green and Dean A., two of the most recent translators, recognize no difference.

17. I see no reason for doubting here also the distinction between the perfect and the aorist, the former expressing a permanent effect, while the latter does not go beyond the act or circumstance itself.

18. No doubt, in ordinary Greek, the future would as a rule be found in the apodosis; but this does not warrant one to say that the future would have given the same sense as the aorist, or another to infer that the aorist is equivalent to a future, or a present, or a perfect. It seems to my mind that our Lord used what best expressed His mind, and that none but the aorist could here convey with the same force the man cast out who abode not in Him. It may be called rhetorical; but it vividly gives the instant issue, as He saw it, of abandoning Him: other results follow at length, and they are so expressed.

What appears to have misled our author is the difference of idiom. For it is one thing to give a fair English version, another to trace the precise force and shades of difference in the Greek. To suppose that imperfections, aorists, and perfects, can be used indifferently in the same sentence is to destroy the precision of language. To explain why each is used rather than any other is exactly the business of a scholar, not to explain them all away. And in New Testament Greek it must be remembered that the believer in inspiration is entitled to have the assurance that every minute difference is used with divine exactness and with a purpose worthy of Him who wrote it. (Bible Treasury 9:348-349)

[A review of] Tense Readings of the New Testament — Milestone Papers, by Daniel Steele, D.D., New York: Phillips & Hunt: The following extracts have been sent for a brief examination, which is appended.

P. 56. "The chief peculiarity lies in the Aorist: we have in the English no tense like it. Except in the indicative it is timeless, and in all the moods indicates what Krueger styles 'singleness of act.' As some of our readers may be disposed from dogmatic reason or prejudice to dispute our inferences from this tense, we proceed to fortify ourselves by the following authorities."

P. 57. "Says Buttmann in his recent New Testament Grammar, 'The established distinction between the Aorist as a purely narrative tense, expressing something momentary, and the Imperfect as a descriptive tense, expressing something contemporaneous or continuous, holds in all its force in the New Testament.' Says Winer: — 'Nowhere in the New Testament does the Aorist express what is wont to be: we cite a few specimens.' All exhortations to prayer and to spiritual endeavour in the resistance of temptation are usually expressed in the Present tense, which strongly indicates persistence:

Matt. vii. 7. 'Keep asking (present) and it shall be given you, seek (pres.) again and again and ye shall find, knock (persistently) and it shall be opened unto you.'

Mark xi. 24. 'All things that ye perseveringly pray (pres.) and ask for (pres.), keep believing that ye received (aor.) and ye shall have them.'

Luke xiii. 24. 'Persistently agonise to enter in (aor.) once for all at the strait gate.'

P. 59. "The next fact which impresses us in our investigation is the absence of the Aorist, and the presence of the Present tense, whenever the conditions of final salvation are stated.

Our inference is that the conditions of ultimate salvation are continuous, extending through probation and not completed in any one act. A careful study of the Greek will convince the student that it is a great mistake to teach that a single act of faith furnishes a person with a paid-up nonforfeitable policy, assuring the holder that he will inherit eternal life, or that a single energy of faith secures a through ticket for heaven, as is taught by the Plymouth Brethren, and by some popular lay evangelists. The Greek tenses show that faith is a state, a habit of mind into which the believer enters at justification.

John i. 12. 'As many as received (aor.) him (by a momentary and definite act), to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that are believing (pres.) on his name.'

P. 61. "John iii. 15. 'That whosoever is continuously believing in him, should not perish (aor., once for all), but be having everlasting life.'

Here again the Present and not the Aorist participle of the verb, to believe, is used, as it is again in verses 16 and 36.

John v. 24. 'He that is always having my word and constantly believing on him that sent me, hath eternal life, and is not coming into condemnation, but has passed over (perfect) from death unto life, and so continues.' Says Alford, 'So, in 1 John v. 12,13, the believing and the having eternal life are commensurate: where the faith is, the possession of eternal life is, and when the one remits, the other is forfeited; but here the faith is set before us as an enduring faith, and its effects described in their completion' (see Ephes. i. 19,20). Thus this great English Scholar rescues this great proof-text of the Plymouth Brethren, and the Moody School of Evangelists, from its perverted use to teach an eternal incorporation with Christ by a single act of faith; and he demonstrates the common sense doctrine that the perseverance of the saints is grounded on persistent trust in Jesus Christ. — A wise generalship does not destroy a captured fortress, but garrisons it.

John vi. 35. 'He that is perpetually coming to me (pres.) shall not by any means (double negative) once hunger (aor.), and he that is constantly believing in me (emphatic) shall never by any means (double negative) feel one pang of thirst.'

P. 63. "John vi. 54. 'Whoso eateth (pres. keeps eating) my flesh, and drinketh (keeps drinking) my blood, hath eternal life.'" &c., &c., &c.

Though from circumstances away from books, one can see at a glance that there is no force in Dr. S.'s reasoning. The general bearing of the Greek tenses, according to the grammarians cited, has often been set forth in these pages (Bible Treasury). Only there are other principles, which none ought to ignore, unknown, apparently, to the American divine, who writes under the influence of strong prejudice, as little versed in scriptural truth as in the views of those he controverts. Nor was even the late Dean Alford always reliable in doctrine, any more than ripe scholarship.

But to the proof. No one doubts that continuous action, as in exhortations to prayer and habitual moral duty where constancy enters, is expressed by the present tense. The mistake, a very serious one, is overlooking what is called the ethical present, which is of frequent occurrence, especially in the N.T. Time in this case is merged; and here no more glaring error could be than importing into the tense persistence or the like. As an early example take Matt. 2:20: are we to render οἱ ἑ as Dr. S. contends? "They that keep seeking" would wholly mislead. Both the A. and R. Vv. give rightly "they that sought." It is really those characterised by the act, "the seekers." This usage applies to a vast multitude of cases, where "perpetually" or "constantly" would falsify the sense. See Matt. 5:5,6, where it is evident that in "the mourning," and "the hungering and thirsting," there is no more thought of "always," than in "the meek," or "the merciful." In all it is just the class so characterised, like ὁ σπείρων, ὁ θερίζων, ὁ ἀκούων, ὁ πιστεύων, ὁ θέλων, ὁ ἀγιάζων, οἱ ἀγιαζόμενοι, οἱ σωζόμενοι, οἱ ἀπολλύμενοι, οἱ πλανῶντες, οἱ πλανώμενοι, ὁ γινώσκων, ὁ ἀγαπῶν. One might quote all through the Greek T. It is the same with the finite verb, if not so frequently as with the participle. Thus in Matt. 5:13, 14, the present tense is simply the copula, and even Dr. S. would shrink at once from the rendering, "Ye are always the salt of the earth," or "Ye are constantly the light of the world." Again, see James 1:12, "Blessed the man who endureth temptation." Does this mean that any man, even Job, was continually enduring? So in the next verse, it is clearly "when" or "while" tempted, and in no way means that he is so persistently. Most chapters of the N.T. supply examples.

It is allowed then that the Lord intended His own to be ever dependent in prayer. But the answer to the curious question, Are those to be saved few? is strangely represented by this unintelligently narrow use of the present. Our Lord does insist on striving earnestly; but that this implies a long space, because it is the present, is ignorance of its ethical value and force in the face of the record which proves throughout the Acts of the Apostles how soon those in earnest were brought into conscious peace and blessing. Those who seek to enter save through the narrow door (of repentance) will not be able.

Then come the astounding words, "The absence of the Aorist, and the presence of the Present, whenever the conditions of final salvation are stated."

Acts 2 ought surely to be a test, the great day of Pentecost. Now in answer to the cry of those pricked in heart Peter says, "Repent" (aor.), and, in his solemn charge, adds, "Be saved (or, save yourselves, aor.) from this perverse generation." Here we have the most direct contradiction of Dr. S., the aorist there, and not the present tense, as he would have, in stating the conditions of final salvation. No doubt we have τοὺς σωζ. in ver. 47; and it is notorious that some, who have not adequately weighed the case, contend like him, that this phrase means those in process of salvation. That it need not is certain from the ethical force of the present: "the saved," or "those to be saved," are a class so characterised without question of time. That it cannot mean an actual process going on follows from the σῶθητε of ver. 40. And this ought to be plain to all who compare Eph. 2:5,8, where it is said of the believers, χ. ἐστε σεσωσμένοι (the perfect, i.e., the abiding continuance of a past act); also Titus 3:5, ἔσωσεν ἡμᾶς where the singleness of the act of saving us is stated. Could this be if Dr. S.'s theory were true? Scripture, on the contrary, by using the aor. and perf. as well as the present of the same case, demolishes his notion. None can deny that final salvation is before us in Eph. 2, and in Tit. 3. That is, scripture beyond controversy applies both perf. and aor. to the final salvation of believers; so that the present tense, which also occurs in this connection, cannot in God's word contradict either the single act, or its continued result, but ethically characterises. Dr. S.'s rash handling of the matter necessarily sets the occurrences of the present against the perf. and the aor. Had he known grammar and scripture better, he would have avoided the error. The comparison of Heb. 10:10 with 14 may help him, though Dean A., if my memory serves, erred in this very case. For here we have the same persons said to be ἡγιασμένοι and ἀγιαζόμενοι. Now incontestably they could not be already sanctified, and this as an abiding result, if the present tense only means a process incomplete because going on, as the error shuts us up to. The ethical sense of a class so characterised, without question of time, conciliates perfectly the two expressions which Dr. S.'s imperfect and erroneous view would dislocate. Both verses speak of believers as they are now, ver. 10 being no more future than 14.

On the other hand, no right-minded christian would weaken the truth that faith and life go on in constant exercise while we are here below; so that Dr. S. is quite uninformed as to those whom he classes with Mr. Moody and his friends, of whom one cannot speak. But he himself enfeebles, if he does not deny salvation as a state entered by faith. He can see for himself Acts. 16:30,31, where, in answer to the jailor's urgent enquiry how to be saved (aor.), he was told to believe (aor.). Here again final salvation is in question, and a single act of faith secures it according to Paul and Silas. According to Dr. S.'s theory it ought to have been the present in both: his doctrine and his grammar fail alike.

In John 1:12; 3:15; 5:24, as in 1 John 5:13, it is the present participle as in many texts elsewhere, such as Eph. 1:19; and this is exact, when a characteristic class is meant. If it were a question of fact, the aorist would have displaced the present, as in Acts 11:17; 13:48; or if the permanent result of a past act was intended, the perfect as in Acts 15:5, 16:3,4. But the usage of these last is not consistent with the exclusive notion of the actual present, which is therefore demonstrated to be incorrect here. The ethical present alone agrees where an aorist or perfect can also be employed, though the faith is an enduring thing beyond doubt.

That Dr. S. has misused John 6:35,54, is apparent from ver. 44,50,51,53, where the aorist is used of coming, eating and drinking. This could not be unless the present were used ethically. The reasoning therefore is a mere fallacy. Dr. S.'s school, by his own account, should consist of souls always learning and never able to come to full knowledge of truth. (Bible Treasury 16:301-302)

My first remark is one which applies widely to Mr. [Tregelles]'s work. It is, that he systematically misstates the force of the Greek Perfect — an error the less excusable, because it is in general given accurately in the English Bible, which he has undertaken to correct. He confounds the force of the perfect with that of the aorist. The latter, as is well known, is the grand tense in narrative. It simply states that events have occurred, excluding the idea of duration, whether the action was really transient, or whether, if prolonged, the idea of the prolongation was meant to be merged. The perfect, on the other hand, expresses the settled, abiding effect of a past action: it adds another and different idea to that of the aorist. One might have expected so fundamental a truth to be familiar to every student: it may be a nicety of the Greek language, but it is one which it is indispensable to know and act upon, in order to understand and appreciate a single sentence where these tenses occur. Experience shows, however, that professed translators and critics may overlook the simplest principles. As some may question the distinction, I delay for a moment to exemplify what has been stated, before referring to the offenses against it in both editions [of Tregelles on Rev.]. Let the reader who doubts take up any book of the New Testament — say the first chapters of Matthew. Of the aorist, in which ch. 1 abounds, I need not speak, as the sense is indisputable. But a perfect we have in γέγραπται, 2:5, &c. The Authorised Version rightly translates, “it is written.” It is true that γέγραπται could not have been used, if the action were not past: it supposes this, but presents also the idea of the prediction being actually in the prophecy which was familiar to them. In other words, what was permanent is also before the mind, which, not ἐγράφη, but γέγραπται, conveys. Again, ch. 3:2, ἡγγικε “is at hand:” “hath drawn nigh,” though true, is not the whole truth: nay, it is not only weak, but it might mislead. The present state (flowing doubtless from a past action and very distinct from the present tense of the same verb) is the real thought. In ch. 5:10,12 we have the participle of the perfect passive, and the aorist active of the same word. Now οἱ δεδιωγμένοι means, not “those who have been,” but “those who are persecuted” — a certain habitual character attached to them; whereas, ἐδιώξαν τοὺς πρ. is merely the statement, without going further, that men persecuted the prophets. So in verse 32, ἀπολελυμένην is not the mere historical fact that she had been divorced, but her present condition resulting from that fact. (Prospect 1:87)

On Archaic English Words

[WK made the following remarks on the general suggestions of the American correctors of the RV:] There need be little hesitation in allowing (I) that “S.” for saint is a remnant of tradition, at issue with the general sense of the term, which is ill applied for special honour to the inspired writers of the Gospels.

II. But it is less easy to see why “the apostle” should be struck out from the title of the Pauline Epistles, or of “Paul the apostle” from the title of the epistle to the Hebrews. “General” is most unsuitable to the title of the Epistles of James and Peter. John and Jude have a “general” character, whether it be so said or not in the titles. The older MSS. say “The Revelation of John,” which may be regarded as a compendium of Rev. 1:1.

III. Holy “Spirit” might well supersede Holy “Ghost.”

IV. If “worship” be retained uniformly for προσκ., a note explaining its general sense is requisite.

V. “Through” rather than “by” = διὰ with the genitive, in general, as well as when it relates to prophecy.

VI. Are not all, or almost all the instances referred to causes of enticement to what is wrong, when therefore “tempt” is right enough? Such a verse as Rev. 3:10 would seem more appropriate for “try” and “trial,” like 1 Pet. 1:6

VII. The archaic “which” might well yield to “who” or “that,” “be” to “are” in the pr. ind.; “wot” and “wist” to “know” and “knew,” “hale” to “drag.”

VIII. “Demon” should displace “devil” for δαίμων or δαιμόνιον, and so possessed with a “demon” or “demons.”

IX. “With” should hardly move to the margin to let “in” there after “baptize.”

X. But “covenant” should everywhere take the place of “testament” except in Heb. 9:15-17.

XI. It is not merely Luke 8:15, 2 Cor. 1:6, Heb. 12:1, and James 5:11, that “steadfastness” would not suit as an alternate in the margin for “patience”; “patient endurance” seems better.

XII. The approximate rendering of ἄσσάριον as a penny, and δηνάριον as a shilling is preferable to the more distant “farthing” and “penny.”

XIII. “God and Father” is the revived marginal rendering of the Five Clergymen, and worse rather than better than the Authorised Version, “God even the Father,” as in the Revised Version of 1 Cor. 15:24, the real sense being “to Him that is God and Father.” In this way “our” or “His” may not necessarily go beyond “Father.”

XIV. To confine “fulfil” to “accomplish,” and the like, might be well. (Bible Treasury 14:334-335)

9. On Problems Peculiar to The Revelation of John

One of the few things in which we can concur with Dr. [Wordsworth] is in the following strong opinion of the authorized version as regards the Revelation: “Here I would earnestly exhort you, my younger hearers, not to content yourselves with the English version of the Apocalypse, but to have constantly before your eyes the original Greek in some good edition, where the various readings are carefully noted — as, for instance, in that of Griesbach, or of Scholz. It would be insidious to specify the numerous errors which have been committed by modern expositors, through neglect of this necessary precaution. Any one who undertakes to expound the Apocalypse from our English version alone, will deceive himself and mislead others.

It is no disparagement to our authorized version of the Apocalypse to say that it admits of considerable improvement. This may be easily accounted for from the nature of the case. The Apocalypse, from its peculiar character, is more difficult to render accurately than any other book of the New Testament,” &c. — (Pages 162, 163 [of Lectures on the Apocalypse, by C. Wordsworth, 1849]). (Prospect 2:47)

Christian scholars are well aware that no part of the New Testament had been edited so unsatisfactorily, partly from the general indifference with which the book of Revelation had been long regarded, and chiefly from the fact that so few ancient MSS. which contain it are known to exist, and these few comparatively unavailable to editors until the last half century.

Introduction

The critical acumen of Griesbach, achieved not a little in the just appraisal of conflicting readings, and in many instances it appears to me that subsequent editors found it an easier matter to alter than amend the text, which resulted from his laborious researches. Still, it is certain that sources of information, unknown or inaccessible to him, have been opened to some of the labourers that followed, of whom Scholz (1830-36), on the one hand, and Tischendorf (1841), on the other, have been the most successful. To the system of recension adopted by the latter, or perhaps even more to that of Lachmann, Mr. [Tregelles] inclines. (Prospect 1:86)

[W. K. translated the book of Revelation four times over a span of 50 years. He had this to say about the translation included in his shorter commentary, The Rev. Exp., 1901:] The reader may be assured that the amended text here translated rests on the best authority of ancient date, using internal evidence to decide where the oldest MSS. and Versions differ. (Rev. Exp., p. v) [This translation, however, is broken up into fragments in the commentary with the subsequent loss of punctuation at the end of each fragment. Moreover, several words were apparently dropped by inadvertence and it may be that this translation has a different character from his other translations. The version given here is from Lect. on Rev., 1871.]

The first list applies to the book of Revelation and to the notes that come from Rev. of John, 1860. where this list is found on p. xxv. N.B. — * denotes the original reading, and  a correction or change.

The Ancient versions (Vv.) containing the Revelation are —

1. The Æthiopic, probably made in cent. IV (Æth.).

2. The Arabic (Ar^p. of the Polyglotts, and Ar^c. of Erpenius, both = Arr.), not earlier than cent. VII.

3. The Armenian, completed A.D. 410 (Arm.).

4. The Coptic, in cent. IV, if not earlier (Cop.).

5. The Slavonic, made in cent. IX, some mss. of which differ from the printed edition (Slav.).

6. The Syriac, not before cent. VI (the Peshito and the Curetonian Syriac not having the Revelation) (Syr.).

7. The Latin Vulgate, made by Jerome about the end of cent. IV, the best copies of which are Codd. Am., Fuld., Tol., Demid., Harl., Lips.^{4,5,6}. (Vulg.).

The ancient Greek and Latin commentators, Origen, Hippolytus, Andreas of Cappadocia, Arethas, Tertullian, Tichonius, Victorinus, Primasius, and other fathers (Ff.), are occasionally cited; also the Catena (cat.), as it is called, on the Apocalypse.

The earliest printed edition of the Greek New Testament was the Complutensian Polyglott, which bears the date of Jan. 10, 1514, at the end of Revelation, but it had not the pope's sanction till 1520. The first published edition was that of Erasmus in 1516. In his fourth and fifth editions, Erasmus corrected his text, especially in the Revelation, by the Complutensian readings. R. Stephens followed this last in his celebrated third edition of 1550, which in its turn became the basis for Beza's five editions; also of the Elzevir editions, the first of which dates 1624, and the second 1633 which the printer ventured to designate "Textus ab omnibus Receptus." (Er. Compl. Steph. Rec.)

The "Edd."

["Edd.", when cited in E.E.W.'s notes to Mark and Luke, refers to "the critical text adopted in 1904 by the British Foreign and Bible Society for its centenary edition of the Greek New Testament, a translation of which may be found in Bagster's Worker's New Testament." (E.E.W., Preface to Exp. of Mark, p. vi). Thus, "Edd." in E.E.W.'s notes to Mark and Luke refers to Eberhard Nestle's text which he constructed by taking the "mean reading" of three previous editions, namely Tischendorf, Westcott & Hort, and B. Weiss. "This comparison of three leading editions produced a text . . . which . . . found an ever increasing circulation, and in 1904 was taken over also by the British and Foreign Bible Society in London." (Nestle and Aland, Novum Testamentum Graece, ed. 23, 1957, p. 60). E.E.W. also refers to "the Sinai palimpsest, discovered in 1892, of what is considered the oldest Syriac version known" (E.E.W., Preface to Exp. of Mark, p. vi).

"Edd.", when cited in notes from The Prospect, vol. 1, refers to all of the following (abbreviations from Prospect 1:153):

Griesbach (Gr.)

Knappe (Kn.)

Lachmann (Ln.)

Matthiae

Scholz (Sz.)

Tischendorf (Tisch.)

Tregelles (Treg.)]

MATTHEW 1 JND

- 1 Book of the generation of Jesus Christ, Son of David, Son of Abraham.
- 2 Abraham begat Isaac; and Isaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat Juda and his brethren;
- 3 and Juda begat Phares and Zara of Thamar; and Phares begat Esrom, and Esrom begat Aram,
- 4 and Aram begat Aminadab, and Aminadab begat Naason, and Naason begat Salmon,
- 5 and Salmon begat Booz of Rachab; and Booz begat Obed of Ruth; and Obed begat Jesse,
- 6 and Jesse begat David the king. And David begat Solomon, of her [that had been the wife] of Urias;
- 7 and Solomon begat Roboam, and Roboam begat Abia, and Abia begat Asa,
- 8 and Asa begat Josaphat, and Josaphat begat Joram, and Joram begat Ozias,
- 9 and Ozias begat Joatham, and Joatham begat Achaz, and Achaz begat Ezekias,
- 10 and Ezekias begat Manasses, and Manasses begat Amon, and Amon begat Josias,
- 11 and Josias begat Jechonias and his brethren, at the time of the carrying away of Babylon.
- 12 And after the carrying away of Babylon, Jechonias begat Salathiel, and Salathiel begat Zorobabel,
- 13 and Zorobabel begat Abiud, and Abiud begat Eliakim, and Eliakim begat Azor,
- 14 and Azor begat Sadoc, and Sadoc begat Achim, and Achim begat Eliud,
- 15 and Eliud begat Eliazar, and Eliazar begat Matthan, and Matthan begat Jacob,
- 16 and Jacob begat Joseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.
- 17 All the generations, therefore, from Abraham to David [were] fourteen generations; and from David until the carrying away of Babylon, fourteen generations; and from the carrying away of Babylon unto the Christ, fourteen generations.
- 18 Now the birth of Jesus Christ was thus: His mother, Mary, that is, having been betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found to be with child of [the] Holy Ghost.
- 19 But Joseph, her husband, being [a] righteous [man], and unwilling to expose her publicly, purposed to put her away secretly;
- 20 but while he pondered on these things, behold, an angel of [the] Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, Joseph, son of David, fear not to take to [thee] Mary, thy wife, for that which is begotten in her is of [the] Holy Ghost.
- 21 And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins.
- 22 Now all this came to pass that that might be fulfilled which was spoken by [the] Lord, through the prophet, saying,

MATTHEW 2 JND

- 1 Now Jesus having been born in Bethlehem of Judæa, in the days of Herod the king, behold magi from the east arrived at Jerusalem, saying,
- 2 Where is the king of the Jews that has been born? for we have seen his star in the east, and have come to do him homage.
- 3 But Herod the king having heard [of it], was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him;
- 4 and, assembling all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Christ should be born.
- 5 And they said to him, In Bethlehem of Judæa; for thus it is written through the prophet:
- 6 And thou Bethlehem, land of Juda, art in no wise the least among the governors of Juda; for out of thee shall go forth a leader who shall shepherd my people Israel.
- 7 Then Herod, having secretly called the magi, inquired of them accurately the time of the star that was appearing;
- 8 and having sent them to Bethlehem, said, Go, search out accurately concerning the child, and when ye shall have found [him] bring me back word, so that I also may come and do him homage.
- 9 And they having heard the king went their way; and lo, the star which they had seen in the east went before them until it came and stood over the place where the little child was.
- 10 And when they saw the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.
- 11 And having come into the house they saw the little child with Mary his mother, and falling down did him homage. And having opened their treasures, they offered to him gifts, gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.
- 12 And being divinely instructed in a dream not to return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.
- 13 Now, they having departed, behold, an angel of [the] Lord appears in a dream to Joseph, saying, Arise, take to [thee] the little child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there until I shall tell thee; for Herod will seek the little child to destroy it.
- 14 And, having arisen, he took to [him] the little child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.
- 15 And he was there until the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled which was spoken by [the] Lord, through the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.
- 16 Then Herod, seeing that he had been mocked by the magi, was greatly enraged; and sent and slew all the boys which

17 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken through Jeremias the prophet, saying,

18 A voice has been heard in Rama, weeping, and great lamentation: Rachel weeping [for] her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not.

19 But Herod having died, behold, an angel of [the] Lord appears in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, saying, 20 Arise, take to [thee] the little child and its mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they who sought the life of the little child are dead.

21 And he arose and took to [him] the little child and its mother, and came into the land of Israel;

22 but having heard that 'Archelaus reigns over Judæa, instead of Herod his father,' he was afraid to go there; and having been divinely instructed in a dream, he went away into the parts of Galilee,

23 and came and dwelt in a town called Nazareth; so that that should be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophets, He shall be called a Nazaræan.

MATTHEW 3 JND

1 Now in those days comes John the baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judæa,

2 and saying, Repent, for the kingdom of the heavens has drawn nigh.

3 For this is he who has been spoken of through Esaias the prophet, saying, Voice of him that crieth in the wilderness: prepare ye the way of [the] Lord, make straight his paths.

4 And John himself had his garment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins, and his nourishment was locusts and wild honey.

5 Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Judæa, and all the country round the Jordan,

6 and were baptised by him in the Jordan, confessing their sins.

7 But seeing many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, Offspring of vipers, who has forewarned you to flee from the coming wrath?

8 Produce therefore fruit worthy of repentance.

9 And do not think to say within yourselves, We have Abraham for [our] father; for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham.

10 And already the axe is applied to the root of the trees; every tree therefore not producing good fruit is cut down and cast into the fire.

11 I indeed baptise you with water to repentance, but he that comes after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not fit to bear; he shall baptise you with [the] Holy Spirit and fire;

12 whose winnowing fan [is] in his hand, and he shall thoroughly purge his threshing-floor, and shall gather his

- 13 Then comes Jesus from Galilee to the Jordan to John, to be baptised of him;
- 14 but John urgently forbad him, saying, I have need to be baptised of thee; and comest thou to me?
- 15 But Jesus answering said to him, Suffer [it] now; for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness. Then he suffers him.
- 16 And Jesus, having been baptised, went up straightway from the water, and lo, the heavens were opened to him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending as a dove, and coming upon him:
- 17 and behold, a voice out of the heavens saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I have found my delight.

MATTHEW 4 JND

- 1 Then Jesus was carried up into the wilderness by the Spirit to be tempted of the devil:
- 2 and having fasted forty days and forty nights, afterwards he hungered.
- 3 And the tempter coming up to him said, If thou be Son of God, speak, that these stones may become loaves of bread.
- 4 But he answering said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word which goes out through God's mouth.
- 5 Then the devil takes him to the holy city, and sets him upon the edge of the temple,
- 6 and says to him, If thou be Son of God cast thyself down; for it is written, He shall give charge to his angels concerning thee, and on [their] hands shall they bear thee, lest in anywise thou strike thy foot against a stone.
- 7 Jesus said to him, It is again written, Thou shalt not tempt [the] Lord thy God.
- 8 Again the devil takes him to a very high mountain, and shews him all the kingdoms of the world, and their glory,
- 9 and says to him, All these things will I give thee if, falling down, thou wilt do me homage.
- 10 Then says Jesus to him, Get thee away, Satan, for it is written, Thou shalt do homage to [the] Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serve.
- 11 Then the devil leaves him, and behold, angels came and ministered to him.
- 12 But having heard that John was delivered up, he departed into Galilee:
- 13 and having left Nazareth, he went and dwelt at Capernaum, which is on the sea-side in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim,
- 14 that that might be fulfilled which was spoken through Esaias the prophet, saying,
- 15 Land of Zabulon and land of Nephthalim, way of [the] sea beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the nations: —
- 16 the people sitting in darkness has seen a great light, and to those sitting in [the] country and shadow of death, to them has light sprung up.

- 17 From that time began Jesus to preach and to say, Repent, for the kingdom of the heavens has drawn nigh.
- 18 And walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw two brothers, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, cast a net into the sea, for they were fishers;
- 19 and he says to them, Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men.
- 20 And they, having left their trawl nets, immediately followed him.
- 21 And going on thence he saw other two brothers, James the [son] of Zebedee and John his brother, in the ship with Zebedee their father, mending their trawl nets, and he called them;
- 22 and they, having left the ship and their father, immediately followed him.
- 23 And [Jesus] went round the whole [of] Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom, and healing every disease and every bodily weakness among the people.
- 24 And his fame went out into the whole [of] Syria, and they brought to him all that were ill, suffering under various diseases and pains, and those possessed by demons, and lunatics, and paralytics; and he healed them.
- 25 And great crowds followed him from Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Judæa, and beyond the Jordan.

MATTHEW 5 JND

- 1 But seeing the crowds, he went up into the mountain, and having sat down, his disciples came to him;
- 2 and, having opened his mouth, he taught them, saying,
- 3 Blessed [are] the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of the heavens.
- 4 Blessed they that mourn, for they shall be comforted.
- 5 Blessed the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.
- 6 Blessed they who hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled.
- 7 Blessed the merciful, for they shall find mercy.
- 8 Blessed the pure in heart, for they shall see God.
- 9 Blessed the peace-makers, for they shall be called sons of God.
- 10 Blessed they who are persecuted on account of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of the heavens.
- 11 Blessed are ye when they may reproach and persecute you, and say every wicked thing against you, lying, for my sake.
- 12 Rejoice and exult, for your reward is great in the heavens; for thus have they persecuted the prophets who were before you.
- 13 Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have become insipid, wherewith shall it be salted? It is no longer fit for anything but to be cast out and to be trodden under foot by men.

Matthew

- 14 Ye are the light of the world: a city situated on the top of a mountain cannot be hid.
- 15 Nor do [men] light a lamp and put it under the bushel, but upon the lamp-stand and it shines for all who are in the house.
- 16 Let your light thus shine before men, so that they may see your upright works, and glorify your Father who is in the heavens.
- 17 Think not that I am come to make void the law or the prophets; I am not come to make void, but to fulfill.
- 18 For verily I say unto you, Until the heaven and the earth pass away, one iota or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law till all come to pass.
- 19 Whosoever then shall do away with one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of the heavens; but whosoever shall practise and teach [them], he shall be called great in the kingdom of the heavens.
- 20 For I say unto you, that unless your righteousness surpass [that] of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
- 21 Ye have heard that it was said to the ancients, Thou shalt not kill; but whosoever shall kill shall be subject to the judgment.
- 22 But I say unto you, that every one that is lightly angry with his brother shall be subject to the judgment; but whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be subject to [be called before] the sanhedrim; but whosoever shall say, Fool, shall be subject to the penalty of the hell of fire.
- 23 If therefore thou shouldest offer thy gift at the altar, and there shouldest remember that thy brother has something against thee,
- 24 leave there thy gift before the altar, and first go, be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.
- 25 Make friends with thine adverse party quickly, whilst thou art in the way with him; lest some time the adverse party deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.
- 26 Verily I say to thee, Thou shalt in no wise come out thence till thou hast paid the last farthing.
- 27 Ye have heard that it has been said, Thou shalt not commit adultery.
- 28 But I say unto you, that every one who looks upon a woman to lust after her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.
- 29 But if thy right eye be a snare to thee, pluck it out and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members perish, and not thy whole body be cast into hell.
- 30 And if thy right hand be a snare to thee, cut it off and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members perish, and not thy whole body be cast into hell.
- 31 It has been said too, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a letter of divorce.
- 14 Ye are the light of the world: a city set on a hill cannot be hid.
- 15 Nor do they light a lamp, and put it under the bushel but upon the stand, and it shineth for all that are in the house.
- 16 Thus let your light shine before men, that they may see your comely works, and glorify your Father that is in the heavens.
- 17 Think ye not that I came to destroy the law and the prophets; I came not to destroy but to fulfil.
- 18 For verily I say to you, Till the heaven and the earth pass, one iota or one point shall in no wise pass from the law till all things come to pass.
- 19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments and shall teach men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of the heavens; but whosoever shall do and teach [them], he shall be called great in the kingdom of the heavens.
- 20 For I say to you that, except your righteousness surpass [that] of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of the heavens.
- 21 Ye have heard that it was said to those of old, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be subject to the judgment.
- 22 But I say to you, that everyone that is [lightly] angry with his brother shall be subject to the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be subject to the council; and whosoever shall say, Fool, shall be subject to the hell of fire.
- 23 If therefore thou be offering thy gift at the altar, and there remember that thy brother hath aught against thee,
- 24 leave there thy gift before the altar, and go; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.
- 25 Make friends [or, be of good-will] with thine adversary quickly, whilst thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the official, and thou be cast into prison.
- 26 Verily I say to thee, Thou shalt in no wise come out thence till thou have paid the last farthing.
- 27 Ye heard that it was said, Thou shalt not commit adultery;
- 28 but I say unto you that every one that looketh at a woman to lust after her committed adultery with her already in his heart.
- 29 And if thy right eye stumbleth [or, ensnareth] thee, pluck out and cast it from thee; for it profiteth thee that one of thy members perish, and not thy whole body be cast into hell.
- 30 And if thy right hand stumbleth thee, cut off and cast it from thee; for it profiteth thee, that one of thy members perish, and not thy whole body be cast into hell.

- 32 But I say unto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife except for cause of fornication makes her commit adultery, and whosoever marries one that is put away commits adultery.
- 33 Again, ye have heard that it has been said to the ancients, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt render to the Lord what thou hast sworn.
- 34 But I say unto you, Do not swear at all; neither by the heaven, because it is [the] throne of God;
- 35 nor by the earth, because it is [the] footstool of his feet; nor by Jerusalem, because it is [the] city of the great King.
- 36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black.
- 37 But let your word be Yea, yea; Nay, nay; but what is more than these is from evil.
- 38 Ye have heard that it has been said, Eye for eye and tooth for tooth.
- 39 But I say unto you, not to resist evil; but whoever shall strike thee on thy right cheek, turn to him also the other;
- 40 and to him that would go to law with thee and take thy body coat, leave him thy cloak also.
- 41 And whoever will compel thee to go one mile, go with him two.
- 42 To him that asks of thee give, and from him that desires to borrow of thee turn not away.
- 43 Ye have heard that it has been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour and hate thine enemy.
- 44 But I say unto you, Love your enemies, [bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you,] and pray for those who [insult you and] persecute you,
- 45 that ye may be [the] sons of your Father who is in [the] heavens; for he makes his sun rise on evil and good, and sends rain on just and unjust.
- 46 For if ye should love those who love you, what reward have ye? Do not also the tax-gatherers the same?
- 47 And if ye should salute your brethren only, what do ye extraordinary? Do not also the Gentiles the same?
- 48 Be ye therefore perfect as your heavenly Father is perfect.

MATTHEW 6 WK

- 1 Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men to be seen of them; otherwise ye have no reward with your Father that is in the heavens.
- 2 When therefore thou doest alms, sound not a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may be glorified by men: Verily I say to you, They do get their reward.
- 3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right doeth, should appear to men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

- 6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father who is in secret, and thy Father who sees in secret will render [it] to thee.
- 7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as those who are of the nations: for they think they shall be heard through their much speaking.
- 8 Be not ye therefore like them, for your Father knows of what things ye have need before ye beg [anything] of him.
- 9 Thus therefore pray ye: Our Father who art in the heavens, let thy name be sanctified,
- 10 let thy kingdom come, let thy will be done as in heaven so upon the earth;
- 11 give us to-day our needed bread,
- 12 and forgive us our debts, as we also forgive our debtors,
- 13 and lead us not into temptation, but save us from evil.
- 14 For if ye forgive men their offences, your heavenly Father also will forgive you [yours],
- 15 but if ye do not forgive men their offences, neither will your Father forgive your offences.
- 16 And when ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, downcast in countenance; for they disfigure their faces so that they may appear fasting to men: verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
- 17 But thou, [when] fasting, anoint thy head and wash thy face,
- 18 so that thou mayest not appear fasting unto men, but to thy Father who is in secret; and thy Father who sees in secret shall render [it] to thee.
- 19 Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon the earth, where moth and rust spoils, and where thieves dig through and steal;
- 20 but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust spoils, and where thieves do not dig through nor steal;
- 21 for where thy treasure is, there will be also thy heart.
- 22 The lamp of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body will be light:
- 23 but if thine eye be wicked, thy whole body will be dark. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great the darkness!
- 24 No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and will love the other, or he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.
- 25 For this cause I say unto you, Do not be careful about your life, what ye should eat and what ye should drink; nor for your body what ye should put on. Is not the life more than food, and the body than raiment?
- 26 Look at the birds of the heaven, that they sow not, nor reap, nor gather into granaries, and your heavenly Father nourishes them. Are ye not much more excellent than they?
- 27 But which of you by carefulness can add to his growth one cubit?

- 6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father that is in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret will repay to thee.
- 7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions as those of the nations; for they think they shall be heard through their much speaking.

- 15 but if ye forgive not men their offences, neither will your Father forgive your offences.
- 16 And when ye fast, be not as the hypocrites, downcast in countenance; for they disfigure their faces that they may appear fasting to men. Verily I say to you, They do get their reward.

- 19 Lay not up for you treasures on the earth where moth and rust consume, and where thieves dig through and steal;
- 20 but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust corrupteth, and where thieves dig not through nor steal.
- 21 For where thy treasure is, there will be thy heart also.
- 22 The lamp of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body will be light;
- 23 but if thine eye be wicked, thy whole body will be dark. If therefore the light that is in thee is darkness, how great the darkness!

- 25 For this reason I say to you, Be not anxious for your life what ye should eat and what ye should drink, nor yet for your body what ye should put on. Is not the life more than the food, and the body more than the raiment?
- 26 Look at the birds of the heavens, that they sow not, nor reap, nor gather into barns, and your heavenly Father nourisheth them. Are ye not more excellent than they?
- 27 And which of you by anxiety can add to his stature one cubit?

- 28 And why are ye careful about clothing? Observe with attention the lilies of the field how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin;
- 29 but I say unto you, that not even Solomon in all his glory was clothed as one of these.
- 30 But if God so clothe the herbage of the field, which is to-day, and to-morrow is cast into [the] oven, will he not much rather you, O [ye] of little faith?
- 31 Be not therefore careful, saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or What shall we put on?
- 32 for all these things the nations seek after; for your heavenly Father knows that ye have need of all these things.
- 33 But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.
- 34 Be not careful therefore for the morrow, for the morrow shall be careful about itself. Sufficient to the day [is] its own evil.

MATTHEW 7 JND

- 1 Judge not, that ye may not be judged;
- 2 for with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you.
- 3 But why lookest thou on the mote that is in the eye of thy brother, but observest not the beam that is in thine eye?
- 4 Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Allow [me], I will cast out the mote from thine eye; and behold, the beam is in thine eye?
- 5 Hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine eye, and then thou wilt see clearly to cast out the mote out of the eye of thy brother.
- 6 Give not that which is holy to the dogs, nor cast your pearls before the swine, lest they trample them with their feet, and turning round rend you.
- 7 Ask, and it shall be given to you. Seek, and ye shall find. Knock, and it shall be opened to you.
- 8 For every one that asks receives; and he that seeks finds; and to him that knocks it shall be opened.
- 9 Or what man is there of you who, if his son shall ask of him a loaf of bread, will give him a stone;
- 10 and if he ask a fish, will give him a serpent?
- 11 If therefore ye, being wicked, know [how] to give good gifts to your children, how much rather shall your Father who is in the heavens give good things to them that ask of him?
- 12 Therefore all things whatever ye desire that men should do to you, thus do ye also do to them; for this is the law and the prophets.
- 13 Enter in through the narrow gate, for wide the gate and broad the way that leads to destruction, and many are they who enter in through it.
- 14 For narrow the gate and straitened the way that leads to life, and they are few who find it.
- 15 But beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but within are ravening wolves.

- 28 And why are ye anxious about raiment? Consider the lilies of the field how they grow: they toil not, nor yet spin;
- 29 yet I say to you, that not even Solomon in all his glory put on like one of these.
- 30 But if God doth so clothe the grass of the field, being to-day and tomorrow cast into the oven, how much more you, O ye of little faith?
- 31 Be not therefore anxious, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drink? or what shall we put on?
- 32 For all these things the Gentiles seek after; for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.

- 6 Give not the holy thing to the dogs, nor cast your pearls before the swine lest they trample them with their feet, and turn and rend you.
- 7 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you.
- 8 For every one that asketh receiveth, and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
- 9 Or what man is there of you, who, if his son shall ask of him for a loaf, will give him a stone;
- 10 and if he ask for a fish, will give him a serpent?
- 11 If therefore ye, being wicked, know to give good gifts to your children, how much rather shall your Father that is in the heavens give good things to those that ask him?
- 12 Therefore all things whatsoever ye desire that men should do to you, thus do ye also to them; for this is the law and the prophets.
- 13 Enter ye through the narrow gate; because wide [is] the gate, and broad the way that leadeth off unto destruction, and many are they that enter through it.
- 14 Because narrow [is] the gate, and straitened the way that leadeth off unto life, and few are they that find it.
- 15 But beware of false prophets, which come unto you in sheep's clothing but within are ravening wolves.

- 16 By their fruits ye shall know them. Do [men] gather a bunch of grapes from thorns, or from thistles figs?
- 17 So every good tree produces good fruits, but the worthless tree produces bad fruits.
- 18 A good tree cannot produce bad fruits, nor a worthless tree produce good fruits.
- 19 Every tree not producing good fruit is cut down and cast into the fire.
- 20 By their fruits then surely ye shall know them.
- 21 Not every one who says to me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens, but he that does the will of my Father who is in the heavens.
- 22 Many shall say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied through thy name, and through thy name cast out demons, and through thy name done many works of power?
- 23 and then will I avow unto them, I never knew you. Depart from me, workers of lawlessness.
- 24 Whoever therefore hears these my words and does them, I will liken him to a prudent man, who built his house upon the rock;
- 25 and the rain came down, and the streams came, and the winds blew and fell upon that house, and it did not fall, for it had been founded upon the rock.
- 26 And every one who hears these my words and does not do them, he shall be likened to a foolish man, who built his house upon the sand;
- 27 and the rain came down, and the streams came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house, and it fell, and its fall was great.
- 28 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these words, the crowds were astonished at his doctrine,
- 29 for he taught them as having authority, and not as their scribes.

MATTHEW 8 JND

- 1 And when he had come down from the mountain, great crowds followed him.
- 2 And behold, a leper came up to [him] and did him homage, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou art able to cleanse me.
- 3 And he stretched out his hand and touched him, saying, I will; be cleansed. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.
- 4 And Jesus says to him, See thou tell no man, but go, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift which Moses ordained, for a testimony to them.
- 5 And when he had entered into Capernaum, a centurion came to him,
- 6 beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lies paralytic in the house, suffering grievously.
- 7 And Jesus says to him, I will come and heal him.
- 8 And the centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not fit that thou shouldest enter under my roof; but only speak a word, and my servant shall be healed.

- 16 By their fruits ye shall them recognize. Do they gather from thorns a grape bunch or from thistles figs?
- 17 So every good tree produceth good fruits, but the worthless tree produceth bad fruits.
- 18 A good tree cannot produce bad fruits, nor a worthless tree produce good fruits.
- 19 Every tree that produceth not good fruit is cut down and cast into the fire.
- 20 Therefore at least by their fruits ye shall recognize them well.
- 21 Not every one that saith to me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens, but he that doeth the will of my Father that is in the heavens.
- 22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy by thy name, and by thy name cast out demons, and by thy name do many works of power?
- 23 And then will I avow to them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work lawlessness.
- 24 Whoever therefore heareth these my words and doeth them, I will liken him to a prudent man which built his house upon the rock;
- 25 and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and fell upon that house, and it fell not; for it had been founded upon the rock.
- 26 And every one that heareth these my words, and doeth them not, shall be likened to a foolish man which built his house upon the sand;
- 27 and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew and fell upon that house, and it fell, and its fall was great.
- 28 And it came to pass, when Jesus concluded these sayings, the crowds were astonished at his doctrine,
- 29 for he was teaching them as having authority, and not as their scribes.

- 9 For I also am a man under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say to this [one], Go, and he goes; and to another, Come, and he comes; and to my bondman, Do this, and he does it.
- 10 And when Jesus heard it, he wondered, and said to those who followed, Verily I say unto you, Not even in Israel have I found so great faith.
- 11 But I say unto you, that many shall come from [the] rising and setting [sun], and shall lie down at table with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of the heavens;
- 12 but the sons of the kingdom shall be cast out into the outer darkness: there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.
- 13 And Jesus said to the centurion, Go, and as thou hast believed, be it to thee. And his servant was healed in that hour.
- 14 And when Jesus had come to Peter's house, he saw his mother-in-law laid down and in a fever;
- 15 and he touched her hand, and the fever left her, and she arose and served him.
- 16 And when the evening was come, they brought to him many possessed by demons, and he cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all that were ill;
- 17 so that that should be fulfilled which was spoken through Esaias the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities and bore our diseases.
- 18 And Jesus, seeing great crowds around him, commanded to depart to the other side.
- 19 And a scribe came up and said to him, Teacher, I will follow thee whithersoever thou mayest go.
- 20 And Jesus says to him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven roosting-places; but the Son of man has not where he may lay his head.
- 21 But another of his disciples said to him, Lord, suffer me first to go away and bury my father.
- 22 But Jesus said to him, Follow me, and leave the dead to bury their own dead.
- 23 And he went on board ship and his disciples followed him;
- 24 and behold, [the water] became very agitated on the sea, so that the ship was covered by the waves; but he slept.
- 25 And the disciples came and awoke him, saying, Lord save: we perish.
- 26 And he says to them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then, having arisen, he rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm.
- 27 But the men were astonished, saying, What sort [of man] is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him?
- 28 And there met him, when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gergesenes, two possessed by demons, coming out of the tombs, exceeding dangerous, so that no one was able to pass by that way.
- 29 And behold, they cried out, saying, What have we to do with thee, Son of God? hast thou come here before the time to torment us?

- 30 Now there was, a great way off from them, a herd of many swine feeding;
- 31 and the demons besought him, saying, If thou cast us out, send us away into the herd of swine.
- 32 And he said to them, Go. And they, going out, departed into the herd of swine; and lo, the whole herd [of swine] rushed down the steep slope into the sea, and died in the waters.
- 33 But they that fed them fled, and went away into the city and related everything, and what had happened as to those possessed by demons.
- 34 And behold, the whole city went out to meet Jesus, and when they saw him, they begged [him] to go away out of their coasts.

MATTHEW 9 JND

- 1 And going on board the ship, he passed over and came to his own city.
- 2 And behold, they brought to him a paralytic, laid upon a bed; and Jesus, seeing their faith, said to the paralytic, Be of good courage, child; thy sins are forgiven.
- 3 And behold, certain of the scribes said to themselves, This [man] blasphemes.
- 4 And Jesus, seeing their hearts, said, Why do ye think evil things in your hearts?
- 5 For which is easier: to say, Thy sins are forgiven; or to say, Rise up and walk?
- 6 But that ye may know that the Son of man has power on earth to forgive sins, (then he says to the paralytic,) Rise up, take up thy bed and go to thy house.
- 7 And he rose up and went to his house.
- 8 But the crowds seeing [it], were in fear, and glorified God who gave such power to men.
- 9 And Jesus, passing on thence, saw a man sitting at the tax-office, called Matthew, and says to him, Follow me. And he rose up and followed him.
- 10 And it came to pass, as he lay at table in the house, that behold, many tax-gatherers and sinners came and lay at table with Jesus and his disciples.
- 11 And the Pharisees seeing [it], said to his disciples, Why does your teacher eat with tax-gatherers and sinners?
- 12 But [Jesus] hearing it, said, They that are strong have not need of a physician, but those that are ill.
- 13 But go and learn what [that] is — I will have mercy and not sacrifice; for I have not come to call righteous [men] but sinners.
- 14 Then come to him the disciples of John, saying, Why do we and the Pharisees often fast, but thy disciples fast not?
- 15 And Jesus said to them, Can the sons of the bridechamber mourn so long as the bridegroom is with them? But days will come when the bridegroom will have been taken away from them, and then they will fast.

- 16 But no one puts a patch of new cloth on an old garment, for its filling up takes from the garment and a worse rent takes place.
- 17 Nor do men put new wine into old skins, otherwise the skins burst and the wine is poured out, and the skins will be destroyed; but they put new wine into new skins, and both are preserved together.
- 18 As he spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler coming in did homage to him, saying, My daughter has by this died; but come and lay thy hand upon her and she shall live.
- 19 And Jesus rose up and followed him, and his disciples.
- 20 And behold, a woman, who had had a bloody flux [for] twelve years, came behind and touched the hem of his garment;
- 21 for she said within herself, If I should only touch his garment I shall be healed.
- 22 But Jesus turning and seeing her, said, Be of good courage, daughter; thy faith has healed thee. And the woman was healed from that hour.
- 23 And when Jesus was come to the house of the ruler, and saw the flute-players and the crowd making a tumult, he said,
- 24 Withdraw, for the damsel is not dead but sleeps. And they derided him.
- 25 But when the crowd had been put out, he went in and took her hand; and the damsel rose up.
- 26 And the fame of it went out into all that land.
- 27 And as Jesus passed on thence, two blind [men] followed him, crying and saying, Have mercy on us, Son of David.
- 28 And when he was come to the house, the blind [men] came to him. And Jesus says to them, Do ye believe that I am able to do this?
- 29 They say to him, Yea, Lord. Then he touched their eyes, saying, According to your faith, be it unto you.
- 30 And their eyes were opened; and Jesus charged them sharply, saying, See let no man know it.
- 31 But they, when they were gone out, spread his name abroad in all that land.
- 32 But as these were going out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man possessed by a demon.
- 33 And the demon having been cast out, the dumb spake. And the crowds were astonished, saying, It has never been seen thus in Israel.
- 34 But the Pharisees said, He casts out the demons through the prince of the demons.
- 35 And Jesus went round all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom, and healing every disease and every bodily weakness.
- 36 But when he saw the crowds he was moved with compassion for them, because they were harassed, and cast away as sheep not having a shepherd.

MATTHEW 10 JND

- 1 And having called to [him] his twelve disciples, he gave them power over unclean spirits, so that they should cast them out, and heal every disease and every bodily weakness.
2 Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, who was called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the [son] of Zebedee, and John his brother;
3 Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the tax-gatherer; James the [son] of Alphæus, and Lebbæus, who was surnamed Thaddæus;
4 Simon the Cananæan, and Judas the Iscariote, who also delivered him up.
5 These twelve Jesus sent out when he had charged them, saying, Go not off into [the] way of [the] nations, and into a city of Samaritans enter ye not;
6 but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.
7 And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of the heavens has drawn nigh.
8 Heal [the] infirm, [raise the dead], cleanse lepers, cast out demons: ye have received gratuitously, give gratuitously.
9 Do not provide yourselves with gold, or silver, or brass, for your belts,
10 nor scrip for the way, nor two body coats, nor sandals, nor a staff: for the workman is worthy of his nourishment.
11 But into whatsoever city or village ye enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and there remain till ye go forth.
12 And as ye enter into a house salute it.
13 And if the house indeed be worthy, let your peace come upon it; but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you.
14 And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, as ye go forth, out of that house or city, shake off the dust of your feet.
15 Verily I say unto you, It shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in judgment-day than for that city.
16 Behold, I send you as sheep in the midst of wolves; be therefore prudent as the serpents and guileless as the doves.
17 But beware of men; for they will deliver you up to sanhedrims, and scourge you in their synagogues;
18 and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony to them and to the nations.
19 But when they deliver you up, be not careful how or what ye shall speak; for it shall be given to you in that hour what ye shall speak.
20 For ye are not the speakers, but the Spirit of your Father which speaks in you.
21 But brother shall deliver up brother to death, and father child; and children shall rise up against parents and shall put them to death;

MATTHEW 10 WK

- 22 and ye shall be hated of all on account of my name. But he that has endured to [the] end, he shall be saved.
- 23 But when they persecute you in this city, flee to the other; for verily I say to you, Ye shall not have completed the cities of Israel until the Son of man be come.
- 24 The disciple is not above his teacher, nor the bondman above his lord.
- 25 [It is] sufficient for the disciple that he should become as his teacher, and the bondman as his lord. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more those of his household?
- 26 Fear them not therefore; for there is nothing covered which shall not be revealed, and secret which shall not be known.
- 27 What I say to you in darkness speak in the light, and what ye hear in the ear preach upon the houses.
- 28 And be not afraid of those who kill the body, but cannot kill the soul; but fear rather him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.
- 29 Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall to the ground without your Father;
- 30 but of you even the hairs of the head are all numbered.
- 31 Fear not therefore; ye are better than many sparrows.
- 32 Every one therefore who shall confess me before men, I also will confess him before my Father who is in [the] heavens.
- 33 But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father who is in [the] heavens.
- 34 Do not think that I have come to send peace upon the earth: I have not come to send peace, but a sword.
- 35 For I have come to set a man at variance with his father, and the daughter with her mother, and the daughter-in-law with her mother-in-law;
- 36 and they of his household [shall be] a man's enemies.
- 37 He who loves father or mother above me is not worthy of me; and he who loves son or daughter above me is not worthy of me.
- 38 And he who does not take up his cross and follow after me is not worthy of me.
- 39 He that finds his life shall lose it, and he who has lost his life for my sake shall find it.
- 40 He that receives you receives me, and he that receives me receives him that sent me.
- 41 He that receives a prophet in the name of a prophet, shall receive a prophet's reward; and he that receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man, shall receive a righteous man's reward.
- 42 And whosoever shall give to drink to one of these little ones a cup of cold [water] only, in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.

MATTHEW II JND

- 1 And it came to pass when Jesus had finished commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and preach in their cities.

MATTHEW II WK

Matthew

- 2 But John, having heard in the prison the works of the Christ, sent by his disciples,
3 and said to him, Art thou the coming [one]? or are we to wait for another?
4 And Jesus answering said to them, Go, report to John what ye hear and see.
5 Blind [men] see and lame walk; lepers are cleansed, and deaf hear; and dead are raised, and poor have glad tidings preached to them:
6 and blessed is whosoever shall not be offended in me.
7 But as they went [away], Jesus began to say to the crowds concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderness to see? a reed moved about by the wind?
8 But what went ye out to see? a man clothed in delicate raiment? behold, those who wear delicate things are in the houses of kings.
9 But what went ye out to see? a prophet? Yea, I say to you, and more than a prophet:
10 this is he of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, who shall prepare thy way before thee.
11 Verily I say to you, that there is not arisen among [the] born of women a greater than John the baptist. But he who is a little one in the kingdom of the heavens is greater than he.
12 But from the days of John the baptist until now, the kingdom of the heavens is taken by violence, and [the] violent seize on it.
13 For all the prophets and the law have prophesied unto John.
14 And if ye will receive it, this is Elias, who is to come.
15 He that has ears to hear, let him hear.
16 But to whom shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the markets, which, calling to their companions, say,
17 We have piped to you, and ye have not danced: we have mourned to you, and ye have not wailed.
18 For John has come neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He has a demon.
19 The Son of man has come eating and drinking, and they say, Behold, a man [that is] eating and wine-drinking, a friend of tax-gatherers, and of sinners: — and wisdom has been justified by her children.
20 Then began he to reproach the cities in which most of his works of power had taken place, because they had not repented.
21 Woe to thee, Chorazin! woe to thee Bethsaida! for if the works of power which have taken place in you, had taken place in Tyre and Sidon, they had long ago repented in sackcloth and ashes.
22 But I say to you, that it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in judgment-day than for you.
23 And thou, Capernaum, who hast been raised up to heaven, shalt be brought down even to hades. For if the works of power which have taken place in thee, had taken place in Sodom, it had remained until this day.

- 24 But I say to you, that it shall be more tolerable for [the] land of Sodom in judgment-day than for thee.
- 25 At that time, Jesus answering said, I praise thee, Father, Lord of the heaven and of the earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to babes.
- 26 Yea, Father, for thus has it been well-pleasing in thy sight.
- 27 All things have been delivered to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son but the Father, nor does any one know the Father, but the Son, and he to whom the Son may be pleased to reveal [him].
- 28 Come to me, all ye who labour and are burdened, and I will give you rest.
- 29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest to your souls;
- 30 for my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.

MATTHEW 12 JND

- 1 At that time Jesus went on the sabbath through the cornfields; and his disciples were hungry, and began to pluck the ears and to eat.
- 2 But the Pharisees, seeing [it], said to him, Behold, thy disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on sabbath.
- 3 But he said to them, Have ye not read what David did when he was hungry, and they that were with him?
- 4 How he entered into the house of God, and ate the shewbread, which it was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those with him, but for the priests only?
- 5 Or have ye not read in the law that on the sabbaths the priests in the temple profane the sabbath, and are blameless?
- 6 But I say unto you, that there is here what is greater than the temple.
- 7 But if ye had known what is: I will [have] mercy and not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltless.
- 8 For the Son of man is Lord of the sabbath.
- 9 And, going away from thence, he came into their synagogue.
- 10 And behold, there was a man having his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath? that they might accuse him.
- 11 But he said to them, What man shall there be of you who has one sheep, and if this fall into a pit on the sabbath, will not lay hold of it and raise [it] up?
- 12 How much better then is a man that a sheep! So that it is lawful to do well on the sabbath.
- 13 Then he says to the man, Stretch out thy hand. And he stretched [it] out, and it was restored sound as the other.
- 14 But the Pharisees, having gone out, took counsel against him how they might destroy him.
- 15 But Jesus knowing [it], withdrew thence, and great crowds followed him; and he healed them all:
- 16 and charged them strictly that they should not make him publicly known:

MATTHEW 12 WK

- 9 And when departed thence he went into their synagogue;
- 10 and, behold, a man having a withered hand. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath? that they might accuse him.
- 11 And he said to them, What man of you shall there be who shall have one sheep; and if this fall into a pit on the sabbath, will he not lay hold and raise it up?
- 12 How much then doth a man exceed a sheep! Wherefore it is lawful on the sabbath to do well.
- 13 Then he saith to the man, Stretch out thy hand, and he stretched it out; and it was restored sound as the other.
- 14 But the Pharisees went out and took counsel against him, how they might destroy him.

- 17 that that might be fulfilled which was spoken through Esaias the prophet, saying,
- 18 Behold my servant, whom I have chosen, my beloved, in whom my soul has found its delight. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he shall shew forth judgment to the nations.
- 19 He shall not strive or cry out, nor shall any one hear his voice in the streets;
- 20 a bruised reed shall he not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench, until he bring forth judgment unto victory;
- 21 and on his name shall [the] nations hope.
- 22 Then was brought to him one possessed by a demon, blind and dumb, and he healed him, so that the dumb [man] spake and saw.
- 23 And all the crowds were amazed and said, Is this [man] the Son of David?
- 24 But the Pharisees, having heard [it], said, This [man] does not cast out demons, but by Beelzebub, prince of demons.
- 25 But he, knowing their thoughts, said to them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not subsist.
- 26 And if Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself; how then shall his kingdom subsist?
- 27 And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, your sons, by whom do they cast [them] out? For this reason they shall be your judges.
- 28 But if I by [the] Spirit of God cast out demons, then indeed the kingdom of God is come upon you.
- 29 Or how can any one enter into the house of the strong [man] and plunder his goods, unless first he bind the strong [man]? and then he will plunder his house.
- 30 He that is not with me is against me, and he that gathers not with me scatters.
- 31 For this reason I say unto you, Every sin and injurious speaking shall be forgiven to men, but speaking injuriously of the Spirit shall not be forgiven to men.
- 32 And whosoever shall have spoken a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him; but whosoever shall speak against the Holy Spirit, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this age nor in the coming [one].
- 33 Either make the tree good, and its fruit good; or make the tree corrupt, and its fruit corrupt. For from the fruit the tree is known.
- 34 Offspring of vipers! how can ye speak good things, being wicked? For of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.
- 35 The good man out of the good treasure brings forth good things; and the wicked man out of the wicked treasure brings forth wicked things.
- 36 But I say unto you, that every idle word which men shall say, they shall render an account of it in judgment-day:
- 37 for by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.
- 38 Then answered him some of the scribes and Pharisees, saying, Teacher, we desire to see a sign from thee.
- 22 Then was brought to him a demoniac blind and dumb; and he healed him, so that the blind [man] spoke and saw.
- 23 And all the crowds were amazed and said, Is this the Son of David?
- 24 But when the Pharisees heard, they said, This [man] doth not cast out the demons but by Beelzebub, prince of the demons.
- 25 And knowing their thoughts he said to them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand.
- 26 And if Satan casteth out Satan, he is divided against himself: how then shall his kingdom stand.
- 27 And if I by Beelzebub cast out the demons, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges.
- 28 But if by God's Spirit I cast out the demons, then hath come upon you the kingdom of God.
- 29 Or how can one enter into the house of the strong [man], and plunder his goods, unless first he bind the strong [man], and then he will plunder his house.

- 39 But he, answering, said to them, A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and a sign shall not be given to it save the sign of Jonas the prophet.
- 40 For even as Jonas was in the belly of the great fish three days and three nights, thus shall the Son of man be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights.
- 41 Ninevites shall stand up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and behold, more than Jonas [is] here.
- 42 A queen of [the] south shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it; for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and behold, more than Solomon [is] here.
- 43 But when the unclean spirit has gone out of the man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and does not find [it].
- 44 Then he says, I will return to my house whence I came out; and having come, he finds [it] unoccupied, swept, and adorned.
- 45 Then he goes and takes with himself seven other spirits worse than himself, and entering in, they dwell there; and the last condition of that man becomes worse than the first. Thus shall it be to this wicked generation also.
- 46 But while he was yet speaking to the crowds, behold, his mother and his brethren stood without seeking to speak to him.
- 47 Then one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren are standing without, seeking to speak to thee.
- 48 But he answering said to him that spoke to him, Who is my mother, and who are my brethren?
- 49 And, stretching out his hand to his disciples, he said, Behold my mother and my brethren;

MATTHEW 13 JND

- 1 And that [same] day Jesus went out from the house and sat down by the sea.
- 2 And great crowds were gathered together to him, so that going on board ship himself he sat down, and the whole crowd stood on the shore.
- 3 And he spoke to them many things in parables, saying, Behold, the sower went out to sow:
- 4 and as he sowed, some [grains] fell along the way, and the birds came and devoured them;
- 5 and others fell upon the rocky places where they had not much earth, and immediately they sprang up out of [the ground] because of not having [any] depth of earth,
- 6 but when the sun rose they were burned up, and because of not having [any] root were dried up;
- 7 and others fell upon the thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked them;
- 8 and others fell upon the good ground, and produced fruit, one a hundred, one sixty, and one thirty.

Matthew

- 10 And the disciples came up and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?
- 11 And he answering said to them, Because to you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of the heavens, but to them it is not given;
- 12 for whoever has, to him shall be given, and he shall be caused to be in abundance; but he who has not, even what he has shall be taken away from him.
- 13 For this cause I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear nor understand;
- 14 and in them is filled up the prophecy of Esaias, which says, Hearing ye shall hear and shall not understand, and beholding ye shall behold and not see;
- 15 for the heart of this people has grown fat, and they have heard heavily with their ears, and they have closed their eyes as asleep, lest they should see with the eyes, and hear with the ears, and understand with the heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.
- 16 But blessed are your eyes because they see, and your ears because they hear;
- 17 for verily I say unto you, that many prophets and righteous [men] have desired to see the things which ye behold and did not see [them], and to hear the things which ye hear and did not hear [them].
- 18 Ye, therefore, hear the parable of the sower.
- 19 From every one who hears the word of the kingdom and does not understand [it], the wicked one comes and catches away what was sown in his heart: this is he that is sown by the wayside.
- 20 But he that is sown on the rocky places — this is he who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy,
- 21 but has no root in himself, but is for a time only; and when tribulation or persecution happens on account of the word, he is immediately offended.
- 22 And he that is sown among the thorns — this is he who hears the word, and the anxious care of this life and the deceit of riches choke the word and he becomes unfruitful.
- 23 But he that is sown upon the good ground — this is he who hears and understands the word, who bears fruit also, and produces, one a hundred, one sixty, and one thirty.
- 24 Another parable set he before them, saying, The kingdom of the heavens has become like a man sowing good seed in his field;
- 25 but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed darnel amongst the wheat, and went away.
- 26 But when the blade shot up and produced fruit, then appeared the darnel also.
- 27 And the bondmen of the householder came up and said to him, Sir, hast thou not sown good seed in thy field? whence then has it darnel?
- 28 And he said to them, A man [that is] an enemy has done this. And the bondmen said to him, Wilt thou then that we should go and gather it [up]?

24 likened

29 But he said, No; lest [in] gathering the darnel ye should root up the wheat with it.

30 Suffer both to grow together unto the harvest, and in time of the harvest I will say to the harvestmen, Gather first the darnel, and bind it into bundles to burn it; but the wheat bring together into my granary.

31 Another parable set he before them, saying, The kingdom of the heavens is like a grain of mustard [seed] which a man took and sowed in his field, 32 which is less indeed than all seeds, but when it is grown is greater than herbs, and becomes a tree, so that the birds of heaven come and roost in its branches.

33 He spoke another parable to them: The kingdom of the heavens is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal until it had been all leavened.

34 All these things Jesus spoke to the crowds in parables, and without a parable he did not speak to them,

35 so that that should be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things hidden from [the] world's foundation.

36 Then, having dismissed the crowds, he went into the house; and his disciples came to him, saying, Expound to us the parable of the darnel of the field.

37 But he answering said, He that sows the good seed is the Son of man,

38 and the field is the world; and the good seed, these are the sons of the kingdom, but the darnel are the sons of the evil [one];

39 and the enemy who has sowed it is the devil; and the harvest is [the] completion of [the] age, and the harvestmen are angels.

40 As then the darnel is gathered and is burned in the fire, thus it shall be in the completion of the age.

41 The Son of man shall send his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all offences, and those that practise lawlessness;

42 and they shall cast them into the furnace of fire; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.

43 Then the righteous shall shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He that has ears, let him hear.

44 The kingdom of the heavens is like a treasure hid in the field, which a man having found has hid, and for the joy of it goes and sells all whatever he has, and buys that field.

45 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls;

46 and having found one pearl of great value, he went and sold all whatever he had and bought it.

47 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a seine which has been cast into the sea, and which has gathered together of every kind,

48 which, when it has been filled, having drawn up on the shore and sat down, they gathered the good into vessels and cast the worthless out.

44 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a treasure hidden in the field, which a man found and hid, and for the joy of it goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth the field.

45 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a man of merchandise seeking goodly pearls;

46 and having found one pearl of great value, he went and sold all whatever he had and bought it.

47 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a dragnet cast into the sea and having brought together of every sort;

48 which, when it was filled, they drew up on the beach, and, sitting down, gathered the good into the vessels and cast the worthless out.

Matthew

- 49 Thus shall it be in the completion of the age: the angels shall go forth and sever the wicked from the midst of the just,
- 50 and shall cast them into the furnace of fire; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.
- 51 Jesus says to them, Have ye understood all these things? They say to him, Yea, [Lord].
- 52 And he said to them, For this reason every scribe disciplined to the kingdom of the heavens is like a man [that is] a householder who brings out of his treasure things new and old.
- 53 And it came to pass when Jesus had finished these parables he withdrew thence.
- 54 And having come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished, and said, Whence has this [man] this wisdom and these works of power?
- 55 Is not this the son of the carpenter? Is not his mother called Mary, and his brethren James, and Joseph, and Simon, and Judas?
- 56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then has this [man] all these things?
- 57 And they were offended in him. And Jesus said to them, A prophet is not without honour, unless in his country and in his house.
- 58 And he did not there many works of power, because of their unbelief.

MATTHEW 14 JND

- 1 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus,
- 2 and said to his servants, This is John the baptist: he is risen from the dead, and because of this these works of power display their force in him.
- 3 For Herod had seized John, and had bound him and put him in prison on account of Herodias the wife of Philip his brother.
- 4 For John said to him, It is not lawful for thee to have her.
- 5 And [while] desiring to kill him, he feared the crowd, because they held him for a prophet.
- 6 But when Herod's birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased Herod;
- 7 whereupon he promised with oath to give her whatsoever she should ask.
- 8 But she, being set on by her mother, says, Give me here upon a dish the head of John the baptist.
- 9 And the king was grieved; but on account of the oaths, and those lying at table with [him], he commanded [it] to be given.
- 10 And he sent and beheaded John in the prison;
- 11 and his head was brought upon a dish, and was given to the damsel, and she carried [it] to her mother.
- 12 And his disciples came and took the body and buried it, and came and brought word to Jesus.

- 49 Thus shall it be in the consummation of the age: the angels shall come forth and sever the wicked from amidst the righteous,
- 50 and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be the weeping, and the gnashing of teeth.

MATTHEW 14 WK

5 held

13 And Jesus, having heard it, went away thence by ship to a desert place apart.

And the crowds having heard [of it] followed him on foot from the cities.

14 And going out he saw a great crowd, and was moved with compassion about them, and healed their infirm.

15 But when even was come, his disciples came to him saying, The place is desert, and [much of] the [day] time already gone by; dismiss the crowds, that they may go into the villages and buy food for themselves.

16 But Jesus said to them, They have no need to go: give ye them to eat.

17 But they say to him, We have not here save five loaves and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them here to me.

19 And having commanded the crowds to recline upon the grass, having taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to heaven, and blessed: and having broken the loaves, he gave [them] to the disciples, and the disciples [gave them] to the crowds.

20 And all ate and were filled, and they took up what was over and above of fragments twelve hand-baskets full.

21 But those that had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

22 And immediately he compelled the disciples to go on board ship, and to go on before him to the other side, until he should have dismissed the crowds.

23 And having dismissed the crowds, he went up into the mountain apart to pray. And when even was come, he was alone there, 24 but the ship was already in the middle of the sea tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

25 But in the fourth watch of the night he went off to them, walking on the sea.

26 And the disciples, seeing him walking on the sea, were troubled, saying, It is an apparition. And they cried out through fear.

27 But Jesus immediately spoke to them, saying, Take courage; it is I: be not afraid.

28 And Peter answering him said, Lord, if it be thou, command me to come to thee upon the waters.

29 And he said, Come. And Peter, having descended from the ship, walked upon the waters to go to Jesus.

30 But seeing the wind strong he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, Lord, save me.

31 And immediately Jesus stretched out his hand and caught hold of him, and says to him, O thou of little faith, why didst thou doubt?

32 And when they had gone up into the ship, the wind fell.

33 But those in the ship came and did homage to him, saying, Truly thou art God's Son.

34 And having crossed over they came to the land of Gennesaret.

20 And they all ate and were filled; and they took up what was over of the fragments, twelve baskets full.

21 And the eaters were about five thousand, apart from women and children.

23 And having dismissed the crowds, he went up into the mountain apart to pray: and when even was come, he was there alone.

24 But the ship [or boat] was already in the midst of the sea, tossed by the waves for the wind was contrary.

29 And he said, Come; and Peter, going down from the ship, walked on the water to come unto Jesus.

MATTHEW 15 JND

- 1 Then the scribes and Pharisees from Jerusalem come up to Jesus, saying,
2 Why do thy disciples transgress what has been delivered by the ancients? for they do not wash their hands when they eat bread.
3 But he answering said to them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God on account of your traditional teaching?
4 For God commanded saying, Honour father and mother; and, He that speaks ill of father or mother, let him die the death.
5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father or mother, It is a gift, whatsoever [it be] by which [received] from me thou wouldest be profited:
6 and he shall in no wise honour his father or his mother; and ye have made void the commandment of God on account of your traditional teaching.
7 Hypocrites! well has Esaias prophesied about you, saying,
8 This people honour me with the lips, but their heart is far away from me;
9 but in vain do they worship me, teaching [as] teachings commandments of men.
10 And having called to [him] the crowd, he said to them, Hear and understand:
11 Not what enters into the mouth defiles the man; but what goes forth out of the mouth, this defiles the man.
12 Then his disciples, coming up, said to him, Dost thou know that the Pharisees, having heard this word, have been offended?
13 But he answering said, Every plant which my heavenly Father has not planted shall be rooted up.
14 Leave them alone; they are blind leaders of blind: but if blind lead blind, both will fall into a ditch.
15 And Peter answering said to him, Expound to us this parable.
16 But he said, Are ye also still without intelligence?
17 Do ye not yet apprehend, that everything that enters into the mouth finds its way into the belly, and is cast forth into the draught?
18 but the things which go forth out of the mouth come out of the heart, and those defile man.
19 For out of the heart come forth evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witnessings, blasphemies;
20 these are the things which defile man; but the eating with unwashen hands does not defile man.

- 25 For whosoever shall desire to save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it.

- 2 And he was transfigured before them. And his face shone as the sun, and his garments became white as the light;
- 3 and lo, Moses and Elias appeared to them talking with him.

- 24 And when they came to Capernaum, those who received the didrachmas came to Peter and said, Does your teacher not pay the didrachmas?
- 25 He says, Yes. And when he came into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, What dost thou think, Simon? the kings of the earth, from whom do they receive custom or tribute? from their own sons or from strangers?
- 26 Peter says to him, From strangers. Jesus said to him, Then are the sons free.
- 27 But that we may not be an offence to them, go to the sea and cast a hook, and take the first fish that comes up, and when thou hast opened its mouth thou wilt find a stater; take that and give it to them for me and thee.

MATTHEW 18 WK

- 7 Woe to the world because of offences! For it must needs be that offences come; yet woe to that man by whom the offence comes!
- 8 And if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut it off and cast [it] from thee; it is good for thee to enter into life lame or maimed, [rather] than having two hands or two feet to be cast into eternal fire.
- 9 And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out and cast [it] from thee; it is good for thee to enter into life one-eyed, [rather] than having two eyes to be cast into the hell of fire.
- 10 See that ye do not despise one of these little ones; for I say unto you that their angels in [the] heavens continually behold the face of my Father who is in [the] heavens.
- 11 For the Son of man has come to save that which was lost.
- 12 What think ye? If a certain man should have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, does he not, leaving the ninety and nine on the mountains, go and seek the one that has gone astray?
- 13 And if it should come to pass that he finds it, verily I say unto you, he rejoices more because of it than because of the ninety and nine not gone astray.
- 14 So it is not the will of your Father who is in [the] heavens that one of these little ones should perish.
- 15 But if thy brother sin against thee, go, reprove him between thee and him alone. If he hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.
- 16 But if he do not hear [thee], take with thee one or two besides, that every matter may stand upon the word of two witnesses or of three.
- 17 But if he will not listen to them, tell it to the assembly; and if also he will not listen to the assembly, let him be to thee as one of the nations and a tax-gatherer.
- 18 Verily I say to you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on the earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on the earth shall be loosed in heaven.
- 19 Again I say to you, that if two of you shall agree on the earth concerning any matter, whatsoever it may be that they shall ask, it shall come to them from my Father who is in [the] heavens.
- 20 For where two or three are gathered together unto my name, there am I in the midst of them.
- 21 Then Peter came to him and said, Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me and I forgive him? until seven times?
- 22 Jesus says to him, I say not to thee until seven times, but until seventy times seven.
- 23 For this cause the kingdom of the heavens has become like a king who would reckon with his bondmen.
- 24 And having begun to reckon, one debtor of ten thousand talents was brought to him.
- 25 But he not having anything to pay, [his] lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and his children, and everything that he had, and that payment should be made.

- 23 For this the kingdom of the heavens is likened to a king who would make a reckoning with his bondmen.
- 24 And when he began to reckon, one debtor for ten thousand talents was brought to him.
- 25 But as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife and the children and all that he had, and payment to be made.
- 26 The bondman then falling down did him homage, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay all.

Matthew

- 27 And the lord of that bondman, being moved with compassion, loosed him and forgave him the loan.
- 28 But that bondman having gone out, found one of his fellow-bondmen who owed him a hundred denarii. And having seized him, he throttled him, saying, Pay [me] if thou owest anything.
- 29 His fellow-bondman therefore, having fallen down [at his feet], besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee.
- 30 But he would not, but went away and cast him into prison, until he should pay what was owing.
- 31 But his fellow-bondmen, having seen what had taken place, were greatly grieved, and went and recounted to their lord all that had taken place.
- 32 Then his lord, having called him to [him], says to him, Wicked bondman! I forgave thee all that debt because thou besoughtest me;
- 33 shouldst not thou also have had compassion on thy fellow-bondman, as I also had compassion on thee?
- 34 And his lord being angry delivered him to the tormentors till he paid all that was owing to him.
- 35 Thus also my heavenly Father shall do to you if ye forgive not from your hearts every one his brother.

MATTHEW 19 JND

- 1 And it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these words, he withdrew from Galilee, and came to the coasts of Judæa beyond the Jordan;
- 2 and great crowds followed him, and he healed them there.
- 3 And the Pharisees came to him tempting him, and saying, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?
- 4 But he answering said [to them], Have ye not read that he who made [them], from the beginning made them male and female,
- 5 and said, On account of this a man shall leave father and mother, and shall be united to his wife, and the two shall be one flesh;
- 6 so that they are no longer two, but one flesh? What therefore God has joined together, let not man separate.
- 7 They say to him, Why then did Moses command to give a letter of divorce and to send [her] away?
- 8 He says to them, Moses, in view of your hardheartedness, allowed you to put away your wives; but from the beginning it was not thus.
- 9 But I say unto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, not for fornication, and shall marry another, commits adultery; and he who marries one put away commits adultery.
- 10 His disciples say to him, If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry.
- 11 And he said to them, All cannot receive this word, but those to whom it has been given;
- 12 for there are eunuchs which have been born thus from [their] mother's womb; and there are eunuchs who have

- 27 And the lord of the bondman, moved with compassion, released him and forgave him the debt.
- 28 But that bondman, on going out, found one of his fellow-bondmen who owed him a hundred denarii, and having laid hold he was grasping his throat, saying, Pay what thou owest.
- 29 His fellow-bondman then, falling at his feet, besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee.
- 30 And he would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay what was owing.
- 31 But his fellow-bondmen, having seen what was being done, were greatly grieved, and went and fully explained to their lord all that was done.
- 32 Then his lord, having summoned him, saith to him, Wicked bondman, all that debt I forgave thee, since thou didst beseech me:
- 33 oughtedst not thou also to have pitied thy fellow-bondman, as I also pitied thee?
- 34 And his lord, in wrath, delivered him to the tormentors till he should pay all that was owing to him.
- 35 Thus also shall my heavenly Father do to you, if ye forgive not from your hearts each his brother.

MATTHEW 19 WK

- 4 And He answered and said, Have ye not read that He that made from the beginning made them male and female,
- 5 and said, For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be united to his wife; and the two shall become one flesh?
- 6 So that they are no more two, but one flesh. What therefore God joined together, let not man put asunder.
- 7 They say to Him, Why then did Moses command to give a bill of divorce and to put away?
- 8 He saith to them, Moses for your hardness of heart allowed you to put away your wives; but from the beginning it hath not been thus.
- 9 But I say to you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, not for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery, and he that marrieth one put away committeth adultery.

been made eunuchs of men; and there are eunuchs who have made eunuchs of themselves for the sake of the kingdom of the heavens. He that is able to receive [it], let him receive [it].

13 Then there were brought to him little children that he might lay his hands on them and pray; but the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said, Suffer little children, and do not hinder them from coming to me; for the kingdom of the heavens is of such:

15 and having laid his hands upon them, he departed thence.

16 And lo, one coming up said to him, Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have life eternal?

17 And he said to him, What askest thou me concerning goodness? one is good. But if thou wouldest enter into life, keep the commandments.

18 He says to him, Which? And Jesus said, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, 19 Honour thy father and thy mother, and Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

20 The young man says to him, All these have I kept; what lack I yet?

21 Jesus said to him, If thou wouldest be perfect, go, sell what thou hast and give to [the] poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.

22 But the young man, having heard the word, went away grieved, for he had large possessions.

23 And Jesus said to his disciples, Verily I say unto you, A rich man shall with difficulty enter into the kingdom of the heavens;

24 and again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to enter a needle's eye than a rich man into the kingdom of God.

25 And when the disciples heard [it] they were exceedingly astonished, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 But Jesus, looking on [them], said to them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible.

27 Then Peter answering said to him, Behold, we have left all things and have followed thee; what then shall happen to us?

28 And Jesus said to them, Verily I say unto you, That ye who have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit down upon his throne of glory, ye also shall sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

29 And every one who has left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and shall inherit life eternal.

30 But many first shall be last, and last first.

MATTHEW 20 WK

1 For the kingdom of the heavens is like a householder which went out early in the morning to hire labourers for his vineyard;

Matthew

- 2 And having agreed with the workmen for a denarius the day, he sent them into his vineyard.
- 3 And having gone out about [the] third hour, he saw others standing in the market-place idle;
- 4 and to them he said, Go also ye into the vineyard, and whatsoever may be just I will give you. And they went their way.
- 5 Again, having gone out about the sixth and ninth hour, he did likewise.
- 6 But about the eleventh [hour], having gone out, he found others standing, and says to them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?
- 7 They say to him, Because no man has hired us. He says to them, Go also ye into the vineyard [and whatsoever may be just ye shall receive].
- 8 But when the evening was come, the lord of the vineyard says to his steward, Call the workmen and pay [them] their wages, beginning from the last even to the first.
- 9 And when they [who came to work] about the eleventh hour came, they received each a denarius.
- 10 And when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more, and they received also themselves each a denarius.
- 11 And on receiving it they murmured against the master of the house, saying,
- 12 These last have worked one hour, and thou hast made them equal to us who have borne the burden of the day and the heat.
- 13 But he answering said to one of them, [My] friend, I do not wrong thee. Didst thou not agree with me for a denarius?
- 14 Take what is thine and go. But it is my will to give to this last even as to thee:
- 15 is it not lawful for me to do what I will in my own affairs? Is thine eye evil because I am good?
- 16 Thus shall the last be first, and the first last; for many are called ones, but few chosen ones.
- 17 And Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples with [him] apart in the way, and said to them,
- 18 Behold we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man will be delivered up to the chief priests and scribes, and they will condemn him to death;
- 19 and they will deliver him up to the nations to mock and to scourge and to crucify, and the third day he shall rise again.
- 20 Then came to him the mother of the sons of Zebedee, with her sons, doing homage, and asking something of him.
- 21 And he said to her, What wilt thou? She says to him, Speak [the word] that these my two sons may sit, one on thy right hand and one on thy left in thy kingdom.
- 22 And Jesus answering said, Ye know not what ye ask. Can ye drink the cup which I am about to drink?
- 23 They say to him, We are able. [And] he says to them, Ye shall drink indeed my cup, but to sit on my right hand and on [my] left is not mine to give but to those for whom it is prepared of my Father.
- 2 and when he had agreed with the labourers for a denary the day, he sent them into his vineyard.
- 3 And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing in the marketplace idle;
- 4 and to them he said, Go ye also into the vineyard, and whatsoever is right I will give you. And they went their way.
- 5 Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise.
- 6 And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing; and he saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?
- 7 They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard.
- 8 And when even was come, the lord of the vineyard saith unto the steward, Call the labourers, and pay them their hire, beginning from the last unto the first.
- 9 And when they came that were hired about the eleventh hour, they received every man a denary.
- 10 And when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received every man a denary.
- 11 And when they received it, they murmured against the householder,
- 12 saying, These last have spent one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden of the day and the scorching heat.
- 13 But he answered and said to one of them, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst not thou agree with me for a denary?
- 14 Take up that [which is] thine, and go thy way; it is my will to give unto this last, even as unto thee.
- 15 Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? or is thine eye evil, because I am good?
- 16 So the last shall be first, and the first last. ^Λ

- 24 And the ten, having heard [of it], were indignant about the two brothers.
- 25 But Jesus having called them to [him], said, Ye know that the rulers of the nations exercise lordship over them, and the great exercise authority over them.
- 26 It shall not be thus amongst you, but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your servant;
- 27 and whosoever will be first among you, let him be your bondman;
- 28 as indeed the Son of man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many.
- 29 And as they went out from Jericho a great crowd followed him.
- 30 And lo, two blind men, sitting by the wayside, having heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out saying, Have mercy on us, Lord, Son of David.
- 31 But the crowd rebuked them, that they might be silent. But they cried out the more, saying, Have mercy on us, Lord, Son of David.
- 32 And Jesus, having stopped, called them and said, What will ye that I shall do to you?
- 33 They say to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.
- 34 And Jesus, moved with compassion, touched their eyes; and immediately their eyes had sight restored to them, and they followed him.

MATTHEW 21 JND

- 1 And when they drew near to Jerusalem and came to Bethphage, at the mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples,
- 2 saying to them, Go into the village over against you, and immediately ye will find an ass tied, and a colt with it; loose [them] and lead [them] to me.
- 3 And if any one say anything to you, ye shall say, The Lord has need of them, and straightway he will send them.
- 4 But all this came to pass, that that might be fulfilled which was spoken through the prophet, saying,
- 5 Say to the daughter of Zion, Behold thy king cometh to thee, meek, and mounted upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass.
- 6 But the disciples, having gone and done as Jesus had ordered them,
- 7 brought the ass and the colt and put their garments upon them, and he sat on them.
- 8 But a very great crowd strewed their own garments on the way, and others kept cutting down branches from the trees and strewing them on the way.
- 9 And the crowds who went before him and who followed cried, saying, Hosanna to the Son of David; blessed [be] he who comes in the name of [the] Lord; hosanna in the highest.
- 10 And as he entered into Jerusalem, the whole city was moved, saying, Who is this?
- 11 And the crowds said, This is Jesus the prophet who is from Nazareth of Galilee.

MATTHEW 21 WK

Matthew

- 12 And Jesus entered into the temple [of God], and cast out all that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers and the seats of those that sold the doves.
- 13 And he says to them, It is written, My house shall be called a house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of robbers.
- 14 And blind and lame came to him in the temple, and he healed them.
- 15 And when the chief priests and the scribes saw the wonders which he wrought, and the children crying in the temple and saying, Hosanna to the Son of David, they were indignant,
- 16 and said to him, Hearest thou what these say? And Jesus says to them, Yes; have ye never read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?
- 17 And leaving them he went forth out of the city to Bethany, and there he passed the night.
- 18 But early in the morning, as he came back into the city, he hungered.
- 19 And seeing one fig-tree in the way, he came to it and found on it nothing but leaves only. And he says to it, Let there be never more fruit of thee for ever. And the fig-tree was immediately dried up.
- 20 And when the disciples saw [it], they wondered, saying, How immediately is the fig-tree dried up!
- 21 And Jesus answering said to them, Verily I say unto you, If ye have faith, and do not doubt, not only shall ye do what [is done] to the fig-tree, but even if ye should say to this mountain, Be thou taken away and be thou cast into the sea, it shall come to pass.
- 22 And all things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.
- 23 And when he came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came to him [as he was] teaching, saying, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?
- 24 And Jesus answering said to them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I also will tell you by what authority I do these things:
- 25 The baptism of John, whence was it? of heaven or of men? And they reasoned among themselves saying, If we should say, Of heaven, he will say to us, Why then have ye not believed him?
- 26 but if we should say, Of men, we fear the crowd, for all hold John for a prophet.
- 27 And answering Jesus they said, We do not know. He also said to them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.
- 28 But what think ye? A man had two children, and coming to the first he said, Child, go to-day, work in [my] vineyard.
- 29 And he answering said, I will not; but afterwards repenting himself he went.
- 30 And coming to the second he said likewise; and he answering said, I [go], sir, and went not.
- 28 But what think ye? A man had two children; and he came to the first and said, Child, go work to-day in the vineyard.
- 29 And he answered and said, I will not; but afterward he regretted and went.
- 30 And he came to the second, and said likewise; and he answered and said, I [go], sir, and went not.

- 31 Which of the two did the will of the father? They say [to him], The first. Jesus says to them, Verily I say unto you that the tax-gatherers and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you.
- 32 For John came to you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the tax-gatherers and the harlots believed him; but ye when ye saw [it] repented not yourselves afterwards to believe him.
- 33 Hear another parable: There was a householder who planted a vineyard, and made a fence round it, and dug a winepress in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and left the country.
- 34 But when the time of fruit drew near, he sent his bondmen to the husbandmen to receive his fruits.
- 35 And the husbandmen took his bondmen, and beat one, killed another, and stoned another.
- 36 Again he sent other bondmen more than the first, and they did to them in like manner.
- 37 And at last he sent to them his son, saying, They will have respect for my son.
- 38 But the husbandmen, seeing the son, said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him and possess his inheritance.
- 39 And they took him, and cast him forth out of the vineyard, and killed him.
- 40 When therefore the lord of the vineyard comes, what shall he do to those husbandmen?
- 41 They say to him, He will miserably destroy those evil [men], and let out the vineyard to other husbandmen, who shall render him the fruits in their seasons.
- 42 Jesus says to them, Have ye never read in the scriptures, The stone which they that builded rejected, this has become the cornerstone: this is of [the] Lord, and it is wonderful in our eyes?
- 43 Therefore I say to you, that the kingdom of God shall be taken from you and shall be given to a nation producing the fruits of it.
- 44 And he that falls on this stone shall be broken, but on whomsoever it shall fall, it shall grind him to powder.
- 45 And the chief priests and the Pharisees, having heard his parables, knew that he spoke about them.
- 46 And seeking to lay hold of him, they were afraid of the crowds, because they held him for a prophet.

MATTHEW 22 JND

- 1 And Jesus answering spoke to them again in parables, saying,
- 2 The kingdom of the heavens has become like a king who made a wedding feast for his son,
- 3 and sent his bondmen to call the persons invited to the wedding feast, and they would not come.
- 4 Again he sent other bondmen, saying, Say to the persons invited, Behold, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and my fatted beasts are killed, and all things ready; come to the wedding feast.

- 31 Which of the two did the will of the father? They say, The first. Jesus saith unto them, Verily I say to you, that the tax gatherers and the harlots go before you into the kingdom of God.
- 32 For John came in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the tax-gatherers and the harlots believed him. And ye, when ye saw, regretted not afterward to believe him.
- 33 Hear another parable: There was a householder who planted a vineyard, and made a fence round it, and dug a winepress in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and left the country.
- 34 But when the season of the fruits drew near, he sent his bondmen to the husbandmen to receive his fruits.
- 35 And the husbandmen took his bondmen, and beat one and killed another and stoned another.
- 36 Again he sent other bondmen more than the first, and they did to them likewise.
- 37 And afterward he sent to them his son, saying, They will feel respect for my son.
- 38 But the husbandmen, when they saw the son, said among themselves, This is the heir: come, let us kill him, and get his inheritance.
- 39 And they took and cast him forth out of the vineyard and killed [him].
- 40 When therefore the lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he do to these husbandmen?
- 41 They say to him, He will wretchedly destroy those wretches, and let out the vineyard to other husbandmen who shall render him the fruits in their season.
- 42 . . . Did ye never read in the scriptures, The stone which the builders rejected, this was made the corner-stone: of Jehovah this is, and it is marvelous in our eyes.
- 43 Therefore I say to you that the kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits of it.
- 44 And he that falleth on this stone shall be broken; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will scatter him as dust.

MATTHEW 22 WK

- 2 The kingdom of the heavens is likened to a king which made a marriage-feast for his son,
- 3 and sent forth his bondmen to call those who had been called to the marriage-feast; and they would not come.
- 4 Again he sent forth other bondmen, saying, Tell those that have been called, Behold, my dinner I have made ready: mine oxen and my fatlings are slaughtered; and all things [are] ready: come to the marriage-feast.

Matthew

5 But they made light of it, and went, one to his own land, and another to his commerce.
6 And the rest, laying hold of his bondmen, ill-treated and slew [them].
7 And [when] the king [heard of it he] was wroth, and having sent his forces, destroyed those murderers and burned their city.
8 Then he says to his bondmen, The wedding feast is ready, but those invited were not worthy;
9 go therefore into the thoroughfares of the highways, and as many as ye shall find invite to the wedding feast.
10 And those bondmen went out into the highways, and brought together all as many as they found, both evil and good; and the wedding feast was furnished with guests.
11 And the king, having gone in to see the guests, beheld there a man not clothed with a wedding garment.
12 And he says to him, [My] friend, how camest thou in here not having on a wedding garment? But he was speechless.
13 Then said the king to the servants, Bind him feet and hands, and take him away, and cast him out into the outer darkness: there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.
14 For many are called ones, but few chosen ones.
15 Then went the Pharisees and held a council how they might ensnare him in speaking.
16 And they send out to him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Teacher, we know that thou art true and teachest the way of God in truth, and carest not for any one, for thou regardest not men's person;
17 tell us therefore what thou thinkest: Is it lawful to give tribute to Cæsar or not?
18 But Jesus, knowing their wickedness, said, Why tempt ye me, hypocrites?
19 Shew me the money of the tribute. And they presented to him a denarius.
20 And he says to them, Whose [is] this image and superscription?
21 They say to him, Cæsar's. Then he says to them, Pay then what is Cæsar's to Cæsar, and what is God's to God.
22 And when they heard [him], they wondered, and left him, and went away.
23 On that day came to him Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection; and they demanded of him,
24 saying, Teacher, Moses said, If any one die, not having children, his brother shall marry his wife and shall raise up seed to his brother.
25 Now there were with us seven brethren; and the first having married died, and not having seed, left his wife to his brother.
26 In like manner also the second and the third, unto the seven.
27 And last of all the woman also died.
28 In the resurrection therefore of which of the seven shall she be wife, for all had her?

5 But they slighted [it] and went off, one to his own land, another to his traffic;
6 and the rest, seizing his bondmen, insulted and killed [them].
7 And the king was wroth and, sending his troops, destroyed those murderers and burned their city.
8 Then saith he to his bondmen, The marriage-feast is ready, but those that were called were not worthy.
9 Go therefore unto the outlets of the roads, and, as many as ye shall find, call to the marriage-feast.
10 And those bondmen went out to the roads, and gathered together all as many as they found, both wicked and good; and the marriage-feast was filled with guests.
11 And the king on coming in to behold the guests saw there a man not clothed with a marriage-garment;
12 and he saith unto him, Friend, how camest thou in here not having a marriage-garment? But he was speechless.
13 Then said the king to the servants, Bind his feet and hands, and take and cast him out into the outer darkness; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.
14 For many are called, but few chosen.

23 A

- 29 And Jesus answering said to them, Ye err, not knowing the scriptures nor the power of God.
- 30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as angels of God in heaven.
- 31 But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read what was spoken to you by God, saying,
- 32 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not God of [the] dead, but of [the] living.
- 33 And when the crowds heard [it] they were astonished at his doctrine.
- 34 But the Pharisees, having heard that he had put the Sadducees to silence, were gathered together.
- 35 And one of them, a lawyer, demanded, tempting him, and saying,
- 36 Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?
- 37 And he said to him, Thou shalt love [the] Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy understanding.
- 38 This is [the] great and first commandment.
- 39 And [the] second is like it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
- 40 On these two commandments the whole law and the prophets hang.
- 41 And the Pharisees being gathered together, Jesus demanded of them, saying,
- 42 What think ye concerning the Christ? whose son is he? They say to him, David's.
- 43 He says to them, How then does David in Spirit call him Lord, saying,
- 44 The Lord said to my Lord, Sit on my right hand until I put thine enemies under thy feet?
- 45 If therefore David call him Lord, how is he his son?
- 46 And no one was able to answer him a word, nor did any one dare from that day to question him any more.

MATTHEW 23 JND

- 5 And all their works they do to be seen of men: for they make broad their phylacteries and enlarge the borders [of their garments],

- 18 And, Whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing; but whosoever shall swear by the gift that is upon it is a debtor.
- 19 [Fools and] blind ones, for which is greater, the gift, or the altar which sanctifies the gift?
- 20 He therefore that swears by the altar swears by it and by all things that are upon it.
- 21 And he that swears by the temple swears by it and by him that dwells in it.
- 22 And he that swears by heaven swears by the throne of God and by him that sits upon it.
- 23 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye pay tithes of mint and anise and cummin, and ye have left aside the weightier matters of the law, judgment and mercy and faith: these ye ought to have done and not have left those aside.
- 24 Blind guides, who strain out the gnat, but drink down the camel.
- 25 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the dish, but within they are full of rapine and intemperance.
- 26 Blind Pharisee, make clean first the inside of the cup and of the dish, that their outside also may become clean.
- 27 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye are like whited sepulchres, which appear beautiful outwardly, but within are full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness.
- 28 Thus also ye, outwardly ye appear righteous to men, but within are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.
- 29 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, for ye build the sepulchres of the prophets and adorn the tombs of the just, and ye say,
- 30 If we had been in the days of our fathers we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.
- 31 So that ye bear witness of yourselves that ye are sons of those who slew the prophets:

- 32 and ye, fill ye up the measure of your fathers.
 33 Serpents, offspring of vipers, how should ye escape the judgment of hell?
 34 Therefore, behold, I send unto you prophets, and wise men, and scribes; and [some] of them ye will kill and crucify, and [some] of them ye will scourge in your synagogues, and will persecute from city to city;
 35 so that all righteous blood shed upon the earth should come upon you, from the blood of righteous Abel to the blood of Zacharias son of Barachias, whom ye slew between the temple and the altar.
 36 Verily I say unto you, All these things shall come upon this generation.
 37 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, [the city] that kills the prophets and stones those that are sent unto her, how often would I have gathered thy children as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!
 38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate;
 39 for I say unto you, Ye shall in no wise see me henceforth until ye say, Blessed [be] he that comes in the name of [the] Lord.

MATTHEW 24 JND

- 1 And Jesus went forth and went away from the temple, and his disciples came to [him] to point out to him the buildings of the temple.
 2 And he answering said to them, Do ye not see all these things? Verily I say to you, Not a stone shall be left here upon a stone which shall not be thrown down.
 3 And as he was sitting upon the mount of Olives the disciples came to him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be, and what is the sign of thy coming and [the] completion of the age?
 4 And Jesus answering said to them, See that no one mislead you.
 5 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am the Christ, and they shall mislead many.
 6 But ye will hear of wars and rumours of wars. See that ye be not disturbed; for all [these things] must take place, but it is not yet the end.
 7 For nation shall rise up against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; and there shall be famines and pestilences, and earthquakes in divers places.
 8 But all these [are the] beginning of throes.
 9 Then shall they deliver you up to tribulation, and shall kill you; and ye will be hated of all the nations for my name's sake.
 10 And then will many be offended, and will deliver one another up, and hate one another;
 11 and many false prophets shall arise and shall mislead many;
 12 and because lawlessness shall prevail, the love of the most shall grow cold;
 13 but he that has endured to the end, he shall be saved.

- 38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate;
 39 for I say unto you, Ye shall in no wise see me henceforth until ye say, Blessed [be] he that cometh in Jehovah's name.

MATTHEW 24 WK

- 1 And Jesus went out, and was going forth from the temple, and his disciples came to [him] to show him the buildings of the temple.
 2 But he answered and said to them, See ye not all these things? Verily I say to you, Not a stone shall be in anywise left here on a stone, which shall not be thrown down.
 3 And as he was sitting upon the mount of Olives, the disciples came to him privately, saying, Tell us when shall these things be? and what [is] the sign of thy coming, and of the completion of the age?
 4 And Jesus answering said to them, See that no one mislead you.
 5 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am the Christ, and they shall mislead many.
 6 And ye shall be about to hear of wars and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled; for they must come to pass, but the end is not yet.
 7 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; and there shall be famines and pestilences and earthquakes in places.
 8 But all these [are the] beginning of travails.
 9 Then shall they give you up to tribulation and shall kill you; and ye shall be hated by all the nations for my name's sake.
 10 And then shall many be stumbled, and give up one another, and hate one another:
 11 and many false prophets shall arise, and shall mislead many.
 12 And because lawlessness shall be multiplied, the love of the many shall grow cool.
 13 But he that endured to [the] end shall be saved.

14 And these glad tidings of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole habitable earth for a witness to all the nations, and then shall come the end.

15 When therefore ye shall see the abomination of desolation, which is spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in [what is a] holy place, (he that reads let him understand,) 16 then let those who are in Judæa flee to the mountains; 17 let not him that is on the house come down to take the things out of his house; 18 and let not him that is in the field turn back to take his garment.

19 But woe to those that are with child, and those that give suck in those days.

20 But pray that your flight may not be in winter time nor on sabbath:

21 for then shall there be great tribulation such as has not been from [the] beginning of [the] world, until now, nor ever shall be;

22 and if those days had not been cut short, no flesh had been saved; but on account of the elect those days shall be cut short.

23 Then if any one say to you, Behold, here is the Christ, or here, believe [it] not.

24 For there shall arise false Christs and false prophets, and shall give great signs and wonders so as to mislead, if possible, even the elect.

25 Behold, I have told you beforehand.

26 If therefore they say to you, Behold, he is in the desert, go not forth; behold, [he is] in the inner chambers, do not believe [it].

27 For as the lightning goes forth from the east and shines to the west, so shall be the coming of the Son of man.

28 [For] wherever the carcase is, there will be gathered the eagles.

29 But immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun shall be darkened, and the moon not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken.

30 And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven; and then shall all the tribes of the land lament, and they shall see the Son of man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

31 And he shall send his angels with a great sound of trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from [the one] extremity of [the] heavens to [the other] extremity of them.

32 But learn the parable from the fig-tree: When already its branch becomes tender and produces leaves, ye know that the summer is near.

33 Thus also ye, when ye see all these things, know that it is near, at the doors.

34 Verily I say to you, This generation will not have passed away until all these things shall have taken place.

14 And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole habitable [earth] for a witness to all the nations, and then shall the end come.

15 When therefore ye shall see the abomination of desolation that was spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in [the] holy place (let the reader understand), 16 then let those in Judæa flee unto the mountains; 17 let not him that is upon the house come down to take the things out of the house; 18 and let not him that is in the field return back to take his cloak.

19 But woe to those with child and to them that suckle in those days!

20 But pray that your flight be not in winter nor on sabbath.

21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as hath not been from world's beginning until now, no, nor ever shall be.

22 And except those days had been cut short, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be cut short.

23 Then if any one say to you, Behold, here [is] the Christ, or there, believe [him] not;

24 for there shall arise false Christs and false prophets, and shall give great signs and wonders, so as to mislead, if possible, even the elect.

25 Behold, I have told you before.

26 If therefore they say to you, Behold, [he is] in the desert, go not forth; Behold, [he is] in the inner chambers, believe not.

27 For as the lightning cometh forth from the east and appeareth unto the west, so shall be the coming of the Son of man.

28 Wherever the carcase is, there will the eagles be gathered.

29 But immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken.

30 And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven; and then shall all the tribes of the land mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

31 And he shall send his angels with great sound of trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from [one] end of heavens to the other.

32 Now learn the parable from the fig-tree. When its branch is now become tender, and putteth forth its leaves, ye know that the summer is nigh;

33 even so ye also, when ye see all these things, know that it [or, he] is near, at the doors.

34 Verily I say to you, This generation shall not pass away till all these things have come to pass.

- 35 The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall in no wise pass away.
- 36 But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of the heavens, but [my] Father alone.
- 37 But as the days of Noe, so also shall be the coming of the Son of man.
- 38 For as they were in the days which were before the flood, eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day on which Noe entered into the ark,
- 39 and they knew not till the flood came and took all away; thus also shall be the coming of the Son of man.
- 40 Then two shall be in the field, one is taken and one is left;
- 41 two [women] grinding at the mill, one is taken and one is left.
- 42 Watch therefore, for ye know not in what hour your Lord comes.
- 43 But know this, that if the master of the house had known in what watch the thief was coming, he would have watched and not have suffered his house to be dug through [into].
- 44 Wherefore ye also, be ye ready, for in that hour that ye think not the Son of man comes.
- 45 Who then is the faithful and prudent bondman whom his lord has set over his household, to give them food in season?
- 46 Blessed is that bondman whom his lord on coming shall find doing thus.
- 47 Verily I say unto you, that he will set him over all his substance.
- 48 But if that evil bondman should say in his heart,
- 49 My lord delays to come, and begin to beat his fellow-bondmen, and eat and drink with the drunken,
- 50 the lord of that bondman shall come in a day when he does not expect it, and in an hour he knows not of,
- 51 and shall cut him in two and appoint his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.

MATTHEW 25 JND

- 1 Then shall the kingdom of the heavens be made like to ten virgins that having taken their torches, went forth to meet the bridegroom.
- 2 And five of them were prudent and five foolish.
- 3 They that were foolish took their torches and did not take oil with them;
- 4 but the prudent took oil in their vessels with their torches.
- 5 Now the bridegroom tarrying, they all grew heavy and slept.
- 6 But in [the] middle of [the] night there was a cry, Behold, the bridegroom; go forth to meet him.
- 7 Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their torches.
- 8 And the foolish said to the prudent, Give us of your oil, for our torches are going out.

- 35 The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.
- 36 Of that day and hour knoweth no one, not even the angels of the heavens, but the Father only.
- 37 But as the days of Noah, so shall be the coming of the Son of man;
- 38 for as in those days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage until the day that Noah entered into the ark,
- 39 and they knew not until the flood came and took them all away, so shall the coming of the Son of man be.
- 40 Then shall two be in the field; one is taken and one is left.
- 41 Two women [shall be] grinding at the mill, one is taken and one is left.
- 42 Watch therefore, for ye know not on what day your Lord doth come.
- 43 But know this, that if the house-master had known in what watch the thief was coming, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be digged through.
- 44 Therefore, be ye also ready, for in an hour that ye think not the Son of man cometh.
- 45 Who then is the faithful and prudent bondman whom his lord set over his household, to give them their food in due season?
- 46 Blessed [is] that bondman whom his lord on coming shall find so doing.
- 47 Verily I say to you, that he will set him over all that he hath.
- 48 But if that evil bondman shall say in his heart, My lord tarrieth;
- 49 and shall begin to beat his fellow-bondmen, and shall eat and drink with the drunken,
- 50 the lord of that bondman shall come in a day when he expecteth not, and in an hour that he knoweth not,
- 51 and shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.

MATTHEW 25 WK

- 1 Then shall the kingdom of the heavens be likened to ten virgins, the which took their torches and went forth to meet the bridegroom. ^Λ
- 2 And five of them were foolish, and five were prudent.
- 3 For the foolish took their torches and took no oil with them;
- 4 but the prudent took oil in their vessels with their torches.
- 5 Now, the bridegroom tarrying, they all slumbered and slept.
- 6 But at midnight a cry was made, Behold, the bridegroom! go ye forth to meet him.
- 7 Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their torches.
- 8 And the foolish said to the prudent, Give us of your oil; for our torches are going out.

- 9 But the prudent answered saying, [We cannot,] lest it might not suffice for us and for you. Go rather to those that sell, and buy for yourselves.
- 10 But as they went away to buy, the bridegroom came, and the [ones that were] ready went in with him to the wedding feast, and the door was shut.
- 11 Afterwards come also the rest of the virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us;
- 12 but he answering said, Verily I say unto you, I do not know you.
- 13 Watch therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour.
- 14 For [it is] as [if] a man going away out of a country called his own bondmen and delivered to them his substance.
- 15 And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, to each according to his particular ability, and immediately went away out of the country.
- 16 And he that had received the five talents went and trafficked with them, and made five other talents.
- 17 In like manner also he that [had received] the two, [he also] gained two others.
- 18 But he that had received the one went and dug in the earth and hid the money of his lord.
- 19 And after a long time the lord of those bondmen comes and reckons with them.
- 20 And he that had received the five talents came to [him] and brought five other talents, saying, [My] lord, thou deliveredst me five talents; behold, I have gained five other talents besides them.
- 21 His lord said to him, Well, good and faithful bondman, thou wast faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things: enter into the joy of thy lord.
- 22 And he also that had received the two talents came to [him] and said, [My] lord, thou deliveredst me two talents; behold, I have gained two other talents besides them.
- 23 His lord said to him, Well, good and faithful bondman, thou wast faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.
- 24 And he also that had received the one talent coming to [him] said, [My] lord, I knew thee that thou art a hard man, reaping where thou hadst not sowed, and gathering from where thou hadst not scattered,
- 25 and being afraid I went away and hid thy talent in the earth; behold, thou hast that which is thine.
- 26 And his lord answering said to him, Wicked and slothful bondman, thou knewest that I reap where I had not sowed, and gather from where I had not scattered;
- 27 thou oughtest then to have put my money to the money-changers, and when I came I should have got what is mine with interest.
- 28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it to him that has the ten talents:

- 9 But the prudent answered, saying, Peradventure there be not enough for us and you. Go rather to those that sell, and buy for yourselves.
- 10 And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and those ready went in with him to the marriage-feast; and the door was shut.
- 11 Afterward came also the rest of the virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.
- 12 But he answering, said, Verily I know you not.
- 13 Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour.
- 14 [^] For [it is] as [if] a man going abroad called his own bondmen and delivered to them his goods.
- 15 And to one he gave five talents, to another two, to another one, to each according to his several ability, and went his way.
- 16 Straightway he that received the five talents proceeded, and traded with them, and made other five talents.
- 17 Likewise also he [that received] the two, and he gained other two.
- 18 But he that received the one went off, and dug in the earth, and hid the money of his lord.
- 19 After a long time the lord of those bondmen cometh and settleth account with them.
- 20 And he that received the five talents came forward and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliveredst to me five talents: behold, I gained five other talents [besides them].
- 21 His lord said to him, Well, good and faithful bondman, thou wast faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many: enter into the joy of thy lord.
- 22 And he also that [received] the two talents said, Lord, two talents thou deliveredst to me: behold, I gained other two talents.
- 23 His lord said to him, Well, good and faithful bondman, thou wast faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many: enter into the joy of thy lord.
- 24 And he also that had received the one talent came forward and said, Lord, I knew thee, that thou art a hard man, reaping where thou didst not sow, and gathering whence thou didst not scatter;
- 25 and being afraid I went off, and hid thy talent in the earth; behold, thou hast that which is thine.
- 26 But his lord answering said to him, Wicked and slothful bondman, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather whence I scattered not.
- 27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the bankers, and at my coming I should have got mine own with interest.
- 28 Take away therefore the talent from him, and give [it] to him that hath the ten talents.

- 29 for to every one that has shall be given, and he shall be in abundance; but from him that has not, that even which he has shall be taken from him.
- 30 And cast out the useless bondman into the outer darkness; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth.
- 31 But when the Son of man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, then shall he sit down upon his throne of glory,
- 32 and all the nations shall be gathered before him; and he shall separate them from one another, as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats;
- 33 and he will set the sheep on his right hand, and the goats on [his] left.
- 34 Then shall the King say to those on his right hand, Come, blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from [the] world's foundation:
- 35 for I hungered, and ye gave me to eat; I thirsted, and ye gave me to drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in;
- 36 naked, and ye clothed me; I was ill, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came to me.
- 37 Then shall the righteous answer him saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungering, and nourished thee; or thirsting, and gave thee to drink?
- 38 and when saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in; or naked, and clothed thee?
- 39 and when saw we thee ill or in prison, and came to thee?
- 40 And the King answering shall say to them, Verily, I say to you, Inasmuch as ye have done it to one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it to me.
- 41 Then shall he say also to those on the left, Go from me, cursed, into eternal fire, prepared for the devil and his angels:
- 42 for I hungered, and ye gave me not to eat; I thirsted, and ye gave me not to drink;
- 43 I was a stranger, and ye took me not in; naked, and ye did not clothe me; ill and in prison, and ye did not visit me.
- 44 Then shall they also answer saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungering, or thirsting, or a stranger, or naked, or ill, or in prison, and have not ministered to thee?
- 45 Then shall he answer them saying, Verily I say to you, Inasmuch as ye have not done it to one of these least, neither have ye done it to me.
- 46 And these shall go away into eternal punishment, and the righteous into life eternal.

MATTHEW 26 JND

- 1 And it came to pass when Jesus had finished all these sayings, he said to his disciples,
- 2 Ye know that after two days the passover takes place, and the Son of man is delivered up to be crucified.
- 3 Then the chief priests and the elders of the people were gathered together to the palace of the high priest who was called Caiaphas,

- 29 For to every one that hath shall be given, and he shall be in abundance; but from him that hath not, even what he hath shall be taken away [from him].
- 30 And cast out the useless bondman into the outer darkness: there shall be the weeping, and the gnashing of teeth.
- 31 But when the Son of man shall have come in his glory, and all the angels with him, then shall he sit down upon his throne of glory,
- 32 and all the nations shall be gathered before him; and he shall separate them from one another, as the shepherd separateth the sheep from the goats [or, kids];
- 33 and he will set the sheep on his right but the goats on the left.
- 34 Then shall the King say to those on his right, Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the world's foundation.
- 35 For I was hungry, and ye gave me to eat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me to drink; I was a stranger, and ye took me in;
- 36 naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me.
- 37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungering, and fed thee; or thirsty, and gave thee drink?
- 38 and when saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in; or naked, and clothed thee?
- 39 and when saw we thee sick or in prison, and came unto thee?
- 40 And the King answering shall say to them, Verily I say to you, Inasmuch as ye did [it] to one of the least of these my brethren, ye did [it] to me.
- 41 Then shall he say also to those on the left, Go from me, accursed, into the everlasting fire that is prepared for the devil and his angels.
- 42 For I was hungry, and ye gave me not to eat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me not to drink;
- 43 I was a stranger, and ye took me not in; naked, and ye clothed me not; sick and in prison, and ye visited me not.
- 44 Then shall they also answer, saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and ministered not to thee?
- 45 Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say to you, Inasmuch as ye did [it] not to one of these least, ye did [it] not to me.
- 46 And these shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life everlasting.

MATTHEW 26 WK

Matthew

- 4 and took counsel together in order that they might seize Jesus by subtlety and kill him;
5 but they said, Not in the feast, that there be not a tumult among the people.
6 But Jesus being in Bethany, in Simon the leper's house,
7 a woman, having an alabaster flask of very precious ointment, came to him and poured it out upon his head as he lay at table.
8 But the disciples seeing it became indignant, saying, To what end [was] this waste?
9 for this might have been sold for much and been given to the poor.
10 But Jesus knowing [it] said to them, Why do ye trouble the woman? for she has wrought a good work toward me.
11 For ye have the poor always with you, but me ye have not always.
12 For in pouring out this ointment on my body, she has done it for my burying.
13 Verily I say to you, Wheresoever these glad tidings may be preached in the whole world, that also which this [woman] has done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.
14 Then one of the twelve, he who was called Judas Iscariote, went to the chief priests and said,
15 What are ye willing to give me, and I will deliver him up to you? And they appointed to him thirty pieces of silver.
16 And from that time he sought a good opportunity that he might deliver him up.
17 Now on the first [day] of [the feast of] unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover?
18 And he said, Go into the city unto such a one, and say to him, The Teacher says, My time is near, I will keep the passover in thy house with my disciples.
19 And the disciples did as Jesus had directed them, and they prepared the passover.
20 And when the evening was come he lay down at table with the twelve.
21 And as they were eating he said, Verily I say to you, that one of you shall deliver me up.
22 And being exceedingly grieved they began to say to him, each of them, Is it I, Lord?
23 But he answering said, He that dips his hand with me in the dish, he it is who shall deliver me up.
24 The Son of man goes indeed according as it is written concerning him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is delivered up; it were good for that man if he had not been born.
25 And Judas, who delivered him up, answering said, Is it I, Rabbi? He says to him, Thou hast said.
26 And as they were eating, Jesus, having taken [the] bread and blessed, broke [it] and gave [it] to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: this is my body.
27 And having taken [the] cup and given thanks, he gave [it] to them, saying, Drink ye all of it.

26 ^Λ bread

- 28 For this is my blood, that of the [new] covenant, that shed for many for remission of sins.
- 29 But I say to you, that I will not at all drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in the kingdom of my Father.
- 30 And having sung a hymn, they went out to the mount of Olives.
- 31 Then saith Jesus to them, All ye shall be offended in me during this night. For it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad;
- 32 but after that I shall be risen, I will go before you to Galilee.
- 33 And Peter answering said to him, If all shall be offended in thee, I will never be offended.
- 34 Jesus said to him, Verily I say to thee, that during this night, before [the] cock shall crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.
- 35 Peter says to him, If I should needs die with thee, I will in no wise deny thee. Likewise said all the disciples also.
- 36 Then Jesus comes with them to a place called Gethsemane, and says to the disciples, Sit here until I go away and pray yonder.
- 37 And taking with [him] Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, he began to be sorrowful and deeply depressed.
- 38 Then he says to them, My soul is very sorrowful even unto death; remain here and watch with me.
- 39 And going forward a little he fell upon his face, praying and saying, My Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me; but not as I will, but as thou [wilt].
- 40 And he comes to the disciples and finds them sleeping, and says to Peter, Thus ye have not been able to watch one hour with me?
- 41 Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed [is] ready, but the flesh weak.
- 42 Again going away a second time he prayed saying, My Father, if this cannot pass [from me] unless I drink it, thy will be done.
- 43 And coming he found them again sleeping, for their eyes were heavy.
- 44 And leaving them, he went away again and prayed the third time, saying the same thing.
- 45 Then he comes to the disciples and says to them, Sleep on now and take your rest; behold, the hour has drawn nigh, and the Son of man is delivered up into the hands of sinners.
- 46 Arise, let us go; behold, he that delivers me up has drawn nigh.
- 47 And while he was yet speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great crowd with swords and sticks from the chief priests and elders of the people.
- 48 Now he that delivered him up had given them a sign, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, he it is: seize him.
- 49 And immediately coming up to Jesus he said, Hail, Rabbi, and covered him with kisses.

50 But Jesus said to him, [My] friend, for what purpose art thou come? Then coming up they laid hands upon Jesus and seized him.

51 And behold, one of those with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, and smiting the bondman of the high priest took off his ear.

52 Then saith Jesus to him, Return thy sword to its place; for all who take the sword shall perish by the sword.

53 Or thinkest thou that I cannot now call upon my Father and he will furnish me more than twelve legions of angels?

54 How then should the scriptures be fulfilled that thus it must be?

55 In that hour Jesus said to the crowds, Are ye come out as against a robber with swords and sticks to take me? I sat daily [with you] teaching in the temple, and ye did not seize me.

56 But all this is come to pass that the scriptures of the prophets may be fulfilled. Then all the disciples left him and fled.

57 Now they that had seized Jesus led [him] away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him at a distance, even to the palace of the high priest, and entering in sat with the officers to see the end.

59 And the chief priests and the elders and the whole sanhedrim sought false witness against Jesus, so that they might put him to death.

60 And they found none, though many false witnesses came forward. But at the last two false witnesses came forward

61 and said, He said, I am able to destroy the temple of God, and in three days build it.

62 And the high priest standing up said to him, Answerest thou nothing? What do these witness against thee?

63 But Jesus was silent. And the high priest answering said to him, I adjure thee by the living God that thou tell us if thou art the Christ the Son of God.

64 Jesus says to him, Thou hast said. Moreover, I say to you, From henceforth ye shall see the Son of man sitting at the right hand of power, and coming on the clouds of heaven.

65 Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He has blasphemed: what need have we any more of witnesses? behold, now ye have heard the blasphemy.

66 What think ye? And they answering said, He is liable to the penalty of death.

67 Then they spit in his face, and buffeted him, and some struck him with the palms of their hand, 68 saying, Prophecy to us, Christ, Who is it who struck thee?

69 But Peter sat without in the palace-court; and a maid came to him, saying, And thou wast with Jesus the Galilæan.

70 But he denied before all, saying, I do not know what thou sayest.

52 ^Λ

58 But Peter followed him from afar off unto the court of the high priest, and entering in was sitting with the officials to see the end.

69 Now Peter was sitting without in the court, and a maid came unto him, saying, Thou also wast with Jesus, the Galilean.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I know not what thou sayest.

- 71 And when he had gone out into the entrance, another [maid] saw him, and says to those there, This [man] also was with Jesus the Nazaræan.
 72 And again he denied with an oath: I do not know the man.
 73 And after a little, those who stood [there], coming to [him], said to Peter, Truly thou too art of them, for also thy speech makes thee manifest.
 74 Then he began to curse and to swear, I know not the man. And immediately [the] cock crew.
 75 And Peter remembered the word of Jesus, who had said [to him], Before [the] cock crow thou shalt deny me thrice. And he went forth without, and wept bitterly.

MATTHEW 27 JND

- 1 And when it was morning all the chief priests and the elders of the people took counsel against Jesus so that they might put him to death.
 2 And having bound him they led him away, and delivered him up to Pontius Pilate, the governor.
 3 Then Judas, who delivered him up, seeing that he had been condemned, filled with remorse, returned the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and the elders, saying,
 4 I have sinned [in] having delivered up guiltless blood. But they said, What is that to us? see thou [to that].
 5 And having cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, he left the place, and went away and hanged himself.
 6 And the chief priests took the pieces of silver and said, It is not lawful to cast them into the Corban, since it is [the] price of blood.
 7 And having taken counsel, they bought with them the field of the potter for a burying-ground for strangers.
 8 Wherefore that field has been called Blood-field unto this day.
 9 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken through Jeremias the prophet, saying, And I took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was set a price on, whom [they who were] of the sons of Israel had set a price on,
 10 and they gave them for the field of the potter, according as [the] Lord commanded me.
 11 But Jesus stood before the governor. And the governor questioned him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said to him, Thou sayest.
 12 And when he was accused of the chief priests and the elders, he answered nothing.
 13 Then says Pilate to him, Hearest thou not how many things they witness against thee?
 14 And he answered him not so much as one word, so that the governor wondered exceedingly.
 15 Now at [the] feast the governor was accustomed to release one prisoner to the crowd, whom they would.
 16 And they had then a notable prisoner, named Barabbas.
 17 They therefore being gathered together, Pilate said to them, Whom will ye that I release to you, Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?
 18 For he knew that they had delivered him up through envy.

- 71 And when he went out into the porch, another [maid] saw him and saith to those there, This [man] also was with Jesus the Nazarene.
 72 And again he denied with an oath, I know not the man.
 73 And after a little those that stood came up and said to Peter, Truly thou also art [one] of them, for thy speech too maketh thee manifest.
 74 Then he began to curse and to swear, I know not the man. And immediately a cock crew.

 17 Barabbas ^

- 19 But, as he was sitting on the judgment-seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that righteous man; for I have suffered to-day many things in a dream because of him.
- 20 But the chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowds that they should beg for Barabbas and destroy Jesus.
- 21 And the governor answering said to them, Which of the two will ye that I release unto you? And they said, Barabbas.
- 22 Pilate says to them, What then shall I do with Jesus, who is called Christ? They all say, Let him be crucified.
- 23 And the governor said, What evil then has he done? But they cried more than ever, saying, Let him be crucified.
- 24 And Pilate, seeing that it availed nothing, but that rather a tumult was arising, having taken water, washed his hands before the crowd, saying, I am guiltless of the blood of this righteous one: see ye [to it].
- 25 And all the people answering said, His blood [be] on us and on our children.
- 26 Then he released to them Barabbas; but Jesus, having scourged [him], he delivered up that he might be crucified.
- 27 Then the soldiers of the governor, having taken Jesus with [them] to the prætorium, gathered against him the whole band,
- 28 and having taken off his garment, put on him a scarlet cloak,
- 29 and having woven a crown out of thorns, they put it on his head, and a reed in his right hand; and, bowing the knee before him, they mocked him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!
- 30 And having spit upon him, they took the reed and beat [him] on his head.
- 31 And when they had mocked him, they took the cloak off him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him away to crucify.
- 32 And as they went forth they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name; him they compelled to go [with them] that he might bear his cross.
- 33 And having come to a place called Golgotha, which means Place of a skull,
- 34 they gave to him to drink vinegar mingled with gall; and having tasted [it], he would not drink.
- 35 And having crucified him, they parted his clothes amongst [themselves], casting lots.
- 36 And sitting down, they kept guard over him there.
- 37 And they set up over his head his accusation written: This is Jesus, the King of the Jews.
- 38 Then are crucified with him two robbers, one on the right hand and one on the left.
- 39 But the passers-by reviled him, shaking their heads
- 40 and saying, Thou that destroyest the temple and buildest it in three days, save thyself. If thou art Son of God, descend from the cross.
- 41 [And] in like manner the chief priests also, mocking, with the scribes and elders, said,

- 42 He saved others, himself he cannot save. He is King of Israel: let him descend now from the cross, and we will believe on him.
- 43 He trusted upon God; let him save him now if he will [have] him. For he said, I am Son of God.
- 44 And the robbers also who had been crucified with him cast the same reproaches on him.
- 45 Now from [the] sixth hour there was darkness over the whole land until [the] ninth hour;
- 46 but about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is, My God, my God, why has thou forsaken me?
- 47 And some of those who stood there, when they heard [it], said, This [man] calls for Elias.
- 48 And immediately one of them running and getting a sponge, having filled [it] with vinegar and fixed [it] on a reed, gave him to drink.
- 49 But the rest said, Let be; let us see if Elias comes to save him.
- 50 And Jesus, having again cried with a loud voice, gave up the ghost.
- 51 And lo, the veil of the temple was rent in two from the top to the bottom, and the earth was shaken, and the rocks were rent,
- 52 and the tombs were opened; and many bodies of the saints fallen asleep arose,
- 53 and going out of the tombs after his arising, entered into the holy city and appeared unto many.
- 54 But the centurion, and they who were with him on guard over Jesus, seeing the earthquake and the things that took place, feared greatly, saying, Truly this [man] was Son of God.
- 55 And there were there many women beholding from afar off, who had followed Jesus from Galilee ministering to him,
- 56 among whom was Mary of Magdala, and Mary the mother of James and Joses, and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.
- 57 Now when even was come there came a rich man of Arimathæa, his name Joseph, who also himself was a disciple to Jesus.
- 58 He, going to Pilate, begged the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given up.
- 59 And Joseph having got the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth,
- 60 and laid it in his new tomb which he had hewn in the rock; and having rolled a great stone to the door of the tomb, went away.
- 61 But Mary of Magdala was there, and the other Mary, sitting opposite the sepulchre.
- 62 Now on the morrow, which is after the preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees came together to Pilate,
- 63 saying, Sir, we have called to mind that that deceiver said when he was still alive, After three days I arise.
- 64 Command therefore that the sepulchre be secured until the third day, lest his disciples should come and steal him away, and say to the people, He is risen from the dead; and the last error shall be worse than the first.

65 And Pilate said to them, Ye have a watch: go, secure it as well as ye know how.

66 And they went and secured the sepulchre, having sealed the stone, with the watch [besides].

MATTHEW 28 JND

1 Now late on sabbath, as it was the dusk of the next day after sabbath, came Mary of Magdala and the other Mary to look at the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of [the] Lord, descending out of heaven, came and rolled away the stone and sat upon it.

3 And his look was as lightning, and his clothing white as snow.

4 And for fear of him the guards trembled and became as dead men.

5 And the angel answering said to the women, Fear not ye, for I know that ye seek Jesus the crucified one.

6 He is not here, for he is risen, as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay.

7 And go quickly and say to his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and behold, he goes before you into Galilee, there shall ye see him.

8 Behold, I have told you. And going out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, they ran to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to bring his disciples word, behold also, Jesus met them, saying, Hail! And they coming up took him by the feet and did him homage.

10 Then Jesus says to them, Fear not; go, bring word to my brethren that they go into Galilee, and there they shall see me.

11 And as they went, behold, some of the watch went into the city, and brought word to the chief priests of all that had taken place.

12 And having assembled with the elders, and having taken counsel, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, 13 saying, Say that his disciples coming by night stole him [while] we [were] sleeping.

14 And if this should come to the hearing of the governor, we will persuade him and save you from all anxiety.

15 And they took the money and did as they had been taught. And this report is current among the Jews until this day.

16 But the eleven disciples went into Galilee to the mountain which Jesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saw him, they did homage to him: but some doubted.

18 And Jesus coming up spoke to them, saying, All power has been given me in heaven and upon earth.

19 Go [therefore] and make disciples of all the nations, baptising them to the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit;

MARK 1 JND

- 1 Beginning of the glad tidings of Jesus Christ, Son of God;
- 2 as it is written in [Isaiah] the prophet, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, who shall prepare thy way.
- 3 Voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare the way of [the] Lord, make his paths straight.
- 4 There came John baptizing in the wilderness, and preaching [the] baptism of repentance for remission of sins.
- 5 And there went out to him all the district of Judæa, and all they of Jerusalem, and were baptised by him in the river Jordan, confessing their sins.
- 6 And John was clothed in camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins, and ate locusts and wild honey.
- 7 And he preached, saying, There comes he that is mightier than I after me, the thong of whose sandals I am not fit to stoop down and unloose.
- 8 I indeed have baptised you with water, but he shall baptise you with [the] Holy Ghost.
- 9 And it came to pass in those days [that] Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptised by John at the Jordan.
- 10 And straightway going up from the water, he saw the heavens parting asunder, and the Spirit, as a dove, descending upon him.
- 11 And there came a voice out of the heavens: Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I have found my delight.
- 12 And immediately the Spirit drives him out into the wilderness.
- 13 And he was in the wilderness forty days tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered to him.
- 14 But after John was delivered up, Jesus came into Galilee preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom of God,
- 15 and saying, The time is fulfilled and the kingdom of God has drawn nigh; repent and believe in the glad tidings.
- 16 And walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon, and Andrew, [Simon's] brother, casting out a net in the sea, for they were fishers.
- 17 And Jesus said to them, Come after me, and I will make you become fishers of men;
- 18 and straightway leaving their trawl-nets they followed him.
- 19 And going on thence a little, he saw James the [son] of Zebedee, and John his brother, and these [were] in the ship repairing the trawl nets;
- 20 and straightway he called them; and leaving their father Zebedee in the ship with the hired servants, they went away after him.
- 21 And they go into Capernaum. And straightway on the sabbath he entered into the synagogue and taught.
- 22 And they were astonished at his doctrine, for he taught them as having authority, and not as the scribes.
- 23 And there was in their synagogue a man [possessed] by an unclean spirit,

24 and he cried out saying, Eh! what have we to do with thee, Jesus, Nazarene? Art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the holy one of God.

25 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace and come out of him.

26 And the unclean spirit, having torn him, and uttered a cry with a loud voice, came out of him.

27 And all were amazed, so that they questioned together among themselves, saying, What is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority he commands even the unclean spirits and they obey him.

28 And his fame went out straightway into the whole region of Galilee around.

29 And straightway going out of the synagogue, they came with James and John into the house of Simon and Andrew.

30 And the mother-in-law of Simon lay in a fever. And straightway they speak to him about her.

31 And he went up to [her] and raised her up, having taken her by the hand, and straightway the fever left her, and she served them.

32 But evening being come, when the sun had gone down, they brought to him all that were suffering, and those possessed by demons;

33 and the whole city was gathered together at the door.

34 And he healed many suffering from various diseases; and he cast out many demons, and did not suffer the demons to speak because they knew him.

35 And rising in the morning long before day, he went out and went away into a desert place and there prayed.

36 And Simon and those with him went after him:

37 and having found him, they say to him,

38 All seek thee. And he says to them, Let us go elsewhere into the neighboring country towns, that I may preach there also, for for this purpose am I come forth.

39 And he was preaching in their synagogues in the whole of Galilee, and casting out demons.

40 And there comes to him a leper, beseeching him, and falling on his knees to him, and saying to him, If thou wilt thou canst cleanse me.

41 But Jesus, moved with compassion, having stretched out his hand, touched him and says to him, I will, be thou cleansed.

42 And as he spoke straightway the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed.

43 And having sharply charged him, he straightway sent him away,

44 and says to him, See thou say nothing to any one, but go, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing what Moses ordained, for a testimony to them.

45 But he, having gone forth, began to proclaim [it] much, and to spread the matter abroad, so that he could no longer enter openly into the city, but was without in desert places, and they came to him from every side.

- 11 And he said to them, To you is given [to know] the mystery of the kingdom of God; but to them who are without, all things are done in parables, 11 ^
- 12 that beholding they may behold and not see, and hearing they may hear and not understand, lest it may be, they should be converted and they should be forgiven. 12 ^
- 13 And he says to them, Do ye not know this parable? and how will ye be acquainted with all the parables?
- 14 The sower sows the word:
- 15 and these are they by the wayside where the word is sown, and when they hear, immediately Satan comes and takes away the word that was sown in them. 15 ^
- 16 And these are they in like manner who are sown upon the rocky places, who when they hear the word, immediately receive it with joy,
- 17 and they have no root in themselves, but are for a time: then, tribulation arising, or persecution on account of the word, immediately they are offended.
- 18 And others are they who are sown among the thorns: these are they who have heard the word, and the cares of life,
- 19 and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things, entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.
- 20 And these are they who have been sown on the good ground, such as hear the word and receive it, and bear fruit; one thirty, and one sixty, and one a hundred [fold].
- 21 And he said to them, Does the lamp come that it should be put under the bushel or under the couch? [Is it] not that it should be set upon the lampstand?
- 22 For there is nothing hidden which shall not be made manifest; not does any secret thing take place but that it should come to light.
- 23 If any one have ears to hear, let him hear.
- 24 And he said to them, Take heed what ye hear; with what measure ye mete, it shall be meted to you; and there shall be [more] added to you. 24 ^
- 25 For whosoever has, to him shall be given; and he who has not, even what he has shall be taken from him.
- 26 And he said, Thus is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast the seed upon the earth, 26 And he said, Thus is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast the seed upon the earth,

Mark

- 27 and should sleep and rise up night and day, and the seed should sprout and grow he does not know how.
- 28 The earth bears fruit of itself, first [the] blade, then an ear, then full corn in the ear.
- 29 But when the fruit is produced, immediately he sends the sickle, for the harvest is come.
- 30 And he said, How should we liken the kingdom of God, or with what comparison should we compare it?
- 31 As to a grain of mustard [seed], which, when it is sown upon the earth, is less than all seeds which are upon the earth,
- 32 and when it has been sown, mounts up and becomes greater than all herbs, and produces great branches, so that the birds of heaven can roost under its shadow.
- 33 And with many such parables he spoke the word to them, as they were able to hear,
- 34 but without a parable spoke he not to them; and in private he explained all things to his disciples.
- 35 And on that day, when evening was come, he says to them, Let us go over to the other side:
- 36 and having sent away the crowd, they take him with [them] as he was in the ship. But other ships also were with him.
- 37 And there comes a violent gust of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it already filled.
- 38 And he was in the stern sleeping on the cushion. And they awake him up and say to him, Teacher, dost thou not care that we are perishing?
- 39 And awaking up he rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, Silence; be mute. And the wind fell, and there was a great calm.
- 40 And he said to them, Why are ye [thus] fearful? how [is it] ye have not faith?
- 41 And they feared [with] great fear, and said one to another, Who then is this that even the wind and the sea obey him?

MARK 5 JND

- 1 And they came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gadarenes.
- 2 And immediately on his going out of the ship there met him out of the tombs a man possessed by an unclean spirit,
- 3 who had his dwelling in the tombs, and no one was able to bind him, not even with chains;
- 4 because he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been torn asunder by him, and the fetters were shattered; and no one was able to subdue him.
- 5 And continually night and day, in the tombs and in the mountains, he was crying and cutting himself with stones.
- 6 But seeing Jesus from afar off, he ran and did him homage,
- 7 and crying with a loud voice he says, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I adjure thee by God, torment me not.
- 8 For he said to him, Come forth, unclean spirit, out of the man.
- 9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he says to him, Legion is my name, because we are many.

- 27 and should sleep and rise night and day, and the seed should spring up and grow, how he knoweth not himself.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith has healed thee; go in peace, and be well of thy scourge.
35 While he was yet speaking, they come from the ruler of the synagogue's, saying, Thy daughter has died, why troublest thou the teacher any further?
36 But Jesus [immediately], having heard the word spoken, says to the ruler of the synagogue, Fear not; only believe.
37 And he suffered no one to accompany him save Peter and James, and John the brother of James.
38 And he comes to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and sees the tumult and people weeping and wailing greatly.
39 And entering in he says to them, Why do ye make a tumult and weep? the child has not died, but sleeps.
40 And they derided him. But he, having put [them] all out, takes with [him] the father of the child, and the mother, and those that were with him, and enters in where the child was lying.
41 And having laid hold of the hand of the child, he says to her, Talitha koumi, which is, interpreted, Damsel, I say to thee, Arise.
42 And immediately the damsel arose and walked, for she was twelve years old. And they were astonished with great astonishment.
43 And he charged them much that no one should know this; and he desired that [something] should be given her to eat.

MARK 6 JND

- 1 And he went out thence and came to his own country, and his disciples follow him.
2 And when sabbath was come he began to teach in the synagogue, and many hearing were amazed, saying, Whence [has] this [man] these things? and what [is] the wisdom that is given to him, and such works of power are done by his hands?
3 Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended in him.
4 But Jesus said to them, A prophet is not despised save in his own country, and among [his] kinsmen, and in his own house.
5 And he could not do any work of power there, save that laying his hands on a few infirm persons he healed [them].
6 And he wondered because of their unbelief. And he went round the villages in a circuit, teaching.
7 And he calls the twelve to [him]; and he began to send them out two [and] two, and gave to them power over the unclean spirits;

MARK 6 WK

- 8 and he commanded them that they should take nothing for the way, save a staff only; no scrip, no bread, no money in their belt;
- 9 but be shod with sandals, and put not on two body coats.
- 10 And he said to them, Wheresoever ye shall enter into a house, there remain till ye shall go thence. 10 A
- 11 And whatsoever place shall not receive you nor hear you, departing thence, shake off the dust which is under your feet for a testimony to them. 11 A
- 12 And they went forth and preached that they should repent;
- 13 and they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many infirm, and healed them.
- 14 And Herod the king heard [of him] (for his name had become public), and said, John the baptist is risen from among [the] dead, and on this account works of power are wrought by him.
- 15 And others said, It is Elias; and others said, It is a prophet, as one of the prophets.
- 16 But Herod when he heard [it] said, John whom I beheaded, he it is; he is risen [from among the dead].
- 17 For the same Herod had sent and seized John, and had bound him in prison on account of Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother, because he had married her.
- 18 For John said to Herod, It is not lawful for thee to have the wife of thy brother.
- 19 But Herodias kept it [in her mind] against him, and wished to kill him, and could not:
- 20 for Herod feared John knowing that he was a just and holy man, and kept him safe; and having heard him, did many thing, and heard him gladly. 20 A
- 21 And a holiday being come, when Herod, on his birthday, made a supper to his grandees, and to the chiliarchs, and the chief [men] of Galilee;
- 22 and the daughter of the same Herodias having come in, and danced, pleased Herod and those that were with [him] at table; and the king said to the damsel, Ask of me whatsoever thou wilt and I will give it thee. 22 A
- 23 And he swore her, Whatsoever thou shalt ask me I will give thee, to half of my kingdom.
- 24 And she went out, and said to her mother, What should I ask? And she said, The head of John the baptist.
- 25 And immediately going in with haste to the king, she asked, saying, I desire that thou give me directly upon a dish the head of John the baptist.
- 26 And the king, [while] made very sorry, on account of the oaths and those lying at table with [him] would not break his word with her.
- 27 And immediately the king, having sent one of the guard, ordered his head to be brought.
- 28 And he went out and beheaded him in the prison, and brought his head upon a dish, and gave it to the damsel, and the damsel gave it to her mother.
- 29 And his disciples having heard [it], came and took up his body, and laid it in a tomb.

Mark

- 30 And the apostles are gathered together to Jesus. And they related to him all things, [both] what they had done and what they had taught.
- 31 And he said to them, Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place and rest a little. For those coming and those going were many, and they had not leisure even to eat.
- 32 And they went away apart into a desert place by ship.
- 33 And many saw them going, and recognized them, and ran together there on foot, out of all the cities, and got [there] before them. 33 A
- 34 And on leaving [the ship] [Jesus] saw a great crowd, and he was moved with compassion for them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd. And he began to teach them many things.
- 35 And when it was already late in the day, his disciples coming to him say, The place is desert, and it is already late in the day;
- 36 send them away that they may go into the country and villages around, and buy themselves bread, for they have not anything they can eat. 36 A
- 37 And he answering said to them, Give ye them to eat. And they say to him, Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them to eat?
- 38 And he says to them, How many loaves have ye? Go [and] see. And when they knew they say, Five, and two fishes.
- 39 And he ordered them to make them all sit down by companies on the green grass.
- 40 And they sat down in ranks by hundreds and by fifties.
- 41 And having taken the five loaves and the two fishes, looking up to heaven, he blessed, and broke the loaves, and gave [them] to his disciples that they might set [them] before them. And the two fishes he divided among all.
- 42 And they all ate and were satisfied.
- 43 And they took up of fragments the fillings of twelve hand-baskets, and of the fishes.
- 44 And those that ate of the loaves were five thousand men. 44 A
- 45 And immediately he compelled his disciples to go on board ship, and to go on before to the other side to Bethsaida, while he sends the crowd away.
- 46 And, having dismissed them, he departed into the mountain to pray.
- 47 And when evening was come, the ship was in the midst of the sea, and he alone upon the land.
- 48 And seeing them labouring in rowing, for the wind was contrary to them, about the fourth watch of the night he comes to them walking on the sea, and would have passed them by.
- 49 But they, seeing him walking on the sea, thought that it was an apparition, and cried out.
- 50 For all saw him and were troubled. And immediately he spoke with them, and says to them, Be of good courage: it is I; be not afraid.
- 51 And he went up to them into the ship, and the wind fell. And they were exceedingly beyond measure astonished in themselves and wondered;

- 52 for they understood not through the loaves: for their heart was hardened.
- 53 And having passed over, they came to the land of Gennesaret and made the shore.
- 54 And on their coming out of the ship, immediately recognising him,
- 55 they ran through that whole country around, and began to carry about those that were ill on couches, where they heard that he was.
- 56 And wherever he entered into villages, or cities, or the country, they laid the sick in the market places, and besought him that they might touch if it were only the hem of his garment; and as many as touched him were healed.

MARK 7 JND

- 1 And the Pharisees and some of the scribes coming from Jerusalem are gathered together to him,
- 2 and seeing some of his disciples eat bread with defiled, that is, unwashed, hands,
- 3 (for the Pharisees and all the Jews, unless they wash their hands diligently, do not eat, holding what has been delivered by the ancients;
- 4 and [on coming] from the marketplace, unless they are washed, they do not eat; and there are many other things which they have received to hold, the washing of cups and vessels, and brazen utensils, and couches),
- 5 then the Pharisees and the scribes ask him, Why do thy disciples not walk according to what has been delivered by the ancients, but eat the bread with defiled hands?
- 6 But he answering said to them, Well did Esaias prophesy concerning you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honour me with their lips, but their heart is far away from me.
- 7 But in vain do they worship me, teaching [as their] teachings commandments of men.
- 8 [For], leaving the commandment of God, ye hold what is delivered by men [to keep] — washings of vessels and cups, and many other such like things ye do.
- 9 And he said to them, Well do ye set aside the commandment of God that ye may observe what is delivered by yourselves [to keep].
- 10 For Moses said, Honour thy father and thy mother; and, he who speaks ill of father or mother, let him surely die.
- 11 But ye say, If a man say to his father or his mother, [It is] corban (that is, gift), whatsoever thou mightest have profit from me by . . .
- 12 And ye no longer suffer him to do anything for his father of his mother,
- 13 making void the word of God by your traditional teaching which ye have delivered; and many such like things ye do.
- 14 And having called again the crowd, he said to them, Hear me, all [of you], and understand:
- 15 There is nothing from outside a man entering into him which can defile him; but the things which go out from him, those it is which defile the man.

- 16 If any one have ears to hear, let him hear.
17 And when he went indoors from the crowd, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.
18 And he says to them, Are ye also thus unintelligent? Do ye not perceive that all that is outside entering into the man cannot defile him,
19 because it does not enter into his heart but into his belly, and goes out into the draught, purging all meats?
20 And he said, That which goes forth out of the man, that defiles the man.
21 For from within, out of the heart of men, go forth evil thoughts, adulteries, fornication, murders,
22 thefts, covetousness, wickednesses, deceit, licentiousness, a wicked eye, injurious language, haughtiness, folly;
23 all these wicked things go forth from within and defile the man.
24 And he rose up and went away thence into the borders of Tyre and Sidon; and having entered into a house he would not have any one know [it], and he could not be hid.
25 But immediately a woman, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, having heard of him, came and fell at his feet
26 (and the woman was a Greek, Syrophenician by race), and asked him that he would cast the demon out of her daughter.
27 But [Jesus] said to her, Suffer the children to be first filled; for it is not right to take the children's bread and cast it to the dogs.
28 But she answered and says to him, Yea, Lord; for even the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.
29 And he said to her, Because of this word, go thy way, the demon is gone out of thy daughter.
30 And having gone away to her house she found the demon gone out, and her daughter lying on the bed.
31 And again having left the borders of Tyre and Sidon, he came to the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of Decapolis.
32 And they bring to him a deaf [man] who could not speak right, and they beseech him that he might lay his hand on him.
33 And having taken him away from the crowd apart, he put his fingers to his ears; and having spit, he touched his tongue;
34 and looking up to heaven he groaned, and says to him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.
35 And immediately his ears were opened, and the band of his tongue was loosed and he spoke right.
36 And he charged them that they should speak to no one [of it]. But so much the more he charged them, so much the more abundantly they proclaimed it;
37 and they were astonished above measure, saying, He does all things well; he makes both the deaf to hear, and the speechless to speak.

MARK 8 WK

- 1 In those days, there being again a great crowd, and they having nothing that they could eat, having called his disciples to [him], he says to them,
- 2 I have compassion on the crowd, because they have stayed with me already three days and they have not anything they can eat,
- 3 and if I should dismiss them to their home fasting, they will faint on the way; for some of them are come from far.
- 4 And his disciples answered him, Whence shall one be able to satisfy these with bread here in a desert place?
- 5 And he asked them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven.
- 6 And he commanded the crowd to sit down on the ground. And having taken the seven loaves, he gave thanks, and broke [them] and gave [them] to his disciples, that they might set [them] before [them]; and they set [them] before the crowd.
- 7 And they had a few small fishes, and having blessed them, he desired these also to be set before [them].
- 8 And they ate and were satisfied. And they took up of fragments that remained seven baskets.
- 9 And they [that had eaten] were about four thousand; and he sent them away.
- 10 And immediately going on board ship with his disciples, he came into the parts of Dalmanutha.
- 11 And the Pharisees went out and began to dispute against him, seeking from him a sign from heaven, tempting him.
- 12 And groaning in his spirit, he says, Why does this generation seek a sign? Verily I say unto you, A sign shall in no wise be given to this generation.
- 13 And he left them, and going again on board ship, went away to the other side.
- 14 And they forgot to take bread, and save one loaf, they had not [any] with them in the ship.

- 37 for what should a man give in exchange for his soul?

6 For he knew not what he should say, for they were filled with fear.

7 And there came a cloud overshadowing them, and there came a voice out of the cloud, This is my beloved Son: hear him.

8 And suddenly having looked around, they no longer saw any one, but Jesus alone with themselves.

9 And as they descended from the mountain, he charged them that they should relate to no one what they had seen, unless when the Son of man should be risen from among [the] dead.

10 And they kept that saying, questioning among themselves, what rising from among [the] dead was.

11 And they asked him saying, Why do the scribes say that Elias must first have come?

12 And he answering said to them, Elias indeed, having first come, restores all thing; and how is it written of the Son of man that he must suffer much, and be set at nought:

13 but I say unto you that Elias also is come, and they have done to him whatever they would, as it is written of him.

14 And when he came to the disciples he saw a great crowd around them, and scribes disputing against them.

15 And immediately all the crowd seeing him were amazed, and running to [him], saluted him.

16 And he asked them, What do ye question with them about?

17 And one out of the crowd answered him, Teacher, I brought to thee my son, who has a dumb spirit;

18 and wheresoever it seizes him it tears him, and he foams and gnashes his teeth, and he is withering away. And I spoke to thy disciples, that they might cast him out, and they could not.

19 But he answering them says, O unbelieving generation! how long shall I be with you? how long shall I bear with you? bring him to me.

20 And they brought him to him. And seeing him the spirit immediately tore him; and falling upon the earth he rolled foaming.

21 And he asked his father, How long a time is it that it has been like this with him? And he said, From childhood;

22 and often it has cast him both into fire and into waters that it might destroy him: but if thou couldst [do] anything, be moved with pity on us, and help us.

23 And Jesus said to him, The "if thou couldst" is [if thou couldst] believe: all things are possible to him that believes.

24 And immediately the father of the young child crying out said [with tears], I believe, help mine unbelief.

25 But Jesus, seeing that [the] crowd was running up together, rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I command thee, come out of him and enter no more into him.

26 And having cried out and torn [him] much, he came out; and he became as if dead, so that the most said, He is dead.

27 But Jesus, having taken hold of him by the hand, lifted him up, and he arose.

17 And one of the crowd answered and said, Teacher, I brought unto thee my son having a dumb spirit;

18 and whensoever it taketh him, it teareth him, and he foameth and gnasheth his teeth, and is withering away. And I spoke to thy disciples that they should cast it out; and they were not able.

19 And answering them He saith, O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I bear with you? Bring him unto me.

20 And they brought him unto Him; and when He saw him, straightway the spirit tore him, and falling on the ground he wallowed foaming.

21 And He asked his father, How long time is it that this hath come to him? And he said, From a child.

22 And often it cast him both into fire and into waters to destroy him; but if thou hast any power, help us in thy pitifulness toward us.

23 But Jesus said to him, If thou hast power [is] to believe [^] : all things are possible to him that believeth.

24 And straightway the father of the child cried out and said [^] , I believe: help mine unbelief.

25 And Jesus, seeing that a crowd was running up together, rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it, Dumb and deaf spirit, I command thee, come out of him and enter no more into him.

26 And having cried out and torn [him] much, it came out, and he became as if dead, so that the most said, He is dead.

27 But Jesus laying hold of him by the hand raised him up; and he stood up.

Mark

- 28 And when he was entered into the house, his disciples asked him privately, Wherefore could not we cast him out?
- 29 And he said to them, This kind can go out by nothing but by prayer and fasting.
- 30 And going forth from thence they went through Galilee; and he would not that any one knew it;
- 31 for he taught his disciples and said to them, The Son of man is delivered into men's hands, and they shall kill him; and having been killed, after three days he shall rise again.
- 32 But they understood not the saying, and feared to ask him.
- 33 And he came to Capernaum, and being in the house, he asked them, Of what were ye reasoning by the way?
- 34 And they remained silent, for by the way they had been reasoning with one another who [was] greatest.
- 35 And sitting down he called the twelve; and he says to them, If any one would be first, he shall be last of all, and minister of all.
- 36 And taking a little child he set it in their midst, and having taken it in his arms he said to them,
- 37 Whosoever shall receive one of such little children in my name, receives me; and whosoever shall receive me, does not receive me, but him who sent me.
- 38 And John answered him saying, Teacher, we saw some one casting out demons in thy name, who does not follow us, and we forbid him, because he does not follow us.
- 39 But Jesus said, Forbid him not; for there is no one who shall do a miracle in my name, and be able soon [after] to speak ill of me;
- 40 for he who is not against us is for us.
- 41 For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in [my] name because ye are Christ's, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.
- 42 And whosoever, shall be a snare to one of the little ones who believe [in me], it were better for him if a millstone were hung about his neck, and he cast into the sea.
- 43 And if thy hand serve as a snare to thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having thy two hands to go away into hell, into the fire unquenchable;
- 44 [where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched].
- 45 And if thy foot serve as a snare to thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter life lame, than having thy two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire unquenchable;
- 46 [where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched].
- 47 And if thine eye serve as a snare to thee, cast it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into the hell of fire,
- 48 where their worm dies not, and the fire is not quenched.
- 49 For every one shall be salted with fire, and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt.
- 50 Salt [is] good, but if the salt is become saltless, wherewith will ye season it? Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with one another.

MARK 10 JND

MARK 10 WK

1	And rising up thence he comes into the coasts of Judæa, and the other side of the Jordan. And again crowds come together to him, and, as he was accustomed, again he taught them.	1	Λ
2	And Pharisees coming to [him] asked him, Is it lawful for a man to put away [his] wife? (tempting him).	2	Λ
3	But he answering said to them, What did Moses command you?
4	And they said, Moses allowed to write a bill of divorce, and to put away.
5	And Jesus answering said to them, In view of your hard-heartedness he wrote this commandment for you;
6	but from [the] beginning of [the] creation God made them male and female.	6	Λ
7	For this cause a man shall leave his father and mother and shall be united to his wife,	7	Λ
8	and the two shall be one flesh: so that they are no longer two but one flesh.
9	What therefore God has joined together, let not man separate.
10	And again in the house the disciples asked him concerning this.
11	And he says to them, Whosoever shall put away his wife and shall marry another, commits adultery against her.
12	And if a woman put away her husband and shall marry another, she commits adultery.
13	And they brought little children to him that he might touch them. But the disciples rebuked those that brought [them].	13	Λ
14	But Jesus seeing [it], was indignant, and said to them, Suffer the little children to come to me; forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God.
15	Verily I say to you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, shall in no wise enter into it.
16	And having taken them in his arms, having laid his hands on them, he blessed them.
17	And as he went forth into the way, a person ran up to [him], and kneeling to him asked him, Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?
18	But Jesus said to him, Why callest thou me good? no one is good but one, [that is] God.
19	Thou knowest the commandments: Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Do not defraud, Honour thy father and mother.
20	And he answering said to him, Teacher, all these things have I kept from my youth.
21	And Jesus looking upon him loved him, and said to him, One thing lackest thou: go, sell whatever thou hast and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me, [taking up the cross].	21	Λ
22	But he, sad at the word, went away grieved, for he had large possessions.

Mark

- 23 And Jesus looking around says to his disciples, How difficultly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!
- 24 And the disciples were amazed at his words. And Jesus again answering says to them, Children, how difficult it is that those who trust in riches should enter into the kingdom of God! 24 A
- 25 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.
- 26 And they were exceedingly astonished, saying to one another, And who can be saved?
- 27 But Jesus looking on them says, With men it is impossible, but not with God; for all things are possible with God.
- 28 Peter began to say to him, Behold, we have left all things and have followed thee.
- 29 Jesus answering said, Verily I say to you, There is no one who has left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, [or wife], or children, or lands for my sake and for the sake of the gospel, 29 A
- 30 that shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time: houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions, and in the coming age life eternal.
- 31 But many first shall be last, and the last first.
- 32 And they were in the way going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going on before them; and they were amazed and were afraid as they followed. And taking the twelve again to [him], he began to tell them what was going to happen to him: 32 A
- 33 Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be delivered up to the chief priests and to the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him up to the nations:
- 34 and they shall mock him, and shall scourge him, and shall spit upon him, and shall kill him; and after three days he shall rise again. 34 A
- 35 And there come to him James and John, the sons of Zebedee, saying [to him], Teacher, we would that whatsoever we may ask thee, thou wouldst do it for us. 35 A
- 36 And he said to them, What would ye that I should do for you?
- 37 And they said to him, Give to us that we may sit, one on thy right hand, and one on thy left hand, in thy glory.
- 38 And Jesus said to them, Ye do not know what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup which I drink, of be baptized with the baptism that I am baptised with?
- 39 And they said to him, We are able. And Jesus said to them, The cup that I drink ye will drink and with the baptism that I am baptised with ye will be baptised,
- 40 but to sit on my right hand or on my left is not mine to give, but for those for whom it is prepared.
- 41 And the ten having heard [of it], began to be indignant about James and John.
- 42 But Jesus having called them to [him], says to them, Ye know that those who are esteemed to rule over the nations exercise lordship over them; and their great men exercise authority over them;

43 but it is not thus among you, but whosoever would be great among you, shall be your minister;

44 and whosoever would be first of you shall be bondman of all.

45 For also the Son of man did not come to be ministered to, but to minister, and give his life a ransom for many.

46 And they come to Jericho, and as he was going out from Jericho, and his disciples and a large crowd, the son of Timæus, Bartimæus, the blind [man], sat by the wayside begging.

47 And having heard that it was Jesus the Nazaræan, he began to say, O Son of David, Jesus, have mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, that he might be silent; but he cried so much the more, Son of David, have mercy on me.

49 And Jesus, standing still, desired him to be called. And they call the blind [man], saying to him, Be of good courage, rise up, he calls thee.

50 And, throwing away his garment, he started up and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answering says to him, What wilt thou that I shall do to thee? And the blind [man] said to him, Rabboni, that I may see.

52 And Jesus said to him, Go, thy faith has healed thee. And he saw immediately, and followed him in the way.

MARK II JND

1 And when they draw near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount of Olives, he sends two of his disciples,

2 and says to them, Go into the village which is over against you, and immediately on entering into it ye will find a colt tied, upon which no [child] of man has ever sat: loose it and lead it [here].

3 And if any one say to you, Why do ye this? say, The Lord has need of it; and straightway he sends it hither.

4 And they departed, and found a colt bound to the door without at the crossway, and they loose him.

5 And some of those who stood there said to them, What are ye doing, loosing the colt?

6 And they said to them as Jesus had commanded.

7 And they let them [do it]. And they led the colt to Jesus, and cast their clothes upon it, and he sat on it;

8 and many strewed their clothes on the way, and others cut down branches from the trees [and went on strewing them on the way].

9 And those going on before and those following cried out, Hosanna! blessed [be] he that comes in [the] Lord's name.

10 Blessed [be] the coming kingdom of our father David. Hosanna in the highest!

50 And, throwing away his garment, he sprang up and came unto Jesus.

51 And Jesus in answer said to him, What wilt thou that I should do to thee? And the blind said, Teacher [Rabboni], that I may receive sight.

52 And Jesus said to him, Go thy way; thy faith hath healed [saved] thee. And immediately he received sight, and followed him in the way.

MARK II WK

1 And when they came nigh to Jerusalem [unto Bethphage], and unto Bethany, to the Mount of Olives He sendeth two of His disciples,

4 And they went away and found a colt tied to the door without at the crossway; and they loose it.

5 And some of those standing there said to them, What do ye, loosing the colt?

6 And they said to them even as Jesus said: and they suffered them.

7 And they bring the colt to Jesus and cast their garments on it; and He sat upon it.

8 And many strewed their garments on the way, and others beds of twigs, having cut them from the fields.

Mark

- 11 And he entered into Jerusalem and into the temple; and having looked round on all things, the hour being already late, he went out to Bethany with the twelve.
- 12 And on the morrow, when they were gone out of Bethany, he hungered.
- 13 And seeing from afar off a fig-tree which had leaves, he came, if perhaps he might find something on it. And having come up to it he found nothing but leaves, for it was not the time of figs.
- 14 And answering he said to it, Let no one eat fruit of thee any more for ever. And his disciples heard [it].
- 15 And they come to Jerusalem, and entering into the temple, he began to cast out those who sold and who bought in the temple, and he overthrew the tables of the moneychangers and the seats of the dove-sellers,
- 16 and suffered not that any one should carry any package through the temple.
- 17 And he taught saying to them, Is it not written, My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations? but ye have made it a den of robbers.
- 18 And the chief priests and the scribes heard [it], and they sought how they might destroy him; for they feared him, because all the crowd were astonished at his doctrine.
- 19 And when it was evening he went forth without the city.
- 20 And passing by early in the morning they saw the fig-tree dried up from the roots.
- 21 And Peter, remembering [what Jesus had said], says to him, Rabbi, see, the fig-tree which thou cursedst is dried up.
- 22 And Jesus answering says to them, Have faith in God.
- 23 Verily I say to you, that whosoever shall say to this mountain, Be thou taken away and cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart, but believe that what he says takes place, whatever he shall say shall come to pass for him.
- 24 For this reason I say to you, All things whatsoever ye pray for and ask, believe that ye receive it, and it shall come to pass for you.
- 25 And when ye stand praying, forgive if ye have anything against any one, that your Father also who is in the heavens may forgive you your offences.
- 26 But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father who is in the heavens forgive your offences.
- 27 And they come again to Jerusalem. And as he walked about in the temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders come to him, and they say to him,
- 28 By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority, that thou shouldest do these things?
- 29 And Jesus answering said to them, I also will ask you one thing, and answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things:
- 30 The baptism of John, was it of heaven or of men? answer me.
- 31 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we should say, Of heaven, he will say, Why [then] have ye not believed him?
- 11 . . . entered into Jerusalem [^] into the temple; and having looked round on all things, the hour being already late, He went out unto Bethany with the twelve.
- 12 And on the morrow, when they came out from Bethany, He was hungry;

- 17 Is it not written, My house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations? but ye have made it a den of robbers.
- 18 And the chief priest and the scribes heard [it], and sought how they might destroy Him; for they feared Him, because all the multitude were astonished at His doctrine.
- 23 [^] . . .
but believe that what he speaks comes to pass, he shall have [it]
- 24 For this reason I say unto you, All things, whatsoever ye shall pray and beg, believe that ye have received, and ye shall have [them]

- 32 but should we say, Of men — They feared the people; for all held of John that he was truly a prophet.
- 33 And they answering say to Jesus, We do not know. And Jesus [answering] says to them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

MARK 12 JND

- 1 And he began to say to them in parables, A man planted a vineyard, and made a fence round [it] and dug a wine-vat, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and left the country.
- 2 And he sent a bondman to the husbandmen at the season, that he might receive from the husbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.
- 3 But they took him, and beat [him], and sent [him] away empty.
- 4 And again he sent to them another bondman; and [at] him they [threw stones, and] struck [him] on the head, and sent [him] away with insult.
- 5 And [again] he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, beating some and killing some.
- 6 Having yet therefore one beloved son, he sent also him to them the last, saying, They will have respect for my son.
- 7 But those husbandmen said to one another, This is the heir: come, let us kill him and the inheritance will be ours.
- 8 And they took him and killed him, and cast him forth out of the vineyard.
- 9 What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the husbandmen, and will give the vineyard to others.
- 10 Have ye not even read this scripture, The stone which they that builded rejected, this has become the corner-stone:
- 11 this is of [the] Lord, and it is wonderful in our eyes?
- 12 And they sought to lay hold of him, and they feared the crowd; for they knew that he had spoken the parable of them. And they left him and went away.
- 13 And they send to him certain of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, that they might catch him in speaking.
- 14 And they come and say to him, Teacher, we know that thou art true, and carest not for any one; for thou regardest not men's person, but teachest the way of God with truth: Is it lawful to give tribute to Cæsar or not?
- 15 Should we give or should we not give? But he knowing their hypocrisy said unto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a denarius that I may see [it].
- 16 And they brought [it]. And he says to them, Whose [is] this image and superscription? And they said to him, Cæsar's.
- 17 And Jesus answering said to them, Pay what is Cæsar's to Cæsar, and what is God's to God. And they wondered at him.
- 18 And Sadducees come to him, that say there is no resurrection; and they demanded of him saying,

Mark

- 19 Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if any one's brother die, and leave a wife behind, and leave no children, that his brother shall take his wife and raise up seed to his brother.
- 20 There were seven brethren; and the first took a wife, and dying did not leave seed; 20 A
- 21 And the second took her and died, and neither did he leave seed; and the third likewise.
- 22 And the seven [took her and] did not leave seed. Last of all the woman also died. 22 A
- 23 In the resurrection, when they shall rise again, of which of them shall she be wife, for the seven had her as wife? 23 A
- 24 And Jesus answering said to them, Do not ye therefore err, not knowing the scriptures nor the power of God?
- 25 For when they rise from among [the] dead they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as angels [who are] in the heavens.
- 26 But concerning the dead that they rise, have ye not read in the book of Moses, in the [section of the] bush, how God spoke to him, saying, I [am] the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the god of Jacob?
- 27 He is not the God of [the] dead, but of [the] living. Ye therefore greatly err.
- 28 And one of the scribes who had come up, and had heard them reasoning together, perceiving that he had answered them well, demanded of him, Which is [the] first commandment of all?
- 29 And Jesus answered him, [The] first commandment of all [is], Hear, Israel: the Lord our God is one Lord;
- 30 and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thine understanding, and with all thy strength. This is [the] first commandment. 30 A
- 31 And a second like it [is] this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is not another commandment greater than these.
- 32 And the scribe said to him, Right, teacher; thou has spoken according to [the] truth. For he is one, and there is none other besides him; 32 A
- 33 and to love him with all the heart, and with all the intelligence, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love one's neighbour as one's self, is more than all the burnt-offerings and sacrifices.
- 34 And Jesus, seeing that he had answered intelligently, said to him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. And on one dared question him any more.
- 35 And Jesus answering said [as he was] teaching in the temple, How do the scribes say that the Christ is son of David?
- 36 [for] David himself said [speaking] in the Holy Spirit, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit on my right hand until I put thine enemies [as] footstool of thy feet.
- 37 David himself [therefore] calls him Lord, and whence is he his son? And the mass of the people heard him gladly.
- 38 And he said to them in his doctrine, Beware of the scribes, who like to walk about in long robes, and salutations in the marketplaces,

- 39 and first seats in the synagogues, and first places at suppers;
 40 who devour the houses of widows, and as a pretext make long prayers. These shall receive a severer judgement.
 41 And Jesus, having sat down opposite the treasury, saw how the crowd was casting money into the treasury; and many rich cast in much.
 42 And a poor widow came and cast in two mites, which is a farthing.
 43 And having called his disciples to [him] he said to them, Verily I say unto you, This poor widow has cast in more than all who have cast into the treasury:
 44 for all have cast in of that which they had in abundance, but she of her destitution has cast in all that she had, the whole of her living.

MARK 13 WK

- 1 And as he was going out of the temple, one of his disciples says to him, Teacher, see what stones and what buildings!
 2 And Jesus answering said to him, Seest thou these great buildings? not a stone shall be left upon a stone which shall not be thrown down.
 3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him privately,
 4 Tell us, when shall these things be, and what is the sign when all these things are going to be fulfilled.
 5 And Jesus answering them began to say, Take heed lest any one mislead you.
 6 For many shall come in my name, saying, It is I, and shall mislead many.
 7 But when ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars, be not disturbed, for [this] must happen, but the end is not yet.
 8 For nation shall rise up against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; and there shall be earthquakes in [different] places, and there shall be famines and troubles: these things [are the] beginnings of throes.
 9 But ye, take heed to yourselves, for they shall deliver you up to sanhedrims and to synagogues: ye shall be beaten and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony to them;
 10 and the gospel must first be preached to all the nations.
 11 But when they shall lead you away to deliver you up, be not careful beforehand as to what ye shall say, [nor prepare your discourse:] but whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, that speak; for ye are not the speakers, but the Holy Spirit.
 12 But brother shall deliver up brother to death, and father child; and children shall rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death.
 13 And ye will be hated of all on account of my name; but he that has endured to the end, he shall be saved.

nor enter [into it] to take away anything out of his house; 16 and him that is in the field not return back to take his garment.
17 But woe to those that are with child and to those that give suck in those days!
18 and pray that it may not be in winter time;
19 for those days shall be distress such as there has not been the like since [the] beginning of creation which God created, until now, and never shall be;
20 and if [the] Lord had not cut short those days, no flesh should have been saved; but on account of the elect whom he has chosen, he has cut short those days.
21 And then if any one say to you, Lo, here [is] the Christ, or Lo, there, believe [it] not.
22 For false Christs and false prophets will arise, and give signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect.
23 But do ye take heed: behold, I have told you all things beforehand.
24 But in those days, after that distress, the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall not give its light; 25 and the stars of heaven shall be falling down, and the powers which are in the heavens shall be shaken;
26 and then shall they see the Son of man coming in clouds with great power and glory;
27 and then shall he send his angels and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from end of earth to end of heaven.
28 But learn the parable from the fig-tree: when its branch already becomes tender and puts forth the leaves, ye know that the summer is near.
29 Thus also ye, when ye see these things happening, know that it is near, at the doors.
30 Verily I say unto you, This generation shall in no wise pass away till all these things take place.
31 The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall in no wise pass away.
32 But of that day or of that hour no one knows, neither the angels who are in heaven, nor the Son, but the Father.
33 Take heed, watch and pray, for ye do not know when the time is:
34 [it is] as a man gone out of the country, having left his house and given to his bondmen the authority, and to each one his work, and commanded the doorkeeper that he should watch.
35 Watch therefore, for ye do not know when the master of the house comes: evening, or midnight, or cockcrow, or morning;
36 lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping.
37 But what I say to you, I say to all, Watch.

were seeking how they might seize him by subtlety and kill him.

2 For they said, Not in the feast, lest perhaps there be a tumult of the people.

3 And when he was in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper, as he lay at table, there came a woman having an alabaster flask of ointment of pure nard, very costly; and having broken the alabaster flask, she poured it out upon his head.

4 And there were some indignant in themselves and saying, Why has this waste been made of the ointment?

5 for this ointment could have been sold for more than three hundred denarii and given to the poor. And they spoke very angrily at her.

6 But Jesus said, Let her alone; why do ye trouble her? she has wrought a good work as to me;

7 for ye have the poor always with you, and whenever ye would ye can do them good; but me ye have not always.

8 What she could she has done. She has beforehand anointed my body for the burial.

9 And verily I say unto you, Wheresoever these glad tidings may be preached in the whole world, what this [woman] has done shall be also spoken of for a memorial of her.

10 And Judas Iscariote, one of the twelve, went away to the chief priests that he might deliver him up to them;

11 and they, when they heard it, rejoiced, and promised him to give money. And he sought how he could opportunely deliver him up.

12 And the first day of unleavened bread, when they slew the passover, his disciples say to him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the passover?

13 And he sends two of his disciples, and says to them, Go into the city, and a man shall meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him.

14 And wheresoever he enters, say to the master of the house, The Teacher says, Where is my guest-chamber where I may eat the passover with my disciples?

15 and he will shew you a large upper room furnished ready. There make ready for us.

16 And his disciples went away and came into the city, and found as he had said to them; and they made ready the passover.

17 And when evening was come, he comes with the twelve.

18 And as they lay at table and were eating, Jesus said, Verily I say to you, One of you shall deliver me up; he who is eating with me.

19 And they began to be grieved, and to say to him, one by one, Is it I? [and another, Is it I?]

20 But he answered and said to them, One of the twelve, he who dips with me in the dish.

21 The Son of man goes indeed as it is written concerning him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is delivered up; [it were] good for that man if he had not been born.

44 Now he that delivered him up had given them a sign between them, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that is he; seize him, and lead [him] away safely.

45 And being come, Straightway coming up to him, he says, Rabbi, Rabbi; and he covered him with kisses.

46 And they laid their hands upon him and seized him.

47 But a certain one of those who stood by, having drawn his sword, struck the bondman of the high priest, and took off his ear.

48 And Jesus answering said to them, Are ye come out as against a robber, with swords and sticks to take me?

49 I was daily with you teaching in the temple, and ye did not seize me; but [it is] that the scriptures may be fulfilled.

50 And all left him and fled.

51 And a certain young man followed him with a linen cloth cast about his naked [body]; and [the young men] seize him;

52 but he, leaving the linen cloth behind [him], fled from them naked.

53 And they led away Jesus to the high priest. And there come together to him all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.

54 And Peter followed him at a distance, till [he was] within the court of the high priest's palace; and he was sitting with the officers and warming himself in the light [of the fire].

55 And the chief priests and the whole sanhedrim sought testimony against Jesus to cause him to be put to death, and did not find [any].

56 For many bore false witness against him, and their testimony did not agree.

57 And certain persons rose up and bore false witness against him, saying,

58 We heard him saying, I will destroy this temple which is made with hands, and in the course of three days I will build another not made with hands.

59 And neither thus did their testimony agree.

60 And the high priest, rising up before them all, asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What do these testify against thee?

61 But he was silent, and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him, and says to him, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?

62 And Jesus said, I am, and ye shall see the Son of man sitting at the right hand of power, and coming with the clouds of heaven.

63 And the high priest, having rent his clothes, says, What need have we any more of witnesses?

64 Ye have heard the blasphemy; what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death.

65 And some began to spit upon him, and cover up his face, and buffet him, and say to him, Prophesy; and the officers struck him with the palms of their hands.

67 and seeing Peter warming himself, having looked at him, says, And thou wast with the Nazarene, Jesus.
68 But he denied, saying, I know not nor understand what thou sayest. And he went out into the vestibule; and a cock crew.
69 And the maid, seeing him, again began to say to those that stood by, This is [one] of them.
70 And he again denied. And again, after a little, those that stood by said to Peter, Truly thou art [one] of them, for also thou art a Galilean.
71 But he began to curse and to swear, I know not this man of whom ye speak.
72 And the second time a cock crew. And Peter remembered the word that Jesus said to him, Before [the] cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice; and when he thought thereon he wept.

MARK 15 JND

- 1 And immediately in the morning the chief priests, having taken counsel with the elders and scribes and the whole sanhedrim, bound Jesus and carried [him] away, and delivered [him] up to Pilate.
2 And Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Jews? And he answered and said to him, Thou sayest.
3 And the chief priests accused him urgently.
4 And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? See of how many things they bear witness against thee.
5 But Jesus still answered nothing, so that Pilate marvelled.
6 But at [the] feast he released to them one prisoner, whomsoever they begged [of him].
7 Now there was the [person] named Barabbas bound with those who had made insurrection with [him], [and] that had committed murder in the insurrection.
8 And the crowd crying out began to beg [that he would do] to them as he had always done.
9 But Pilate answered them saying, Will ye that I release to you the King of the Jews?
10 for he knew that the chief priests had delivered him up through envy.
11 But the chief priests stirred up the crowd that he might rather release Barabbas to them.
12 And Pilate answering said to them again, What will ye then that I do [to him] whom ye call King of the Jews?
13 And they cried out again, Crucify him.
14 And Pilate said to them, What evil then has he done? But they cried out the more urgently, Crucify him.
15 And Pilate, desirous of contenting the crowd, released to them Barabbas, and delivered up Jesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.
16 And the soldiers led him away into the court which is [called the] prætorium, and they call together the whole band.

- 66 And as Peter was below in the court, there cometh one of the maids of the high priest, 67 and seeing Peter warming himself, she looked on him and saith, Thou also wast with the Nazarene, Jesus.
68 But he denied, saying, I know not [him], nor understand what thou sayest. And he went out into the fore-court, and a cock crew.
69 And the maid seeing him again began to say to the bystanders, This is [one] of them.
70 And he again kept denying. And after a little again the bystanders were saying to Peter, Truly thou art [one] of them, for also thou art a Galilean.
71 But he began to curse and to swear, I know not this man of whom you speak.
72 And immediately a second time a cock crew. And Peter recalled to mind the word, how Jesus said to him, Before a cock crow twice, thou wilt thrice deny me. And as he thought thereon he kept weeping.

- 17 And they clothe him with purple, and bind round on him a crown of thorns which they had plaited.
- 18 And they began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews!
- 19 And they struck his head with a reed, and spat on him, and, bending the knee, did him homage.
- 20 And when they had mocked him, they took the purple off him, and put his own clothes on him; and they lead him out that they may crucify him.
- 21 And they compel to go [with him] a certain passer by, Simon, a Cyrenian, coming from the field, the father of Alexander and Rufus, that he might carry his cross.
- 22 And they bring him to the place [called] Golgotha, which, being interpreted, is Place of a skull.
- 23 And they offered him wine [to drink] medicated with myrrh; but he did not take [it].
- 24 And having crucified him, they part his clothes amongst [themselves], casting lots on them what each one should take.
- 25 And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.
- 26 And the superscription of what he was accused of was written up: The King of the Jews.
- 27 And with him they crucify two robbers, one on his right hand, and one on his left.
- 28 [And the scripture was fulfilled which says, And he was reckoned with the lawless.]
- 29 And they that passed by reviled him, shaking their heads, and saying, Aha, thou that destroyest the temple and buildest it in three days,
- 30 save thyself, and descend from the cross.
- 31 In like manner the chief priests also, with the scribes, mocking with one another, said, He saved others; himself he cannot save.
- 32 Let the Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see and may believe. And they that were crucified with him reproached him.
- 33 And when [the] sixth hour was come, there came darkness over the whole land until [the] ninth hour;
- 34 and at the ninth hour, Jesus cried with a loud voice, [saying,] Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?
- 35 And some of those who stood by, when they heard [it], said, Behold, he calls for Elias.
- 36 And one, running and filling a sponge with vinegar, fixed it on a reed, and gave him to drink, saying, Let alone, let us see if Elias comes to take him down.
- 37 And Jesus, having uttered a loud cry, expired.
- 38 And the veil of the temple was rent in two from the top to the bottom.
- 39 And the centurion who stood by over against him, when he saw that he had expired having thus cried out, said, Truly this man was Son of God.
- 40 And there were women also looking on from afar off, among whom were both Mary of Magdala, and Mary the mother of James the less and of Joses, and Salome;

- 43 Joseph of Arimathæa, an honourable councillor, who also himself was awaiting the kingdom of God, coming, emboldened himself and went in to Pilate and begged the body of Jesus.
- 44 And Pilate wondered if he were already dead; and having called to [him] the centurion, he inquired of him if he had long died.
- 45 And when he knew from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph.
- 46 And having bought fine linen, [and] having taken him down, he swathed him in the fine linen, and laid him in a sepulchre which was cut out of rock, and rolled a stone to the door of the sepulchre.

- 7 But go, tell his disciples and Peter, he goes before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him, as he said to you.
- 8 And they went out, and fled from the sepulchre. and trembling and excessive amazement possessed them, and they said nothing to any one, for they were afraid.
- 9 Now when he had risen very early, the first [day] of the week, he appeared first to Mary of Magdala, out of whom he had cast seven demons.

- 1 Forasmuch as many have undertaken to draw up a relation concerning the matters fully believed among us,
- 2 as those who from the beginning were eye-witnesses of and attendants on the Word have delivered them to us,
- 3 it has seemed good to me also, accurately acquainted from the origin with all things, to write to thee with method, most excellent Theophilus,
- 4 that thou mightest know the certainty of those things in which thou hast been instructed.
- 5 There was in the days of Herod, the king of Judæa, a certain priest, by name Zacharias, of the course of Abia, and his wife of the daughters of Aaron, and her name Elizabeth.
- 6 And they were both just before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.
- 7 And they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both advanced in years.
- 8 And it came to pass, as he fulfilled his priestly service before God in the order of his course,
- 9 it fell to him by lot, according to the custom of the priesthood, to enter into the temple of the Lord to burn incense.
- 10 And all the multitude of the people were praying without at the hour of incense.
- 11 And an angel of [the] Lord appeared to him, standing on the right of the altar of incense.
- 12 And Zacharias was troubled, seeing [him], and fear fell upon him.
- 13 But the angel said to him, Fear not, Zacharias, because thy supplication has been heard, and thy wife Elizabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name John.
- 14 And he shall be to thee joy and rejoicing, and many shall rejoice at his birth.
- 15 For he shall be great before [the] Lord, and he shall drink no wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with [the] Holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb.
- 16 And many of the sons of Israel shall he turn to [the] Lord their God.
- 17 And he shall go before him in [the] spirit and power of Elias, to turn hearts of fathers to children, and disobedient ones to [the] thoughts of just [men], to make ready for [the] Lord a prepared people.
- 18 And Zacharias said to the angel, How shall I know this, for I am an old man, and my wife advanced in years?
- 19 And the angel answering, said to him, I am Gabriel, who stand before God, and I have been sent to speak to thee, and to bring these glad tidings to thee;
- 20 and behold, thou shalt be silent and not able to speak till the day in which these things shall take place, because thou hast not believed my words, the which shall be fulfilled in their time.
- 21 And the people were awaiting Zacharias, and they wondered at his delaying in the temple.

22 But when he came out he could not speak to them, and they recognised that he had seen a vision in the temple. And he was making signs to them, and continued dumb.

23 And it came to pass, when the days of his service were completed, he departed to his house.

24 Now after these days, Elizabeth his wife conceived, and hid herself five months, saying,

25 Thus has [the] Lord done to me in [these] days in which he looked upon [me] to take away my reproach among men.

26 But in the sixth month, the angel Gabriel was sent of God to a city of Galilee, of which [the] name [was] Nazareth, 27 to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name [was] Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name [was] Mary.

28 And the angel came in to her, and said, Hail, [thou] favoured one! the Lord [is] with thee: [blessed art thou amongst women.]

29 But she, [seeing] [the angel], was troubled at his word, and reasoned in her mind what this salutation might be.

30 And the angel said to her, Fear not, Mary, for thou has found favour with God;

31 and behold, thou shalt conceive in the womb and bear a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus.

32 He shall be great, and shall be called Son of [the] Highest; and [the] Lord God shall give him the throne of David his father;

33 and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for the ages, and of his kingdom there shall not be an end.

34 But Mary said to the angel, How shall this be, since I know not a man?

35 And the angel answering said to her, [The] Holy Spirit shall come upon thee, and power of [the] Highest overshadow thee, wherefore the holy thing also which shall be born shall be called Son of God.

36 And behold, Elizabeth, thy kinswoman, she also has conceived a son in her old age, and this is the sixth month to her that was called barren:

37 for nothing shall be impossible with God.

38 And Mary said, Behold the bondmaid of [the] Lord; be it to me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her.

39 And Mary, rising up in those days, went into the hill country with haste, to a city of Judah, 40 and entered into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elizabeth.

41 And it came to pass, as Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with [the] Holy Spirit, 42 and cried out with a loud voice and said, Blessed [art] thou amongst women, and blessed the fruit of thy womb.

43 And whence [is] this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For behold, as the voice of thy salutation sounded in my ears, the babe leaped with joy in my womb.

45 And blessed [is] she that has believed, for there shall be a fulfillment of the things spoken to her from [the] Lord.
 46 And Mary said, My soul magnifies the Lord,
 47 and my spirit has rejoiced in God my Saviour.
 48 For he has looked upon the low estate of his bondmaid; for behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me blessed.
 49 For the Mighty One has done to me great things, and holy [is] his name;
 50 and his mercy [is] to generations and generations to them that fear him.
 51 He has wrought strength with his arm; he has scattered haughty [ones] in the thought of their heart.
 52 He has put down rulers from thrones, and exalted the lowly.
 53 He has filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.
 54 He has helped Israel his servant, in order to remember mercy,
 55 (as he spoke to our fathers,) to Abraham and to his seed forever.
 56 And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned to her house.
 57 But the time was fulfilled for Elizabeth that she should bring forth, and she gave birth to a son.
 58 And her neighbors and kinsfolk heard that [the] Lord had magnified his mercy with her, and they rejoiced with her.
 59 And it came to pass on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child, and they called it after the name of his father, Zacharias.
 60 And his mother answering said, No; but he shall be called John.
 61 And they said to her, There is no one among thy kinsfolk who is called by this name.
 62 And they made signs to his father as to what he might wish it to be called.
 63 And having asked for a writing-table, he wrote saying, John is his name. And they all wondered.
 64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, and he spake, blessing God.
 65 And fear came upon all who dwelt round about them; and in the whole hill country of Judæa all these things were the subject of conversation.
 66 And all who heard them laid them up in their heart, saying, What then will this child be? And [the] Lord's hand was with him.
 67 And Zacharias his father was filled with [the] Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying,
 68 Blessed be [the] Lord the God of Israel, because he has visited and wrought redemption for his people, 69 and raised up a horn of deliverance for us in the house of David his servant;

us,
74 that, saved out of the hand of our enemies, we should serve him without fear
75 in piety and righteousness before him all our days.
76 And thou, child, shalt be called [the] prophet of [the] Highest; for thou shalt go before the face of [the] Lord to make ready his ways;
77 to give knowledge of deliverance to his people by [the] remission of their sins
78 on account of [the] bowels of mercy of our God; wherein
[the] dayspring from on high has visited us,
79 to shine upon them who were sitting in darkness and in [the] shadow of death, to guide our feet into [the] way of peace.
80 — And the child grew and was strengthened in spirit; and he was in the deserts until the day of his shewing to Israel.

1 But it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Cæsar Augustus, that a census should be made of all the habitable world.
2 The census itself first took place when Cyrenius had the government of Syria.
3 And all went to be inscribed in the census roll, each to his own city:
4 and Joseph also went up from Galilee out of the city
Nazareth to Judæa, to David's city, the which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and family of David,
5 to be inscribed in the census roll with Mary who was betrothed to him [as his] wife, she being great with child.
6 And it came to pass, while they were there, the days of her giving birth [to her child] were fulfilled, 7 and she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him up in swaddling-clothes and laid him in the manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.
8 And there were shepherds in that country abiding without, and keeping watch by night over their flock.
9 And lo, an angel of [the] Lord was there by them, and [the] glory of [the] Lord shone around them, and they feared [with] great fear.
10 And the angel said to them, Fear not, for behold, I announce to you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to who is Christ [the] Lord.

12 And this is the sign to you: ye shall find a babe wrapped in

| 17 | and having seen [it] they made known about the country the thing which had been said to them concerning this child. | 17 | Λ |
| 18 | And all who heard [it] wondered at the things said to them by the shepherds. | | |
| 19 | But Mary kept all these things [in her mind], pondering [them] in her heart. | | |
| 20 | And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all things which they had heard and seen, as it had been said to them. | | |
| 21 | And when eight days were fulfilled for circumcising him, his name was called Jesus, which was the name given by the angel before he had been conceived in the womb. | 21 | Λ |
| 22 | And when the days were fulfilled for their purifying according to the law of Moses, they brought him to Jerusalem to present [him] to the Lord | 22 | Λ |
| 23 | (as it is written in the law of [the] Lord: Every male that opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord), | | |
| 24 | and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of [the] Lord: A pair of turtle doves, or two young pigeons. | | |
| 25 | And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon; and this man was just and pious, awaiting the consolation of Israel, and [the] Holy Spirit was upon him. | | |
| 26 | And it was divinely communicated to him by the Holy Spirit, that he should not see death before he should see [the] Lord's Christ. | | |
| 27 | And he came in the Spirit into the temple; and as the parents brought in the child Jesus that they might do for him according to the custom of the law, | | |
| 28 | he received him into his arms, and blessed God, and said, | | |
| 29 | Lord, now thou lettest thy bondman go, according to thy word, in peace; | | |
| 30 | for mine eyes have seen thy salvation, | | |
| 31 | which thou hast prepared before the face of all peoples; | 31 | Λ |
| 32 | a light for revelation of [the] Gentiles and [the] glory of thy people Israel. | 32 | Λ |
| 33 | And his father and mother wondered at the things which were said concerning him. | 33 | Λ |
| 34 | And Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary his mother, Lo, this [child] is set for the fall and rising up of many in Israel, and for a sign spoken against; | | |
| 35 | (and even a sword shall go through thine own soul;) so that [the] thoughts may be revealed from many hearts. | | |
| 36 | And there was a prophetess, Anna, daughter of Phanuel, of [the] tribe of Asher, who was far advanced in years, having lived with [her] husband seven years from her virginity, | | |

| 38 | and she coming up the same hour gave praise to the Lord, and spoke of him to all those who waited for redemption in Jerusalem. | 38 | Λ |
| 39 | And when they had completed all things according to the law of [the] Lord, they returned to Galilee to their own city Nazareth. | | |
| 40 | And the child grew and waxed strong [in spirit], filled with wisdom, and God's grace was upon him. | 40 | Λ |
| 41 | And his parents went yearly to Jerusalem at the feast of the passover. | | |
| 42 | And when he was twelve years old, and they went up [to Jerusalem] according to the custom of the feast | 42 | Λ |
| 43 | and had completed the days, as they returned the boy Jesus remained behind in Jerusalem, and his parents knew not [of it]; | 43 | Λ |
| 44 | but, supposing him to be in the company that journeyed together, they went a day's journey, and sought him among their relations and acquaintances: | | |
| 45 | and not having found him they returned to Jerusalem seeking him. | 45 | Λ |
| 46 | And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers and hearing them and asking them questions. | | |
| 47 | And all who heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers. | | |
| 48 | And when they saw him they were amazed: and his mother said to him, Child, why hast thou dealt thus with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee distressed. | | |
| 49 | And he said to them, Why [is it] that ye have sought me? did ye not know that I ought to be [occupied] in my Father's business? | | |
| 50 | And they understood not the thing that he said to them. | | |
| 51 | And he went down with them and came to Nazareth, and he was in subjection to them. And his mother kept all these things in her heart. | 51 | Λ |
| 52 | And Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and men. | | |

| 1 | Now in the fifteenth year of the government of Tiberias Cæsar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judæa, and Herod tetrarch of Galilee, and Philip his brother tetrarch of Ituræa and the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanius tetrarch of Abilene, | | |
| 2 | in the high priesthood of Annas and Caiaphas, [the] word of God came upon John, the son of Zacharias, in the wilderness. | 2 | Λ |
| 3 | And he came into all the district round the Jordan, preaching [the] baptism of repentance for [the] remission of sins, | | |

- 4 as it is written in [the] book of [the] words of Esaias the prophet: Voice of one crying in the wilderness: Prepare ye the way of [the] Lord, make straight his paths.
- 5 Every gorge shall be filled up, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and the crooked [places] shall become a straight [path], and the rough places smooth ways,
- 6 and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.
- 7 He said therefore to the crowds which went out to be baptised by him, Offspring of vipers, who has forewarned you to flee from the coming wrath?
- 8 Produce therefore fruits worthy of repentance; and begin not to say in yourselves, We have Abraham for [our] father, for I say unto you that God is able of these stones to raise up children to Abraham.
- 9 And already also the axe is applied to the root of the trees; every tree therefore not producing good fruit is cut down and cast into [the] fire. 9 A
- 10 And the crowds asked him saying, What should we do then?
- 11 And he answering says to them, He that has two body-coats, let him give to him that has none; and he that has food, let him do likewise. 11 A
- 12 And tax-gatherers came also to be baptised, and they said to him, Teacher, what should we do?
- 13 And he said to them, Take no more [money] than what is appointed to you.
- 14 And persons engaged in military service also asked him saying, And we, what should we do? And he said to them, Oppress no one, nor accuse falsely, and be satisfied with your pay. 14 A
- 15 But as the people were in expectation, and all were reasoning in their hearts concerning John whether he might be the Christ,
- 16 John answered all, saying, I indeed baptise you with water, but the mightier that I is coming, the thong of whose sandals I am not fit to unloose; he shall baptise you with [the] Holy Spirit and fire;
- 17 whose winnowing-fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his threshing-floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable. 17 A
- 18 Exhorting then many other things also he announced [his] glad tidings to the people.
- 19 But Herod the tetrarch, being reprov'd by him as to Herodias, the wife of his brother, and as to all the wicked things which Herod had done, 19 A
- 20 added this also to all [the rest], that he shut up John in prison. 20 A
- 21 And it came to pass, all the people having been baptised, and Jesus having been baptised and praying, that the heaven was opened,
- 22 and the Holy Spirit descended in a bodily form as a dove upon him; and a voice came out of heaven, Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I have found my delight.
- 23 And Jesus himself was beginning to be about thirty years old; being as was supposed son of Joseph; of Eli, 23 And Jesus himself was at his outset about thirty years old (being, as was supposed, the son of Joseph), of Heli,

1 But Jesus, full of [the] Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan, and was led by the Spirit in the wilderness
 2 forty days, tempted of the devil; and in those days he did not eat any thing, and when they were finished he hungered.
 3 And the devil said to him, If thou be Son of God, speak to this stone, that it become bread.
 4 And Jesus answered unto him saying, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.
 5 And [the devil], leading him up into a high mountain, shewed him all the kingdoms of the habitable world in a moment of time.
 6 And the devil said to him, I will give thee all this power, and their glory; for it is given up to me, and to whomsoever I will I give it.
 7 If therefore thou wilt do homage before me, all [of it] shall be thine.
 8 And Jesus answering him said, It is written, Thou shalt do homage to [the] Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serve.
 9 And he led him to Jerusalem, and set him on the edge of the temple, and said to him, If thou be Son of God, cast thyself down hence;
 10 for it is written, He shall give charge to his angels concerning thee to keep thee;
 11 and on [their] hands shall they bear thee, lest in any wise thou strike thy foot against a stone.
 12 And Jesus answering said to him, It is said, Thou shalt not tempt [the] Lord thy God.
 13 And the devil, having completed every temptation, departed from him for a time.
 14 And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee; and a rumour went out into the whole surrounding country about him;
 15 and he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all.
 16 And he came to Nazareth, where he was brought up;
 and he entered, according to his custom, into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up to read.

- 17 And [the] book of the prophet Esaias was given to him; and having unrolled the book he found the place where it was written,
- 18 [The] Spirit of [the] Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to preach glad tidings to [the] poor; he has sent me to preach to captives deliverance, and to [the] blind sight, to send forth [the] crushed delivered,
- 19 to preach [the] acceptable year of [the] Lord.
- 20 And having rolled up the book, when he had delivered it up to the attendant, he sat down; and the eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed upon him.
- 21 And he began to say to them, To-day this scripture is fulfilled in your ears.
- 22 And all bore witness to him, and wondered at the words of grace which were coming out of his mouth. And they said, Is not this the son of Joseph?
- 23 And he said to them, Ye will surely say to me this parable, Physician, heal thyself; whatsoever we have heard has taken place in Capernaum do here also in thine own country.
- 24 And he said, Verily I say to you, that no prophet is acceptable in his [own] country.
- 25 But of a truth I say to you, There were many widows in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up for three years and six months, so that a great famine came upon all the land,
- 26 and to none of them was Elias sent but to Sarepta of Sidonia, to a woman [that was] a widow.
- 27 And there were many lepers in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed but Naaman the Syrian.
- 28 And they were all filled with rage in the synagogue, hearing these things;
- 29 and rising up they cast him forth out of the city, and led him up to the brow of the mountain upon which their city was built, so that they might throw him down the precipice; but he, passing through the midst of them, went his way, and descended to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and taught them on the sabbaths.
- 30 And they were astonished at his doctrine, for his word was with authority.
- 31 And there was in the synagogue a man having a spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried with a loud voice,
- 32 saying, Eh! what have we to do with thee, Jesus, Nazarene? hast thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy [One] of God.
- 33 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out from him. And the demon, having thrown him down into the midst, came out from him without doing him any injury.
- 34 And astonishment came upon all, and they spoke to one another, saying, What word [is] this? for with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out.

- 33 And there was in the synagogue a man having a spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried with a loud voice,

- 35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out from him. And the demon, having thrown him down in the midst, came out from him, without injuring him.
- 36 And amazement came upon all, and they spoke together one with another, saying, What [is] this word? because with authority and power he commandeth the unclean spirits, and they come out.

- 37 And a rumour went out into every place of the country round concerning him.
- 38 And rising up out of the synagogue, he entered into the house of Simon. But Simon's mother-in-law was suffering under a bad fever; and they asked him for her.
- 39 And standing over her, he rebuked the fever, and it left her; and forthwith standing up she served them.
- 40 And when the sun went down, all, as many as had persons sick with divers diseases, brought them to him, and having laid his hands on every one of them, he healed them;
- 41 and demons also went out from many, crying out and saying, Thou art the Son of God. And rebuking them, he suffered them not to speak, because they knew him to be the Christ.
- 42 And when it was day he went out, and went into a desert place, and the crowds sought after him, and came up to him, and [would have] kept him back that he should not go from them.
- 43 But he said to them, I must needs announce the glad tidings of the kingdom of God to the other cities also, for for this I have been sent forth.
- 44 And he was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.

- 1 And it came to pass, as the crowd pressed on him to hear the word of God, that he was standing by the lake of Gennesaret:
- 2 and he saw two ships standing by the lake, but the fishermen, having come down from them, were washing their nets.
- 3 And getting into one of the ships, which was Simon's he asked him to draw out a little from the land; and he sat down and taught the crowds out of the ship.
- 4 But when he ceased speaking, he said to Simon, Draw out into the deep [water] and let down your nets for a haul.
- 5 And Simon answering said to him, Master, having laboured through the whole night we have taken nothing, but at thy word I will let down the net.
- 6 And having done this, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes. And their net broke.
- 7 And they beckoned to their partners who were in the other ship to come and help them, and they came, and filled both the ships, so that they were sinking.
- 8 But Simon Peter, seeing it, fell at Jesus' knees, saying, Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, Lord.
- 9 For astonishment had laid hold on him and on all those who were with him at the haul of fishes which they had taken;
- 10 and in like manner also on James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, Fear not; henceforth thou shalt be catching men.
- 11 And having run the ships on shore, leaving all they followed him.
- 12 And it came to pass as he was in one of the cities, that behold, there was a man full of leprosy, and seeing Jesus,

- falling upon his face, he besought him saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou art able to cleanse me.
- 13 And stretching forth his hand he touched him, saying, I will; be thou cleansed: and immediately the leprosy departed from him.
- 14 And he enjoined him to tell no one; but go, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing as Moses ordained, for a testimony to them.
- 15 But the report concerning him was spread abroad still more, and great crowds came together to hear and to be healed from their infirmities.
- 16 And he withdrew himself, and was about in the desert [places] and praying.
- 17 And it came to pass on one of the days, that he was teaching, and there were Pharisees and doctors of the law sitting by, who were come out of every village of Galilee and Judæa and [out of] Jerusalem; and [the] Lord's power was [there] to heal them.
- 18 And lo, men bringing upon a couch a man who was paralysed; and they sought to bring him in, and put [him] before him.
- 19 And not finding what way to bring him in, on account of the crowd, going up on the housetop they let him down through the tiles, with his little couch, into the midst before Jesus.
- 20 And seeing their faith, he said, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.
- 21 And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason [in their minds], saying, Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who is able to forgive sins but God alone?
- 22 But Jesus, knowing their reasonings, answering said to them, Why reason ye in your hearts?
- 23 which is easier, to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?
- 24 But that ye may know that the Son of man has power on earth to forgive sins, he said to the paralysed man, I say to thee, Arise, and take up thy little couch and go to thine house.
- 25 And immediately standing up before them, having taken up that whereon he was laid, he departed to his house, glorifying God.
- 26 And astonishment seized all, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to-day.
- 27 And after these things he went forth and saw a tax-gatherer, Levi by name, sitting at the receipt of taxes, and said to him, Follow me.
- 28 And having left all, rising up, he followed him.
- 29 And Levi made a great entertainment for him in his house, and there was a great crowd of tax-gatherers and others who were at table with them.
- 30 And their scribes and the Pharisees murmured at his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with tax-gatherers and sinners?

17 A

- 31 And Jesus answering said to them, They that are in sound health have not need of a physician, but those that are ill.
- 32 I am not come to call righteous persons, but sinful ones to repentance.
- 33 And they said to him, Why do the disciples of John fast often and make supplications, in like manner those also of the Pharisees, but thine eat and drink?
- 34 And he said to them, Can ye make the sons of the bridechamber fast when the bridegroom is with them?
- 35 But days will come when also the bridegroom will have been taken away from them; then shall they fast in those days.
- 36 And he spoke also a parable to them: No one puts a piece of a new garment upon an old garment, otherwise he will both rend the new, and the piece which is from the new will not suit with the old.
- 37 And no one puts new wine into old skins, otherwise the new wine will burst the skins, and it will be poured out, and the skins will be destroyed;
- 38 but new wine is to be put into new skins, and both are preserved.
- 39 And no one having drunk old wine [straightway] wishes for new, for he says, The old is better.

- 1 And it came to pass on [the] second-first sabbath, that he went through cornfields, and his disciples were plucking the ears and eating [them], rubbing [them] in their hands.
- 2 But some of the Pharisees said to them, Why do ye what is not lawful to do on the sabbath?
- 3 And Jesus answering said to them, Have ye not read so much as this, what David did when he hungered, he and those who were with him,
- 4 how he entered into the house of God and took the shew-bread and ate, and gave to those also who were with him, which it is not lawful that [any] eat, unless the priests alone?
- 5 And he said to them, The Son of man is Lord of the sabbath also.
- 6 And it came to pass on another sabbath also that he entered into the synagogue and taught; and there was a man there, and his right hand was withered.
- 7 And the scribes and the Pharisees were watching if he would heal on the sabbath, that they might find something of which to accuse him.
- 8 But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man who had the withered hand, Get up, and stand in the midst. And having risen up he stood [there].
- 9 Jesus therefore said to them, I will ask you if it is lawful on the sabbath to do good or to do evil? to save life or to destroy [it]?
- 10 And having looked around on them all, he said to him, Stretch out thy hand. And he did [so] and his hand was restored as the other.

- 11 But they were filled with madness, and they spoke together among themselves what they should do to Jesus.
- 12 And it came to pass in those days that he went out into the mountain to pray, and he spent the night in prayer to God.
- 13 And when it was day he called his disciples, and having chosen out twelve from them, whom also he named apostles:
- 14 Simon, to whom also he gave the name of Peter, and Andrew his brother, [and] James and John, [and] Philip and Bartholomew,
- 15 [and] Matthew and Thomas, James the [son] of Alphæus 15 zealot and Simon who was called Zealot,
- 16 [and] Judas [brother] of James, and Judas Iscariote, who 16 ^
was also [his] betrayer;
- 17 and having descended with them, he stood on a level place, 17 ^ and a crowd of his disciples, and a great multitude of the people from all Judæa and Jerusalem, and the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and to be healed of their diseases;
- 18 and those that were beset by unclean spirits were healed.
- 19 And all the crowd sought to touch him, for power went out from him and healed all.
- 20 And he, lifting up his eyes upon his disciples, said, Blessed [are] ye poor, for yours is the kingdom of God.
- 21 Blessed ye that hunger now, for ye shall be filled. Blessed ye that weep now, for ye shall laugh.
- 22 Blessed are ye when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you [from them], and shall reproach [you], and cast out your name as wicked, for the Son of man's sake:
- 23 rejoice in that day and leap for joy, for behold, your reward is great in the heaven, for after this manner did their fathers act toward the prophets.
- 24 But woe to you rich, for ye have received your consolation.
- 25 Woe to you that are filled, for ye shall hunger. Woe to you 25 ^ who laugh now, for ye shall mourn and weep.
- 26 Woe, when all men speak well of you, for after this manner 26 ^ did their fathers to the false prophets.
- 27 But to you that hear I say, Love your enemies; do good to those that hate you;
- 28 bless those that curse you; pray for those who use you despitefully.
- 29 To him that smites thee on the cheek, offer also the other; and from him that would take away thy garment, forbid not thy body coat also.
- 30 To every one that asks of thee, give; and from him that 30 ^ takes away what is thine, ask it not back;
- 31 and as ye wish that men should do to you, do ye also to them in like manner.
- 32 And if ye love those that love you, what thank is it to you? for even sinners love those that love them.
- 33 And if ye do good to those that do good to you, what thank is it to you? for even sinners do the same.

- 34 And if ye lend to those from whom ye hope to receive, what thank is it to you? [for] even sinners lend to sinners that they may receive the like.
- 35 But love your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for 35 A nothing in return, and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be sons of [the] Highest; for he is good to the unthankful and wicked.
- 36 be ye therefore merciful, even as your Father also is 36 A merciful.
- 37 And judge not, and ye shall not be judged; condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned. Remit, and it shall be remitted to you.
- 38 Give, and it shall be given to you; good measure, pressed 38 A down, and shaken together, and running over, shall be given into your bosom: for with the same measure with which ye mete it shall be measured to you again.
- 39 And he spoke also a parable to them: Can a blind [man] lead a blind [man]? shall not both fall into [the] ditch?
- 40 The disciple is not above his teacher, but every one that is perfected shall be as his teacher.
- 41 But why lookest thou on the mote which is in the eye of thy brother, but perceivest not the beam which is in thine own eye?
- 42 or how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, allow [me],
I will cast out the mote that is in thine eye, thyself not seeing the beam that is in thine eye? Hypocrite, cast out first the beam out of thine eye, and then thou shalt see clear to cast out the mote which is in the eye of thy brother.
- 43 For there is no good tree which produces corrupt fruit, nor 43 A a corrupt tree which produces good fruit;
- 44 for every tree is known by its own fruit, for figs are not 44 A gathered from thorns, nor grapes vintaged from a bramble.
- 45 The good man, out of the good treasure of his heart, brings 45 A forth good; and the wicked [man] out of the wicked, brings forth what is wicked: for out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.
- 46 And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things that I say? Every one that comes to me, and hears my words and does them, I will shew you to whom he is like.
- 48 He is like a man building a house, who dug and went deep, 48 A and laid a foundation on the rock; but a great rain coming, the stream broke upon that house, and could not shake it, for it had been founded on the rock.
- 49 And he that has heard and not done, is like a man who has built a house on the ground without foundation, on which the stream broke, and immediately it fell, and the breach of that house was great.

- 1 And when he had completed all his words in the hearing of the people, he entered into Capernaum.
- 2 And a certain centurion's bondman who was dear to him was ill and about to die;

3 and having heard of Jesus, he sent to him elders of the Jews, begging him that he might come and save his bondman.

4 But they, being come to Jesus, besought him diligently, saying, He is worthy to whom thou shouldest grant this,

5 for he loves our nation and himself has built the synagogue for us.

6 And Jesus went with them. But already, when he was not far from the house, the centurion sent to him friends, saying to him, Lord, do not trouble thyself, for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof.

7 Wherefore neither did I count myself worthy to come to thee. But say by a word and my servant shall be healed.

8 For I also am a man placed under authority, having under myself soldiers, and I say to this [one], Go, and he goes; and to another, Come, and he comes; and to my bondman, Do this, and he does [it].

9 And Jesus hearing this wondered at him, and turning to the crowd following him said, I say to you, Not even in Israel have I found so great faith.

10 And they who had been sent returning to the house found the bondman, who was ill, in good health.

11 And it came to pass afterwards he went into a city called Nain, and many of his disciples and a great crowd went with him.

12 And as he drew near to the gate of the city, behold a dead man was carried out, the only son of his mother, and she a widow, and a very considerable crowd of the city [was] with her.

13 And the Lord, seeing her, was moved with compassion for her, and said to her, Weep not;

14 and coming up he touched the bier, and the bearers stopped. And he said, Youth, I say to thee, Wake up.

15 And the dead sat up and began to speak; and he gave him to his mother.

16 And fear seized on all, and they glorified God, saying, A great prophet has been raised up amongst us; and God has visited his people.

17 And this report went out in all Judæa concerning him, and in all the surrounding country.

18 And the disciples of John brought him word concerning all these things:

19 and John, having called two of his disciples, sent to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that is coming, or are we to wait for another?

20 But the men having come to him said, John the baptist has sent us to thee, saying, Art thou he that is coming, or are we to wait for another?

21 In that hour he healed many of diseases and plagues and evil spirits, and to many blind he granted sight.

22 And Jesus answering said to them, Go, bring back word to John of what ye have seen and heard: that blind see, lame walk, lepers are cleansed, deaf hear, dead are raised, poor are evangelized;

- 23 and blessed is whosoever shall not be offended in me.
- 24 And the messengers of John having departed, he began to speak to the crowds concerning John: What went ye out into the wilderness to behold? a reed shaken by the wind?
- 25 But what went ye out to see? a man clothed in delicate garments? Behold, those who are in splendid clothing and live luxuriously are in the courts of kings.
- 26 But what went ye out to see? a prophet? Yea, I say to you, and [what is] more excellent than a prophet.
- 27 This is he concerning whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, who shall prepare thy way before thee; 27 ^
- 28 for I say unto you, Among them that are born of women a greater [prophet] is no one than John [the baptist]; but he who is a little one in the kingdom of God is greater than he. 28 ^
- 29 (And all the people who heard [it], and the tax-gatherers, justified God, having been baptised with the baptism of John;
- 30 but the Pharisees and the lawyers rendered null as to themselves the counsel of God, not having been baptised by him.)
- 31 To whom therefore shall I liken the men of this generation, and to whom are they like? 31 ^
- 32 They are like children sitting in the market-place, and calling one to another and saying, We have piped to you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept. 32 ^
- 33 For John the baptist has come neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and ye say, He has a demon.
- 34 The Son of man has come eating and drinking, and ye say, Behold an eater and wine-drinker, a friend of tax-gatherers and sinners;
- 35 and wisdom has been justified of all her children.
- 36 But one of the Pharisees begged him that he would eat with him. And entering into the house of the Pharisee he took his place at table;
- 37 and behold, a woman in the city, who was a sinner, and knew that he was sitting at meat in the house of the Pharisee, having taken an alabaster box of myrrh, 37 unguent
- 38 and standing at his feet behind [him] weeping, began to wash his feet with tears; and she wiped them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed [them] with the myrrh.
- 39 And the Pharisee who had invited him, seeing it, spoke with himself saying, This [person] if he were a prophet would have known who and what the woman is who touches him, for she is a sinner.
- 40 And Jesus answering said to him, Simon, I have somewhat to say to thee. And he says, Teacher, say [it].
- 41 There were two debtors of a certain creditor: one owed five hundred denarii and the other fifty; 41 A certain creditor had two debtors: one owed five hundred denaries, and the other fifty.
- 42 but as they had nothing to pay, he forgave both of them [their debt]: [say,] which of them therefore will love him most? 42 As they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both. Which of these then will love him most?

Luke

- 43 And Simon answering said, I suppose he to whom he forgave the most. And he said to him, thou hast rightly judged.
- 44 And turning to the woman he said to Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thy house; thou gavest me not water on my feet, but she has washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with her hair.
- 45 Thou gavest me not a kiss, but she from the time I came in has not ceased kissing my feet.
- 46 My head with oil thou didst not anoint, but she has anointed my feet with myrrh.
- 47 For which cause I say to thee, Her many sins are forgiven; for she loved much; but he to whom little is forgiven loves little.
- 48 And he said to her, Thy sins are forgiven.
- 49 And they that were with [them] at table began to say within themselves, Who is this who forgives also sins?
- 50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith has saved thee; go in peace.

- 1 And it came to pass afterwards that he went through [the country] city by city, and village by village preaching and announcing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God; and the twelve [were] with him,
- 2 and certain women who had been healed of wicked spirits and infirmities, Mary who was called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out,
- 3 and Joanna, wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others, who ministered to him of their substance.
- 4 And a great crowd coming together, and those who were coming to him out of each city, he spoke by parable:
- 5 The sower went out to sow his seed; and as he sowed, some fell along the way, and it was trodden under foot, and the birds of the heaven devoured it up;
- 6 and other fell upon the rock, and having sprung up, it was dried up because it had not moisture;
- 7 and other fell in the midst of the thorns, and the thorns having sprung up with [it] choked it;
- 8 and other fell into the good ground, and having sprung up bore fruit a hundredfold. As he said these things he cried, He that has ears to hear, let him hear.
- 9 And his disciples asked him [saying], What may this parable be?
- 10 And he said, To you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest in parables, in order that seeing they may not see, and hearing they may not understand.
- 11 But the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.
- 12 But those by the wayside are those who hear; then comes the devil and takes away the word from their heart that they may not believe and be saved.
- 13 But those upon the rock, those who when they hear receive the word with joy; and these have no root, who believe for a time, and in time of trial fall away.

- 43 . . . He to whom he forgave most . . . Thou hast rightly judged

- 44 And turning to the woman, he said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house: thou gavest me no water for my feet; but she wetted my feet with her tears, and wiped them with her tresses.
- 45 Thou gavest me no kiss; but she, since I entered, ceased not kissing my feet over.
- 46 With oil thou didst not anoint my head; but she with unguent anointed my feet.
- 47 Wherefore, I say to thee, her many sins are forgiven. For she loved much; but he to whom little is forgiven loveth little.
- 48 And he said to her, Thy sins are forgiven.
- 50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee: go in peace.

14 But that that fell where the thorns were, these are they who having heard go away and are choked under cares and riches and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

15 But that in the good ground, these are they who in an honest and good heart, having heard the word keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 And no one having lighted a lamp covers it with a vessel or puts it under a couch, but sets it on a lampstand, that they who enter in may see the light.

17 For there is nothing hid which shall not become manifest, nor secret which shall not be known and come to light.

18 Take heed therefore how ye hear; for whosoever has, to him shall be given, and whosoever has not, even what he seems to have shall be taken from him.

19 And his mother and his brethren came to him, and could not get to him because of the crowd.

20 And it was told him [saying], Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, wishing to see thee.

21 But he answering said to them, My mother and my brethren are those who hear the word and do [it].

22 And it came to pass on one of the days, that he entered into a ship, himself and his disciples; and he said to them, Let us pass over to the other side of the lake; and they set off from shore.

23 And as they sailed, he fell asleep; and a sudden squall of wind came down on the lake, and they were filled [with water], and were in danger;

24 and coming to [him] they woke him up, saying, Master, master, we perish. But he, rising up, rebuked the wind and the raging of the water; and they ceased, and there was a calm.

25 And he said to them, Where is your faith? And, being afraid, they were astonished, saying to one another, Who then is this, that he commands even the winds and the water, and they obey him?

26 And they arrived in the country of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galilee.

27 And as he got out [of the ship] on the land, a certain man out of the city met him, who had demons a long time, and put on no clothes, and did not abide in a house, but in the tombs.

28 But seeing Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus Son of the Most High God? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For he had commanded the unclean spirit to go out from the man. For very often it had seized him; and he had been bound, kept with chains and fetters, and breaking the bonds he was driven by the demon into the deserts.

30 And Jesus asked him saying, What is thy name? And he said, Legion: for many demons had entered into him.

31 And they besought him that he would not command them to go away into the bottomless pit.

- 32 And there was there a herd of many swine feeding on the mountain, and they besought him that he would suffer them to enter into those; and he suffered them.
- 33 And the demons, going out from the man, entered into the swine, and the herd rushed down the precipice into the lake, and were choked.
- 34 But they that fed [them], seeing what had happened, fled, and told [it] to the city and to the country.
- 35 And they went out to see what had happened, and came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had gone out, sitting, clothed and sensible, at the feet of Jesus. And they were afraid.
- 36 And they also who had seen it told them how the possessed man had been healed.
- 37 And all the multitude of the surrounding country of the Gadarenes asked him to depart from them, for they were possessed with great fear; and he, entering into the ship, returned.
- 38 But the man out of whom the demons had gone besought him that he might be with him.
- 39 But he sent him away, saying, Return to thine house and relate how great things God has done for thee. And he went away through the whole city, publishing how great things Jesus had done for him.
- 40 And it came to pass when Jesus returned, the crowd received him gladly, for they were all expecting him.
- 41 And behold, a man came, whose name was Jairus, and he was [a] ruler of the synagogue, and falling at the feet of Jesus besought him to come to his house,
- 42 because he had an only daughter, about twelve years old, and she was dying. And as he went the crowds thronged him.
- 43 And a woman who had a flux of blood since twelve years, who, having spent all her living on physicians, could not be cured by any one,
- 44 coming up behind, touched the hem of his garment, and immediately her flux of blood stopped.
- 45 And Jesus said, Who has touched me? But all denying, Peter and those with him said, Master, the crowds close thee in and press upon thee, and sayest thou, Who has touched me?
- 46 And Jesus said, Some one has touched me, for I have known that power has gone out from me.
- 47 And the woman, seeing that she was not hid, came trembling, and falling down before him declared before all the people for what cause she had touched him, and how she was immediately healed.
- 48 And he said to her, [Be of good courage,] daughter; thy faith has healed thee; go in peace.
- 49 While he was yet speaking, comes some one from the ruler of the synagogue, saying to him, Thy daughter is dead; do not trouble the teacher.
- 50 But Jesus, hearing it, answered him saying, Fear not: only believe, and she shall be made well.

| 1 And having called together the twelve, he gave them power and authority over all demons, and to heal diseases, and sent them to proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal the sick. | |
| 3 And he said to them, Take nothing for the way, neither staff, nor scrip, nor bread, nor money; nor to have two body coats apiece. | 3 A |
| 4 And into whatsoever house ye enter, there abide and thence go forth. | |
| 5 And as many as may not receive you, going forth from that city, shake off even the dust from your feet for a witness against them. | 5 A |
| 6 And going forth they passed through the villages, announcing the glad tidings and healing everywhere. | |
| 7 And Herod the tetrarch heard of all the things which were done [by him], and was in perplexity, because it was said by some that John was risen from among [the] dead, and by some that Elias had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again. | 7 A |
| 9 And Herod said, John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things? and he sought to see him. | |
| 10 And the apostles having returned related to him whatever they had done. And he took them and withdrew apart into [a desert place of] a city called Bethsaida. | 10 A |
| 11 But the crowds knowing [it] followed him; and he received them and spake to them of the kingdom of God, and cured those that had need of healing. | |
| 12 But the day began to decline, and the twelve came and said to him, Send away the crowd that they may go into the villages around, and [into] the fields, and lodge and find victuals, for here we are in a desert place. | 12 A |
| 13 And he said to them, Give ye them to eat. And they said, We have not more than five loaves and two fishes, unless we should go and buy food for all this people; | |
| 14 for they were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples, Make them sit down in companies by fifties. | |
| 15 And they did so, and made them all sit down. | |
| 16 And taking the five loaves and the two fishes, looking up to heaven he blessed them, and broke and gave to the disciples to set before the crowd. | |

- 17 And they all ate and were filled; and there was taken up of what had remained over and above to them in fragments twelve hand-baskets.
- 18 And it came to pass as he was praying alone, his disciples were with him, and he asked them saying, Who do the crowds say that I am? 18 A
- 19 But they answering said, John the baptist; but others, Elias; and others, that one of the old prophets has risen again.
- 20 And he said to them, But ye, who do ye say that I am? And Peter answering said, The Christ of God. 20 A
- 21 But, earnestly charging them, he enjoined [them] to say this to no man,
- 22 saying, The Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and the third day be raised up.
- 23 And he said to [them] all, If any one will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me; 23 A
- 24 for whosoever shall desire to save his life shall lose it, but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, he shall save it.
- 25 For what shall a man profit if he shall have gained the whole world, and have destroyed, or come under the penalty of the loss of himself?
- 26 For whosoever shall have been ashamed of me and of my words, of him will the Son of man be ashamed when he shall come in his glory, and [in that] of the Father, and of the holy angels.
- 27 But I say unto you of a truth, There are some of those standing here who shall not taste death until they shall have seen the kingdom of God.
- 28 And it came to pass after these words, about eight days, that taking Peter and John and James he went up into a mountain to pray.
- 29 And as he prayed the fashion of his countenance became different and his raiment white [and] effulgent.
- 30 And lo, two men talked with him, who were Moses and Elias, who,
- 31 appearing in glory, spoke of his departure which he was about to accomplish in Jerusalem. 31 A
- 32 But Peter and those with him were oppressed with sleep: but having fully awoke up they saw his glory, and the two men who stood with him.
- 33 And it came to pass as they departed from him, Peter said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias: not knowing what he said.
- 34 But as he was saying these things, there came a cloud and overshadowed them, and they feared as they enter into the cloud: 34 A
- 35 and there was a voice out of the cloud saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him. 35 A
- 36 And as the voice was [heard] Jesus was found alone: and they kept silence, and told no one in those days any of the things they had seen.
- 37 And it came to pass on the following day, when they came down from the mountain, a great crowd met him.

- 38 And lo, a man from the crowd cried out saying, Teacher,
I beseech thee look upon my son, for he is mine only child:
- 39 and behold, a spirit takes him, and suddenly he cries out,
and it tears him with foaming, and with difficulty departs from him after crushing him.
- 40 And I besought thy disciples that they might cast him out, and they could not.
- 41 And Jesus answering said, O unbelieving and perverted generation, how long shall I be with you and suffer you?
Bring hither thy son.
- 42 But as he was yet coming, the demon tore him and dragged him all together. And Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child and gave him back to his father.
- 43 And all were astonished at the glorious greatness of God.
And as all wondered at all the things which [Jesus] did, he said to his disciples, 43 ^
- 44 Do ye let these words sink into your ears. For the Son of man is about to be delivered into men's hands.
- 45 But they understood not this saying, and it was hid from them that they should not perceive it. And they feared to ask him concerning this saying.
- 46 And a reasoning came in amongst them, who should be 46 ^
[the] greatest of them.
- 47 And Jesus, seeing the reasoning of their heart, having taken 47 ^
a little child set it by him,
- 48 and said to them, Whosoever shall receive this little child in 48 ^ my name receives me, and whosoever shall receive me receives him that sent me. For he who is the least among you all, he is great.
- 49 And John answering said, Master, we saw some one casting out demons in thy name, and we forbad him, because he follows not with us.
- 50 And Jesus said to him, Forbid [him] not, for he that is not 50 ^ against you is for you.
- 51 And it came to pass when the days of his receiving up were fulfilled, that he stedfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem.
- 52 And he sent messengers before his face. And having gone they entered into a village of the Samaritans that they might make ready for him.
- 53 And they did not receive him, because his face was [turned as] going to Jerusalem.
- 54 And his disciples James and John seeing [it] said, Lord, wilt 54 ^ thou that we speak [that] fire come down from heaven and consume them, as also Elias did?
- 55 But turning he rebuked them [and said, Ye know not of 55 ^
what spirit ye are].
- 56 And they went to another village. 56 ^
- 57 And it came to pass as they went in the way, one said to 57 ^ him, I will follow thee wheresoever thou goest, Lord.
- 58 And Jesus said to him, The foxes have holes and the birds of the heaven roosting-places, but the Son of man has not where he may lay his head.
- 59 And he said to another, Follow me. But he said, Lord, 59 ^ allow me to go first and bury my father.

- 60 But Jesus said to him, Suffer the dead to bury their own dead, but do thou go and announce the kingdom of God.
 61 And another also said, I will follow thee, Lord, but first allow me to bid adieu to those at my house.
 62 But Jesus said to him, No one having laid his hand on [the] plough and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God.

- 1 Now after these things the Lord appointed seventy others also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place where he himself was about to come.
 2 And he said to them, The harvest indeed [is] great, but the workmen few; supplicate therefore the Lord of the harvest that he may send out workmen into his harvest.
 3 Go: behold I send you forth as lambs in the midst of wolves.
 4 Carry neither purse nor scrip nor sandals, and salute no one on the way.
 5 And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace to this house.
 6 And if a son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon it; but if not it shall turn to you again.
 7 And in the same house abide, eating and drinking such things as they have; for the workman is worthy of his hire. Remove not from house to house.
 8 And into whatsoever city ye may enter and they receive you, eat what is set before you,
 9 and heal the sick in it, and say to them, The kingdom of God is come nigh to you.
 10 But into whatsoever city ye may have entered and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say,
 11 Even the dust of your city which cleaves to us on the feet do we shake off against you; but know this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh.
 12 I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for Sodom in that day than for that city.
 13 Woe to thee, Chorazin! woe to thee, Bethsaida! for if the works of power which have taken place in you had taken place in Tyre and Sidon, they had long ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
 14 But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the judgment than for you.
 15 And thou, Capernaum, who hast been raised up to heaven, shalt be brought down even to hades.
 16 He that hears you hears me, and he that rejects you rejects me, and he that rejects me rejects him that sent me.
 17 And the seventy returned with joy, saying, Lord, even the demons are subject to us through thy name.
 18 And he said to them, I beheld Satan as lightning falling out of heaven.
 19 Behold, I give you the power of treading upon serpents and scorpions and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall in anywise injure you.
 20 Yet in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subjected to you, but rejoice that your names are written in the heavens.

21 In the same hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit and said, I praise thee, Father, Lord of the heaven and of the earth that thou hast hid these things from wise and prudent, and hast revealed them to babes: yea, Father, for thus has it been well-pleasing in thy sight.

22 All things have been delivered to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is but the Father, and who the Father is but the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son is pleased to reveal [him].

23 And having turned to the disciples privately he said, Blessed are the eyes which see the things that ye see.

24 For I say to you that many prophets and kings have desired to see the things which ye behold, and did not see [them]; and to hear the things which ye hear, and did not hear [them].

25 And behold, a certain lawyer stood up tempting him, and saying, Teacher, having done what, shall I inherit life eternal?

26 And he said to him, What is written in the law? how readest thou?

27 But he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thine understanding; and thy neighbor as thyself.

28 And he said to him, Thou hast answered right: this do and thou shalt live.

29 But he, desirous of justifying himself, said to Jesus, And who is my neighbor?

30 And Jesus replying said, A certain man descended from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell into [the hands of] robbers, who also, having stripped him and inflicted wounds, went away leaving him in a half-dead state.

31 And a certain priest happened to go down that way, and seeing him, passed on on the opposite side;

32 and in like manner also a Levite, being at the spot, came and looked [at him] and passed on on the opposite side.

33 But a certain Samaritan journeying came to him, and seeing [him], was moved with compassion, 34 and came up [to him] and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine; and having put him on his own beast, took him to [the] inn and took care of him.

35 And on the morrow [as he left], taking out two denaria he gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, take care of him, and whatsoever thou shalt expend more, I will render to thee on my coming back.

36 Which [now] of these three seems to thee to have been neighbour of him who fell into [the hands of] the robbers?

37 And he said, He that shewed him mercy. And Jesus said to him, Go and do thou likewise.

38 And it came to pass as they went that he entered into a certain village; and a certain woman, Martha by name, received him into her house.

- 1 And it came to pass as he was in a certain place praying, when he ceased, one of his disciples said to him, Lord, teach us to pray, even as John also taught his disciples.
- 2 And he said to them, When ye pray, say, Father, thy name be hallowed; thy kingdom come;
- 3 give us our needed bread for each day;
- 4 and remit us our sins, for we also remit to every one indebted to us; and lead us not into temptation.
- 5 And he said to them, Who among you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight and say to him, Friend, let me have three loaves,
- 6 since a friend of mine on a journey is come to me and I have nothing to set before him;
- 7 and he within answering should say, Do not disturb me; the door is already shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise up to give [it] thee?
- 8 — I say to you, Although he will not get up and give [them] to him because he is his friend, because of his shamelessness, at any rate, he will rise and give him as many as he wants.
- 9 And I say to you, Ask, and it shall be given to you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you.
- 10 For every one that asks receives; and he that seeks finds; and to him that knocks it will be opened.
- 11 But of whom of you that is a father shall a son ask bread, and [the father] shall give him a stone? or also a fish, and instead of a fish shall give him a serpent?
- 12 or if also he shall ask an egg, shall give him a scorpion?
- 13 If therefore ye, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much rather shall the Father who is of heaven give [the] Holy Spirit to them that ask him?
- 14 And he was casting out a demon, and it was dumb; and it came to pass, the demon being gone out, the dumb [man] spoke. And the crowds wondered.
- 15 But some from among them said, By Beelzebub the prince of the demons casts he out demons.
- 16 And others tempting [him] sought from him a sign out of heaven.
- 17 But he knowing their thoughts said to them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation: and a house set against a house falls;
- 18 and if also Satan is divided against himself, how shall his kingdom subsist? because ye say that I cast out demons by Beelzebub.

- 7 And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed. I cannot rise and give thee.
- 8 I say to you, though he will not rise and give him because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.
- 9 . . . Ask and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened.

- 13 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall the Father who [is] of heaven give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?

19 But if I by Beelzebub cast out demons, your sons — by whom do they cast [them] out? For this reason they shall be your judges.

20 But if by the finger of God I cast out demons, then the kingdom of God is come upon you.

21 When the strong [man] armed keeps his own house, his goods are in peace;

22 but when the stronger than he coming upon [him] overcomes him, he takes away his panoply in which he trusted, and he will divide the spoil [he has taken] from him.

23 He that is not with me is against me, and he that gathers not with me scatters.

24 When the unclean spirit has gone out of the man, he goes through dry places seeking rest; and not finding [any] he says, I will return to my house whence I came out.

25 And having come, he finds it swept and adorned.

26 Then he goes and takes seven other spirits worse than himself, and entering in, they dwell there; and the last condition of that man becomes worse than the first.

27 And it came to pass as he spake these things, a certain woman, lifting up her voice out of the crowd, said to him, Blessed is the womb that has borne thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea rather, blessed are they who hear the word of God and keep [it].

29 But as the crowds thronged together, he began to say, This generation is a wicked generation; it seeks a sign, and a sign shall not be given to it but the sign of Jonas.

30 For as Jonas was a sign to the Ninevites, thus shall also the Son of man be to this generation.

31 A queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation and shall condemn them: for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and behold, more than Solomon is here.

32 Men of Nineveh shall stand up in the judgment with this generation and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and behold, more than Jonas is here.

33 But no one having lit a lamp sets it in secret, nor under the corn-measure, but on the lamp-stand, that they who enter in may see the light.

34 The lamp of the body is thine eye: when thine eye is simple, thy whole body also is light; but when it is wicked, thy body also is dark.

35 See therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness.

36 If therefore thy whole body [is] light, not having any part dark, it shall be all light as when the lamp lights thee with its brightness.

37 But as he spoke, a certain Pharisee asked him that he would dine with him; and entering in he placed himself at table.

38 But the Pharisee seeing [it] wondered that he had not first washed before dinner.

- 39 But the Lord said to him, Now do ye Pharisees cleanse the outside of the cup and of the dish, but your inward [parts] are full of plunder and wickedness.
- 40 Fools, has not he who has made the outside made the inside also?
- 41 But rather give alms of what ye have, and behold, all things are clean to you. 41 A
- 42 But woe unto you, Pharisees, for ye pay tithes of mint and rue and every herb, and pass by the judgment and the love of God: these ye ought to have done, and not have left those aside. 42 A
- 43 Woe unto you, Pharisees, for ye love the first seat in the synagogues and salutations in the market-places.
- 44 Woe unto you, for ye are as the sepulchres which appear not, and the men walking over them do not know [it]. 44 A
- 45 And one of the doctors of the law answering says to him, Teacher, in saying these things thou insultest us also.
- 46 And he said, To you also woe, doctors of the law, for ye lay upon men burdens heavy to bear, and yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers.
- 47 Woe unto you, for ye build the sepulchres of the prophets, but your fathers killed them.
- 48 Ye bear witness then and consent to the works of your fathers; for they killed them, and ye build [their sepulchres]. 48 A
- 49 For this reason also the wisdom of God has said, I will send to them prophets and apostles, and of these shall they kill and drive out by persecution,

- 51 from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zacharias, who perished between the altar and the house; yea, I say to you it shall be required of this generation.
- 52 Woe unto you, the doctors of the law, for ye have taken away the key of knowledge; yourselves have not entered in, and those who were entering in ye have hindered.
- 53 And as he said these things to them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to press him urgently, and to make him speak of many things; 53 A

- 1 In those [times], the myriads of the crowd being gathered together, so that they trod one on another, he began to say to his disciples first, Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy;
- 2 but there is nothing covered up which shall not be revealed, nor secret that shall not be known;
- 3 therefore whatever ye have said in the darkness shall be heard in the light, and what ye have spoken in the ear in chambers shall be proclaimed upon the housetops.
- 4 But I say to you, my friends, Fear not those who kill the body and after this have no more that they can do.

LUKE 12 WK

5 But I will shew you whom ye shall fear: Fear him who after he has killed has authority to cast into hell; yea, I say to you, Fear him.

6 Are not five sparrows sold for two assaria? and one of them is not forgotten before God.

7 But even the hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore, ye are better than many sparrows.

8 But I say to you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, the Son of man will confess him also before the angels of God;

9 but he that shall have denied me before men shall be denied before the angels of God;

10 and whoever shall say a word against the Son of man it shall be forgiven him; but to him that speaks injuriously against the Holy Spirit it shall not be forgiven.

11 But when they bring you before the synagogues and rulers and the authorities, be not careful how or what ye shall answer, or what ye shall say;

12 for the Holy Spirit shall teach you in the hour itself what should be said.

13 And a person said to him out of the crowd, Teacher, speak to my brother to divide the inheritance with me.

14 But he said to him, Man, who established me [as] a judge or a divider over you?

15 And he said to them, Take heed and keep yourselves from all covetousness, for [it is] not because a man is in abundance [that] his life is in his possessions.

16 And he spoke a parable to them, saying, The land of a certain rich man brought forth abundantly.

17 And he reasoned within himself saying, What shall I do? for I have not [a place] where I shall lay up my fruits.

18 And he said, This will I do: I will take away my granaries and build greater, and there I will lay up all my produce and my good things;

19 and I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much good things laid by for many years; repose thyself, eat, drink, be merry.

20 But God said to him, Fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee; and whose shall be what thou hast prepared?

21 Thus is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.

22 And he said to his disciples, For this cause I say unto you, Be not careful for life, what ye shall eat, nor for the body, what ye shall put on.

23 The life is more than food, and the body than raiment.

24 Consider the ravens, that they sow not nor reap; which have neither storehouse nor granary; and God feeds them. How much better are ye than the birds?

25 But which of you by being careful can add to his stature one cubit?

26 If therefore ye cannot [do] even what is least, why are ye careful about the rest?

- 10 But when thou hast been invited, go, put thyself down in the last place, that when he who hath invited thee come, he may say to thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have glory in presence of all that recline with thee.
- 11 For everyone that exalteth himself shall be humbled, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.
- 12 And he said also to him that had invited him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends nor thy brethren, nor thy kinsmen nor rich neighbours; lest haply they also invite thee in return, and a recompense be made thee.
- 13 But when thou makest a feast, invite poor, crippled, lame, blind;

- 14 and thou shalt be blessed; for they have not [the means] to recompense thee; for it shall be recompensed thee in the resurrection of the just.
 - 15 And one of those that were lying at table with [them], hearing these things, said to him, Blessed [is] he who shall eat bread in the kingdom of God.
 - 16 And he said to him, A certain man made a great supper and invited many.
 - 17 And he sent his bondman at the hour of supper to say to those who were invited, Come, for already all things are ready.
 - 18 And all began, without exception, to excuse themselves. The first said to him, I have bought land, and I must go out and see it; I pray thee hold me for excused.
 - 19 And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them; I pray thee hold me for excused.
 - 20 And another said, I have married a wife, and on this account I cannot come.
 - 21 And the bondman came up and brought back word of these things to his lord. Then the master of the house, in anger, said to his bondman, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring here the poor and crippled and lame and blind.
 - 22 And the bondman said, Sir, it is done as thou hast commanded, and there is still room.
 - 23 And the lord said to the bondman, Go out into the ways and fences and compel to come in, that my house may be filled;
 - 24 for I say to you, that not one of those men who were invited shall taste of my supper.
 - 25 And great crowds went with him; and, turning round, he said to them,
 - 26 If any man come to me, and shall not hate his own father and mother, and wife, and children, and brothers, and sisters, yea, and his own life too, he cannot be my disciple;
 - 27 and whoever does not carry his cross and come after me cannot be my disciple.
 - 28 For which of you, desirous of building a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost, if he have what [is needed] to complete it;
 - 29 in order that, having laid the foundation of it, and not being able to finish it, all who see it do not begin to mock at him,
 - 30 saying, This man began to build and was not able to finish?
 - 31 Or what king, going on his way to engage in war with another king, does not, sitting down first, take counsel whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him coming against him with twenty thousand?
 - 32 and if not, while he is yet far off, having sent an embassy, he asks for terms of peace.
 - 33 Thus then every one of you who forsakes not all that is his own cannot be my disciple.
 - 34 Salt [then] [is] good, but if the salt also has become savourless, wherewith shall it be seasoned?
 - 35 It is proper neither for land nor for dung; it is cast out. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.
- 14 and thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee; for thou shalt be recompensed in the resurrection of the just.
 - 16 . . . A certain man was making a great supper, and bade many;
 - 17 and he sent forth his bondman at supper-time to say to those that were bidden, Come, for things are now ready.
 - 18 And they all at once began to excuse themselves. The first said to him, I bought land and must go out to see it; I pray thee, have me excused.
 - 19 And another said, I bought five yoke of oxen, and I am on my way to prove them; I pray thee, have me excused.
 - 20 And another said, I married a wife, and on this account cannot come.
 - 21 And the bondman when he came up reported these things to his master. Then the house-master in anger said to his bondman, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring here the poor and maimed and blind and lame.
 - 22 And the bondman said, Sir, What thou didst command is done, and yet there is room.
 - 23 And the lord said to the bondman, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel [them] to come in, that my house may be filled.
 - 24 For I say to you, that none of those men that were bidden shall taste of my supper.

- 1 And all the tax-gatherers and the sinners were coming near to him to hear him;
- 2 and the Pharisees and the scribes murmured, saying, This [man] receives sinners and eats with them.
- 3 And he spoke to them this parable, saying,
- 4 What man of you having a hundred sheep, and having lost one of them, does not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderness and go after that which is lost, until he find it?
- 5 and having found it, he lays it upon his own shoulders, rejoicing;
- 6 and being come to the house, calls together the friends and the neighbors, saying to them, Rejoice with me, for I have found my lost sheep.
- 7 I say unto you, that thus there shall be joy in heaven for one repenting sinner, [more] than for ninety and nine righteous who have no need of repentance.
- 8 Or, what woman having ten drachmas, if she lose one drachma, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and seek carefully till she find it?
- 9 and having found it she calls together the friends and neighbours, saying, Rejoice with me, for I have found the drachma which I had lost.
- 10 Thus, I say unto you, there is joy before the angels of God for one repenting sinner.
- 11 And he said, A certain man had two sons;
- 12 and the younger of them said to the father, Father, give to me the share of the property that falls [to me]. And he divided to them what he was possessed of.
- 13 And after not many days the younger son gathering all together went away into a country a long way off, and there dissipated his property, living in debauchery.
- 14 But when he had spent all there arose a violent famine throughout that country, and he began to be in want.
- 15 And he went and joined himself to one of the citizens of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.
- 16 And he longed to fill his belly with the husks which the swine were eating; and no one gave to him.
- 17 And coming to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have abundance of bread, and I perish here by famine.
- 18 I will rise up and go to my father, and I will say to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee;
- 19 I am no longer worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants.
- 20 And he rose up and went to his own father. But while he was yet a long way off, his father saw him, and was moved with compassion, and ran, and fell upon his neck, and covered him with kisses.
- 21 And the son said to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee; I am no longer worthy to be called thy son.

- 23 And in hades lifting up his eyes, being in torments, he sees Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.
- 24 And he crying out said, Father Abraham, have compassion on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am suffering in this flame.
- 25 But Abraham said, Child, recollect that thou hast fully received thy good things in thy lifetime, and likewise Lazarus evil things. But now he is comforted here, and thou art in suffering.
- 26 And besides all this, between us and you a great chasm is fixed, so that those who desire to pass hence to you cannot, nor do they who [desire to cross] from there pass over unto us.

- 26 And besides all these things, between us and you a great chasm is fixed, so that those desiring to pass hence unto you cannot, nor those from that side may cross unto us.
- 27 And he said, I beseech thee then, father, that thou wouldst send him unto the house of my father
- 28 (for I have five brothers), that he may thoroughly testify to them, lest they too come into this place of torment.
- 29 But Abraham saith [to him], They have Moses and the prophets: let them hear them.
- 30 And he said, Nay, father Abraham; but if one from the dead go unto them, they will repent.

1 And he said to his disciples, It cannot be but that offences come, but woe [to him] by whom thy come!
 2 It would be [more] profitable for him if a millstone were hanged about his neck and he cast into the sea, than that he should be a snare to one of these little ones.
 3 Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother should sin, rebuke him; and if he should repent, forgive him.
 4 And if he should sin against thee seven times in the day, and seven times should return to thee, saying, I repent, thou shalt forgive him.
 5 And the apostles said to the Lord, Give more faith to us.

 16 and fell on [his] face at his feet giving him thanks: and he was a Samaritan.
 17 And Jesus answering said, Were not the ten cleansed? but the nine, where [are they]?
 18 There have not been found to return and give glory to God save this stranger.
 19 And he said to him, Rise up and go thy way: thy faith has made thee well.

21 nor shall they say, Lo here, or, Lo there; for behold, the kingdom of God is in the midst of you.
 22 And he said to the disciples, Days are coming, when ye shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and shall not see [it].
 23 And they will say to you, Lo here, or Lo there; go not, nor follow [them].
 24 For as the lightning shines which lightens from [one end] under heaven to [the other end] under heaven, thus shall the Son of man be in his day.
 25 But first he must suffer many things and be rejected of this generation.
 26 And as it took place in the days of Noe, thus also shall it be in the days of the Son of man:
 27 they ate, they drank, they married, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came and destroyed all [of them];
 28 and in like manner as took place in the days of Lot: they ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded;
 29 but on the day that Lot went out from Sodom, it rained fire and sulphur from heaven, and destroyed all [of them]:
 30 after this [manner] shall it be in the day that the Son of man is revealed.
 31 In that day, he who shall be on the housetop, and his stuff in the house, let him not go down to take it away; and he that is in the field, let him likewise not return back.
 32 Remember the wife of Lot.
 33 Whosoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it, and whosoever shall lose it shall preserve it.
 34 I say to you, In that night there shall be two [men] upon one bed; one shall be seized and the other shall be let go.
 35 Two [women] shall be grinding together; the one shall be seized and the other shall be let go.
 36 [Two [men] shall be in the field; the one shall be seized and the other let go.]

LUKE 19 WK

- 9 And Jesus said to him, To-day salvation is come to this house, inasmuch as he also is a son of Abraham;
- 10 for the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which is lost.
- 11 But as they were listening to these things, he added and spake a parable, because he was near to Jerusalem and they thought that the kingdom of God was about to be immediately manifested.
- 12 He said therefore, A certain high-born man went to a distant country to receive for himself a kingdom and return.
- 13 And having called his own ten bondmen, he gave to them ten minas, and said to them, Trade while I am coming.
- 14 But his citizens hated him, and sent an embassy after him, saying, We will not that this [man] should reign over us.
- 15 And it came to pass on his arrival back again, having received the kingdom, that he desired these bondmen to whom he gave money to be called to him, in order that he might know what every one had gained by trading.
- 16 And the first came up, saying, [My] Lord, thy mina has produced ten minas.
- 17 And he said to him, Well [done], thou good bondman; because thou hast been faithful in that which is least, be thou in authority over ten cities.
- 18 And the second came, saying, [My] Lord, thy mina has made five minas.
- 19 And he said also to this one, And thou, be over five cities.
- 20 And another came, saying, [My] Lord, lo, [there is] thy mina, which I have kept laid up in a towel.
- 21 For I feared thee because thou art a harsh man: thou takest up what thou hast not laid down, and thou reapest what thou has not sowed.
- 22 He says to him, Out of thy mouth will I judge thee, wicked bondman: thou knewest that I am a harsh man, taking up what I have not laid down and reaping what I have not sowed.

- 16 And the first came up, saying, Lord, thy pound made ten pounds more.
- 17 And he said to him, Well [done], good bondman; because in a very little thou wast faithful, be in authority over ten cities.

31 And if any one ask you, Why do ye loose [it]? thus shall ye say to him, Because the Lord has need of it.
 32 And they that were sent, having gone their way, found as he had said to them.
 33 And as they were loosing the colt, its masters said to them, Why loose ye the colt?
 34 And they said, Because the Lord has need of it:
 35 and they led it to Jesus; and having cast their own garments on the colt, they put Jesus on [it].
 36 And as he went, they strewed their clothes in the way.
 37 And as he drew near, already at the descent of the mount of Olives, all the multitude of the disciples began, rejoicing, to praise God with a loud voice for all the works of power which they had seen, saying,
 38 Blessed the king that comes in the name of [the] Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.
 39 And some of the Pharisees from the crowd said to him, Teacher, rebuke thy disciples.
 40 And he answering said to them, I say unto you, If these shall be silent, the stones will cry out.
 41 And as he drew near, seeing the city, he wept over it,
 42 saying, If thou hadst known, even thou, even at least in this thy day, the things that are for thy peace: but now they are hid from thine eyes;
 43 for days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall make a palisaded mound about thee, and shall close thee around, and keep thee in on every side,
 44 and shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children in thee; and shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone: because thou knewest not the season of thy visitation.
 45 And entering into the temple, he began to cast out those that sold and bought in it,
 46 saying to them, It is written, My house is a house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of robbers.
 47 And he was teaching day by day in the temple: and the chief priests and the scribes and the chief of the people sought to destroy him,
 48 and did not find what they could do, for all the people hung on him to hear.

1 And it came to pass on one of the days, as he was teaching the people in the temple, and announcing the glad tidings, the chief priests and the scribes with the elders came up,

 5 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, If we should say, Of heaven, he will say, Why have ye not believed him?
 6 but if we should say, Of men, the whole people will stone us, for they are persuaded that John was a prophet.

| 7 | And they answered, they did not know whence. | |
| 8 | And Jesus said to them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things. | |
| 9 | And he began to speak to the people this parable: A man planted a vineyard and let it out to husbandmen, and left the country for a long time. | 9 ^ |
| 10 | And in the season he sent to the husbandmen a bondman, that they might give to him of the fruit of the vineyard; but the husbandmen, having beaten him, sent [him] away empty. | |
| 11 | And again he sent another bondman; but they, having beaten him also, and cast insult upon him, sent [him] away empty. | |
| 12 | And again he sent a third; and they, having wounded him also, cast [him] out. | |
| 13 | And the lord of the vineyard said, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: perhaps when they see him they will respect [him]. | 13 ^ |
| 14 | But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir; [come,] let us kill him, that the inheritance may become ours. | 14 ^ |
| 15 | And having cast him forth out of the vineyard, they killed [him]. What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do to them? | |
| 16 | He will come and destroy those husbandmen, and will give the vineyard to others. And when they heard it they said, May it never be! | |
| 17 | But he looking at them said, What then is this that is written, The stone which they that builded rejected, this has become the corner-stone? | |
| 18 | Every one falling on this stone shall be broken, but on whomsoever it shall fall, it shall grind him to powder. | |
| 19 | And the chief priests and the scribes sought the same hour to lay hands on him, and they feared the people; for they knew that he had spoken this parable of them. | |
| 20 | And having watched [him], they sent out suborned persons, pretending to be just men, that they might take hold of him in [his] language, so that they might deliver him up to the power and authority of the governor. | 20 ^ |
| 21 | And they asked him saying, Teacher, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, and acceptest no [man's] person, but teachest with truth the way of God: | |
| 22 | Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Cæsar, or not? | |
| 23 | But perceiving their deceit he said to them, Why do ye tempt me? | 23 ^ |
| 24 | Shew me a denarius. Whose image and superscription has it? And answering they said, Cæsar's. | 24 ^ |
| 25 | And he said to them, Pay therefore what is Cæsar's to Cæsar, and what is God's to God. | |
| 26 | And they were not able to take hold of him in [his] expressions before the people, and, wondering at his answer, they were silent. | |
| 27 | And some of the Sadducees, who deny that there is any resurrection, coming up [to him], | |

28 demanded of him saying, Teacher, Moses wrote to us, If any one's brother, who has a wife, die, and he die childless, his brother shall take the wife and raise up seed to his brother.

29 There were then seven brethren: and the first, having taken a wife, died childless;

30 and the second [took the woman, and he died childless];

31 and the third took her: and in like manner also the seven left no children and died;

32 and last of all the woman also died.

33 In the resurrection therefore of which of them does she become wife, for the seven had her as wife?

34 And Jesus said to them, The sons of this world marry and are given in marriage,

35 but they who are counted worthy to have part in that world, and the resurrection from among [the] dead, neither marry
nor are given in marriage;

36 for neither can they die any more, for they are equal to angels, and are sons of God, being sons of the resurrection.

37 But that the dead rise, even Moses shewed in the [section of the] bush, when he called the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob;

38 but he is not God of [the] dead but of [the] living; for all live for him.

39 And some of the scribes answering said, Teacher, thou hast well spoken.

40 For they did not dare any more to ask him anything.

41 And he said to them, How do they say that the Christ is David's son,

42 and David himself says in the book of Psalms, The Lord said to my Lord,

43 Sit at my right hand until I put thine enemies [as] footstool of thy feet?

44 David therefore calls him Lord, and how is he his son?

45 And, as all the people were listening, he said to his disciples,

46 Beware of the scribes, who like to walk about in long robes, and who love salutations in the market-places, and first seats in the synagogues, and first places at suppers;

- 32 Now two others also, malefactors, were led with him to be put to death.
- 33 And when they came to the place which is called Skull, there they crucified him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand, the other on the left. 33 A
- 34 And Jesus said, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do. And, parting out his garments, they cast lots. 34 A

- 35 And the people stood beholding, and the rulers also [with them] sneered, saying, He has saved others; let him save himself if this is the Christ, the chosen one of God. 35 ^Λ
- 36 And the soldiers also made game of him, coming up offering him vinegar, 36 ^Λ
- 37 and saying, If thou be the king of the Jews, save thyself.
- 38 And there was also an inscription [written] over him in Greek, and Roman, and Hebrew letters: This is the king of the Jews. 38 ^Λ
- 39 Now one of the malefactors who had been hanged spoke insultingly to him, saying, Art not thou the Christ? save thyself and us. 39 ^Λ
- 40 But the other answering rebuked him, saying, Dost thou too not fear God, thou that art under the same judgment?
- 41 and we indeed justly, for we receive the just recompense of what we have done; but this [man] has done nothing amiss.
- 42 And he said to Jesus, Remember me, [Lord,] when thou comest in thy kingdom. 42 ^Λ
- 43 And Jesus said to him, Verily I say to thee, To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise. 43 ^Λ
- 44 And it was about [the] sixth hour, and there came darkness over the whole land until [the] ninth hour. 44 ^Λ
- 45 And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple rent in the midst. 45 ^Λ
- 46 And Jesus, having cried with a loud voice, said, Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit. And having said this, he expired. 46 ^Λ
- 47 Now the centurion, seeing what took place, glorified God, saying, In very deed this [man] was just.
- 48 And all the crowds who had come together to that sight, having seen the things that took place, returned, beating [their] breasts. 48 ^Λ
- 49 And all those who knew him stood afar off, the women also who had followed him from Galilee, beholding these things.
- 50 And behold, a man named Joseph, who was a counsellor, a good man and a just
- 51 (this [man] had not assented to their counsel and deed), of Arimathæa, a city of the Jews, who also waited, [himself also,] for the kingdom of God —
- 52 he having gone to Pilate begged the body of Jesus;
- 53 and having taken it down, wrapped it in fine linen and placed him in a tomb hewn in the rock, where no one had ever been laid. 53 ^Λ
- 54 And it was preparation day, and [the] sabbath twilight was coming on.
- 55 And women, who had come along with him out of Galilee, having followed, saw the sepulchre and how his body was placed.
- 56 And having returned they prepared aromatic spices and ointments, and remained quiet on the sabbath, according to the commandment.

1 But on the morrow of the sabbath, very early indeed in the morning, they came to the tomb, bringing the aromatic spices which they had prepared.	1 A
2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.
3 And when they had entered they found not the body of the Lord Jesus.	3 A
4 And it came to pass as they were in perplexity about it, that behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining raiment.
5 And as they were filled with fear and bowed their faces to the ground, they said to them, Why seek ye the living one among the dead?
6 He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spoke to you, being yet in Galilee,	6 A
7 saying, The Son of man must be delivered up into the hands of sinners, and be crucified, and rise the third day.
8 And they remembered his words;
9 and, returning from the sepulchre, related all these things to the eleven and to all the rest.	9 A
10 Now it was Mary of Magdala, and Johanna, and Mary the [mother] of James, and the others with them, who told these things to the apostles.	10 A
11 And their words appeared in their eyes as an idle tale, and they disbelieved them.
12 But Peter, rising up, ran to the sepulchre, and stooping down he sees the linen clothes lying there alone, and went away home, wondering at what had happened.	12 A
13 And behold, two of them were going on the same day to a village distant sixty stadia from Jerusalem, called Emmaüs;	13 A
14 and they conversed with one another about all these things which had taken place.
15 And it came to pass as they conversed and reasoned, that Jesus himself drawing nigh went with them;
16 but their eyes were holden so as not to know him.
17 And he said to them, What discourses are these which pass between you as ye walk, and are downcast?	17 as ye walk? And they stood downcast
18 And one [of them], named Cleopas, answering said to him, Thou sojournest alone in Jerusalem, and dost not know what has taken place in it in these days?
19 And he said to them, What things? And they said to him, The things concerning Jesus the Nazaræan, who was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people;	19 A
20 and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him up to [the] judgment of death and crucified him.
21 But we had hoped that he was [the one] who is about to redeem Israel. But then, besides all these things, it is now, to-day, the third day since these things took place.	21 A
22 And withal, certain women from amongst us astonished us, having been very early at the sepulchre, and,
23 not having found his body, came, saying that they also had seen a vision of angels, who say that he is living.
24 And some of those with us went to the sepulchre, and found it so, as the women also had said, but him they saw not.

- 25 And he said to them, O senseless and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken!
- 26 Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into his glory?
- 27 And having begun from Moses and from all the prophets, he interpreted to them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.
- 28 And they drew near to the village where they were going, and he made as though he would go farther. 28 ^Λ
- 29 And they constrained him, saying, Stay with us, for it is toward evening and the day is declining. And he entered in to stay with them.
- 30 And it came to pass as he was at table with them, having taken the bread, he blessed, and having broken it, gave it to them. 30 ^Λ
- 31 And their eyes were opened, and they recognised him. And he disappeared from them.
- 32 And they said to one another, Was not our heart burning in us as he spoke to us on the way, [and] as he opened the scriptures to us? 32 ^Λ
- 33 And rising up the same hour, they returned to Jerusalem. And they found the eleven, and those with them gathered together,
- 34 saying, The Lord is indeed risen and has appeared to Simon.
- 35 And they related what [had happened] on the way, and how he was made known to them in the breaking of bread.
- 36 And as they were saying these things, he himself stood in their midst, and says to them, Peace [be] unto you. 36 ^Λ
- 37 But they, being confounded and being frightened, supposed they beheld a spirit.
- 38 And he said to them, Why are ye troubled? and why are thoughts rising in your hearts? 38 ^Λ
- 39 behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Handle me and see, for a spirit has not flesh and bones as ye see me having.
- 40 And having said this he shewed them his hands and his feet. 40 ^Λ
- 41 But while they yet did not believe for joy, and were wondering, he said to them, Have ye anything here to eat?
- 42 And they gave him part of a broiled fish and of a honeycomb; 42 ^Λ
- 43 and he took it and ate before them.
- 44 And he said to them, These [are] the words which I spoke to you while I was yet with you, that all that is written concerning me in the law of Moses and prophets and psalms must be fulfilled. 44 ^Λ
- 45 Then he opened their understanding to understand the scriptures, and said to them,
- 46 Thus it is written, and thus it behoved the Christ to suffer, and to rise from among the dead the third day; 46 ^Λ
- 47 and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name to all the nations beginning at Jerusalem.
- 48 And ye are witnesses of these things.

JOHN 1 JND

- 1 In [the] beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.
- 2 He was in the beginning with God.
- 3 All things received being through him, and without him not one [thing] received being which has received being.
- 4 In him was life, and the life was the light of men.
- 5 And the light appears in darkness, and the darkness apprehended it not.
- 6 There was a man sent from God, his name John.
- 7 He came for witness, that he might witness concerning the light, that all might believe through him.
- 8 He was not the light, but that he might witness concerning the light.
- 9 The true light was that which, coming into the world, lightens every man.
- 10 He was in the world, and the world had [its] being through him, and the world knew him not.
- 11 He came to his own, and his own received him not;
- 12 but as many as received him, to them gave he [the] right to be children of God, to those that believe on his name;
- 13 who have been born, not of blood nor of flesh's will nor of man's will, but of God.
- 14 And the Word became flesh, and dwelt among us (and we have contemplated his glory, a glory as of an only-begotten with a father), full of grace and truth;
- 15 (John bears witness of him, and he has cried, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that comes after me is preferred before me, for he was before me;)
- 16 for of his fulness we all have received, and grace upon grace.
- 17 For the law was given by Moses: grace and truth subsists through Jesus Christ.
- 18 No one has seen God at any time; the only-begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared [him].
- 19 And this is the witness of John, when the Jews sent from Jerusalem priests and Levites that they might ask him, Thou, who art thou?
- 20 And he acknowledged and denied not, and acknowledged, I am not the Christ.
- 21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he says, I am not. Art thou the prophet? And he answered, No.
- 22 They said therefore to him, Who art thou? that we may give an answer to those who sent us. What sayest thou of thyself?
- 23 He said, I [am] [the] voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the path of [the] Lord, as said Esaias the prophet.
- 24 And they were sent from among the Pharisees.
- 25 And they asked him and said to him, Why baptisest thou then, if thou art not the Christ, nor Elias, nor the prophet?

JOHN 1 WK

- 1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.
- 2 The same was in the beginning with God.
- 3 All things were made by him, and without him not one thing was made which hath been made.
- 4 In him was life, and the life was the light of men.
- 5 And the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness comprehended [that is, apprehended] it not.
- 6 There was a man sent from God — his name John.
- 7 The same came for witness that he might witness about the light, that all might believe through him.
- 8 He was not the light, but that he might witness about the light.
- 9 The true light was that [or, he was the true light] which, coming into the world, lighteth every man.
- 10 He was in the world, and the world was made [or brought into being] through him, and the world knew him not.
- 11 He came unto his own, and his own received him not;
- 12 but as many as received him, to them he gave [^] authority to become [^] children of God, to those that believe on his name;
- 13 who were born not of blood, nor of flesh's will, nor of man's will, but of God.
- 14 And the Word became flesh and tabernacled among us (and we beheld his glory, glory as of an only-begotten from beside a father), full of grace and truth.
- 15 John witnesseth about him, and hath cried, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that cometh after me is become before me, for he was before me.
- 16 And of his fulness all we received, and grace for grace.
- 17 For the law was given through Moses, grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.
- 18 No one hath seen God at any time: the only-begotten Son who is in the bosom of the Father — he declared [him].
- 19 And this is the witness of John when the Jews sent from Jerusalem priests and Levites that they might ask him, Who art thou?
- 20 And he confessed, and denied not, and confessed, I am not the Christ.
- 21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elijah? And he saith, I am not. Art thou the prophet? And he answered, No.
- 22 They said therefore to him, Who art thou, that we may give an answer to those that sent us? What sayest thou of thyself?
- 23 He said, I [am the] voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of Jehovah, as said Isaiah the prophet.
- 24 And they were sent from among the Pharisees;
- 25 and they asked him and said to him, Why then baptisest thou, if thou art not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the prophet?

26 John answered them saying, I· baptise with water. In the midst of you stands, whom ye· do not know, 27 he who comes after me, the thong of whose sandal I· am not worthy to unloose.
 28 These things took place in Bethany, across the Jordan, where John was baptising.
 29 On the morrow he sees Jesus coming to him, and says, Behold the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world.
 30 He it is of whom I· said, A man comes after me who takes a place before me, because he was before me;
 31 and I· knew him not; but that he might be manifested to Israel, therefore have I· come baptising with water.
 32 And John bore witness, saying, I beheld the Spirit descending as a dove from heaven, and it abode upon him.
 33 And I· knew him not; but he who sent me to baptise with water, he said to me, Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and abiding on him, he it is who baptises with [the] Holy Spirit.
 34 And I· have seen and borne witness that this is the Son of God.
 35 Again, on the morrow, there stood John and two of his disciples.
 36 And, looking at Jesus as he walked, he says, Behold the Lamb of God.
 37 And the two disciples heard him speaking, and followed Jesus.
 38 But Jesus having turned, and seeing them following, says to them, What seek ye? And they said to him, Rabbi (which, being interpreted, signifies Teacher), where abidest thou?
 39 He says to them, Come and see. They went therefore, and saw where he abode; and they abode with him that day. It was about the tenth hour.
 40 Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of the two who heard [this] from John and followed him.
 41 He first finds his own brother Simon, and says to him, We have found the Messias (which being interpreted is Christ). And he led him to Jesus.
 42 Jesus looking at him said, Thou· art Simon, the son of Jonas; thou· shalt be called Cephas (which interpreted is stone).
 43 On the morrow he would go forth into Galilee, and Jesus finds Philip, and says to him, Follow me.
 44 And Philip was from Bethsaida, of the city of Andrew and Peter.
 45 Philip finds Nathanael, and says to him, We have found him of whom Moses wrote in the law, and the prophets, Jesus, the son of Joseph, who is from Nazareth.
 46 And Nathanael said to him, Can anything good come out of Nazareth? Philip says to him, Come and see.
 47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and says of him, Behold [one] truly an Israelite, in whom there is no guile.

26 John answered them saying, I baptise with water: in the midst of you standeth, whom ye know not,
 27 [^] he who cometh after me, of whom I am not worthy to unloose the thong of his sandal.
 28 These things took place in Bethany, across the Jordan where John was baptising.
 29 On the morrow he seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world!
 30 This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man who is become before [or, hath taken precedence of] me, for he was before me.
 31 And I knew him not, but that he might be manifested to Israel, therefore came I baptising with water.
 32 And John bore witness, saying, I have beheld the Spirit descending as a dove out of heaven, and it abode upon him.
 33 And I knew him not; but he that sent me to baptise with water, he said unto me, Upon whomsoever thou shalt see the Spirit descending and abiding on him, this is he that baptiseth with [the] Holy Spirit.
 34 And I have seen and borne witness that this is the Son of God.
 35 Again, on the morrow, stood John and two of his disciples;
 36 and, looking at Jesus as he walked, he saith, Behold, the Lamb of God!
 37 and the two disciples heard him speak, and followed Jesus.
 38 But Jesus, having turned and beheld them following, saith to them, What seek ye? And they said to him, Rabbi (which is to say, being interpreted, Teacher), where abidest thou?
 39 He saith to them, Come and see. They went therefore and saw where he abode, and abode with him that day. It was about the tenth hour.
 40 Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of the two that heard (it) from John and followed him.
 41 He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith to him, We have found the Messiah (which interpreted is Christ),
 42 and he led him to Jesus. Jesus looking at him said, Thou art Simon, the son of Jonah [or, John]; thou shalt be called Cephas (which is interpreted Peter [or, Stone]).
 43 On the morrow he would go forth into Galilee, and Jesus findeth Philip and saith to him, Follow me.
 44 Now Philip was from Bethsaida, of the city of Andrew and Peter.
 45 Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith to him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus from Nazareth, the son of Joseph.
 46 And Nathanael said to him, Can there be any good thing out of Nazareth? Philip saith to him, Come and see.
 47 [^] Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile.

- 48 Nathanael says to him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said to him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw thee.
- 49 Nathanael answered and said to him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Israel.
- 50 Jesus answered and said to him, Because I said to thee, I saw thee under the fig-tree, believest thou? Thou shalt see greater things than these.
- 51 And he says to him, Verily, verily, I say to you, Henceforth ye shall see the heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending on the Son of man.

JOHN 2 JND

- 1 And on the third day a marriage took place in Cana of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.
- 2 And Jesus also and his disciples were invited to the marriage.
- 3 And wine being deficient, the mother of Jesus says to him, They have no wine.
- 4 Jesus says to her, What have I to do with thee, woman? mine hour has not yet come.
- 5 His mother says to the servants, Whatever he may say to you, do.
- 6 Now there were standing there six stone water-vessels, according to the purification of the Jews, holding two or three measures each.
- 7 Jesus says to them, Fill the water vessels with water. And they fill them up to the brim.
- 8 And he says to them, Draw out now, and carry [it] to the feast-master. And they carried [it].
- 9 But when the feast-master had tasted the water which had been made wine (and knew not whence it was, but the servants knew who drew the water), the feast-master calls the bridegroom, and says to him,
- 10 Every man sets on first the good wine, and when [men] have well drunk, then the inferior; thou hast kept the good wine till now.
- 11 This beginning of signs did Jesus in Cana of Galilee, and manifested his glory; and his disciples believed on him.
- 12 After this he descended to Capernaum, he and his mother and his brethren and his disciples; and there they abode not many days.
- 13 And the passover of the Jews was near, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.
- 14 And he found in the temple the sellers of oxen and sheep and doves, and the money-changers sitting;
- 15 and having made a scourge of cords, he cast [them] all out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen; and he poured out the change of the money-changers, and overturned the tables,
- 16 and said to the sellers of doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house a house of merchandise.

- 48 Nathanael saith to him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said to him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig tree, I saw thee.
- 49 Nathanael answered [and saith to] him, Rabbi, thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Israel.
- 50 Jesus answered and said to him, Because I said to thee, I saw thee under the fig tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these.
- 51 And he saith to him, Verily, verily, I say to you, [Henceforth] ye shall see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

JOHN 2 WK

- 1 And the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there.
- 2 And Jesus also was invited and his disciples unto the marriage.
- 3 And when the wine fell short, the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no wine.
- 4 Jesus saith to her, What have I to do with thee, woman? mine hour is not yet come.
- 5 His mother saith to the servants, Whatever he shall say to you, do.
- 6 Now there were six waterpots of stone set there according to the purification of the Jews, holding each two or three measures.
- 7 Jesus saith to them, Fill the waterpots with water. And they filled them up to the brim.
- 8 And he saith to them, Draw now and carry to the master of the feast. And they carried.
- 9 But when the master of the feast tasted the water that had become wine (and he knew not whence it was, but the servants that had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast calleth the bridegroom
- 10 and saith to him, Every man at first setteth on the good wine, and when they have drunk freely, then the worse; thou hast kept the good wine until now.
- 11 This beginning of signs did Jesus at Cana of Galilee, and he manifested his glory, and his disciples believed on him.
- 12 After this he went down to Capernaum, he and his mother and his brethren and his disciples; and there they abode not many days.
- 13 And the passover of the Jews was near, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.
- 14 And he found in the temple the sellers of oxen and sheep and doves, and the money-changers sitting;
- 15 and having made a scourge of cords [or, ropes], he drove them all out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen; and poured out the change of the money-changers, and overthrew their tables;
- 16 and to the sellers of the doves he said, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house a house of merchandise.

- 17 [And] his disciples remembered that it is written, The zeal of thy house devours me.
- 18 The Jews therefore answered and said to him, What sign shewest thou to us, that thou doest these things?
- 19 Jesus answered and said to them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.
- 20 The Jews therefore said, Forty and six years was this temple building, and thou wilt raise it up in three days?
- 21 But he spoke of the temple of his body.
- 22 When therefore he was raised from among [the] dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and believed the scripture and the word which Jesus had spoken.
- 23 And when he was in Jerusalem, at the passover, at the feast, many believed on his name, beholding his signs which he wrought.
- 24 But Jesus himself did not trust himself to them, because he knew all [men],
- 25 and that he had not need that any should testify of man, for himself knew what was in man.

JOHN 3 JND

- 1 But there was a man from among the Pharisees, his name Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews;
- 2 he came to him by night, and said to him, Rabbi, we know that thou art come a teacher from God, for none can do these signs that thou doest unless God be with him.
- 3 Jesus answered and said to him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except any one be born anew he cannot see the kingdom of God.
- 4 Nicodemus says to him, How can a man be born being old? can he enter a second time into the womb of his mother and be born?
- 5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except any one be born of water and of Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
- 6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.
- 7 Do not wonder that I said to thee, It is needful that ye should be born anew.
- 8 The wind blows where it will, and thou hearest its voice, but knowest not whence it comes and where it goes: thus is every one that is born of the Spirit.
- 9 Nicodemus answered and said to him, How can these things be?
- 10 Jesus answered and said to him, Thou art the teacher of Israel and knowest not these things!?
- 11 Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that which we know, and we bear witness of that which we have seen, and ye receive not our witness.
- 12 If I have said the earthly things to you, and ye believe not, how, if I say the heavenly things to you, will ye believe?
- 13 And no one has gone up into heaven save he who came down out of heaven, the Son of man who is in heaven.
- 14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, thus must the Son of man be lifted up,

- 17 [And] his disciples remembered that it is written, The zeal of thine house will eat me up.
- 18 The Jews therefore answered and said to him, What sign showest thou to us that thou doest these things?
- 19 Jesus answered and said to them, Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.
- 20 The Jews therefore said, In forty and six years was this temple built, and wilt thou raise it up in three days?
- 21 But he spoke of the temple of his body.
- 22 When therefore he was raised from among [the] dead, his disciples remembered that he said this; and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus said.
- 23 [^] Now when he was in Jerusalem at the passover, at the feast, many believed on his name, beholding his signs which he did.
- 24 But Jesus himself did not trust himself to them, inasmuch as he knew all [men],
- 25 and because he needed not that any should testify of man, for himself knew what was in man.

JOHN 3 WK

- 1 But there was a man of the Pharisees, his name Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.
- 2 He came to him by night, and said to him, Rabbi, we know that thou art come a teacher from God, for none can do these signs which thou doest, unless God be with him.
- 3 Jesus answered and said to him, Verily, verily, I say to thee, Except one be born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God.
- 4 Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into the womb of his mother and be born?
- 5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say to thee, Except one be born of water and Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.
- 6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.
- 7 Wonder not that I said to thee, Ye must be born anew.
- 8 The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest its voice, but knowest not whence it cometh, and where it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit.
- 9 Nicodemus answered and said to him, How can these things be?
- 10 Jesus answered and said to him, Art thou the teacher of Israel and knowest not these things?
- 11 Verily, verily, I say to thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our testimony.
- 12 If I told you the earthly things and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you the heavenly things?
- 13 And no one hath gone up to heaven but he that came down from heaven, the Son of man that is in heaven.
- 14 And even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of man be lifted up;

- 15 that every one who believes on him may [not perish, but] have life eternal.
 - 16 For God so loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believes on him may not perish, but have life eternal.
 - 17 For God has not sent his Son into the world that he may judge the world, but that the world may be saved through him.
 - 18 He that believes on him is not judged: but he that believes not has been already judged, because he has not believed on the name of the only-begotten Son of God.
 - 19 And this is the judgment, that light is come into the world, and men have loved darkness rather than light; for their works were evil.
 - 20 For every one that does evil hates the light, and does not come to the light that his works may not be shewn as they are;
 - 21 but he that practises the truth comes to the light, that his works may be manifested that they have been wrought in God.
 - 22 After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Judæa; and there he abode with them and baptised.
 - 23 And John also was baptising in Ænon, near Salim, because there was a great deal of water there; and they came to [him] and were baptised:
 - 24 for John was not yet cast into prison.
 - 25 There was therefore a reasoning of the disciples of John with a Jew about purification.
 - 26 And they came to John and said to him, Rabbi, he who was with thee beyond the Jordan, to whom thou barest witness, behold, he baptises, and all come to him.
 - 27 John answered and said, A man can receive nothing unless it be given him out of heaven.
 - 28 Ye yourselves bear me witness that I said, I am not the Christ, but, that I am sent before him.
 - 29 He that has the bride is the bridegroom; but the friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices in heart because of the voice of the bridegroom: this my joy then is fulfilled.
 - 30 He must increase, but I must decrease.
 - 31 He who comes from above is above all. He who has his origin in the earth is of the earth, and speaks [as] of the earth. He who comes out of heaven is above all,
 - 32 [and] what he has seen and has heard, this he testifies; and no one receives his testimony.
 - 33 He that has received his testimony has set to his seal that God is true;
 - 34 for he whom God has sent speaks the words of God, for God gives not the Spirit by measure.
 - 35 The Father loves the Son, and has given all things [to be] in his hand.
 - 36 He that believes on the Son has life eternal, and he that is not subject to the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides upon him.
- 15 that every one that believeth on him should [not perish, but] have life eternal.
 - 16 For God so loved the world that he gave his only-begotten Son, that every one that believeth on him should not perish but have life eternal.
 - 17 For God sent not his Son into the world that he should judge the world, but that the world might be saved through him.
 - 18 He that believeth on him is not judged; but he that believeth not hath been already judged, because he hath not believed on the name of the only-begotten Son of God.
 - 19 And this is the judgment, that the light hath come into the world, and men loved the darkness rather than the light; for their works were evil.
 - 20 For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, and cometh not unto the light lest his works should be convicted;
 - 21 but he that practiseth the truth cometh unto the light, that his works may be manifested that they have been wrought in God.
 - 22 After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Judæa, and there he was tarrying with them and baptising.
 - 23 And John also was baptising at Ænon near Salim, because much water was there; and they were coming there and being baptised:
 - 24 for John was not yet cast into prison.
 - 25 There arose then a dispute on the part of the disciples of John with a Jew about purification.
 - 26 And they came unto John and said to him, Rabbi, he who was with thee across the Jordan, to whom thou hast borne witness, behold, he is baptising and all come unto him.
 - 27 John answered and said, A man can receive nothing unless it have been given him from heaven.
 - 28 Ye yourselves bear me witness that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am sent before him.
 - 29 He that hath the bride is [the] bridegroom; but the friend of the bridegroom that standeth and heareth him rejoiceth with joy because of the voice of the bridegroom: this my joy then is fulfilled.
 - 30 He must increase, but I decrease.
 - 31 He that cometh from above is above all.
He that is of the earth is of the earth, and speaketh [as] of the earth; he that cometh of the heaven is above all.
 - 32 And what he hath seen and heard, this he testifieth; and no one receiveth his testimony.
 - 33 He that hath received his testimony hath set to his seal that God is true.
 - 34 For he whom God sent speaketh the words of God; for God giveth not the Spirit by measure. ^Λ
 - 35 The Father loveth the Son and hath put [lit. given] all things in his hand.
 - 36 He that believeth on the Son hath life eternal.
And he that believeth not on the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

JOHN 4 JND

- 1 When therefore the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus makes and baptises more disciples than John
- 2 (however, Jesus himself did not baptise, but his disciples),
- 3 he left Judæa and went away again unto Galilee.
- 4 And he must needs pass through Samaria.
- 5 He comes therefore to a city of Samaria called Sychar, near to the land which Jacob gave to his son Joseph.
- 6 Now a fountain of Jacob's was there; Jesus therefore, being wearied with the way he had come, sat just as he was at the fountain. It was about the sixth hour.
- 7 A woman comes out of Samaria to draw water. Jesus says to her, Give me to drink
- 8 (for his disciples had gone away into the city that they might buy provisions).
- 9 The Samaritan woman therefore says to him, How dost thou, being a Jew, ask to drink of me who am a Samaritan woman? for Jews have no intercourse with Samaritans.
- 10 Jesus answered and said to her, If thou knewest the gift of God and who it is that says to thee, Give me to drink, thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water.
- 11 The woman says to him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: whence then hast thou the living water?
- 12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well, and drank of it himself, and his sons, and his cattle?
- 13 Jesus answered and said to her, Every one who drinks of this water shall thirst again;
- 14 But whosoever drinks of the water which I shall give him shall never thirst for ever, but the water which I shall give him shall become in him a fountain of water, springing up into eternal life.
- 15 The woman says to him, Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst nor come here to draw.
- 16 Jesus says to her, Go, call thy husband, and come here.
- 17 The woman answered and said, I have not a husband. Jesus says to her, Thou hast well said, I have not a husband;
- 18 for thou hast had five husbands, and he whom now thou hast is not thy husband: this thou hast spoken truly.
- 19 The woman says to him, Sir, I see that thou art a prophet.
- 20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountain, and ye say that in Jerusalem is the place where one must worship.
- 21 Jesus says to her, Woman, believe me, [the] hour is coming when ye shall neither in this mountain nor in Jerusalem worship the Father.
- 22 Ye worship ye know not what; we worship what we know, for salvation is of the Jews.
- 23 But [the] hour is coming and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and truth; for also the Father seeks such as his worshippers.
- 24 God [is] a spirit, and they who worship him must worship [him] in spirit and truth.

JOHN 4 WK

- 1 When therefore the Lord knew that the Pharisees heard that Jesus maketh and baptiseth more disciples than John
- 2 (though Jesus himself did not baptise but his disciples),
- 3 he left Judæa and went away [again] into Galilee.
- 4 And he must pass through Samaria.
- 5 He cometh therefore to a city of Samaria called Sychar near the land which Jacob gave to Joseph his son.
- 6 Now a fountain of Jacob was there. Jesus therefore being wearied with the journeying sat thus at the fountain. It was about the sixth hour.
- 7 There cometh a woman out of Samaria to draw water. Jesus saith to her, Give me to drink
- 8 (for his disciples had gone away into the city to buy provisions).
- 9 The Samaritan woman therefore saith to him, How dost thou being a Jew ask to drink of me being a Samaritan woman? for Jews have no intercourse with Samaritans.
- 10 Jesus answered and said to her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink, thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water.
- 11 The woman saith to him, Sir, thou hast no bucket, and the well is deep: whence then hast thou the living water?
- 12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well, and drank of it himself and his sons and his cattle?
- 13 Jesus answered and said to her, Every one that drinketh of this water shall thirst again;
- 14 but whosoever drinketh of the water which I shall give him, shall in no way thirst for ever, but the water which I shall give him shall become in him a fountain of water springing up into life eternal.
- 15 The woman saith to him, Sir, give me this water that I may not thirst nor come here to draw.
- 16 He saith to her, Go, call thy husband and come here.
- 17 The woman answered and said, I have not a husband. Jesus saith to her, Thou saidst well, I have not a husband;
- 18 for thou hast had five husbands, and he whom thou now hast is not thy husband: this thou hast spoken truly.
- 19 The woman saith to him, Sir, I see that thou art a prophet.
- 20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; and ye say that in Jerusalem is the place where one must worship.
- 21 Jesus saith to her, Woman, believe me, an hour is coming when neither in this mountain nor in Jerusalem shall ye worship the Father.
- 22 Ye worship what ye know not: we worship what we know, for salvation is of the Jews.
- 23 But an hour is coming and now is when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and truth; for also the Father seeketh such as his worshippers.
- 24 God is a Spirit; and his worshippers must worship [him] in spirit and truth.

- 25 The woman says to him, I know that Messiah is coming, who is called Christ; when he comes he will tell us all things.
- 26 Jesus says to her, I- who speak to thee am [he].
- 27 And upon this came his disciples, and wondered that he spoke with a woman; yet no one said, What seekest thou? or, Why speakest thou with her?
- 28 The woman then left her waterpot and went away into the city, and says to the men,
- 29 Come, see a man who told me all things I had ever done: is not he the Christ?
- 30 They went out of the city and came to him.
- 31 But meanwhile the disciples asked him saying, Rabbi, eat.
- 32 But he said to them, I- have food to eat which ye- do not know.
- 33 The disciples therefore said to one another, Has any one brought him [anything] to eat?
- 34 Jesus says to them, My food is that I should do the will of him that has sent me, and that I should finish his work.
- 35 Do not ye- say, that there are yet four months and the harvest comes? Behold, I say to you, Lift up your eyes and behold the fields, for they are already white to harvest.
- 36 He that reaps receives wages and gathers fruit unto life eternal, that both he that sows and he that reaps may rejoice together.
- 37 For in this is [verified] the true saying, It is one who sows and another who reaps.
- 38 I- have sent you to reap that on which ye- have not laboured; others have laboured, and ye- have entered into their labours.
- 39 But many of the Samaritans of that city believed on him because of the word of the woman who bore witness, He told me all things that I had ever done.
- 40 When therefore the Samaritans came to him they asked him to abide with them, and he abode there two days.
- 41 And more a great deal believed on account of his word;
- 42 and they said to the woman, [It is] no longer on account of thy saying that we believe, for we have heard him ourselves, and we know that this is indeed the Saviour of the world.
- 43 But after the two days he went forth thence and went away into Galilee,
- 44 for Jesus himself bore witness that a prophet has no honour in his own country.
- 45 When therefore he came into Galilee, the Galileans received him, having seen all that he had done in Jerusalem during the feast, for they- also went to the feast.
- 46 He came therefore again to Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain courtier in Capernaum whose son was sick.
- 47 He, having heard that Jesus had come out of Judæa into Galilee, went to him and asked [him] that he would come down and heal his son, for he was about to die.
- 25 The woman saith to him, I know that Messiah is coming, that is called Christ: when he shall come, he will tell us all things.
- 26 Jesus saith to her, I that speak to thee am [he].
- 27 And upon this came his disciples, and wondered that he was speaking with a woman: none however said, What seekest thou? or why speakest thou with her?
- 28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went away into the city, and saith to the men,
- 29 Come, see a man who told me all things that ever I did: is not this the Christ?
- 30 They went out of the city and were coming unto him.
- 31 [^] Meanwhile the disciples were asking him, saying, Rabbi, eat.
- 32 But he said to them, I have food to eat which ye do not know.
- 33 Then the disciples said to one another, Hath any one brought him to eat?
- 34 Jesus saith to them, It is my food that I should do the will of him that sent me, and finish his work.
- 35 Do not ye say that there are yet four months and the harvest cometh? Lo, I say to you, Lift up your eyes, and behold the fields, for they are white unto harvest already.
- 36 [^] He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal, that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together.
- 37 For in this is the saying true, It is one that soweth and another that reapeth.
- 38 I sent you to reap that on which ye have not toiled: others have toiled, and ye have entered into their toil.
- 39 But out of that city many of the Samaritans believed on him because of the word of the woman as she bore witness, He told me all things that [ever] I did.
- 40 When therefore the Samaritans came to him, they asked him to abide with them. And he abode there two days;
- 41 and many more believed because of his word.
- 42 And they said to the woman, No longer on account of thy saying do we believe, for we have ourselves heard and know that this is indeed the [^] Saviour of the world.
- 43 And after the two days he went forth thence [^] into Galilee.
- 44 For Jesus himself testified that a prophet hath no honour in his own country.
- 45 When therefore he came into Galilee, the Galileans received him, having seen all that [^] he did in Jerusalem at the feast, for they too went unto the feast.
- 46 He came therefore again into Cana of Galilee where he made the water wine.
- And there was a certain courtier whose son was sick at Capernaum.
- 47 He, having heard that Jesus was come out of Judæa into Galilee, went away unto him and asked that he would go down and heal his son, for he was about to die.

- 48 Jesus therefore said to him, Unless ye see signs and wonders ye will not believe.
- 49 The courtier says to him, Sir, come down ere my child die.
- 50 Jesus says to him, Go, thy son lives. And the man believed the word which Jesus said to him, and went his way.
- 51 But already, as he was going down, his servants met him and brought [him] word saying, Thy child lives.
- 52 He inquired therefore from them the hour at which he got better. And they said to him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.
- 53 The father therefore knew that [it was] in that hour in which Jesus said to him, Thy son lives; and he believed, himself and his whole house.
- 54 This second sign again did Jesus, being come out of Judæa into Galilee.

JOHN 5 JND

- 1 After these things was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.
- 2 Now there is in Jerusalem, at the sheepgate, a pool, which is called in Hebrew, Bethesda, having five porches.
- 3 In these lay a multitude of sick, blind, lame, withered, [awaiting the moving of the water.
- 4 For an angel descended at a certain season in the pool and troubled the water. Whoever therefore first went in after the troubling of the water became well, whatever disease he laboured under.]
- 5 But there was a certain man there who had been suffering under his infirmity thirty and eight years.
- 6 Jesus seeing this [man] lying [there], and knowing that he was [in that state] now a great length of time, says to him, Wouldest thou become well?
- 7 The infirm [man] answered him, Sir, I have not a man, in order, when the water has been troubled, to cast me into the pool; but while I am coming another descends before me.
- 8 Jesus says to him, Arise, take up thy couch and walk.
- 9 And immediately the man became well, and took up his couch and walked: and on that day was sabbath.
- 10 The Jews therefore said to the healed [man], It is sabbath, it is not permitted thee to take up thy couch.
- 11 He answered them, He that made me well, he said to me, Take up thy couch and walk.
- 12 They asked him [therefore], Who is the man who said to thee, Take up thy couch and walk?
- 13 But he that had been healed knew not who it was, for Jesus had slidden away, there being a crowd in the place.
- 14 After these things Jesus finds him in the temple, and said to him, Behold, thou art become well: sin no more, that something worse do not happen to thee.
- 15 The man went away and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.
- 16 And for this the Jews persecuted Jesus [and sought to kill him], because he had done these things on sabbath.

- 48 Jesus therefore said unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will in nowise believe.
- 49 The courtier said unto Him, Sir, come down ere my child die.
- 50 Jesus saith to him, Go, thy son liveth.
[And] the man believed the word which Jesus had said unto him, and went his way.
- 51 But as he was now going down, his servants met him and brought [him] word, saying, Thy child liveth.
- 52 He inquired therefore from them the hour at which he got better. They said to him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.
- 53 The father therefore knew that [it was] at that hour in which Jesus said to him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed and his whole house.
- 54 This second sign again did Jesus on coming out of Judæa into Galilee.

JOHN 5 WK

- 1 After these things was the feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.
- 2 Now there is in Jerusalem at the sheep-gate a pool that is called in Hebrew Bethesda, having five porches.
- 3 In these lay a ^ multitude of the sick, blind, lame, withered [awaiting the moving of the water.
- 4 For an angel descended from time to time in the pool and troubled the water. He therefore that first went in after the troubling of the water, became well, whatever disease he was affected by].
- 5 But a certain man was there, for thirty and eight years suffering under his infirmity.
- 6 Jesus seeing him lying down, and knowing that he was [so] now a long time, saith to him, Desirest thou to become well?
- 7 The infirm [man] answered, ^ Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool; but whilst I am coming, another goeth down before me.
- 8 Jesus saith to him, Arise, take up thy couch, and walk.
- 9 And immediately the man became well and took up his couch and walked. And on that day was sabbath.
- 10 The Jews therefore said to him that was cured, It is sabbath, and it is not allowed thee to take up thy couch.
- 11 He answered them, He that made me well, the same said to me, Take up thy couch and walk.
- 12 They asked him [therefore], Who is the man that said to thee, Take up [thy couch] and walk?
- 13 But he that was healed knew not who he was, for Jesus withdrew, a crowd being in the place.
- 14 After these things Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said to him, Behold, thou art made well. Sin no more, lest some worse thing happen to thee.
- 15 The man went away, and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.
- 16 And for this the Jews persecuted Jesus, ^ because he did these things on a sabbath.

- 17 But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto and I work.
- 18 For this therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he had not only violated the sabbath, but also said that God was his own Father, making himself equal with God.
- 19 Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, The Son can do nothing of himself save whatever he sees the Father doing: for whatever things he does, these things also the Son does in like manner.
- 20 For the Father loves the Son and shews him all things which he himself does; and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may wonder.
- 21 For even as the Father raises the dead and quickens [them], thus the Son also quickens whom he will:
- 22 for neither does the Father judge any one, but has given all judgment to the Son;
- 23 that all may honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He who honours not the Son, honours not the Father who has sent him.
- 24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, that he that hears my word, and believes him that has sent me, has life eternal, and does not come into judgment, but is passed out of death into life.
- 25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, that an hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God, and they that have heard shall live.
- 26 For even as the Father has life in himself, so he has given to the Son also to have life in himself,
- 27 and has given him authority to execute judgment [also], because he is Son of man.
- 28 Wonder not at this, for an hour is coming in which all who are in the tombs shall hear his voice,
- 29 and shall go forth; those that have practised good, to resurrection of life, and those that have done evil, to resurrection of judgment.
- 30 I cannot do anything of myself; as I hear, I judge, and my judgment is righteous, because I do not seek my will, but the will of him that has sent me.
- 31 If I bear witness concerning myself, my witness is not true.
- 32 It is another who bears witness concerning me, and I know that the witness which he bears concerning me is true.
- 33 Ye have sent unto John, and he has borne witness to the truth.
- 34 But I do not receive witness from man, but I say this that ye might be saved.
- 35 He was the burning and shining lamp, and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.
- 36 But I have the witness [that is] greater than [that] of John; for the works which the Father has given me that I should complete them, the works themselves which I do, bear witness concerning me that the Father has sent me.
- 37 And the Father who has sent me himself has borne witness concerning me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor have seen his shape,

- 17 But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work.
- 18 For this therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only broke the sabbath, but also said that God was his own Father, making himself equal with God.
- 19 Jesus then answered and said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, The Son can do nothing of himself unless he sees the Father doing something; for whatever things he doeth, these also the Son doeth in like manner.
- 20 For the Father loveth the Son and showeth him all things which he himself doeth; and he will show him greater works than these that ye may wonder.
- 21 For even as the Father raiseth the dead and quickeneth, so the Son also quickeneth whom he will;
- 22 for not even the Father judgeth any one, but hath given all the judgment to the Son;
- 23 that all may honour the Son even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father that sent him.
- 24 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that heareth my word and believeth him that sent me hath life eternal, and cometh not into judgment, but is passed out of death into life.
- 25 Verily, verily, I say to you, An hour is coming and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that have heard shall live.
- 26 For even as the Father hath life in himself, so he gave to the Son also to have life in himself;
- 27 and gave him authority to execute judgment [also], because he is [^] Son of man.
- 28 Wonder not at this; for an hour is coming, in which all that are in the tombs shall hear his voice,
- 29 and shall go forth, those that practised good unto a resurrection of life, and those that did evil unto a resurrection of judgment.
- 30 I cannot do anything of myself; as I hear I judge, and my judgment is righteous, because I seek not my will, but the will of him that sent me.
- 31 If I bear witness about myself, my witness is not true.
- 32 It is another that beareth witness about me, and I know that the witness which he beareth about me is true.
- 33 Ye have sent unto John, and he hath borne witness to the truth.
- 34 But I do not receive the witness from man; but these things I say that ye may be saved.
- 35 He was the burning and shining lamp, and ye were willing to rejoice for a season in his light.
- 36 But I have the witness greater than of John; for the works which the Father hath given me that I should complete them, the works themselves which I do bear witness about me that the Father hath sent me.
- 37 And the Father who sent me, himself hath borne witness about me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time nor seen his shape;

- 38 and ye have not his word abiding in you; for whom he hath sent, him ye do not believe.
- 39 Ye search the scriptures, for ye think that in them ye have life eternal, and they it is which bear witness concerning me;
- 40 and ye will not come to me that ye might have life.
- 41 I do not receive glory from men,
- 42 but I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.
- 43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not; if another come in his own name, him ye will receive.
- 44 How can ye believe who receive glory one of another, and seek not the glory which [comes] from God alone?
- 45 Think not that I will accuse you to the Father: there is [one] who accuses you, Moses, on whom ye trust;
- 46 for if ye had believed Moses, ye would have believed me, for he wrote of me.
- 47 But if ye do not believe his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

JOHN 6 JND

- 1 After these things Jesus went away beyond the sea of Galilee, [or] of Tiberias,
- 2 and a great crowd followed him, because they saw the signs which he wrought upon the sick.
- 3 And Jesus went up into the mountain, and there sat with his disciples:
- 4 but the passover, the feast of the Jews, was near.
- 5 Jesus then, lifting up his eyes and seeing that a great crowd is coming to him, says to Philip, Whence shall we buy loaves that these may eat?
- 6 But this he said trying him, for he knew what he was going to do.
- 7 Philip answered him, Loaves for two hundred denarii are not sufficient for them, that each may have some little [portion].
- 8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, says to him,
- 9 There is a little boy here who has five barley loaves and two small fishes; but this, what is it for so many?
- 10 [And] Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place: the men therefore sat down, in number about five thousand.
- 11 And Jesus took the loaves, and having given thanks, distributed [them] to those that were set down; and in like manner of the small fishes as much as they would.
- 12 And when they had been filled, he says to his disciples, Gather together the fragments which are over and above, that nothing may be lost.
- 13 They gathered [them] therefore together, and filled twelve handbaskets full of fragments of the five barley loaves, which were over and above to those that had eaten.

- 38 and his word ye have not abiding in you, because him whom he sent ye do not believe.
- 39 Search [or, Ye search] the scriptures, for ye think that ye have in them life eternal; and it is they that bear witness about me.
- 40 And ye are not willing to come unto me that ye may have life.
- 41 Glory from men I do not receive;
- 42 but I know you that ye have not the love of God in yourselves.
- 43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another come in his own name, him ye will receive.
- 44 How can ye believe who receive glory one of another, and seek not the glory which [is] from the only God?
- 45 Think not that I will accuse you unto the Father: there is one that accuseth you, Moses, on whom ye trust;
- 46 for if ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me, for he wrote of me.
- 47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

JOHN 6 WK

- 1 After these things Jesus went away beyond the sea of Galilee, of Tiberias;
- 2 and a great crowd followed him because they saw the signs which he wrought on the sick.
- 3 But Jesus went up into the mountain, and there sat with his disciples;
- 4 and the passover, the feast of the Jews, was near.
- 5 Jesus then lifting up his eyes, and seeing that a great crowd cometh unto him, saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy loaves that these may eat?
- 6 But this he said, trying him, for he himself knew what he was about to do.
- 7 Philip answered him, Loaves for two hundred pence are not sufficient for them, that each of them may have some little.
- 8 One of his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, saith to him,
- 9 There is a little boy here that hath five barley-loaves and two fishes; but these, what are they for so many?
- 10 Jesus said, Make the people sit [or, lie] down. Now there was much grass in the place. The men then sat down in number about five thousand.
- 11 Jesus then took the loaves and, having given thanks, distributed to those that were set down, and likewise also of the fishes as much as they would.
- 12 But when they were filled, he saith to his disciples, Gather the fragments that are over, that nothing be lost.
- 13 They gathered [them] then, and filled twelve baskets with fragments of the five barley-loaves which were over to those that had eaten.

- 14 The men therefore, having seen the sign which Jesus had done, said, This is truly the prophet which is coming into the world.
 - 15 Jesus therefore knowing that they were going to come and seize him, that they might make [him] king, departed again to the mountain himself alone.
 - 16 But when evening was come, his disciples went down to the sea,
 - 17 and having gone on board ship, they went over the sea to Capernaum. And it had already become dark, and Jesus had not come to them,
 - 18 and the sea was agitated by a strong wind blowing.
 - 19 Having rowed then about twenty-five or thirty stadia, they see Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the ship; and they were frightened.
 - 20 But he says to them, It is I: be not afraid.
 - 21 They were willing therefore to receive him into the ship; and immediately the ship was at the land to which they went.
 - 22 On the morrow the crowd which stood on the other side of the sea, having seen that there was no other little ship there except that into which his disciples had got, and that Jesus had not gone with his disciples into the ship, but [that] his disciples had gone away alone;
 - 23 (but other little ships out of Tiberias came near to the place where they ate bread after the Lord had given thanks;)
 - 24 when therefore the crowd saw that Jesus was not there, nor his disciples, they got into the ships, and came to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.
 - 25 And having found him the other side of the sea, they said to him, Rabbi, when art thou arrived here?
 - 26 Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say to you, Ye seek me not because ye have seen signs, but because ye have eaten of the loaves and been filled.
 - 27 Work not [for] the food which perishes, but [for] the food which abides unto life eternal, which the Son of man shall give to you; for him has the Father sealed, [even] God.
 - 28 They said therefore to him, What should we do that we may work the works of God?
 - 29 Jesus answered and said to them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he has sent.
 - 30 They said therefore to him, What sign then doest thou that we may see and believe thee? what dost thou work?
 - 31 Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, as it is written, He gave them bread out of heaven to eat.
 - 32 Jesus therefore said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, [It is] not Moses that has given you the bread out of heaven; but my Father gives you the true bread out of heaven.
 - 33 For the bread of God is he who comes down out of heaven and gives life to the world.
 - 34 They said therefore to him, Lord, ever give to us this bread.
 - 35 [And] Jesus said to them, I am the bread of life: he that comes to me shall never hunger, and he that believes on me shall never thirst at any time.
- 14 The people then, having seen the sign which Jesus did, said, This is truly the prophet that is coming into the world.
 - 15 Jesus then, knowing that they would come and seize him that they might make [him] king, withdrew again to the mountain himself alone.
 - 16 But when evening was come, his disciples went down unto the sea,
 - 17 and, having gone on board [^] a ship, were crossing the sea unto Capernaum. And darkness had already come on, and Jesus had not yet come to them,
 - 18 and the sea was rough as a strong wind was blowing.
 - 19 Having rowed then about twenty-five or thirty stadia, they behold Jesus walking on the sea and coming near the ship, and they were affrighted.
 - 20 But he saith to them, It is I: be not afraid.
 - 21 They were willing therefore to receive him into the ship, and immediately the ship was at the land whither they were going.
 - 22 On the morrow the crowd, that was standing on the other side of the sea, having seen that there was no other boat but one, and that Jesus went not with his disciples into the ship, but that his disciples went off alone
 - 23 (yet [other] boats came from Tiberias near the place where they ate the bread after the Lord had given thanks;)
 - 24 when the crowd then saw that Jesus was not there nor his disciples, they went themselves on board the ships and came to Capernaum seeking for Jesus;
 - 25 and having found him on the other side of the sea, they said to him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?
 - 26 Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say to you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw signs, but because ye ate of the loaves and were filled.
 - 27 Work not for the food that perisheth, but for the food that abideth unto life eternal which the Son of man shall give you; for him the Father sealed, [even] God.
 - 28 They said therefore to him, What must we do that we may work the works of God?
 - 29 Jesus answered and said to them, This is the work of God that ye believe on him whom he sent.
 - 30 They said therefore to him, What sign doest thou then that we many see and believe thee? What dost thou work?
 - 31 Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, according as it is written, Bread out of heaven he gave them to eat.
 - 32 Jesus therefore said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Not Moses hath given you the bread out of heaven, but my Father giveth you the true bread out of heaven.
 - 33 For the bread of God is he that descendeth out of heaven, and giveth life to the world.
 - 34 They said therefore to him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.
 - 35 And [or, Then] Jesus said to them, I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall in nowise hunger, and he that believeth on me shall in nowise ever thirst.

36 But I have said to you, that ye have also seen me and do not believe.

37 All that the Father gives me shall come to me, and him that comes to me and him that comes to me I will not at all cast out.

38 For I am come down from heaven, not that I should do my will, but the will of him that has sent me.

39 And this is the will of him that has sent me, that of all that he has given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up in the last day.

40 For this is the will of my Father, that every one who sees the Son, and believes on him, should have life eternal; and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews therefore murmured about him, because he said, I am the bread which has come down out of heaven.

42 And they said, Is not this Jesus the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we have known? how then does he say, I am come down out of heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No one can come to me except the Father who has sent me draw him, and I will raise him up in the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every one that has heard from the Father [himself], and has learned [of him], comes to me;

46 not that any one has seen the Father, except he who is of God, he has seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believes [on me] has life eternal.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness and died.

50 This is the bread which comes down out of heaven, that one may eat of it and not die.

51 I am the living bread which has come down out of heaven: if any one shall have eaten of this bread he shall live for ever; but the bread withal which I shall give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 The Jews therefore contended among themselves, saying, How can he give us this flesh to eat?

53 Jesus therefore said to them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Unless ye shall have eaten the flesh of the Son of man, and drunk his blood, ye have no life in yourselves.

54 He that eats my flesh and drinks my blood has life eternal, and I will raise him up at the last day:

55 for my flesh is truly food and my blood is truly drink.

56 He that eats my flesh and drinks my blood dwells in me and I in him.

57 As the living Father has sent me and I live on account of the Father, he also who eats me shall live also on account of me.

58 This is the bread which has come down out of heaven. Not as the fathers ate and died: he that eats this bread shall live for ever.

59 These things he said in [the] synagogue, teaching in Capernaum.

36 But I said to you, that ye have even seen me, and do not believe.

37 All that the Father giveth me shall come unto me; and him that cometh unto me I will in nowise cast out.

38 For I am descended from heaven not to do my will, but the will of him that sent me.

39 And this is the will of him who sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day.

40 For this is the will of my Father, that every one who beholdeth the Son, and believeth on him, should have life eternal, and I will raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews therefore murmured about him, because he said, I am the bread that came down out of heaven.

42 And they said, Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How then doth he say, I am come down out of heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No one can come unto me except the Father who sent me draw him, and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every one that heard from the Father and learned cometh unto me.

46 Not that any one hath seen the Father, except he who is of God, he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believeth [on me] hath life eternal.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness and died.

50 This is the bread that cometh down out of heaven, that one may eat of it and not die.

51 I am the living bread that came down out of heaven. If one shall have eaten of this bread, he shall live for ever. Yea, and the bread that I will give is my flesh [^] for the life of the world.

52 The Jews therefore contended among themselves, saying, How can he give us his flesh to eat?

53 Jesus therefore said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Unless ye shall have eaten the flesh of the Son of man and drunk his blood, ye have no life in yourselves.

54 He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath life eternal; and I will raise him up at the last day;

55 for my flesh is truly food, and my blood is truly drink.

56 He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood abideth in me and I in him.

57 As the living Father sent me, and I live by reason of the Father, he also that eateth me, even he shall live by reason of me.

58 This is the bread that came down out of heaven. Not as the fathers ate and died: he that eateth this bread shall live for ever.

59 These things said he in [the] synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

- 60 Many therefore of his disciples having heard [it] said, This word is hard; who can hear it?
- 61 But Jesus, knowing in himself that his disciples murmur concerning this, said to them, Does this offend you?
- 62 If then ye see the Son of man ascending up where he was before?
- 63 It is the Spirit which quickens, the flesh profits nothing: the words which I have spoken unto you are spirit and are life.
- 64 But there are some of you who do not believe. For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were who did not believe, and who would deliver him up.
- 65 And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no one can come to me unless it be given to him from the Father.
- 66 From that [time] many of his disciples went away back and walked no more with him.
- 67 Jesus therefore said to the twelve, Will ye also go away?
- 68 Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast words of life eternal;
- 69 and we have believed and known that thou art the holy one of God.
- 70 Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you the twelve? and of you one is a devil.
- 71 Now he spoke of Judas [the son] of Simon, Iscariote, for he [it was who] should deliver him up, being one of the twelve.

JOHN 7 JND

- 1 And after these things Jesus walked in Galilee, for he would not walk in Judæa, because the Jews sought to kill him.
- 2 Now the tabernacles, the feast of the Jews, was near.
- 3 His brethren therefore said to him, Remove hence and go into Judæa, that thy disciples also may see thy works which thou doest;
- 4 for no one does anything in secret and himself seeks to be [known] in public. If thou doest these things, manifest thyself to the world:
- 5 for neither did his brethren believe on him.
- 6 Jesus therefore says to them, My time is not yet come, but your time is always ready.
- 7 The world cannot hate you, but me it hates, because I bear witness concerning it that its works are evil.
- 8 Ye, go ye up to this feast. I go not up to this feast, for my time is not yet fulfilled.
- 9 Having said these things to them he abode in Galilee.
- 10 But when his brethren had gone up, then he himself also went up to the feast, not openly, but as in secret.
- 11 The Jews therefore sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?
- 12 And there was much murmuring concerning him among the crowds. Some said, He is [a] good [man]; others said, No; but he deceives the crowd.

- 60 Many therefore of his disciples on having heard said, This word is hard: who can hear it?
- 61 But Jesus, knowing in himself that his disciples murmur concerning this, said to them, Doth this offend you?
- 62 If then ye behold the Son of man ascending where he was before?
- 63 It is the Spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing. The words which I have spoken to you are spirit and are life;
- 64 but there are some of you who do not believe. For Jesus knew from [the] beginning which were they that should believe not, and which was he that should betray him.
- 65 And he said, On this account have I said that no one can come unto me unless it hath been given him from the Father.
- 66 From that [time] many of his disciples went away back and walked no more with him.
- 67 Jesus therefore said to the twelve, Do ye also wish to go away?
- 68 Simon Peter [^] answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go away? Thou hast words of life eternal;
- 69 and we have believed and known that thou art the Holy One of God.
- 70 [Jesus] answered them, Did I not choose you the twelve? And one of you is a devil.
- 71 Now he was speaking of Judas [son] of Simon Iscariot; for he, [^] one of the twelve, was about to betray him.

JOHN 7 WK

- 1 [And] after these things Jesus walked in Galilee, for he was unwilling to walk in Judæa, because the Jews were seeking to kill him.
- 2 Now the feast of the Jews, the tabernacles, was near.
- 3 His brethren therefore said unto him, Remove hence, and go into Judæa, that thy disciples too may behold thy works which thou doest;
- 4 for no one doeth anything in secret, and seeketh himself to be in public. If thou doest these things, show thyself to the world.
- 5 For not even did his brethren believe on him.
- 6 Jesus therefore saith to them, My time is not yet come, but your time is always ready.
- 7 The world cannot hate you; but me it hateth, because I testify concerning it that its works are evil.
- 8 Go ye up unto the feast. I go not up [^] unto this feast, for my time is not yet fulfilled.
- 9 [^] Having said these things to them, he abode in Galilee.
- 10 But when his brethren had gone up, then he himself also went up, not manifestly but as in secret.
- 11 The Jews therefore sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?
- 12 And there was much murmuring about him among the crowds. Some said, He is good; others said, No; but he deceiveth the crowd.

13 However, no one spoke openly concerning him on account of [their] fear of the Jews.

14 But when it was now the middle of the feast, Jesus went up into the temple and taught.

15 The Jews therefore wondered, saying, How knows this [man] letters, having never learned?

16 Jesus therefore answered them and said, My doctrine is not mine, but [that] of him that has sent me.

17 If any one desire to practise his will, he shall know concerning the doctrine, whether it is of God, or [that] I speak from myself.

18 He that speaks from himself seeks his own glory; but he that seeks the glory of him that has sent him, he is true, and unrighteousness is not in him.

19 Has not Moses given you the law, and no one of you practises the law?

20 Why do ye seek to kill me? The crowd answered [and said], Thou hast a demon: who seeks to kill thee?

21 Jesus answered and said to them, I have done one work, and ye all wonder.

22 Therefore Moses gave you circumcision (not that it is of Moses, but of the fathers), and ye circumcise a man on sabbath.

23 If a man receives circumcision on sabbath, that the law of Moses may not be violated, are ye angry with me because I have made a man entirely sound on sabbath?

24 Judge not according to sight, but judge righteous judgment.

25 Some therefore of those of Jerusalem said, Is not this he whom they seek to kill?

26 and behold, he speaks openly, and they say nothing to him. Have the rulers then indeed recognised that this is the Christ?

27 But [as to] this [man] we know whence he is. Now [as to] the Christ, when he comes, no one knows whence he is.

28 Jesus therefore cried out in the temple, teaching and saying, Ye both know me and ye know whence I am; and I am not come of myself, but he that sent me is true, whom ye do not know.

29 I know him, because I am from him, and he has sent me.

30 They sought therefore to take him; and no one laid his hand upon him, because his hour had not yet come.

31 But many of the crowd believed on him, and said, Will the Christ, when he comes, do more signs than those which this [man] has done?

32 The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers that they might take him.

33 Jesus therefore said, Yet a little while I am with you, and I go to him that has sent me.

34 Ye shall seek me and shall not find [me], and where I am ye cannot come.

35 The Jews therefore said to one another, Where is he about to go that we shall not find him? Is he about to go to the 13 No one, however, spoke openly about him because of the fear of the Jews.

14 But now in the midst of the feast Jesus went up unto the temple and taught.

15 The Jews therefore wondered, saying, How knoweth this [man] letters, having not learned?

16 Jesus therefore answered them and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

17 If one desire to do his will, he shall know about the doctrine whether it is of God or I speak from myself.

18 He that speaketh from himself seeketh his own glory; but he that seeketh the glory of him that sent him, — he is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.

19 Hath not Moses given you the law? and none of you doeth the law. Why do ye seek to kill me?

20 The crowd answered, Thou hast a demon: who seeketh to kill thee?

21 Jesus answered and said to them, One work I did, and ye all wonder because of this.

22 Moses hath given you circumcision (not that it is of Moses but of the fathers), and on a sabbath ye circumcise a man.

23 If a man receiveth circumcision on a sabbath, that the law of Moses may not be broken, are ye angry at me because I made a man entirely sound on a sabbath?

24 Judge not according to sight, but judge the righteous judgment.

25 Some therefore of those of Jerusalem said, Is not this he whom they seek to kill?

26 And, behold, he speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him. Did the rulers indeed decide that this is the Christ?

27 Howbeit we know him whence he is; but when the Christ cometh, no one knoweth whence he is.

28 Jesus therefore cried in the temple, teaching and saying, Ye both know me and ye know whence I am; and I have not come from myself, but he that sent me is true whom ye know not.

29 I know him, for I am from him, and he hath sent me.

30 They sought therefore to seize him, and none laid hand on him, because his hour had not yet come.

31 But many of the crowd believed on him, and said, When the Christ cometh, will he do more signs than these which this [man] did?

32 The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things about him, and the chief priests and the Pharisees sent officials to seize him.

33 Then said Jesus [^], Yet a little while am I with you, and I go unto him that sent me.

34 Ye shall seek me, and shall not find [^]; and where I am ye cannot come.

35 The Jews therefore said unto each other, Where is this [man] about to go that we shall not find him? Is he about dispersion among the Greeks, and teach the Greeks?

- 36 What word is this which he said, Ye shall seek me and shall not find [me]; and where I am ye cannot come?
- 37 In the last, the great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried saying, If any one thirst, let him come to me and drink.
- 38 He that believes on me, as the scripture has said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.
- 39 But this he said concerning the Spirit, which they that believed on him were about to receive; for [the] Spirit was not yet, because Jesus had not yet been glorified.
- 40 [Some] out of the crowd therefore, having heard this word, said, This is truly the prophet.
- 41 Others said, This is the Christ. Others said, Does then the Christ come out of Galilee?
- 42 Has not the scripture said that the Christ comes of the seed of David, and from the village of Bethlehem, where David was?
- 43 There was a division therefore in the crowd on account of him.
- 44 But some of them desired to take him, but no one laid hands upon him.
- 45 The officers therefore came to the chief priests and Pharisees, and they said to them, Why have ye not brought him?
- 46 The officers answered, Never man spoke thus, as this man [speaks].
- 47 The Pharisees therefore answered them, Are ye also deceived?
- 48 Has any one of the rulers believed on him, or of the Pharisees?
- 49 But this crowd, which does not know the law, are accursed.
- 50 Nicodemus says to them (being one of themselves),
- 51 Does our law judge a man before it have first heard from himself, and know what he does?
- 52 They answered and said to him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look, that no prophet arises out of Galilee.
- 53 And every one went to his home,

JOHN 8 WK

- 1 but Jesus went to the mount of Olives.
- 2 And early in the morning he came again to the temple, and all the people were coming unto him; and he sat down, and was teaching them.
- 3 And the scribes and the Pharisees bring to him a woman taken in adultery, and having set her in [the] midst,
- 4 they say to him, Teacher, this woman was taken in the very act of adultery.
- 5 Now in the law Moses charged us to stone such: thou, therefore, what sayest thou?
- 6 But this they said proving him, that they might have [whereof] to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger was writing on the ground.

7 But when they continued asking him, he lifted himself up and said to them, Let him that is without sin among you first cast the stone at her.

8 And again stooping down he wrote on the ground.

9 But they, having heard [that], went out one by one beginning from the elder ones until the last; and Jesus was left alone and the woman standing there.

10 And Jesus, lifting himself up and seeing no one but the woman, said to her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? Has no one condemned thee?

11 And she said, No one, sir. And Jesus said to her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more.

12 Again therefore Jesus spoke to them, saying, I am the light of the world; he that follows me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore said to him, Thou bearest witness concerning thyself; thy witness is not true.

14 Jesus answered and said to them, Even if I bear witness concerning myself, my witness is true, because I know whence I came and whither I go: but ye know not whence I come and whither I go.

15 Ye judge according to the flesh, I judge no one.

16 And if also I judge, my judgment is true, because I am not alone, but I and the Father who has sent me.

17 And in your law too it is written that the testimony of two men is true:

18 I am [one] who bear witness concerning myself, and the Father who has sent me bears witness concerning me.

19 They said to him therefore, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye know neither me nor my Father. If ye had known me, ye would have known also my Father.

20 These words spoke he in the treasury, teaching in the temple; and no one took him, for his hour was not yet come.

21 He said therefore again to them, I go away, and ye shall seek me, and shall die in your sin; where I go ye cannot come.

22 The Jews therefore said, Will he kill himself, that he says, Where I go ye cannot come?

23 And he said to them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above. Ye are of this world; I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore to you, that ye shall die in your sins; for unless ye shall believe that I am [he], ye shall die in your sins.

25 They said therefore to him, Who art thou? [And] Jesus said to them, Altogether that which I also say to you.

26 I have many things to say and to judge concerning you, but he that has sent me is true, and I, what I have heard from him, these things I say to the world.

27 They knew not that he spoke to them of the Father.

28 Jesus therefore said to them, When ye shall have lifted up the Son of man, then ye shall know that I am [he], and [that] I do nothing of myself, but as the Father has taught me I speak these things.

7 And when they continued asking him, he lifted himself up and said to them, Let him that is without sin among you first cast the stone at her;

8 and, again stooping down, he was writing on the ground.

9 But they, having heard [it], kept going out one by one, beginning from the elder ones until the last; and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in [the] midst.

10 And Jesus lifting himself up, and beholding no one but the woman, said to her, Woman, where are they, thine accusers? Did no one condemn thee?

11 And she said, No one, Sir. And Jesus said to her, Neither do I condemn thee: go and sin no more.

12 Again therefore Jesus spoke to them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall in no wise walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore said to him, Thou bearest witness of thyself; thy witness is not true.

14 Jesus answered and said to them, Even though I bear witness of myself, my witness is true; for I know whence I came, and where I go, [but] ye know not whence I come or where I go.

15 Ye judge according to the flesh, I judge no one.

16 And if also I judge, my judgment is true, because I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.

17 And in your law too it is written that the witness of two men is true.

18 I am he that testifieth concerning myself, and the Father that sent me testifieth concerning me.

19 They said to him then, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye know neither me nor my Father. If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also.

20 These words he spoke in the treasury, teaching in the temple; and no one seized him, because his hour was not yet come.

21 He said therefore again to them, I go away, and ye shall seek me and shall die in your sin: where I go away, ye cannot come.

22 The Jews therefore said, Will he kill himself because he saith, Where I go away, ye cannot come?

23 And he said to them, Ye are of the things beneath, I am of those above; ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore to you that ye shall die in your sins; for, unless ye believe that I am [he], ye shall die in your sins.

25 They said therefore to him, Who art thou? Jesus said to them, Absolutely that which I am also speaking to you.

26 I have many things to speak and to judge concerning you; but he that sent me is true, and I, what I heard from him, speak these things unto the world.

27 They knew not that he was speaking to them of the Father.

28 Then said Jesus [to them], When ye shall have lifted up the Son of man, then ye shall know that I am [he] and from myself do nothing, but, even as the Father taught me, these things I speak.

- 29 And he that has sent me is with me; he has not left me alone, because I do always the things that are pleasing to him.
- 30 As he spoke these things many believed on him.
- 31 Jesus therefore said to the Jews who believed him, If ye abide in my word, ye are truly my disciples;
- 32 and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free.
- 33 They answered him, We are Abraham's seed, and have never been under bondage to any one; how sayest thou, Ye shall become free?
- 34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Every one that practises sin is the bondman of sin.
- 35 Now the bondman abides not in the house for ever: the son abides for ever.
- 36 If therefore the Son shall set you free, ye shall be really free.
- 37 I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word has no entrance in you.
- 38 I speak what I have seen with my Father, and ye then do what ye have seen with your father.
- 39 They answered and said to him, Abraham is our father. Jesus says to them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham;
- 40 but now ye seek to kill me, a man who has spoken the truth to you, which I have heard from God: this did not Abraham.
- 41 Ye do the works of your father. They said [therefore] to him, We are not born of fornication; we have one father, God.
- 42 Jesus said to them, If God were your father ye would have loved me, for I came forth from God and am come [from him]; for neither am I come of myself, but he has sent me.
- 43 Why do ye not know my speech? Because ye cannot hear my word.
- 44 Ye are of the devil, as [your] father, and ye desire to do the lusts of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning, and has not stood in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks falsehood, he speaks of what is his own; for he is a liar and its father:
- 45 and because I speak the truth, ye do not believe me.
- 46 Which of you convinces me of sin? If I speak truth, why do ye not believe me?
- 47 He that is of God hears the words of God: therefore ye hear [them] not, because ye are not of God.
- 48 The Jews answered and said to him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan and hast a demon?
- 49 Jesus answered, I have not a demon; but I honour my Father, and ye dishonour me.
- 50 But I do not seek my own glory: there is he that seeks and judges.
- 51 Verily, verily, I say unto you, If any one shall keep my word, he shall never see death.
- 29 And he that sent me is with me: [^] he left me not alone, because the things pleasing to him I do always.
- 30 While he was speaking these things, many believed on him.
- 31 Jesus therefore said to the Jews that had believed him, If ye abide in my word, ye are truly my disciples;
- 32 and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.
- 33 They answered him, We are Abraham's seed, and have never been in bondage to anyone: how sayest thou, Ye shall become free?
- 34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Every one that practiseth sin is a bondman of sin.
- 35 Now the bondman abideth not in the house for ever; the son abideth for ever.
- 36 If therefore the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.
- 37 I know that ye are Abraham's seed, but ye seek to kill me because my word maketh no way in you.
- 38 I speak what I have seen with my Father, and ye therefore practise what ye have seen with your father.
- 39 They answered and said to him, Our father is Abraham. Jesus saith to them, If ye are Abraham's children, ye would practise the works of Abraham;
- 40 but now ye seek to kill me, a man who hath spoken to you the truth which I heard from God: this Abraham did not practise.
- 41 Ye practise the works of your father. They said [therefore] to him, We were not born of fornication; we have one father, God.
- 42 Jesus said to [^] them, If God were your father, ye would have loved me, for I came forth from God and am come; for neither have I come of myself, but he sent me.
- 43 Why do ye not know my speech? Because ye cannot hear my word.
- 44 Ye are of your father, the devil, and ye desire to practise the lusts of your father. He was a murderer from [the] beginning, and standeth not in the truth, because there is no truth in him: whenever he speaketh the lie, he speaketh out of his own things, because he is a liar, and the father of it.
- 45 But because I speak the truth, ye believe me not
- 46 Which of you convinceth me of sin? [^] If I speak truth, why do ye not believe me?
- 47 He that is of God heareth the words of God; for this cause ye hear [them] not, because ye are not of God.
- 48 The Jews [^] answered and said to him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritan, and hast a demon?
- 49 Jesus answered, I have not a demon, but honour my Father, and ye dishonour me.
- 50 But I seek not my glory: there is one that seeketh and judgeth.
- 51 Verily, verily, I say to you, If any one keep my word, death he shall in no wise behold for ever.

- 52 The Jews therefore said to him, Now we know that thou hast a demon. Abraham has died, and the prophets, and thou sayest, If any one keep my word, he shall never taste death.
- 53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, who has died? and the prophets have died: whom makest thou thyself?
- 54 Jesus answered, If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing: it is my Father who glorifies me, [of] whom ye say, He is our God.
- 55 And ye know him not; but I know him; and if I said, I know him not, I should be like you, a liar. But I know him, and I keep his word.
- 56 Your father Abraham exulted in that he should see my day, and he saw and rejoiced.
- 57 The Jews therefore said to him, Thou hast not yet fifty years, and hast thou seen Abraham?
- 58 Jesus said to them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am.
- 59 They took up therefore stones that they might cast [them] at him; but Jesus hid himself and went out of the temple, [going through the midst of them, and thus passed on.]

JOHN 9 JND

- 1 And as he passed on, he saw a man blind from birth.
- 2 And his disciples asked him saying, Rabbi, who sinned, this [man] or his parents, that he should be born blind?
- 3 Jesus answered, Neither has this [man] sinned nor his parents, but that the works of God should be manifested in him.
- 4 I must work the works of him that has sent me while it is day. [The] night is coming, when no one can work.
- 5 As long as I am in the world, I am [the] light of the world.
- 6 Having said these things, he spat on the ground and made mud of the spittle, and put the mud, as ointment, on his eyes.
- 7 And he said to him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, which is interpreted, Sent. He went therefore and washed, and came seeing.
- 8 The neighbours therefore, and those who used to see him before, that he was a beggar, said, Is not this he that was sitting and begging?
- 9 Some said, It is he; others said, No, but he is like him: he said, It is I.
- 10 They said therefore to him, How have thine eyes been opened?
- 11 He answered [and said], A man called Jesus made mud and anointed mine eyes, and said to me, Go to Siloam and wash: and having gone and washed, I saw.
- 12 They said therefore to him, Where is he? He says, I do not know.
- 13 They bring him who was before blind to the Pharisees.
- 14 Now it was sabbath when Jesus made the mud and opened his eyes.

- 52 The Jews therefore said to him, Now we know that thou hast a demon. Abraham died, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If anyone keep my word, he shall never taste of death.
- 53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham who died, and the prophets died? whom makest thou thyself?
- 54 Jesus answered, If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing; it is my Father that glorifieth me, of whom ye say, He is our God,
- 55 and ye have not known him, but I know him; and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be like you a liar; but I know him, and keep his word.
- 56 Abraham your father exulted to see my day, and he saw and rejoiced.
- 57 The Jews therefore said to him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?
- 58 Jesus said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Before Abraham was [^], I am.
- 59 They took up therefore stones to cast at him; but Jesus hid himself, and went out from the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

JOHN 9 WK

- 1 And passing along he saw a man blind from birth.
- 2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Rabbi, which sinned, this [man] or his parents, that he should be born blind?
- 3 [^] Jesus answered, Neither this [man] sinned nor his parents, but that the works of God might be manifested in him.
- 4 I must work the works of him that sent me while it is day: night cometh, when no one can work.
- 5 When I am in the world, I am the world's light.
- 6 Having said these things, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and spread the clay over his eyes,
- 7 and said to him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, which is interpreted Sent. He went away therefore, and washed, and came seeing.
- 8 The neighbours therefore, and those who used to see him before that he was a beggar, said, Is not this he that sitteth and beggeth?
- 9 Some said, It is he; others said, No, but he is like him; but he said, It is I.
- 10 They said therefore to him, How then were thine eyes opened?
- 11 He answered, The man that is called Jesus made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said to me, Go unto [^] Siloam, and wash. Having gone away then and washed I received sight.
- 12 And they said to him, Where is he? He saith [^], I do not know.
- 13 They bring unto the Pharisees him that was once blind.
- 14 Now it was sabbath [on the day] when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 The Pharisees therefore also again asked him how he received his sight. And he said to them, He put mud upon mine eyes, and I washed, and I see.

16 Some of the Pharisees therefore said, This man is not of God, for he does not keep the sabbath. Others said, How can a sinful man perform such signs? And there was a division among them.

17 They say therefore again to the blind [man], What dost thou say of him, that he has opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a prophet.

18 The Jews therefore did not believe concerning him that he was blind and had received sight, until they had called the parents of him that had received sight.

19 And they asked them saying, This is your son, of whom ye say that he was born blind: how then does he now see?

20 His parents answered [them] and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind;

21 but how he now sees we do not know, or who has opened his eyes we do not know. He is of age: ask him; he will speak concerning himself.

22 His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had already agreed that if any one confessed him [to be the] Christ, he should be excommunicated from the synagogue.

23 On this account his parents said, He is of age: ask him.

24 They called therefore a second time the man who had been blind, and said to him, Give glory to God: we know that this man is sinful.

25 He answered therefore, If he is sinful I know not. One thing I know, that, being blind [before], now I see.

26 And they said to him again, What did he do to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I told you already and ye did not hear: why do ye desire to hear again? do ye also wish to become his disciples?

28 They railed at him, and said, Thou art his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses.

29 We know that God spoke to Moses; but [as to] this [man], we know not whence he is.

30 The man answered and said to them, Now in this is a wonderful thing, that ye do not know whence he is, and he has opened mine eyes.

31 [But] we know that God does not hear sinners; but if any one be God-fearing and do his will, him he hears.

32 Since time was, it has not been heard that any one opened the eyes of one born blind.

33 If this [man] were not of God he would be able to do nothing.

34 They answered and said to him, Thou hast been wholly born in sins, and thou teachest us? And they cast him out.

35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and having found him, he said to him, Thou, dost thou believe on the Son of God?

36 He answered and said, And who is he, Lord, that I may believe on him?

15 Again therefore the Pharisees also asked him how he received sight. And he said to them, He put clay upon mine eyes, and I washed and do see.

16 Some of the Pharisees then said, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the sabbath. [^] Others said, How can a sinful man do such signs? And there was a division among them.

17 They say therefore to the blind [man] again, Thou, what sayest thou of him, because he opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a prophet.

18 The Jews therefore did not believe concerning him that he was blind, and received sight, until they called the parents of him that received sight,

19 and asked them, saying, Is this your son who, ye say, was born blind? how then doth he now see?

20 His parents therefore answered and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind;

21 but how he now seeth we know not, or who opened his eyes we know not; ask himself: he is of age, he will speak for himself.

22 These things said his parents because they feared the Jews; for the Jews had already agreed that, if any one should confess him [to be] Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue.

23 On this account his parents said, He is of age: ask him.

24 Therefore they called a second time the man who was blind, and said to him, Give glory to God: we know that this man is a sinner.

25 He therefore answered, [^] If he is a sinner I know not. One thing I know, that, blind as I was, now I see.

26 They said therefore [^] to him [again], What did he do to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I told you already, and ye did not hear: why do ye wish to hear again? Do ye also wish to become his disciples?

28 They railed [^] at him, and said, Thou art his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses.

29 We know that God hath spoken to Moses, but this man we know not whence he is.

30 The man answered and said to them, Why in this is the wonderful thing, that ye know not whence he is, and he opened mine eyes!

31 [^] We know that God heareth not sinners, but if any one be God-fearing, and do his will, him he heareth.

32 Since time [began] was it not heard that any one opened a born blind man's eyes.

33 If this man were not of God, he could do nothing.

34 They answered and said to him, In sins thou wast born wholly, and dost thou teach us? And they cast him out.

35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and, having found him, he said, Believest thou on the Son of God [or, man]?

36 He answered, and said, And who is he, Sir, that I may believe on him?

- 37 And Jesus said to him, Thou hast both seen him, and he that speaks with thee is he.
 38 And he said, I believe, Lord: and he did him homage.
 39 And Jesus said, For judgment am I come into this world, that they which see not may see, and they which see may become blind.
 40 And [some] of the Pharisees who were with him heard these things, and they said to him, Are we blind also?
 41 Jesus said to them, If ye were blind ye would not have sin; but now ye say, We see, your sin remains.

JOHN 10 JND

- 1 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that enters not in by the door to the fold of the sheep, but mounts up elsewhere, he is a thief and a robber;
 2 but he that enters in by the door is [the] shepherd of the sheep.
 3 To him the porter opens; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by name, and leads them out.
 4 When he has put forth all his own, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, because they know his voice.
 5 But they will not follow a stranger, but will flee from him, because they know not the voice of strangers.
 6 This allegory spoke Jesus to them, but they did not know what it was [of] which he spoke to them.
 7 Jesus therefore said again to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.
 8 All whoever came before me are thieves and robbers; but the sheep did not hear them.
 9 I am the door: if any one enter in by me, he shall be saved, and shall go in and shall go out and shall find pasture.
 10 The thief comes not but that he may steal, and kill, and destroy: I am come that they might have life, and might have [it] abundantly.
 11 I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep:
 12 but he who serves for wages, and who is not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, sees the wolf coming, and leaves the sheep and flees; and the wolf seizes them and scatters the sheep.
 13 Now he who serves for wages flees because he serves for wages, and is not himself concerned about the sheep.
 14 I am the good shepherd; and I know those that are mine, and am known of those that are mine,
 15 as the Father knows me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep.
 16 And I have other sheep which are not of this fold: those also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one flock, one shepherd.
 17 On this account the Father loves me, because I lay down my life that I may take it again.

- 37 [^] Jesus said to him, Thou hast both seen him, and he that speaketh with thee is he.
 38 And he said, I believe, Lord; and he did him homage.
 39 And Jesus said, For judgment I came into this world, that they that see not may see, and they that see may become blind.
 40 And some of the Pharisees that were with him heard these things, and said to him, Are we blind also?
 41 Jesus said to them, If ye were blind, ye would not have sin; but now ye say, We see, [^] your sin remaineth.

JOHN 10 WK

- 1 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that entereth not through the door into the fold of the sheep but climbeth up otherwise, he is a thief and a robber;
 2 but he that entereth through the door is [^] shepherd of the sheep.
 3 To him the porter openeth, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out.
 4 [^] When he hath put forth all his own [^], he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him because they know his voice;
 5 but a stranger they will in no wise follow, but will flee from him, because they know not the voice of strangers.
 6 This proverb said Jesus to them; but they knew not what things they were which he was speaking to them.
 7 Therefore said Jesus again to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.
 8 All as many as came [before me] are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them.
 9 I am the door; through me if anyone have entered, he shall be saved, and shall go in and shall go out, and shall find pasture.
 10 The thief cometh not unless that he may steal and slaughter and destroy; I came that they might have life, and have abundantly.
 11 I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep.
 12 [But] he that is a hireling, and not a shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, beholdeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth, and the wolf snatcheth them, and scattereth;
 13 and the hireling fleeth because he is a hireling, and no care hath he for the sheep.
 14 I am the good shepherd, and know mine, and mine know me.
 15 even as the Father knoweth me, and I know the Father, and my life I lay down for the sheep.
 16 And other sheep I have which are not of this fold. Them also I must lead, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one flock, one shepherd.
 17 On this account the Father loveth me, because I lay down my life [soul] that I may take it again.

18 No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have authority to lay it down and I have authority to take it again. I have received this commandment of my Father.

19 There was a division again among the Jews on account of these words;

20 but many of them said, He has a demon and raves; why do ye hear him?

21 Others said, These sayings are not [those] of one that is possessed by a demon. Can a demon open blind people's eyes?

22 Now the feast of the dedication was celebrating at Jerusalem, and it was winter.

23 And Jesus walked in the temple in the porch of Solomon.

24 The Jews therefore surrounded him, and said to him, Until when dost thou hold our soul in suspense? If thou art the Christ, say [so] to us openly.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye do not believe. The works which I do in my Father's name, these bear witness concerning me:

26 but ye do not believe, for ye are not of my sheep, as I told you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me;

28 and I give them life eternal; and they shall never perish, and no one shall seize them out of my hand.

29 My Father who has given [them] to me is greater than all, and no one can seize out of the hand of my Father.

30 I and the Father are one.

31 The Jews therefore again took stones that they might stone him.

32 Jesus answered them, Many good works have I shewn you of my Father; for which work of them do ye stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, For a good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy, and because thou, being a man, makest thyself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods to whom the word of God came (and the scripture cannot be broken),

36 do ye say of him whom the Father has sanctified and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am Son of God?

37 If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not;

38 but if I do, even if ye believe not me, believe the works, that ye may know and believe that the Father is in me and I in him.

39 They sought therefore again to take him, and he went away from out of their hand

40 and departed again beyond the Jordan to the place where John was baptising at the first: and he abode there.

41 And many came to him, and said, John did no sign; but all things which John said of this [man] were true.

42 And many believed on him there.

18 No one taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it again: this commandment I received from my Father.

19 There was a division [^] again among the Jews because of these words;

20 but many of them said, He hath a demon and is mad: why hear ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the sayings of one possessed by a demon: can a demon open blind [men's] eyes?

22 Now it was the feast of the dedication at Jerusalem, [and] it was winter;

23 and Jesus was walking in the temple in the porch of Solomon.

24 The Jews therefore surrounded him, and said to him, How long dost thou hold our soul in suspense? If thou art the Christ, tell us openly.

25 Jesus answered, I told you, and ye believe not. The works which I do in the name of my Father, these bear witness of me;

26 but ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep. [^]

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me;

28 and I give them life eternal, and they shall in no wise ever perish, and no one shall seize them out of my hand.

29 My Father who hath given me [them] is greater than all; and no one is able to seize out of the hand of my Father.

30 I and the Father are one.

31 The Jews [therefore] again took up stones, that they might stone him.

32 Jesus answered them, Many good works I showed you from the [or, my] Father: on account of which work of them do ye stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, [^] For a good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy, and because thou, being a man, makest thyself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods to whom the word of God came (and the scripture cannot be broken),

36 say ye of him whom the Father sanctified and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am Son of God?

37 If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not;

38 but if I do, even if ye believe not me, believe the works, that ye may perceive and [believe, or] know that the Father [is] in me, and I in the Father.

39 They sought therefore again to seize him, and he departed out of their hand.

40 And he went away again beyond the Jordan to the place where John was at first baptising, and abode there.

41 And many came unto him and said, John did no sign, but all things whatsoever John said about him were true.

42 And many believed on him there.

JOHN II JND

- 1 Now there was a certain [man] sick, Lazarus of Bethany, of the village of Mary and Martha her sister.
- 2 It was [the] Mary who anointed the Lord with ointment and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.
- 3 The sisters therefore sent to him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick.
- 4 But when Jesus heard [it], he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified by it.
- 5 Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.
- 6 When therefore he heard, He is sick, he remained two days then in the place where he was.
- 7 Then after this he says to his disciples, Let us go into Judæa again.
- 8 The disciples say to him, Rabbi, [even but] now the Jews sought to stone thee, and goest thou thither again?
- 9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any one walk in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world;
- 10 but if any one walk in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.
- 11 These things said he; and after this he says to them, Lazarus, our friend, is fallen asleep, but I go that I may awake him out of sleep.
- 12 The disciples therefore said to him, Lord, if he be fallen asleep, he will get well.
- 13 But Jesus spoke of his death, but they thought that he spoke of the rest of sleep.
- 14 Jesus therefore then said to them plainly, Lazarus has died.
- 15 And I rejoice on your account that I was not there, in order that ye may believe. But let us go to him.
- 16 Thomas therefore, called Didymus, said to his fellow disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.
- 17 Jesus therefore [on] arriving found him to have been four days already in the tomb.
- 18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about fifteen stadia off,
- 19 and many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary, that they might console them concerning their brother.
- 20 Martha then, when she heard, Jesus is coming, went to meet him; but Mary sat in the house.
- 21 Martha therefore said to Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died;
- 22 but even now I know, that whatsoever thou shalt ask of God, God will give thee.
- 23 Jesus says to her, Thy brother shall rise again.
- 24 Martha says to him, I know that he will rise again in the resurrection in the last day.
- 25 Jesus said to her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believes on me, though he have died, shall live;
- 26 and every one who lives and believes on me shall never die. Believest thou this?

JOHN II WK

- 1 Now there was a certain [man] sick, Lazarus, from Bethany, of the village of Mary and Martha her sister.
- 2 But Mary was she that anointed the Lord with unguent, and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.
- 3 The sisters then sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick.
- 4 But when Jesus heard, he said, This sickness is not unto death but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified by it.
- 5 Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.
- 6 When therefore he heard that he was sick, he then remained two days in the place where he was;
- 7 then after this he saith to his [or, the] disciples, Let us go into Judæa again.
- 8 The disciples say to him, Rabbi, the Jews were just now seeking to stone thee, and goest thou thither again?
- 9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours of the day? If one walk in the day, he doth not stumble, because he seeth the light of this world;
- 10 but if one walk in the night, he stumbleth, because the light is not in him.
- 11 These things said he, and after this he saith to them, Lazarus our friend is fallen asleep; but I go that I may awake him.
- 12 Therefore said the disciples to him, Lord, if he is fallen asleep, he will recover.
- 13 But Jesus had spoken of his death, but they thought that he was speaking [lit. speaketh] of the rest of sleep.
- 14 Then therefore said Jesus to them plainly, Lazarus is dead;
- 15 and I rejoice on your account that I was not there, that ye may believe. But let us go unto him.
- 16 Thomas therefore, that is called Didymus, said to his fellow-disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.
- 17 Jesus therefore, on coming, found that he was four days in the tomb.
- 18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about fifteen furlongs off;
- 19 and many of the Jews had come unto Martha and Mary [^] that they might comfort them concerning their brother.
- 20 Martha then, when she heard Jesus is coming, met him; but Mary was sitting in the house.
- 21 Martha then said unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.
- 22 And now I know that, whatsoever thou mayest ask of God, God will give thee.
- 23 Jesus saith to her, Thy brother shall rise again.
- 24 Martha saith to him, I know that he shall rise in the resurrection at the last day.
- 25 Jesus said to her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth on me, though he have died, shall live;
- 26 and every one that liveth and believeth on me shall never die [literally, shall in no wise die for ever]. Believest thou this?

- 27 She says to him, Yea, Lord; I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, who should come into the world.
 - 28 And having said this, she went away and called her sister Mary secretly, saying, The teacher is come and calls thee.
 - 29 She, when she heard [that], rises up quickly and comes to him.
 - 30 Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was in the place where Martha came to meet him.
 - 31 The Jews therefore who were with her in the house and consoling her, seeing Mary that she rose up quickly and went out, followed her, saying, She goes to the tomb, that she may weep there.
 - 32 Mary therefore, when she came where Jesus was, seeing him, fell at his feet, saying to him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.
 - 33 Jesus therefore, when he saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, was deeply moved in spirit, and was troubled,
 - 34 and said, Where have ye put him? They say to him, Lord, come and see.
 - 35 Jesus wept.
 - 36 The Jews therefore said, Behold how he loved him!
 - 37 And some of them said, Could not this [man], who has opened the eyes of the blind [man], have caused that this [man] also should not have died?
 - 38 Jesus therefore, again deeply moved in himself, comes to the tomb. Now it was a cave, and a stone lay upon it.
 - 39 Jesus says, Take away the stone. Martha, the sister of the dead, says to him, Lord, he stinks already, for he is four days [there].
 - 40 Jesus says to her, Did I not say to thee, that if thou shouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?
 - 41 They took therefore the stone away. And Jesus lifted up his eyes on high and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me;
 - 42 but I knew that thou always hearest me; but on account of the crowd who stand around I have said [it], that they may believe that thou hast sent me.
 - 43 And having said this, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.
 - 44 And the dead came forth, bound feet and hands with graveclothes, and his face was bound round with a handkerchief. Jesus says to them, Loose him and let him go.
 - 45 Many therefore of the Jews who came to Mary and saw what he had done, believed on him;
 - 46 but some of them went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done.
 - 47 The chief priests, therefore, and the Pharisees gathered a council, and said, What do we? for this man does many signs.
- 27 She saith to him, Yea, Lord, I do believe [I have believed, and do] that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, that should come into the world.
 - 28 And having said this she went away, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Teacher is here, and calleth thee.
 - 29 When she heard [it], she riseth quickly, and cometh unto him.
 - 30 Now Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was in the place where Martha came to meet him.
 - 31 The Jews therefore who were with her in the house and consoling her, having seen Mary that she quickly rose up and went out, followed her, thinking she goeth unto the tomb, that she may weep there.
 - 32 Mary therefore when she came where Jesus was, having seen him, fell at his feet, saying to him, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.
 - 33 Jesus therefore, when he saw her weeping, and the Jews that came with her weeping, was deeply moved in spirit, and troubled himself,
 - 34 and said, Where have ye laid him? They say to him, Lord, come and see.
 - 35 [^] Jesus wept.
 - 36 The Jews therefore said, Behold, how he loved him!
 - 37 And some of them said, Could not this [man] that opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that this [man] also should not have died?
 - 38 Jesus therefore again, deeply moved in himself, cometh unto the tomb. Now it was a cave, and a stone lay upon it.
 - 39 Jesus saith, Take away the stone. Martha, the sister of the deceased, saith to him, Lord, he already stinketh, for he is four days [dead].
 - 40 Jesus saith to her, Said I not to thee that if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?
 - 41 They took away therefore the stone; [^] and Jesus lifted his eyes upward, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou heardest me.
 - 42 And I knew that thou hearest me always; but on account of the crowd that standeth around I said [it], that they may believe that thou didst send me.
 - 43 And having said this, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.
 - 44 And the dead came forth, having the feet and the hands bound with graveclothes, and his face was bound round with a handkerchief. Jesus saith to them, Loose him, and let him go.
 - 45 Many of the Jews therefore that came to Mary, and beheld what he did, believed on him;
 - 46 but some of them went away unto the Pharisees, and told them what Jesus did.
 - 47 The chief priests therefore and the Pharisees gathered together a council, and said, What do we, for this man doeth many signs?

- 48 If we let him thus alone, all will believe on him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and our nation.
- 49 But a certain one of them, Caiaphas, being high priest that year, said to them,
- 50 Ye know nothing nor consider that it is profitable for you that one man die for the people, and not that the whole nation perish.
- 51 But this he did not say of himself; but, being high priest that year, prophesied that Jesus was going to die for the nation;
- 52 and not for the nation only, but that he should also gather together into one the children of God who were scattered abroad.
- 53 From that day therefore they took counsel that they might kill him.
- 54 Jesus therefore walked no longer openly among the Jews, but went away thence into the country near the desert, to a city called Ephraim, and there he sojourned with the disciples.
- 55 But the passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem out of the country before the passover, that they might purify themselves.
- 56 They sought therefore Jesus, and said among themselves, standing in the temple, What do ye think? that he will not come to the feast?
- 57 Now the chief priests and the Pharisees had given commandment that if any one knew where he was, he should make it known, that they might take him.

JOHN 12 JND

- 1 Jesus therefore, six days before the passover, came to Bethany, where was the dead [man] Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from among [the] dead.
- 2 There therefore they made him a supper, and Martha served, but Lazarus was one of those at table with him.
- 3 Mary therefore, having taken a pound of ointment of pure nard of great price, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair, and the house was filled with the odour of the ointment.
- 4 One of his disciples therefore, Judas [son] of Simon, Iscariote, who was about to deliver him up, says,
- 5 Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii and given to the poor?
- 6 But he said this, not that he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief and had the bag, and carried what was put into [it].
- 7 Jesus therefore said, Suffer her to have kept this for the day of my preparation for burial;
- 8 for ye have the poor always with you, but me ye have not always.
- 9 A great crowd therefore of the Jews knew that he was there; and they came, not because of Jesus only, but also that they might see Lazarus whom he raised from among [the] dead.

- 48 [and] if we leave him thus, all will believe on him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and nation.
- 49 But a certain one of them, Caiaphas, being high priest of that year, said to them, Ye know nothing,
- 50 nor reckon that it is profitable for you that one man should die for the people, and not the whole nation perish.
- 51 Now this he said not from himself, but, being high priest of that year, he prophesied that Jesus was about to die for the nation,
- 52 and not for the nation only, but that also he should gather together into one the children of God that were scattered abroad.
- 53 From that day therefore they consulted that they might kill him.
- 54 Jesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jews, but went away thence into the country near the desert, unto a city called Ephraim, and there he abode with the disciples.
- 55 But the passover of the Jews was near; and many went up unto Jerusalem out of the country before the passover, that they might purify themselves.
- 56 They were seeking therefore Jesus, and said among themselves, standing in the temple, What think ye? That he will not at all come unto the feast?
- 57 Now the high priest and the Pharisees had given commandment that if any one knew where he was, he should inform, that they might seize him.

JOHN 12 WK

- 1 Jesus therefore, six days before the passover, came unto Bethany, where was Lazarus, [^] whom Jesus raised from [the] dead.
- 2 They made there for him a supper and Martha served; but Lazarus was one of those at table with him.
- 3 Mary then, having taken a pound of unguent of costly pure nard, anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the odour of the unguent.
- 4 And Judas Iscariot [^], one of his disciples that was about to give him up, saith,
- 5 Why was this unguent not sold for three hundred denaries, and given to poor [persons]?
- 6 And this he said, not because he cared for the poor, but because he was a thief, and, having the bag, used to bear what was deposited.
- 7 Jesus then said, Leave her to have kept it for the day of my preparation for burial:
- 8 for the poor ye have always with you, but me ye have not always.
- 9 A [or, The] great crowd of the Jews therefore knew that he was [lit. is] there, and came not on account of Jesus only but that they might see Lazarus also whom he raised from [the] dead.

- 10 But the chief priests took counsel that they might kill Lazarus also,
 - 11 because many of the Jews went away on his account and believed on Jesus.
 - 12 On the morrow a great crowd who came to the feast, having heard that Jesus is coming into Jerusalem,
 - 13 took branches of palms and went out to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, blessed [is] he that comes in the name of [the] Lord, the king of Israel.
 - 14 And Jesus, having found a young ass, sat upon it; as it is written,
 - 15 Fear not, daughter of Zion: behold, thy king cometh, sitting on an ass's colt.
 - 16 [Now] his disciples knew not these things at the first; but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things to him.
 - 17 The crowd therefore that was with him bore witness because he had called Lazarus out of the tomb, and raised him from among [the] dead.
 - 18 Therefore also the crowd met him because they had heard that he had done this sign.
 - 19 The Pharisees therefore said to one another, Ye see that ye profit nothing: behold, the world is gone after him.
 - 20 And there were certain Greeks among those who came up that they might worship in the feast;
 - 21 these therefore came to Philip, who was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and they asked him saying, Sir, we desire to see Jesus.
 - 22 Philip comes and tells Andrew, [and again] Andrew comes and Philip, and they tell Jesus.
 - 23 But Jesus answered them saying, The hour is come that the Son of man should be glorified.
 - 24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except the grain of wheat falling into the ground die, it abides alone; but if it die, bears much fruit.
 - 25 He that loves his life shall lose it, and he that hates his life in this world shall keep it to life eternal.
 - 26 If any one serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there also shall be my servant. [And] if any one serve me, him shall the Father honour.
 - 27 Now is my soul troubled, and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour. But on account of this have I come to this hour.
 - 28 Father, glorify thy name. There came therefore a voice out of heaven, I both have glorified and will glorify [it] again.
 - 29 The crowd therefore which stood [there] and heard [it] said that it had thundered. Others said, An angel has spoken to him.
 - 30 Jesus answered and said, Not on my account has this voice come, but on yours.
 - 31 Now is [the] judgment of this world; now shall the prince of this world be cast out:
- 10 But the chief priests consulted that they might kill Lazarus also,
 - 11 because on his account many of the Jews were going away and believing on Jesus.
 - 12 On the morrow, a great crowd that came unto the feast, having heard that Jesus is coming into Jerusalem,
 - 13 took branches of palm, and went out to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, blessed [is] he that cometh in Jehovah's name, [even] the king of Israel.
 - 14 And Jesus, having found a young ass, sat upon it, as it is written,
 - 15 Fear not, daughter of Zion; behold, thy king cometh, sitting upon an ass's colt.
 - 16 [^] These things his disciples knew not at the first; but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things were written of him, and they did these things to him.
 - 17 The crowd therefore that was with him bore witness, because he called Lazarus out of the tomb, and raised him from [the] dead.
 - 18 Therefore also the crowd met him, because they heard that he had done this sign.
 - 19 The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, Ye behold that ye profit nothing: behold, the world is gone away after him.
 - 20 And there were certain Greeks of those coming up to worship at the feast;
 - 21 these therefore came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida of Galilee, and asked him, saying, Sir, we desire to see Jesus.
 - 22 Philip cometh and telleth Andrew, and [^] Andrew cometh and Philip, and they tell Jesus.
 - 23 But Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come that the Son of man should be glorified.
 - 24 Verily, verily, I say to you, Except the grain of wheat falling into the ground die, it abideth alone; but, if it die, it beareth much fruit.
 - 25 He that loveth his life [soul] shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal.
 - 26 If any one serve me, let him follow me, and where I am, there also my servant shall be; [^] if any one serve me, him will my Father honour.
 - 27 Now is my soul troubled, and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour; but on account of this came I unto this hour.
 - 28 Father, glorify thy name.
There came therefore a voice out of heaven, I both have glorified and will glorify [it] again.
 - 29 The crowd then that stood and heard said that it thundered; others said, An angel hath spoken to him. [^]
 - 30 Jesus answered and said, Not on mine account hath this voice come, but on yours.
 - 31 Now is judgment of this world; now shall the prince of this world be cast out:

- 32 and I, if I be lifted up out of the earth, will draw all to me.
- 33 But this he said signifying by what death he was about to die.
- 34 The crowd answered him, We have heard out of the law that the Christ abides for ever; and how sayest thou that the Son of man must be lifted up? Who is this, the Son of man?
- 35 Jesus therefore said to them, Yet a little while is the light amongst you. Walk while ye have the light, that darkness may not overtake you. And he who walks in the darkness does not know where he goes.
- 36 While ye have the light, believe in the light, that ye may become sons of light. Jesus said these things, and going away hid himself from them.
- 37 But though he had done so many signs before them, they believed not on him,
- 38 that the word of the prophet Esaias which he said might be fulfilled, Lord, who has believed our report? and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?
- 39 On this account they could not believe, because Esaias said again,
- 40 He has blinded their eyes and hardened their heart, that they may not see with their eyes and understand with their heart and be converted and I should heal them.
- 41 These things said Esaias because he saw his glory and spoke of him.
- 42 Although indeed from among the rulers also many believed on him, but on account of the Pharisees did not confess[him], that they might not be put out of the synagogue:
- 43 for they loved glory from men rather than glory from God.
- 44 But Jesus cried and said, He that believes on me, believes not on me, but on him that sent me;
- 45 and he that beholds me, beholds him that sent me.
- 46 I am come into the world [as] light, that every one that believes on me may not abide in darkness;
- 47 and if any one hear my words and do not keep [them], I judge him not, for I am not come that I might judge the world, but that I might save the world.
- 48 He that rejects me and does not receive my words, has him who judges him: the word which I have spoken, that shall judge him in the last day.
- 49 For I have not spoken from myself, but the Father who sent me has himself given me commandment what I should say and what I should speak;
- 50 and I know that his commandment is life eternal. What therefore I speak, as the Father has said to me, so I speak.

JOHN 13 JND

- 1 Now before the feast of the passover, Jesus, knowing that his hour had come that he should depart out of this

- 32 and I, if I be lifted up out of the earth, will draw all to myself.
- 33 But this he said signifying by what death he was about to die.
- 34 The crowd then answered him, We heard out of the law that the Christ abideth for ever; and how sayest thou that the Son of man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of man?
- 35 Jesus then said to them, Yet a little time the light is among you. Walk while ye have the light, that the darkness may not overtake you; and he that walketh in darkness knoweth not where he goeth.
- 36 While ye have the light, believe in the light, that ye may become sons of light.
- Jesus spoke these things and, going away, hid himself from them.
- 37 But though he had done so many signs before them, they did not believe on him,
- 38 that the word of Isaiah the prophet which he said might be fulfilled. Jehovah, who believed our report? and to whom was Jehovah's arm revealed?
- 39 On this account they could not believe because Isaiah said again,
- 40 He hath blinded their eyes, and he hardened their heart that they may not see with their eyes and understand with their heart, and be converted, and I heal them.
- 41 These things said Isaiah, because [or, when] he saw his glory, and spoke concerning him.
- 42 Still, however, from among the rulers also many believed on him, but on account of the Pharisees did not confess, that they might not be put out of the synagogue;
- 43 for they loved the glory of men more than the glory of God.
- 44 But Jesus cried and said, He that believeth on me believeth not on me but on him that sent me;
- 45 and he that beholdeth me beholdeth him that sent me.
- 46 I am come a light into the world, that every one that believeth on me may not abide in darkness.
- 47 And if any one have heard my words and not kept [them], I judge him not, for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world.
- 48 He that sligheth me and receiveth not my words hath one that judgeth him; the word which I did speak, that will judge him in the last day,
- 49 because I did not speak from myself, but the Father who sent me hath himself given me commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak;
- 50 and I know that his commandment is life eternal. What things then I speak, as the Father hath said to me, so I speak.

JOHN 13 WK

- 1 Now, before the feast of the passover, Jesus, knowing that his hour was come that he should depart out of this

- world to the Father, having loved his own who were in the world, loved them to the end.
- 2 And during supper, the devil having already put it into the heart of Judas [son] of Simon, Iscariote, that he should deliver him up,
- 3 [Jesus,] knowing that the Father had given him all things into his hands, and that he came out from God and was going to God,
- 4 rises from supper and lays aside his garments, and having taken a linen towel he girded himself:
- 5 then he pours water into the washhand basin, and began to wash the feet of the disciples, and to wipe them with the linen towel with which he was girded.
- 6 He comes therefore to Simon Peter; and he says to him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?
- 7 Jesus answered and said to him, What I do thou dost not know now, but thou shalt know hereafter.
- 8 Peter says to him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, Unless I wash thee, thou hast not part with me.
- 9 Simon Peter says to him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.
- 10 Jesus says to him, He that is washed all over needs not to wash save his feet, but is wholly clean; and ye are clean, but not all.
- 11 For he knew him that delivered him up: on account of this he said, Ye are not all clean.
- 12 When therefore he had washed their feet and taken his garments, having sat down again he said to them, Do ye know what I have done to you?
- 13 Ye call me the Teacher and the Lord, and ye say well, for I am [so].
- 14 If I therefore, the Lord and the Teacher, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet;
- 15 for I have given you an example that, as I have done to you, ye should do also.
- 16 Verily, verily, I say to you, The bondman is not greater than his lord, nor the sent greater than he who has sent him.
- 17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.
- 18 I speak not of you all. I know those whom I have chosen; but that the scripture might be fulfilled, He that eats bread with me has lifted up his heel against me.
- 19 I tell you [it] now before it happens, that when it happens, ye may believe that I am [he].
- 20 Verily, verily, I say to you, He who receives whomsoever I shall send receives me; and he that receives me receives him who has sent me.
- 21 Having said these things, Jesus was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, Verily, verily, I say to you, that one of you shall deliver me up.
- 22 The disciples therefore looked one on another, doubting of whom he spoke.

- world unto the Father, having loved his own that [were] in the world, loved them unto [the] end.
- 2 And, supper being come, the devil having already put [it] into the heart of Judas, Simon's [son], Iscariot, that he should deliver him up,
- 3 [Jesus, or] he, knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he came out from God and goeth unto God,
- 4 riseth from supper and layeth aside his garments, and, having taken a towel, girded himself.
- 5 Then he poureth water into the basin, and began to wash the feet of the disciples, and to wipe them with the towel with which he was girded.
- 6 He cometh then unto Simon Peter. He saith to him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?
- 7 Jesus answered and said to him, What I am doing thou knowest not just now, but shalt know afterwards.
- 8 Peter saith to him, In no wise shalt thou wash my feet for ever. Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.
- 9 Simon Peter saith to him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.
- 10 Jesus saith to him, He that is washed [bathed] hath no need to wash [other] than his feet, but is wholly clean; and ye are clean, but not all.
- 11 For he knew him that was delivering him up: on this account he said, Ye are not all clean.
- 12 When then he washed their feet and took his garments and reclined again, he said to them, Know ye what I have done to you?
- 13 Ye call me the Teacher and the Lord, and ye say well, for I am.
- 14 If I then, the Lord and the Teacher, washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet;
- 15 for I have given you an example, that even as I did to you, ye should also do.
- 16 Verily, verily, I say to you, A bondman is not greater than his lord, nor yet an apostle greater than he that sent him.
- 17 If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do [or, practise] them.
- 18 I speak not of you all: I know whom I chose out, but that the scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me hath lifted up his heel against me.
- 19 Henceforth [or, From this present time] I tell you before it come to pass, that, when it hath come to pass, ye may believe that I am [he].
- 20 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that receiveth whomsoever I shall send receiveth me; and he that receiveth me receiveth him that sent me.
- 21 Having said these things, Jesus was troubled in his spirit and testified and said, Verily, verily, I say to you, One of you shall give me up.
- 22 The disciples [then] looked one on another, doubting of whom he spoke [lit. speaketh].

- 23 Now there was at table one of his disciples in the bosom of Jesus, whom Jesus loved.
- 24 Simon Peter makes a sign therefore to him to ask who it might be of whom he spoke.
- 25 But he, leaning on the breast of Jesus, says to him, Lord, who is it?
- 26 Jesus answers, He it is to whom I·, after I have dipped the morsel, give it. And having dipped the morsel, he gives it to Judas [son] of Simon, Iscariote.
- 27 And, after the morsel, then entered Satan into him. Jesus therefore says to him, What thou doest, do quickly.
- 28 But none of those at table knew why he said this to him;
- 29 for some supposed, because Judas had the bag, that Jesus was saying to him, Buy the things of which we have need for the feast; or that he should give something to the poor.
- 30 Having therefore received the morsel, he went out immediately; and it was night.
- 31 When therefore he was gone out Jesus says, Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.
- 32 If God be glorified in him, God also shall glorify him in himself, and shall glorify him immediately.
- 33 Children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me; and, as I said to the Jews, Where I· go ye· cannot come, I say to you also now.
- 34 A new commandment I give to you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye· also love one another.
- 35 By this shall all know that ye are disciples of mine, if ye have love amongst yourselves.
- 36 Simon Peter says to him, Lord, where goest thou? Jesus answered him, Where I go thou canst not follow me now, but thou shalt follow me after.
- 37 Peter says to him, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now? I will lay down my life for thee.
- 38 Jesus answers, Thou wilt lay down thy life for me! Verily, verily, I say to thee, The cock shall not crow till thou hast denied me thrice.

JOHN 14 JND

- 1 Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe on God, believe also on me.
- 2 In my Father's house there are many abodes; were it not so, I had told you: for I go to prepare you a place;
- 3 and if I go and shall prepare you a place, I am coming again and shall receive you to myself, that where I· am ye· also may be.
- 4 And ye know where I· go, and ye know the way.
- 5 Thomas says to him, Lord, we know not where thou goest, and how can we know the way?
- 6 Jesus says to him, I· am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father unless by me.

- 23 [Now] there was at table one of his disciples in the bosom of Jesus whom Jesus loved.
- 24 Simon Peter then beckoneth to this one and saith to him, Tell who it is of whom he speaketh.
- 25 He then having thus fallen back on the breast of Jesus saith to him, Lord, who is it?
- 26 Jesus [then] answereth, That one it is to whom I, having dipped the morsel, shall give [it]. Having then dipped he [taketh and] giveth the morsel to Judas [son] of Simon, Iscariot.
- 27 And after the morsel, Satan then entered into him. Jesus therefore saith to him, What thou doest do more quickly.
- 28 But no one of those at table knew why he said this to him;
- 29 for some supposed because Judas had the bag that Jesus saith to him, Buy the things that we have need of for the feast, or that he should give something to the poor.
- 30 He therefore having received the morsel went out immediately; and it was night.
- 31 When therefore he was gone out, Jesus saith, Now is [lit. was] the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.
- 32 If God is [lit. was] glorified in him, God also shall glorify him in himself, and shall glorify him immediately.
- 33 Little children, yet a little I am with you. Ye will seek me; and, even as I said to the Jews, where I go away ye cannot come, also to you I say now.
- 34 A new commandment I give to you, that ye love one another; even as I loved you, that ye also love one another.
- 35 By this shall all know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love among one another.
- 36 Simon Peter saith to him, Lord, where goest thou? Jesus answered [him], Where I go, thou canst not follow me now, but thou shalt follow me afterwards.
- 37 Peter saith to him, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now? My life for thee I will lay down.
- 38 Jesus answereth [him], Thy life for me wilt thou lay down? Verily, verily, I say to thee, In no wise shall a cock crow till thou shalt have denied me thrice.

JOHN 14 WK

- 1 Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe on God, believe on me also.
- 2 In my Father's house are many mansions: if not so, I would have told you, because I go to prepare a place for you.
- 3 And if I go and prepare a place for you, I am coming again, and will receive you unto myself, that where I am ye also may be.
- 4 And where I go ye know the way.
- 5 Thomas saith to him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; [and] how know we [or can we know] the way?
- 6 Jesus said to him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father but by me.

- 7 If ye had known me, ye would have known also my Father, and henceforth ye know him and have seen him.
- 8 Philip says to him, Lord, shew us the Father and it suffices us.
- 9 Jesus says to him, Am I so long a time with you, and thou hast not known me, Philip? He that has seen me has seen the Father; and how sayest thou, Shew us the Father?
- 10 Believest thou not that I [am] in the Father, and that the Father is in me? The words which I speak to you I do not speak from myself; but the Father who abides in me, he does the works.
- 11 Believe me that I [am] in the Father and the Father in me; but if not, believe me for the works' sake themselves.
- 12 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believes on me, the works which I do shall he do also, and he shall do greater than these, because I go to the Father.
- 13 And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, this will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.
- 14 If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it.
- 15 If ye love me, keep my commandments.
- 16 And I will beg the Father, and he will give you another Comforter, that he may be with you for ever,
- 17 the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it does not see him nor know him; but ye know him, for he abides with you, and shall be in you.
- 18 I will not leave you orphans, I am coming to you.
- 19 Yet a little and the world sees me no longer; but ye see me; because I live ye also shall live.
- 20 In that day ye shall know that I [am] in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.
- 21 He that has my commandments and keeps them, he it is that loves me; but he that loves me shall be loved by my Father, and I will love him and will manifest myself to him.
- 22 Judas, not the Iscariote, says to him, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself to us and not to the world?
- 23 Jesus answered and said to him, If any one love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our abode with him.
- 24 He that loves me not does not keep my words; and the word which ye hear is not mine, but [that] of the Father who has sent me.
- 25 These things I have said to you, abiding with you;
- 26 but the Comforter, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and will bring to your remembrance all the things which I have said to you.
- 27 I leave peace with you; I give my peace to you: not as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it fear.
- 28 Ye have heard that I have said unto you, I go away and I am coming to you. If ye loved me ye would rejoice that I go to the Father, for [my] Father is greater than I.

- 7 If ye had known me, ye would have known my Father also; and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.
- 8 Philip saith to him, Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
- 9 Jesus saith to him, Am I so long a time with you, and hast thou not known me, Philip? He that hath seen me hath seen the Father; [and] how sayest thou, Show us the Father?
- 10 Believest thou not that I [am] in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words which I say to you, I do not speak from myself; but the Father that abideth in me, he doeth the works.
- 11 Believe me that I [am] in the Father, and the Father [^] in me; but, if not, believe me for the very works' sake.
- 12 Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believeth on me, the works which I do shall he do also; and greater things than these shall he do; because I go unto the [^] Father.
- 13 And whatsoever ye shall ask [or, beg] in my name, this I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.
- 14 If ye shall ask [^] anything in my name, I will do it.
- 15 If ye love me, keep [or, ye will keep] my commandments;
- 16 and I will request the Father, and he will give you another Paraclete, that he may be with you for ever,
- 17 the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it beareth him not, nor knoweth him; but ye know him, because he abideth with you, and shall be in you.
- 18 I will not leave you orphans, I am coming unto you.
- 19 Yet a little, and the world beareth me no more; but ye behold me: because I live, ye also shall live.
- 20 In that day ye shall know that I [am] in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.
- 21 He that hath my commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; but he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him and will manifest myself to him.
- 22 Judas, not the Iscariot, saith to him, Lord, [and] how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself to us and not to the world?
- 23 Jesus answered and said to him, If any one love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.
- 24 He that loveth me not keepeth not my words; and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's that sent me.
- 25 These things I have spoken to you, while abiding with you;
- 26 but the Paraclete, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring to your remembrance all things which I said to you.
- 27 Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you, not as the world giveth give I to you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.
- 28 Ye heard that I said to you, I go away, and come unto you; if ye loved me, ye would have rejoiced that [^] I go unto the Father, because the [^] Father is greater than I.

- 29 And now I have told you before it comes to pass, that when it shall have come to pass ye may believe.
- 30 I will no longer speak much with you, for the ruler of the world comes, and in me he has nothing;
- 31 but that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father has commanded me, thus I do. Rise up, let us go hence.

JOHN 15 JND

- 1 I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman.
- 2 [As to] every branch in me not bearing fruit, he takes it away; and [as to] every one bearing fruit, he purges it that it may bring forth more fruit.
- 3 Ye are already clean by reason of the word which I have spoken to you.
- 4 Abide in me and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself unless it abide in the vine, thus neither [can] ye unless ye abide in me.
- 5 I am the vine, ye [are] the branches. He that abides in me and I in him, he bears much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing.
- 6 Unless any one abide in me he is cast out as the branch, and is dried up; and they gather them and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.
- 7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall come to pass to you.
- 8 In this is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and ye shall become disciples of mine.
- 9 As the Father has loved me I also have loved you: abide in my love.
- 10 If ye shall keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love.
- 11 I have spoken these things to you that my joy may be in you, and your joy be full.
- 12 This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you.
- 13 No one has greater love than this, that one should lay down his life for his friends.
- 14 Ye are my friends if ye practise whatever I command you.
- 15 I call you no longer bondmen, for the bondman does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all things which I have heard of my Father I have made known to you.
- 16 Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and have set you that ye should go and [that] ye should bear fruit, and [that] your fruit should abide, that whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name he may give you.
- 17 These things I command you, that ye love one another.
- 18 If the world hate you, know that it has hated me before you.
- 19 If ye were of the world, the world would love its own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, on account of this the world hates you.
- 20 Remember the word which I said unto you, The bondman is not greater than his master. If they have persecuted me,

- 29 And now I have told you before it come to pass, that when it is come to pass ye may believe.
- 30 No longer shall I talk much with you, for the prince of the [^] world cometh, and hath nothing in me.
- 31 But that the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father commanded me, so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

JOHN 15 WK

- 1 I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman.
- 2 Every branch in me not bearing fruit, he taketh it away; and every one that beareth fruit, he cleanseth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.
- 3 Already ye are clean, because of the word which I have spoken to you.
- 4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot bear fruit from itself, unless it abide in the vine; so neither [can] ye, unless ye abide in me.
- 5 I am the vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me, and I in him, he beareth much fruit; because apart from me ye can do nothing.
- 6 If one abide not in me, he is cast out as the branch, and is dried up: and they gather it, and cast [it] into the fire, and it burneth.
- 7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask [or, ye shall ask] what ye will, and it shall come to pass for you.
- 8 In this is [lit. was] my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit, and [ye shall] become my disciples.
- 9 As the Father loved me, I also loved you: abide in my love.
- 10 If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments and abide in his love.
- 11 These things have I spoken to you that my joy may be in you, and your joy may be fulfilled.
- 12 This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I loved you.
- 13 Greater love no one hath than this, that one lay down his life for his friends.
- 14 Ye are my friends if ye do what [ever] I command you.
- 15 No longer do I call you bondmen, for the bondman knoweth not what his lord doeth; but you I have called friends, because all things which I heard from my Father I made known to you.
- 16 Not ye chose me, but I chose you and appointed you that ye should go and bear fruit, and your fruit abide; that whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name he may give you.
- 17 These things I command you, that ye love one another.
- 18 If the world hateth you, know [or, ye know] that me it hath hated before you.
- 19 If ye were of the world, the world would love its own; but because ye are not of the world, but I chose you out of the world, on this account doth the world hate you.
- 20 Call to mind the word which I told you, A bondman is not greater than his lord. If they persecuted me, they will they will also persecute you; if they have kept my word, they will keep also yours.

- 21 But they will do all these things to you on account of my name, because they have not known him that sent me.
- 22 If I had not come and spoken to them, they had not had sin; but now they have no excuse for their sin.
- 23 He that hates me hates also my Father.
- 24 If I had not done among them the works which no other one has done, they had not had sin; but now they have both seen and hated both me and my Father.
- 25 But that the word written in their law might be fulfilled, They hated me without a cause.
- 26 But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who goes forth from with the Father, he shall bear witness concerning me;
- 27 and ye too bear witness, because ye are with me from [the] beginning.

JOHN 16 JND

- 1 These things I have spoken unto you that ye may not be offended.
- 2 They shall put you out of the synagogues; but the hour is coming that every one who kills you will think to render service to God;
- 3 and these things they will do because they have not known the Father nor me.
- 4 But I have spoken these things to you, that when their hour shall have come, ye may remember them, that I have said [them] unto you. But I did not say these things unto you from [the] beginning, because I was with you.
- 5 But now I go to him that has sent me, and none of you demands of me, Where goest thou?
- 6 But because I have spoken these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart.
- 7 But I say the truth to you, It is profitable for you that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Comforter will not come to you; but if I go I will send him to you.
- 8 And having come, he will bring demonstration to the world, of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment:
- 9 of sin, because they do not believe on me;
- 10 of righteousness, because I go away to [my] Father, and ye behold me no longer;
- 11 of judgment, because the ruler of this world is judged.
- 12 I have yet many things to say to you, but ye cannot bear them now.
- 13 But when he is come, the Spirit of truth, he shall guide you into all the truth: for he shall not speak from himself; but whatsoever he shall hear he shall speak; and he will announce to you what is coming.
- 14 He shall glorify me, for he shall receive of mine and shall announce [it] to you.

persecute you also; if they kept my word, they will keep yours also;

- 21 but all these things they will do unto you on account of my name, because they know not him that sent me.
- 22 If I had not come and spoken to them, they had not had sin; but now they have no excuse for their sin.
- 23 He that hateth me hateth my Father also.
- 24 If I did not among them the works which no other did, they had not had sin; but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father.
- 25 But [it is] that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law, They hated me without a cause.
- 26 [But] when the Paraclete shall have come, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceedeth out from the Father, he shall testify concerning me;
- 27 and ye too testify, because ye are with me from [the] beginning.

JOHN 16 WK

- 1 These things I have spoken to you that ye should not be stumbled.
- 2 They will put you out of the synagogue; nay, an hour is coming that every one who hath killed you will think that he is offering service to God.
- 3 And these things will they do to you because they knew not the Father nor me.
- 4 But I have said these things to you, that when the [or, their] hour shall have come, ye may remember them that I told you; but these things I told you not from [the] beginning, because I was with you.
- 5 But now I go unto him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?
- 6 But because I have said these things to you, sorrow hath filled your heart.
- 7 Nevertheless I tell you the truth: it is profitable for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Paraclete will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you.
- 8 And when come, he will convince [or, afford proof to] the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment:
- 9 of sin, because they believe not on me;
- 10 of righteousness, because I go unto my [or, the] Father, and ye behold me no more;
- 11 of judgment, because the prince of this world is [or, hath been] judged.
- 12 I have yet many things to say to you, but ye cannot bear [them] now.
- 13 Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, shall have come, he will guide you in [or, into] all the truth; for he will not speak from himself, but whatever he shall hear he will speak; and he will announce to you the things to come.
- 14 He will glorify me, for he will receive of mine, and will announce [it] to you.

- 15 All things that the Father has are mine; on account of this I have said that he receives of mine and shall announce [it] to you.
- 16 A little while and ye do not behold me; and again a little while and ye shall see me, [because I go away to the Father].
- 17 [Some] of his disciples therefore said to one another, What is this he says to us, A little while and ye do not behold me; and again a little while and ye shall see me, and, Because I go away to the Father?
- 18 They said therefore, What is this which he says [of] the little while? We do not know [of] what he speaks.
- 19 Jesus knew therefore that they desired to demand of him, and said to them, Do ye inquire of this among yourselves that I said, A little while and ye do not behold me; and again a little while and ye shall see me?
- 20 Verily, verily, I say to you, that ye shall weep and lament, ye, but the world shall rejoice; and ye will be grieved, but your grief shall be turned to joy.
- 21 A woman, when she gives birth to a child, has grief because her hour has come; but when the child is born, she no longer remembers the trouble, on account of the joy that a man has been born into the world.
- 22 And ye now therefore have grief; but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no one takes from you.
- 23 And in that day ye shall demand nothing of me: verily, verily, I say to you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give you.
- 24 Hitherto ye have asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.
- 25 These things I have spoken to you in allegories; the hour is coming that I will no longer speak to you in allegories, but will declare to you openly concerning the Father.
- 26 In that day ye shall ask in my name; and I say not to you that I will demand of the Father for you,
- 27 for the Father himself has affection for you, because ye have had affection for me, and have believed that I came out from God.
- 28 I came out from the Father and have come into the world; again I leave the world and go to the Father.
- 29 His disciples say to him, Lo, now thou speakest openly and utterest no allegory.
- 30 Now we know that thou knowest all things, and hast not need that any one should demand of thee. By this we believe that thou art come from God.
- 31 Jesus answered them, Do ye now believe?
- 32 Behold, [the] hour is coming, and has come, that ye shall be scattered, each to his own, and shall leave me alone; and [yet] I am not alone, for the Father is with me.
- 33 These things have I spoken to you that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye have tribulation; but be of good courage: I have overcome the world.

- 15 All things that the Father hath are mine: on this account I said, that he receiveth of mine and will announce [it] to you.
- 16 A little while and ye behold me not: and again a little while and ye shall see me [because I go away unto the Father].
- 17 [Some] therefore of his disciples said one to another, What is this which he saith to us, A little while and ye behold me not: and again a little while and ye shall see me, and because I go away to the Father.
- 18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, the little while? We know not what he speaketh.
- 19 Jesus knew [therefore] that they wished to ask him, and said to them, Do ye inquire of this one with another, because I said, A little while, and ye behold me not; and again a little while, and ye shall see me?
- 20 Verily, verily, I say to you, Ye shall weep and lament, but the world shall rejoice; ^ ye shall be grieved, but your grief shall be turned into joy.
- 21 The woman, when she bringeth forth, hath grief because her hour is come; but when she shall give birth to the child, she no longer remembereth the affliction for the joy that a man was born into the world.
- 22 And ye therefore now have grief, but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no one taketh from you.
- 23 And in that day ye shall ask me nothing; verily, verily, I say to you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father, he will give you in my name.
- 24 Hitherto ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.
- 25 These things have I spoken to you in proverbs [allegories]: an hour cometh when I shall speak no longer to you in proverbs, but openly report to you about the Father.
- 26 In that day ye shall ask in my name, and I say not to you that I will request the Father for you;
- 27 for the Father himself dearly loveth you because ye have dearly loved me and have believed that I came out from God.
- 28 I came out from the Father and am come into the world; again I leave the world and proceed unto the Father.
- 29 His disciples say [to him], Behold, now thou talkest with openness and speakest no parable.
- 30 Now we know that thou knowest all things and hast no need that one ask thee: herein we believe that thou didst come out from God.
- 31 Jesus answered them, Just now do ye believe? [or, ye believe.]
- 32 Behold, an hour cometh, and ^ is come, that ye should be scattered, each unto his own, and leave me alone; and I am not alone, because the Father is with me.
- 33 These things have I spoken to you that in me ye may have peace. In the world ye ^ have tribulation; but be of good courage: I have overcome the world.

JOHN 17 JND

- 1 These things Jesus spoke, and lifted up his eyes to heaven and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son may glorify thee;
- 2 as thou hast given him authority over all flesh, that [as to] all that thou hast given to him, he should give them life eternal.
- 3 And this is the eternal life, that they should know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent.
- 4 I· have glorified thee on the earth, I have completed the work which thou gavest me that I should do it;
- 5 and now glorify me, thou Father, along with thyself, with the glory which I had along with thee before the world was.
- 6 I have manifested thy name to the men whom thou gavest me out of the world. They were thine, and thou gavest them me, and they have kept thy word.
- 7 Now they have known that all things that thou hast given me are of thee;
- 8 for the words which thou hast given me I have given them, and they· have received [them], and have known truly that I came out from thee, and have believed that thou· sentest me.
- 9 I· demand concerning them; I do not demand concerning the world, but concerning those whom thou hast given me, for they are thine,
- 10 (and all that is mine is thine, and [all] that is thine mine,) and I am glorified in them.
- 11 And I am no longer in the world, and these are in the world, and I· come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy name which thou hast given me, that they may be one as we.
- 12 When I was with them I· kept them in thy name; those thou hast given me I have guarded, and not one of them has perished, but the son of perdition, that the scripture might be fulfilled.
- 13 And now I come to thee. And these things I speak in the world, that they may have my joy fulfilled in them.
- 14 I· have given them thy word, and the world has hated them, because they are not of the world, as I· am not of the world.
- 15 I do not demand that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them out of evil.
- 16 They are not of the world, as I· am not of the world.
- 17 Sanctify them by the truth: thy word is truth.
- 18 As thou hast sent me into the world, I· also have sent them into the world;
- 19 and I· sanctify myself for them, that they· also may be sanctified by truth.
- 20 And I do not demand for these only, but also for those who believe on me through their word;
- 21 that they may be all one, as thou, Father, [art] in me, and I in thee, that they· also may be one in us, that the world may believe that thou· hast sent me.
- 22 And the glory which thou hast given me I· have given them, that they may be one, as we· are one;

JOHN 17 WK

- 1 These things spake Jesus, and lifting up his eyes unto heaven said, Father, the hour is come: glorify thy Son, that thy [or, the] Son [^] may glorify thee,
- 2 according as thou gavest him authority over all flesh, that, everything which thou hast given him, he should give them life eternal.
- 3 And this is the eternal life, that they know thee, the only true God, and him whom thou didst send, Jesus Christ.
- 4 I glorified thee on the earth, having finished the work which thou hast given me to do;
- 5 and now do thou, Father, glorify me along with thyself with the glory which I had along with thee before the world was.
- 6 I manifested thy name to the men whom thou gavest me out of the world. Thine they were, and to me thou·gavest them, and they have kept thy word.
- 7 Now have they known that all things as many as thou hast given me are of thee;
- 8 because the words which thou gavest me I have given to them, and they received [them], and knew truly that I came out from thee, and believed that thou didst send me.
- 9 I request for them: not for the world do I request, but for those whom thou hast given me, for they are thine
- 10 (and all my things are thine, and thy things mine), and I am glorified in them.
- 11 And I am no longer in the world, and these [or, they] are in the world, and I come to thee.
- 12 Holy Father, keep them in thy name which thou hast given me, that they may be one even as [also] we [are].
- 12 When I was with them [^], I was keeping them in thy name which thou hast given me, and I guarded [them], and not one of them perished but the son of perdition that the scripture might be fulfilled.
- 13 And now unto thee I come, and these things I speak in the world that they may have my joy fulfilled in themselves.
- 14 I have given them thy word; and the world hated them because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.
- 15 I do not ask that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them out of the evil.
- 16 Of the world they are not, as I am not of the world.
- 17 Sanctify them by [or, in] the truth; thy word is truth.
- 18 As thou didst send me into the world, I also sent them into the world.
- 19 And for their sakes I sanctify myself that they also may be sanctified in [^] truth.
- 20 And not for these only do I request, but also for those that believe on me through their word,
- 21 that they may all be one, even as thou, Father, in me and I in thee, that they also may be one in us, that the world may believe that thou didst send me.
- 22 And the glory which thou hast given me I have given them, that they may be one as we [are] one,

- 23 I in them and thou in me, that they may be perfected into one [and] that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and [that] thou hast loved them as thou hast loved me.
- 24 Father, [as to] those whom thou hast given me, I desire that where I am they also may be with me, that they may behold my glory which thou hast given me, for thou lovedst me before [the] foundation of [the] world.
- 25 Righteous Father, — and the world has not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me.
- 26 And I have made known to them thy name, and will make [it] known; that the love with which thou hast loved me may be in them and I in them.

JOHN 18 JND

- 1 Jesus, having said these things, went out with his disciples beyond the torrent Cedron, where was a garden, into which he entered, he and his disciples.
- 2 And Judas also, who delivered him up, knew the place, because Jesus was often there, in company with his disciples.
- 3 Judas therefore, having got the band, and officers of the chief priests and Pharisees, comes there with lanterns and torches and weapons.
- 4 Jesus therefore, knowing all things that were coming upon him, went forth and said to them, Whom seek ye?
- 5 They answered him, Jesus the Nazaræan. Jesus says to them, I am [he]. And Judas also, who delivered him up, stood with them.
- 6 When therefore he said to them, I am [he], they went away backward and fell to the ground.
- 7 He demanded of them therefore again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus the Nazaræan.
- 8 Jesus answered, I told you that I am [he]: if therefore ye seek me, let these go away;
- 9 that the word might be fulfilled which he spoke, [As to] those whom thou hast given me, I have not lost one of them.
- 10 Simon Peter therefore, having a sword, drew it, and smote the bondman of the high priest and cut off his right ear; and the bondman's name was Malchus.
- 11 Jesus therefore said to Peter, Put the sword into the sheath; the cup which the Father has given me, shall I not drink it?
- 12 The band therefore, and the chiliarch, and the officers of the Jews, took Jesus and bound him:
- 13 and they led him away to Annas first; for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, who was high priest that year.
- 14 But it was Caiaphas who counselled the Jews that it was better that one man should perish for the people.
- 15 Now Simon Peter followed Jesus, and the other disciple. But that disciple was known to the high priest, and went in with Jesus into the palace of the high priest;

- 23 I in them and thou in me, that they may be perfected into one, [and] that the world may know that thou didst send me and lovedst them as thou lovedst me.
- 24 Father, that what thou hast given me, I desire that, where I am, they also may be with me, that they may behold my glory which thou hast given me, because thou lovedst me before [the] world's foundation.
- 25 Righteous Father, though the world knew thee not, but I knew thee, and these knew that thou didst send me.
- 26 And I made thy name known to them and will make [it] known, that the love wherewith thou lovedst me may be in them and I in them.

JOHN 18 WK

- 1 Having said these things Jesus went out with His disciples beyond the torrent-bed of Kedron, where was a garden, into which he entered, himself and his disciples.
- 2 And Judas also that was delivering him up knew the place, because Jesus often met there with his disciples.
- 3 Judas then, having received the band and officials from the high priests and from [the] Pharisees, cometh there with lanterns and torches and weapons.
- 4 Jesus then, knowing all things that were coming on him, went out and saith to them, Whom seek ye?
- 5 They answered him, Jesus the Nazarean. Jesus saith to them, I am [he]. And Judas that was delivering him up was standing with them.
- 6 When then he said to them, I am [he], they went away backward and fell to the ground.
- 7 Again then he asked them, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus the Nazarean.
- 8 Jesus answered, I told you that I am [he]: if then ye seek me, leave these to go away;
- 9 that the word might be fulfilled which he said, Of those whom thou hast given me, I have lost not one of them.
- 10 Simon Peter then, having a sword, drew it, and smote the bondman of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. Now the bondman's name was Malchus.
- 11 Jesus said then to Peter, Put the sword into the scabbard: the cup which the Father hath given me, shall I not drink it?
- 12 The band therefore and the commander [chiliarch], and the officials of the Jews, took Jesus and bound him
- 13 and led [him away] unto Annas first; for he was father-in-law of Caiaphas who was high priest of that year.
- 14 But it was Caiaphas who counselled the Jews that it was expedient [or, profitable] that one man should die for the people.
- 15 Now Simon Peter was following Jesus, and the other disciple. And that disciple was known to the high priest, and went in with Jesus into the palace of the high priest,

- 16 but Peter stood at the door without. The other disciple therefore, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the portress and brought in Peter.
- 17 The maid therefore, who was portress, says to Peter, Art thou also of the disciples of this man? He says, I am not.
- 18 But the bondmen and officers, having made a fire of coals (for it was cold), stood and warmed themselves; and Peter was standing with them and warming himself.
- 19 The high priest therefore demanded of Jesus concerning his disciples and concerning his doctrine.
- 20 Jesus answered him, I spoke openly to the world; I taught always in [the] synagogue and in the temple, where all the Jews come together, and in secret I have spoken nothing.
- 21 Why demandest thou of me? Demand of those who have heard, what I have spoken to them; behold, they know what I have said.
- 22 But as he said these things, one of the officers who stood by gave a blow on the face to Jesus, saying, Answerest thou the high priest thus?
- 23 Jesus answered him, If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil; but if well, why smitest thou me?
- 24 Annas [then] had sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.
- 25 But Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. They said therefore to him, Art thou also of his disciples? He denied, and said, I am not.
- 26 One of the bondmen of the high priest, who was kinsman of him whose ear Peter cut off, says, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?
- 27 Peter denied therefore again, and immediately [the] cock crew.
- 28 They lead therefore Jesus from Caiaphas to the prætorium; and it was early morn. And they entered not into the prætorium, that they might not be defiled, but eat the passover.
- 29 Pilate therefore went out to them and said, What accusation do ye bring against this man?
- 30 They answered and said to him, If this [man] were not an evildoer, we should not have delivered him up to thee.
- 31 Pilate therefore said to them, Take him, ye, and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore said to him, It is not permitted to us to put any one to death;
- 32 that the word of Jesus might be fulfilled which he spoke, signifying what death he should die.
- 33 Pilate therefore entered again into the prætorium and called Jesus, and said to him, Thou art the king of the Jews?
- 34 Jesus answered [him], Dost thou say this of thyself, or have others said it to thee concerning me?
- 35 Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thy nation and the chief priests have delivered thee up to me: what hast thou done?
- 36 Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world; if my kingdom were of this world, my servants had fought that I might not be delivered up to the Jews; but now my kingdom is not from hence.
- 16 but Peter was standing at the door outside. The other disciple therefore, that was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the portress and brought in Peter.
- 17 The maid therefore, the portress, saith to Peter, Art thou also of this man's disciples? He saith, I am not.
- 18 But the bondmen and the officials were standing, having made a coal-fire because it was cold, and were warming themselves; and there was a with them Peter standing and warming himself.
- 19 The high priest then asked Jesus about his disciples and about his doctrine.
- 20 Jesus answered, I have openly spoken in the world, I always taught in [the] synagogue and in the temple, where all the Jews assemble, and in secret I spoke nothing:
- 21 why askest thou me? Ask those that have heard, what I spoke to them: behold, these know what I said.
- 22 But when he said these things, one of the officials as he stood by gave Jesus a slap on the face, saying, Thus answerest thou the high priest?
- 23 Jesus answered him, If I spoke ill, testify of the ill; but if well, why smitest thou me?
- 24 Annas [therefore] sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high priest.
- 25 Now Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. They said therefore to him, Art thou also of his disciples? He denied and said, I am not.
- 26 One of the bondmen of the high priest, being kinsman of him whose ear Peter cut off, saith, Did I not see thee in the garden with him?
- 27 Peter therefore denied again, and immediately a cock crew.
- 28 They led then Jesus from Caiaphas to the prætorium; and it was early; and they entered not into the prætorium that they might not be defiled but eat the passover.
- 29 Pilate then went out unto them, and saith, What accusation do ye bring against this man?
- 30 They answered and said to him, If this [man] were not an evil-doer, we should not have delivered him up to thee.
- 31 Pilate therefore said to them, Take ye him, and judge him according to your law. The Jews said to him, It is not allowed to us to put any one to death;
- 32 that the word of Jesus might be fulfilled which he said signifying by what death he should die.
- 33 Pilate then again entered into the prætorium, and called Jesus and said to him, Art thou the king of the Jews?
- 34 Jesus answered, Of thyself sayest thou this, or did others say [it] to thee about me?
- 35 Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thy nation and the chief priests delivered thee up to me: what didst thou?
- 36 Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, my servants would fight that I might not be delivered up to the Jews; but now my kingdom is not from hence.

- 37 Pilate therefore said to him, Thou art then a king? Jesus answered, Thou sayest [it], that I am a king. I have been born for this, and for this I have come into the world, that I might bear witness to the truth. Every one that is of the truth hears my voice.
- 38 Pilate says to him, What is truth? And having said this he went out again to the Jews, and says to them, I find no fault whatever in him.
- 39 But ye have a custom that I release [some] one to you at the passover; will ye therefore that I release unto you the king of the Jews?
- 40 They cried therefore again all, saying, Not this [man], but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

JOHN 19 JND

- 1 Then Pilate therefore took Jesus and scourged [him].
- 2 And the soldiers having plaited a crown of thorns put it on his head, and put a purple robe on him,
- 3 and came to him and said, Hail, king of the Jews! and gave him blows on the face.
- 4 And Pilate went out again and says to them, Lo, I bring him out to you, that ye may know that I find in him no fault whatever.
- 5 (Jesus therefore went forth without, wearing the crown of thorn and the purple robe.) And he says to them, Behold the man!
- 6 When therefore the chief priests and the officers saw him they cried out saying, Crucify, crucify [him]. Pilate says to them, Take him ye and crucify [him], for I find no fault in him.
- 7 The Jews answered him, We have a law, and according to [our] law he ought to die, because he made himself Son of God.
- 8 When Pilate therefore heard this word, he was the rather afraid,
- 9 and went into the Prætorium again and says to Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him no answer.
- 10 Pilate therefore says to him, Speakest thou not to me? Dost thou not know that I have authority to release thee and have authority to crucify thee?
- 11 Jesus answered, Thou hadst no authority whatever against me if it were not given to thee from above. On this account he that has delivered me up to thee has [the] greater sin.
- 12 From this time Pilate sought to release him; but the Jews cried out saying, If thou releasest this [man], thou art not a friend to Cæsar. Every one making himself a king speaks against Cæsar.
- 13 Pilate therefore, having heard these words, led Jesus out and sat down upon [the] judgment-seat, at a place called Pavement, but in Hebrew Gabbatha;
- 14 (now it was [the] preparation of the passover; it was about the sixth hour;) and he says to the Jews, Behold your king!
- 15 But they cried out, Take [him] away, take [him] away, crucify him. Pilate says to them, Shall I crucify your king? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Cæsar.

- 37 Pilate then said to him, Art thou then a king? Jesus answered, Thou sayest [^] that I am a king. I have been born for this, and for this I have come into the world, that I might bear witness to the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice.
- 38 Pilate saith to him, What is truth? And having said this, he again went out unto the Jews, and saith to them, I find no fault in him;
- 39 but ye have a custom that I should release one to you at the passover: will ye therefore that I release to you the king of the Jews?
- 40 They all cried then again, saying, Not this [man] but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

JOHN 19 WK

- 1 Then Pilate therefore took Jesus and scourged [him].
- 2 And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns and put [it] on his head, and clothed him with a purple garment,
- 3 and were coming to him and saying, Hail, King of the Jews! and gave him slaps on the face.
- 4 And Pilate went out again and saith to them, Behold, I bring him out to you, that ye may know that I find no fault [in him].
- 5 Jesus therefore came out wearing the crown of thorns and the purple garment, and he saith to them, Behold, the man!
- 6 When then the chief priests and the officials saw him, they cried, Crucify, crucify. Pilate saith to them, Take ye him, and crucify; for I find no fault in him.
- 7 The Jews answered, We have a law, and according to the [^] law he ought to die, because he made himself Son of God.
- 8 When Pilate therefore heard this word, he was the more afraid,
- 9 and entered into the prætorium again, and saith to Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him no answer.
- 10 Pilate saith to him, Speakest thou not to me? Knowest thou not that I have authority to release thee, and I have authority to crucify thee?
- 11 Jesus answered, Thou hadst no authority at all against me except it were given thee from above: on this account he that delivered me up to thee hath greater sin.
- 12 From this [time] Pilate sought to release him; but the Jews kept crying, saying, If thou wilt release this [man], thou art not a friend of Cæsar: every one that maketh himself a king speaketh against Cæsar.
- 13 Pilate then, having heard these words, led Jesus out and sat down on [the] judgment seat at a place called Pavement, but in Hebrew Gabbatha.
- 14 Now it was [the] preparation of the passover; it was about sixth hour. And he saith to the Jews, Behold, your king.
- 15 They cried therefore, Away with [him], away with [him]; crucify him. Pilate saith to them, Shall I crucify your king? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Cæsar.

- 16 Then therefore he delivered him up to them, that he might be crucified; and they took Jesus and led him away.
- 17 And he went out, bearing his cross, to the place called [place] of a skull, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha;
- 18 where they crucified him, and with him two others, [one] on this side, and [one] on that, and Jesus in the middle.
- 19 And Pilate wrote a title also and put it on the cross. But there was written: Jesus the Nazaræan, the king of the Jews.
- 20 This title therefore many of the Jews read, for the place of the city where Jesus was crucified was near; and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, Latin.
- 21 The chief priests of the Jews therefore said to Pilate, Do not write, The king of the Jews, but that he said, I am king of the Jews.
- 22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written.
- 23 The soldiers therefore, when they had crucified Jesus, took his clothes, and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and the body coat; but the body coat was seamless, woven through the whole from the top.
- 24 They said therefore to one another, Let us not rend it, but let us cast lots for it, whose it shall be; that the scripture might be fulfilled which says, They parted my garments among themselves, and on my vesture they cast lots. The soldiers therefore did these things.
- 25 And by the cross of Jesus stood his mother, and the sister of his mother, Mary the [wife] of Clopas, and Mary of Magdala.
- 26 Jesus therefore, seeing his mother, and the disciple standing by whom he loved, says to his mother, Woman, behold thy son.
- 27 Then he says unto the disciple, Behold thy mother. And from that hour the disciple took her to his own home.
- 28 After this, Jesus, knowing that all things were now finished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, says, I thirst.
- 29 There was a vessel therefore there full of vinegar, and having filled a sponge with vinegar, and putting hyssop round it, they put it up to his mouth.
- 30 When therefore Jesus had received the vinegar, he said, It is finished; and having bowed his head, he delivered up his spirit.
- 31 The Jews therefore, that the bodies might not remain on the cross on the sabbath, for it was [the] preparation, (for the day of that sabbath was a great [day]), demanded of Pilate that their legs might be broken and they taken away.
- 32 The soldiers therefore came and broke the legs of the first and of the other that had been crucified with him;
- 33 but coming to Jesus, when they saw that he was already dead they did not break his legs,
- 34 but one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and immediately there came out blood and water.

- 16 Then therefore he delivered him up to them that he might be crucified. They took then Jesus [and led (him) away];
- 17 and bearing for himself the cross he went out unto the place called of a Skull, which is called in Hebrew Golgotha,
- 18 where they crucified him, and with him two others, on this side and on that, and Jesus in the middle.
- 19 And also Pilate wrote a title and put [it] on the cross; and there was written, Jesus the Nazarean, the king of the Jews.
- 20 This title therefore many of the Jews read, because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and it was written in Hebrew, in Greek, in Latin.
- 21 Therefore said the high priest of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Jews, but that he said, I am king of the Jews.
- 22 Pilate answered, What I have written I have written.
- 23 The soldiers therefore, when they crucified Jesus, took his garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and the vest; but the vest was seamless from the top woven through the whole.
- 24 They said therefore unto one another, Let us not rend it, but let us draw lots for it whose it shall be; that the scripture might be fulfilled that saith, They parted my garments for themselves, and for my vesture they cast lots. The soldiers therefore did these things.
- 25 Now by the cross of Jesus stood his mother, and the sister of his mother, Mary the [wife] of Clopas, and Mary of Magdala.
- 26 Jesus therefore, seeing his mother and the disciple standing by whom he loved, saith to his mother, Woman, behold, thy son.
- 27 Next he saith to the disciple, Behold, thy mother; and from that hour the disciple took her unto his own [home].
- 28 After this Jesus, knowing that all things were now finished, that the scripture might be accomplished, saith, I thirst.
- 29 A vessel [therefore] was standing there full of vinegar; and they, having filled a sponge with vinegar and put hyssop round [it], put [it] up to his mouth.
- 30 When therefore Jesus received the vinegar, he said, It is finished, and bowing his head delivered up his spirit.
- 31 The Jews therefore, since it was the preparation, that the bodies might not remain on the cross on the sabbath (for the day of that sabbath was great), asked of Pilate that their legs might be broken, and they be taken away.
- 32 The soldiers therefore came and broke the legs of the first and of the other that was crucified with him;
- 33 but coming to Jesus, when they saw that he was already dead, they broke not his legs,
- 34 but one of the soldiers with a spear thrust his side, and there came out immediately blood and water.

- 35 And he who saw it bears witness, and his witness is true, and he knows that he says true that ye also may believe.
- 36 For these things took place that the scripture might be fulfilled, Not a bone of him shall be broken.
- 37 And again another scripture says, They shall look on him whom they pierced.
- 38 And after these things Joseph of Arimathea, who was a disciple of Jesus, but secretly through fear of the Jews, demanded of Pilate that he might take the body of Jesus: and Pilate allowed it. He came therefore and took away the body of Jesus.
- 39 And Nicodemus also, who at first came to Jesus by night, came, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about a hundred pounds [weight].
- 40 They took therefore the body of Jesus and bound it up in linen with the spices, as it is the custom with the Jews to prepare for burial.
- 41 But there was in the place where he had been crucified a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one had ever been laid.
- 42 There therefore, on account of the preparation of the Jews, because the tomb was near, they laid Jesus.

JOHN 20 JND

- 1 And on the first [day] of the week Mary of Magdala comes in early morn to the tomb, while it was still dark, and sees the stone taken away from the tomb.
- 2 She runs therefore and comes to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple to whom Jesus was attached, and says to them, They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him.
- 3 Peter therefore went forth and the other disciple, and came to the tomb.
- 4 And the two ran together, and the other disciple ran forward faster than Peter, and came first to the tomb,
- 5 and stooping down he sees the linen cloths lying; he did not however go in.
- 6 Simon Peter therefore comes, following him, and entered into the tomb, and sees the linen cloths lying,
- 7 and the handkerchief which was upon his head, not lying with the linen cloths, but folded up in a distinct place by itself.
- 8 Then entered in therefore the other disciple also who came first to the tomb, and he saw and believed;
- 9 for they had not yet known the scripture, that he must rise from among [the] dead.
- 10 The disciples therefore went away again to their own home.
- 11 But Mary stood at the tomb weeping without. As therefore she wept, she stooped down into the tomb,
- 12 and beholdeth two angels sitting in white [garments], one at the head and one at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

- 35 And he that hath seen hath borne witness, and his witness is true, and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye also may believe.
- 36 For these things came to pass that the scripture might be fulfilled, Not a bone of him shall be crushed;
- 37 and again another scripture saith, They shall look on him whom they pierced.
- 38 And after these things Joseph from Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus but a secret one for fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus; and Pilate gave leave. He came therefore and took his body away.
- 39 And there came also Nicodemus, that came at first to him by night, bringing a mixture of myrrh and aloes about a hundred pound [weight].
- 40 They took therefore the body of Jesus and bound it in linen swathes with the spices, as it is the Jews' custom to prepare for burial.
- 41 Now there was in the place where he was crucified a garden, and in the garden a new tomb in which no one was ever yet laid.
- 42 There then on account of the preparation of the Jews, because the tomb was near, they put Jesus.

JOHN 20 WK

- 1 Now on the first [day] of the week Mary of Magdala cometh early while it was yet dark unto the tomb and seeth the stone taken away from the tomb.
- 2 She runneth therefore and cometh unto Simon Peter and unto the other disciple whom Jesus dearly loved, and saith to them, They took away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they laid him.
- 3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and were coming unto the tomb.
- 4 And the two were running together, and the other disciple ran forward more quickly than Peter, and came first unto the tomb,
- 5 and stooping down seeth the linen clothes as they lay; nevertheless he went not in.
- 6 Simon Peter therefore cometh following him, and entered into the tomb, and beholdeth the linen clothes lying,
- 7 and the handkerchief which was upon his head, not lying with the linen clothes but folded up in a place apart.
- 8 Then entered therefore also the other disciple that came first unto the tomb, and he saw and believed;
- 9 for as yet they knew not the scripture that he must rise from [the] dead.
- 10 The disciples therefore went away again unto their own [home].
- 11 But Mary stood at the tomb without weeping. While then she was weeping, she stooped into the tomb,
- 12 and beholdeth two angels in white sitting, one at the head, and one at the feet, where had lain the body of Jesus.

- 13 And they say to her, Woman, why dost thou weep? She says to them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.
- 14 Having said these things she turned backward and beholds Jesus standing [there], and knew not that it was Jesus.
- 15 Jesus says to her, Woman, why dost thou weep? Whom seekest thou? She, supposing that it was the gardener, says to him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.
- 16 Jesus says to her, Mary. She, turning round, says to him in Hebrew, Rabboni, which means Teacher.
- 17 Jesus says to her, Touch me not, for I have not yet ascended to my Father; but go to my brethren and say to them, I ascend to my Father and your Father, and [to] my God and your God.
- 18 Mary of Magdala comes bringing word to the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and [that] he had said these things to her.
- 19 When therefore it was evening on that day, which was the first [day] of the week, and the doors shut where the disciples were, through fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst, and says to them, Peace [be] to you.
- 20 And having said this, he shewed to them his hands and his side. The disciples rejoiced therefore, having seen the Lord.
- 21 [Jesus] said therefore again to them, Peace [be] to you: as the Father sent me forth, I also send you.
- 22 And having said this, he breathed into [them], and says to them, Receive [the] Holy Spirit:
- 23 whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted to them; whose soever [sins] ye retain, they are retained.
- 24 But Thomas, one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.
- 25 The other disciples therefore said to him, We have seen the Lord. But he said to them, Unless I see in his hands the mark of the nails, and put my finger into the mark of the nails, and put my hand into his side, I will not believe.
- 26 And eight days after, his disciples were again within, and Thomas with them. Jesus comes, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst and said, Peace [be] to you.
- 27 Then he says to Thomas, Bring thy finger here and see my hands; and bring thy hand and put it into my side; and be not unbelieving, but believing.
- 28 Thomas answered and said to him, My Lord and my God.
- 29 Jesus says to him, Because thou hast seen me thou hast believed: blessed they who have not seen and have believed.
- 30 Many other signs therefore also Jesus did before his disciples, which are not written in this book;
- 31 but these are written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life in his name.

JOHN 21 JND

- 13 And they say to her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith to them, Because they took away my Lord, and I know not where they laid him.
- 14 Having said thus, she turned back, and beholdeth Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.
- 15 Jesus saith to her, Woman, why weepest thou? Whom dost thou seek? She, thinking that it was the gardener, saith to him, Sir, if thou didst carry him off, tell me where thou laidest him, and I will take him away.
- 16 Jesus saith to her, Mary. She, turning, saith to him in Hebrew, Rabboni, which meaneth [or, is to say] Teacher.
- 17 Jesus saith to her, Touch me not, for I have not yet ascended unto the [or, my] Father; but go unto my brethren and say to them, I ascend unto my Father and your Father, and my God and your God.
- 18 Mary of Magdala cometh bringing word ^Λ to the disciples, I have seen the Lord, and that he said these things to her.
- 19 When it was evening then, on that day which was the first of the week, and the doors were shut where the disciples were by reason of the fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith to them, Peace to you.
- 20 And having said this he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples then rejoiced when they saw the Lord.
- 21 He [or, Jesus] said therefore to them again, Peace to you: according as the Father hath sent me forth, I also send you.
- 22 And having said this he breathed into and saith to them, Receive the Holy Spirit:
- 23 whose soever sins ye remit, they are remitted to them; whose soever ye retain, they are retained.
- 24 But Thomas, one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.
- 25 The other disciples said therefore to him, We have seen the Lord. But he said to them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and put my hand into his side, I will in nowise believe.
- 26 And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Jesus cometh, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace to you.
- 27 Then he saith to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and see my hands, and reach thy hand, and put [it] into my side, and be not unbelieving but believing.
- 28 Thomas answered and said to him, My Lord and my God.
- 29 Jesus saith to him, Because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed; blessed are those that saw not and believed.
- 30 Many other signs therefore did Jesus in the presence of the ^Λ disciples, which are not written in this book;
- 31 but these are written, that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye may have life in his name. ^Λ

JOHN 21 WK

- 1 After these things Jesus manifested himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias. And he manifested [himself] thus.
- 2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael who was of Cana of Galilee, and the [sons] of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples.
- 3 Simon Peter says to them, I go to fish. They say to him, We also come with thee. They went forth and went on board, and that night took nothing.
- 4 And early morn already breaking, Jesus stood on the shore; the disciples however did not know that it was Jesus.
- 5 Jesus therefore says to them, Children, have ye anything to eat? They answered him, No.
- 6 And he said to them, Cast the net at the right side of the ship and ye will find. They cast therefore, and they could no longer draw it, from the multitude of fishes.
- 7 That disciple therefore whom Jesus loved says to Peter, It is the Lord. Simon Peter therefore, having heard that it was the Lord, girded his overcoat [on him] (for he was naked), and cast himself into the sea;
- 8 and the other disciples came in the small boat, for they were not far from the land, but somewhere about two hundred cubits, dragging the net of fishes.
- 9 When therefore they went out on the land, they see a fire of coals there, and fish laid on it, and bread.
- 10 Jesus says to them, Bring of the fishes which ye have now taken.
- 11 Simon Peter went up and drew the net to the land full of great fishes, a hundred and fifty-three; and though there were so many, the net was not rent.
- 12 Jesus says to them, Come [and] dine. But none of the disciples dared inquire of him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord.
- 13 Jesus comes and takes the bread and gives it to them, and the fish in like manner.
- 14 This is already the third time that Jesus had been manifested to the disciples, being risen from among [the] dead.
- 15 When therefore they had dined, Jesus says to Simon Peter, Simon, [son] of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He says to him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I am attached to thee. He says to him, Feed my lambs.
- 16 He says to him again a second time, Simon, [son] of Jonas, lovest thou me? He says to him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I am attached to thee. He says to him, Shepherd my sheep.
- 17 He says to him the third time, Simon, [son] of Jonas, art thou attached to me? Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, Art thou attached to me? and said to him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I am attached to thee. Jesus says to him, Feed my sheep.

- 1 After these things Jesus manifested himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias; and he manifested [himself] thus.
- 2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus [that is, Twin], and Nathanael from Cana in Galilee, and the [sons] of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples.
- 3 Simon Peter saith to them, I go away to fish. They say to him, We also come with thee. They went forth, and entered into the boat [^], and that night took nothing.
- 4 But when early morn was now breaking, Jesus stood on the shore: however the disciples did not know that it was [lit. is] Jesus.
- 5 Jesus therefore saith to them, Children, have ye anything to eat? They answered him, No.
- 6 And he said to them, Cast the net on the right side of the boat, and ye will find. They cast therefore, and were no longer able to draw it from the multitude of the fishes.
- 7 Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved saith to Peter, It is the Lord. Then Simon Peter, hearing that it was [lit. is] the Lord, girt his over-coat about [him] (for he was naked), and cast himself into the sea.
- 8 But the other disciples came in the little boat (for they were not far from the land, but about two hundred cubits off), dragging the net of the fishes.
- 9 So when they had got off to the land, they see a coal-fire laid, and fish laid thereon, and bread.
- 10 Jesus saith to them, Bring of the fish which ye took just now.
- 11 Simon Peter [therefore] went up and drew the net to land full of great fishes, a hundred [and] fifty-three: and, many as they were, the net was not rent.
- 12 Jesus saith to them, Come, dine. And none of the disciples durst inquire of him, Who art thou? knowing that it was [lit. is] the Lord.
- 13 Jesus [^] cometh and taketh the bread and giveth to them, and the fish likewise.
- 14 This already [was the] third [time] Jesus was manifested to the [^] disciples after having risen from [the] dead.
- 15 When therefore they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon [son] of Jonah [or, John], lovest thou me more than these? He saith to him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I dearly love thee. He saith to him, Feed my lambs.
- 16 He saith to him again a second time, Simon [son] of Jonah, lovest thou me? He saith to him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I dearly love thee. He saith to him, Tend my sheep.
- 17 He saith to him the third time, Simon [son] of Jonah, dost thou dearly love me? Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, Dost thou dearly love me? and he said to him, Lord, thou knowest all things, thou knowest that I dearly love thee. Jesus saith to him, Feed my sheep [for little sheep].

- 18 Verily, verily, I say to thee, When thou wast young, thou girdest thyself, and walkedst where thou desiredst; but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and bring thee where thou dost not desire.
- 19 But he said this signifying by what death he should glorify God. And having said this, he says to him, Follow me.
- 20 Peter turning round sees the disciple whom Jesus loved following, who also leaned at supper on his breast, and said, Lord, who is it that delivers thee up?
- 21 Peter, seeing him, says to Jesus, Lord, and what [of] this [man]?
- 22 Jesus says to him, If I will that he abide until I come, what [is that] to thee? Follow thou me.
- 23 This word therefore went out among the brethren, That disciple does not die. And Jesus did not say to him, He does not die; but, If I will that he abide until I come, what [is that] to thee?
- 24 This is the disciple who bears witness concerning these things, and who has written these things; and we know that his witness is true.
- 25 And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which if they were written one by one, I suppose that not even the world itself would contain the books written.

- 18 Verily, verily, I say to thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself and walkedst whither thou wouldest; but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not.
- 19 And this he said, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And having said this, he saith to him, Follow me.
- 20 ^ Peter turning round seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved following (who also at the supper leaned on his breast and said, Lord, who is he that delivereth thee up?);
- 21 Peter therefore seeing him saith to Jesus, Lord, and what [of] this man?
- 22 Jesus saith to him, If I will that he abide till I come, what [is it] unto thee? follow thou me.
- 23 This saying therefore went forth among the brethren that that disciple doth not die; yet Jesus said not to him, that he doth not die; but, If I will that he abide till I come, what [is it] to thee?
- 24 This is the disciple that beareth witness of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his witness is true.
- 25 And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they were written one by one, I suppose that not even the world itself would contain the books that should be written. ^

ACTS I JND

- 1 I composed the first discourse, O Theophilus, concerning all things which Jesus began both to do and to teach,
- 2 until that day in which, having by the Holy Spirit charged the apostles whom he had chosen, he was taken up;
- 3 to whom also he presented himself living, after he had suffered, with many proofs; being seen by them during forty days, and speaking of the things which concern the kingdom of God;
- 4 and, being assembled with [them], commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to await the promise of the Father, which [said he] ye have heard of me.
- 5 For John indeed baptised with water, but ye shall be baptised with the Holy Spirit after now not many days.
- 6 They therefore, being come together, asked him saying, Lord, is it at this time that thou restorest the kingdom to Israel?
- 7 And he said to them, It is not yours to know times or seasons, which the Father has placed in his own authority;
- 8 but ye will receive power, the Holy Spirit having come upon you, and ye shall be my witnesses both in Jerusalem and in all Judæa and Samaria, and to the end of the earth.
- 9 And having said these things he was taken up, they beholding [him], and a cloud received him out of their sight.
- 10 And as they were gazing into heaven, as he was going, behold, also two men stood by them in white clothing,
- 11 who also said, Men of Galilee, why do ye stand looking into heaven? This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven, shall thus come in the manner in which ye have beheld him going into heaven.
- 12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mount called [the mount] of Olives, which is near Jerusalem, a sabbath day's journey off.
- 13 And when they were come into [the city], they went up to the upper chamber where were staying both Peter, and John, and James, and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James [son] of Alphæus, and Simon the zealot, and Jude [the brother] of James.
- 14 These gave themselves all with one accord to continual prayer, with [several] women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.
- 15 And in those days Peter, standing up in the midst of the brethren, said, (the crowd of names [who were] together [was] about a hundred and twenty,)
- 16 Brethren, it was necessary that the scripture should have been fulfilled which the Holy Spirit spoke before, by the mouth of David, concerning Judas, who became guide to those who took Jesus;
- 17 for he was numbered amongst us, and had received a part in this service.
- 18 (This [man] then indeed got a field with [the] reward of iniquity, and, having fallen down headlong, burst in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out.

ACTS I WK

- 1 The first account I composed, O Theophilus, concerning all that Jesus began both to do and teach,
- 2 until the day in which, having by [the] Holy Spirit charged the apostles whom He had chosen, He was received up,
- 3 to whom He also presented Himself alive after He had suffered, by many proofs, appearing to them during forty days, and speaking the things concerning the kingdom of God.
- 4 And being assembled with [them], He commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to await the promise of the Father, which, [said] He, ye heard of Me.
- 5 For John indeed baptised with water; but ye shall be baptised in [the] Holy Spirit after not many days hence.
- 6 They therefore being come together asked Him, saying, Lord, dost Thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?
- 7 And He said unto them, It is not yours to know times or seasons which the Father set in His own authority.
- 8 But ye shall receive power at the coming of the Holy Spirit upon you; and ye shall be My witnesses both in Jerusalem and in all Judæa and Samaria and unto the end of the earth.
- 9 And having said these things, as they were looking, He was taken up, and a cloud withdrew Him from their eyes.
- 10 And while they were gazing into heaven as He went on, behold two men stood by them in white garments
- 11 who also said, Men of Galilee, why stand ye looking into heaven? This Jesus that was received up from you into heaven shall so come in the manner in which ye beheld Him going into heaven.
- 12 Then they returned unto Jerusalem from the mount called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, a sabbath day's journey off.
- 13 And when they entered, they went up into the upper room where they were abiding; both Peter and John, and James, and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James [son] of Alphaeus, and Simon the Zealot, and Judas [brother] of James.
- 14 These all with one accord continued steadfastly in prayer, with [certain] women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with His brethren.
- 15 And in these days Peter stood up in the midst of the brethren, and said (and there was a crowd of names [or persons] together, about a hundred and twenty),
- 16 Brethren [Lit. Men brethren], it was needful that the Scripture should be fulfilled which the Holy Spirit spake before by the mouth of David concerning Judas, who became guide to those that took Jesus.
- 17 For he had been numbered among us, and received the allotment of this service.
- 18 (This man then obtained a field from wages of [his] iniquity; and falling headlong, he burst asunder in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out.

- 19 And it was known to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that that field was called in their own dialect Aceldama; that is, field of blood.)
- 20 For it is written in [the] book of Psalms, Let his homestead become desolate, and let there be no dweller in it; and, Let another take his overseership.
- 21 It is necessary therefore that of the men who have assembled with us all [the] time in which the Lord Jesus came in and went out among us,
- 22 beginning from the baptism of John until the day in which he was taken up from us, one of these should be a witness with us of his resurrection.
- 23 And they appointed two, Joseph, who was called Barsabas, who had been surnamed Justus, and Matthias.
- 24 And they prayed, and said, Thou Lord, knower of the hearts of all, shew which one of these two thou hast chosen,
- 25 to receive the lot of this service and apostleship, from which Judas transgressing fell to go to his own place.
- 26 And they gave lots on them, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

ACTS 2 JND

- 1 And when the day of Pentecost was now accomplishing, they were all together in one place.
- 2 And there came suddenly a sound out of heaven as of a violent impetuous blowing, and filled all the house where they were sitting.
- 3 And there appeared to them parted tongues, as of fire, and it sat upon each one of them.
- 4 And they were all filled with [the] Holy Spirit, and began to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave to them to speak forth.
- 5 Now there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, pious men, from every nation of those under heaven.
- 6 But the rumour of this having spread, the multitude came together and were confounded, because each one heard them speaking in his own dialect.
- 7 And all were amazed and wondered, saying, Behold, are not all these who are speaking Galilæans?
- 8 and how do we hear [them] each in our own dialect in which we have been born,
- 9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and those who inhabit Mesopotamia, and Judæa, and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,
- 10 both Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya which adjoin Cyrene, and the Romans sojourning [here], both Jews and proselytes,
- 11 Cretans and Arabians, we hear them speaking in our own tongues the great things of God?
- 12 And they were all amazed and in perplexity, saying one to another, What would this mean?
- 13 But others mocking said, They are full of new wine.
- 14 But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice and spoke forth to them, Men of Judæa, and all ye

- 19 And it became known to all the dwellers at Jerusalem, so that in their own language [or, dialect] that field was called Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood).
- 20 For it is written in [the] Book of Psalms, Let his homestead be made desolate, and let there be no dweller in it; and, his overseership let another take.
- 21 Of the men therefore who went with us at every time that the Lord Jesus went in and went out among us,
- 22 beginning from the baptism of John until the day in which He was received up from us, must one of these become a witness with us of His resurrection.
- 23 And they put forward two, Joseph called Barsabbas, who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.
- 24 And they prayed and said, Thou, Lord, knower of the hearts of all, shew of these two which one Thou hast chosen,
- 25 to take the place of this service and apostleship from which Judas fell away to go unto his own place.
- 26 And they gave lots for them; and the lot fell on Matthias; and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

ACTS 2 WK

- 1 And when the day of Pentecost was in course of fulfilment, they were all together in one place.
- 2 And suddenly there came from heaven a sound as of a mighty blast rushing, and it filled all the house where they were sitting.
- 3 And there appeared to them tongues parting asunder as of fire, and it sat upon each one of them.
- 4 And they were all filled with [the] Holy Spirit, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit was giving them to utter.
- 5 Now there were dwelling at Jerusalem Jews, pious men, from every nation of those under heaven;
- 6 and when this report [or, sound] was made, the multitude came together, and were confounded, because they each one heard them speaking in his own dialect.
- 7 And they were all amazed and wondering, saying, [^] Behold, are not all these that speak Galileans?
- 8 And how hear we each in our own dialect in which we were born?
- 9 Parthians and Medes and Elamites, and those that dwell in Mesopotamia, in Judæa and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,
- 10 in Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and the Roman sojourners, both Jews and proselytes,
- 11 Cretans and Arabians, we hear them speaking in our tongues the mighty things of God.
- 12 And they were all amazed and perplexed, saying one to another, What meaneth this?
- 13 But others mocking said, They are filled with sweet wine.
- 14 But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and spoke forth unto them, Men of Judæa and all ye inhabitants of Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and give heed to my words:

- 15 for these are not full of wine, as ye suppose, for it is the third hour of the day;
- 16 but this is that which was spoken through the prophet Joel,
- 17 And it shall be in the last days, saith God, [that] I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your elders shall dream with dreams;
- 18 yea, even upon my bondmen and upon my bondwomen in those days will I pour out of my Spirit, and they shall prophesy.
- 19 And I will give wonders in the heaven above and signs on the earth below, blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke:
- 20 the sun shall be changed to darkness and the moon to blood before the great and gloriously appearing day of [the] Lord come.
- 21 And it shall be that whosoever shall call upon the name of [the] Lord shall be saved.
- 22 Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus the Nazaræan, a man borne witness to by God to you by works of power and wonders and signs, which God wrought by him in your midst, as yourselves know —
- 23 him, given up by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye, by [the] hand of lawless [men], have crucified and slain.
- 24 Whom God has raised up, having loosed the pains of death, inasmuch as it was not possible that he should be held by its power;
- 25 for David says as to him, I foresaw the Lord continually before me, because he is at my right hand that I may not be moved.
- 26 Therefore has my heart rejoiced and my tongue exulted; yea more, my flesh also shall dwell in hope,
- 27 for thou wilt not leave my soul in hades, nor wilt thou give thy gracious one to see corruption.
- 28 Thou hast made known to me [the] paths of life, thou wilt fill me with joy with thy countenance.
- 29 Brethren, let it be allowed to speak with freedom to you concerning the patriarch David, that he has both died and been buried, and his monument is amongst us unto this day.
- 30 Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn to him with an oath, of the fruit of his loins to set upon his throne;
- 31 he, seeing [it] before, spoke concerning the resurrection of the Christ, that neither has he been left in hades nor his flesh seen corruption.
- 32 This Jesus has God raised up, whereof all we are witnesses.
- 33 Having therefore been exalted by the right hand of God, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, he has poured out this which ye behold and hear.
- 34 For David has not ascended into the heavens, but he says himself, The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand
- 35 until I have put thine enemies [to be] the footstool of thy feet.

that dwell in Jerusalem, be this known to you, and give ear to my words.

- 15 For these are not drunken as ye suppose, for it is [the] third hour of the day;
- 16 but this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel.
- 17 And it shall be in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of My Spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your elders shall dream with dreams;
- 18 yea, and on My bondmen and on My bondwomen in those days will I pour out of My Spirit, and they shall prophesy.
- 19 And I will give wonders in the heaven above, and signs on the earth below, blood and fire and vapour of smoke.
- 20 The sun shall be changed into darkness and the moon into blood before the great and manifest day of [the] Lord come.
- 21 And it shall be, whosoever shall call on the name of [the] Lord shall be saved.
- 22 Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man shown forth from God to you by mighty works, and wonders, and signs, which God wrought by Him in your midst, as yourselves know —
- 23 Him, given up by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye by hand of lawless [men] did crucify and slay;
- 24 Whom God raised up, having loosed the pangs of death, inasmuch as it was not possible that He should be held fast by it.
- 25 For David saith as to Him, I kept the Lord in view always before me, because He is on my right hand that I may not be shaken.
- 26 On this account my heart was cheered and my tongue was exceeding glad; yea more my flesh also shall dwell in hope
- 27 [that, or] because Thou wilt not leave my soul to hades nor give Thy Holy [or, Gracious] One to see corruption.
- 28 Thou didst make known to me ways of life; Thou wilt make me full of joy with Thy countenance.
- 29 Brethren, one may speak with freedom unto you about the patriarch David that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is amongst us unto this day.
- 30 Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God swore with an oath to him of the fruit of his loins [^] to seat upon his throne,
- 31 he foresaw and spoke about the resurrection of the Christ, that neither was He left to hades nor did His flesh see corruption.
- 32 This Jesus did God raise up whereof all we are witnesses.
- 33 Having therefore been exalted by the right hand of God and received of the Father the promise of the Holy Spirit, He poured forth this which ye see and hear.
- 34 For David ascended not into the heavens, but saith himself, The Lord said to my Lord, sit on My right hand
- 35 till I make Thine enemies [the] footstool of Thy feet.

Acts

- 36 Let the whole house of Israel therefore know assuredly that God has made him, this Jesus whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ.
- 37 And having heard [it] they were pricked in heart, and said to Peter and the other apostles, What shall we do, brethren?
- 38 And Peter said to them, Repent, and be baptised, each one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for remission of sins, and ye will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.
- 39 For to you is the promise and to your children, and to all who [are] afar off, as many as [the] Lord our God may call.
- 40 And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, Be saved from this perverse generation.
- 41 Those then who had accepted his word were baptised; and there were added in that day about three thousand souls.
- 42 And they persevered in the teaching and fellowship of the apostles, in breaking of bread and prayers.
- 43 And fear was upon every soul, and many wonders and signs took place through the apostles' means.
- 44 And all that believed were together, and had all things common,
- 45 and sold their possessions and substance, and distributed them to all, according as any one might have need.
- 46 And every day, being constantly in the temple with one accord, and breaking bread in [the] house, they received their food with gladness and simplicity of heart,
- 47 praising God, and having favour with all the people; and the Lord added [to the assembly] daily those that were to be saved.

ACTS 3 JND

- 1 And Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, [which is] the ninth [hour];
- 2 and a certain man who was lame from his mother's womb was being carried, whom they placed every day at the gate of the temple called Beautiful, to ask alms of those who were going into the temple;
- 3 who, seeing Peter and John about to enter into the temple, asked to receive alms.
- 4 And Peter, looking steadfastly upon him with John, said, Look on us.
- 5 And he gave heed to them, expecting to receive something from them.
- 6 But Peter said, Silver and gold I have not; but what I have, this give I to thee: In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazaræan rise up and walk.
- 7 And having taken hold of him [by] the right hand he raised him up, and immediately his feet and ankle bones were made strong.
- 8 And leaping up he stood and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.
- 9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God;

- 36 Let all [the] house of Israel therefore know assuredly that God made Him both Lord and Christ — this Jesus Whom ye crucified.
- 37 And when they heard, they were pricked in heart and said unto Peter and the rest of the apostles, What shall we do, brethren?
- 38 And Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptised each of you in the name of Jesus Christ for remission of sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.
- 39 For to you is the promise, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, as many as [the] Lord our God shall call to [Him].
- 40 And with many other words he testified and exhorted them, saying, Be saved from this perverse generation.
- 41 Those then that accepted his word [^] were baptised; and there were added that day about three thousand souls.
- 42 And they persevered in the apostles' teaching and fellowship, the breaking of bread and the prayers.
- 43 And fear came upon every soul; and many wonders and signs were done through the apostles. [^]
- 44 And all that believed were together, and had all things common,
- 45 and sold their possessions and substance, and distributed them to all according as anyone had need.
- 46 And day by day, continuing with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread at home, they did take their food with gladness and simplicity of heart,
- 47 praising God, and having favour with all the people. And the Lord was adding day by day together those that were to be saved.

ACTS 3 WK

- 1 Now Peter and John were going up into the temple at the hour of prayer, the ninth.
- 2 And a certain man being lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid every day at the gate of the temple called Beautiful, to ask alms of those that entered into the temple;
- 3 who, seeing Peter and John about to enter into the temple, asked to receive alms.
- 4 And Peter gazing on him with John said, Look on us.
- 5 And he gave heed to them, expecting to receive something from them.
- 6 But Peter said, Silver and gold have I none, but what I have, this I give thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth walk.
- 7 And grasping him by the right hand he raised [him] up; and immediately his feet and ankle-bones were made strong.
- 8 And leaping up he stood and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping, and praising God.
- 9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God;

- 10 and they recognized him, that it was he who sat for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple; and they were filled with wonder and amazement at what had happened to him.
- 11 And as he held Peter and John, all the people ran together to them in the portico which is called Solomon's, greatly wondering.
- 12 And Peter, seeing it, answered the people, Men of Israel, why are ye astonished at this? or why do ye gaze on us as if we had by our own power or piety made him to walk?
- 13 The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, the God of our fathers, has glorified his servant Jesus, whom ye delivered up, and denied him in the presence of Pilate, when he had judged that he should be let go.
- 14 But ye denied the holy and righteous one, and asked that a man [that was] a murderer should be granted to you;
- 15 but the originator of life ye slew, whom God raised from among [the] dead, whereof we are witnesses.
- 16 And, by faith in his name, his name has made this [man] strong whom ye behold and know; and the faith which is by him has given him this complete soundness in the presence of you all.
- 17 And now, brethren, I know that ye did it in ignorance, as also your rulers;
- 18 but God has thus fulfilled what he had announced beforehand by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ should suffer.
- 19 Repent therefore and be converted, for the blotting out of your sins, so that times of refreshing may come from [the] presence of the Lord,
- 20 and he may send Jesus Christ, who was foreordained for you,
- 21 whom heaven indeed must receive till [the] times of [the] restoring of all of things, of which God has spoken by the mouth of his holy prophets since time began.
- 22 Moses indeed said, A prophet shall [the] Lord your God raise up to you out of your brethren like me: him shall ye hear in everything whatsoever he shall say to you.
- 23 And it shall be that whatsoever soul shall not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people.
- 24 And indeed all the prophets from Samuel and those in succession after [him], as many as have spoken, have announced also these days.
- 25 Ye are the sons of the prophets and of the covenant which God appointed to our fathers, saying to Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.
- 26 To you first God, having raised up his servant, has sent him, blessing you in turning each one [of you] from your wickedness.

ACTS 4 JND

- 1 And as they were speaking to the people, the priests and captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them,

- 10 and they recognized him that he it was that sat for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple; and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened to him.
- 11 And as he held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them in the portico that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering.
- 12 And Peter seeing [it] answered unto the people, Men of Israel, why marvel ye at this [man]? or why gaze ye at us as though by [our] own power and piety we had made him to walk?
- 13 The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, the God of our fathers, did glorify His servant Jesus, Whom ye delivered up, and denied before Pilate's face, when he decided [lit. judged] to release [Him].
- 14 But ye denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you;
- 15 but the Author [lit. Chief] of life ye killed, Whom God raised from [the] dead of which we are witnesses;
- 16 and on the faith of His name did His name make this man strong whom ye behold and know; and the faith that is by Him gave him this entireness before you all.
- 17 And now, brethren, I know that ye acted in ignorance, as also your rulers;
- 18 but God thus fulfilled what He announced by the mouth of all the prophets, that His Christ should suffer.
- 19 Repent therefore, and be converted for the blotting out of your sins, so that seasons of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord,
- 20 and He may send forth Him that hath been foreappointed for you, Jesus Christ,
- 21 Whom heaven indeed must receive till times of restoring all things whereof God spoke by the mouth of His holy prophets since time began.
- 22 Moses indeed said, A prophet shall [the] Lord our God raise up from among your brethren as [He did] me; Him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever He shall speak unto you.
- 23 And it shall be that every soul which shall not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people.
- 24 Yea, and all the prophets from Samuel, and those in succession, as many as spoke, did also announce these days.
- 25 Ye are the sons of the prophets, and of the covenant which God covenanted with our fathers, saying unto Abraham, And in thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.
- 26 To you first, God, having raised up His servant, sent Him to bless you in turning away each from your iniquities.

ACTS 4 WK

- 1 [^] Now as they were speaking unto the people, the priests and the captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them

2 being distressed on account of their teaching the people and preaching by Jesus the resurrection from the among [the] dead;
 3 and they laid hands on them, and put them in ward till the morrow; for it was already evening.
 4 But many of those who had heard the word believed; and the number of the men had become [about] five thousand.
 5 And it came to pass on the morrow that their rulers and elders and scribes were gathered together at Jerusalem,
 6 and Annas the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of [the] high priestly family;
 7 and having placed them in the midst they inquired, In what power or in what name have ye done this?
 8 Then Peter, filled with [the] Holy Spirit, said to them, Rulers of the people and elders [of Israel],
 9 if we this day are called upon to answer as to the good deed [done] to the infirm man, how he has been healed,
 10 be it known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazaraean, whom ye have crucified, whom God has raised from among [the] dead, by him this [man] stands here before you sound [in body].
 11 He is the stone which has been set at nought by you the builders, which is become the corner stone.
 12 And salvation is in none other, for neither is there another name under heaven which is given among men by which we must be saved.
 13 But seeing the boldness of Peter and John, and perceiving that they were unlettered and uninstructed men, they wondered; and they recognized them that they were with Jesus.
 14 And beholding the man who had been healed standing with them, they had nothing to reply;
 15 but having commanded them to go out of the council they conferred with one another,
 16 saying, What shall we do to these men? for that indeed an evident sign has come to pass through their means is manifest to all that inhabit Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it.
 17 But that it be not further spread among the people, let us threaten them severely no longer to speak to any man in this name.
 18 And having called them, they charged [them] not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus.
 19 But Peter and John answering said to them, If it be righteous before God to listen to you rather than to God, judge ye;
 20 as for us we cannot refrain from speaking of the things which we have seen and heard.
 21 But they, having further threatened them, let them go, finding no way how they might punish them, on account of the people, because all glorified God for what had taken place;

2 being distressed because of their teaching the people, and announcing in Jesus the resurrection from [the] dead;
 3 and they laid hands on them and put them in ward unto the morrow, for it was already evening.
 4 But many of those that heard the word believed, and the number of the men became about five thousand.
 5 And it came to pass on the morrow that their rulers and elders and scribes
 6 were gathered together at Jerusalem, and Annas, the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of high priestly lineage,
 7 and having set them in the midst they enquired, By what power, or in what name, did ye this?
 8 Then Peter, filled with [the] Holy Spirit, said unto them, Rulers of the people and elders [of Israel],
 9 if we to-day are examined as to a good deed done to an infirm man, whereby he hath been cured,
 10 be it known to you all and to all the people of Israel, that in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, Whom ye crucified, Whom God raised from [the] dead, in [or, by] Him [or, in this (name)] he standeth before you whole.
 11 He is the Stone that was set at nought by you the builders, that was made head of [the] corner.
 12 And in none other is there salvation; for neither is there a different name under heaven that is given among men by which we must be saved.
 13 Now beholding the boldness of Peter and John, and aware that they were unlettered and simple men, they wondered, and recognised them that they were with Jesus.
 14 And seeing the man that was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say in reply.
 15 But, having commanded them to go aside out of the council, they were conferring among themselves,
 16 saying, What shall we do to these men? for that indeed a notable sign hath been done through them [is] manifest to all that inhabit Jerusalem; and we cannot deny it.
 17 But that it be not spread farther among the people, let us threaten them severely [lit., with threat] to speak to no man longer in [lit., on] this name.
 18 And having called them they charged [them] not to speak at all nor teach in [lit., on] the name of Jesus.
 19 But Peter and John answering said unto them, Whether it be right before God to hear you rather than God, judge ye:
 20 for we cannot but speak the things which we saw and heard.
 21 And they having further threatened them let them go, finding nothing how they might punish them on account of the people, because all were glorifying God for what had been done.

- 22 for the man on whom this sign of healing had taken place was above forty years old.
- 23 And having been let go, they came to their own company, and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said to them.
- 24 And they, having heard [it], lifted up [their] voice with one accord to God, and said, Lord, thou art the God who made the heaven and the earth and the sea, and all that is in them;
- 25 who hast said by the mouth of thy servant David, Why have [the] nations raged haughtily and [the] peoples meditated vain things?
- 26 The kings of the earth were there, and the rulers were gathered together against the Lord and against his Christ.
- 27 For in truth against thy holy servant Jesus, whom thou hadst anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with [the] nations, and peoples of Israel, have been gathered together in this city
- 28 to do whatever thy hand and thy counsel had determined before should come to pass.
- 29 And now, Lord, look upon their threatenings, and give to thy bondmen with all boldness to speak thy word,
- 30 in that thou stretchest out thy hand to heal, and that signs and wonders take place through the name of thy holy servant Jesus.
- 31 And when they had prayed, the place in which they were assembled shook, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and spoke the word of God with boldness.
- 32 And the heart and soul of the multitude of those that had believed were one, and not one said that anything of what he possessed was his own, but all things were common to them;
- 33 and with great power did the apostles give witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all.
- 34 For neither was there any one in want among them; for as many as were owners of lands or houses, selling them, brought the price of what was sold
- 35 and laid it at the feet of the apostles; and distribution was made to each according as any one might have need.
- 36 And Joseph, who had been surnamed Barnabas by the apostles (which is, being interpreted, Son of consolation), a Levite, Cyprian by birth,
- 37 being possessed of land, having sold [it], brought the money and laid it at the feet of the apostles.

ACTS 5 JND

- 1 But a certain man, Ananias by name, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,
- 2 and put aside for himself part of the price, [his] wife also being privy to it; and having brought a certain part, laid it at the feet of the apostles.

- 22 For the man on whom this sign of healing was wrought was more than forty years old.
- 23 But being let go they came unto their own [company], and reported all that [or, whatsoever] the chief priests and the elders said unto them.
- 24 And they on hearing [it] with one accord lifted up [their] voice unto God and said, Master, Thou [art] He that made the heaven and the earth, and the sea, and all that in them [is];
- 25 Who by [the] Holy Spirit, [by the] mouth of our father David Thy servant, didst say, Why did Gentiles rage and peoples meditate vain things?
- 26 The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers were gathered together against the Lord and against His Anointed [or, Christ].
- 27 For of a truth in this city against Thy holy servant Jesus Whom Thou didst anoint, both Herod and Pontius Pilate with Gentiles and peoples of Israel were gathered,
- 28 to do whatsoever Thy hand and Thy counsel foreordained to come to pass.
- 29 And now, Lord, look upon their threatenings, and give to Thy bondmen with all boldness to speak Thy word
- 30 while [lit., in that] Thou stretchest forth Thy hand for healing, and that signs and wonders be done by the name of Thy holy servant Jesus.
- 31 And when they prayed, the place wherein they were gathered together was shaken; and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit, and spoke the word of God with boldness.
- 32 And the heart and soul of the multitude of those that believed were one; and not one said that aught of his possessions was his own: but they had all things common.
- 33 And with great power did the apostles render the witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; and great grace was upon them all.
- 34 For neither was there anyone in want among them; for as many as were owners of lands or houses sold [them] and brought the prices of the things that were being sold
- 35 and laid [them] at the feet of the apostles; and distribution was made to each according as anyone had need.
- 36 And Joseph that by the apostles was surnamed Barnabas (which is, being interpreted, Son of Exhortation), a Levite, a Cyprian by birth,
- 37 having a field, sold [it] and brought the money and laid [it] at the feet of the apostles.

ACTS 5 WK

- 1 But a certain man, Ananias by name, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession
- 2 and reserved [part] of the price, his wife also being privy: and brought and laid a certain part at the feet of the apostles.

- 3 But Peter said, Ananias, why has Satan filled thy heart that thou shouldest lie to the Holy Spirit, and put aside for thyself a part of the price of the estate?
- 4 While it remained did it not remain to thee? and sold, was [it not] in thine own power? Why is it that thou hast purposed this thing in thine heart? Thou hast not lied to men, but to God.
- 5 And Ananias, hearing these words, fell down and expired. And great fear came upon all who heard [it].
- 6 And the young men, rising up, swathed him up for burial, and having carried him out, buried him.
- 7 And it came to pass about three hours afterwards, that his wife, not knowing what had happened, came in.
- 8 And Peter answered her, Tell me if ye gave the estate for so much? And she said, Yes, for so much.
- 9 And Peter said to her, Why [is it] that ye have agreed together to tempt the Spirit of [the] Lord? Lo, the feet of those that have buried thy husband [are] at the door, and they shall carry thee out.
- 10 And she fell down immediately at his feet and expired. And when the young men came in they found her dead; and, having carried her out, they buried her by her husband.
- 11 And great fear came upon all the assembly, and upon all who heard these things.
- 12 And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders done among the people; (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch,
- 13 but of the rest durst no man join them, but the people magnified them;
- 14 and believers were more than ever added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women;)
- 15 so that they brought out the sick into the streets and put [them] on beds and couches, that at least the shadow of Peter, when he came, might overshadow some one of them.
- 16 And the multitude also of the cities round about came together to Jerusalem, bringing sick persons and persons beset by unclean spirits, who were all healed.
- 17 And the high priest rising up, and all they that were with him, which is the sect of the Sadducees, were filled with wrath,
- 18 and laid hands on the apostles and put them in the public prison.
- 19 But an angel of [the] Lord during the night opened the doors of the prison, and leading them out, said,
- 20 Go ye and stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life.
- 21 And when they heard it, they entered very early into the temple and taught. And when the high priest was come, and they that were with him, they called together the council and all the elderhood of the sons of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.
- 22 And when the officers were come, they did not find them in the prison; and returned and reported

- 3 But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thy heart to lie to the Holy Spirit, and to reserve for thee of the price of the land?
- 4 When it remained, did it not remain to thee; and when sold, was it not in thy power? How [is it] that thou conceivedst this thing in thy heart? Thou didst lie not to men but to God.
- 5 And Ananias hearing these words fell down and expired; and great fear came upon all the hearers,
- 6 and the younger [men] arose, swathed him, and carrying [him] out buried [him].
- 7 And it was about the space of three hours after, when his wife, not knowing what was done, came in.
- 8 And Peter answered unto her, Tell me whether ye sold the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.
- 9 Then Peter said to her, How [is it] that ye agreed together to tempt the Spirit of [the] Lord? Behold, the feet of those that buried thy husband [are] at the door and shall carry thee out.
- 10 Then she fell immediately at his feet and expired; and the young men coming in found her dead, and carrying [her] forth buried [her] by her husband.
- 11 And great fear came upon all the assembly, and upon all that heard these things.
- 12 And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people; and they were all of one accord in the porch of Solomon.
- 13 And of the rest durst no man join them; but the people magnified them;
- 14 and believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes of both men and women:
- 15 insomuch as even to carry out the sick into the streets and put [them] on beds and couches, that, as Peter came, at least his shadow might overshadow some one of them.
- 16 And there also came together the multitude from the cities round about [? unto] Jerusalem, bringing sick [persons] and [persons] troubled by unclean spirits; and they were healed every one.
- 17 And the high priest rising up, and all those that were with him, which is [the] sect of the Sadducees, were filled with wrath,
- 18 and laid their hands on the apostles and put them in public ward.
- 19 But an angel of [the] Lord by night opened the doors of the prison, and leading them out said,
- 20 Go and stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this Life.
- 21 And when they heard they entered about dawn into the temple and were teaching. And when the high priest arrived and those with him, they called together the council and all the senate of the sons of Israel, and sent unto the jail to have them brought.
- 22 But the officers that arrived did not find them in the prison; and they returned and reported,

23 saying, We found the prison shut with all security, and the keepers standing at the doors; but when we had opened [them], within we found no one.

24 And when they heard these words, both the priest and the captain of the temple and the chief priests were in perplexity as to them, what this would come to.

25 And some one coming reported to them, Lo, the men whom ye put in the prison are in the temple, standing and teaching the people.

26 Then the captain, having gone with the officers, brought them, not with violence, for they feared the people, lest they should be stoned.

27 And they bring them and set them in the council. And the high priest asked them, 28 saying, We strictly enjoined you not to teach in this name: and lo, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and purpose to bring upon us the blood of this man.

29 But Peter answering, and the apostles, said, God must be obeyed rather than men.

30 The God of our fathers has raised up Jesus, whom ye have slain, having hanged on a cross.

31 Him has God exalted by his right hand as leader and saviour, to give repentance to Israel and remission of sins.

32 And we are [his] witnesses of these things, and the Holy Spirit also, which God has given to those that obey him.

33 But they, when they heard [these things], were cut to the heart, and took counsel to kill them.

34 But a certain [man], a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a teacher of the law, held in honor of all the people, rose up in the council, and commanded to put the men out for a short while,

35 and said to them, Men of Israel, take heed to yourselves as regards these men what ye are going to do;

36 for before these days Theudas rose up, alleging himself to be somebody, to whom a number of men, about four hundred, were joined; who was slain, and all, as many as obeyed him, were dispersed and came to nothing.

37 After him rose Judas the Galilean in the days of the census, and drew away [a number of] people after him; and he perished, and all, as many as obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say to you, Withdraw from these men and let them alone, for if this counsel or this work have its origin from men, it will be destroyed;

39 but if it be from God, ye will not be able to put them down, lest ye be found also fighters against God.

40 And they listened to his advice; and having called the apostles, they beat them, and enjoined them not to speak in the name of Jesus, and dismissed them.

41 They therefore went their way from [the] presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to be dishonored for the name.

23 saying, We found the jail shut in all security, and the keepers standing at the doors, but on opening we found no one within.

24 And when both [the priest and] the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these words, they were utterly perplexed about them whereto this would come.

25 And there arrived one and reported to them, Behold the men whom ye put in the prison are in the temple standing and teaching the people.

26 Then the captain went away with the officers, and brought them, not with violence, for they feared the people, lest they should be stoned.

27 And having brought they set them in the council; and the high priest asked them,

28 saying, We strictly charged you not to teach on this name; and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and purpose to bring upon us the blood of this man.

29 And in answer Peter and the apostles said, Obedience must be to God rather than men.

30 The God of our fathers raised up Jesus whom ye slew by hanging on a tree:

31 Him God exalted with His right hand as Leader and Saviour to give repentance to Israel and remission of sins.

32 And we are [His] witnesses of these things [lit., words] and the Holy Spirit whom God gave to those that obey Him.

33 And when they heard, they were cut [to the heart; lit., sawn asunder] and took counsel.

34 But there stood up one in the council, a Pharisee, by name Gamaliel, a law-teacher, in honour with all the people, and commanded to put the men [or, apostles] out a little while,

35 and said unto them, Ye men of Israel [or, Israelites] take heed to yourselves as to these men what ye are about to do.

36 For before these days, rose up Theudas, saying that he himself was somebody, with whom a number of men, about four hundred, took sides; who was slain, and all as many as obeyed him were dispersed, and came to nothing.

37 After this one rose up Judas the Galilean, in the days of the census, and drew into revolt people after him; and he perished, and all as many as obeyed him were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say to you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone; for if this counsel or if this work be of men, it will be overthrown,

39 but if it is of God ye will not be [or, are not] able to overthrow them, lest ye be found [even] fighting against God.

40 And to him they yielded, and having called the apostles, they beat and charged [them] not to speak on the name of Jesus, and let them go.

41 They therefore went their way from [the] presence of the council rejoicing that they were accounted worthy to be dishonoured for the Name. ^

Acts

- 42 And every day, in the temple and in the houses, they ceased not teaching and announcing the glad tidings that Jesus [was] the Christ.

ACTS 6 JND

- 1 But in those days, the disciples multiplying in number, there arose a murmuring of the Hellenists against the Hebrews because their widows were overlooked in the daily ministration.
- 2 And the twelve, having called the multitude of the disciples to [them], said, It is not right that we, leaving the word of God, should serve tables.
- 3 Look out therefore, brethren, from among yourselves seven men, well reported of, full of [the] [Holy] Spirit and wisdom, whom we will establish over this business:
- 4 but we will give ourselves up to prayer and the ministry of the word.
- 5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and [the] Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas, a proselyte of Antioch,
- 6 whom they set before the apostles; and, having prayed, they laid their hands on them.
- 7 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples in Jerusalem was very greatly multiplied, and a great crowd of the priests obeyed the faith.
- 8 And Stephen, full of grace and power, wrought wonders and great signs among the people.
- 9 And there arose up certain of those of the synagogue called of freedmen, and of Cyrenians, and of Alexandrians, and of those of Cilicia and Asia, disputing with Stephen.
- 10 And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the Spirit with which he spoke.
- 11 Then they suborned men, saying, We have heard him speaking blasphemous words against Moses and God.
- 12 And they roused the people, and the elders, and the scribes. And coming upon [him] they seized him and brought [him] to the council.
- 13 And they set false witnesses, saying, This man does not cease speaking words against the holy place and the law;
- 14 for we have heard him saying, This Jesus the Nazaræan shall destroy this place, and change the customs which Moses taught us.
- 15 And all who sat in the council, looking fixedly on him, saw his face as [the] face of an angel.

ACTS 7 JND

- 1 And the high priest said, Are these things then so?
- 2 And he said, Brethren and fathers, hearken. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,
- 3 and said to him, Go out of thy land and out of thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

- 42 And every day in the temple and at home they ceased not to teach and preach that the Christ [is] Jesus.

ACTS 6 WK

- 1 Now in those days, when the disciples were multiplying, there arose a murmuring of the Hellenists against the Hebrews that [or, because] their widows were overlooked in the daily ministration.
- 2 And the twelve, having called the multitude of the disciples unto [them] said, It is not seemly that we, leaving the word of God, should serve tables.
- 3 Look out then, brethren, from among you seven men of good report full of [the] Spirit and wisdom, whom we will appoint over this business;
- 4 but we for our part will give ourselves closely to prayer and the ministry of the word.
- 5 And the saying pleased [lit. before] all the multitude; and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of [the] Holy Spirit, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas, a proselyte of Antioch,
- 6 whom they set before the apostles; and having prayed they laid their hands on them.
- 7 And the word of God increased; and the number of the disciples in Jerusalem multiplied exceedingly; and a great crowd of the priests were obedient to the faith.
- 8 And Stephen, full of grace and power, wrought great wonders and signs among the people.
- 9 And there arose certain of those that were of the synagogue called [that] of the freedmen [Libertines], and of Cyrenians, and of Alexandrians, and of those of Cilicia and Asia, disputing with Stephen.
- 10 And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the Spirit by which he spoke.
- 11 Then they suborned men, saying, We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses and God.
- 12 And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes; and coming upon [him] they seized and brought him into the council,
- 13 and set false witnesses, saying, This man ceaseth not speaking [^] words against the holy place and the law;
- 14 for we have heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and change the customs which Moses handed down to us.
- 15 And all that sat in the council, gazing fixedly on him, saw his face as it were an angel's face.

ACTS 7 WK

- 1 And the high priest said, Are these things so?
- 2 And he said, [^] Brethren and fathers, hear. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,
- 3 and said unto him, Go out of thy land and out of thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

4 Then going out of the land of the Chaldeans he dwelt in Charran, and thence, after his father died, he removed him into this land in which ye now dwell.

5 And he did not give him an inheritance in it, not even what his foot could stand on; and promised to give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when he had no child.

6 And God spoke thus: His seed shall be a sojourner in a strange land, and they shall enslave them and evil entreat [them] four hundred years;

7 and the nation to which they shall be in bondage will I judge, said God; and after these things they shall come forth and serve me in this place.

8 And he gave to him [the] covenant of circumcision; and thus he begat Isaac and circumcised him the eighth day; and Isaac Jacob, and Jacob the twelve patriarchs.

9 And the patriarchs, envying Joseph, sold him away into Egypt. And God was with him,

10 and delivered him out of all his tribulations, and gave him favor and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and he appointed him chief over Egypt and all his house.

11 But a famine came upon all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great distress, and our fathers found no food.

12 But Jacob, having heard of there being corn in Egypt, sent out our fathers first;

13 and the second time Joseph was made known to his brethren, and the family of Joseph became known to Pharaoh.

14 And Joseph sent and called down to him his father Jacob and all [his] kindred, seventy-five souls.

15 And Jacob went down into Egypt and died, he and our fathers,

16 and were carried over to Sychem and placed in the sepulchre which Abraham bought for a sum of money of the sons of Emmor the [father] of Sychem.

17 But as the time of promise drew near which God had promised to Abraham, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt, 18 until another king over Egypt arose who did not know Joseph.

19 He dealt subtilly with our race, and evil entreated the fathers, casting out their infants that they might not live.

20 In which time Moses was born, and was exceedingly lovely, who was nourished three months in the house of his father.

21 And when he was cast out, the daughter of Pharaoh took him up and brought him up for herself [to be] for a son.

22 And Moses was instructed in all [the] wisdom of the Egyptians, and he was mighty in his words and deeds.

23 And when a period of forty years was fulfilled to him, it came into his heart to look upon his brethren, the sons of Israel;

4 Then came he out of [the] land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Haran; and thence, after his father died, He removed him into this land in which ye now dwell.

5 And He gave him none inheritance in it, not so much as a foot's tread, and promised to give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when he had no child.

6 God thus spoke, that his seed should be a sojourner in a land not theirs, and that they should enslave and ill-treat them, four hundred years.

7 And the nation, to whom they shall be in slavery, will I judge, said God; and after these things shall they come out and serve Me in this place.

8 And He gave him a covenant of circumcision, and thus he begat Isaac, and circumcised him on the eighth day; and Isaac, Jacob; and Jacob, the twelve patriarchs.

9 And the patriarchs through jealousy sold Joseph into Egypt; and God was with him,

10 and delivered him out of all his afflictions, and gave him favour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh, king of Egypt; and he made him governor over Egypt and all his house.

11 Now there came a famine over all Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction; and our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But Jacob, having heard that there was corn in Egypt, sent forth our fathers first;

13 and at the second [time] Joseph was made known to his brethren, and his [or, Joseph's] race became manifest unto Pharaoh.

14 And Joseph sent and called to him Jacob his father, and all his kindred, seventy-five souls.

15 And Jacob went down into Egypt and died, he and our fathers;

16 and they were carried over unto Shechem and laid in the tomb which Abraham bought for a sum of money from the sons of Hamor in [son, or father, of] Shechem.

17 But as the time of the promise was drawing nigh which God vouchsafed to Abraham, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt, 18 till there arose another king over Egypt who knew not Joseph.

19 He dealt craftily with our race and evil-entreated our fathers, that they should expose their babes to the end they might not be preserved alive.

20 At which season Moses was born, and was exceedingly [lit. to God] fair, who was nourished three months in his father's house;

21 and when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up and nourished him for her own son.

22 And Moses was instructed in all [the] wisdom of [the] Egyptians; and he was mighty in his words and works.

23 But when he was about forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren the sons of Israel;

- 24 And seeing a certain one wronged, he defended [him], and avenged him that was being oppressed, smiting the Egyptian.
- 25 For he thought that his brethren would understand that God by his hand was giving them deliverance. But they understood not.
- 26 And on the morrow he shewed himself to them as they were contending, and compelled them to peace, saying, Ye are brethren, why do ye wrong one another?
- 27 But he that was wronging his neighbor thrust him away, saying, Who established thee ruler and judge over us?
- 28 Dost thou wish to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian yesterday?
- 29 And Moses fled at this saying, and became a sojourner in the land of Madiam, where he begat two sons.
- 30 And when forty years were fulfilled, an angel appeared to him in the wilderness of mount Sinai, in a flame of fire of a bush.
- 31 And Moses seeing it wondered at the vision; and as he went up to consider it, there was a voice of [the] Lord,
- 32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob. And Moses trembled, and durst not consider [it].
- 33 And the Lord said to him, Loose the sandal of thy feet, for the place on which thou standest is holy ground.
- 34 I have surely seen the ill treatment of my people which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groan, and have come down to take them out of it; and now, come, I will send thee to Egypt.
- 35 This Moses, whom they refused, saying, Who made thee ruler and judge? him did God send [to be] a ruler and deliverer with the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush.
- 36 He led them out, having wrought wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, and in the Red sea, and in the wilderness forty years.
- 37 This is the Moses who said to the sons of Israel, A prophet shall God raise up to you out of your brethren like me [him shall ye hear].
- 38 This is he who was in the assembly in the wilderness, with the angel who spoke to him in the mount Sinai, and with our fathers; who received living oracles to give to us;
- 39 to whom our fathers would not be subject, but thrust [him] from them, and in their hearts turned back to Egypt, saying to Aaron,
- 40 Make us gods who shall go before us; for this Moses, who brought us out of the land of Egypt, we know not what has happened to him.
- 41 And they made a calf in those days, and offered sacrifice to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.
- 42 But God turned and delivered them up to serve the host of heaven; as it is written in [the] book of the prophets, Have ye offered me victims and sacrifices forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel?

- 24 and seeing one wronged, he defended [him], and avenged him that was oppressed, smiting the Egyptian.
- 25 For he thought that his brethren understood that God by his hand was giving them deliverance; but they understood not.
- 26 And on the day following he appeared to them as they were striving, and compelled them to peace, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren; why do ye wrong one to another?
- 27 But he that was wronging his neighbour thrust him away, saying, Who established thee ruler and judge over us?
- 28 Dost thou wish to kill me as thou killedst the Egyptian yesterday?
- 29 And Moses fled at this saying, and became a sojourner in [the] land of Midian where he begat two sons.
- 30 And when forty years were fulfilled, an angel [^] appeared to him in the wilderness of the mount Sinai, in a flame of fire in a bush.
- 31 And Moses on seeing, wondered at the sight, and as he went up to observe, there came a voice of [the] Lord. [^]
- 32 I [am] the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and [^] Isaac and [^] Jacob. And Moses trembled, and durst not observe.
- 33 And the Lord said to him, Loose the sandal of thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground.
- 34 I have surely [lit. Seeing I have] seen the ill-treatment of My people which is in Egypt, and have heard their groaning, and am come down to take them out for Myself. And now come, I send [or, will send] thee into Egypt.
- 35 This Moses whom they denied, saying, Who established thee ruler and judge? him hath God sent [both] ruler and deliverer, with an angel's hand that appeared to him in the bush.
- 36 This [man] led them out, having wrought wonders and signs in the land of Egypt and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness forty years.
- 37 This is the Moses that said to the sons of Israel, A prophet will [^] God raise up to you out of your brethren, like me.
- 38 This is he that was in the assembly in the wilderness with the angel that spoke to him in the mount Sinai, and with our fathers; who received living oracles to give us:
- 39 to whom our fathers would not be subject but thrust [him] away and turned in their hearts into Egypt
- 40 saying to Aaron, Make us gods who shall go before us; for this Moses, who brought us out of [the] land of Egypt, we know not what is become of him.
- 41 And they made a calf in those days and offered sacrifice to the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their hands.
- 42 But God turned and delivered them up to serve the host of heaven; as it is written in [the] book of the prophets, Did ye offer Me victims and sacrifices forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel?

- 43 Yea, ye took up the tent of Moloch, and the star of [your] god Remphan, the forms which ye made to do homage to them; and I will transport you beyond Babylon.
- 44 Our fathers had the tent of the testimony in the wilderness, as he that spoke to Moses commanded to make it according to the model which he had seen;
- 45 which also our fathers, receiving from their predecessors, brought in with Joshua when they entered into possession of [the lands of] the nations, whom God drove out from [the] face of our fathers until the days of David;
- 46 who found favor before God, and asked to find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob;
- 47 but Solomon built him a house.
- 48 But the Most High dwells not in [places] made with hands; as says the prophet,
- 49 The heaven [is] my throne and the earth the footstool of my feet: what house will ye build me? saith [the] Lord, or where [is the] place of my rest?
- 50 has not my hand made all these things?
- 51 O stiffnecked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers, ye also.
- 52 Which of the prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain those who announced beforehand concerning the coming of the Just One, of whom ye have now become deliverers up and murderers!
- 53 who have received the law as ordained by [the] ministry of angels, and have not kept [it].
- 54 And hearing these things they were cut to the heart, and gnashed their teeth against him.
- 55 But being full of [the] Holy Spirit, having fixed his eyes on heaven, he saw [the] glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God,
- 56 and said, Lo, I behold the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God.
- 57 And they cried out with a loud voice, and held their ears, and rushed upon him with one accord;
- 58 and having cast [him] out of the city, they stoned [him]. And the witnesses laid aside their clothes at the feet of a young man called Saul.
- 59 And they stoned Stephen, praying, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.
- 60 And kneeling down, he cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And having said this, he fell asleep.

ACTS 8 JND

- 1 And Saul was consenting to his being killed.
And on that day there arose a great persecution against the assembly which was in Jerusalem, and all were scattered into the countries of Judæa and Samaria except the apostles.
- 2 And pious men buried Stephen and made great lamentation over him.

- 43 Yea, ye took up the tabernacle of Moloch and the star of your [or, the] god Remphan, the forms which ye made to worship them; and I will transport you beyond Babylon.
- 44 Our fathers had the tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as He that spake to Moses commanded to make it according to the model which he had seen;
- 45 which also our fathers having in succession received brought [it] in with Joshua, in their taking possession of the Gentiles whom God drove out from [the] face of our fathers until the days of David;
- 46 who found favour before God and asked to find a habitation for the God of Jacob;
- 47 but Solomon built him a house.
- 48 But the Highest dwelleth not in [places] made with hands; even as the prophet saith,
- 49 The heaven [is] My throne, and the earth a footstool of My feet: what sort of house will ye build Me, saith [the] Lord, or what [is] My place of rest?
- 50 Did not My hand make all these things?
- 51 Stiffnecked and uncircumcised in hearts and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers so ye.
- 52 Which of the prophets did not your fathers persecute? And they slew those that announced beforehand of the coming of the Righteous One, of Whom now ye became betrayers and murderers,
- 53 ye, which received the law as ordinances of angels and kept it not.
- 54 Now hearing these things they were deeply cut to their hearts, and gnashing their teeth at him.
- 55 But being full of the Holy Spirit, looking fixedly into heaven, he saw [the] glory of God and Jesus standing at the right hand of God,
- 56 and said, Lo, I behold the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God.
- 57 But they crying with a loud voice held their ears and rushed upon him with one accord,
- 58 and cast out of the city and stoned [him]. And the witnesses laid aside their clothes at the feet of a young man called Saul,
- 59 and stoned Stephen, invoking Λ and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.
- 60 And kneeling down he cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And having said this he fell asleep.

ACTS 8 WK

- 1 And Saul was consenting to the making him away.
And there arose on that day a great persecution against the assembly that was in Jerusalem; and they were all scattered abroad throughout the regions of Judæa and Samaria except the apostles.
- 2 And devout men buried Stephen and made great wailing over him.

3 But Saul ravaged the assembly, entering into the houses one after another, and dragging off both men and women delivered them up to prison.

4 Those then that had been scattered went through [the countries] announcing the glad tidings of the word.

5 And Philip, going down to a city of Samaria, preached the Christ to them;

6 and the crowds with one accord gave heed to the things spoken by Philip, when they heard [him] and saw the signs which he wrought.

7 For from many who had unclean spirits they went out, crying with a loud voice; and many that were paralysed and lame were healed.

8 And there was great joy in that city.

9 But a certain man, by name Simon, had been before in the city, using magic arts, and astonishing the nation of Samaria, saying that himself was some great one.

10 To whom they had all given heed, from small to great, saying, This is the power of God which is called great.

11 And they gave heed to him, because that for a long time he had astonished them by his magic arts.

12 But when they believed Philip announcing the glad tidings concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptised, both men and women.

13 And Simon also himself believed; and, having been baptised, continued constantly with Philip; and, beholding the signs and great works of power which took place, was astonished.

14 And the apostles who were in Jerusalem, having heard that Samaria had received the word of God, sent to them Peter and John;

15 who, having come down, prayed for them that they might receive [the] Holy Spirit;

16 for he was not yet fallen upon any of them, only they were baptised to the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then they laid their hands upon them, and they received [the] Holy Spirit.

18 But Simon, having seen that by the laying on of the hands of the apostles the [Holy] Spirit was given, offered them money, 19 saying, Give to me also this power, in order that on whomsoever I may lay hands he may receive [the] Holy Spirit.

20 And Peter said to him, Thy money go with thee to destruction, because thou hast thought that the gift of God can be obtained by money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter, for thy heart is not upright before God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and supplicate the Lord, if indeed the thought of thy heart may be forgiven thee;

23 for I see thee to be in the gall of bitterness, and bond of unrighteousness.

3 But Saul was ravaging the assembly, entering throughout the houses, and, dragging men and women, was delivering [them] to prison.

4 They therefore that were scattered abroad went about evangelising the word. [^]

5 And Philip went down to a city of Samaria and preached to them the Christ.

6 And the crowds with one accord gave heed to the things spoken by Philip, when they heard and saw the signs which he did.

7 For [as to] many that had unclean spirits, they went out crying with a loud voice, and many palsied and lame were healed.

8 And there was great joy in that city.

9 But a certain man, Simon by name, was before in the city practising magic and amazing the nation of Samaria, saying that himself was some great one:

10 to whom they all gave heed from small to great, saying, He is the power of God that is called Great.

11 And they gave heed to him, because a long time he had amazed them with his magic arts.

12 But when they believed Philip evangelising [^] about the kingdom of God and the name of [^] Jesus Christ, they were baptised both men and women.

13 And Simon also himself believed; and being baptised he continued with Philip, and beholding signs and great works of power as they were done, was amazed.

14 Now when the apostles that were in Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them [^] Peter and John,

15 the which, on coming down, prayed for them that they might receive [the] Holy Spirit;

16 for as yet He had fallen upon none of them: only they had got baptised unto the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then they laid their hands upon them, and they received [the] Holy Spirit.

18 Now Simon, when he saw that through the laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, offered them money, 19 saying, Give me also this power that, on whomsoever I lay my hands, he may receive [the] Holy Ghost.

20 But Peter said to him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thoughtest to obtain the gift of God through money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter; for thy heart is not right before God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and beseech the Lord if so be the thought of thy heart shall be forgiven thee,

23 for I see that thou art in gall of bitterness and bond of iniquity.

- 24 And Simon answering said, Supplicate ye for me to the Lord, so that nothing may come upon me of the things of which ye have spoken.
- 25 They therefore, having testified and spoken the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and announced the glad tidings to many villages of the Samaritans.
- 26 But [the] angel of [the] Lord spoke to Philip, saying, Rise up and go southward on the way which goes down from Jerusalem to Gaza: the same is desert.
- 27 And he rose up and went. And lo, an Ethiopian, a eunuch, a man in power under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who was over all her treasure, who had come to worship at Jerusalem,
- 28 was returning and sitting in his chariot: and he was reading the prophet Esaias.
- 29 And the Spirit said to Philip, Approach and join this chariot.
- 30 And Philip, running up, heard him reading the prophet Esaias, and said, Dost thou then know what thou art reading of?
- 31 And he said, How should I then be able unless some one guide me? And he begged Philip to come up and sit with him.
- 32 And the passage of the scripture which he read was this: He was led as a sheep to slaughter, and as a lamb is dumb in presence of him that shears him, thus he opens not his mouth.
- 33 In his humiliation his judgment has been taken away, and who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.
- 34 And the eunuch answering Philip said, I pray thee, concerning whom does the prophet say this? of himself or of some other?
- 35 And Philip, opening his mouth and beginning from that scripture, announced the glad tidings of Jesus to him.
- 36 And as they went along the way they came upon a certain water, and the eunuch says, Behold water; what hinders my being baptised?
- 38 And he commanded the chariot to stop. And they went down both to the water, both Philip and the eunuch, and he baptised him.
- 39 But when they came up out of the water [the] Spirit of [the] Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch saw him no longer, for he went on his way rejoicing.
- 40 And Philip was found at Azotus, and passing through he announced the glad tidings to all the cities till he came to Caesarea.

ACTS 9 JND

- 1 But Saul, still breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, came to the high priest
- 2 and asked of him letters to Damascus, to the synagogues, so that if he found any who were of the way, both men and women, he might bring [them] bound to Jerusalem.

- 24 And Simon said in answer, Beseech ye for me with the Lord that none of the things which ye have spoken come upon me.
- 25 They therefore, when they had testified and spoken the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and evangelised many villages of the Samaritans.
- 26 But an angel of [the] Lord spake to Philip, saying, Arise, go southward unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza; this is desert.
- 27 And he arose and went. And behold a man of Ethiopia, a eunuch in power under Candace, queen of [the] Ethiopians, who was over all her treasures, [^]had come to worship at Jerusalem;
- 28 and he was returning and, as he sat in his chariot, [^]was reading the prophet Isaiah.
- 29 And the Spirit said to Philip, Approach and join thyself to this chariot.
- 30 And Philip running up heard him reading the prophet Isaiah, [^]and said, Understandest thou what thou readest?
- 31 And he said, How can I unless someone shall guide [^] me? And he besought Philip to come up and sit with him.
- 32 Now the passage of the Scripture which he was reading was this —
As a sheep He was led to slaughter;
And as a lamb dumb before his shearer,
So He openeth not His mouth.
- 33 In His [^] humiliation His judgment was taken away.
His [^] generation who shall declare?
For His life was taken away from the earth.
- 34 And the eunuch answering Philip said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the prophet this? Of himself or of some other?
- 35 And Philip opened his mouth, and beginning from this scripture, preached to him Jesus.
- 36 And as they went on the way, they came unto a certain water; and the eunuch said, Behold, water; what hindereth me to be baptised? [^]
- 38 And he commanded the chariot to stop; and they both went down into the water, both Philip and the eunuch, and he baptised him.
- 39 But when they came up out of the water, [the] Spirit of [the] Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch saw him no more, for he went on his way rejoicing.
- 40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and passing through he evangelised all the cities till he came to Cæsarea.

ACTS 9 WK

- 1 But Saul, still breathing threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went to the high priest
- 2 and asked of him letters unto Damascus to the synagogues; so that, if he found any belonging to the way, both men and women, he might bring [them] bound unto Jerusalem.

3 But as he was journeying, it came to pass that he drew near to Damascus; and suddenly there shone round about him a light out of heaven,
 4 and falling on the earth he heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why dost thou persecute me?
 5 And he said, Who art thou Lord? And he [said], I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest.
 6 But rise up and enter into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.
 7 But the men who were travelling with him stood speechless, hearing the voice but beholding no one.
 8 And Saul rose up from the earth, and his eyes being opened he saw no one. But leading [him] by the hand they brought him into Damascus.
 9 And he was three days without seeing, and neither ate nor drank.
 10 And there was a certain disciple in Damascus by name Ananias. And the Lord said to him in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, [here am] I, Lord.
 11 And the Lord [said] to him, Rise up and go into the street which is called Straight, and seek in the house of Judas one by name Saul, [he is] of Tarsus: for, behold, he is praying, and has seen [in a vision] a man by name Ananias coming in and putting his hand on him, so that he should see.
 13 And Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard from many concerning this man how much evil he has done to thy saints at Jerusalem;
 14 and here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all who call upon thy name.
 15 And the Lord said to him, Go, for this [man] is an elect vessel to me, to bear my name before both nations and kings and [the] sons of Israel:
 16 for I will shew to him how much he must suffer for my name.
 17 And Ananias went and entered into the house; and laying his hands upon him he said, Saul, brother, the Lord has sent me, Jesus that appeared to thee in the way in which thou camest, that thou mightest see, and be filled with [the] Holy Spirit.
 18 And straightway there fell from his eyes as it were scales, and he saw, and rising up was baptised;
 19 and, having received food, got strength. And he was with the disciples who [were] in Damascus certain days.
 20 And straightway in the synagogues he preached Jesus that he is the Son of God.
 21 And all who heard were astonished and said, Is not this he who destroyed in Jerusalem those who called on this name, and here was come for this purpose, that he might bring them bound to the chief priests?
 22 But Saul increased the more in power, and confounded the Jews who dwelt in Damascus, proving that this is the Christ.
 23 Now when many days were fulfilled, the Jews consulted together to kill him.

3 And as he was journeying, it came to pass that he drew near to Damascus, and suddenly there shone round him a light out of heaven,
 4 and falling upon the earth he heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?
 5 And he said, Who art Thou, Lord? And He [said], I am Jesus, Whom thou persecutest; [^]
 6 [^] but arise and enter into the city; and it shall be told thee what thou must do.
 7 And the men that journeyed with him were standing speechless, hearing the sound but seeing no one.
 8 And Saul arose from the earth, and when his eyes were opened, he saw nothing; but leading by the hand they brought him into Damascus;
 9 and he was three days without seeing, and did neither eat nor drink.
 10 Now there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and the Lord said to him in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold I [am here], Lord.
 11 And the Lord [said] unto him, Rise up, and go to the lane that is called Straight, and seek in Judas' house one of Tarsus named Saul; for behold he prayeth
 12 and hath seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in and laying his hands on him, so that he might receive his sight.
 13 And Ananias answered, Lord, I heard from many of this man, how much evil he did to Thy saints at Jerusalem;
 14 and here he hath authority from the high priests to bind all that call on Thy name.
 15 But the Lord said unto him, Go, for he is a vessel of election to Me, to bear My name before both Gentiles and kings and sons of Israel;
 16 for I will shew him how many things he must suffer for My name's sake.
 17 And Ananias went and entered into the house; and laying his hands upon him he said, Brother Saul, the Lord Jesus that appeared to thee in the way which thou camest, hath sent me, so that thou mightest receive sight and be filled with [the] Holy Spirit.
 18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it were scales, and he received sight, [^] and rising up he was baptised;
 19 and he took food and was strengthened. And he was certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.
 20 And immediately in the synagogues he preached Jesus, that He is the Son of God.
 21 And all that heard [him] were amazed and said, Is not this he, that in Jerusalem made havoc of those that called on this name, and had come hither for this thing, that he might bring them bound before the chief priests?
 22 But Saul increased the more in power and confounded the Jews that dwelt in Damascus, proving that this is the Christ.
 23 And when many days were fulfilled, the Jews consulted together to kill him;

24 But their plot became known to Saul. And they watched also the gates both day and night, that they might kill him;

25 but the disciples took him by night and let him down through the wall, lowering him in a basket.

26 And having arrived at Jerusalem he essayed to join himself to the disciples, and all were afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas took him and brought him to the apostles, and related to them how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken to him, and how in Damascus he had spoken boldly in the name of Jesus.

28 And he was with them coming in and going out at Jerusalem,

29 and speaking boldly in the name of the Lord. And he spoke and discussed with the Hellenists; but they sought to kill him.

30 And the brethren knowing it, brought him down to Caesarea and sent him away to Tarsus.

31 The assemblies then throughout the whole of Judæa and Galilee and Samaria had peace, being edified and walking in the fear of the Lord, and were increased through the comfort of the Holy Ghost.

32 Now it came to pass that Peter, passing through all [quarters], descended also to the saints who inhabited Lydda.

33 And he found there a certain man, Æneas by name, who had been lying for eight years upon a couch, who was paralysed.

34 And Peter said to him, Æneas, Jesus, the Christ, heals thee: rise up, and make thy couch for thyself. And straightway he rose up.

35 And all who inhabited Lydda and the Saron saw him, who turned to the Lord.

36 And in Joppa there was a certain female disciple, by name Tabitha, which being interpreted means Dorcas. She was full of good works and alms-deeds which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days that she grew sick and died; and, having washed her, they put her in the upper room.

38 But Lydda being near to Joppa, the disciples having heard that Peter was there, sent two men to him, beseeching him, Thou must not delay coming to us.

39 And Peter rising up went with them, whom, when arrived, they brought up into the upper chamber; and all the widows stood by him weeping and showing him the body-coats and garments which Dorcas had made while she was with them.

40 But Peter, putting them all out, and kneeling down, prayed. And, turning to the body, he said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and, seeing Peter, sat up.

41 And having given her [his] hand, he raised her up, and having called the saints and the widows, presented her living.

24 but their plot became known to Saul. And they were watching the gates also day and night that they might kill him;

25 but the disciples took him by night and let him down through the wall, lowering him in a basket.

26 And when he arrived at Jerusalem, he essayed to join himself to the disciples; and all were afraid of him, not believing that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas took and brought him unto the apostles, and declared to them how he saw the Lord in the way, and that He spoke to him, and how in Damascus he preached boldly in the name of Jesus.

28 And he was with them going in and going out at Jerusalem,

29 [^] preaching boldly in the name of the Lord [^]; and he was speaking and discussing with the Hellenists; but they had in hand to kill him.

30 And when the brethren knew, they brought him down to Cæsarea, and sent him off unto Tarsus.

31 The assembly then, throughout the whole of Judæa and Galilee and Samaria, had peace, being edified, and walking in the fear of the Lord and the comfort of the Holy Spirit, was multiplied.

32 Now it came to pass that Peter going through all [parts] came down also to the saints inhabiting Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain man named Æneas, for eight years lying on a couch, who was paralysed.

34 And Peter said to him, Æneas, Jesus [the] Christ healeth thee; rise up and make thy couch. And immediately he rose up.

35 And all that inhabited Lydda and the Sharon saw him, who also turned to the Lord.

36 Now in Joppa there was a certain disciple named Tabitha, which being interpreted is called Dorcas (Gazelle). She was full of good works and alms-deeds which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days that she fell sick and died: and, having washed, they laid her in an upper room.

38 And as Lydda was near to Joppa, the disciples hearing that Peter was there sent two men unto him, beseeching, Delay not to come on to us.

39 And Peter rose up, and went with them; whom, on his arrival, they brought up into the upper room; and all the widows stood by him weeping, and showing [the] coats and cloaks which Dorcas used to make while she was with them.

40 But Peter, putting them all forth and kneeling down, prayed; and turning unto the body, he said, Tabitha, arise. [^] And she opened her eyes; and seeing Peter, she sat up.

41 And, giving her a hand, he raised her up, and calling the saints and the widows, he presented her alive.

- 42 And it became known throughout the whole of Joppa, and many believed on the Lord.
43 And it came to pass that he remained many days in Joppa with a certain Simon, a tanner.

ACTS 10 JND

- 1 But a certain man in Cæsarea, — by name Cornelius, a centurion of the band called Italic,
2 pious, and fearing God with all his house, [both] giving much alms to the people, and supplicating God continually,
3 — saw plainly in a vision, about the ninth hour of the day, an angel of God coming unto him, and saying to him, Cornelius.
4 But he, having fixed his eyes upon him, and become full of fear, said, What is it, Lord? And he said to him, thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God.
5 And now send men to Joppa and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter.
6 He lodges with a certain Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea.
7 And when the angel who was speaking to him had departed, having called two of his household and a pious soldier of those who were constantly with him,
8 and related all things to them, he sent them to Joppa.
9 And on the morrow, as these were journeying and drawing near to the city, Peter went up on the house to pray, about the sixth hour.
10 And he became hungry and desired to eat. But as they were making ready an ecstasy came upon him:
11 and he beholds the heaven opened, and a certain vessel descending, as a great sheet, [bound] by [the] four corners [and] let down to the earth;
12 in which were all the quadrupeds and creeping things of the earth, and the fowls of the heaven.
13 And there was a voice to him, Rise, Peter, slay and eat.

14 And Peter said, In no wise, Lord; for I have never eaten anything common or unclean.
15 And [there was] a voice again the second time to him, What God has cleansed, do not thou make common.
16 And this took place thrice, and the vessel was straightway taken up into heaven.
17 And as Peter doubted in himself what the vision which he had seen might mean, behold also the men who were sent by Cornelius, having sought out the house of Simon, stood at the gate,
18 and having called [some one], they inquired if Simon who was surnamed Peter was lodged there.
19 But as Peter continued pondering over the vision, the Spirit said to him, Behold, three men seek thee;
20 but rise up, go down, and go with them, nothing doubting, because I have sent them.
21 And Peter going down to the men said, Behold, I am he whom ye seek: what is the cause for which ye come?

- 42 And it became known throughout the whole of Joppa, and many believed on the Lord;
43 and it came to pass that he remained many days in Joppa with one Simon a tanner.

ACTS 10 WK

- 1 Now a certain man in Cæsarea, Cornelius by name, a centurion of a cohort that was called Italian,
2 pious and fearing God with all his house, [^] giving much alms to the people, and entreating God continually,
3 saw in a vision manifestly about the ninth hour of the day an angel of God coming in unto him and saying to him, Cornelius.
4 But he gazing on him and being affrighted, said, What is [it], Lord? And he said to him, Thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God.

5 And now send men unto Joppa, and fetch [one] Simon, who is surnamed Peter;
6 he lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea.
7 And when the angel that spoke to him had departed, he called two of his domestics and a pious soldier of those in close attendance,
8 and having recounted all to them, sent them to Joppa.
9 And on the morrow, when they were journeying and drawing near to the city, Peter went up on the housetop to pray about [the] sixth hour;
10 and he became hungry and desired to eat; and while they made ready, a trance came over him,
11 and he beholdeth the heaven opened and a certain vessel descending [^] as a great sheet by four corners let down upon the earth
12 in which were all the quadrupeds and reptiles of the earth and [the] birds of the sky.
13 And there came a voice unto him, Arise, Peter, slay and eat.
14 But Peter said, By no means, Lord; because never did I eat anything common and unclean.
15 And a voice [came] again a second time unto him, What God cleansed deem not thou common.
16 And this was done thrice; and straightway the vessel was taken up into heaven.
17 And as Peter was perplexed in himself what the vision which he had seen might mean, behold, the men that had been sent by Cornelius, having sought out the house of Simon, stood at the gate,
18 and having called, were enquiring whether Simon surnamed Peter lodged there.
19 Now while Peter was pondering over the vision, the Spirit said to him, Behold, three men seek thee,
20 but arise, go down and journey with them nothing doubting because I have sent them.
21 And Peter went down unto the men and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seek: what is the cause for which ye are here?

22 And they said, Cornelius, a centurion, a righteous man, and fearing God, and borne witness to by the whole nation of the Jews, has been divinely instructed by a holy angel to send for thee to his house, and hear words from thee.

23 Having therefore invited them in, he lodged them. And on the morrow, rising up he went away with them, and certain of the brethren from Joppa went with him.

24 And on the morrow they came to Cæsarea. But Cornelius was looking for them, having called together his kinsmen and [his] intimate friends.

25 And when Peter was now coming in, Cornelius met him, and falling down did [him] homage.

26 But Peter made him rise, saying, Rise up: I myself also am a man.

27 And he went in, talking with him, and found many gathered together.

28 And he said to them, Ye know how it is unlawful for a Jew to be joined or come to one of a strange race, and to me God has shown to call no man common or unclean.

29 Wherefore also, having been sent for, I came without saying anything against it. I inquire therefore for what reason ye have sent for me.

30 And Cornelius said, Four days ago I had been [fasting] unto this hour, and the ninth [I was] praying in my house, and lo, a man stood before me in bright clothing,

31 and said, Cornelius, thy prayer has been heard, and thy alms have come in remembrance before God.

32 Send therefore to Joppa and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter; he lodges in the house of Simon, a tanner, by the sea [who when he is come will speak to thee].

33 Immediately therefore I sent to thee, and thou hast well done in coming. Now therefore we are all present before God to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 And Peter opening his mouth said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons, 35 but in every nation he that fears him and works righteousness is acceptable to him.

36 The word which he sent to the sons of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ, (he is Lord of all things,) ye know;

37 the testimony which has spread through the whole of Judæa, beginning from Galilee after the baptism which John preached —

38 Jesus who [was] of Nazareth: how God anointed him with [the] Holy Spirit and with power; who went through [all quarters] doing good, and healing all that were under the power of the devil, because God was with him.

39 We also [are] witnesses of all things which he did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem; whom they also slew, having hanged him on a cross.

40 This [man] God raised up the third day and gave him to be openly seen, 41 not of all the people, but of witnesses who were chosen before of God, us who have eaten and drunk with him after he arose from among [the] dead.

22 And they said, Cornelius, a centurion, a man righteous, and fearing God, and attested by the whole nation of the Jews, was divinely warned by a holy angel to send for thee unto his house and to hear words from thee.

23 Having therefore called them in he lodged [them].
And on the morrow he arose and went off with them, and some of the brethren from Joppa went with him.

24 And on the morrow he entered into Cæsarea; and Cornelius was awaiting them, having called together his kinsmen and his near friends.

25 And when it came to pass that Peter entered, Cornelius met him, and falling at his feet, did homage;

26 but Peter raised him, saying, Rise up, I myself also am a man.

27 And conversing with him he entered and findeth many come together;

28 and he said to them, Yourselves know how unlawful it is for a Jew to join himself or come unto one of another race. And me God showed to call no man common or unclean:

29 wherefore also without gainsaying I came when sent for. I ask then on what account ye sent for me.

30 And Cornelius said, Four days ago till this hour I was fasting and the ninth [hour] praying in my house, and, behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing

31 and says, Cornelius thy prayer is heard, and thine alms had in remembrance before God:

32 send then unto Joppa, and call for Simon who is surnamed Peter. He lodgeth in the house of Simon a tanner by [the] sea.

33 Forthwith then I sent unto thee, and thou hast done well in arriving. Now then we are all here before God to hear all the things that have been commanded thee of the Lord.

34 And Peter opened his mouth and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons

35 but in every nation he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness is acceptable to Him.

36 The word which He sent forth to the sons of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ (He is Lord of all), —

37 ye know the matter that came to pass throughout the whole of Judæa, beginning from Galilee after the baptism which John preached —

38 Jesus of Nazareth how that God anointed Him with [the] Holy Spirit and power; Who went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed by the devil, because God was with Him.

39 And we [are] witnesses of all things which He did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem, Whom also they slew hanging [Him] on a tree,

40 Him God raised on the third day and gave Him to be manifest

41 not to all the people, but to witnesses that were chosen before by God, to us which ate and drank with Him, after He rose from [the] dead.

- 42 And he commanded us to preach to the people, and to testify that he it is who was determinately appointed of God [to be] judge of living and dead.
- 43 To him all the prophets bear witness that every one that believes on him will receive through his name remission of sins.
- 44 While Peter was yet speaking these words the Holy Spirit fell upon all those who were hearing the word.
- 45 And the faithful of the circumcision were astonished, as many as came with Peter, that upon the nations also the gift of the Holy Spirit was poured out:
- 46 for they heard them speaking with tongues and magnifying God. Then Peter answered,
- 47 Can any one forbid water that these should not be baptised, who have received the Holy Spirit as we also [did]?
- 48 And he commanded them to be baptised in the name of the Lord. Then they begged him to stay some days.

ACTS II JND

- 1 And the apostles and the brethren who were in Judæa heard that the nations also had received the word of God;
- 2 and when Peter went up to Jerusalem, they of the circumcision contended with him,
- 3 saying, Thou wentest in to men uncircumcised and hast eaten with them.
- 4 But Peter began and set forth [the matter] to them in order, saying,
- 5 I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in an ecstasy I saw a vision, a certain vessel descending like a great sheet, let down by four corners out of heaven, and it came even to me:
- 6 on which having fixed mine eyes, I considered, and saw the quadrupeds of the earth, and the wild beasts, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the heaven.
- 7 And I heard also a voice saying to me, Rise up, Peter, slay and eat.
- 8 And I said, In no wise, Lord, for common or unclean has never entered into my mouth.
- 9 And a voice answered the second time out of heaven, What God has cleansed, do not thou make common.
- 10 And this took place thrice, and again all was drawn up into heaven;
- 11 and lo, immediately three men were at the house in which I was, sent to me from Cæsarea.
- 12 And the Spirit said to me to go with them, nothing doubting. And there went with me these six brethren also, and we entered into the house of the man,
- 13 and he related to us how he had seen the angel in his house, standing and saying [to him], Send [men] to Joppa and fetch Simon, who is surnamed Peter,
- 14 who shall speak words to thee whereby thou shalt be saved, thou and all thy house.
- 15 And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them even as upon us also at the beginning.

- 42 And He charged us to preach to the people and testify that this is He that is ordained by God judge of living and dead.
- 43 To Him all the prophets bear witness that every one that believeth on Him shall receive remission of sins through His Name.
- 44 While Peter was yet speaking these sayings, the Holy Spirit fell upon all those that were hearing the word.
- 45 And the faithful of the circumcision, as many as came with Peter, were amazed, because upon the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Spirit.
- 46 For they heard them speaking with tongues, and magnifying God. Then answered Peter,
- 47 Can any man forbid the water, that these should not be baptised which received the Holy Spirit even as we.
- 48 And he directed them to be baptised in the name of [^] Jesus Christ. Then they entreated him to abide certain days.

ACTS II WK

- 1 But the apostles and the brethren which were in Judæa heard that the Gentiles also received the word of God.
- 2 And when Peter went up unto Jerusalem, they of [the] circumcision contended with him
- 3 saying, Thou wentest in unto men uncircumcised and didst eat with them.
- 4 But Peter began and set forth to them in order, saying,
- 5 I was in [the] city of Joppa, praying, and in a trance I saw a vision, a certain vessel descending like a great sheet, let down by four corners out of heaven, and it came as far as me.
- 6 On which having fixed mine eyes, I considered and saw the quadrupeds of the earth and the wild beasts and the reptiles and the birds of the heaven.
- 7 And I heard also a voice saying to me, Arise, Peter, slay and eat.
- 8 But I said, In no wise, Lord, because common or unclean never entered into my mouth.
- 9 But a voice answered a second time out of heaven, What God cleansed make not thou common.
- 10 And this was done thrice, and all were drawn up again into heaven.
- 11 And behold immediately three men stood at the house in which I was, sent from Cæsarea unto me.
- 12 And the Spirit bade me go with them doubting nothing. And there went with me also these six brethren, and we entered into the house of the man,
- 13 and he reported to us how he saw the angel in his house, standing and saying, Send to Joppa, and fetch Simon, that is surnamed Peter,
- 14 who shall speak words unto thee, whereby thou shalt be saved, thou and all thy house.
- 15 And on my beginning to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them as upon us also at the beginning.

- 16 And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, John baptised with water, but ye shall be baptised with [the] Holy Spirit.
- 17 If then God has given them the same gift as also to us when we had believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, who indeed was I to be able to forbid God?
- 18 And when they heard these things they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then indeed God has to the nations also granted repentance to life.
- 19 They then who had been scattered abroad through the tribulation that took place on the occasion of Stephen, passed through [the country] to Phœnicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to no one but to Jews alone.
- 20 But there were certain of them, Cyprians and Cyrenians, who entering into Antioch spoke to the Greeks also, announcing the glad tidings of the Lord Jesus.
- 21 And [the] Lord's hand was with them, and a great number believed and turned to the Lord.
- 22 And the report concerning them reached the ears of the assembly which was in Jerusalem, and they sent out Barnabas to go through as far as Antioch:
- 23 who, having arrived and seeing the grace of God, rejoiced, and exhorted all with purpose of heart to abide with the Lord;
- 24 for he was a good man and full of [the] Holy Spirit and of faith; and a large crowd [of people] were added to the Lord.
- 25 And he went away to Tarsus to seek out Saul.
- 26 And having found [him], he brought him to Antioch. And so it was with them that for a whole year they were gathered together in the assembly and taught a large crowd: and the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.
- 27 Now in these days prophets went down from Jerusalem to Antioch;
- 28 and one from among them, by name Agabus, rose up and signified by the Spirit that there was going to be a great famine over all the inhabited earth, which also came to pass under Claudius.
- 29 And they determined, according as any one of the disciples was well off, each of them to send to the brethren who dwelt in Judæa, to minister [to them];
- 30 which also they did, sending it to the elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

ACTS 12 JND

- 1 At that time Herod the king laid his hands on some of those of the assembly to do them hurt,
- 2 and slew James, the brother of John, with the sword.
- 3 And seeing that it was pleasing to the Jews, he went on to take Peter also: (and they were the days of unleavened bread:)
- 4 whom having seized he put in prison, having delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to keep, purposing after the passover to bring him out to the people.

- 16 And I remembered the word of the Lord how He said, John baptised with water, but ye shall be baptised with [the] Holy Spirit.
- 17 If then God gave to them the same gift as also to us when we believed upon the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I that could forbid God?
- 18 And when they heard these things, they were still and glorified God, saying, Then indeed also to the Gentiles did God give repentance unto life.
- 19 They therefore that were scattered abroad through the tribulation that took place on the occasion of Stephen passed through as far as Phœnicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to none but Jews only.
- 20 But there were some of them men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who on coming unto Antioch spoke unto the Greeks also, preaching the Lord Jesus.
- 21 And [the] Lord's hand was with them and a great number believed and turned unto the Lord.
- 22 And the report concerning them came unto the ears of the assembly that was in Jerusalem; and they despatched Barnabas _^ as far as Antioch:
- 23 who on arriving and seeing the grace of God, rejoiced and exhorted all with purpose of heart to abide by the Lord.
- 24 For he was a good man and full of [the] Holy Spirit and faith; and a large crowd was added to the Lord.
- 25 And he went forth unto Tarsus to seek for Saul,
- 26 and on finding _^ brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass that even for a whole year they were gathered together in the assembly and taught a large crowd, and that the disciples were first called christians in Antioch.
- 27 Now in these days prophets came down from Jerusalem unto Antioch.
- 28 And there stood up one from among them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit that a great famine was about to be over all the habitable [earth]; which came to pass under Claudius._^
- 29 And according as any of the disciples had means, they determined each of them to send help [lit. for service] to the brethren that dwelt in Judæa
- 30 which also they did, despatching [it] unto the elders by [the] hand of Barnabas and Saul.

ACTS 12 WK

- 1 Now at that season Herod the king put forth his hands to injure some of those from the assembly.
- 2 And he slew James the brother of John with [the] sword.
- 3 And seeing that it was agreeable to the Jews, he went on to seize Peter also (but they were the days of unleavened bread)
- 4 whom, having taken, he also put in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to keep, purposing after the passover to bring him forth unto the people.

- 5 Peter therefore was kept in the prison; but unceasing prayer was made by the assembly to God concerning him.
 - 6 And when Herod was going to bring him forth, that night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and guards before the door kept the prison.
 - 7 And lo, an angel of [the] Lord came there, and a light shone in the prison: and having smitten the side of Peter, he roused him up, saying, Rise up quickly. And his chains fell off his hands.
 - 8 And the angel said to him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals. And he did so. And he says to him, Cast thine upper garment about thee and follow me.
 - 9 And going forth he followed [him] and did not know that what was happening by means of the angel was real, but supposed he saw a vision.
 - 10 And having passed through a first and second guard, they came to the iron gate which leads into the city, which opened to them of itself; and going forth they went down one street, and immediately the angel left him.
 - 11 And Peter, being come to himself, said, Now I know certainly that [the] Lord has sent forth his angel and has taken me out of the hand of Herod and all the expectation of the people of the Jews.
 - 12 And having become clearly conscious [in himself], he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John who was surnamed Mark, where were many gathered together and praying.
 - 13 And when he had knocked at the door of the entry, a maid came to listen, by name Rhoda;
 - 14 and having recognized the voice of Peter, through joy did not open the entry, but running in, reported that Peter was standing before the entry.
 - 15 And they said to her, Thou art mad. But she maintained that it was so. And they said, It is his angel.
 - 16 But Peter continued knocking: and having opened, they saw him and were astonished.
 - 17 And having made a sign to them with his hand to be silent, he related [to them] how the Lord had brought him out of the prison; and he said, Report these things to James and to the brethren. And he went out and went to another place.
 - 18 And when it was day there was no small disturbance among the soldiers, what then was become of Peter.
 - 19 And Herod having sought him and not found him, having examined the guards, commanded [them] to be executed. And he went down from Judæa to Cæsarea and stayed [there].
 - 20 And he was in bitter hostility with [the] Tyrians and Sidonians; but they came to him with one accord, and, having gained Blastus the king's chamberlain, sought peace, because their country was nourished by the king's.
- 5 Peter, then, was kept in the prison; but prayer was earnestly made by the assembly unto God concerning him.
 - 6 And when Herod was about to bring him forward, on that night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and guards before the door were keeping the prison.
 - 7 And, behold, an angel of [the] Lord stood by, and a light shone in the cell; and he struck the side of Peter, and awoke him, saying, Rise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.
 - 8 And the angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals; and he did so. And he saith to him, Throw thy cloak round thee and follow me.
 - 9 And going out he followed [^] and knew not that what was being done by the angel was true, but thought he was seeing a vision.
 - 10 And when they came through a first guard and a second, they came unto the iron gate that [^]leadeth unto the city, which of itself opened to them; and having gone out they went forth one street; and immediately the angel departed from him.
 - 11 And Peter, on coming to himself, said, Now I know truly that [the] Lord sent forth His angel and took me out of Herod's hand and all the expectation of the people of the Jews.
 - 12 And, being conscious, he came unto the house of Mary the mother of John that was surnamed Mark, where were many assembled and praying.
 - 13 And when he knocked at the door of the gateway, there came forward a maid to listen, by name Rhoda;
 - 14 recognising Peter's voice, she did not for joy open the gate, but ran in and reported that Peter was standing before the gateway.
 - 15 And they said unto her, Thou art mad. But she kept maintaining that it was so; and they said, It is his angel.
 - 16 But Peter continued knocking, and on opening they saw him and were amazed.
 - 17 And, beckoning to them with his hand to be silent, he related to them how the Lord brought him out of the prison; and he said, Report these things to James and to the brethren.
And he went out and proceeded unto another place.
 - 18 And when it was day there was no small disturbance among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.
 - 19 But Herod having sought him out without finding [him] examined the guards and commanded [them] to be led away [? to execution], and he went down from Judæa unto Cæsarea and stayed [there].
 - 20 And he was at bitter enmity with them of Tyre and Sidon; but with one consent they came to him, and having won over Blastus the chamberlain of the king, sought peace, because their country was nourished by the king's.

- 21 And on a set day, clothed in royal apparel and sitting on the elevated seat [of honor], Herod made a public oration to them.
- 22 And the people cried out, A god's voice and not a man's.
- 23 And immediately an angel of [the] Lord smote him, because he did not give the glory to God, and he expired, eaten of worms.
- 24 But the word of God grew and spread itself.
- 25 And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, having fulfilled the service [entrusted to them], taking also with them John, surnamed Mark.

ACTS 13 JND

- 1 Now there were in Antioch, in the assembly which was [there], prophets and teachers: Barnabas, and Simeon who was called Niger, and Lucius the Cyrenian, and Manaen, foster-brother of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.
- 2 And as they were ministering to the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, Separate me now Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.
- 3 Then, having fasted and prayed, and having laid [their] hands on them, they let [them] go.
- 4 They therefore, having been sent forth by the Holy Spirit, went down to Seleucia, and thence sailed away to Cyprus.
- 5 And being in Salamis, they announced the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews. And they had John also as [their] attendant.
- 6 And having passed through the whole island as far as Paphos, they found a certain man a magician, a false prophet, a Jew, whose name was Barjesus,
- 7 who was with the proconsul Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. He, having called Barnabas and Saul to [him], desired to hear the word of God.
- 8 But Elymas the magician (for so his name is by interpretation) opposed them, seeking to turn away the proconsul from the faith.
- 9 But Saul, who also [is] Paul, filled with [the] Holy Spirit, fixing his eyes upon him,
- 10 said, O full of all deceit and all craft: son of [the] devil, enemy of all righteousness; wilt thou not cease perverting the right paths of [the] Lord?
- 11 And now behold, [the] Lord's hand [is] upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season. And immediately there fell upon him a mist and darkness; and going about he sought persons who should lead him by the hand.
- 12 Then the proconsul, seeing what had happened, believed, being amazed at the teaching of the Lord.
- 13 And having sailed from Paphos, Paul and his company came to Perga of Pamphylia; and John separated from them and returned to Jerusalem.
- 14 But they, passing through from Perga, came to Antioch of Pisidia; and entering into the synagogue on the sabbath day they sat down.

- 21 And on a set day Herod, arrayed in royal apparel and seated on the throne, made an harangue unto them.
- 22 And the people shouted thereon, A god's voice and not a man's.
- 23 And immediately an angel of [the] Lord smote him, because he gave not the glory to God; and becoming worm-eaten he expired.
- 24 But the word of God grew and multiplied.
- 25 And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, having fulfilled the service, taking also with them John surnamed Mark.

ACTS 13 WK

- 1 Now there were at Antioch in the assembly that was [there] ^ prophets and teachers; ^ Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius the Cyrenean, and Manaen foster-brother of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.
- 2 And as they were ministering to the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, Separate Me ^ Barnabas and ^ Saul for the work to which I have called them.
- 3 Then when they had fasted and prayed and laid down their hands on them, they let them go.
- 4 They then being sent out by the Holy Spirit, went down unto Seleucia and thence sailed away unto Cyprus,
- 5 and when they were at Salamis, they announced the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews; and they had also John [as] attendant.
- 6 And having gone through the whole island unto Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a Jewish false prophet whose name [was] Bar-Jesus,
- 7 who was with the pro-consul Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. He, having called to [him] Barnabas and Saul, desired to hear the word of God.
- 8 But Elymas the sorcerer (for so is his name interpreted) opposed them, seeking to turn away the pro-consul from the faith.
- 9 But Saul who also [is] Paul filled with [the] Holy Spirit ^with fixed look at him
- 10 said, O full of all guile and all trickery, devil's son, enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease perverting the Lord's right ways?
- 11 And now behold [the] Lord's hand [is] upon thee; and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season. And immediately there fell upon him a mist and darkness, and he went about seeking persons to lead him by the hand.
- 12 Then the pro-consul seeing what was done believed, being astonished at the teaching of the Lord.
- 13 Now Paul and his company, having sailed from Paphos, came unto Perga of Pamphylia; and John departing from them returned unto Jerusalem.
- 14 But they passing through from Perga came unto Antioch of Pisidia, and having gone into the synagogue on the sabbath-day, sat down.

- 15 And after the reading of the law and the prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent to them, saying, Brethren, if ye have any word of exhortation to the people, speak.
- 16 And Paul, rising up and making a sign with the hand, said, Israelites, and ye that fear God, hearken.
- 17 The God of this people Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people in their sojourn in [the] land of Egypt, and with a high arm brought them out of it,
- 18 and for a time of about forty years he nursed them in the desert.
- 19 And having destroyed seven nations in the land of Canaan, he gave them their land as an inheritance.
- 20 And after these things he gave [them] judges till Samuel the prophet, [to the end of] about four hundred and fifty years.
- 21 And then they asked for a king, and God gave to them Saul, son of Kis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, during forty years.
- 22 And having removed him he raised up to them David for king, of whom also bearing witness he said, I have found David, the son of Jesse, a man after my heart, who shall do all my will.
- 23 Of this man's seed according to promise has God brought to Israel a Saviour Jesus;
- 24 John having proclaimed before the face of his entry [among the people] [the] baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.
- 25 And as John was fulfilling his course he said, Whom do ye suppose that I am? I am not [he]. But behold, there comes one after me, the sandal of whose feet I am not worthy to loose.
- 26 Brethren, sons of Abraham's race, and those who among you fear God, to you has the word of this salvation been sent:
- 27 for those who dwell in Jerusalem, and their rulers, not having known him, have fulfilled also the voices of the prophets which are read on every sabbath, [by] judging [him].
- 28 And having found no cause of death [in him], they begged of Pilate that he might be slain.
- 29 And when they had fulfilled all things written concerning him, they took him down from the cross and put him in a sepulchre;
- 30 but God raised him from among [the] dead,
- 31 who appeared for many days to those who had come up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are now his witnesses to the people.
- 32 And we declare unto you the glad tidings of the promise made to the fathers,
- 33 that God has fulfilled this to us their children, having raised up Jesus; as it is also written in the second psalm, Thou art my Son: this day have I begotten thee.

- 15 And after the reading of the law and the prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent unto them, saying, Brethren (lit. Men-brethren) if ye have any word of exhortation for the people speak.
- 16 And Paul stood up and beckoning with the hand said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, hear.
- 17 The God of this people chose out our fathers and exalted the people in their sojourn in [the] land of Egypt, and with a high arm brought them out of it;
- 18 and for a time of about forty years bore them nurse-like in the desert;
- 19 and when He had destroyed seven nations in [the] land of Canaan, He gave them their land for an inheritance in about four hundred and fifty years.
- 20 And after these things He gave judges until Samuel the prophet;
- 21 and then they asked for a king; and God gave them Saul, the son of Kish, a man of [the] tribe of Benjamin for forty years.
- 22 And having removed him, He raised up for them David as king, to whom also bearing witness, He said, I found David, son of Jesse, a man according to My heart, who shall do all My will.
- 23 From his seed, according to promise, did God bring to Israel a Saviour Jesus
- 24 when John had preached before [lit. before the face of] his entrance a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.
- 25 And as John was fulfilling his course, he said, What suppose ye that I am? I am not [He], but behold, there cometh One after me the sandal of whose feet I am not worthy to loose.
- 26 Brethren (Men-brethren) sons of Abraham's race, and those among you that fear God, to us was the word of this salvation sent forth.
- 27 For the dwellers in Jerusalem and their rulers, having ignored Him and the voices of the prophets that are read on every sabbath, fulfilled [them] by judging [Him].
- 28 And though they found no cause of death, they besought Pilate that He might be slain.
- 29 And when they fulfilled all things written about Him, they took [Him] down from the tree and put [Him] into a tomb;
- 30 but God raised Him from [the] dead,
- 31 and He appeared for many days to those that came up with Him from Galilee unto Jerusalem, the which are now His witnesses unto the people.
- 32 And we declare to you the good news of the promise made to the fathers,
- 33 that God hath fulfilled this to us their children having raised up Jesus; as also in the second psalm it is written, Thou art My Son: this day have I begotten Thee.

- 34 But that he raised him from among [the] dead, no more to return to corruption, he spoke thus: I will give to you the faithful mercies of David.
- 35 Wherefore also he says in another, Thou wilt not suffer thy gracious one to see corruption.
- 36 For David indeed, having in his own generation ministered to the will of God, fell asleep, and was added to his fathers and saw corruption.
- 37 But he whom God raised up did not see corruption.
- 38 Be it known unto you, therefore, brethren, that through this man remission of sins is preached to you,
- 39 and from all things from which ye could not be justified in the law of Moses, in him every one that believes is justified.
- 40 See therefore that that which is spoken in the prophets do not come upon [you],
- 41 Behold, ye despisers, and wonder and perish; for I work a work in your days, a work which ye will in no wise believe if one declare it to you.
- 42 And as they went out they begged that these words might be spoken to them the ensuing sabbath.
- 43 And the congregation of the synagogue having broken up, many of the Jews and of the worshipping proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who speaking to them persuaded them to continue in the grace of God.
- 44 And on the coming sabbath almost all the city was gathered together to hear the word of God.
- 45 But the Jews, seeing the crowds, were filled with envy, and contradicted the things said by Paul, [contradicting and] speaking injuriously.
- 46 And Paul and Barnabas spoke boldly and said, It was necessary that the word of God should be first spoken to you; but, since ye thrust it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, lo, we turn to the nations;
- 47 for thus has the Lord enjoined us: I have set thee for a light of the nations, that thou shouldest be for salvation to the end of the earth.
- 48 And [those of] the nations, hearing it, rejoiced, and glorified the word of the Lord, and believed, as many as were ordained to eternal life.
- 49 And the word of the Lord was carried through the whole country.
- 50 But the Jews excited the women of the upper classes who were worshippers, and the first people of the city, and raised a persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and cast them out of their coasts.
- 51 But they, having shaken off the dust of their feet against them, came to Iconium.
- 52 And the disciples were filled with joy and [the] Holy Spirit.

ACTS 14 JND

- 1 And it came to pass in Iconium that they entered together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake that a great multitude of both Jews and Greeks believed.

- 34 But that He raised Him from [the] dead, [^] no more to return unto corruption, He hath spoken thus, I will give you the [^] faithful mercies of David;
- 35 wherefore also in another [psalm] He saith, Thou wilt not suffer Thy holy [merciful] One to see corruption.
- 36 For David, having in his own generation served the counsel of God fell asleep, and was added to his fathers, and saw corruption.
- 37 But He whom God raised up saw no corruption.
- 38 Be it known to you therefore [men-] brethren, that through this [Man] remission of sins is preached to you;
- 39 and from all things from which ye could not in [^] Moses' law be justified, in Him every one that believeth is justified.
- 40 See therefore that what is spoken of in the prophets come not on you.
- 41 Behold, ye despisers, and wonder and perish; for I work a work in your days, a work which ye will in no wise believe if one declare it to you.
- 42 And as they were going out, they [^] kept beseeching that these words might be spoken to them on the following sabbath.
- 43 Now when the synagogue broke up, many of the Jews and of the worshipping proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas who speaking unto them persuaded them to continue in the grace of God.
- 44 And on the next sabbath almost all the city was gathered together to hear the word of God.
- 45 But when the Jews saw the crowds, they were filled with jealousy, and contradicted the things spoken by Paul, contradicting and blaspheming.
- 46 And Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly and said, For you it was necessary that the word of God should be first spoken; but since ye thrust it from you and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, lo, we turn unto the Gentiles.
- 47 For thus hath the Lord enjoined us, I have set thee for a light of Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the uttermost parts of the earth.
- 48 And the Gentiles on hearing rejoiced, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained unto life eternal believed.
- 49 And the word of the Lord was carried abroad through the whole country.
- 50 But the Jews excited the women of rank that worshipped, and the chiefs of the city, and stirred up a persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and sent them out of their borders.
- 51 But they shook off the dust of their feet against them, and came to Iconium.
- 52 And the disciples were filled with joy and [the] Holy Spirit.

ACTS 14 WK

- 1 And it came to pass in Iconium that they entered together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake that a great multitude of both Jews and Greeks believed.

2 But the Jews who did not believe stirred up the minds of [those of] the nations and made [them] evil-affected against the brethren.

3 They stayed therefore a good while, speaking boldly, [confiding] in the Lord, who gave witness to the word of his grace, giving signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 And the multitude of the city was divided, and some were with the Jews and some with the apostles.

5 And when an assault was making, both of [those of] the nations and [the] Jews with their rulers, to use [them] ill and stone them,

6 they, being aware of it, fled to the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra and Derbe, and the surrounding country,

7 and there they were announcing the glad tidings.

8 And a certain man in Lystra, impotent in his feet, sat, [being] lame from his mother's womb, who had never walked.

9 This [man] heard Paul speaking, who, fixing his eyes on him and seeing that he had faith to be healed,

10 said with a loud voice, Rise up straight upon thy feet: and he sprang up and walked.

11 But the crowds, who saw what Paul had done, lifted up their voices in Lycaonian, saying, The gods, having made themselves like men, are come down to us.

12 And they called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercury, because he took the lead in speaking.

13 And the priest of Jupiter who was before the city, having brought bulls and garlands to the gates, would have done sacrifice along with the crowds.

14 But the apostles Barnabas and Paul, having heard [it], rent their garments, and rushed out to the crowd, crying

15 and saying, Men, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, preaching to you to turn from these vanities to the living God, who made the heaven, and the earth, and the sea, and all things in them;

16 who in the past generations suffered all the nations to go in their own ways,

17 though indeed he did not leave himself without witness, doing good, and giving to you from heaven rain and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness.

18 And saying these things, they with difficulty kept the crowds from sacrificing to them.

19 But there came Jews from Antioch and Iconium, and having persuaded the crowds and stoned Paul, drew him out of the city, supposing him to have died.

20 But while the disciples encircled him, he rose up and entered into the city. And on the morrow he went away with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And having announced the glad tidings to that city, and having made many disciples, they returned to Lystra, and Iconium, and Antioch,

2 But the Jews that disobeyed stirred up the souls of the Gentiles and aggravated [them] against the brethren. ^Λ

3 A considerable time therefore they stayed speaking boldly in reliance on the Lord that gave witness to the word of His grace, granting signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was divided; and part held with the Jews, and part with the apostles.

5 And when an effort was made of both the Gentiles and Jews with their rulers to outrage and stone them,

6 becoming aware [of it] they fled unto the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra, and Derbe, and the [country] round about,

7 and there they were preaching the gospel.

8 And there sat a certain man at Lystra powerless in his feet, ^Λ lame from his mother's womb, who never had walked.

9 This [man] heard Paul speaking, who fastening his eyes upon him and seeing that he had faith to be made whole,

10 said with a loud voice, ^Λ Rise upright on thy feet: and he leaped up and walked.

11 And the crowds seeing what Paul did, lifted up their voices in Lycaonian, saying, The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men.

12 And they called Barnabas Zeus, and Paul Hermes, because he took the lead in speaking.

13 And the priest of the Zeus that was before the city, having brought bulls and garlands unto the gates would have sacrificed with the crowds.

14 But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul heard [of it], they rent their garments, and sprang out unto the crowd, crying out,

15 and saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like affections with you, preaching [or, evangelising] to you that ye should turn from these vain things unto a living God, Who made the heaven and the earth, and the sea and all things in them;

16 Who in the bygone generations suffered all the Gentiles to walk in their own ways.

17 And yet He left not Himself without witness, in that He did good, and gave you from heaven rains and fruitful seasons, filling your hearts with food and gladness.

18 And saying these things they with difficulty restrained the crowds from sacrificing to them.

19 But there arrived Jews from Antioch and Iconium and having persuaded the crowds and stoned Paul, they dragged [him] without the city, supposing that he was dead.

20 But as the disciples encircled him he rose up and entered into the city. And on the morrow he went forth with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And, after preaching the gospel to that city and making many disciples, they returned unto Lystra and unto Iconium, and unto Antioch,

- 22 establishing the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to abide in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God.
- 23 And having chosen them elders in each assembly, having prayed with fastings, they committed them to the Lord, on whom they had believed.
- 24 And having passed through Pisidia they came to Pamphylia,
- 25 and having spoken the word in Perga, they came down to Attalia;
- 26 and thence they sailed away to Antioch, whence they had been committed to the grace of God for the work which they had fulfilled.
- 27 And having arrived, and having brought together the assembly, they related to them all that God had done with them, and that he had opened a door of faith to the nations.
- 28 And they stayed no little time with the disciples.

ACTS 15 JND

- 1 And certain persons, having come down from Judæa, taught the brethren, If ye shall not have been circumcised according to the custom of Moses, ye cannot be saved.
- 2 A commotion therefore having taken place, and no small discussion on the part of Paul and Barnabas against them, they arranged that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others from amongst them, should go up to Jerusalem to the apostles and elders about this question.
- 3 They therefore, having been set on their way by the assembly, passed through Phœnicia and Samaria, relating the conversion of [those of] the nations. And they caused great joy to all the brethren.
- 4 And being arrived at Jerusalem, they were received by the assembly, and the apostles, and the elders, and related all that God had wrought with them.
- 5 And some of those who were of the sect of the Pharisees, who believed, rose up from among [them], saying that they ought to circumcise them and enjoin them to keep the law of Moses.
- 6 And the apostles and the elders were gathered together to see about this matter.
- 7 And much discussion having taken place, Peter, standing up, said to them, Brethren, ye know that from the earliest days God amongst you chose that the nations by my mouth should hear the word of the glad tidings and believe.
- 8 And the heart-knowing God bore them witness, giving [them] the Holy Spirit as to us also,
- 9 and put no difference between us and them, having purified their hearts by faith.
- 10 Now therefore why tempt ye God, by putting a yoke upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we have been able to bear?
- 11 But we believe that we shall be saved by the grace of the Lord Jesus, in the same manner as they also.

- 22 establishing the souls of the disciples, exhorting [them] to continue in the faith, and that through many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God.
- 23 And when they chose [or, appointed] for them elders in each assembly and prayed with fastings, they commended them to the Lord on Whom they had believed.
- 24 And having passed through Pisidia they came unto Pamphylia;
- 25 and having spoken the word [of the Lord] in Perga, they went down unto Attalia;
- 26 and thence they sailed unto Antioch, whence they had been commended to the grace of God, for the work which they fulfilled.
- 27 And when they arrived and brought the assembly together, they repeated all things God had wrought with them, and how He had opened to the Gentiles a door of faith.
- 28 And they tarried [^] no little time with the disciples.

ACTS 15 WK

- 1 And certain men came down from Judæa and taught the brethren, Except ye be circumcised after the custom of Moses ye cannot be saved.
- 2 And when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and questioning with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas and some others of them should go up unto Jerusalem unto the apostles and elders about this question.
- 3 They therefore having been set forward by the assembly, passed through both Phœnicia and Samaria, recounting the conversion of the Gentiles, and they caused great joy to all the brethren.
- 4 And on arriving at Jerusalem they were welcomed by the assembly, and the apostles, and the elders, and reported all things that God did with them.
- 5 But there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees, believers, saying, It is necessary to circumcise them and charge [them] to keep the law of Moses.
- 6 And the apostles and the elders were gathered together to see about this matter.
- 7 And when there had been much questioning, Peter stood up and said to them, Brethren, ye know how that from early days God chose among you that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel and believe.
- 8 And the heart-knowing God bore them witness giving [them] the Holy Spirit, even as to us also:
- 9 and He put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith.
- 10 Now therefore why tempt ye God, that ye should put a yoke on the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?
- 11 But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus [^] we shall be saved in like manner as they.

- 12 And all the multitude kept silence and listened to Barnabas and Paul relating all the signs and wonders which God had wrought among the nations by them.
 - 13 And after they had held their peace, James answered, saying, Brethren, listen to me:
 - 14 Simon has related how God first visited to take out of [the] nations a people for his name.
 - 15 And with this agree the words of the prophets; as it is written:
 - 16 After these things I will return, and will rebuild the tabernacle of David which is fallen, and will rebuild its ruins, and will set it up,
 - 17 so that the residue of men may seek out the Lord, and all the nations on whom my name is invoked, saith [the] Lord
 - 18 who does these things known from eternity.
 - 19 Wherefore I judge, not to trouble those who from the nations turn to God;
 - 20 but to write to them to abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from what is strangled, and from blood.
 - 21 For Moses, from generations of old, has in every city those who preach him, being read in the synagogues every sabbath.
 - 22 Then it seemed good to the apostles and to the elders, with the whole assembly, to send chosen men from among them with Paul and Barnabas to Antioch, Judas called Barsabas and Silas, leading men among the brethren,
 - 23 having by their hand written [thus]: The apostles, and the elder[s, and the] brethren, to the brethren who are from among [the] nations at Antioch, and [in] Syria and Cilicia, greeting:
 - 24 Inasmuch as we have heard that some who went out from amongst us have troubled you by words, upsetting your souls, [saying that ye must be circumcised and keep the law]; to whom we gave no commandment;
 - 25 it seemed good to us, having arrived at a common judgment, to send chosen men to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,
 - 26 men who have given up their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - 27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who themselves also will tell you by word [of mouth] the same things.
 - 28 For it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay upon you no greater burden than these necessary things:
 - 29 to abstain from things sacrificed to idols, and from blood, and from what is strangled, and from fornication; keeping yourselves from which ye will do well. Farewell.
 - 30 They therefore, being let go, came to Antioch, and having gathered the multitude delivered to [them] the epistle.
 - 31 And having read it, they rejoiced at the consolation.
 - 32 And Judas and Silas, being themselves also prophets, exhorted the brethren with much discourse, and strengthened them.
- 12 And all the multitude kept silence, and they hearkened unto Barnabas and Paul rehearsing what signs and wonders God wrought among the Gentiles by them.
 - 13 And after they had held their peace, James answered, saying, Brethren, hearken to me.
 - 14 Simeon has rehearsed how God first visited [the] Gentiles to take out of [them] a people for His name.
 - 15 And to this agree the words of the prophets, as it is written.
 - 16 After these things I will return and build again the tabernacle of David which is fallen, and will build again its ruins and will set it up,
 - 17 so that the residue of men may seek out the Lord, and all the nations upon whom My name is called saith [the] Lord, Who maketh [all] these things
 - 18 known from the beginning of the world.
 - 19 Wherefore my judgment is that we trouble not those who from the Gentiles turn to God,
 - 20 but write to them that they may abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornication, and from what is strangled, and from blood.
 - 21 For Moses from generations of old hath in every city those who preach him, being read in the synagogues every sabbath.
 - 22 Then it seemed good to the apostles and elders, with the whole assembly, having chosen from among them to send men with Paul and Barnabas to Antioch. Judas called Barsabbas, and Silas, leading men among the brethren,
 - 23 having written by their hand, The apostles and the elder brethren to the brethren which are of [the] Gentiles in Antioch, and Syria, and Cilicia, greeting.
 - 24 Whereas we heard that some who went out from us troubled you with words, upsetting your souls, [^] to whom we gave no commandment,
 - 25 it seemed good to us, having been of one accord, to choose and send men unto you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,
 - 26 men that have given up their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - 27 We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, themselves also announcing by word the same things.
 - 28 For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay on you no greater burden than these necessary things:
 - 29 to abstain from things sacrificed to idols, and blood, and things strangled, and fornication, from which if ye keep yourselves ye shall do well. Farewell.
 - 30 They then having been let go, went down unto Antioch, and having gathered the multitude delivered the letter.
 - 31 And when they had read [it] they rejoiced at the consolation.
 - 32 And Judas and Silas, being themselves also prophets, exhorted the brethren with much discourse, and strengthened [them].

- 33 And having passed some time [there], they were let go in peace from the brethren to those who sent them.
- 35 And Paul and Barnabas stayed in Antioch, teaching and announcing the glad tidings, with many others also, of the word of the Lord.
- 36 But after certain days Paul said to Barnabas, Let us return now and visit the brethren in every city where we have announced the word of the Lord, [and see] how they are getting on.
- 37 And Barnabas proposed to take with [them] John also, called Mark;
- 38 but Paul thought it not well to take with them him who had abandoned them, [going back] from Pamphylia, and had not gone with them to the work.
- 39 There arose therefore very warm feeling, so that they separated from one another; and Barnabas taking Mark sailed away to Cyprus;
- 40 but Paul having chosen Silas went forth, committed by the brethren to the grace of God.
- 41 And he passed through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the assemblies.

ACTS 16 JND

- 1 And he came to Derbe and Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, by name Timotheus, son of a Jewish believing woman, but [the] father a Greek,
- 2 who had a [good] testimony of the brethren in Lystra and Iconium.
- 3 Him would Paul have go forth with him, and took [him and] circumcised him on account of the Jews who were in those places, for they all knew his father that he was a Greek.
- 4 And as they passed through the cities they instructed them to observe the decrees determined on by the apostles and elders who were in Jerusalem.
- 5 The assemblies therefore were confirmed in the faith, and increased in number every day.
- 6 And having passed through Phrygia and the Galatian country, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia,
- 7 having come down to Mysia, they attempted to go to Bithynia, and the Spirit of Jesus did not allow them;
- 8 and having passed by Mysia they descended to Troas.
- 9 And a vision appeared to Paul in the night: There was a certain Macedonian man, standing and beseeching him, and saying, Pass over into Macedonia and help us.
- 10 And when he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go forth to Macedonia, concluding that the Lord had called us to announce to them the glad tidings.
- 11 Having sailed therefore away from Troas, we went in a straight course to Samothracia, and on the morrow to Neapolis,

- 33 And having continued a time, they were let go in peace from the brethren unto those that sent them.
- 34
- 35 But Paul and Barnabas stayed in Antioch teaching and evangelising, with many others also, the word of the Lord.
- 36 But after certain days Paul said to Barnabas, Let us return now and see after the brethren in every city wherein we announced the word of the Lord, how they fare.
- 37 And Barnabas was minded to take with [them] John also that was called Mark.
- 38 But Paul thought good not to take with [them] him that withdrew from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them unto the work.
- 39 And there arose a sharp feeling, so that they parted one from another: and Barnabas taking Mark sailed away unto Cyprus:
- 40 but Paul chose Silas and departed, commended by the brethren to the grace of the Lord.
- 41 And he passed through Syria and Cilicia confirming the assemblies.

ACTS 16 WK

- 1 And he came unto Derbe and unto Lystra; and, behold, a certain disciple was there, by name Timothy, son of a Jewish believing woman, but of a Greek father;
- 2 who was borne witness to by the brethren in Lystra and Iconium.
- 3 Him Paul would have to go with him; and he took and circumcised him because of the Jews that were in those places, for they all knew that his father was a Greek.
- 4 And as they passed through the cities they delivered them the decrees to observe, which had been ordained by the apostles and elders who were in Jerusalem.
- 5 The assemblies then were being strengthened in the faith, and increased in number daily.
- 6 And they went through the Phrygian and Galatian country, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit, to speak the word in Asia,
- 7 and having come over against Mysia, they attempted to proceed into Bithynia, and the Spirit of Jesus permitted them not;
- 8 and passing by Mysia they came down to Troas.
- 9 And a vision appeared to Paul by night. There was a certain man of Macedon standing and beseeching him and saying, Come over into Macedonia and help us.
- 10 And when he had seen the vision, immediately we sought to go into [^] Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel to them.
- 11 Having therefore sailed away from Troas we took a straight course unto Samothrace, and on the morrow unto Neapolis,

- 12 and thence to Philippi, which is [the] first city of that part of Macedonia, a colony. And we were staying in that city certain days.
 - 13 And on the sabbath day we went outside the gate by the river, where it was the custom for prayer to be, and we sat down and spoke to the women who had assembled.
 - 14 And a certain woman, by name Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, who worshipped God, heard; whose heart the Lord opened to attend to the things spoken by Paul.
 - 15 And when she had been baptised and her house, she besought [us], saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house and abide [there]. And she constrained us.
 - 16 And it came to pass as we were going to prayer that a certain female slave, having a spirit of Python, met us, who brought much profit to her masters by prophesying.
 - 17 She, having followed Paul and us, cried saying, These men are bondmen of the Most High God, who announce to you [the] way of salvation.
 - 18 And this she did many days. And Paul, being distressed, turned, and said to the spirit, I enjoin thee in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And it came out the same hour.
 - 19 And her masters, seeing that the hope of their gains was gone, having seized Paul and Silas, dragged [them] into the market before the magistrates;
 - 20 and having brought them up to the pretors, said, These men utterly trouble our city, being Jews,
 - 21 and announce customs which it is not lawful for us to receive nor practise, being Romans.
 - 22 And the crowd rose up too against them; and the pretors, having torn off their clothes, commanded to scourge [them].
 - 23 And having laid many stripes upon them they cast [them] into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely;
 - 24 who, having received such a charge, cast them into the inner prison, and secured their feet to the stocks.
 - 25 And at midnight Paul and Silas, in praying, were praising God with singing, and the prisoners listened to them.
 - 26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison shook, and all the doors were immediately opened, and the bonds of all loosed.
 - 27 And the jailor being awakened out of his sleep, and seeing the doors of the prison opened, having drawn a sword was going to kill himself, thinking the prisoners had fled.
 - 28 But Paul called out with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself no harm, for we are all here.
 - 29 And having asked for lights, he rushed in, and, trembling, fell down before Paul and Silas.
 - 30 And leading them out said, Sirs, what must I do that I may be saved?
- 12 and thence unto Philippi, which is a city of Macedonia, first of the district, a colony. And we were in this city staying certain days.
 - 13 And on the sabbath day we went forth outside the gate by a river where prayer [or, place of prayer] was wont to be: and we sat down and spoke to the women that had come together.
 - 14 And a certain woman, named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, that worshipped God heard, whose heart the Lord opened to heed the things spoken by Paul.
 - 15 And when she was baptised and her house, she besought, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord come into my house and abide. And she constrained us.
 - 16 And it came to pass as we were going unto prayer, [or, the place of prayer] that a certain maid having a spirit of Python met us, who brought her masters much gain by divinations.
 - 17 She, having followed Paul and us, cried, saying, These men are bondmen of the most high God, who announce to you [or, us] salvation's way.
 - 18 And this she did for many days. But Paul being distressed, turned and said to the spirit, I charge thee in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And it came out the same hour.
 - 19 And when her masters saw that the hope of their gain was gone, they laid hold on, and dragged Paul and Silas into the market-place before the rulers;
 - 20 and when they had brought them unto the prætors, they said, These men being Jews, exceedingly trouble our city,
 - 21 and set forth customs which it is not lawful for us to receive, or practice, being Romans.
 - 22 And the crowd rose up together against them; and the prætors rent their garments off them, and commanded to beat them with rods.
 - 23 And having laid many stripes on them, they cast [them] into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely;
 - 24 who having received such a charge, cast them into the inner prison, and secured their feet into the stocks.
 - 25 But about midnight, Paul and Silas in praying were singing praises to God, and the prisoners were listening to them;
 - 26 and suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened, and the bands of all were loosed.
 - 27 And the jailor being roused out of sleep, and seeing the prison doors open drew his sword and was about to kill himself, supposing that the prisoners had escaped.
 - 28 But Paul cried with loud voice saying, Do thyself no harm, for we are all here.
 - 29 And he called for lights, and sprang in, and trembling for fear, fell down before Paul and Silas,
 - 30 and led them forth, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?

- 31 And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus and thou shalt be saved, thou and thy house.
- 32 And they spoke to him the word of the Lord, with all that were in his house.
- 33 And he took them the same hour of the night and washed [them] from their stripes; and was baptised, he and all his straightway.
- 34 And having brought them into his house he laid the table [for them], and rejoiced with all his house, having believed in God.
- 35 And when it was day, the pretors sent the lictors, saying, Let those men go.
- 36 And the jailor reported these words to Paul: The pretors have sent that ye may be let go. Now therefore go out and depart in peace.
- 37 But Paul said to them, Having beaten us publicly uncondemned, us who are Romans, they have cast us into prison, and now they thrust us out secretly? no, indeed, but let them come themselves and bring us out.
- 38 And the lictors reported these words to the pretors. And they were afraid when they heard they were Romans.
- 39 And they came and besought them, and having brought them out, asked them to go out of the city.
- 40 And having gone out of the prison, they came to Lydia; and having seen the brethren, they exhorted them and went away.

ACTS 17 JND

- 1 And having journeyed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was the synagogue of the Jews.
- 2 And according to Paul's custom he went in among them, and on three sabbaths reasoned with them from the scriptures,
- 3 opening and laying down that the Christ must have suffered and risen up from among the dead, and that this is the Christ, Jesus whom I announce to you.
- 4 And some of them believed, and joined themselves to Paul and Silas, and of the Greeks who worshipped, a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.
- 5 But the Jews having been stirred up to jealousy, and taken to [themselves] certain wicked men of the lowest rabble, and having got a crowd together, set the city in confusion; and having beset the house of Jason sought to bring them out to the people;
- 6 and not having found them, dragged Jason and certain brethren before the politarchs, crying out, These [men] that have set the world in tumult, are come here also,
- 7 whom Jason has received; and these all do contrary to the decrees of Cæsar, saying, that there is another king, Jesus.
- 8 And they troubled the crowd and the politarchs when they heard these things.
- 9 And having taken security for Jason and the rest, they let them go.

- 31 and they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus, [^] and thou shalt be saved and thy house.
- 32 And they spoke to him the word of the Lord [or, God] with all that were in his house.
- 33 And he took them at that hour of the night and washed [them] from their stripes, and was baptised, he and all his immediately.
- 34 And having brought them into his house, he set meat [a table] before them, and rejoiced with all his house, having believed in God.
- 35 And when it was day the prætors sent the lictors saying, Let those men go.
- 36 And the jailor reported the saying to Paul, The prætors have sent that ye be let go: now then go out and proceed in peace.
- 37 But Paul said unto them, They beat us openly uncondemned, men being Romans, and cast us into prison; and now do they cast us out privily? No, indeed, but let themselves come and bring us out.
- 38 And the lictors announced these words to the prætors; and they were afraid when they heard they were Romans.
- 39 And on coming they besought them, and bringing out entreated [them] to go out of the city.
- 40 And when they went out of the prison, they entered into [the house of] Lydia; and when they saw the brethren, they exhorted them and departed.

ACTS 17 WK

- 1 Now when they had journeyed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was the synagogue of the Jews.
- 2 And Paul, as his custom was, went in among them, and on three sabbaths reasoned with them from the scriptures;
- 3 opening and alleging that the Christ must suffer, and rise again from [the] dead, and that this Jesus whom I announce to you is the Christ.
- 4 And some of them were persuaded and added to Paul and Silas; and of the devout Greeks a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.
- 5 But the Jews, having been stirred up to jealousy, took unto them certain wicked men of the rabble, [lit. market-loungers] and gathering a crowd, set the city in confusion, and besetting the house of Jason, sought to bring them out to the people.
- 6 And not having found them they dragged Jason and certain brethren before the city-rulers, [or politarchs] crying out, these that have turned the world upside down are come hither also,
- 7 whom Jason has received; and these all do contrary to the decrees of Cæsar, saying that there is another king, Jesus.
- 8 And they troubled the crowd and the city-rulers, when they heard these things.
- 9 And having taken security for Jason and the rest, they let them go.

- 10 But the brethren immediately sent away, in the night, Paul and Silas to Berœa; who, being arrived, went away into the synagogue of the Jews.
 - 11 And these were more noble than those in Thessalonica, receiving the word with all readiness of mind, daily searching the scriptures if these things were so.
 - 12 Therefore many from among them believed, and of Grecian women of the upper classes and men not a few.
 - 13 But when the Jews from Thessalonica knew that the word of God was announced in Berœa also by Paul, they came there also, stirring up the crowds.
 - 14 And then immediately the brethren sent away Paul to go as to the sea; but Silas and Timotheus abode there.
 - 15 But they that conducted Paul brought him as far as Athens; and, having received a commandment to Silas and Timotheus, that they should come to him as quick as possible, they departed.
 - 16 But in Athens, while Paul was waiting for them, his spirit was painfully excited in him seeing the city given up to idolatry.
 - 17 He reasoned therefore in the synagogue with the Jews, and those who worshipped, and in the market-place every day with those he met with.
 - 18 But some also of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers attacked him. And some said, What would this chatterer say? and some, He seems to be an announcer of foreign demons, because he announced the glad tidings of Jesus and the resurrection [to them].
 - 19 And having taken hold on him they brought [him] to Areopagus, saying, Might we know what this new doctrine which is spoken by thee [is]?
 - 20 For thou bringest certain strange things to our ears. We wish therefore to know what these things may mean.
 - 21 Now all [the] Athenians and the strangers sojourning there spent their time in nothing else than to tell and to hear the news.
 - 22 And Paul standing in the midst of Areopagus said, Athenians, in every way I see you given up to demon worship;
 - 23 for, passing through and beholding your shrines, I found also an altar on which was inscribed, To the unknown God. Whom therefore ye reverence, not knowing [him], him I announce to you.
 - 24 The God who has made the world and all things which are in it, he, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in temples made with hands,
 - 25 nor is served by men's hands as needing something, himself giving to all life and breath and all things;
 - 26 and has made of one blood every nation of men to dwell upon the whole face of the earth, having determined ordained times and the boundaries of their dwelling,
- 10 But the brethren immediately sent away by night Paul and Silas unto Berœa, who on their arrival went away into the synagogue of the Jews.
 - 11 Now these were more noble than those in Thessalonica, being such as received the word with all readiness of mind, day by day examining the scriptures whether these things were so.
 - 12 Many out of them therefore believed, and of the Greek women of good position and of men, not a few.
 - 13 But when the Jews from Thessalonica knew that the word of God was announced by Paul in Berœa also, they came thither also, stirring up and troubling the crowds.
 - 14 And then immediately the brethren sent away Paul to proceed toward the sea, but Silas and Timotheus abode there.
 - 15 But they that were conducting Paul brought [him] as far as Athens; and having received a charge for Silas and Timothy that they should come as quickly as possible unto him they departed.
 - 16 Now while Paul was waiting for them at Athens, his spirit was provoked in him as he observed the city to be full of idols.
 - 17 He reasoned therefore in the synagogue with the Jews and the devout, and in the market place every day with those that turned up.
 - 18 And certain also of the Epicureans and [^]Stoic philosophers attacked him. And some said, What would this babblers say? and others, He seemeth to be an announcer of strange divinities, because he was [^]preaching Jesus and the resurrection.
 - 19 And having taken hold of him, they brought [him] up to the Areopagus, saying, May we know what this new teaching [is] that is spoken by thee?
 - 20 For thou bringest certain strange things unto our ears; we wish to know therefore what these things mean.
 - 21 Now all Athenians and the strangers sojourning there spent their time in nothing else than either to tell something, or to hear something newer [i.e. than the last].
 - 22 And Paul stood in the midst of the Areopagus and said, Men of Athens, in all things I observe that ye are very [i.e. more than others] reverent to divinities [or, demons],
 - 23 for passing through and closely observing the objects of your worship, I found also an altar on which was the inscription: To an unknown God. What [or, Whom] therefore, ye, without knowing, worship, this I announce to you.
 - 24 The God that made the world and all things therein, He being Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands.
 - 25 Nor is He served by human hands as needing something more, Himself giving to all life, and breath, and all things.
 - 26 And He made of one [blood] every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, having determined appointed seasons, and the bounds of their habitation,

- 27 that they may seek God; if indeed they might feel after him and find him, although he is not far from each one of us:
 28 for in him we live and move and exist; as also some of the poets amongst you have said, For we are also his offspring.
 29 Being therefore [the] offspring of God, we ought not to think that which is divine to be like gold or silver or stone, [the] graven form of man's art and imagination.
 30 God therefore, having overlooked the times of ignorance, now enjoins men that they shall all everywhere repent,
 31 because he has set a day in which he is going to judge the habitable earth in righteousness by [the] man whom he has appointed, giving the proof [of it] to all [in] having raised him from among [the] dead.
 32 And when they heard [of the] resurrection of the dead, some mocked, and some said, We will hear thee again also concerning this.
 33 Thus Paul went out of their midst.
 34 But some men joining themselves to him believed; among whom also was Dionysius the Areopagite, and a woman by name Damaris, and others with them.

ACTS 18 JND

- 1 And after these things, having left Athens, he came to Corinth;
 2 and finding a certain Jew by name Aquila, of Pontus by race, just come from Italy, and Priscilla his wife, (because Claudius had ordered all the Jews to leave Rome,) came to them,
 3 and because they were of the same trade abode with them, and wrought. For they were tent-makers by trade.
 4 and he reasoned in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded Jews and Greeks.
 5 And when both Silas and Timotheus came down from Macedonia, Paul was pressed in respect of the word, testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.
 6 But as they opposed and spoke injuriously, he shook his clothes, and said to them, Your blood be upon your own head: I [am] pure; from henceforth I will go to the nations.
 7 And departing thence he came to the house of a certain [man], by name Justus, who worshipped God, whose house adjoined the synagogue.
 8 But Crispus the ruler of the synagogue believed in the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing, believed, and were baptised.
 9 And the Lord said by vision in [the] night to Paul, Fear not, but speak and be not silent;
 10 because I am with thee, and no one shall set upon thee to injure thee; because I have much people in this city.
 11 And he remained [there] a year and six months, teaching among them the word of God.

- 27 that they should seek God if haply they might feel after and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us.
 28 For in Him we live and move and are; as also some of your own poets have said, For His off-spring also are we.
 29 Being therefore God's off-spring, we ought not to think that the divinity is like gold, or silver or stone, graven by art and device of man.
 30 God therefore, having overlooked the times of ignorance, now commandeth [^] men that they should all everywhere repent,
 31 inasmuch as He has appointed a day, in which He is about to judge the world [inhabited earth] in righteousness by a Man Whom He marked out, having given assurance to all in that He raised Him from [the] dead.
 32 Now when they heard of resurrection of dead [men] some mocked, but others said, We will hear thee concerning this yet again.
 33 Thus Paul went out from their midst.
 34 But some clave to him and believed; among whom also was Dionysius the Areopagite and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

ACTS 18 WK

- 1 After these things he departed from Athens and came unto Corinth.
 2 And he found a certain Jew named Aquila, of Pontus by race, lately come from Italy with his wife Priscilla, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome. And he came unto them:
 3 and because he was one of the same trade, he abode with them, and [? they] wrought, for by their trade they were tent-makers.
 4 And he was discoursing in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuading Jews and Greeks.
 5 And when both Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia, Paul was engrossed with [or, constrained by] the word testifying to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ.
 6 But as they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook out his clothes, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own head; I [am] pure; from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles,
 7 and departing thence he went into a certain man's house by name Titus Justus, a worshipper of God, whose house adjoined to the synagogue.
 8 And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed the Lord with all his house; and many of the Corinthians hearing, believed, and were baptised.
 9 And the Lord said by night through a vision to Paul, Fear not, but speak, and be not silent,
 10 because I am with thee and no one shall set on thee to harm thee; because I have much people in this city.
 11 And he settled down a year and six months, teaching among them the word of God.

- 12 But when Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews with one consent rose against Paul and led him to the judgment-seat,
- 13 saying, This [man] persuades men to worship God contrary to the law.
- 14 But as Paul was going to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, If indeed it was some wrong or wicked criminality, O Jews, of reason I should have borne with you;
- 15 but if it be questions about words, and names, and the law that ye have, see to it yourselves; [for] I do not intend to be judge of these things.
- 16 And he drove them from the judgment-seat.
- 17 And having all laid hold on Sosthenes the ruler of the synagogue, they beat him before the judgment-seat. And Gallio troubled himself about none of these things.
- 18 And Paul, having yet stayed [there] many days, took leave of the brethren and sailed thence to Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila, having shorn his head in Cenchrea, for he had a vow;
- 19 and he arrived at Ephesus, and left them there. But entering himself into the synagogue he reasoned with the Jews.
- 20 And when they asked him that he would remain for a longer time [with them] he did not accede,
- 21 but bade them farewell, saying, [I must by all means keep the coming feast at Jerusalem]; I will return to you again, if God will: and he sailed away from Ephesus.
- 22 And landing at Cæsarea, and having gone up and saluted the assembly, he went down to Antioch.
- 23 And having stayed [there] some time, he went forth, passing in order through the country of Galatia and Phrygia, establishing all the disciples.
- 24 But a certain Jew, Apollos by name, an Alexandrian by race, an eloquent man, who was mighty in the scriptures, arrived at Ephesus.
- 25 He was instructed in the way of the Lord, and being fervent in his spirit, he spoke and taught exactly the things concerning Jesus, knowing only the baptism of John.
- 26 And he began to speak boldly in the synagogue. And Aquila and Priscilla, having heard him, took him to [them] and unfolded to him the way of God more exactly.
- 27 And when he purposed to go into Achaia, the brethren wrote to the disciples engaging them to receive him, who, being come, contributed much to those who believed through grace.
- 28 For he with great force convinced the Jews publicly, shewing by the scriptures that Jesus was the Christ.

ACTS 19 JND

- 1 And it came to pass, while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul, having passed through the upper districts, came to Ephesus, and finding certain disciples,
- 2 he said to them, Did ye receive [the] Holy Spirit when ye had believed? And they [said] to him, We did not even hear if [the] Holy Spirit was [come].

- 12 But when Gallio was pro-consul of Achaia, the Jews with one accord rose up against Paul, and brought him before the judgment seat,
- 13 saying, This [man] persuadeth men to worship God contrary to the law.
- 14 But when Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If indeed it were some wrong, or wicked villainy, O Jews, with reason should I have borne with you;
- 15 but if they are questions about a word and names and your own law, ye shall look yourselves; [^] I do not intend to be judge of these things.
- 16 And he drove them from the judgment-seat.
- 17 And having all [^] laid hold on Sosthenes the ruler of the synagogue, they beat [him] before the judgment-seat. And Gallio cared for none of these things.
- 18 And Paul having remained yet many days, took his leave of the brethren, and sailed thence into Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila, having shorn his head in Cenchrea, for he had a vow.
- 19 And they arrived at Ephesus and he left them there, but he himself, entering into the synagogue, reasoned with the Jews.
- 20 And when they asked him to remain for a longer time, [^]he did not consent,
- 21 but taking his leave and saying, [I must by all means keep the coming feast at Jerusalem]; I will return again unto you if God will, he sailed from Ephesus.
- 22 And landing at Cæsarea, he went up and saluted the church, and went down unto Antioch.
- 23 And having spent some time, he departed, going through the country of Galatia and Phrygia in order, establishing all the disciples.
- 24 But a certain Jew, Apollos by name, an Alexandrian by race, an eloquent [or learned] man, arrived at Ephesus, being mighty in the scriptures.
- 25 He had been instructed in the way of the Lord, and being fervent in his spirit, he spoke and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus, knowing only the baptism of John;
- 26 and he began to speak boldly in the synagogue. But when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they took him up, and more accurately expounded to him the way of God.
- 27 And when he was minded to go through into Achaia, the brethren wrote and urged the disciples to receive him; and he, on coming, contributed much to those that had believed through grace.
- 28 For he forcibly confuted the Jews in public, shewing by the scriptures that Jesus was the Christ.

ACTS 19 WK

- 1 And it came to pass, while Apollos was at Corinth, that Paul, having gone through the upper parts, came [? down] unto Ephesus, and finding certain disciples [^]
- 2 said unto them, Received ye [the] Holy Spirit since ye believed? And they [said] unto him, Not even if [the] Holy Spirit was did we hear.

3 And he said, To what then were ye baptised? And they said, To the baptism of John.

4 And Paul said, John indeed baptised [with] the baptism of repentance, saying to the people that they should believe on him that was coming after him, that is, on Jesus.

5 And when they heard that, they were baptised to the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 And Paul having laid [his] hands on them, the Holy Spirit came upon them, and they spoke with tongues and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelve.

8 And entering into the synagogue, he spoke boldly during three months, reasoning and persuading [the things] concerning the kingdom of God.

9 But when some were hardened and disbelieved, speaking evil of the way before the multitude, he left them and separated the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of Tyrannus.

10 And this took place for two years, so that all that inhabited Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks.

11 And God wrought no ordinary miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 so that even napkins or aprons were brought from his body [and put] upon the sick, and the diseases left them, and the wicked spirits went out.

13 And certain of the Jewish exorcists also, who went about, took in hand to call upon those who had wicked spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, I adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preaches.

14 And there were certain [men], seven sons of Sceva, Jewish high priest, who were doing this.

15 But the wicked spirit answering said to them, Jesus I know, and Paul I am acquainted with; but ye, who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the wicked spirit was leaped upon them, and having mastered both, prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.

17 And this became known to all, both Jews and Greeks, who inhabited Ephesus, and fear fell upon all of them, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.

18 And many of those that believed came confessing and declaring their deeds.

19 And many of those that practised curious arts brought their books [of charms] and burnt them before all. And they reckoned up the prices of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

20 Thus with might the word of the Lord increased and prevailed.

21 And when these things were fulfilled, Paul purposed in his spirit to go to Jerusalem, passing through Macedonia and Achaia, saying, After I have been there I must see Rome also.

22 And having sent into Macedonia two of those ministering to him, Timotheus and Erastus, he remained himself awhile in Asia.

3 And he said, Unto what then were ye baptised? And they said, Unto John's baptism.

4 And Paul said, John baptised with a baptism of repentance, saying to the people that they should believe on Him that was coming after him, that is, on Jesus.

5 And when they heard this, they were baptised unto the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 And when Paul laid hands on them, the Holy Spirit came upon them; and they spake with tongues and prophesied;

7 and they were in all about twelve men.

8 And entering into the synagogue he spoke boldly for three months, discoursing and persuading the things concerning the kingdom of God.

9 But when some were hardened and disobedient, speaking evil of the way before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, discoursing daily in the school of [^] Tyrannus.

10 And this was done for two years, so that all those that dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord, [^] both Jews and Greeks.

11 And God wrought uncommon powers by the hands of Paul,

12 so that even upon the sick were brought from his body handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases left them, and the evil spirits went out.

13 And certain ones of the Jewish exorcists that went about took in hand to call upon those that had wicked spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, I adjure you by Jesus whom Paul preacheth.

14 And there were seven sons of Sceva, a certain Jewish chief-priest, doing this.

15 But the wicked spirit answering said to them, Jesus I know, and [^] Paul I am acquainted with; but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the wicked spirit was, leaping upon them and mastering them both, prevailed against them, so that they fled out from that house naked and wounded.

17 And this became known to all, both Jews and Greeks, that inhabited Ephesus. And fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.

18 Many too of those that had believed came confessing and declaring their deeds.

19 And not a few of those that practised curious arts brought their books and burnt [them] before all. And they summed up the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

20 So with might the word of the Lord increased and prevailed.

21 Now after these things were fulfilled, Paul purposed in his spirit, passing through Macedonia and Achaia, to proceed unto Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there I must see Rome also.

22 And having sent into Macedonia two of those that ministered to him, Timothy and Erastus, he himself stayed in Asia for awhile.

- 23 And there took place at that time no small disturbance about the way.
- 24 For a certain [man] by name Demetrius, a silverbeater, making silver temples of Artemis, brought no small gain to the artisans;
- 25 whom having brought together, and those who wrought in such things, he said, Men, ye know that our well-living arises from this work,
- 26 and ye see and hear that this Paul has persuaded and turned away a great crowd, not only of Ephesus, but almost of all Asia, saying that they are no gods which are made with hands.
- 27 Now not only there is danger for us that our business come into discredit, but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis be counted for nothing, and that her greatness should be destroyed whom the whole of Asia and the world reveres.
- 28 And having heard [this], and being filled with rage, they cried out, saying, Great [is] Artemis of the Ephesians.
- 29 And the [whole] city was filled with confusion, and they rushed with one accord to the theatre, having seized and carried off with [them] Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, fellow-travellers of Paul.
- 30 But Paul intending to go in to the people, the disciples suffered him not;
- 31 and some of the Asiarchs also, who were his friends, sent to him and urged him not to throw himself into the theatre.
- 32 Different persons therefore cried out some different thing; for the assembly was tumultuous, and the most did not know for what cause they had come together.
- 33 But from among the crowd they put forward Alexander, the Jews pushing him forward. And Alexander, beckoning with his hand, would have made a defence to the people.
- 34 But, recognizing that he was a Jew, there was one cry from all, shouting for about two hours, Great [is] Artemis of the Ephesians.
- 35 And the townclerk, having quieted the crowd, said, Ephesians, what man is there then who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple-keeper of Artemis the great, and of the [image] which fell down from heaven?
- 36 These things therefore being undeniable, it is necessary that ye should be calm and do nothing headlong.
- 37 For ye have brought these men, [who are] neither temple-plunderers, nor speak injuriously of your goddess.
- 38 If therefore Demetrius and the artisans who [are] with him have a matter against any one, the courts are being held, and there are proconsuls: let them accuse one another.
- 39 But if ye inquire anything concerning other matters, it will be settled in the regular assembly.
- 40 For also we are in danger to be put in accusation for sedition for this [affair] of to-day, no cause existing in reference to which we shall be able to give a reason for this concourse.

- 23 And about that time arose no small disturbance about the way.
- 24 For a certain [man] by name Demetrius, a silver-beater, making silver shrines [temples] of Artemis, brought no little business to the artisans,
- 25 whom he gathered together with the workmen of like nature, and said, Men, ye are aware that we have our prosperity from this business.
- 26 And ye behold and hear that this Paul hath persuaded and turned away a considerable crowd, not only of Ephesus, but of almost all Asia, saying that they are no gods that are made by hands.
- 27 Now, not only is there danger for us that this trade come into disrepute, but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis be counted for nothing, and that even she should be deposed from her magnificence, whom all Asia and the world [habitable earth] revereth.
- 28 And when they heard they were filled with wrath and kept crying out, saying, Great is Artemis of the Ephesians.
- 29 And the city was filled with confusion; and they rushed with one accord into the theatre,
- 30 having seized together Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, Paul's fellow-travellers.
- 31 And when Paul was minded to enter unto the people, the disciples suffered him not. And some of the Asiarchs also, being his friends, sent unto him and urged him not to adventure himself into the theatre.
- 32 Different ones therefore kept crying somewhat different things; for the assembly was in confusion, and the mass knew not wherefore they were come together.
- 33 And from the crowd they instructed [or, drew together] Alexander, the Jews putting him forward; and Alexander waving his hand wished to make defence to the people.
- 34 But when they came to know he was a Jew, one shout arose from all, crying for about two hours, Great [is] Artemis of [the] Ephesians.
- 35 And the town clerk after stilling the crowd, says, Ephesians, [^] which of men is he who knoweth not that the city of [the] Ephesians is temple-keeper of the great Artemis, and of what fell from the sky?
- 36 Since then these things cannot be gainsaid, you must be quiet and do nothing rash.
- 37 For ye have brought these men, neither temple-robbers nor blasphemers of our [or, your] goddess.
- 38 If then Demetrius and the artisans with him have a matter against anyone, court days are going on, and there are proconsuls: let them accuse each other;
- 39 but if you make any inquiry about other things, [^] it will be settled in the lawful assembly.
- 40 For indeed we are in danger of being accused of riot to-day, there being no cause concerning which we shall [^] be able to render an account of this concourse.

41 And having said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

ACTS 20 JND

- 1 But after the tumult had ceased, Paul having called the disciples to [him] and embraced [them], went away to go to Macedonia.
- 2 And having passed through those parts, and having exhorted them with much discourse, he came to Greece.
- 3 And having spent three months [there], a treacherous plot against him having been set on foot by the Jews as he was going to sail to Syria, [the] resolution was adopted of returning through Macedonia.
- 4 And there accompanied him as far as Asia, Sopater [son] of Pyrrhus, a Berean; and of Thessalonians Aristarchus and Secundus, and Gaius and Timotheus of Derbe, and of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.
- 5 These going before waited for us in Troas;
- 6 but we sailed away from Philippi after the days of unleavened bread, and we came to them to Troas in five days, where we spent seven days.
- 7 And the first day of the week, we being assembled to break bread, Paul discoursed to them, about to depart on the morrow. And he prolonged the discourse till midnight.
- 8 And there were many lights in the upper room where we were assembled.
- 9 And a certain youth, by name Eutychus, sitting at the window-opening, overpowered by deep sleep while Paul discoursed very much at length, having been overpowered by the sleep, fell from the third story down to the bottom, and was taken up dead.
- 10 But Paul descending fell upon him, and enfolding [him] [in his arms], said, Be not troubled, for his life is in him.
- 11 And having gone up, and having broken the bread, and eaten, and having long spoken until daybreak, so he went away.
- 12 And they brought [away] the boy alive, and were no little comforted.
- 13 And we, having gone before on board ship, sailed off to Assos, going to take in Paul there; for so he had directed, he himself being about to go on foot.
- 14 And when he met with us at Assos, having taken him on board we came to Mitylene;
- 15 and having sailed thence, on the morrow arrived opposite Chios, and the next day put in at Samos; and having stayed at Trogyllium, the next day we came to Miletus:
- 16 for Paul thought it desirable to sail by Ephesus, so that he might not be made to spend time in Asia; for he hastened, if it was possible for him, to be the day of Pentecost at Jerusalem.
- 17 But from Miletus having sent to Ephesus, he called over [to him] the elders of the assembly.

41 And having said thus he dismissed the assembly.

ACTS 20 WK

- 1 And after the uproar had ceased, Paul having called [or, sent] for the disciples, and exhorted and saluted them, departed to go into Macedonia.
- 2 And having gone through those parts and exhorted them with much discourse, he came into Greece.
- 3 And having spent three months, and a plot being laid against him by the Jews, as he was about to sail for Syria, he determined to return through Macedonia.
- 4 And there accompanied him (as far as Asia) Sopater a Berean [son] of Pyrrhus; and of Thessalonians Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and Timothy; and of Asia Tychicus and Trophimus.
- 5 These going before waited for us at Troas.
- 6 And we sailed away from Philippi after the days of unleavened [bread] and came unto them to Troas in five days, where we tarried seven days.
- 7 And on the first [day] of the week, when we were gathered together to break bread, Paul discoursed to them, about to depart on the morrow, and prolonged the word till midnight.
- 8 And there were many lights in the upper room where we were gathered together.
- 9 And a certain youth, by name Eutychus, as he was sitting in the window, being overpowered with deep sleep, as Paul was discoursing yet longer, fell overpowered by the sleep down from the third story, and was taken up dead.
- 10 But Paul went down and fell upon him, and clasping him round said, Be not troubled, for his life [soul] is in him.
- 11 And when he went up and broke the bread and had eaten, and conversed with them a long while till daybreak, so he departed.
- 12 And they brought the boy alive and were not a little comforted.
- 13 But we, having gone before on board the ship, set sail for Assos, there intending to take up Paul, for so he had arranged, intending himself to go on foot.
- 14 And when he met with us at Assos, we took him up, and came unto Mitylene;
- 15 and having sailed thence on the morrow we arrived over against Chios, and on the next day we touched at Samos, and [having remained at Trogyllium] the day after we came unto Miletus.
- 16 For Paul determined to sail past Ephesus, so that he might not have to spend time in Asia; for he was hastening, if it were possible for him to be at Jerusalem the day of Pentecost.
- 17 And from Miletus he sent unto Ephesus and called to him the elders of the church.

18 And when they were come to him, he said to them, Ye know how I was with you all the time from the first day that I arrived in Asia,
 19 serving the Lord with all lowliness, and tears, and temptations, which happened to me through the plots of the Jews;
 20 how I held back nothing of what is profitable, so as not to announce [it] to you, and to teach you publicly and in every house,
 21 testifying to both Jews and Greeks repentance towards God and faith towards our Lord Jesus Christ.
 22 And now, behold, bound in my spirit I go to Jerusalem; not knowing what things shall happen to me in it;
 23 only that the Holy Spirit testifies to me in every city, saying that bonds and tribulations await me.
 24 But I make no account of [my] life [as] dear to myself, so that I finish my course, and the ministry which I have received of the Lord Jesus to testify the glad tidings of the grace of God.
 25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone about preaching the kingdom [of God], shall see my face no more.
 26 Wherefore I witness to you this day, that I am clean from the blood of all,
 27 for I have not shrunk from announcing to you all the counsel of God.
 28 Take heed therefore to yourselves and to all the flock, wherein the Holy Spirit has set you as overseers, to shepherd the assembly of God, which he has purchased with the blood of his own.
 29 [For] I know [this,] that there will come in amongst you after my departure grievous wolves, not sparing the flock;
 30 and from among your own selves shall rise up men speaking perverted things to draw away the disciples after them.
 31 Wherefore watch, remembering that for three years, night and day, I ceased not admonishing each one [of you] with tears.
 32 And now I commit you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build [you] up and give [to you] an inheritance among all the sanctified.
 33 I have coveted [the] silver or gold or clothing of no one.
 34 Yourselves know that these hands have ministered to my wants, and to those who were with me.
 35 I have shewed you all things, that thus laboring [we] ought to come in aid of the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.
 36 And having said these things, he knelt down and prayed with them all.
 37 And they all wept sore; and falling upon the neck of Paul they ardently kissed him,
 38 specially pained by the word which he had said, that they would no more see his face. And they went down with him to the ship.

18 And when they were come to him, he said to them, Ye know from the first day that I came to Asia how I was with you all the time
 19 serving the Lord with all lowliness of mind, and [^] tears, and temptations, which befell me by the plots of the Jews;
 20 how I kept back nothing of what is profitable, so as not to announce to you and to teach you publicly, and from house to house,
 21 testifying both to Jews and to Greeks, repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.
 22 And now, behold, I go bound in the [or, my] spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there:
 23 save that the Holy Spirit testifieth to me in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me.
 24 But I hold not my life of any account as dear to myself, so that I may accomplish my course and the ministry which I received from the Lord Jesus to testify the gospel of the grace of God.
 25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I went about preaching the kingdom [of God] shall see my face no more.
 26 Wherefore I testify to you this day that I am pure from the blood of all.
 27 For I shrank not from announcing to you all the counsel of God.
 28 Take heed [^]to yourselves and to all the flock in which the Holy Ghost set you overseers to tend the assembly of God, which He purchased with His own blood [or, the blood of His own one].
 29 I know that after my departure grievous wolves shall enter in among you, not sparing the flock;
 30 and from among your own selves shall men arise speaking things perverted to draw the disciples after them.
 31 Wherefore watch, remembering that by the space of three years I ceased not admonishing each one night and day with tears.
 32 And now I commend you to God and to the word of His grace which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all that are sanctified.
 33 I coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel;
 34 yea, yourselves know that these hands ministered to my necessities, and to those that were with me.
 35 In all things I gave you an example how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He Himself said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.
 36 And having thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.
 37 And they all wept sore, and falling on Paul's neck, fondly kissed him,
 38 sorrowing most of all for the word which he had spoken, that they should behold his face no more. And they brought him forward unto the ship.

ACTS 21 JND

- 1 And when, having got away from them, we at last sailed away, we came by a direct course to Cos, and on the morrow to Rhodes, and thence to Patara.
- 2 And having found a ship passing over into Phœnicia, we went on board and sailed;
- 3 and having sighted Cyprus, and left it on the left hand, we sailed to Syria, and made the land at Tyre, for there the ship was to discharge her cargo.
- 4 And having found out the disciples, we remained there seven days; who said to Paul by the Spirit not to go up to Jerusalem.
- 5 But when we had completed the days, we set out and took our journey, all of them accompanying us, with wives and children, till [we were] out of the city. And kneeling down upon the shore we prayed.
- 6 And having embraced one another, we went on board ship, and they returned home.
- 7 And we, having completed the voyage, arrived from Tyre at Ptolemais, and having saluted the brethren we remained one day with them.
- 8 And leaving on the morrow, we came to Cæsarea; and entering into the house of Philip the evangelist, who was of the seven, we abode with him.
- 9 Now this man had four virgin daughters who prophesied.
- 10 And as we stayed there many days, a certain man, by name Agabus, a prophet, came down from Judæa,
- 11 and coming to us and taking the girdle of Paul, and having bound his own hands and feet, said, Thus saith the Holy Spirit, The man whose this girdle is shall the Jews thus bind in Jerusalem, and deliver him up into the hands of [the] Gentiles.
- 12 And when we heard these things, both we and those of the place besought [him] not to go up to Jerusalem.
- 13 But Paul answered, What do ye, weeping and breaking my heart? for I am ready not only to be bound but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.
- 14 And when he would not be persuaded, we were silent, saying, The will of the Lord be done.
- 15 And after these days, having got our effects ready, we went up to Jerusalem.
- 16 And [some] of the disciples from Cæsarea went with us, bringing [with them] a certain Mnason, a Cyprian, an old disciple, with whom we were to lodge.
- 17 And when we arrived at Jerusalem the brethren gladly received us.
- 18 And on the morrow Paul went in with us to James, and all the elders came there.
- 19 And having saluted them, he related one by one the things which God had wrought among the nations by his ministry.

ACTS 21 WK

- 1 And when it came to pass that we were parted from them and had set sail, we came with a straight course unto Coos, and the next day unto Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara;
- 2 and having found a ship crossing over into Phœnicia, we went on board and set sail;
- 3 and as we had sighted Cyprus, leaving it on the left, we sailed into Syria and landed at Tyre, for there the ship was to unlade her cargo.
- 4 And having found out the disciples, we remained there seven days; and these said to Paul through the Spirit, that he should not set foot in Jerusalem.
- 5 And when it came to pass that we had completed the days, we departed and went on our journey, and they all with wives and children brought us on our way, till we were out of the city, and kneeling down on the beach we prayed
- 6 and took leave of one another, and we went on board ship, and they returned home.
- 7 And when we had finished the voyage from Tyre, we arrived at Ptolemais and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.
- 8 And on the morrow [^] we [^] departed and came unto Cæsarea; and entering into the house of Philip the evangelist, who was one of the seven, we abode with him.
- 9 Now this man had four daughters, virgins, who did prophesy;
- 10 and, as we tarried many days, there came down from Judæa a certain prophet named Agabus;
- 11 and coming to us and taking Paul's girdle, he bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the Holy Ghost, so shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owneth this girdle, and deliver him into the hands of [the] Gentiles.
- 12 And when we heard these things, both we and those of the place besought him not to go up to Jerusalem;
- 13 then Paul answered, Why do ye weep and break my heart? For I am ready, not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.
- 14 And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.
- 15 And after these days we took up [or, made ready] our baggage and went up to Jerusalem.
- 16 And there went with us also [certain] disciples from Cæsarea, bringing one Mnason of Cyprus, an early disciple, with whom we should lodge.
- 17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly;
- 18 and the day following Paul went in with us unto James, and all the elders were present;
- 19 and when he had saluted them, he explained one by one the things which God wrought among the Gentiles by his ministry;

Acts

- 20 And they having heard [it] glorified God, and said to him, Thou seest, brother, how many myriads there are of the Jews who have believed, and all are zealous of the law.
- 21 And they have been informed concerning thee that thou teachest all the Jews among the nations apostasy from Moses, saying that they should not circumcise their children, nor walk in the customs.
- 22 What is it then? a multitude must necessarily come together, for they will hear that thou art come.
- 23 This do therefore that we say to thee: We have four men who have a vow on them;
- 24 take these and be purified with them, and pay their expenses, that they may have their heads shaved; and all will know that [of those things] of which they have been informed about thee nothing is [true]; but that thou thyself also walkest orderly, keeping the law.
- 25 But concerning [those of] the nations who have believed, we have written, deciding that they should [observe no such things, only to] keep themselves both from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication.
- 26 Then Paul, taking the men, on the next day, having been purified, entered with them into the temple, signifying the time the days of the purification would be fulfilled, until the offering was offered for every one of them.
- 27 And when the seven days were nearly completed, the Jews from Asia, having seen him in the temple, set all the crowd in a tumult, and laid hands upon him,
- 28 crying, Israelites, help! this is the man who teaches all everywhere against the people, and the law, and this place, and has brought Greeks too into the temple, and profaned this holy place.
- 29 For they had before seen Trophimus the Ephesian with him in the city, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.
- 30 And the whole city was moved, and there was a concourse of the people; and having laid hold on Paul they drew him out of the temple, and immediately the doors were shut.
- 31 And as they were seeking to kill him a representation came to the chiliarch of the band that the whole of Jerusalem was in a tumult;
- 32 who, taking with him immediately soldiers and centurions, ran down upon them. But they, seeing the chiliarch and the soldiers, ceased beating Paul.
- 33 Then the chiliarch came up and laid hold upon him, and commanded [him] to be bound with two chains, and inquired who he might be, and what he had done.
- 34 And different persons cried some different thing in the crowd. But he, not being able to know the certainty on account of the uproar, commanded him to be brought into the fortress.
- 35 But when he got upon the stairs it was so that he was borne by the soldiers on account of the violence of the crowd.
- 20 and when they heard it, they glorified God.
- And they said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many myriads there are among the Jews of those that believe, and they are all zealous for the law.
- 21 And they have been informed concerning thee, that thou teachest all Jews that are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children, neither to walk after the customs.
- 22 What is it therefore? They will certainly hear that thou art come.
- 23 Do thou this that we say to thee: We have four men with a vow on them,
- 24 these take and purify thyself with them, and be at charges over them, that they may shave their heads, and all shall know that there is no truth in the things whereof they have been informed concerning thee, but that thou thyself also walkest orderly keeping the law.
- 25 But, as touching the Gentiles that believed, we wrote [or, enjoined], giving judgment, that they should keep themselves from things sacrificed to idols, and blood, and things strangled, and fornication.
- 26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day purifying himself with them went into the temple, declaring the fulfilment of the days of purification until the offering was offered for every one of them.
- 27 And when the seven days were almost completed, the Jews from Asia when they saw him in the temple stirred up all the multitude and laid hands on him,
- 28 crying out, Men of Israel, help. This is the man that teacheth all everywhere against the people, and the law, and this place; and moreover he brought Greeks also into the temple, and hath defiled this holy place.
- 29 For they had before seen with him in the city Trophimus the Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul brought into the temple.
- 30 And the whole city was moved, and the people ran together, and they laid hold on Paul and dragged him out of the temple; and forthwith the doors were shut.
- 31 And as they were seeking to kill him, tidings came up to the chief officer [chiliarch] of the cohort, that the whole of Jerusalem was in confusion,
- 32 and immediately he took soldiers and centurions, and ran down upon them; and they, when they saw the chief officer and the soldiers, ceased beating Paul.
- 33 Then the chief officer came near and laid hold on him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and enquired who he might be, and what he had done.
- 34 And some shouted one thing, and some another, among the crowd. And when he could not know the certainty because of the uproar, he commanded him to be brought into the castle [lit. camp].
- 35 And when he came upon the steps, so it was that he was borne upon the soldiers, because of the violence of the crowd.

- 36 For the multitude of the people followed, crying, Away with him.
- 37 but as he was about to be led into the fortress, Paul says to the chiliarch, Is it allowed me to say something to thee? And he said, Dost thou know Greek?
- 38 Thou art not then that Egyptian who before these days raised a sedition and led out into the wilderness the four thousand men of the assassins?
- 39 But Paul said, I am a Jew of Tarsus, citizen of no insignificant city of Cilicia, and I beseech of thee, allow me to speak to the people.
- 40 And when he had allowed him, Paul, standing on the stairs, beckoned with his hand to the people; and a great silence having been made, he addressed them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

ACTS 22 JND

- 1 Brethren and fathers, hear my defence which I now make to you.
- 2 And hearing that he addressed them in the Hebrew tongue, they kept the more quiet; and he says,
- 3 I am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel, educated according to [the] exactness of the law of [our] fathers, being zealous for God, as ye are all this day;
- 4 who have persecuted this way unto death, binding and delivering up to prisons both men and women;
- 5 as also the high priest bears me witness, and all the elderhood: from whom also, having received letters to the brethren, I went to Damascus to bring those also who were there, bound, to Jerusalem, to be punished.
- 6 And it came to pass, as I was journeying and drawing near to Damascus, that, about mid-day, there suddenly shone out of heaven a great light round about me.
- 7 And I fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying to me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?
- 8 And I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus the Nazarean, whom thou persecutest.
- 9 But they that were with me beheld the light, [and were filled with fear], but heard not the voice of him that was speaking to me.
- 10 And I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said to me, Rise up, and go to Damascus, and there it shall be told thee of all things which it is appointed thee to do.
- 11 And as I could not see, through the glory of that light, being led by the hand of those who were with me, I came to Damascus.
- 12 And a certain Ananias, a pious man according to the law, borne witness to by all the Jews who dwelt [there],
- 13 coming to me and standing by me, said to me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight. And I, in the same hour, received my sight and saw him.

- 36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, Away with him.
- 37 And as Paul was about to be brought into the castle, he said unto the chief officer, May I say something unto thee? He said, Dost thou know Greek?
- 38 Thou art not, then, the Egyptian who before these days stirred up to sedition, and led out into the wilderness, the four thousand men of the assassins [or, Sicarii]?
- 39 But Paul said, I am a Jew of Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city; and I beseech thee give me leave to speak unto the people.
- 40 And when he had given him leave, Paul standing on the steps, beckoned with his hand unto the people; and when there was great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

ACTS 22 WK

- 1 Brethren and fathers, hear ye the defence that I now make unto you
- 2 (and when they heard that he spoke to them in the Hebrew language, they were the more quiet, and he saith),
- 3 I am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, and brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, instructed according to strictness of the law of the fathers, being zealous for God even as all ye are this day.
- 4 And I persecuted this Way unto death, binding and delivering unto prisons both men and women,
- 5 as also the high priest beareth me witness, and all the elderhood, from whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and proceeded unto Damascus to bring those that were there, bound to Jerusalem that they might be punished.
- 6 And it came to pass, as I was journeying and drawing near to Damascus, that about mid-day there suddenly shone out of heaven a great light round about me;
- 7 and I fell unto the ground, and heard a voice saying to me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?
- 8 And I answered, Who art Thou, Lord? And He said unto me, I am Jesus the Nazarene, Whom thou persecutest.
- 9 Now they that were with me beheld the light, [^] but did not hear the voice of Him that was speaking to me.
- 10 And I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Rise up, and go into Damascus, and there it shall be told thee of all things which it hath been appointed for thee to do.
- 11 And as I could not see for the glory of the light, being led by the hand of those that were with me, I came into Damascus;
- 12 and one Ananias, a pious man according to the law, borne witness to by all the Jews that dwelt there,
- 13 came unto me and standing by, said to me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight; and in the very hour I looked upon him.

- 14 And he said, The God of our fathers has chosen thee beforehand to know his will, and to see the just one, and to hear a voice out of his mouth;
- 15 for thou shalt be a witness for him to all men of what thou hast seen and heard.
- 16 And now why lingerest thou? Arise and get baptised, and have thy sins washed away, calling on his name.
- 17 And it came to pass when I had returned to Jerusalem, and as I was praying in the temple, that I became in ecstasy,
- 18 and saw him saying to me, Make haste and go quickly out of Jerusalem, for they will not receive thy testimony concerning me.
- 19 And I said, Lord, they themselves know that I was imprisoning and beating in every synagogue those that believe on thee;
- 20 and when the blood of thy witness Stephen was shed, I also myself was standing by and consenting, and kept the clothes of them who killed him.
- 21 And he said to me, Go, for I will send thee to the nations afar off.
- 22 And they heard him until this word, and lifted up their voice, saying, Away with such a one as that from the earth, for it was not fit he should live.
- 23 And as they were crying, and throwing away their clothes, and casting dust into the air,
- 24 the chiliarch commanded him to be brought into the fortress, saying that he should be examined by scourging, that he might ascertain for what cause they cried thus against him.
- 25 But as they stretched him forward with the thongs, Paul said to the centurion who stood [by], Is it lawful for you to scourge a man [who is] a Roman and uncondemned?
- 26 And the centurion, having heard it, went and reported it to the chiliarch, saying, What art thou going to do? for this man is a Roman.
- 27 And the chiliarch coming up said to him, Tell me, Art thou a Roman? And he said, Yes.
- 28 And the chiliarch answered, I, for a great sum, bought this citizenship. And Paul said, But I was also [free] born.
- 29 Immediately therefore those who were going to examine him left him, and the chiliarch also was afraid when he ascertained that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.
- 30 And on the morrow, desirous to know the certainty [of the matter] why he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him, and commanded the chief priests and all the council to meet, and having brought Paul down set him before them.

ACTS 23 JND

- 1 And Paul, fixing his eyes on the council, said, Brethren, I have walked in all good conscience with God unto this day.
- 2 But the high priest Ananias ordered those standing by him to smite his mouth.

- 14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee to know His will and to see the Righteous One, and to hear a voice from His mouth.
- 15 For thou shalt be for Him to all men a witness of what thou hast seen and heard.
- 16 And now, why tarriest thou? Arise, and get baptised, and have thy sins washed away, calling on His name.
- 17 And it came to pass that when I had returned to Jerusalem, and while I prayed in the temple, I fell into a trance,
- 18 and saw Him saying unto me, Make haste and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem, because they will not receive of thee testimony concerning Me.
- 19 And I said, Lord, they themselves know that I imprisoned and beat in every synagogue those that believe on Thee,
- 20 and when the blood of Stephen Thy witness was shed, I also was standing by and consenting, [^] and keeping the garments of those that slew him.
- 21 And He said unto me, Depart, for I will send thee forth far hence unto the Gentiles.
- 22 And they gave him audience unto this word, and they lifted up their voices and said, Away with such [a fellow] from the earth; for it is not fit that he should live.
- 23 And as they cried out and threw off their garments and cast dust into the air,
- 24 the commander ordered him to be brought into the castle, directing that he should be examined by scourging, that he might know for what cause they had shouted thus against him.
- 25 And when they had tied him up with the thongs, Paul said unto the centurion that stood by, Is it lawful to scourge a man that is a Roman and uncondemned?
- 26 And when the centurion heard it, he went to the commander and told him, saying, What art thou about to do? For this man is a Roman.
- 27 And the commander came and said unto him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? And he said, Yes.
- 28 And the commander answered, With a great sum I obtained this citizenship. And Paul said, But I am also [so] born.
- 29 They then that were about to examine immediately departed from him, and the commander also was afraid, when he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.
- 30 But on the morrow desiring to know the certainty why he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him, and commanded the chief priest and all the council to come together, and brought Paul down, and set [him] before them.

ACTS 23 WK

- 1 And Paul fixing his eyes on the council, said, Brethren, I have lived before God in all good conscience until this day.
- 2 And the high priest Ananias commanded those that stood by him to smite his mouth.

- 3 Then Paul said to him, God will smite thee, whited wall. And thou, dost thou sit judging me according to the law, and breaking the law commandest me to be smitten?
- 4 And those that stood by said, Dost thou rail against the high priest of God?
- 5 And Paul said, I was not conscious, brethren, that he was high priest; for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evilly of the ruler of thy people.
- 6 But Paul, knowing that the one part [of them] were of the Sadducees and the other of the Pharisees, cried out in the council, Brethren, I am a Pharisee, son of Pharisees: I am judged concerning the hope and resurrection of [the] dead.
- 7 And when he had spoken this, there was a tumult of the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the multitude was divided.
- 8 For Sadducees say there is no resurrection, nor angel, nor spirit; but Pharisees confess both of them.
- 9 And there was a great clamor, and the scribes of the Pharisees' part rising up contended, saying, We find nothing evil in this man; and if a spirit has spoken to him or an angel . . .
- 10 And a great tumult having arisen, the chiliarch, fearing lest Paul should have been torn in pieces by them, commanded the troop to come down and take him by force from the midst of them, and to bring [him] into the fortress.
- 11 But the following night the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage; for as thou hast testified the things concerning me at Jerusalem, so thou must bear witness at Rome also.
- 12 And when it was day, the Jews, having banded together, put themselves under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they should kill Paul.
- 13 And they were more than forty who had joined together in this oath;
- 14 and they went to the chief priests and elders, and said, We have cursed ourselves with a curse to taste nothing until we kill Paul.
- 15 Now therefore do ye with the council make a representation to the chiliarch so that he may bring him down to you, as about to determine more precisely what concerns him, and we, before he draws near, are ready to kill him.
- 16 But Paul's sister's son, having heard of the lying in wait, came and entered into the fortress and reported [it] to Paul.
- 17 And Paul, having called one of the centurions, said, Take this youth to the chiliarch, for he has something to report to him.
- 18 He therefore, having taken him with [him], led him to the chiliarch, and says, The prisoner Paul called me to [him] and asked me to lead this youth to thee, who has something to say to thee.
- 19 And the chiliarch having taken him by the hand, and having gone apart in private, inquired, What is it that thou hast to report to me?

- 3 Then said Paul unto him, God is about to smite thee, whited wall. And dost thou sit judging me according to the law, and breaking the law commandest me to be smitten?
- 4 And those that stood by said, Revilest thou God's high priest?
- 5 And Paul said, I did not know, brethren, that he was high priest; for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of a ruler of thy people.
- 6 But when Paul perceived that the one part were of Sadducees, and the other of Pharisees, he cried out in the council, Brethren, I am a Pharisee, a son of Pharisees, concerning the hope and resurrection of [the] dead I am judged.
- 7 And when he had so said, there arose a dissension between the Pharisees and Sadducees; and the assembly was divided.
- 8 For Sadducees say that there is no resurrection neither angel nor spirit, but the Pharisees confess them both.
- 9 And there arose a great clamour, and some of the scribes of the Pharisees' part stood up and strove, saying, We find no evil in this man; and [what] if a spirit spoke to him or an angel? [^]
- 10 And when there arose a great dissension, the commander, fearing lest Paul should be torn in pieces by them, commanded the soldiers to go down and take him by force from among them and bring [him] into the castle.
- 11 And the night following, the Lord stood by him and said, Be of good cheer, [^] for as thou hast fully testified concerning Me at Jerusalem so also must thou testify at Rome.
- 12 And when it was day the Jews, having made a combination, put themselves under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.
- 13 And those that made the conspiracy were more than forty,
- 14 who therefore came to the high priests and the elders, and said, We have put ourselves under a great curse, to taste nothing until we have killed Paul.
- 15 Now therefore do ye, with the council, signify to the commander that he bring him down unto you [^] as though ye would judge his cause more exactly. But we, before he come near, are ready to slay him.
- 16 But Paul's sister's son heard of the ambush, and having come and entered into the castle, he reported it to Paul.
- 17 And Paul called to [him] one of the centurions and said, Bring this young man to the commander; for he hath something to report to him.
- 18 He therefore took and brought him to the commander, and saith, The prisoner Paul called me to [him] and asked me to bring this young man to thee, as he hath something to say to thee.
- 19 And the commander took him by the hand, and going aside privately asked, What is that which you have to report to me?

- 20 And he said, The Jews have agreed together to make a request to thee, that thou mayest bring Paul down to-morrow into the council, as about to inquire something more precise concerning him.
- 21 Do not thou then be persuaded by them, for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, who have put themselves under a curse neither to eat nor drink till they kill him; and now they are ready waiting the promise from thee.
- 22 The chiliarch then dismissed the youth, commanding [him], Utter to no one that thou hast represented these things to me.
- 23 And having called to [him] certain two of the centurions he said, Prepare two hundred soldiers that they may go as far as Cæsarea, and seventy horsemen, and two hundred light-armed footmen, for the third hour of the night.
- 24 And [he ordered them] to provide beasts, that they might set Paul on them and carry [him] safe through to Felix the governor,
- 25 having written a letter, couched in this form:
- 26 Claudius Lysias to the most excellent governor Felix, greeting.
- 27 This man, having been taken by the Jews, and being about to be killed by them, I came up with the military and took out [of their hands], having learned that he was a Roman.
- 28 And desiring to know the charge on which they accused him, I brought him down to their council;
- 29 whom I found to be accused of questions of their law, but to have no charge laid against him [making him] worthy of death or of bonds.
- 30 But having received information of a plot about to be put in execution against the man [by the Jews], I have immediately sent him to thee, commanding also his accusers to say before thee the things that are against him. [Farewell.]
- 31 The soldiers therefore, according to what was ordered them, took Paul and brought him by night to Antipatris,
- 32 and on the morrow, having left the horsemen to go with him, returned to the fortress.
- 33 And these, having entered into Cæsarea, and given up the letter to the governor, presented Paul also to him.
- 34 And having read [it], and asked of what eparchy he was, and learned that [he was] of Cilicia, he said,
- 35 I will hear thee fully when thine accusers also are arrived. And he commanded him to be kept in Herod's prætorium.

ACTS 24 JND

- 1 And after five days came down the high priest Ananias, with the elders, and a certain orator called Tertullus, and laid their informations against Paul before the governor.
- 2 And he having been called, Tertullus began to accuse, saying, Seeing we enjoy great peace through thee, and that excellent measures are executed for this nation by thy forethought,

- 20 And he said, The Jews have agreed to ask thee to bring down Paul to-morrow into the council, as though they would enquire somewhat more exactly concerning him.
- 21 Do not thou therefore yield to them, for there lie in ambush for him more than forty men of them, who put themselves under a curse neither to eat nor to drink, till they have slain him; and now they are ready looking for the promise from thee.
- 22 So the commander let the young man go, charging him, Tell no man that thou didst shew these things unto me.
- 23 And he called unto him some two of the centurions, and said, Make ready two hundred soldiers, that they may go as far as Cæsarea, and seventy horsemen, and two hundred spearmen, at the third hour of the night.
- 24 And [he bade them] provide beasts that they might set Paul on and bring [him] safe through to Felix the governor,
- 25 having written a letter in this form.
- 26 Claudius Lysias to the most excellent governor Felix, greeting.
- 27 This man when seized by the Jews and about to be slain by them, I coming up with the soldiery rescued, having learnt that he was a Roman.
- 28 And wishing to know thoroughly the cause for which they accused him, I brought [him] down unto their council,
- 29 whom I found to be accused about questions of their law, but to have no charge laid worthy of death or bonds.
- 30 And when it was shown to me that a plot would be against the man, I forthwith sent [him] unto thee, charging his accusers also to speak against him before thee. [Farewell].
- 31 The soldiers therefore, as it was commanded them, took up Paul and brought [him] by night unto Antipatris.
- 32 But on the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him and returned to the castle;
- 33 and they, when they entered into Cæsarea and delivered the letter to the governor, presented Paul also to him.
- 34 And when he had read [it] and asked of what province he was, and understood he was of Cilicia,
- 35 I will hear thee fully, said he, when thine accusers also are arrived. And he commanded him to be kept in Herod's prætorium.

ACTS 24 WK

- 1 And after five days came down the high priest Ananias with certain elders and an orator, one Tertullus; and they [the which] laid an information before the governor against Paul.
- 2 And when he was called, Tertullus began to accuse, saying, Seeing that by thee we enjoy great peace, and by thy providence reforms are made for this nation,

- 3 we receive [it] always and everywhere, most excellent Felix, with all thankfulness.
- 4 But that I may not too much intrude on thy time, I beseech thee to hear us briefly in thy kindness.
- 5 For finding this man a pest, and moving sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a leader of the sect of the Nazaræans;
- 6 who also attempted to profane the temple; whom we also had seized, [and would have judged according to our law;
- 7 but Lysias, the chiliarch, coming up, took [him] away with great force out of our hands,
- 8 having commanded his accusers to come to thee;] of whom thou canst thyself, in examining [him], know the certainty of all these things of which we accuse him.
- 9 And the Jews also joined in pressing the matter against [Paul], saying that these things were so.
- 10 But Paul, the governor having beckoned to him to speak, answered, Knowing that for many years thou hast been judge to this nation, I answer readily as to the things which concern myself.
- 11 As thou mayest know that there are not more than twelve days since I went up to worship at Jerusalem,
- 12 and neither in the temple did they find me discoursing to any one, or making any tumultuous gathering together of the crowd, nor in the synagogues, nor in the city;
- 13 neither can they make good the things of which they now accuse me.
- 14 But this I avow to thee, that in the way which they call sect, so I serve my fathers' God, believing all things which are written throughout the law, and in the prophets;
- 15 having hope towards God, which they themselves also receive, that there is to be a resurrection both of just and unjust.
- 16 For this cause I also exercise [myself] to have in everything a conscience without offence towards God and men.
- 17 And after a lapse of many years I arrived, bringing alms to my nation, and offerings.
- 18 Whereupon they found me purified in the temple, with neither crowd nor tumult. But it was certain Jews from Asia,
- 19 who ought to appear before thee and accuse, if they have anything against me;
- 20 or let these themselves say what wrong they found in me when I stood before the council,
- 21 [other] than concerning this one voice which I cried standing amongst them: I am judged this day by you touching [the] resurrection of [the] dead.
- 22 And Felix, knowing accurately the things concerning the way, adjourned them, saying, When Lysias the chiliarch is come down I will determine your affair;
- 23 ordering the centurion to keep him, and that he should have freedom, and to hinder none of his friends to minister to him.
- 3 we accept [it] every way and everywhere, most excellent Felix, with all thankfulness.
- 4 But that I be not further tedious to thee, I entreat thee to hear us briefly in thy clemency.
- 5 For we found this man a pest, and moving insurrections among all the Jews throughout the world [inhabited earth], and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes,
- 6 who also attempted to profane the temple; whom we also seized [and would have judged according to our law.
- 7 But Lysias the commander [or, chiliarch] came and with great violence took [him] away from our hands,
- 8 commanding his accusers to come unto thee]; from whom thou wilt be able, by examining, thyself to take knowledge of all these things of which we accuse him.
- 9 And the Jews joined in the attack, asserting that these things were so.
- 10 And when the governor beckoned him to speak, Paul answered, Knowing that since many years thou art judge to this nation, I _^ cheerfully make my defence,
- 11 as thou canst ascertain that it is not more than twelve days since I went up to worship at Jerusalem;
- 12 and neither in the temple did they find me discoursing with any one, or making a tumult of a crowd, nor in the synagogues, nor throughout the city.
- 13 Neither can they prove to thee the things of which they now accuse me.
- 14 But this I confess to thee, that according to the Way which they call a sect, so I serve the God of the fathers, believing all things that are according to the law and that are written in the prophets;
- 15 having hope toward God, which these also themselves look for, that a resurrection _^ is to be of both just and unjust.
- 16 _^ Herein also do I exercise myself to have a conscience without offence toward God and men continually.
- 17 Now after several years I arrived to bring alms unto my nation and offerings;
- 18 in which they found me purified in the temple, not with crowd nor yet with tumult; but certain Jews from Asia,
- 19 who ought to have been present before thee, and to have accused, if they had aught against me.
- 20 Or let these themselves say what wrong they found in me when I stood before the council,
- 21 [other] than for this one voice that I cried out standing among them, touching the resurrection of [the] dead, I am judged this day before you.
- 22 But Felix, having more accurate knowledge concerning the Way, adjourned them, saying, When Lysias the commander [or, chiliarch] is come down, I will determine your matter.
- 23 And he ordered the centurion that he should be kept in charge and should have indulgence; and not to hinder any of his friends from ministering to him.

- 24 And after certain days, Felix having arrived with Drusilla his wife, who was a Jewess, he sent for Paul and heard him concerning the faith in Christ.
- 25 And as he reasoned concerning righteousness, and temperance, and the judgment about to come, Felix, being filled with fear, answered, Go for the present, and when I get an opportunity I will send for thee;
- 26 hoping at the same time that money would be given him by Paul: wherefore also he sent for him the oftener and communed with him.
- 27 But when two years were completed, Felix was relieved by Porcius Festus as his successor; and Felix, desirous to oblige the Jews, to acquire their favor, left Paul bound.

ACTS 25 JND

- 1 Festus therefore, being come into the eparchy, after three days went up to Jerusalem from Cæsarea.
- 2 And the chief priests and the chief of the Jews laid informations before him against Paul, and besought him, asking as a grace against him that he would send for him to Jerusalem, laying people in wait to kill him on the way.
- 4 Festus therefore answered that Paul should be kept at Cæsarea, and that he himself was about to set out shortly.
- 5 Let therefore the persons of authority among you, says he, go down too, if there be anything in this man, accuse him.
- 6 And having remained among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down to Cæsarea; and on the next day, having sat down on the judgment-seat, commanded Paul to be brought.
- 7 And when he was come, the Jews who were come down from Jerusalem stood round, bringing many and grievous charges which they were not able to prove:
- 8 Paul answering for himself, Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Cæsar, have I offended [in] anything.
- 9 But Festus, desirous of obliging the Jews, to acquire their favor, answering Paul, said, Art thou willing to go up to Jerusalem, there to be judged before me concerning these things?
- 10 But Paul said, I am standing before the judgment-seat of Cæsar, where I ought to be judged. To the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou also very well knowest.
- 11 If then I have done any wrong and committed anything worthy of death, I do not deprecate dying; but if there is nothing of those things of which they accuse me, no man can give me up to them. I appeal to Cæsar.
- 12 Then Festus, having conferred with the council, answered, Thou hast appealed to Cæsar? To Cæsar shalt thou go.
- 13 And when certain days had elapsed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at Cæsarea to salute Festus.

- 24 And after certain days Felix, having arrived with Drusilla his wife being a Jewess, sent for Paul and heard him concerning the faith in Christ Jesus.
- 25 And as he reasoned concerning righteousness and temperance and the judgment to come, Felix became terrified and answered, For the present go, and when I get a convenient season, I will send for thee,
- 26 hoping at the same time that money would be given him by Paul, wherefore also he sent for him the oftener and communed with him.
- 27 But when two years were fulfilled, Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus; and Felix, willing to gain favour with the Jews, left Paul in bonds.

ACTS 25 WK

- 1 Festus therefore, having come into the province, after three days went up to Jerusalem from Cæsarea.
- 2 And the chief priests and the principal men of the Jews informed him against Paul; and they besought him asking a favour that he would send for him to Jerusalem, laying wait to kill him on the way.
- 4 Howbeit Festus answered that Paul was being kept at Cæsarea and that he himself was about to depart [there] shortly.
- 5 Let them therefore, saith he, that are of power among you go down with me, and if there is anything amiss in the man, let them accuse him.
- 6 And when he had tarried among them not more than eight or ten days, he went down unto Cæsarea; and on the morrow he sat on the judgment-seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.
- 7 And when he was come, the Jews that had come from Jerusalem stood round about and laid many and grievous charges which they could not prove;
- 8 while Paul said in his defence, Neither against the law of the Jews, nor against the temple, nor against Cæsar have I sinned at all.
- 9 But Festus, desirous to gain favour with the Jews, answered Paul and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?
- 10 But Paul said, I am standing before Cæsar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged. To the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou also very well knowest.
- 11 If then I am a wrong doer, and have committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die. But if none of these things is [true] whereof these accuse me, no man can give me up [or, grant me by favour] unto them. I appeal unto Cæsar.
- 12 Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, Thou hast appealed unto Cæsar: unto Cæsar shalt thou go.
- 13 Now when certain days passed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at Cæsarea to salute [or, having saluted] Festus.

- 14 And when they had spent many days there, Festus laid before the king the matters relating to Paul, saying, There is a certain man left prisoner by Felix,
- 15 concerning whom, when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews laid informations, requiring judgment against him:
- 16 to whom I answered, It is not [the] custom of the Romans to give up any man before that the accused have the accusers face to face, and he have got opportunity of defence touching the charge.
- 17 When therefore they had come together here, without putting it off, I sat the next day on the judgment seat and commanded the man to be brought:
- 18 concerning whom the accusers, standing up, brought no such accusation of guilt as I supposed;
- 19 but had against him certain questions of their own system of worship, and concerning a certain Jesus who is dead, whom Paul affirmed to be living.
- 20 And as I myself was at a loss as to an inquiry into these things, I said, Was he willing to go to Jerusalem and there to be judged concerning these things?
- 21 But Paul having appealed to be kept for the cognisance of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I shall send him to Cæsar.
- 22 And Agrippa [said] to Festus, I myself also would desire to hear the man. To-morrow, said he, thou shalt hear him.
- 23 On the morrow therefore, Agrippa being come, and Bernice, with great pomp, and having entered into the hall of audience, with the chiliarchs and the men of distinction of the city, and Festus having given command, Paul was brought.
- 24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men who are here present with us, ye see this person, concerning whom all the multitude of the Jews applied to me both in Jerusalem and here, crying out against [him] that he ought not to live any longer.
- 25 But I, having found that he had done nothing worthy of death, and this [man] himself having appealed to Augustus, I have decided to send him;
- 26 concerning whom I have nothing certain to write to my lord. Wherefore I have brought him before you, and specially before thee, king Agrippa, so that an examination having been gone into I may have something to write :
- 27 for it seems to me senseless, sending a prisoner, not also to signify the charges against him.

ACTS 26 JND

- 1 And Agrippa said to Paul, It is permitted thee to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretching out his hand answered in his defence:
- 2 I count myself happy, king Agrippa, in having to answer to-day before thee concerning all of which I am accused by the Jews,

- 14 And as they were spending several days there, Festus set Paul's case before the king, saying, There is a certain man left prisoner by Felix;
- 15 about whom when I was in Jerusalem the chief priests and the elders of the Jews filed information, asking for condemnation against him.
- 16 Unto whom I answered, that it is no custom for Romans to give up any man before that the accused have the accusers face to face, and have had an opportunity of defence concerning the complaint.
- 17 When therefore they came together here, I made no delay but next day sat on the judgment-seat, and commanded the man to be brought;
- 18 concerning whom, when the accusers stood up, they were bringing no charge of such evil things as I supposed,
- 19 but had certain questions of their own religion, and of one Jesus dead as He is, Whom Paul affirmed to be alive.
- 20 And I, being perplexed in the enquiry concerning these things, asked whether he would go to Jerusalem and there be judged of these things.
- 21 But when Paul appealed to be kept for the decision of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I should send him unto Cæsar.
- 22 And Agrippa [said] unto Festus, I also should wish to hear the man myself. To-morrow, saith he, thou shalt hear him.
- 23 Therefore on the morrow when Agrippa came, and Bernice, with great pomp, and they entered into the audience chamber with the commanders and the distinguished men of the city, at the command of Festus Paul was brought.
- 24 And saith Festus, King Agrippa, and all men that are here present with us, ye behold this man about whom all the multitude of the Jews applied to me both in Jerusalem and here, crying out that he ought not to live any longer.
- 25 But as I found that he had done nothing worthy of death, and as he himself appealed to Augustus, I decided to send him,
- 26 about whom I have nothing certain to write to my lord. Wherefore I brought him forth before you, and especially before thee, King Agrippa, so that, after examination had, I may have what I shall write.
- 27 For it seemeth to me unreasonable in sending a prisoner not also to signify the charges against him.

ACTS 26 WK

- 1 And Agrippa said to Paul, It is permitted thee to speak for [^] thyself. Then Paul stretched out his hand and entered on his defence.
- 2 Touching all things of which I am accused by [^] Jews, King Agrippa, I count myself happy that I am to make my defence before thee to-day; [^]

- 22 Having therefore met with [the] help which is from God, I have stood firm unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying nothing else than those things which both the prophets and Moses have said should happen,
- 23 [namely,] whether Christ should suffer; whether he first, through resurrection of [the] dead, should announce light both to the people and to the nations.
- 24 And as he answered for his defence with these things, Festus says with a loud voice, Thou art mad, Paul; much learning turns thee to madness.
- 25 But Paul said, I am not mad, most excellent Festus, but utter words of truth and soberness;
- 26 for the king is informed about these things, to whom also I speak with all freedom. For I am persuaded that of these things nothing is hidden from him; for this was not done in a corner.
- 27 King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.
- 28 And Agrippa [said] to Paul, In a little thou persuadest me to become a christian.
- 29 And Paul [said], I would to God, both in little and in much, that not only thou, but all who have heard me this day, should become such as I also am, except these bonds.
- 30 And the king stood up, and the governor and Bernice, and those who sat with them,
- 31 and having gone apart, they spoke to one another saying, This man does nothing worthy of death or of bonds.
- 32 And Agrippa said to Festus, This man might have been let go if he had not appealed to Cæsar.

ACTS 27 JND

- 1 But when it had been determined that we should sail to Italy, they delivered up Paul and certain other prisoners to a centurion, by name Julius, of Augustus' company.
- 2 And going on board a ship of Adramyttium about to navigate by the places along Asia, we set sail, Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, being with us.
- 3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon. And Julius treated Paul kindly and suffered him to go to his friends and refresh himself.
- 4 And setting sail thence we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.
- 5 And having sailed over the waters of Cilicia and Pamphylia we came to Myra in Lycia:
- 6 and there the centurion having found a ship of Alexandria sailing to Italy, he made us go on board her.
- 7 And sailing slowly for many days, and having with difficulty got abreast of Cnidus, the wind not suffering us, we sailed under the lee of Crete abreast of Salmone;
- 8 and coasting it with difficulty we came to a certain place called Fair Havens, near to which was [the] city of Lasæa.
- 9 And much time having now been spent, and navigation being already dangerous, because the fast also was already past, Paul counselled them,

- 22 Having, therefore obtained help that is from God I stand unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying nothing but what the prophets and Moses said should come,
- 23 whether Christ should suffer, whether He first by resurrection of [the] dead should announce light both to the people and to the Gentiles.
- 24 And as he thus defended himself, Festus saith with a loud voice, Paul, thou art mad: much learning doth turn thee to madness.
- 25 But Paul saith, I am not mad, most excellent Festus, but speak forth words of truth and soberness.
- 26 For the king is cognisant of these things, unto whom also I speak with openness; for I am persuaded that none of these things is hidden from him, for this hath not been done in a corner.
- 27 Believest thou, King Agrippa, the prophets? I know that thou believest.
- 28 And Agrippa [said] unto Paul, With little [pains] thou art persuading ^Λ to make me a Christian.
- 29 And Paul [said], I would to God that both with little and with great [pains] not thou only but also all that hear me this day should become, as I too am, except these bonds.
- 30 And ^Λthe king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them;
- 31 and when they had retired, they spoke one to another, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death or bonds.
- 32 And Agrippa said to Festus, This man might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed to Cæsar.

ACTS 27 WK

- 1 And when it was determined that we should sail away for Italy, they delivered Paul and certain other prisoners to a centurion named Julius of an Augustan cohort.
- 2 And embarking in a ship of Adramyttium about to sail to the places along Asia, we put to sea, Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, being with us.
- 3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon, and Julius treated Paul kindly and permitted [him] to go unto the [or, his] friends and receive attention.
- 4 And thence putting to sea we sailed under the lee of Cyprus because the winds were contrary.
- 5 And having sailed across the sea that is along Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came unto Myra [a city] of Lycia.
- 6 And there the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing for Italy, and put us on board.
- 7 And sailing slowly many days and coming with difficulty abreast of Cnidus, as the wind did not further suffer us, we sailed under the lee of Crete abreast of Salmone,
- 8 and coasting it with difficulty, we came unto a certain place called Fair Havens, near to which was [the] city of Lasea.
- 9 And much time being spent and the voyage being already dangerous because the Fast was already past, Paul admonished them,

- 10 saying, Men, I perceive that the navigation will be with disaster and much loss, not only of the cargo and the ship, but also of our lives.
 - 11 But the centurion believed rather the helmsman and the shipowner than what was said by Paul.
 - 12 And the harbour being ill adapted to winter in, the most counselled to set sail thence, if perhaps they might reach Phœnice to winter in, a port of Crete looking north-east and south-east.
 - 13 And [the] south wind blowing gently, supposing that they had gained their object, having weighed anchor they sailed close in shore along Crete.
 - 14 But not long after there came down it a hurricane called Euroclydon.
 - 15 And the ship being caught and driven, and not able to bring her head to the wind, letting her go we were driven [before it].
 - 16 But running under the lee of a certain island called Claudia, we were with difficulty able to make ourselves masters of the boat;
 - 17 which having hoisted up, they used helps, frapping the ship; and fearing lest they should run into Syrtis and run aground, and having lowered the gear they were so driven.
 - 18 But the storm being extremely violent on us, on the next day they threw cargo overboard,
 - 19 and on the third day with their own hands they cast away the ship furniture.
 - 20 And neither sun nor stars appearing for many days, and no small storm lying on us, in the end all hope of our being saved was taken away.
 - 21 And when they had been a long while without taking food, Paul then standing up in the midst of them said, Ye ought, O men, to have hearkened to me and not have made sail from Crete and have gained this disaster and loss.
 - 22 And now I exhort you to be of good courage, for there shall be no loss at all of life of [any] of you, only of the ship.
 - 23 For an angel of the God whose I am and whom I serve stood by me this night,
 - 24 saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must stand before Caesar; and behold, God has granted to thee all those that sail with thee.
 - 25 Wherefore be of good courage, men, for I believe God that thus it shall be, as it has been said to me.
 - 26 But we must be cast ashore on a certain island.
 - 27 And when the fourteenth night was come, we being driven about in Adria towards the middle of the night the sailors supposed that some land neared them,
 - 28 and having sounded found twenty fathoms, and having gone a little farther and having again sounded they found fifteen fathoms;
 - 29 and fearing lest we should be cast on rocky places, casting four anchors out of the stern, they wished that day were come.
- 10 saying, Sirs, I perceive that the voyage will be with injury and much loss, not only of the cargo and the ship but also of our lives.
 - 11 But the centurion believed the master and the ship-owner rather than the things said by Paul.
 - 12 And the harbour being ill-suited to winter in, the most gave counsel to put to sea thence, if by any means they might arrive at Phœnix to winter in, a harbour of Crete, looking north-east and south-east.
 - 13 And when a south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, they weighed anchor and coasted close by Crete.
 - 14 But not long after there beat down a tempestuous wind that is called Euraquilo;
 - 15 and when the ship was caught and could not face the wind, we gave up and were driven.
 - 16 And running under the lee of a certain small island called Clauda, we were able with difficulty to secure the boat;
 - 17 and when they hoisted it, they used helps, frapping the ship; and fearing lest they should be cast upon the Syrtis, they lowered the gear and so were driven.
 - 18 But as we were exceedingly pressed by the storm, the next day they began a clearance overboard;
 - 19 and the third [day] they cast out with their own hands the gear [or, furniture] of the ship.
 - 20 And when neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and no small storm lay on, at last every hope that wished us saved was taken away.
 - 21 And when they had been long without food, then Paul stood forth in their midst and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened to me, and not have put to sea from Crete and have gained this injury and loss.
 - 22 And now I exhort you to be of good courage, for there shall be no loss of life among you, only of the ship.
 - 23 For an angel of the God Whose I am and Whom I serve stood by me this night,
 - 24 saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must stand before Cæsar; and, behold, God hath granted thee all that sail with thee.
 - 25 Wherefore, sirs, be of good courage; for I believe God that it shall be as it hath been spoken to me.
 - 26 But we must be cast upon a certain island.
 - 27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven to and fro in the Adriatic, about midnight the sailors surmised that they were drawing near to some country,
 - 28 and on sounding, found twenty fathoms, and after going a little farther and again sounding, found ten fathoms;
 - 29 and fearing that haply we should be cast off on rough places they cast four anchors from the stern and wished that day were come.

- 30 But the sailors wishing to flee out of the ship, and having let down the boat into the sea under pretext of being about to carry out anchors from the prow,
- 31 Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, Unless these abide in the ship ye cannot be saved.
- 32 Then the soldiers cut away the ropes of the boat and let her fall.
- 33 And while it was drawing on to daylight, Paul exhorted them all to partake of food, saying, Ye have passed the fourteenth day watching in expectation without taking food.
- 34 Wherefore I exhort you to partake of food, for this has to do with your safety; for not a hair from the head of any one of you shall perish.
- 35 And, having said these things and taken a loaf, he gave thanks to God before all, and having broken it began to eat.
- 36 And all taking courage, themselves also took food.
- 37 And we were in the ship, all the souls, two hundred and seventy-six.
- 38 And having satisfied themselves with food, they lightened the ship, casting out the wheat into the sea.
- 39 And when it was day they did not recognize the land; but they perceived a certain bay having a strand, on which they were minded, if they should be able, to run the ship ashore;
- 40 and, having cast off the anchors, they left [them] in the sea, at the same time loosening the lashings of the rudders, and hoisting the foresail to the wind, they made for the strand.
- 41 And falling into a place where two seas met they ran the ship aground, and the prow having stuck itself fast remained unmoved, but the stern was broken by the force of the waves.
- 42 And [the] counsel of the soldiers was that they should kill the prisoners lest any one should swim off and escape.
- 43 But the centurion, desirous of saving Paul, hindered them of their purpose, and commanded those who were able to swim, casting themselves first [into the sea], to get out on land;
- 44 and the rest, some on boards, some on some of the things [that came] from the ship; and thus it came to pass that all got safe to land.

ACTS 28 JND

- 1 And when we got safe [to land] we then knew that the island was called Melita.
- 2 But the barbarians shewed us no common kindness; for, having kindled a fire, they took us all in because of the rain that was falling and because of the cold.
- 3 And Paul having gathered a [certain] quantity of sticks together in a bundle and laid [it] on the fire, a viper coming out from the heat seized his hand.
- 4 And when the barbarians saw the beast hanging from his hand, they said to one another, This man is certainly a murderer, whom, [though] saved out of the sea, Nemesis has not allowed to live.

- 30 And as the sailors were seeking to flee out of the ship and had lowered the boat into the sea, under pretext as though they would lay out anchors from the bow,
- 31 Paul said to the centurions and to the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved.
- 32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat and let her fall off.
- 33 And while daylight was about to come on, Paul exhorted them all to partake of food, saying, [The] fourteenth day to-day ye wait and continue without food, having taken nothing.
- 34 Wherefore I exhort you to partake of food, for this is for your safety; for not a hair from the head of any of you shall perish.
- 35 And when he said this, he took bread, and gave thanks to God before all, and having broken, he began to eat.
- 36 And all were of good cheer, and themselves also took food.
- 37 And we were in the ship, all the souls, two hundred and seventy six.
- 38 And being satisfied with food, they lightened the ship by throwing out the wheat into the sea.
- 39 And when it was day, they did not recognise the land, but perceived a certain bay with a beach, on which they took counsel, if they could, to drive the ship.
- 40 And casting off, they left the anchors in the sea, at the same time loosening the lashings of the rudder and hoisting the foresail to the wind, they made for the beach.
- 41 And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the vessel aground: and the bow stuck and remained immovable; but the stern began to break up by the violence [of the waves].
- 42 And the soldiers' counsel was that they should kill the prisoners, lest they should swim out and escape;
- 43 but the centurion, wishing to save Paul, hindered them from their purpose, and commanded those able to swim to cast themselves off first and go to land;
- 44 and the rest, some on planks and some on things from the ship. And it came to pass that all got safe to land.

ACTS 28 WK

- 1 And when got safe we then ascertained that the island was called Melita.
- 2 And the barbarians [or, natives] showed us no common kindness, for they kindled a fire-heap and took us all in because of the then rain and because of the cold.
- 3 But when Paul gathered a certain quantity of sticks and laid [it] on the fire-heap, a viper came out through the heat and fastened on his hand.
- 4 And when the barbarians saw the beast hanging from his hand, they said one to another, Certainly a murderer is this man, whom though got safe from the sea, justice refused to let live.

5 He however, having shaken off the beast into the fire, felt no harm.

6 But they expected that he would have swollen or fallen down suddenly dead. But when they had expected a long time and saw nothing unusual happen to him, changing their opinion, they said he was a god.

7 Now in the country surrounding that place were the lands belonging to the chief man of the island, by name Publius, who received us and gave [us] hospitality three days in a very friendly way.

8 And it happened that the father of Publius lay ill of fever and dysentery; to whom Paul entered in, and having prayed and laid his hands on him cured him.

9 But this having taken place, the rest also who had sicknesses in the island came and were healed:

10 who also honored us with many honors, and on our leaving they made presents to us of what should minister to our wants.

11 And after three months we sailed in a ship which had wintered in the island, an Alexandrian, with [the] Dioscuri for its ensign.

12 And having come to Syracuse we remained three days.

13 Whence, going in a circuitous course, we arrived at Rhegium; and after one day, the wind having changed to south, on the second day we came to Puteoli,

14 where, having found brethren, we were begged to stay with them seven days. And thus we went to Rome.

15 And thence the brethren, having heard about us, came to meet us as far as Appii Forum and Tres Tabernæ, whom when Paul saw, he thanked God and took courage.

16 And when we came to Rome, [the centurion delivered up the prisoners to the pretorian prefect, but] Paul was allowed to remain by himself with the soldier who kept him.

17 And it came to pass after three days, that he called together those who were the chief of the Jews; and when they had come together he said to them, Brethren, I having done nothing against the people or the customs of our forefathers, have been delivered a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans,

18 who having examined me were minded to let me go, because there was nothing worthy of death in me.

19 But the Jews speaking against it, I was compelled to appeal to Cæsar, not as having anything to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore I have called you to [me] to see and to speak to you; for on account of the hope of Israel I have this chain about me.

21 And they said to him, For our part, we have neither received letters from Judæa concerning thee, nor has any one of the brethren who has arrived reported or said anything evil concerning thee.

22 But we beg to hear of thee what thou thinkest, for as concerning this sect it is known to us that it is everywhere spoken against.

5 He however shook off the beast into the fire and suffered no harm.

6 And they expected that he would be inflamed or fall down dead suddenly; but when they were long expecting and beheld nothing amiss happen, they, changing their mind, said that he was a god.

7 Now in the country surrounding that place were lands belonging to the chief of the island, by name Publius, who received and entertained us three days courteously.

8 And so it was that the father of Publius lay ill of a fever and dysentery, unto whom Paul came in and laid his hands on him with prayer and healed him.

9 This then being done others also that had sicknesses on the island came and were cured;

10 who also honoured us with many honours, and on sailing put on board [or, laded us with] things for our need.

11 And after three months we sailed in a ship of Alexandria after having wintered in the island, with Dioscuri for a sign.

12 And landing at Syracuse we tarried three days;

13 and thence having gone round we arrived at Rhegium, and after one day when a south wind sprung up we came on the second day to Puteoli,

14 where we found brethren and were besought to tarry with them seven days; and so we came unto Rome.

15 And thence the brethren having heard about us came out to meet us as far as Appii Forum and Tres Tabernæ; whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage.

16 And when he came to Rome [the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the prætorian guard, but] Paul was allowed to remain with the soldier who guarded him.

17 And it came to pass that after three days he called together those that were chief of the Jews: and when they were come together he said unto them, Brethren, I though having done nothing against the people or the customs of our fathers, was delivered a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans;

18 who, after examination, wished to release me because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Jews spoke against [it] I was constrained to appeal to Cæsar, not having anything to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore did I call for you to see and to speak with, for on account of the hope of Israel am I bound with this chain.

21 And they said unto him, We neither received letters from Judæa concerning thee, neither did any of the brethren on arriving report or speak anything evil concerning thee.

22 But we beg [or, think well] of thee to hear what thou thinkest; for concerning this sect it is known to us that it is everywhere spoken against.

- 23 And having appointed him a day many came to him to the lodging, to whom he expounded, testifying of the kingdom of God, and persuading them concerning Jesus, both from the law of Moses and the prophets, from early morning to evening.
- 24 And some were persuaded of the things which were said, but some disbelieved.
- 25 And being disagreed among themselves they left; Paul having spoken one word, Well spoke the Holy Ghost through Esaias the prophet to our fathers,
- 26 saying, Go to this people, and say, Hearing ye shall hear and not understand, and seeing ye shall see and not perceive.
- 27 For the heart of this people has become fat, and they hear heavily with their ears, and they have closed their eyes; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and be converted, and I should heal them.
- 28 Be it known to you therefore, that this salvation of God has been sent to the nations; they also will hear [it].
- 29 [And he having said this, the Jews went away, having great reasoning among themselves.]
- 30 And he remained two whole years in his own hired lodging, and received all who came to him,
- 31 preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, with all freedom unhinderedly.

- 23 And having appointed him a day, many came unto him into the lodging, to whom he expounded, testifying the kingdom of God, and persuading them [^] concerning Jesus, from both the law of Moses and the prophets, from morning till evening.
- 24 And some assented to the things that were said, and some disbelieved.
- 25 And being disagreed one with another they left, Paul having said one word, Well spoke the Holy Spirit through Isaiah unto our fathers,
- 26 saying, Go unto this people and say, With hearing ye shall hear and in no wise understand, with seeing ye shall see and in no wise perceive.
- 27 For the heart of this people became gross, and with [their] ears they became dull of hearing, and [their] eyes have they closed, lest they should see with [their] eyes and hear with [their] ears and understand with the heart, and return, and I should heal them.
- 28 Be it known therefore unto you that this [^] salvation of God was sent to the Gentiles; they also will hear.
- 29 [^]
- 30 And he remained two whole years in his own hired lodging, and received all that came unto him,
- 31 preaching the kingdom of God and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, with all boldness unhinderedly.

ROMANS I JND

- 1 Paul, bondman of Jesus Christ, [a] called apostle, separated to God's glad tidings,
- 2 (which he had before promised by his prophets in holy writings,)
- 3 concerning his Son (come of David's seed according to flesh,
- 4 marked out Son of God in power, according to [the] Spirit of holiness, by resurrection of [the] dead) Jesus Christ our Lord;
- 5 by whom we have received grace and apostleship in behalf of his name, for obedience of faith among all the nations,
- 6 among whom are ye also [the] called of Jesus Christ:
- 7 to all that are in Rome, beloved of God, called saints:
Grace to you and peace from God our Father and [our] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all,
that your faith is proclaimed in the whole world.
- 9 For God is my witness, whom I serve in my spirit in the glad tidings of his Son, how unceasingly I make mention of you,
- 10 always beseeching at my prayers, if any way now at least I may be prospered by the will of God to come to you.
- 11 For I greatly desire to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift to establish you;
- 12 that is, to have mutual comfort among you, each by the faith [which is] in the other, both yours and mine.
- 13 But I do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, that I often proposed to come to you, (and have been hindered until the present time,) that I might have some fruit among you too, even as among the other nations also.
- 14 I am a debtor both to Greeks and barbarians, both to wise and unintelligent:
- 15 so, as far as depends on me, am I ready to announce the glad tidings to you also who [are] in Rome.
- 16 For I am not ashamed of the glad tidings; for it is God's power to salvation, to every one that believes, both to Jew first and to Greek:
- 17 for righteousness of God is revealed therein, on the principle of faith, to faith: according as it is written, But the just shall live by faith.
- 18 For there is revealed wrath of God from heaven upon all impiety, and unrighteousness of men holding the truth in unrighteousness.
- 19 Because what is known of God is manifest among them, for God has manifested [it] to them,
- 20 — for from [the] world's creation the invisible things of him are perceived, being apprehended by the mind through the things that are made, both his eternal power and divinity, — so as to render them inexcusable.
- 21 Because, knowing God, they glorified [him] not as God, neither were thankful; but fell into folly in their thoughts, and their heart without understanding was darkened:
- 22 professing themselves to be wise, they became fools,

- 1 Paul, a bondservant of Jesus Christ, a called apostle, set apart unto God's gospel,
- 2 which he had before promised through his prophets in holy scriptures,
- 3 concerning his Son, that was born of David's seed
according to flesh,
- 4 that was marked out Son of God in power according to [the] Spirit of holiness by resurrection of [the] dead, Jesus Christ our Lord,
- 5 through whom we received grace and apostleship unto obedience of faith among all the Gentiles in behalf of his name;
- 6 among whom are ye also, called of Jesus Christ,
- 7 to all that are in Rome beloved of God, called saints: grace to you and peace from God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 8 First I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all,
that your faith is proclaimed in the whole world.
- 9 For God is my witness, whom I serve in my spirit in the gospel of his Son, how unceasingly I make mention of you, always at my prayers
- 10 beseeching, if by any means now at least I shall be prospered by the will of God to come to you.
- 11 For I long to see you, that I may impart to you some spiritual gift in order to your being established;
- 12 that is, to be comforted together among you through the faith which is in one another, both yours and mine.
- 13 But I do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, that I often proposed to come to you and was hindered until the present, that I might have some fruit among you too, even as also among the other Gentiles.
- 14 Both to Greeks and barbarians, both to wise and unintelligent, I am debtor;
- 15 so on my part there is readiness to preach the gospel to you also that [are] in Rome;
- 16 for I am not ashamed of the gospel \wedge : for it is God's power unto salvation to every one that believeth, both to Jew first and to Greek.
- 17 For God's \wedge righteousness in it is revealed by faith unto faith, even as it is written, 'But the righteous shall live by faith.'
- 18 For there is revealed God's \wedge wrath from heaven upon all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men that hold the truth in unrighteousness.
- 19 Because what may be known of God is manifest among them, for God made [it] manifest to them.
- 20 For the invisible things of him from [the] world's creation are perceived, being understood by the works, both his eternal power and Godhead, that they might be inexcusable.
- 21 Because, having known God, they glorified him not as God nor were thankful, but became vain in their thoughts, and their heart void of understanding was darkened.
- 22 Professing to be wise, they became fools,

- 23 and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into [the] likeness of an image of corruptible man and of birds and quadrupeds and reptiles.
- 24 Wherefore God gave them up [also] in the lusts of their hearts to uncleanness, to dishonour their bodies between themselves:
- 25 who changed the truth of God into falsehood, and honoured and served the creature more than him who had created [it], who is blessed for ever. Amen.
- 26 For this reason God gave them up to vile lusts; for both their females changed the natural use into that contrary to nature;
- 27 and in like manner the males also, leaving the natural use of the female, were inflamed in their lust towards one another; males with males working shame, and receiving in themselves the recompense of their error which was fit.
- 28 And according as they did not think good to have God in [their] knowledge, God gave them up to a reprobate mind to practise unseemly things;
- 29 being filled with all unrighteousness, wickedness, covetousness, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil dispositions; whisperers,
- 30 backbiters, hateful to God, insolent, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,
- 31 void of understanding, faithless, without natural affection, unmerciful;
- 32 who knowing the righteous judgment of God, that they who do such things are worthy of death, not only practise them, but have fellow delight in those who do [them].

ROMANS 2 JND

- 1 Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, every one who judgest, for in that in which thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things.
- 2 But we know that the judgment of God is according to truth upon those who do such things.
- 3 And thinkest thou this, O man, who judgest those that do such things, and practisest them [thyself], that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?
- 4 or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and long-suffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leads thee to repentance?
- 5 but, according to thy hardness and impenitent heart, treasurest up to thyself wrath, in [the] day of wrath and revelation of [the] righteous judgment of God,
- 6 who shall render to each according to his works:
- 7 to them who, in patient continuance of good works, seek for glory and honour and incorruptibility, life eternal.
- 8 But to those that are contentious, and are disobedient to the truth, but obey unrighteousness, [there shall be] wrath and indignation,

- 23 and changed the glory of the incorruptible God for a likeness of an image of corruptible man, and of winged and four-footed and creeping [creatures].
- 24 Wherefore God [^] gave them up in the lusts of their hearts unto uncleanness so that their bodies were dishonoured among them;
- 25 which exchanged the truth of God for falsehood, and served and revered the creature rather than the Creator who is blessed for ever. Amen.
- 26 On this account God gave them up to vile passions; for both their females exchanged the natural use into the unnatural,
- 27 and likewise the males also, leaving the natural use of the female, were inflamed in their lust toward one another, males with males working out unseemliness, and receiving in themselves the recompense of their error which was meet.
- 28 And even as they disapproved to have God in acknowledgment, God gave them up unto a reprobate mind to do improper things;
- 29 being filled with all unrighteousness, [^] wickedness, covetousness, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, ill-will; whisperers,
- 30 slanderers, God-hated, insolent, haughty, boastful, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,
- 31 void of understanding, faithless, without natural affection, [^] pitiless;
- 32 which, knowing right well the righteous award of God that they who do such things are worthy of death, not only practise them but also have a fellow-pleasure in those that do [them].

Romans

- 9 tribulation and distress, on every soul of man that works evil, both of Jew first, and of Greek;
10 but glory and honour and peace to every one that works good, both to Jew first and to Greek:
11 for there is no acceptance of persons with God.
12 For as many as have sinned without law shall perish also without law; and as many as have sinned under law shall be judged by law,
13 (for not the hearers of the law [are] just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified.
14 For when [those of the] nations, which have no law, practise by nature the things of the law, these, having no law, are a law to themselves;
15 who shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts accusing or else excusing themselves between themselves;)
16 in [the] day when God shall judge the secrets of men, according to my glad tidings, by Jesus Christ.
17 But if thou art named a Jew, and retest in the law, and makest thy boast in God,
18 and knowest the will, and discerningly approvest the things that are more excellent, being instructed out of the law;
19 and hast confidence that thou thyself art a leader of the blind, a light of those who [are] in darkness,
20 an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, having the form of knowledge and of truth in the law:
21 thou then that teachest another, dost thou not teach thyself? thou that preachest not to steal, dost thou steal?
22 thou that sayest [man should] not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege?
23 thou who boastest in law, dost thou by transgression of the law dishonour God?
24 For the name of God is blasphemed on your account among the nations, according as it is written.
25 For circumcision indeed profits if thou keep [the] law; but if thou be a law-transgressor, thy circumcision is become uncircumcision.
26 If therefore the uncircumcision keep the requirements of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be reckoned for circumcision,
27 and uncircumcision by nature, fulfilling the law, judge thee, who, with letter and circumcision, [art] a law-transgressor?
28 For he is not a Jew who [is] one outwardly, neither that circumcision which is outward in flesh;
29 but he [is] a Jew [who is so] inwardly; and circumcision, of the heart, in spirit, not in letter; whose praise [is] not of men, but of God.

ROMANS 3 JND

- 1 What then [is] the superiority of the Jew? or what the profit of circumcision?
2 Much every way: and first, indeed, that to them were entrusted the oracles of God.

- 9 tribulation and anguish on every soul of man that worketh out evil, both of Jew first and of Greek;
10 but glory and honour and peace to every one that worketh good, both to Jew first and to Greek;
11 for there is no regard of person with God.
12 For as many as without law have sinned without law also shall perish; and as many as have sinned in law shall be judged by law
13 (for not the hearers of [^] law [are] just with God, but the doers of [^] law shall be justified.
14 For when Gentiles which have no law practise by nature the things of the law, these having no law are a law to themselves;
15 which evince the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also joining its testimony and their thoughts also one with another accusing or also excusing)
16 in [the] day when God shall judge the secrets of men according to my gospel by Jesus Christ.
17 But if thou art named a Jew, and retest on law, and boastest in God,
18 and knowest the will, and provest the things that differ, being instructed out of the law,
19 and hast confidence that thou thyself art a guide of blind, a light of those in darkness,
20 an instructor of foolish, a teacher of babes, having the form of knowledge and of the truth in the law:
21 thou then that teachest another, dost thou not teach thyself? thou that preachest not to steal, dost thou steal?
22 thou that sayest not to commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege?
23 Thou who boastest in law, through the transgression of the law dost thou dishonour God?
24 For the name of God on your account is blasphemed among the Gentiles, even as it is written.
25 For circumcision indeed profiteth if thou do law; but if thou be a transgressor of law, thy circumcision is become uncircumcision.
26 If then the uncircumcision keep the requirements of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be reckoned for circumcision,
27 and the natural uncircumcision, fulfilling the law, judge thee that in the way of letter and circumcision transgressest law?
28 For he that is outwardly a Jew is not [one], nor [is] that which is outward in flesh circumcision,
29 but he that [is so] hiddenly [is] a Jew, and circumcision of heart in spirit, not in letter, the praise of whom [is] not of men but of God.

ROMANS 3 WK

- 1 What then [is] the superiority of the Jew, or what the profit of circumcision?
2 Much in every way; for, first, because they were entrusted with the oracles of God.

3 For what? if some have not believed, shall their unbelief make the faith of God of none effect?

4 Far be the thought: but let God be true, and every man false; according as it is written, So that thou shouldest be justified in thy words, and shouldest overcome when thou art in judgment.

5 But if our unrighteousness commend God's righteousness, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous who inflicts wrath? I speak according to man.

6 Far be the thought: since how shall God judge the world?

7 For if the truth of God in my lie has more abounded to his glory, why yet am I also judged as a sinner?

8 and not, according as we are injuriously charged, and according as some affirm that we say, Let us practise evil things, that good ones may come? whose judgment is just.

9 What then? are we better? No, in no wise: for we have before charged both Jews and Greeks with being all under sin:

10 according as it is written, There is not a righteous [man], not even one;

11 there is not the [man] that understands, there is not one that seeks after God.

12 All have gone out of the way, they have together become unprofitable; there is not one that practises goodness, there is not so much as one:

13 their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; asps' poison [is] under their lips;

14 whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness;

15 swift their feet to shed blood;

16 ruin and misery [are] in their ways,

17 and way of peace they have not known:

18 there is no fear of God before their eyes.

19 Now we know that whatever the things the law says, it speaks to those under the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be under judgment to God.

20 Wherefore by works of law no flesh shall be justified before him; for by law [is] knowledge of sin.

21 But now without law righteousness of God is manifested, borne witness to by the law and the prophets;

22 righteousness of God by faith of Jesus Christ towards all, and upon all those who believe: for there is no difference;

23 for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

24 being justified freely by his grace through the redemption which [is] in Christ Jesus;

25 whom God has set forth a mercy-seat, through faith in his blood, for [the] shewing forth of his righteousness, in respect of the passing by the sins that had taken place before, through the forbearance of God;

26 for [the] shewing forth of his righteousness in the present time, so that he should be just, and justify him that is of [the] faith of Jesus.

27 Where then is boasting? It has been excluded. By what law? of works? Nay, but by law of faith;

3 For what if some believed not? shall their unbelief make void the faith of God?

4 Let it not be, but let God be true and every man false, even as it is written, 'That thou mightest be justified in thy words, and overcome when thou art judged.'

5 But if our unrighteousness commend God's righteousness, what shall we say? [Is] God unrighteous who inflicteth wrath? I speak according to man.

6 Let it not be: since how shall God judge the world?

7 For if the truth of God abounded in my lie to his glory, why any longer am I too judged as a sinner?

8 and not, even as we are slanderously reported, and even as some give out that we say, 'Let us do evil that good things may come?' whose judgment is just.

9 What then? are we better? Not at all; for we have before charged both Jews and Greeks with being all under sin,

10 even as it is written, 'There is none righteous, not one;

11 there is not the [man] that understandeth; there is not the [man] that seeketh out God.

12 All went out of the way, together they became unprofitable; there is none that practiseth kindness, there is not so much as one.'

13 'An open grave [is] their throat; with their tongues they used deceit; venom of asps [is] under their lips;

14 whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness;

15 swift [are] their feet to shed blood;

16 ruin and misery [are] in their ways;

17 and no way of peace they knew.

18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.'

19 Now we know that what ever things the law saith, it speaketh to those that [are] in the law, that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world be under judgment with God.

20 Wherefore by works of [^] law no flesh shall be justified before him, for by [^] law [is] knowledge of sin.

21 But now apart from [^] law God's righteousness is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets,

22 even God's righteousness through faith in Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all that believe. For there is no difference;

23 for all [^] sinned, and come short of the glory of God,

24 being justified gratuitously by his grace through the redemption that [is] in Christ Jesus,

25 whom God set forth as a propitiatory through faith in his blood, for a declaration of his righteousness on account of the praeter-mission of the sins that had been before, in the forbearance of God,

26 with a view to the declaration of his righteousness in the present time, in order to his being just and justifying him that [is] of faith in Jesus.

27 Where then [is] boasting? It was excluded. Through what law? Of works? No, but through [the] law of faith.

Romans

- 28 for we reckon that a man is justified by faith, without works of law.
29 Is [God] the God of Jews only? is he not of [the] nations also? Yea, of nations also:
30 since indeed [it is] one God who shall justify [the] circumcision on the principle of faith, and uncircumcision by faith.
31 Do we then make void law by faith? Far be the thought: [no,] but we establish law.

ROMANS 4 JND

- 1 What shall we say then that Abraham our father according to flesh has found?
2 For if Abraham has been justified on the principle of works, he has whereof to boast: but not before God;
3 for what does the scripture say? And Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.
4 Now to him that works the reward is not reckoned as of grace, but of debt:
5 but to him who does not work, but believes on him who justifies the ungodly, his faith is reckoned as righteousness.
6 Even as David also declares the blessedness of the man to whom God reckons righteousness without works:
7 Blessed [they] whose lawlessnesses have been forgiven, and whose sins have been covered:
8 blessed [the] man to whom [the] Lord shall not at all reckon sin.
9 [Does] this blessedness then [rest] on the circumcision, or also on the uncircumcision? For we say that faith has been reckoned to Abraham as righteousness.
10 How then has it been reckoned? when he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.
11 And he received [the] sign of circumcision [as] seal of the righteousness of faith which [he had] being in uncircumcision, that he might be [the] father of all them that believe being in uncircumcision, that righteousness might be reckoned to them also;
12 and father of circumcision, not only to those who are of [the] circumcision, but to those also who walk in the steps of the faith, during uncircumcision, of our father Abraham.
13 For [it was] not by law that the promise was to Abraham, or to his seed, that he should be heir of [the] world, but by righteousness of faith.
14 For if they which [are] of law be heirs, faith is made vain, and the promise made of no effect.
15 For law works wrath; but where no law is neither [is there] transgression.
16 Therefore [it is] on the principle of faith, that [it might be] according to grace, in order to the promise being sure to all the seed, not to that only which [is] of the law, but to that also which [is] of Abraham's faith, who is father of us all,
17 (according as it is written, I have made thee father of many nations,) before the God whom he believed, who quickens the dead, and calls the things which be not as being;

- 28 We reckon then that a man is justified by faith apart from works of law.
29 Is he, pray, the God of Jews only? [Is he] not also of Gentiles? Yes, of Gentiles also;
30 since God [is] one who shall justify [the] circumcision by faith and uncircumcision through [^] faith?
31 Do we then make void [^] law through [^] faith? Let it not be: nay, we establish [^] law.

ROMANS 4 WK

- 1 What then shall we say that Abraham our fore-father according to flesh hath found?
2 For if Abraham was justified by works, he hath matter whereof to boast, but not before God.
3 For what doth the scripture say? 'And Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him for righteousness.'
4 Now to him that worketh the reward is not reckoned according to grace, but according to debt;
5 but to him that worketh not but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is reckoned for righteousness.
6 Just as David also describeth the blessedness of the man to whom God reckoneth righteousness apart from works.
7 'Blessed they whose iniquities have been forgiven, and whose sins have been covered;
8 blessed [the] man to whom the Lord will in no way reckon sin.'
9 This blessedness then [cometh it] upon the circumcision or also upon the uncircumcision? For we say that to Abraham faith was reckoned for righteousness.
10 How then was it reckoned? When he was in circumcision or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision but in uncircumcision.
11 And he received [the] sign of circumcision as seal of the righteousness of the faith that [he had] in uncircumcision, in order to his being father of all that believe in a state of uncircumcision, that righteousness might be reckoned to them also,
12 and father of circumcision not only to those circumcised but also to those that walk in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham while in uncircumcision.
13 For not by law was [the] promise to Abraham or to his seed, that he should be heir of the world, but by righteousness of faith.
14 For if those that are of law [be] heirs, faith is made vain and the promise is annulled.
15 For the law worketh out wrath; but where no law is, [there is] no transgression.
16 On this account [it is] of faith that [it might be] according to grace, in order to the promise being sure to all the seed, not only to that which [is] of the law, but also to that which [is] of Abraham's faith, who is father of us all
17 (even as it is written, 'A father of many nations I have made thee') before God whom he believed, that quickeneth the dead and calleth the things that be not as being;

- 18 who against hope believed in hope to his becoming father of many nations, according to that which was spoken, So shall thy seed be:
- 19 and not being weak in faith, he considered not his own body already become dead, being about a hundred years old, and the deadening of Sarah's womb,
- 20 and hesitated not at the promise of God through unbelief; but found strength in faith, giving glory to God;
- 21 and being fully persuaded that what he has promised he is able also to do;
- 22 wherefore also it was reckoned to him as righteousness.
- 23 Now it was not written on his account alone that it was reckoned to him,
- 24 but on ours also, to whom, believing on him who has raised from among [the] dead Jesus our Lord,
- 25 who has been delivered for our offences and has been raised for our justification, it will be reckoned.

ROMANS 5 JND

- 1 Therefore having been justified on the principle of faith, we have peace towards God through our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 2 by whom we have also access by faith into this favour in which we stand, and we boast in hope of the glory of God.
- 3 And not only [that], but we also boast in tribulations, knowing that tribulation works endurance;
- 4 and endurance, experience; and experience, hope;
- 5 and hope does not make ashamed, because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by [the] Holy Ghost which has been given to us:
- 6 for we being still without strength, in [the] due time Christ has died for [the] ungodly.
- 7 For scarcely for [the] just [man] will one die, for perhaps for [the] good [man] some one might also dare to die;
- 8 but God commends his love to us, in that, we being still sinners, Christ has died for us.
- 9 Much rather therefore, having been now justified in [the power of] his blood, we shall be saved by him from wrath.
- 10 For if, being enemies, we have been reconciled to God through the death of his Son, much rather, having been reconciled, we shall be saved in [the power of] his life.
- 11 And not only [that], but [we are] making our boast in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom now we have received the reconciliation.
- 12 For this [cause], even as by one man sin entered into the world, and by sin death; and thus death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned:
- 13 (for until law sin was in [the] world; but sin is not put to account when there is no law;
- 14 but death reigned from Adam until Moses, even upon those who had not sinned in the likeness of Adam's transgression, who is [the] figure of him to come.
- 15 But [shall] not the act of favour [be] as the offence? For if by the offence of one the many have died, much rather has

- 18 who against hope believed in hope, in order to his becoming father of many nations according to that which was spoken, 'So shall be thy seed.'
- 19 And not being weak in faith, he considered [not] his own body now dead, being about a hundred years old, and the deadening of Sarah's womb,
- 20 yet as to the promise of God wavered not through unbelief, but was strengthened in faith, giving glory to God,
- 21 and fully persuaded that what he hath promised he is also able to perform.
- 22 Wherefore also it was reckoned to him for righteousness.
- 23 Now it was not written on his account alone that it was reckoned to him,
- 24 but on our account also, to whom it shall be reckoned, to us that believe on him that raised Jesus our Lord out of [the] dead,
- 25 who was given up on account of our offences and was raised on account of our justification.

ROMANS 5 WK

- 1 Having then, been justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ:
- 2 through whom also we have had the access into this grace wherein we stand, and ^ boast in hope of the glory of God.
- 3 And not only [so], but we also ^ boast in tribulations, knowing that tribulation worketh out endurance;
- 4 and endurance proof, and proof hope:
- 5 and hope maketh not ashamed, because the love of God is poured out in our hearts by the Holy Spirit that was given to us.
- 6 For Christ, while we were yet weak, died in due time for ungodly [men].
- 7 For hardly in behalf of a ^ righteous [man] will one die: for in behalf of the good [man] perhaps one even dareth to die;
- 8 but God commendeth his own love towards us, because, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.
- 9 Much more then, having been now justified by his blood, we shall be saved by him from wrath.
- 10 For if while enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more having been reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.
- 11 And not only so, but boasting also in God by our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom now we have received the reconciliation.
- 12 On this account as by one man sin entered into the world, and by sin death, and thus death passed unto all men, for that all sinned:
- 13 (for until law sin was in [the] world, but no sin is put to account when there is no law;
- 14 but death reigned from Adam till Moses even over those that had not sinned in the likeness of Adam's transgression, who is a figure of the coming [one]).
- 15 But [shall] not, as the offence, so also [be] the free gift? for if by the offence of the one the many died, much more the grace of God, and the free gift in grace, which [is] by the one man Jesus Christ, abounded unto the many.

- 16 And [shall] not as by one that has sinned [be] the gift? For the judgment [was] of one to condemnation, but the act of favour, of many offences unto justification.
- 17 For if by the offence of the one death reigned by the one, much rather shall those who receive the abundance of grace, and of the free gift of righteousness, reign in life by the one Jesus Christ:)
- 18 so then as [it was] by one offence towards all men to condemnation, so by one righteousness towards all men for justification of life.
- 19 For as indeed by the disobedience of the one man the many have been constituted sinners, so also by the obedience of the one the many will be constituted righteous.
- 20 But law came in, in order that the offence might abound; but where sin abounded grace has overabounded,
- 21 in order that, even as sin has reigned in [the power of] death, so also grace might reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

ROMANS 6 JND

- 1 What then shall we say? Should we continue in sin that grace may abound?
- 2 Far be the thought. We who have died to sin, how shall we still live in it?
- 3 Are you ignorant that we, as many as have been baptized unto Christ Jesus, have been baptized unto his death?
- 4 We have been buried therefore with him by baptism unto death, in order that, even as Christ has been raised up from among [the] dead by the glory of the Father, so we also should walk in newness of life.
- 5 For if we are become identified with [him] in the likeness of his death, so also we shall be of [his] resurrection;
- 6 knowing this, that our old man has been crucified with [him], that the body of sin might be annulled, that we should no longer serve sin.
- 7 For he that has died is justified from sin.
- 8 Now if we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him,
- 9 knowing that Christ having been raised up from among [the] dead dies no more: death has dominion over him no more.
- 10 For in that he has died, he has died to sin once for all; but in that he lives, he lives to God.
- 11 So also ye, reckon yourselves dead to sin and alive to God in Christ Jesus.
- 12 Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body to obey its lusts.
- 13 Neither yield your members instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but yield yourselves to God as alive from among [the] dead, and your members instruments of righteousness to God.
- 14 For sin shall not have dominion over you, for ye are not under law but under grace.

did the grace of God and the gift by the grace of the one man Jesus Christ abound unto the many.

- 16 And [shall] not, as by one having sinned, [be] the gift? For the judgment [was] of one unto condemnation, but the free gift [was] of many offences unto justification.
- 17 For if by the offence of the one death reigned by the one, much more they that receive the abundance of the grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by the one Jesus Christ:)
- 18 So then as by one [^] offence [it was] toward all men for condemnation, so also by one accomplished righteousness toward all men for justification of life.
- 19 For as by the disobedience of the one man the many were constituted sinners, so also by the obedience of the one the many shall be constituted righteous.
- 20 But law came in by the way, in order that the offence might abound; but where sin abounded, grace over-abounded
- 21 that, as sin reigned in death, so also grace might reign through righteousness unto life eternal by Jesus Christ our Lord.

ROMANS 6 WK

- 1 What then shall we say? Are we to continue in sin that grace may abound?
- 2 Let it not be. We which died to sin, how shall we live any longer in it?
- 3 What, know ye not that as many of us as were baptized unto Christ Jesus were baptized unto his death?
- 4 We were buried therefore with him by baptism unto death, that as Christ was raised out of [the] dead by the glory of the Father, so also we should walk in newness of life.
- 5 For if we are become identified with the likeness of his death, so also of his resurrection shall we be,
- 6 knowing this, that our old man was crucified with [him], that the body of sin might be disannulled, that we should no longer serve sin.
- 7 For he that died hath been justified from sin.
- 8 Now if we died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him,
- 9 knowing that Christ risen out of [the] dead dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him.
- 10 For in that he died, to sin he died once for all; but in that he liveth, he liveth to God.
- 11 So also do ye reckon yourselves dead to sin but alive to God in Christ Jesus.
- 12 Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body to obey [it in] its lusts,
- 13 nor be yielding your members as instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but yield yourselves to God as alive out of [the] dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God.
- 14 For sin shall not have dominion over you, for ye are not under law but under grace.

- 15 What then? should we sin because we are not under law but under grace? Far be the thought.
- 16 Know ye not that to whom ye yield yourselves bondmen for obedience, ye are bondmen to him whom ye obey, whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?
- 17 But thanks [be] to God, that ye were bondmen of sin, but have obeyed from the heart the form of teaching into which ye were instructed.
- 18 Now, having got your freedom from sin, ye have become bondmen to righteousness.
- 19 I speak humanly on account of the weakness of your flesh. For even as ye have yielded your members in bondage to uncleanness and to lawlessness unto lawlessness, so now yield your members in bondage to righteousness unto holiness.
- 20 For when ye were bondmen of sin ye were free from righteousness.
- 21 What fruit therefore had ye then in the things of which ye are now ashamed? for the end of them [is] death.
- 22 But now, having got your freedom from sin, and having become bondmen to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end eternal life.
- 23 For the wages of sin [is] death; but the act of favour of God, eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

ROMANS 7 JND

- 1 Are ye ignorant, brethren, (for I speak to those knowing law,) that law rules over a man as long as he lives?
- 2 For the married woman is bound by law to her husband so long as he is alive; but if the husband should die, she is clear from the law of the husband:
- 3 so then, the husband being alive, she shall be called an adulteress if she be to another man; but if the husband should die, she is free from the law, so as not to be an adulteress though she be to another man.
- 4 So that, my brethren, ye also have been made dead to the law by the body of the Christ, to be to another, who has been raised up from among [the] dead, in order that we might bear fruit to God.
- 5 For when we were in the flesh the passions of sins, which [were] by the law, wrought in our members to bring forth fruit to death;
- 6 but now we are clear from the law, having died in that in which we were held, so that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in oldness of letter.
- 7 What shall we say then? [is] the law sin? Far be the thought. But I had not known sin, unless by law: for I had not had conscience also of lust unless the law had said, Thou shalt not lust;
- 8 but sin, getting a point of attack by the commandment, wrought in me every lust; for without law sin [was] dead.
- 9 But I was alive without law once; but the commandment having come, sin revived, but I died.

- 15 What then? Are we to sin, because we are not under law but under grace? Let it not be.
- 16 Know ye not that to whom ye are yielding yourselves as bondservants for obedience, ye are bondservants to him whom ye obey, whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness?
- 17 But thanks to God that ye were bondservants of sin, but ye obeyed from the heart the form of teaching unto which ye were delivered;
- 18 and having been freed from sin ye became bondservants to righteousness.
- 19 I speak humanly on account of the weakness of your flesh; for as ye yielded your members in bondage to uncleanness and to lawlessness unto lawlessness, so now yield your members in bondage to righteousness unto holiness.
- 20 For when ye were bondservants of sin, ye were free in respect to righteousness.
- 21 What fruit then had you at that time? [Things] of which ye are now ashamed, for the end of those things [is] death.
- 22 But now freed from sin, and made bondservants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end life eternal.
- 23 For the wages of sin [is] death, but the free gift of God life eternal in Christ Jesus our Lord.

- 10 And the commandment, which [was] for life, was found, [as] to me, itself [to be] unto death:
- 11 for sin, getting a point of attack by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew [me].
- 12 So that the law indeed [is] holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good.
- 13 Did then that which is good become death to me? Far be the thought. But sin, that it might appear sin, working death to me by that which is good; in order that sin by the commandment might become exceeding sinful.
- 14 For we know that the law is spiritual: but I am fleshly, sold under sin.
- 15 For that which I do, I do not own: for not what I will, this I do; but what I hate, this I practise.
- 16 But if what I do not will, this I practise, I consent to the law that [it is] right.
- 17 Now then [it is] no longer I [that] do it, but the sin that dwells in me.
- 18 For I know that in me, that is, in my flesh, good does not dwell: for to will is there with me, but to do right [I find] not.
- 19 For I do not practise the good that I will; but the evil I do not will, that I do.
- 20 But if what I do not will, this I practise, [it is] no longer I [that] do it, but the sin that dwells in me.
- 21 I find then the law upon me who wills to practise what is right, that with me evil is there.
- 22 For I delight in the law of God according to the inward man:
- 23 But I see another law in my members, warring in opposition to the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which exists in my members.
- 24 O wretched man that I [am]! who shall deliver me out of this body of death?

ROMANS 8 JND

- 1 [There is] then now no condemnation to those in Christ Jesus.
- 2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set me free from the law of sin and of death.
- 3 For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God, having sent his own Son, in likeness of flesh of sin, and for sin, has condemned sin in the flesh,
- 4 in order that the righteous requirement of the law should be fulfilled in us, who do not walk according to flesh but according to Spirit.
- 5 For they that are according to flesh mind the things of the flesh; and they that are according to Spirit, the things of the Spirit.
- 6 For the mind of the flesh [is] death; but the mind of the Spirit life and peace.

- 10 and the commandment that [was] unto life, this was found to me unto death.
- 11 For sin having taken a point of attack by the commandment deceived me and by it slew [me].
- 12 So that the law is holy, and the commandment holy and just and good.
- 13 Did then the good become death to me? Let it not be; but sin, that it might appear sin, working out death to me by the good, that sin might become excessively sinful by the commandment.
- 14 For we know that the law is spiritual; but I am carnal, sold under sin.
- 15 For what I work out I own not; for I do not what I will, but what I hate, this I practise.
- 16 But if what I will not, this I practise, I consent to the law that [it is] right.
- 17 But now no longer am I working it out, but sin that dwelleth in me.
- 18 For I know that in me, that is in my flesh, no good dwelleth; for to will is present with me, but to work out the right [is] not;
- 19 for I practise not good which I will, but evil which I will not, this I do.
- 20 But if what I will not, this I practise, no longer am I working it out, but sin that dwelleth in me.
- 21 I find then the law, for me wishing to practise the right, that the evil is present with me.
- 22 For I delight in the law of God according to the inner man,
- 23 but I see a different law in my members warring against the law of my mind, and making me captive to the law of sin that is in my members.
- 24 Wretched man that I [am]! who shall deliver me out of this body of death?
- 25 I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then I [^] myself with the mind am serving God's law, but with the flesh sin's law.

ROMANS 8 WK

- 1 There is therefore now no condemnation to those in Christ Jesus. [^]
- 2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath freed me from the law of sin and death.
- 3 For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God, having sent his own Son in likeness of flesh of sin and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh,
- 4 that the requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us that walk not according to flesh but according to Spirit.
- 5 For those that are according to flesh mind the things of the flesh, but those according to Spirit the things of the Spirit.
- 6 For the mind of the flesh [is] death, and the mind of the Spirit [is] life and peace;

- 7 Because the mind of the flesh is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God; for neither indeed can it be:
- 8 and they that are in flesh cannot please God.
- 9 But ye are not in flesh but in Spirit, if indeed God's Spirit dwell in you; but if any one has not [the] Spirit of Christ he is not of him:
- 10 but if Christ be in you, the body is dead on account of sin, but the Spirit life on account of righteousness.
- 11 But if the Spirit of him that has raised up Jesus from among [the] dead dwell in you, he that has raised up Christ from among [the] dead shall quicken your mortal bodies also on account of his Spirit which dwells in you.
- 12 So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live according to flesh;
- 13 for if ye live according to flesh, ye are about to die; but if, by the Spirit, ye put to death the deeds of the body, ye shall live:
- 14 for as many as are led by [the] Spirit of God, these are sons of God.
- 15 For ye have not received a spirit of bondage again for fear, but ye have received a spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.
- 16 The Spirit itself bears witness with our spirit, that we are children of God.
- 17 And if children, heirs also: heirs of God, and Christ's joint heirs; if indeed we suffer with [him], that we may also be glorified with [him].
- 18 For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy [to be compared] with the coming glory to be revealed to us.
- 19 For the anxious looking out of the creature expects the revelation of the sons of God:
- 20 for the creature has been made subject to vanity, not of its will, but by reason of him who has subjected [the same], in hope
- 21 that the creature itself also shall be set free from the bondage of corruption into the liberty of the glory of the children of God.
- 22 For we know that the whole creation groans together and travailes in pain together until now.
- 23 And not only [that], but even we ourselves, who have the firstfruits of the Spirit, we also ourselves groan in ourselves, awaiting adoption, [that is] the redemption of our body.
- 24 For we have been saved in hope; but hope seen is not hope; for what any one sees, why does he also hope?
- 25 But if what we see not we hope, we expect in patience.
- 26 And in like manner the Spirit joins also its help to our weakness; for we do not know what we should pray for as is fitting, but the Spirit itself makes intercession with groanings which cannot be uttered.

- 7 because the mind of the flesh [is] enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, for indeed it cannot;
- 8 but those that are in flesh cannot please God.
- 9 Ye however are not in flesh but in Spirit, if so be God's Spirit dwell in you. But if anyone has not Christ's Spirit, he is not of him.
- 10 But if Christ [be] in you, the body [is] dead on account of sin, and the Spirit life on account of righteousness.
- 11 But if the Spirit of him that raised Jesus out of [the] dead dwell in you, he that raised Christ out of [the] dead shall quicken your mortal bodies also on account of his Spirit that dwelleth in you.
- 12 So then, brethren, debtors we are not to the flesh to live according to flesh;
- 13 for if ye live according to flesh, ye are about to die; but if by [the] Spirit ye mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live.
- 14 For as many as are being led by God's Spirit, these are God's sons.
- 15 For ye received not a spirit of bondage again unto fear, but ye received a Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry Abba Father.
- 16 The Spirit itself jointly testifieth with our spirit that we are God's children;
- 17 and, if children, heirs also; heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ; if at least we suffer together, that we may also together be glorified.
- 18 For I reckon that the sufferings of the present time [are] not worthy of comparison with the glory about to be revealed in regard to us.
- 19 For the earnest expectation of the creation awaiteth the revelation of the sons of God.
- 20 For to vanity the creation was subjected, not willingly but on account of him that subjected [it], in hope
- 21 that the creation itself too shall be freed from the bondage of corruption into the freedom of the glory of the children of God.
- 22 For we know that all the creation groaneth together and travaileth together until now;
- 23 and not only [so], but ourselves too, having the first-fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves within ourselves are groaning, awaiting [the] adoption, the redemption of our body.
- 24 For by hope were we saved; but hope seen is no hope; for what one seeth, why also doth he hope for [it]?
- 25 But if we hope for what we do not see, in patience we await.
- 26 And likewise too the Spirit joineth help to our weakness; for what we should pray for as we ought we know not, but the Spirit itself pleadeth for us with unutterable groanings;

- 27 But he who searches the hearts knows what [is] the mind of the Spirit, because he intercedes for saints according to God.
- 28 But we do know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are called according to purpose.
- 29 Because whom he has foreknown, he has also predestinated [to be] conformed to the image of his Son, so that he should be [the] firstborn among many brethren.
- 30 But whom he has predestinated, these also he has called; and whom he has called, these also he has justified; but whom he has justified, these also he has glorified.
- 31 What shall we then say to these things? If God [be] for us, who against us?
- 32 He who, yea, has not spared his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not also with him grant us all things?
- 33 Who shall bring an accusation against God's elect? [It is] God who justifies:
- 34 who is he that condemns? [It is] Christ who has died, but rather has been [also] raised up; who is also at the right hand of God; who also intercedes for us.
- 35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or danger, or sword?
- 36 According as it is written, For thy sake we are put to death all the day long; we have been reckoned as sheep for slaughter.
- 37 But in all these things we more than conquer through him that has loved us.
- 38 For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come,
- 39 nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which [is] in Christ Jesus our Lord.

- 6 Not however that the word of God hath failed; for not all those that are of Israel [are] Israel;
- 7 nor because they are Abraham's seed, [are] they all children, but 'In Isaac shall a seed be called to thee.'

8 That is, [they that are] the children of the flesh, these [are] not the children of God; but the children of the promise are reckoned as seed.

9 For this word [is] of promise, According to this time I will come, and there shall be a son to Sarah.

10 And not only [that], but Rebecca having conceived by one, Isaac our father,

11 [the children] indeed being not yet born, or having done anything good or worthless (that the purpose of God according to election might abide, not of works, but of him that calls),

12 it was said to her, The greater shall serve the less:

13 according as it is written, I have loved Jacob, and I have hated Esau.

14 What shall we say then? [Is there] unrighteousness with God?

15 Far be the thought. For he says to Moses, I will shew mercy to whom I will shew mercy, and I will feel compassion for whom I will feel compassion.

16 So then [it is] not of him that wills, nor of him that runs, but of God that shews mercy.

17 For the scripture says to Pharaoh, For this very thing I have raised thee up from amongst [men], that I might thus shew in thee my power, and so that my name should be declared in all the earth.

18 So then, to whom he will he shews mercy, and whom he will he hardens.

19 Thou wilt say to me then, Why does he yet find fault? for who resists his purpose?

20 Aye, but thou, O man, who art thou that answerest again to God? Shall the thing formed say to him that has formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

21 Or has not the potter authority over the clay, out of the same lump to make one vessel to honour, and another to dishonour?

22 And if God, minded to shew his wrath and to make his power known, endured with much long-suffering vessels of wrath fitted for destruction;

23 and that he might make known the riches of his glory upon vessels of mercy, which he had before prepared for glory,

24 us, whom he has also called, not only from amongst [the] Jews, but also from amongst [the] nations?

25 As he says also in Hosea, I will call not-my-people My people; and the-not-beloved Beloved.

26 And it shall be, in the place where it was said to them, Ye [are] not my people, there shall they be called Sons of [the] living God.

27 But Esaias cries concerning Israel, Should the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, the remnant shall be saved:

28 for [he] is bringing the matter to an end, and [cutting [it] short in righteousness; because] a cutting short of the matter will [the] Lord accomplish upon the earth.

8 That is, not the children of the flesh, these [are] children of God, but the children of the promise are reckoned for seed;

9 for this word is of promise, 'According to this time I will come, and Sarah shall have a son.'

10 And not only [so], but also Rebecca having conceived by one, Isaac our father,

11 for [the children] being not yet born, nor having done anything good or bad, that the purpose of God according to election might remain, not of works but of him that calleth,

12 it was said to her, 'The greater shall serve the lesser,'

13 according as it is written, 'Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.'

14 What then shall we say? Is there unrighteousness with God? Let it not be.

15 For to Moses he saith, 'I will have mercy on whomsoever I have mercy and will pity whomsoever I pity.'

16 So then [it is] not of him that willeth nor of him that runneth but of God that hath mercy.

17 For the scripture saith to Pharaoh, 'For this very thing I raised thee up, so that I might display in thee my power, and that my name might be declared in all the earth.'

18 So then on whom he willeth he hath mercy and whom he willeth he hardeneth.

19 Thou wilt say to me then, Why then doth he yet find fault? for his purpose who resisteth?

20 Nay rather, O man, who art thou that answerest against God? Shall the thing moulded say to him that moulded, Why madest thou me thus?

21 Or hath the potter no authority over the clay out of the same lump to make one vessel to honour and another to dishonour?

22 And if God, willing to display his wrath and to make known his power, endured in much longsuffering vessels of wrath fitted for destruction,

23 and that he might make known the riches of his glory upon vessels of mercy which he before prepared for glory —

24 us whom he also called not only out of Jews, but also out of Gentiles,

25 as also in Hosea he saith, 'I will call that which [is] not-my-people, My people, and the not-beloved, Beloved;'

26 and 'It shall be in the place where it was said to them, Ye are not my people, there shall they be called sons of [the] living God.'

27 But Esaias crieth concerning Israel, 'Were the number of the sons of Israel as the sand of the sea, the remnant shall be saved,

28 for he is completing and cutting short the matter in righteousness, because a matter cut short will [the] Lord make on the earth.'

- 29 And according as Esaias said before, Unless [the] Lord of Hosts had left us a seed, we had been as Sodom, and made like even as Gomorrha.
- 30 What then shall we say? That [they of the] nations, who did not follow after righteousness, have attained righteousness, but [the] righteousness that is on the principle of faith.
- 31 But Israel, pursuing after a law of righteousness, has not attained to [that] law.
- 32 Wherefore? Because [it was] not on the principle of faith, but as of works. They have stumbled at the stumblingstone,
- 33 according as it is written, Behold, I place in Sion a stone of stumbling and rock of offence: and he that believes on him shall not be ashamed.

ROMANS 10 JND

- 1 Brethren, the delight of my own heart and my supplication which [I address] to God for them is for salvation.
- 2 For I bear them witness that they have zeal for God, but not according to knowledge.
- 3 For they, being ignorant of God's righteousness, and seeking to establish their own [righteousness], have not submitted to the righteousness of God.
- 4 For Christ is [the] end of law for righteousness to every one that believes.
- 5 For Moses lays down in writing the righteousness which is of the law. The man who has practised those things shall live by them.
- 6 But the righteousness of faith speaks thus: Do not say in thine heart, Who shall ascend to the heavens? that is, to bring Christ down;
- 7 or, Who shall descend into the abyss? that is, to bring up Christ from among [the] dead.
- 8 But what says it? The word is near thee, in thy mouth and in thy heart: that is, the word of faith, which we preach:
- 9 that if thou shalt confess with thy mouth Jesus as Lord, and shalt believe in thine heart that God has raised him from among [the] dead, thou shalt be saved.
- 10 For with [the] heart is believed to righteousness; and with [the] mouth confession made to salvation.
- 11 For the scripture says, No one believing on him shall be ashamed.
- 12 For there is no difference of Jew and Greek; for the same Lord of all [is] rich towards all that call upon him.
- 13 For every one whosoever, who shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved.
- 14 How then shall they call upon him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe on him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without one who preaches?
- 15 and how shall they preach unless they have been sent? according as it written, How beautiful the feet of them that announce glad tidings of peace, of them that announce glad tidings of good things!

- 29 And according as Esaias said before, 'Unless [the] Lord of Hosts had left us a seed, we had become as Sodom and been made like as Gomorrha.'
- 30 What then shall we say? That Gentiles which followed not after righteousness obtained righteousness, even [the] righteousness that is by faith;
- 31 but Israel following after a law of righteousness attained not unto a law of righteousness.
- 32 Why? Because not by faith but as by works [of law], for they stumbled at the stone of stumbling,
- 33 even as it is written, 'Behold I lay in Zion a stone of stumbling and rock of offence; and he that believeth on him shall not be ashamed.'

ROMANS 10 WK

- 1 Brethren, the delight of my heart and my supplication to God, on their behalf [is] for salvation.
- 2 For I bear witness to them that they have zeal for God but not according to knowledge.
- 3 For, being ignorant of the righteousness of God and seeking to establish their own [righteousness], they have not submitted to the righteousness of God.
- 4 For Christ [is the] end of law for righteousness to every one that believeth.
- 5 For Moses describeth the righteousness that [is] by the law, that the man who hath done those things shall live by them.
- 6 But the righteousness that [is] by faith thus speaketh, 'Say not in thine heart, Who shall go up into heaven? that is, to bring Christ down;
- 7 or, 'Who shall go down into the deep?' that is, to bring up Christ from [the] dead:'
- 8 but what saith it? 'The word is near thee, in thy mouth and in thy heart;' that is, the word of faith which we preach:
- 9 that, if thou shalt confess with thy mouth [the] Lord Jesus and believe in thine heart that God raised him out of [the] dead, thou shalt be saved.
- 10 For with the heart belief is unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is unto salvation.
- 11 For the scripture saith, 'Every one that believeth on him shall not be ashamed;'
- 12 For there is no difference of Jew and Greek, for the same Lord of all [is] [^]rich toward all that call upon him.
- 13 For everyone whosoever shall call on the name of [the] Lord shall be saved.
- 14 How then shall they call on him, in whom they have not believed? and how believe in him of whom they heard not? and how hear without a preacher?
- 15 and how preach unless they have been sent? According as it is written, 'How beautiful the feet of those that announce glad tidings of peace, of those that announce glad tidings of good things!'

- 16 But they have not all obeyed the glad tidings. For Esaias says, Lord, who has believed our report?
 17 So faith then [is] by a report, but the report by God's word.
 18 But I say, Have they not heard? Yea, surely, Their voice has gone out into all the earth, and their words to the extremities of the habitable world.
 19 But I say, Has not Israel known? First, Moses says, I will provoke you to jealousy through [them that are] not a nation: through a nation without understanding I will anger you.
 20 But Esaias is very bold, and says, I have been found by those not seeking me; I have become manifest to those not inquiring after me.
 21 But unto Israel he says, All the day long I have stretched out my hands unto a people disobeying and opposing.

ROMANS II JND

- 1 I say then, Has God cast away his people? Far be the thought. For I also am an Israelite, of [the] seed of Abraham, of [the] tribe of Benjamin.
 2 God has not cast away his people whom he foreknew. Know ye not what the scripture says in [the history of] Elias, how he pleads with God against Israel?
 3 Lord, they have killed thy prophets, they have dug down thine altars; and I have been left alone, and they seek my life.
 4 But what says the divine answer to him? I have left to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed knee to Baal.
 5 Thus, then, in the present time also there has been a remnant according to election of grace.
 6 But if of grace, no longer of works: since [otherwise] grace is no more grace.
 7 What [is it] then? What Israel seeks for, that he has not obtained; but the election has obtained, and the rest have been blinded,
 8 according as it is written, God has given to them a spirit of slumber, eyes not to see, and ears not to hear, unto this day.
 9 And David says, Let their table be for a snare, and for a gin, and for a fall-trap, and for a recompense to them:
 10 let their eyes be darkened not to see, and bow down their back alway.
 11 I say then, Have they stumbled in order that they might fall? Far be the thought: but by their fall [there is] salvation to the nations to provoke them to jealousy.
 12 But if their fall [be the] world's wealth, and their loss [the] wealth of [the] nations, how much rather their fulness?
 13 For I speak to you, the nations, inasmuch as I am apostle of nations, I glorify my ministry;
 14 if by any means I shall provoke to jealousy [them which are] my flesh, and shall save some from among them.

- 16 But not all obeyed the gospel. For Esaias says, 'Lord, who believed our report?'
 17 Therefore faith [is] by report, but the report through God's word.
 18 But I say, Have they not heard? Nay, rather 'Unto all the earth went out their voice, and unto the ends of the habitable earth their words.'
 19 But I say, Did Israel not know? First, Moses saith 'I will make you jealous through [those] not a nation, through a nation void of understanding I will make you angry.'
 20 But Esaias is very bold and saith, 'I was found by those not seeking me, I became manifested to those not inquiring for me;'
 21 but with regard to Israel he saith, 'All the day long I spread out my hands towards a people disobedient and gainsaying.'

ROMANS II WK

- 1 I say then, Did God thrust away his people? Let it not be; for I also am an Israelite, of Abraham's seed, of [the] tribe of Benjamin.
 2 God had not thrust away his people whom he foreknew. What, know ye not what the scripture saith in Elias's [case]; how he pleadeth with God against Israel?
 3 'Lord, thy prophets they slew, thy altars they digged down, and I was left alone, and they seek my life.'
 4 But what saith the divine answer to him? 'I left for myself seven thousand men which never bowed knee to Baal.'
 5 So then in the present time also there hath been a remnant according to election of grace;
 6 and if by grace, no longer by works, since [otherwise] grace becometh no longer grace.^Λ
 7 What then? That which Israel seeketh after, this it did not obtain, but the election obtained [it]; but the rest were hardened,
 8 even as it is written, 'God gave them a spirit of slumber, eyes so as not to see, and ears so as not to hear, until this day.'
 9 And David saith, 'Let their table be for a snare and for a trap and for a stumblingblock and for a recompense to them:
 10 let their eyes be darkened so as not to see, and their back ever bend thou down.'
 11 I say then, Did they stumble that they should fall? Let it not be; but by their slip [there is] salvation to the Gentiles, in order to make them jealous.
 12 But if their slip [be the] world's riches and their loss [the] Gentiles' riches, how much more their fulness?
 13 For I speak to you the Gentiles. Inasmuch then as I am apostle of Gentiles I glorify my ministry, 14 if by any means I may stir to jealousy my flesh and save some of them.

- 15 For if their casting away [be the] world's reconciliation, what [their] reception but life from among [the] dead?
 - 16 Now if the firstfruit [be] holy, the lump also; and if the root [be] holy, the branches also.
 - 17 Now if some of the branches have been broken out, and thou, being a wild olive tree, hast been grafted in amongst them, and hast become a fellowpartaker of the root and of the fatness of the olive tree,
 - 18 boast not against the branches; but if thou boast, [it is] not thou bearest the root, but the root thee.
 - 19 Thou wilt say then, The branches have been broken out in order that I might be grafted in.
 - 20 Right: they have been broken out through unbelief, and thou standest through faith. Be not high-minded, but fear:
 - 21 if God indeed has not spared the natural branches; lest it might be he spare not thee either.
 - 22 Behold then [the] goodness and severity of God: upon them who have fallen, severity; upon thee goodness of God, if thou shalt abide in goodness, since [otherwise] thou also wilt be cut away.
 - 23 And they too, if they abide not in unbelief, shall be grafted in; for God is able again to graff them in.
 - 24 For if thou hast been cut out of the olive tree wild by nature, and, contrary to nature, hast been grafted into the good olive tree, how much rather shall they who are according to nature be grafted into their own olive tree?
 - 25 For I do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, of this mystery, that ye may not be wise in your own conceits, that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the nations be come in;
 - 26 and so all Israel shall be saved. According as it is written, The deliverer shall come out of Sion; he shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob.
 - 27 And this is the covenant from me to them, when I shall have taken away their sins.
 - 28 As regards the glad tidings, [they are] enemies on your account; but as regards election, beloved on account of the fathers.
 - 29 For the gifts and the calling of God [are] not subject to repentance.
 - 30 For as indeed ye [also] once have not believed in God, but now have been objects of mercy through the unbelief of these;
 - 31 so these also have now not believed in your mercy, in order that they also may be objects of mercy.
 - 32 For God hath shut up together all in unbelief, in order that he might shew mercy to all.
 - 33 O depth of riches both of [the] wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable his judgments, and untraceable his ways!
 - 34 For who has known [the] mind of [the] Lord, or who has been his counsellor?
 - 35 or who has first given to him, and it shall be rendered to him?
- 15 For if the rejection of them [be the] world's reconciliation, what their reception but life out of [the] dead?
 - 16 But if the firstfruit [be] holy, the lump [is] also; and if holy the root, the branches also.
 - 17 But if some of the branches were broken off, and thou being a wild olive wert grafted in among them and becamest a fellow-partaker of the root and the fatness of the olive tree,
 - 18 boast not against the branches; but if thou boastest against [them], thou bearest not the root but the root thee.
 - 19 Thou wilt say then, The branches were broken off that I might be grafted in.
 - 20 Right: through unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest through faith. Be not highminded, but fear;
 - 21 for if God spared not the natural branches, [fear] lest somehow thee he will not even spare.
 - 22 Behold then God's goodness and severity: upon those that fell severity, and upon thee God's goodness, if thou abide in the goodness; since [otherwise] thou also shalt be cut off.
 - 23 And they too, if they abide not in unbelief, shall be grafted in; for God is able to graft them in again.
 - 24 For if thou hast been cut out of the naturally wild olive tree, and contrary to nature wert grafted into a good olive tree, how much more shall these that [are] natural be grafted into their own olive tree?
 - 25 For I do not wish you, brethren, to be ignorant of this mystery, that ye be not wise in your own eyes, that hardness hath happened in part to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles come in;
 - 26 and so all Israel shall be saved, even as it is written, 'There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer; he shall turn away ungodlinesses from Jacob.
 - 27 And this [is] for them the covenant on my part, when I shall have taken away their sins.'
 - 28 As to the gospel, [they are] enemies on your account, but as to the election beloved on account of the fathers;
 - 29 for indefeasible are [the] gifts and the calling of God.
 - 30 For as ye once were disobedient to God but now have been shewn mercy through their disobedience,
 - 31 so also these have now disobeyed your mercy, that they also may have mercy shewn to themselves.
 - 32 For God hath shut all together into disobedience that to all he might shew mercy.
 - 33 O depth of [^] God's riches and wisdom and knowledge! how unsearchable his judgments and untraceable his ways!
 - 34 For who knew [the] Lord's mind? or who became his counsellor!
 - 35 or who first gave him and it shall be repaid him?

- 36 For of him, and through him, and for him [are] all things: to him be glory for ever. Amen.

ROMANS 12 JND

- 1 I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the compassion of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, [which is] your intelligent service.
- 2 And be not conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of [your] mind, that ye may prove what [is] the good and acceptable and perfect will of God.
- 3 For I say, through the grace which has been given to me, to every one that is among you, not to have high thoughts above what he should think; but to think so as to be wise, as God has dealt to each a measure of faith.
- 4 For, as in one body we have many members, but all the members have not the same office;
- 5 thus we, [being] many, are one body in Christ, and each one members one of the other.
- 6 But having different gifts, according to the grace which has been given to us, whether [it be] prophecy, [let us prophesy] according to the proportion of faith;
- 7 or service, [let us occupy ourselves] in service; or he that teaches, in teaching;
- 8 or he that exhorts, in exhortation; he that gives, in simplicity; he that leads, with diligence; he that shews mercy, with cheerfulness.
- 9 Let love be unfeigned; abhorring evil; cleaving to good:
- 10 as to brotherly love, kindly affectioned towards one another: as to honour, each taking the lead in paying it to the other:
- 11 as to diligent zealousness, not slothful; in spirit fervent; serving the Lord.
- 12 As regards hope, rejoicing: as regards tribulation, enduring: as regards prayer, persevering:
- 13 distributing to the necessities of the saints; given to hospitality.
- 14 Bless them that persecute you; bless, and curse not.
- 15 Rejoice with those that rejoice, weep with those that weep.
- 16 Have the same respect one for another, not minding high things, but going along with the lowly: be not wise in your own eyes:
- 17 recompensing to no one evil for evil: providing things honest before all men:
- 18 if possible, as far as depends on you, living in peace with all men;
- 19 not avenging yourselves, beloved, but give place to wrath; for it is written, Vengeance [belongs] to me, I will recompense, saith the Lord.
- 20 If therefore thine enemy should hunger, feed him; if he should thirst, give him drink; for, so doing, thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head.
- 21 Be not overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

- 36 For of him and through him and unto him [are] all things: to him [be] the glory for ever. Amen.

ROMANS 12 WK

- 1 I exhort you then, brethren, by the mercies of God to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, your intelligent service;
- 2 and not to fashion yourselves to this age but to be transformed by the renewing of the mind that ye may prove what [is] the good and acceptable and perfect will of God.
- 3 For through the grace of God that is given to me, I say to every one that is among you not to be high-minded above what he ought to be minded, but to be minded to sobermindedness as God to each hath dealt a measure of faith.
- 4 For just as in one body we have many members, but the members have not all the same function,
- 5 so we, the many, are one body in Christ, but individually members of one another.
- 6 But having gifts different according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, [let us prophesy] according to the proportion of [^] faith;
- 7 or service, [let us be occupied] in service; or he that teacheth, in teaching;
- 8 or he that exhorteth, in exhortation; he that bestoweth, with simplicity; he that presideth, with diligence; he that sheweth mercy, with cheerfulness.
- 9 Let love [be] unfeigned, abhorring evil, cleaving to good;
- 10 in brotherly love affectionate to one another; in honour anticipating one another;
- 11 in diligence not slothful, in spirit fervent, serving the Lord;
- 12 in hope rejoicing; in tribulation enduring, in prayer persevering;
- 13 communicating to the wants of the saints, pursuing hospitality.
- 14 Bless those that persecute you; bless and curse not.
- 15 Rejoice with those that rejoice, and weep with those that weep.
- 16 Be of the same mind one toward another, not minding high things, but consorting with the lowly. Be not wise in your own eyes:
- 17 repay to none evil for evil; providing things right in the sight of all men;
- 18 if possible, on your part be at peace with all men;
- 19 avenge not yourselves, beloved, but give place to [^] wrath; for it is written, 'To me [belongeth] vengeance, I will requite,' saith the Lord.
- 20 Nay, 'if thine enemy should be hungry, feed him; if he should thirst, give him drink; for, this doing, thou wilt heap coals of fire on his head.'
- 21 Be not overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

ROMANS 13 JND

- 1 Let every soul be subject to the authorities that are above [him]. For there is no authority except from God; and those that exist are set up by God.
- 2 So that he that sets himself in opposition to the authority resists the ordinance of God; and they who [thus] resist shall bring sentence of guilt on themselves.
- 3 For rulers are not a terror to a good work, but to an evil [one]. Dost thou desire then not to be afraid of the authority? practise [what is] good, and thou shalt have praise from it;
- 4 for it is God's minister to thee for good. But if thou practisest evil, fear; for it bears not the sword in vain; for it is God's minister, an avenger for wrath to him that does evil.
- 5 Wherefore it is necessary to be subject, not only on account of wrath, but also on account of conscience.
- 6 For on this account ye pay tribute also; for they are God's officers, attending continually on this very thing.
- 7 Render to all their dues: to whom tribute [is due], tribute; to whom custom, custom; to whom fear, fear; to whom honour, honour.
- 8 Owe no one anything, unless to love one another: for he that loves another has fulfilled the law.
- 9 For, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not lust; and if there be any other commandment, it is summed up in this word, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
- 10 Love works no ill to its neighbour: love therefore [is the] whole law.
- 11 This also, knowing the time, that it is already time that we should be aroused out of sleep; for now [is] our salvation nearer than when we believed.
- 12 The night is far spent, and the day is near; let us cast away therefore the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.
- 13 As in the day, let us walk becomingly; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and lasciviousness, not in strife and emulation.
- 14 But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and do not take forethought for the flesh to [fulfil its] lusts.

ROMANS 14 JND

- 1 Now him that is weak in the faith receive, not to [the] determining of questions of reasoning.
- 2 One man is assured that he may eat all things; but the weak eats herbs.
- 3 Let not him that eats make little of him that eats not; and let not him that eats not judge him that eats: for God has received him.
- 4 Who art thou that judgest the servant of another? to his own master he stands or falls. And he shall be made to stand; for the Lord is able to make him stand.

ROMANS 13 WK

- 1 Let every soul be subject to authorities above [it]. For there is no authority unless from God; and those that are have been ordained by God.
- 2 So that he that setteth himself against the authority withstandeth the ordinance of God; and those that withstand shall receive judgment for themselves.
- 3 For the rulers are no terror for the good work but for the evil. And dost thou wish not to be afraid of the authority? Practise good and thou shalt have praise for it;
- 4 for it is God's servant to thee for good. But if thou practise evil, be afraid; for not in vain doth it wear the sword; for God's servant it is, an avenger for wrath to him that doeth evil.
- 5 Wherefore [there is] a necessity to be subject not only on account of wrath but also on account of conscience.
- 6 For on this account ye pay tribute also; for they are God's officers, ever attending unto this very thing.
- 7 Render to all their dues, tribute to whom tribute, custom to whom custom, fear to whom fear, honour to whom honour.
- 8 To none owe anything unless to love one another; for he that loveth the other hath fulfilled law.
- 9 For 'Thou shalt not commit adultery,' 'Thou shalt not kill,' 'Thou shalt not steal,' 'Thou shalt not lust,' and if [there be] any other commandment, in this word it is summed up, in 'Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.'
- 10 Love worketh no ill to one's neighbour; love therefore is law's fulness.
- 11 And this, knowing the time, that [it is] already time that we should awake from sleep; for now [is] our salvation nearer than when we believed.
- 12 The night is far spent, and the day is near: let us therefore put off the deeds of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.
- 13 As in daylight, let us walk becomingly, not in revels and drunkenness, not in chambering and indecency, not in strife and envy;
- 14 but put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and take no forethought of the flesh with a view to lusts.

ROMANS 14 WK

- 1 But him that is weak in the faith receive not unto decisions of reasonings.
- 2 One person hath faith to eat all things but he that is weak eateth herbs.
- 3 Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not; and let not him that eateth not judge him that eateth; for God hath received him.
- 4 Who art thou that judgest another's servant? To his own master he standeth or falleth; and stand he shall, for his master is able to make him stand.

- 5 One man esteems day more than day; another esteems every day [alike]. Let each be fully persuaded in his own mind.
- 6 He that regards the day, regards it to [the] Lord. And he that eats, eats to [the] Lord, for he gives God thanks; and he that does not eat, [it is] to [the] Lord he does not eat, and gives God thanks.
- 7 For none of us lives to himself, and none dies to himself.
- 8 For both if we should live, [it is] to the Lord we live; and if we should die, [it is] to the Lord we die: both if we should live then, and if we should die, we are the Lord's.
- 9 For to this [end] Christ has died and lived [again], that he might rule over both dead and living.
- 10 But thou, why judgest thou thy brother? or again, thou, why dost thou make little of thy brother? for we shall all be placed before the judgment-seat of God.
- 11 For it is written, I live, saith [the] Lord, that to me shall bow every knee, and every tongue shall confess to God.
- 12 So then each of us shall give an account concerning himself to God.
- 13 Let us no longer therefore judge one another; but judge ye this rather, not to put a stumbling-block or a fall-trap before his brother.
- 14 I know, and am persuaded in the Lord Jesus, that nothing is unclean of itself; except to him who reckons anything to be unclean, to that man [it is] unclean.
- 15 For if on account of meat thy brother is grieved, thou walkest no longer according to love. Destroy not him with thy meat for whom Christ has died.
- 16 Let not then your good be evil spoken of;
- 17 for the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in [the] Holy Spirit.
- 18 For he that in this serves the Christ [is] acceptable to God and approved of men.
- 19 So then let us pursue the things which tend to peace, and things whereby one shall build up another.
- 20 For the sake of meat do not destroy the work of God. All things indeed [are] pure; but [it is] evil to that man who eats while stumbling [in doing so].
- 21 [It is] right not to eat meat, nor drink wine, nor [do anything] in which thy brother stumbles, or is offended, or is weak.
- 22 Hast thou faith? have [it] to thyself before God. Blessed [is] he who does not judge himself in what he allows.
- 23 But he that doubts, if he eat, is condemned; because [it is] not of faith; but whatever [is] not of faith is sin.

ROMANS 15 JND

- 1 But we ought, we that are strong, to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.
- 2 Let each one of us please his neighbour with a view to what is good, to edification.

- 5 One [person] judgeth day more than day, another judgeth every day [alike]. Let each be fully assured in his own mind.
- 6 He that regardeth the day doth regard to [the] Lord, and he that regardeth not the day to [the] Lord doth not regard; and he that eateth eateth to [the] Lord, for he giveth thanks to God, and he that eateth not to [the] Lord eateth not and giveth thanks to God.
- 7 For none of us liveth to himself and none dieth to himself;
- 8 for both if we should live, to the Lord we live, and if we die, to the Lord we die; therefore both if we should live and if we should die, we are the Lord's.
- 9 For unto this [end] Christ [^] died and lived [^] , that he might be Lord both of dead and living.
- 10 But thou, why judgest thou thy brother? or thou too, why despisest thou thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment-seat of God.
- 11 For it is written, 'I live, saith [the] Lord, that to me shall bow every knee, and every tongue shall confess to God.'
- 12 So then each of us shall give account concerning himself to God.
- 13 Let us then no longer judge one another, but judge ye this rather, not to set an occasion of stumbling or offence for one's brother.
- 14 I know and am persuaded in [the] Lord Jesus that nothing [is] unclean by itself; unless to him that reckoneth anything to be unclean, to him [it is] unclean.
- 15 For if on account of meat thy brother is grieved, thou art no longer walking in love. Do not with thy meat destroy him for whom Christ died.
- 16 Let not then your good be ill spoken of;
- 17 for the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in [the] Holy Ghost;
- 18 for he that in this serveth Christ [is] acceptable to God and approved by men.
- 19 So then let us pursue the things of peace and the things of edifying one another.
- 20 Do not for the sake of meat pull down the work of God. All things are clean; but [it is] evil to the man that eateth while stumbling.
- 21 [It is] right not to eat flesh nor drink wine nor anything in which thy brother stumbleth [or is offended or is weak].
- 22 Hast thou faith? to thyself have [it] before God. Happy [is] he that judgeth not himself in what he approveth;
- 23 but he that doubteth is condemned if he eat, because [it is] not of faith; but everything which [is] not of faith is sin. [^]

ROMANS 15 WK

- 1 [^] But we, the strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves.
- 2 Let each of us please his neighbour unto good for edification.

- 3 For the Christ also did not please himself; but according as it is written, The reproaches of them that reproach thee have fallen upon me.
 - 4 For as many things as have been written before have been written for our instruction, that through endurance and through encouragement of the scriptures we might have hope.
 - 5 Now the God of endurance and of encouragement give to you to be like-minded one toward another, according to Christ Jesus;
 - 6 that ye may with one accord, with one mouth, glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - 7 Wherefore receive ye one another, according as the Christ also has received you to [the] glory of God.
 - 8 For I say that Jesus Christ became a minister of [the] circumcision for [the] truth of God, to confirm the promises of the fathers;
 - 9 and that the nations should glorify God for mercy; according as it is written, For this cause I will confess to thee among [the] nations, and will sing to thy name.
 - 10 And again he says, Rejoice, nations, with his people.
 - 11 And again, Praise the Lord, all [ye] nations, and let all the peoples laud him.
 - 12 And again, Esaias says, There shall be the root of Jesse, and one that arises, to rule over [the] nations: in him shall [the] nations hope.
 - 13 Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that ye should abound in hope by [the] power of [the] Holy Spirit.
 - 14 But I am persuaded, my brethren, I myself also, concerning you, that yourselves also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.
 - 15 But I have written to you the more boldly, [brethren,] in part, as putting you in mind, because of the grace given to me by God,
 - 16 for me to be minister of Christ Jesus to the nations, carrying on as a sacrificial service the message of glad tidings of God, in order that the offering up of the nations might be acceptable, sanctified by [the] Holy Spirit.
 - 17 I have therefore [whereof to] boast in Christ Jesus in the things which pertain to God.
 - 18 For I will not dare to speak anything of the things which Christ has not wrought by me, for [the] obedience of [the] nations, by word and deed,
 - 19 in [the] power of signs and wonders, in [the] power of [the] Spirit of God; so that I, from Jerusalem, and in a circuit round to Illyricum, have fully preached the glad tidings of the Christ;
 - 20 and so aiming to announce the glad tidings, not where Christ has been named, that I might not build upon another's foundation;
 - 21 but according as it is written, To whom there was nothing told concerning him, they shall see; and they that have not heard shall understand.
- 3 For even Christ pleased not himself, but even as it is written, 'The reproaches of those that are reproaching thee fell on me.'
 - 4 For as many things as were written before were written for our instruction, that through endurance and through comfort of the scriptures we might have hope.
 - 5 Now the God of patience and of comfort give you to be likeminded one with another according to Christ Jesus,
 - 6 that with one accord, with one mouth, ye may glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
 - 7 Wherefore receive ye one another according as Christ also received you unto God's glory.
 - 8 For I say that Christ became a minister of [the] circumcision for God's truth to confirm the promises of the fathers;
 - 9 and that the Gentiles should glorify God for mercy, even as it is written, 'On this account I will confess to thee among [the] Gentiles, and to thy name will I sing.'
 - 10 And again he saith, 'Rejoice, Gentiles, with his people;'
 - 11 and, again, 'Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and give him praise, all ye people.'
 - 12 And again Esaias saith, 'There shall be the root of Jesse, and he that standeth up to rule Gentiles: on him shall Gentiles hope.'
 - 13 Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope by the power of [the] Holy Ghost.
 - 14 But I am persuaded, my brethren, even I myself about you, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.
 - 15 But I have written to you, brethren, more boldly in measure, as reminding you on account of the grace that was given to me by God,
 - 16 in order to my being a minister of Jesus Christ unto the Gentiles, as a sacred rite ministering the gospel of God that the offering of the Gentiles might be acceptable, sanctified by [the] Holy Ghost.
 - 17 I have therefore my boasting in Christ Jesus in things relative to God.
 - 18 For I will not dare to speak of anything of what Christ has wrought not by me for [the] obedience of [the] Gentiles by word and deed,
 - 19 in [the] power of signs and wonders, in [the] power of [the] Holy Spirit; so that, from Jerusalem and in a circle as far as Illyricum, I have fully preached the gospel of Christ,
 - 20 yet so making it a point of honour to preach, not where Christ was named, that I might not build upon another's foundation:
 - 21 but even as it is written, 'They to whom it was not told concerning him shall see, and they who have not heard shall understand.'

- 22 Wherefore also I have been often hindered from coming to you.
 23 But now, having no longer place in these regions, and having great desire to come to you these many years,
 24 whenever I should go to Spain; (for I hope to see you as I go through, and by you to be set forward thither, if first I shall have been in part filled with your company;)
 25 but now I go to Jerusalem, ministering to the saints;
 26 for Macedonia and Achaia have been well pleased to make a certain contribution for the poor of the saints who [are] in Jerusalem.
 27 They have been well pleased indeed, and they are their debtors; for if the nations have participated in their spiritual things, they ought also in fleshly to minister to them.
 28 Having finished this therefore, and having sealed to them this fruit, I will set off by you into Spain.
 29 But I know that, coming to you, I shall come in [the] fulness of [the] blessing of Christ.
 30 But I beseech you, brethren, by our Lord Jesus Christ, and by the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in prayers for me to God;
 31 that I may be saved from those that do not believe in Judæa; and that my ministry which [I have] for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints;
 32 in order that I may come to you in joy by God's will, and that I may be refreshed with you.
 33 And the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

- 1 But I commend to you Phœbe, our sister, who is minister of the assembly which is in Cenchrea;
 2 that ye may receive her in [the] Lord worthily of saints, and that ye may assist her in whatever matter she has need of you; for she also has been a helper, of many, and of myself.
 3 Salute Prisca and Aquila, my fellow-workmen in Christ Jesus,
 4 (who for my life staked their own neck; to whom not I only am thankful, but also all the assemblies of the nations,)
 5 and the assembly at their house. Salute Epænetus, my beloved, who is [the] firstfruits of Asia for Christ.
 6 Salute Maria, who laboured much for you.
 7 Salute Andronicus and Junias, my kinsmen and fellow-captives, who are of note among the apostles; who were also in Christ before me.
 8 Salute Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.
 9 Salute Urbanus, our fellow-workman in Christ, and Stachys, my beloved.
 10 Salute Apelles, approved in Christ. Salute those who belong to Aristobulus.
 11 Salute Herodion, my kinsman. Salute those who belong to Narcissus, who are in [the] Lord.

- 22 Wherefore also I have been these many times hindered from coming to you;
 23 but now, having no longer place in these regions, and having a longing to come to you for many years past,
 24 whenever I go into Spain [I will come to you, for] I hope while passing through to see you, and by you to be sent forward thither, if first I be in measure filled with you.
 25 But now I go unto Jerusalem, ministering to the saints;
 26 for Macedonia and Achaia were pleased to make a certain contribution for the poor of the saints that [are] at Jerusalem.
 27 For they were pleased, and they are their debtors; for if in their spiritual things the Gentiles had a share, they ought also in things carnal to minister to them.
 28 Having finished this therefore and sealed to them this fruit, I shall set off by you into Spain.
 29 And I know that, on coming to you, I shall come in [the] fulness of [the] blessing of Christ.
 30 Now I beseech you, brethren, by our Lord Jesus Christ, and by the love of the Spirit, to strive with me in prayer for me to God,
 31 that I may be delivered from the disobedient in Judea, and my ministry that [is] for Jerusalem may be acceptable to the saints;
 32 that in joy coming to you by God's will I may be refreshed with you.
 33 And the God of peace [be] with you all. Amen.

 3 Salute Prisca and Aquila, my work-fellows in Christ Jesus

 - 18 For such serve not our Lord Christ, but their own belly, and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the unsuspecting.

- 1 Paul, [a] called apostle of Jesus Christ, by God's will, and Sosthenes the brother,
- 2 to the assembly of God which is in Corinth, to [those] sanctified in Christ Jesus, called saints, with all that in every place call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, both theirs and ours:
- 3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 4 I thank my God always about you, in respect of the grace of God given to you in Christ Jesus;
- 5 that in everything ye have been enriched in him, in all word [of doctrine], and all knowledge,
- 6 (according as the testimony of the Christ has been confirmed in you,)
- 7 so that ye come short in no gift, awaiting the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 8 who shall also confirm you to [the] end, unimpeachable in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 9 God [is] faithful, by whom ye have been called into [the] fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.
- 10 Now I exhort you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all say the same thing, and that there be not among you divisions; but that ye be perfectly united in the same mind and in the same opinion.
- 11 For it has been shewn to me concerning you, my brethren, by those of [the house of] Chloe, that there are strifes among you.
- 12 But I speak of this, that each of you says, I am of Paul, and I of Apollos, and I of Cephas, and I of Christ.
- 13 Is the Christ divided? has Paul been crucified for you? or have ye been baptised unto the name of Paul?
- 14 I thank God that I have baptised none of you, unless Crispus and Gaius,
- 15 that no one may say that I have baptised unto my own name.
- 16 Yes, I baptised also the house of Stephanas; for the rest I know not if I have baptised any other.
- 17 For Christ has not sent me to baptise, but to preach glad tidings; not in wisdom of word, that the cross of the Christ may not be made vain.
- 18 For the word of the cross is to them that perish foolishness, but to us that are saved it is God's power.
- 19 For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and set aside the understanding of the understanding ones.
- 20 Where [is the] wise? where scribe? where disputer of this world? has not God made foolish the wisdom of the world?
- 21 For since, in the wisdom of God, the world by wisdom has not known God, God has been pleased by the foolishness of the preaching to save those that believe.
- 22 Since Jews indeed ask for signs, and Greeks seek wisdom;
- 23 but we preach Christ crucified, to Jews an offence, and to nations foolishness;
- 24 but to those that [are] called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ God's power and God's wisdom.

I Corinthians

- 25 Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
- 26 For consider your calling, brethren, that [there are] not many wise according to flesh, not many powerful, not many high-born.
- 27 But God has chosen the foolish things of the world, that he may put to shame the wise; and God has chosen the weak things of the world, that he may put to shame the strong things;
- 28 and the ignoble things of the world, and the despised, has God chosen, [and] things that are not, that he may annul the things that are;
- 29 so that no flesh should boast before God.
- 30 But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who has been made to us wisdom from God, and righteousness, and holiness, and redemption;

1 CORINTHIANS 2 JND

- 1 And I, when I came to you, brethren, came not in excellency of word, or wisdom, announcing to you the testimony of God.
- 2 For I did not judge [it well] to know anything among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.
- 3 And I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling;
- 4 and my word and my preaching, not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of [the] Spirit and of power;
- 5 that your faith might not stand in men's wisdom, but in God's power.
- 6 But we speak wisdom among the perfect; but wisdom not of this world, nor of the rulers of this world, who come to nought.
- 7 But we speak God's wisdom in [a] mystery, that hidden [wisdom] which God had predetermined before the ages for our glory:
- 8 which none of the princes of this age knew, (for had they known, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory;)
- 9 but according as it is written, Things which eye has not seen, and ear not heard, and which have not come into man's heart, which God has prepared for them that love him,
- 10 but God has revealed to us by [his] Spirit; for the Spirit searches all things, even the depths of God.
- 11 For who of men hath known the things of a man except the spirit of the man which is in him? thus also the things of God knows no one except the Spirit of God.
- 12 But we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit which [is] of God, that we may know the things which have been freely given to us of God:
- 13 which also we speak, not in words taught by human wisdom, but in those taught by the Spirit, communicating spiritual [things] by spiritual [means].

- 25 because the foolishness of God is wiser than men, and the weakness of God is stronger than men.
- 26 For look at your calling, brethren, that not many [are] wise according to flesh, not many powerful, not many high-born.
- 27 But the foolish things of the world God chose that he might put to shame the wise; and the weak things of the world God chose that he might put to shame the strong things;
- 28 and the low-born things of the world and those despised God chose, [and] the things that are not, that he might bring to nought the things that are,
- 29 so that no flesh should boast before God.
- 30 But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who was made wisdom to us from God, and righteousness and sanctification and redemption;
- 31 that, according as it is written, He that boasteth, let him boast in [the] Lord.

- 14 But [the] natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God, for they are folly to him; and he cannot know [them] because they are spiritually discerned;
 15 but the spiritual discerns all things, and he is discerned of no one.
 16 For who has known the mind of [the] Lord, who shall instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS 3 JND

- 1 And I, brethren, have not been able to speak to you as to spiritual, but as to fleshly; as to babes in Christ.
 2 I have given you milk to drink, not meat, for ye have not yet been able, nor indeed are ye yet able;
 3 for ye are yet carnal. For whereas [there are] among you emulation and strife, are ye not carnal, and walk according to man?
 4 For when one says, I am of Paul, and another, I of Apollos, are ye not men?
 5 Who then is Apollos, and who Paul? Ministering servants, through whom ye have believed, and as the Lord has given to each.
 6 I have planted; Apollos watered; but God has given the increase.
 7 So that neither the planter is anything, nor the waterer; but God the giver of the increase.
 8 But the planter and the waterer are one; but each shall receive his own reward according to his own labour.
 9 For we are God's fellow-workmen; ye are God's husbandry, God's building.
 10 According to the grace of God which has been given to me, as a wise architect, I have laid the foundation, but another builds upon it. But let each see how he builds upon it.
 11 For other foundation can no man lay besides that which [is] laid, which is Jesus Christ.
 12 Now if any one build upon [this] foundation, gold, silver, precious stones, wood, grass, straw, 13 the work of each shall be made manifest; for the day shall declare [it], because it is revealed in fire; and the fire shall try the work of each what it is.
 14 If the work of any one which he has built upon [the foundation] shall abide, he shall receive a reward.
 15 If the work of any one shall be consumed, he shall suffer loss, but he shall be saved, but so as through [the] fire.
 16 Do ye not know that ye are [the] temple of God, and [that] the Spirit of God dwells in you?
 17 If any one corrupt the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, and such are ye.
 18 Let no one deceive himself: if any one thinks himself to be wise among you in this world, let him become foolish, that he may be wise.
 19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God; for it is written, He who takes the wise in their craftiness.
 20 And again, [The] Lord knows the reasonings of the wise that they are vain.

- 14 But [the] natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are folly to him, and he cannot know [them] because they are spiritually examined;
 15 but the spiritual [man] examineth all things, while he himself is examined by no one.
 16 For who hath known [the] Lord's mind that he should instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

1 CORINTHIANS 3 WK

- 1 And I, brethren, was not able to speak to you as spiritual, but as fleshy, as babes in Christ.
 2 With milk I gave you drink, not meat; for ye were not yet able, nor indeed are ye now able,
 3 for ye are yet carnal. For whereas emulation and strife [^] [are] among you, are ye not carnal and walk according to man?
 4 For when one saith, I am of Paul, and I of Apollos, are ye not men?
 5 What then is Apollos? and what is Paul? [^] Ministers by whom ye believed, and as the Lord gave to each.
 6 I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase.
 7 So that neither he that planteth is anything, nor he that watereth, but God that giveth the increase.
 8 And he that planteth and he that watereth are one thing; but each shall receive his own reward according to his own labour.
 9 For we are God's fellow-workmen; ye are God's tillage, God's building.
 10 According to the grace of God that was given to me, as a wise architect I laid the foundation and another buildeth on [it]. But let each see how he buildeth on [it].
 11 For other foundation can none lay than what is laid, which is Jesus Christ.
 12 Now if any one build on this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, grass, straw, 13 the work of each shall be made manifest; for the day shall declare [it], because it is to be revealed in fire, and the fire itself shall try the work of each, of what sort it is.
 14 If the work of any one shall abide which he built on [it], he shall receive reward:
 15 if the work of any one shall be burnt up, he shall suffer loss, but himself shall be saved but so as through fire.
 16 Know ye not that ye are [^] God's temple, and [that] the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?
 17 If any one destroy the temple of God, him shall God destroy, for the temple of God is holy, the which ye are.
 18 Let none deceive himself; if any one thinketh himself to be wise among you in this age, let him become foolish that he may be wise.
 19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God; for it is written, He that taketh the wise in their craftiness;
 20 and again, [The] Lord knoweth the reasonings of the wise that they are vain.

1 Corinthians

- 21 So that let no one boast in men; for all things are yours.
22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or [the] world, or life, or death, or things present, or things coming, all are yours;
23 and ye [are] Christ's, and Christ [is] God's.

1 CORINTHIANS 4 JND

- 1 Let a man so account of us as servants of Christ, and stewards of [the] mysteries of God.
2 Here, further, it is sought in stewards that a man be found faithful.
3 But for me it is the very smallest matter that I be examined of you or of man's day. Nor do I even examine myself.
4 For I am conscious of nothing in myself; but I am not justified by this: but he that examines me is the Lord.
5 So that do not judge anything before [the] time, until the Lord shall come, who shall also both bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and shall make manifest the counsels of hearts; and then shall each have [his] praise from God.
6 Now these things, brethren, I have transferred, in their application, to myself and Apollos, for your sakes, that ye may learn in us the [lesson of] not [letting your thoughts go] above what is written, that ye may not be puffed up one for [such a] one against another.
7 For who makes thee to differ? and what hast thou which thou hast not received? but if also thou hast received, why boastest thou as not receiving?
8 Already ye are filled; already ye have been enriched; ye have reigned without us; and I would that ye reigned, that we also might reign with you.
9 For I think that God has set us the apostles for the last, as appointed to death. For we have become a spectacle to the world, both to angels and men.
10 We [are] fools for Christ's sake, but ye prudent in Christ: we weak, but ye strong: ye glorious, but we in dishonour.
11 To the present hour we both hunger and thirst, and are in nakedness, and buffeted, and wander without a home,
12 and labour, working with our own hands. Railed at, we bless; persecuted, we suffer [it];
13 insulted, we entreat: we are become as [the] offscouring of the world, [the] refuse of all, until now.
14 Not [as] chiding do I write these things to you, but as my beloved children I admonish [you].
15 For if ye should have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet not many fathers; for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the glad tidings.
16 I entreat you therefore, be my imitators.
17 For this reason I have sent to you Timotheus, who is my beloved and faithful child in [the] Lord, who shall put you in mind of my ways [as] they [are] in Christ, according as I teach everywhere in every assembly.
18 But some have been puffed up, as if I were not coming to you;

- 21 Wherefore let none boast in men, for all things are yours:
22 whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come, all are yours,
23 and ye Christ's, and Christ God's.

1 CORINTHIANS 4 WK

- 1 So let a man account of us, as servants of Christ and stewards of [^] God's mysteries.
2 Here moreover it is sought in stewards that one be found faithful,
3 but to me it amounteth to very little that I be examined by you, or by man's day. Nay, I do not examine even myself,
4 for I am conscious to myself of nothing, yet I am not justified by this, but he that examineth me is the Lord.
5 So then judge nothing prematurely until the Lord shall have come, who shall both bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and shall make manifest the counsels of the hearts, and then shall each have his praise from God.
6 And these things, brethren, I [^] transferred to myself and Apollos on your account, that ye may in our case learn, Nothing above what is written, [^] in order that ye be not puffed up one for one against another.
7 For who distinguisheth thee? and what hast thou which thou didst not receive? But if thou didst even receive, why boastest thou as not having received?
8 Already ye are filled, already ye have been enriched, apart from us ye reigned; and I would that ye did reign, that we also might reign with you.
9 For, I think, [^] God [^] set us the apostles last as devoted to death, because we became a spectacle to the world, to both angels and men:
10 we, fools for Christ, but ye prudent in Christ; we weak, but ye strong; ye illustrious, but we disgraced.
11 Until the present hour we both hunger and thirst, and are naked and are buffeted and are homeless wanderers,
12 and we toil, working with our own hands; reviled, we bless, persecuted, we suffer;
13 slandered, we beseech. We became as the world's scum, off-scouring of all, until now.
14 Not to abash you do I write these things, but as my beloved children I admonish [you];
15 for if ye should have ten thousand child-guides in Christ, yet not many fathers, for in Christ Jesus, through the gospel, I begot you.
16 I beseech you then, become imitators of me.
17 For this cause I sent to you Timothy, who is my beloved and faithful child in [the] Lord, who will remind you of my ways that are in Christ [Jesus], even as everywhere in every assembly I teach.
18 Now some were puffed up as though I were not coming unto you;

- 19 but I will come quickly to you, if the Lord will; and I will know, not the word of those that are puffed up, but the power.
 20 For the kingdom of God [is] not in word but in power.
 21 What will ye? that I come to you with a rod; or in love, and [in] a spirit of meekness?

1 CORINTHIANS 5 JND

- 1 It is universally reported [that there is] fornication among you, and such fornication as [is] not even among the nations, so that one should have his father's wife.
 2 And ye are puffed up, and ye have not rather mourned, in order that he that has done this deed might be taken away out of the midst of you.
 3 For I, [as] absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged as present, [to deliver,]
 4 in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ (ye and my spirit being gathered together, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ), him that has so wrought this:
 5 to deliver him, [I say,] [being] such, to Satan for destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.
 6 Your boasting [is] not good. Do ye not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump?
 7 Purge out the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, according as ye are unleavened. For also our passover, Christ, has been sacrificed;
 8 so that let us celebrate the feast, not with old leaven, nor with leaven of malice and wickedness, but with unleavened [bread] of sincerity and truth.
 9 I have written to you in the epistle not to mix with fornicators;
 10 not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the avaricious and rapacious, or idolaters, since [then] ye should go out of the world.
 11 But now I have written to you, if any one called brother be fornicator, or avaricious, or idolater, or abusive, or a drunkard, or rapacious, not to mix with [him]; with such a one not even to eat.
 12 For what have I [to do] with judging those outside also? ye, do not ye judge them that are within?
 13 But those without God judges. Remove the wicked person from amongst yourselves.

1 CORINTHIANS 6 JND

- 1 Dare any one of you, having a matter against another, prosecute his suit before the unjust, and not before the saints?
 2 Do ye not then know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world is judged by you, are ye unworthy of [the] smallest judgments?
 3 Do ye not know that we shall judge angels? and not then matters of this life?
 4 If then ye have judgments as to things of this life, set those [to judge] who are little esteemed in the assembly.

- 19 but I shall come shortly unto you, if the Lord will, and will know not the word of those that are puffed up but the power;
 20 for the kingdom of God [is] not in word but in power.
 21 What will ye? that I come unto you with a rod, or with love and a spirit of meekness?

1 CORINTHIANS 5 WK

- 1 Universal report is of fornication among you, and such fornication as [is] not even [^] among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife.
 2 And ye are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he that did this deed might be taken away out of the midst of you.
 3 For I [^], absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged as present,
 4 in the name of our Lord Jesus [Christ], ye and my spirit being gathered together with the power of our Lord Jesus [Christ], [concerning] him that so wrought this —
 5 to deliver such an one to Satan for destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.
 6 Your boasting [is] not good. Know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?
 7 Purge out [^] the old leaven that ye may be a new lump, according as ye are unleavened. For also our passover, Christ, was sacrificed.
 8 Wherefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with leaven of malice and wickedness, but with unleavened [bread] of sincerity and truth.
 9 I have written to you in the epistle not to mix with fornicators;
 10 [^] not absolutely with the fornicators of this world, or the covetous and rapacious or idolatrous, since [in that case] ye must go out of the world.
 11 But now I have written to you, if any one called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or idolatrous, or abusive, or a drunkard, or rapacious, not to mix with [him], with such an one not even to eat.
 12 For what [is it] to me to judge those without? [^] Do ye not judge those within?
 13 But those without God judgeth. [^] Put out the wicked person from among yourselves.

1 CORINTHIANS 6 WK

- 1 Dareth any of you, having a matter against another, go to law [or, seek judgment] before the unjust and not before the saints?
 2 What! know ye not that the saints shall judge the world? And if the world is judged by you, are ye unworthy of the least judgments?
 3 Know ye not that we shall judge angels? much more things of this life.
 4 If then ye have judgments in things of this life, set up those who are of no esteem in the assembly.

1 Corinthians

- 5 I speak to you [to put you] to shame. Thus there is not a wise person among you, not even one, who shall be able to decide between his brethren!
- 6 But brother prosecutes his suit with brother, and that before unbelievers.
- 7 Already indeed then it is altogether a fault in you that ye have suits between yourselves. Why do ye not rather suffer wrong? why are ye not rather defrauded?
- 8 But ye do wrong, and defraud, and this [your] brethren.
- 9 Do ye not know that unrighteous [persons] shall not inherit [the] kingdom of God? Do not err: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor those who make women of themselves, nor who abuse themselves with men,
- 10 nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor abusive persons, nor [the] rapacious, shall inherit [the] kingdom of God.
- 11 And these things were some of you; but ye have been washed, but ye have been sanctified, but ye have been justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.
- 12 All things are lawful to me, but all things do not profit; all things are lawful to me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.
- 13 Meats for the belly, and the belly for meats; but God will bring to nothing both it and them: but the body [is] not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.
- 14 And God has both raised up the Lord, and will raise us up from among [the dead] by his power.
- 15 Do ye not know that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then, taking the members of the Christ, make [them] members of a harlot?
- 16 Far be the thought. Do ye not know that he [that is] joined to the harlot is one body? for the two, he says, shall be one flesh.
- 17 But he that [is] joined to the Lord is one Spirit.
- 18 Flee fornication. Every sin which a man may practise is without the body, but he that commits fornication sins against his own body.
- 19 Do ye not know that your body is [the] temple of the Holy Spirit which [is] in you, which ye have of God; and ye are not your own?
- 20 for ye have been bought with a price: glorify now then God in your body.

1 CORINTHIANS 7 JND

- 1 But concerning the things of which ye have written [to me]: [It is] good for a man not to touch a woman;
- 2 but on account of fornications, let each have his own wife, and each [woman] have her own husband.
- 3 Let the husband render her due to the wife, and in like manner the wife to the husband.
- 4 The wife has not authority over her own body, but the husband: in like manner also the husband has not authority over his own body, but the wife.

- 5 I speak to your shame. Thus there is not among you one wise [man] who shall be able to decide among brethren [literally, "brother [and brother]"]!
- 6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and this before unbelievers.
- 7 Already therefore it is altogether a fault in you that ye go to law among yourselves. Why are ye not rather wronged? why are ye not rather defrauded?
- 8 But ye do wrong and defraud, and this brethren.
- 9 What! know ye not that unjust [men] shall not inherit God's kingdom? Do not err: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor abusers of themselves as women, nor abusers of themselves with men,
- 10 nor rapacious, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit God's kingdom.
- 11 And these things were some of you. But ye were washed [literally, "had yourselves washed"], but ye were sanctified, but ye were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus [Christ] and by the Spirit of our God.
- 12 All things are lawful to me, but not all things profit; all things are lawful to me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.
- 13 Meats for the belly, and the belly for meats, but God will bring to nought both it and them; but the body [is] not for fornication but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.
- 14 And God both raised the Lord, and will raise up us by his power.
- 15 Know ye not, that your bodies are members of Christ? Shall I then, taking the members of Christ, make [them] members of a harlot? Let it not be.
- 16 What! know ye not that he that is joined to the harlot is one body? For, saith he, the two [shall be] one flesh.
- 17 But he that is joined to the Lord is one spirit.
- 18 Flee fornication. Every sin whatsoever that a man may practise is outside the body, but the fornicator sinneth against his own body.
- 19 What! know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit that [is] in you, and that ye are not your own?
- 20 For ye were bought with a price: do then glorify God in your body. ^Λ

1 CORINTHIANS 7 WK

- 1 But concerning the things of which ye wrote [to me], [it is] good for a man not to touch a woman;
- 2 but on account of fornications let each have his own wife and each have her own husband.
- 3 To the wife let the husband render her due ^Λ, and likewise also the wife to the husband.
- 4 The wife hath not authority over her own body, but the husband; and likewise also the husband hath not authority over his own body, but the wife.

- 5 Defraud not one another, unless, it may be, by consent for a time, that ye may devote yourselves to prayer, and again be together, that Satan tempt you not because of your incontinency.
- 6 But this I say, as consenting [to], not as commanding [it].
- 7 Now I wish all men to be even as myself: but every one has his own gift of God: one man thus, and another thus.
- 8 But I say to the unmarried and to the widows, It is good for them that they remain even as I.
- 9 But if they have not control over themselves, let them marry; for it is better to marry than to burn.
- 10 But to the married I enjoin, not I, but the Lord, Let not wife be separated from husband;
- 11 (but if also she shall have been separated, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband;) and let not husband leave wife.
- 12 But as to the rest, I say, not the Lord, If any brother have an unbelieving wife, and she consent to dwell with him, let him not leave her.
- 13 And a woman who has an unbelieving husband, and he consents to dwell with her, let her not leave [her] husband.
- 14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified in the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified in the brother; since [otherwise] indeed your children are unclean, but now they are holy.
- 15 But if the unbeliever go away, let them go away; a brother or a sister is not bound in such [cases], but God has called us in peace.
- 16 For what knowest thou, O wife, if thou shalt save thy husband? or what knowest thou, O husband, if thou shalt save thy wife?
- 17 However, as the Lord has divided to each, as God has called each, so let him walk; and thus I ordain in all the assemblies.
- 18 Has any one been called circumcised? let him not become uncircumcised: has any one been called in uncircumcision? let him not be circumcised.
- 19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing; but keeping God's commandments.
- 20 Let each abide in that calling in which he has been called.
- 21 Hast thou been called [being] a bondman, let it not concern thee; but and if thou canst become free, use [it] rather.
- 22 For the bondman that is called in [the] Lord is the Lord's freedman; in like manner [also] the freeman being called is Christ's bondman.
- 23 Ye have been bought with a price; do not be the bondmen of men.
- 24 Let each, wherein he is called, brethren, therein abide with God.
- 25 But concerning virgins, I have no commandment of [the] Lord; but I give my opinion, as having received mercy of [the] Lord to be faithful.

- 5 Defraud not one another, unless by consent for a time, that ye may have leisure for [^] prayer and again be together, that Satan tempt you not because of your incontinency.
- 6 But this I say by way of permission, not by way of command.
- 7 Now I desire all men to be even as myself; but each hath his own gift of God, one this way, and another that.
- 8 But I say to the unmarried and to widows: It is good for them that they remain even as I.
- 9 But if they have not continency let them marry, for it is better to marry than to burn.
- 10 But to the married not I enjoin but the Lord, that wife be not separated from husband
- 11 (but if also she be separated, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband), and that husband leave [or, put away] not wife.
- 12 But to the rest I say, not the Lord, if any brother hath an unbelieving wife, and she consent to dwell with him, let him not leave [or, put away] her;
- 13 and a woman which hath an unbelieving husband, and he consenteth to dwell with her, let her not leave [or, put away] him.
- 14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified in the wife, [^] and the unbelieving wife is sanctified in the brother; since then your children are unclean, but now are they holy.
- 15 But if the unbelieving separateth himself, let him be separated. The brother or the sister [^] is not in bondage in such [circumstances]: but God hath called us in peace.
- 16 For what knowest thou, O wife, if thou shalt save thy husband? or what knowest thou, O husband, if thou shalt save thy wife?
- 17 Only as the Lord divided to each, as God hath called each, so let him walk. And so I ordain in all the assemblies.
- 18 Was any one called circumcised? Let him not become uncircumcised. Hath any one been called in uncircumcision? Let him not be circumcised.
- 19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but keeping God's commandments.
- 20 Let each abide in that calling in which he was called.
- 21 Wast thou called a bondman? Let it not be a care to thee; but if also thou canst be free, use [it] rather.
- 22 For the bondman called in [the] Lord is [the] Lord's freedman; likewise he that was called free is Christ's bondman.
- 23 Ye were bought with a price; become not bondmen of men.
- 24 Brethren, wherein each was called, in this let him abide with God.
- 25 Now concerning virgins command of [the] Lord have I none, but I give an opinion as having received mercy of [the] Lord to be faithful.

I Corinthians

- 26 I think then that this is good, on account of the present necessity, that [it is] good for a man to remain so as he is.
- 27 Art thou bound to a wife? seek not to be loosed; art thou free from a wife? do not seek a wife.
- 28 But if thou shouldest also marry, thou hast not sinned; and if the virgin marry, they have not sinned: but such shall have tribulation in the flesh; but I spare you.
- 29 But this I say, brethren, the time is straitened. For the rest, that they who have wives, be as not having [any]:
- 30 and they that weep, as not weeping; and they that rejoice, as not rejoicing; and they that buy, as not possessing;
- 31 and they that use the world, as not disposing of it as their own; for the fashion of this world passes.
- 32 But I wish you to be without care. The unmarried cares for the things of the Lord, how he shall please the Lord;
- 33 but he that has married cares for the things of the world, how he shall please his wife.
- 34 There is a difference between the wife and the virgin. The unmarried cares for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and spirit; but she that has married cares for the things of the world, how she shall please her husband.
- 35 But I say this for your own profit; not that I may set a snare before you, but for what [is] seemly, and waiting on the Lord without distraction.
- 36 But if any one think that he behaves unseemly to his virginity, if he be beyond the flower of his age, and so it must be, let him do what he will, he does not sin: let them marry.
- 37 But he who stands firm in his heart, having no need, but has authority over his own will, and has judged this in his heart to keep his own virginity, he does well.
- 38 So that he that marries himself does well; and he that does not marry does better.
- 39 A wife is bound for whatever time her husband lives; but if the husband be fallen asleep, she is free to be married to whom she will, only in [the] Lord.
- 40 But she is happier if she so remain, according to my judgment; but I think that I also have God's Spirit.

I CORINTHIANS 8 JND

- 1 But concerning things sacrificed to idols, we know, (for we all have knowledge: knowledge puffs up, but love edifies.
- 2 If any one think he knows anything, he knows nothing yet as he ought to know [it].
- 3 But if any one love God, he is known of him):
- 4 — concerning then the eating of things sacrificed to idols, we know that an idol [is] nothing in [the] world, and that there [is] no other God save one.

- 26 I think then that this is good because of the present necessity, that [it is] good for a man to be so.
- 27 Art thou bound to a wife? seek not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.
- 28 But if even thou shouldest have married, thou didst not sin; and if the virgin should have married, she did not sin. But such shall have tribulation in the flesh: but I am sparing you.
- 29 But this I say, brethren, [^] the season is straitened: henceforth that both those that have wives be as having none,
- 30 and those that weep as weeping not, and those that rejoice as rejoicing not, and those that buy as possessing not,
- 31 and those that use the world as not using [it] for themselves; for the fashion of the world passeth away.
- 32 But I would have you to be without care. The unmarried careth for the things of the Lord, how he shall please the Lord;
- 33 but he that hath married careth for the things of the world how he shall please his wife.
- 34 Divided also is both the wife and the virgin: the unmarried careth for the things of the Lord that she may be holy both in body and in spirit; but she that hath married careth for the things of the world how she shall please her husband.
- 35 But this I say for your own profit, not that I may cast a snare [lit. a noose] over you, but for what [is] seemly and waiting on the Lord undistractedly.
- 36 But if any one thinketh that he is behaving unseemly to his virginity, if he be past his prime, and so it ought to be, let him do what he will: he is not sinning, let them marry.
- 37 But he who standeth firm in his heart, having no necessity, and hath authority concerning his own will, and hath judged this in his own heart to keep his own virginity, shall do well.
- 38 So that he that marrieth [lit. his own virginity] doeth well, and he that marrieth not shall do better.
- 39 A wife is bound [^] as long as her husband liveth; but should the [^] husband have fallen asleep, she is free to be married to whom she will, only in [the] Lord.
- 40 But she is happier if she so remain according to my judgment, and I also think that I have God's Spirit.

I CORINTHIANS 8 WK

- 1 But concerning the things sacrificed to idols, we know [^] that we all have knowledge; knowledge puffeth up, but love edifieth.
- 2 If any one thinketh that he knoweth anything, not yet knoweth he as he ought to know;
- 3 but if any one loveth God, he is known by him.
- 4 Concerning the eating, then, of the things sacrificed to idols, we know that [there is] no idol in [the] world, and that [there is] no [^] God save one.

- 5 For and if indeed there are [those] called gods, whether in heaven or on earth, (as there are gods many, and lords many,)
- 6 yet to us [there is] one God, the Father, of whom all things, and we for him; and one Lord, Jesus Christ, by whom [are] all things, and we by him.
- 7 But knowledge [is] not in all: but some, with conscience of the idol, until now eat as of a thing sacrificed to idols; and their conscience, being weak, is defiled.
- 8 But meat does not commend us to God; neither if we should not eat do we come short; nor if we should eat have we an advantage.
- 9 But see lest anyway this your right [to eat] itself be a stumbling block to the weak.
- 10 For if any one see thee, who hast knowledge, sitting at table in an idol-house, shall not his conscience, he being weak, be emboldened to eat the things sacrificed to the idol?
- 11 and the weak [one], the brother for whose sake Christ died, will perish through thy knowledge.
- 12 Now, thus sinning against the brethren, and wounding their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.
- 13 Wherefore if meat be a fall-trap to my brother, I will eat no flesh for ever, that I may not be a fall-trap to my brother.

I CORINTHIANS 9 JND

- 1 Am I not free? am I not an apostle? have I not seen Jesus our Lord? are not ye my work in [the] Lord?
- 2 If I am not an apostle to others, yet at any rate I am to you: for the seal of mine apostleship are ye in [the] Lord.
- 3 My defence to those who examine me is this:
- 4 Have we not a right to eat and to drink?
- 5 have we not a right to take round a sister [as] wife, as also the other apostles, and the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?
- 6 Or I alone and Barnabas, have we not a right not to work?
- 7 Who ever carries on war at his own charges? who plants a vineyard and does not eat of its fruit? or who herds a flock and does not eat of the milk of the flock?
- 8 Do I speak these things as a man, or does not the law also say these things?
- 9 For in the law of Moses it is written, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that is treading out corn. Is God occupied about the oxen,
- 10 or does he say [it] altogether for our sakes? For for our sakes it has been written, that the plougher should plough in hope, and he that treads out corn, in hope of partaking of [it].
- 11 If we have sown to you spiritual things, [is it a] great [thing] if we shall reap your carnal things?
- 12 If others partake of this right over you, should not rather we? But we have not used this right, but we bear all things, that we may put no hindrance in the way of the glad tidings of the Christ.

- 5 For even if there are [so-]called gods whether in heaven, or on earth, as there are gods many and lords many;
- 6 yet to us [there is] one God the Father, of whom [are] all things, and we unto him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom [are] all things, and we by him.
- 7 Howbeit not in all [is] the knowledge, but some with conscience of the idol until now eat as of a thing sacrificed to an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.
- 8 But meat shall not commend us to God; [^] neither if we eat have we the advantage, nor if we eat not do we come short.
- 9 But see lest in any wise this your title become a stumbling-block to the weak.
- 10 For if any one see thee who hast knowledge sitting at table in an idol's temple, shall not his conscience, as he is weak, be emboldened to eat the things sacrificed to idols?
- 11 And he that is weak perisheth by thy knowledge, the brother for whom Christ died?
- 12 But thus sinning against the brethren, and wounding their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.
- 13 Wherefore, if meat stumble my brother, I will in nowise eat flesh for ever, that I may not stumble my brother.

I CORINTHIANS 9 WK

- 1 Am I not free? am I not an apostle? have I not seen Jesus [^] our Lord? my work are not ye in [the] Lord?
- 2 If I am not an apostle to others, yet at least I am to you; for the seal of my apostleship ye are in [the] Lord.
- 3 My defence to those that examine me is this.
- 4 Have we not a title to eat and to drink?
- 5 have we not title to take about a sister wife, as also the other apostles and the brethren of the Lord and Cephas?
- 6 or I alone and Barnabas, have we not title to abstain from working [lit. not to work]?
- 7 Who ever serveth in war at his own charges? Who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of its fruit? or who tendeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock?
- 8 Do I speak these things as a man, or doth not the law also say these things?
- 9 For in the law of Moses it is written, Thou shalt not muzzle an ox while treading out corn. Is it for the oxen that God careth,
- 10 or doth he say it altogether on our account? For it was written on our account, because the plougher ought to plough in hope, and the thresher [^] in hope of partaking.
- 11 If we sowed for you the spiritual things, [is it] a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?
- 12 If others partake of the title over you, should not we more? But we use not this title but bear all things, that we may cause no hindrance to the gospel of the Christ.

- 13 Do ye not know that they who labour [at] sacred things eat of the [offerings offered in the] temple; they that attend at the altar partake with the altar?
- 14 So also the Lord has ordained to those that announce the glad tidings to live of the glad tidings.
- 15 But I have used none of these things. Now I have not written these things that it should be thus in my case; for [it were] good for me rather to die than that any one should make vain my boast.
- 16 For if I announce the glad tidings, I have nothing to boast of; for a necessity is laid upon me; for it is woe to me if I should not announce the glad tidings.
- 17 For if I do this voluntarily, I have a reward; but if not of my own will, I am entrusted with an administration.
- 18 What is the reward then that I have? That in announcing the glad tidings I make the glad tidings costless [to others], so as not to have made use, as belonging to me, of my right in [announcing] the glad tidings.
- 19 For being free from all, I have made myself bondman to all, that I might gain the most [possible].
- 20 And I became to the Jews as a Jew, in order that I might gain the Jews: to those under law, as under law, not being myself under law, in order that I might gain those under law:
- 21 to those without law, as without law, (not as without law to God, but as legitimately subject to Christ,) in order that I might gain [those] without law.
- 22 I became to the weak, [as] weak, in order that I might gain the weak. To all I have become all things, in order that at all events I might save some.
- 23 And I do all things for the sake of the glad tidings, that I may be fellow-partaker with them.
- 24 Know ye not that they who run in [the] race-course run all, but one receives the prize? Thus run in order that ye may obtain.
- 25 But every one that contends [for a prize] is temperate in all things: they then indeed that they may receive a corruptible crown, but we an incorruptible.
- 26 I therefore thus run, as not uncertainly; so I combat, as not beating the air.
- 27 But I buffet my body, and lead it captive, lest [after] having preached to others I should be myself rejected.

I CORINTHIANS 10 JND

- 1 For I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea;
- 2 and all were baptised unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea;
- 3 and all ate the same spiritual food,
- 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink, for they drank of a spiritual rock which followed [them]: (now the rock was the Christ;)

- 13 Know ye not that those that minister about the holy things eat of the temple, and those that attend the altar share with the altar?
- 14 So also the Lord ordained those that announced the gospel to live of the gospel.
- 15 But I have used none of these things. And I have not written these things that it should be thus in my case, for [it were] good for me to die rather than that any one should make empty my boast.
- 16 For if I preach the gospel, I have nothing to boast, for necessity is laid upon me, for woe is to me if I preach not the gospel.
- 17 For if I do this willingly, I have a reward; but if unwillingly, I have an administration entrusted to me.
- 18 What, then, is my reward? That in preaching the gospel I may make the gospel without charge; so that I use not for myself my title in the gospel.
- 19 For being free from all I made myself bondman to all, that I might gain the most.
- 20 And I became to the Jews as a Jew, that I might gain Jews; and to those under law, as under law, not being myself under law, that I might gain those under law;
- 21 to those without law, as without law, not being without law to God, but under law to Christ, that I might gain those without law.
- 22 To the weak I became weak, that I might gain the weak; to all I have become all things, that by all means I might save some.
- 23 And all things I do for the sake of the gospel, that I may become a fellow-partaker of it.
- 24 Know ye not that they who run in a race-course run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain.
- 25 And every one that contendeth is temperate in all things: they indeed that they may receive a corruptible crown, but we an incorruptible.
- 26 I therefore so run, as not uncertainly — so combat, as not beating air.
- 27 But I discipline my body and lead [it] captive, lest by any means, having preached to others, I myself should be reprobate.

I CORINTHIANS 10 WK

- 1 For I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that our fathers were all under the cloud, and all passed through the sea,
- 2 and were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea,
- 3 and all ate the same spiritual meat,
- 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink; for they were drinking of a spiritual attendant rock (and the rock was Christ);

5 yet God was not pleased with the most of them, for they were strewed in the desert.

6 But these things happened [as] types of us, that we should not be lusters after evil things, as they also lusted.

7 Neither be ye idolaters, as some of them; as it is written, The people sat down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play.

8 Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand.

9 Neither let us tempt the Christ, as some of them tempted, and perished by serpents.

10 Neither murmur ye, as some of them murmured, and perished by the destroyer.

11 Now all these things happened to them [as] types, and have been written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the ages are come.

12 So that let him that thinks that he stands take heed lest he fall.

13 No temptation has taken you but such as is according to man's nature; and God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above what ye are able [to bear], but will with the temptation make the issue also, so that [ye] should be able to bear [it].

14 Wherefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speak as to intelligent [persons]: do ye judge what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not [the] communion of the blood of the Christ? The bread which we break, is it not [the] communion of the body of the Christ?

17 Because we, [being] many, are one loaf, one body; for we all partake of that one loaf.

18 See Israel according to flesh: are not they who eat the sacrifices in communion with the altar?

19 What then do I say? that what is sacrificed to an idol is anything, or that an idol is anything?

20 But that what [the nations] sacrifice they sacrifice to demons, and not to God. Now I do not wish you to be in communion with demons.

21 Ye cannot drink [the] Lord's cup, and [the] cup of demons: ye cannot partake of [the] Lord's table, and of [the] table of demons.

22 Do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? are we stronger than he?

23 All things are lawful, but all are not profitable; all things are lawful, but all do not edify.

24 Let no one seek his own [advantage], but that of the other.

25 Everything sold in the shambles eat, making no inquiry for conscience sake.

26 For the earth [is] the Lord's and its fulness.

27 But if any one of the unbelievers invite you, and ye are minded to go, all that is set before you eat, making no inquiry for conscience sake.

5 but in the most of them God had no pleasure, for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

6 But these things happened as types of us, that we should not be lusters after evil things, even as they also lusted.

7 Neither be ye idolaters, even as some of them; as it is written, The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.

8 Neither let us commit fornication, even as some of them committed, and there fell in one day twenty-three thousand.

9 Neither let us tempt the Lord, even as some of them tempted, and were perishing by the serpents.

10 Neither murmur ye, according as some of them murmured, and perished by the destroyer.

11 Now all these things happened unto them typically, and were written for our admonition, unto whom the ends of the ages have reached.

12 So then let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

13 No temptation hath taken you save a human one: but God [is] faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted above what ye are able, but will with the temptation make also the issue that ye may be able to bear [it].

14 Wherefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speak as to prudent [men]: judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not fellowship with the blood of the Christ? The loaf which we break, is it not fellowship with the body of the Christ?

17 Because we, the many, are one loaf, one body, for we all partake of the one loaf.

18 See Israel according to flesh: are not they that eat the sacrifices in fellowship with the altar?

19 What say I then? that an idol-sacrifice is anything, or that an idol is anything?

20 but that what they sacrifice, they sacrificed to demons, and not to God; and I wish you not to be in fellowship with demons.

21 Ye cannot drink [the] Lord's cup, and a cup of demons; ye cannot partake of [the] Lord's table, and of a table of demons.

22 What! do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than he?

23 All things are lawful, [^] but not all profit; all things are lawful, [^] but not all edify.

24 Let none seek his own [advantage], but his neighbour's [lit. that of the other].

25 Everything that is offered for sale in the shambles eat, examining nothing for conscience' sake:

26 for the earth [is] the Lord's, and its fulness.

27 And if anyone of the unbelieving inviteth you, and ye desire to go, all that is set before you eat, examining nothing for conscience' sake.

I Corinthians

- 28 But if any one say to you, This is offered to holy purposes, do not eat, for his sake that pointed it out, and conscience sake;
- 29 but conscience, I mean, not thine own, but that of the other: for why is my liberty judged by another conscience?
- 30 If I partake with thanksgiving, why am I spoken evil of for what I give thanks for?
- 31 Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatever ye do, do all things to God's glory.
- 32 Give no occasion to stumbling, whether to Jews, or Greeks, or the assembly of God.
- 33 Even as I also please all in all things; not seeking my own profit, but that of the many, that they may be saved.

I CORINTHIANS II JND

- 1 Be my imitators, even as I also [am] of Christ.
- 2 Now I praise you, that in all things ye are mindful of me; and that as I have directed you, ye keep the directions.
- 3 But I wish you to know that the Christ is the head of every man, but woman's head [is] the man, and the Christ's head God.
- 4 Every man praying or prophesying, having [anything] on his head, puts his head to shame.
- 5 But every woman praying or prophesying with her head uncovered puts her own head to shame; for it is one and the same as a shaved [woman].
- 6 For if a woman be not covered, let her hair also be cut off. But if [it be] shameful to a woman to have her hair cut off or to be shaved, let her be covered.
- 7 For man indeed ought not to have his head covered, being God's image and glory; but woman is man's glory.
- 8 For man is not of woman, but woman of man.
- 9 For also man was not created for the sake of the woman, but woman for the sake of the man.
- 10 Therefore ought the woman to have authority on her head, on account of the angels.
- 11 However, neither [is] woman without man, nor man without woman, in [the] Lord.
- 12 For as the woman [is] of the man, so also [is] the man by the woman, but all things of God.
- 13 Judge in yourselves: is it comely that a woman should pray to God uncovered?
- 14 Does not even nature itself teach you, that man, if he have long hair, it is a dishonour to him?
- 15 But woman, if she have long hair, [it is] glory to her; for the long hair is given [to her] in lieu of a veil.
- 16 But if any one think to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor the assemblies of God.
- 17 But [in] prescribing [to you on] this [which I now enter on], I do not praise, [namely,] that ye come together, not for the better, but for the worse.
- 18 For first, when ye come together in assembly, I hear there exist divisions among you, and I partly give credit [to it].

- 28 But if anyone say to you, This is sacrificed, eat not for his sake that pointed [it] out, and conscience; ^Λ
- 29 but conscience, I say, not one's own, but the other's; for why is my liberty to be judged by another conscience?
- 30 If I partake with thanks, why am I to be evil spoken of for that for which I give thanks?
- 31 Whether then ye eat or drink or do anything, do all things unto God's glory.
- 32 Give no occasion of stumbling, either to Jews or Greeks, or to the assembly of God;
- 33 even as I too please all in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but that of the many, that they be saved.

I CORINTHIANS II WK

- 1 Be imitators of me, even as I also [am] of Christ.
- 2 Now I praise you ^Λ that in all things ye remember me, and hold fast the traditions according as I delivered [them] to you.
- 3 But I wish you to know that the head of every man is the Christ, and woman's head the man, and the Christ's head God.
- 4 Every man praying or prophesying with head covered [lit. having something on [his] head] shameth his head.
- 5 But every woman praying or prophesying with the head uncovered shameth her own head; for it is one and the same thing as if she were shaven.
- 6 For if a woman is not covered, let her also be shorn; but if [it is] shameful for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.
- 7 For a man indeed ought not to have his head covered, being God's image and glory; but the woman is man's glory.
- 8 For man is not of woman, but woman of man.
- 9 For also man was not created on account of the woman, but woman on account of the man.
- 10 On this account ought the woman to have authority on her head on account of the angels.
- 11 However, neither [is] woman without man, nor man without woman, in [the] Lord;
- 12 for as the woman [is] of the man, so also [is] the man by the woman; but all things of God.
- 13 Judge in yourselves: is it comely that a woman should pray to God uncovered?
- 14 Doth not even nature itself teach you that, if man have long hair, it is a dishonour to him;
- 15 but if woman have long hair, it is a glory to her? Because the hair hath been given her instead of a veil.
- 16 But if any one seemeth to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor yet the assemblies of God.
- 17 Now in enjoining this I praise [you] not, because ye come together not for the better but for the worse.
- 18 For first, when ye come together in an assembly, I hear that divisions exist among you, and in some measure I believe [it]:

- 19 For there must also be sects among you, that the approved may become manifest among you.
- 20 When ye come therefore together into one place, it is not to eat [the] Lord's supper.
- 21 For each one in eating takes his own supper before [others], and one is hungry and another drinks to excess.
- 22 Have ye not then houses for eating and drinking? or do ye despise the assembly of God, and put to shame them who have not? What shall I say to you? shall I praise you? In this [point] I do not praise.
- 23 For I have received from the Lord, that which I also delivered to you, that the Lord Jesus, in the night in which he was delivered up, took bread,
- 24 and having given thanks broke [it], and said, This is my body, which [is] for you: this do in remembrance of me.
- 25 In like manner also the cup, after having supped, saying, This cup is the new covenant in my blood: this do, as often as ye shall drink [it], in remembrance of me.
- 26 For as often as ye shall eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye announce the death of the Lord, until he come.
- 27 So that whosoever shall eat the bread, or drink the cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty in respect of the body and of the blood of the Lord.
- 28 But let a man prove himself, and thus eat of the bread, and drink of the cup.
- 29 For [the] eater and drinker eats and drinks judgment to himself, not distinguishing the body.
- 30 On this account many among you [are] weak and infirm, and a good many are fallen asleep.
- 31 But if we judged ourselves, so were we not judged.
- 32 But being judged, we are disciplined of [the] Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.
- 33 So that, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, wait for one another.
- 34 If any one be hungry, let him eat at home, that ye may not come together for judgment. But the other things, whenever I come, I will set in order.

1 CORINTHIANS 12 JND

- 1 But concerning spiritual [manifestations], brethren, I do not wish you to be ignorant.
- 2 Ye know that when ye were [of the] nations [ye were] led away to dumb idols, in whatever way ye might be led.
- 3 I give you therefore to know, that no one, speaking in [the power of the] Spirit of God, says, Curse [on] Jesus; and no one can say, Lord Jesus, unless in [the power of the] Holy Spirit.
- 4 But there are distinctions of gifts, but the same Spirit;
- 5 and there are distinctions of services, and the same Lord;
- 6 and there are distinctions of operations, but the same God who operates all things in all.
- 7 But to each the manifestation of the Spirit is given for profit.

- 19 for there must be even sects among you, that the approved may become manifest among you.
- 20 When therefore ye come together into the same [place], there is no eating of [the] Lord's supper.
- 21 For each in eating taketh his own supper before [others]; and one is hungry, and another drinketh excessively.
- 22 Have ye not then houses for eating and drinking? or despise ye the church of God, and put shame on those that have not? What shall I say to you? shall I praise you? In this I do not praise.
- 23 For I received from the Lord that which I also delivered to you, that the Lord Jesus, in the night in which he was being delivered up, took bread;
- 24 and, having given thanks, he brake [it], and said, [^] This is my body, which [is] [^] for you: this do in remembrance of me.
- 25 In like manner also the cup, after having supped, saying, This cup is the new covenant in my blood: this do, as often as ye drink [it], in remembrance of me.
- 26 For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink the cup, ye announce the death of the Lord till he come.
- 27 Wherefore whosoever eateth [^] the bread, or drinketh the cup of the Lord, unworthily, [^] shall be guilty as to the body and the blood of the Lord.
- 28 But let a man prove himself, and so let him eat of the bread, and drink of the cup.
- 29 For he that eateth and drinketh [^] eateth and drinketh judgment to himself, not discerning the body [^].
- 30 For this cause many [are] weak and sickly among you, and rather many are falling asleep.
- 31 But if we were discerning ourselves, we should not be judged;
- 32 but when judged, we are chastened by the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the world.
- 33 Wherefore, my brethren, when coming together to eat, wait for each other.
- 34 [^] If any one is hungry, let him eat at home, that ye may not come together for judgment. But the rest will I arrange when I come.

1 CORINTHIANS 12 WK

- 1 Now concerning spiritual things, brethren, I would not have you ignorant.
- 2 Ye know that, when ye were Gentiles, [ye were] led away unto the dumb idols as ye might be led.
- 3 Wherefore I give you to know, that no one speaking in [the] Spirit of God saith, Jesus [is] accursed, and no one can say, Lord Jesus, unless in [the] Holy Spirit.
- 4 Now there are differences of gifts, but the same Spirit,
- 5 and there are differences of services, and the same Lord,
- 6 and there are differences of operations, but the same God [^] that operateth all things in all.
- 7 But to each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for profit.

1 Corinthians

- 8 For to one, by the Spirit, is given [the] word of wisdom; and to another [the] word of knowledge, according to the same Spirit;
- 9 and to a different one faith, in [the power of] the same Spirit; and to another gifts of healing in [the power of] the same Spirit;
- 10 and to another operations of miracles; and to another prophecy; and to another discerning of spirits; and to a different one kinds of tongues; and to another interpretation of tongues.
- 11 But all these things operates the one and the same Spirit, dividing to each in particular according as he pleases.
- 12 For even as the body is one and has many members, but all the members of the body, being many, are one body, so also [is] the Christ.
- 13 For also in [the power of] one Spirit we have all been baptised into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether bond- man or free, and have all been given to drink of one Spirit.
- 14 For also the body is not one member but many.
- 15 If the foot say, Because I am not a hand I am not of the body, is it on account of this not indeed of the body?
- 16 And if the ear say, Because I am not an eye I am not of the body, is it on account of this not indeed of the body?
- 17 If the whole body [were] an eye, where the hearing? if all hearing, where the smelling?
- 18 But now God has set the members, each one of them in the body, according as it has pleased [him].
- 19 But if all were one member, where the body?
- 20 But now the members [are] many, and the body one.
- 21 The eye cannot say to the hand, I have not need of thee; or again, the head to the feet, I have not need of you.
- 22 But much rather, the members of the body which seem to be weaker are necessary;
- 23 and those [parts] of the body which we esteem to be the more void of honour, these we clothe with more abundant honour; and our uncomely [parts] have more abundant comeliness;
- 24 but our comely [parts] have not need. But God has tempered the body together, having given more abundant honour to [the part] that lacked;
- 25 that there might be no division in the body, but that the members might have the same concern one for another.
- 26 And if one member suffer, all the members suffer with [it]; and if one member be glorified, all the members rejoice with [it].
- 27 Now ye are Christ's body, and members in particular.
- 28 And God has set certain in the assembly: first, apostles; secondly, prophets; thirdly, teachers; then miraculous powers; then gifts of healings; helps; governments; kinds of tongues.
- 29 [Are] all apostles? [are] all prophets? [are] all teachers? [are] all [in possession of] miraculous powers?
- 30 have all gifts of healings? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?
- 8 For to one, through the Spirit, is given [the] word of wisdom, and to another [the] word of knowledge, according to the same Spirit;
- 9 ^Λ to a different one faith by [or, in] the same Spirit, and to another gifts of healings by [or, in] the same Spirit,
- 10 and to another operations of powers, and to another prophecy, and to another discerning of spirits; ^Λ to a different one kinds of tongues, and to another interpretation of tongues.
- 11 But all these things operateth the one and the same Spirit, dividing in particular to each as he pleaseth.
- 12 For even as the body is one and hath many members, and all the members of the ^Λ body, being many, are one body, so also is Christ.
- 13 For by one Spirit were we all baptized into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether bond or free, and were all made to drink of ^Λ one Spirit.
- 14 For also the body is not one member but many.
- 15 If the foot shall say, Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body, it is not on this account not of the body;
- 16 and if the ear say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, it is not on this account not of the body.
- 17 If the whole body [were] an eye, where the hearing? If all hearing, where the smelling?
- 18 But now God set the members each one of them in the body according as he pleased.
- 19 And if they all were one member, where the body?
- 20 But now [are there] many members, and one body.
- 21 And the eye cannot say to the hand, I have no need of thee; or, again, the head to the feet, I have no need of you.
- 22 But much more the members of the body that seem to be weaker are necessary:
- 23 and those which we think to be less honourable [members] of the body, on these we put more abundant honour, and our uncomely [members] have more abundant comeliness;
- 24 but our comely [members] have no need. But God blended the body together, having given more abundant honour to that which lacked,
- 25 that there might be no division in the body, but that the members might have the same concern one for another.
- 26 And whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with [it]: whether a [or, one] member is glorified, all the members rejoice with [it].
- 27 Now ye are Christ's body, and members in particular.
- 28 And God set some in the assembly, first apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly teachers, then powers, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, kinds of tongues.
- 29 Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Are all powers?
- 30 Have all gifts of healings? Do all speak with tongues? Do all interpret?

- 31 But desire earnestly the greater gifts, and yet shew I unto you a way of more surpassing excellence.

1 CORINTHIANS 13 JND

- 1 If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am become sounding brass or clanging cymbal.
- 2 And if I have prophecy, and know all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but have not love, I am nothing.
- 3 And if I shall dole out all my goods in food, and if I deliver up my body that I may be burned, but have not love, I profit nothing.
- 4 Love has long patience, is kind; love is not emulous [of others]; love is not insolent and rash, is not puffed up, does not behave in an unseemly manner, does not seek what is its own, is not quickly provoked, does not impute evil, does not rejoice at iniquity but rejoices with the truth, bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.
- 8 Love never fails; but whether prophecies, they shall be done away; or tongues, they shall cease; or knowledge, it shall be done away.
- 9 For we know in part, and we prophesy in part:
- 10 but when that which is perfect has come, that which is in part shall be done away.
- 11 When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I felt as a child, I reasoned as a child; when I became a man, I had done with what belonged to the child.
- 12 For we see now through a dim window obscurely, but then face to face; now I know partially, but then I shall know according as I also have been known.
- 13 And now abide faith, hope, love; these three things; and the greater of these [is] love.

1 CORINTHIANS 14 JND

- 1 Follow after love, and be emulous of spiritual [manifestations], but rather that ye may prophesy.
- 2 For he that speaks with a tongue does not speak to men but to God: for no one hears; but in spirit he speaks mysteries.
- 3 But he that prophesies speaks to men [in] edification, and encouragement, and consolation.
- 4 He that speaks with a tongue edifies himself; but he that prophesies edifies [the] assembly.
- 5 Now I desire that ye should all speak with tongues, but rather that ye should prophesy. But greater is he that prophesies than he that speaks with tongues, unless he interpret, that the assembly may receive edification.
- 6 And now, brethren, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, unless I shall speak to you either in revelation, or in knowledge, or in prophecy, or in teaching?
- 7 Even lifeless things giving a sound, whether pipe or harp, if they give not distinction to the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

- 31 But desire earnestly the greater gifts, and yet I shew you a way of exceeding excellence.

1 CORINTHIANS 13 WK

- 1 If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, yet have not love, I am become sounding brass and a clanging cymbal.
- 2 And if I have prophecy, and know all the mysteries and all the knowledge, and if I have all the faith so as to remove mountains, yet have not love, I am nothing.
- 3 And if I should dole out in food all my substance, and if I should deliver my body that I might be burned, and have not love, I am nothing profited.
- 4 Love is long-suffering, is kind; love is not emulous, is not vain-glorious, is not puffed up,
- 5 doth not behave unseemly, seeketh not its own things, is not easily provoked, reckoneth not the evil,
- 6 rejoiceth not over iniquity, but rejoiceth with the truth,
- 7 beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.
- 8 Love never faileth, but whether prophecies, they shall be done away; whether tongues, they shall cease; whether knowledge, it shall be done away.
- 9 For in part we know, and in part we prophesy;
- 10 but when that which is perfect is come, that which is in part shall be done away.
- 11 When I was a child, I talked as a child, I thought as a child, I reckoned as a child; when I am become a man, I have done with the things of a child.
- 12 For we see now through a mirror in a dark form, but then face to face. Now I know in part, but then I shall fully know, even as I also was fully known.
- 13 But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but [the] greater of these [is] love.

1 CORINTHIANS 14 WK

- 1 Pursue love, but earnestly desire the spiritual things, yet rather that ye may prophesy.
- 2 For he that speaketh in a [^] tongue speaketh not to men but to God; for no one heareth; yet in spirit he speaketh mysteries.
- 3 But he that prophesieth speaketh to men edification, and encouragement, and comfort.
- 4 He that speaketh with a [^] tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the assembly.
- 5 But I desire that ye all should speak with tongues, but rather that ye should prophesy. And greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with tongues, except he interpret, in order that the assembly may receive edification.
- 6 And now, brethren, if I come to you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, unless I shall speak to you either in revelation, or in knowledge, or in prophecy, or in teaching?
- 7 Nevertheless lifeless things giving sound, whether pipe or harp, if they give not distinction to the notes, how shall be known what is piped or what is harped?

- 8 For also, if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself for war?
- 9 Thus also ye with the tongue, unless ye give a distinct speech, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye will be speaking to the air.
- 10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of undistinguishable sound.
- 11 If therefore I do not know the power of the sound, I shall be to him that speaks a barbarian, and he that speaks a barbarian for me.
- 12 Thus ye also, since ye are desirous of spirits, seek that ye may abound for the edification of the assembly.
- 13 Wherefore let him that speaks with a tongue pray that he may interpret.
- 14 For if I pray with a tongue, my spirit prays, but my understanding is unfruitful.
- 15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray also with the understanding; I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing also with the understanding.
- 16 Since otherwise, if thou blessest with [the] spirit, how shall he who fills the place of the simple [christian] say Amen, at thy giving of thanks, since he does not know what thou sayest?
- 17 For thou indeed givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.
- 18 I thank God I speak in a tongue more than all of you:
- 19 but in [the] assembly I desire to speak five words with my understanding, that I may instruct others also, [rather] than ten thousand words in a tongue.
- 20 Brethren, be not children in [your] minds, but in malice be babes; but in [your] minds be grown men.
- 21 It is written in the law, By people of other tongues, and by strange lips, will I speak to this people; and neither thus will they hear me, saith the Lord.
- 22 So that tongues are for a sign, not to those who believe, but to unbelievers; but prophecy, not to unbelievers, but to those who believe.
- 23 If therefore the whole assembly come together in one place, and all speak with tongues, and simple [persons] enter in, or unbelievers, will not they say ye are mad?
- 24 But if all prophesy, and some unbeliever or simple [person] come in, he is convicted of all, he is judged of all;
- 25 the secrets of his heart are manifested; and thus, falling upon [his] face, he will do homage to God, reporting that God is indeed amongst you.
- 26 What is it then, brethren? whenever ye come together, each [of you] has a psalm, has a teaching, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation. Let all things be done to edification.
- 27 If any one speak with a tongue, [let it be] two, or at the most three, and separately, and let one interpret;
- 28 but if there be no interpreter, let him be silent in [the] assembly, and let him speak to himself and to God.
- 29 And let two or three prophets speak, and let the others judge.

- 8 For also if a trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare for war?
- 9 So also ye through the tongue, unless ye give a distinct speech, how shall what is spoken be known, for ye will be speaking into air?
- 10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none insignificant.
- 11 If therefore I do not know the power of the voice, I shall be to him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that speaketh a barbarian in my case.
- 12 So also ye, since ye are zealous after spirits, seek that ye may abound for the edification of the assembly.
- 13 Wherefore let him that speaketh with a [^] tongue pray that he may interpret.
- 14 For if I pray with a tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is unfruitful.
- 15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding; I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing also with the understanding.
- 16 Since if thou bless in spirit, how shall he that filleth the place of the private [person] say Amen at thy thanksgiving, since he knoweth not what thou sayest?
- 17 For thou givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.
- 18 I thank God, I speak in a tongue more than ye all;
- 19 but in an assembly I desire to speak five words with my understanding, that I may instruct others also, rather than ten thousand words in a [^] tongue.
- 20 Brethren, be not children in mind, but in malice be infantine, but in mind be of full age.
- 21 In the law it is written, By men of other tongues, and by lips of others, will I speak to this people; and not even thus will they listen to me, saith [the] Lord.
- 22 Wherefore the tongues are for a sign, not to those that believe, but to the unfaithful, while prophecy [is] not to the unfaithful but to those that believe.
- 23 If therefore the whole assembly come unto the same [place], and all speak with tongues, and there come in private or unfaithful [persons], will they not say that ye are mad?
- 24 But if all prophesy, and some unfaithful or private one come in, he is convinced by all, he is examined by all:
- 25 [^] the secrets of his heart become manifest; and thus, falling on [his] face, he will do homage to God, reporting that God is indeed among you.
- 26 What is it then, brethren? Whenever ye come together, each of you hath a psalm, hath a teaching, hath a tongue, [^] hath an interpretation. Let all things be done unto edification.
- 27 If any one speak with a [^] tongue, [let it be] two, or at the most three, and in turn, and let one interpret;
- 28 but if there be no interpreter, let him be silent in an assembly, and let him speak to himself and to God.
- 29 And let two or three prophets speak, and let the others discern;

- 30 But if there be a revelation to another sitting [there], let the first be silent.
- 31 For ye can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn and all be encouraged.
- 32 And spirits of prophets are subject to prophets.
- 33 For God is not [a God] of disorder but of peace, as in all the assemblies of the saints.
- 34 Let [your] women be silent in the assemblies, for it is not permitted to them to speak; but to be in subjection, as the law also says.
- 35 But if they wish to learn anything, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is a shame for a woman to speak in assembly.
- 36 Did the word of God go out from you, or did it come to you only?
- 37 If any one thinks himself to be a prophet or spiritual, let him recognise the things that I write to you, that it is [the] Lord's commandment.
- 38 But if any be ignorant, let him be ignorant.
- 39 So that, brethren, desire to prophesy, and do not forbid the speaking with tongues.
- 40 But let all things be done comely and with order.

1 CORINTHIANS 15 JND

- 1 But I make known to you, brethren, the glad tidings which I announced to you, which also ye received, in which also ye stand,
- 2 by which also ye are saved, (if ye hold fast the word which I announced to you as the glad tidings,) unless indeed ye have believed in vain.
- 3 For I delivered to you, in the first place, what also I had received, that Christ died for our sins, according to the scriptures;
- 4 and that he was buried; and that he was raised the third day, according to the scriptures;
- 5 and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve.
- 6 Then he appeared to above five hundred brethren at once, of whom the most remain until now, but some also have fallen asleep.
- 7 Then he appeared to James; then to all the apostles;
- 8 and last of all, as to an abortion, he appeared to me also.
- 9 For I am the least of the apostles, who am not fit to be called apostle, because I have persecuted the assembly of God.
- 10 But by God's grace I am what I am; and his grace, which [was] towards me, has not been vain; but I have laboured more abundantly than they all, but not I, but the grace of God which [was] with me.
- 11 Whether, therefore, I or they, thus we preach, and thus ye have believed.
- 12 Now if Christ is preached that he is raised from among [the] dead, how say some among you that there is not a resurrection of [those that are] dead?

- 30 but if there be a revelation to another sitting by, let the first be silent;
- 31 for ye can all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all be exhorted.
- 32 And spirits of prophets are subject to prophets.
- 33 For God is not [a God] of confusion, but of peace, as in all the assemblies of the saints.
- 34 Let the women be silent in the assemblies; for it is not permitted to them to speak, but let them be in subjection, as also the law saith.
- 35 But if they desire to learn anything, let them ask their own husbands at home, for it is disgraceful for a woman to speak in an assembly.
- 36 What! did the word of God go out from you, or reached it unto you alone?
- 37 If any one seemeth to be a prophet or spiritual, let him acknowledge the things which I write to you, that they are [the] Lord's commandment.
- 38 But if any one is ignorant, let him be ignorant.
- 39 Wherefore, my brethren, seek earnestly for prophesying, and forbid not the speaking in tongues;
- 40 but let all things be done becomingly and in order.

1 CORINTHIANS 15 WK

- 1 And I make known to you, brethren, the gospel which I announced to you, which also ye received, in which also ye stand,
- 2 by which also ye are being saved, if ye hold fast with what discourse I announced [it] to you, unless ye believed lightly.
- 3 For I delivered to you, in the first place, that which I also received, that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures;
- 4 and that he was buried; and that he was raised the third day according to the scriptures;
- 5 and that he appeared to Cephas, after that to the twelve.
- 6 After that he appeared to above five hundred brethren at once, of whom the most remain till now, but some also have fallen asleep.
- 7 After that he appeared to James, after that to all the apostles;
- 8 and last of all, as to the abortion, he appeared to me also.
- 9 For I am the least of the apostles, who am not fit to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the assembly of God;
- 10 but by God's grace I am what I am, and his grace that [was] towards me became not empty, but I laboured more abundantly than they all, yet not I but the grace of God that [was] with me.
- 11 Whether then I or they, thus we preach, and thus ye believed.
- 12 But if Christ is preached that he is raised from [the] dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of [the] dead?

- 13 But if there is not a resurrection of [those that are] dead, neither is Christ raised;
- 14 but if Christ is not raised, then, indeed, vain also [is] our preaching, and vain also your faith.
- 15 And we are found also false witnesses of God; for we have witnessed concerning God that he raised the Christ, whom he has not raised if indeed [those that are] dead are not raised.
- 16 For if [those that are] dead are not raised, neither is Christ raised;
- 17 but if Christ be not raised, your faith [is] vain; ye are yet in your sins.
- 18 Then indeed also those who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished.
- 19 If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are [the] most miserable of all men.
- 20 (But now Christ is raised from among [the] dead, firstfruits of those fallen asleep.
- 21 For since by man [came] death, by man also resurrection of [those that are] dead.
- 22 For as in the Adam all die, thus also in the Christ all shall be made alive.
- 23 But each in his own rank: [the] firstfruits, Christ; then those [that are] the Christ's at his coming.
- 24 Then the end, when he gives up the kingdom to him [who is] God and Father; when he shall have annulled all rule and all authority and power.
- 25 For he must reign until he put all enemies under his feet.
- 26 [The] last enemy [that] is annulled [is] death.
- 27 For he has put all things in subjection under his feet. But when he says that all things are put in subjection, [it is] evident that [it is] except him who put all things in subjection to him.
- 28 But when all things shall have been brought into subjection to him, then the Son also himself shall be placed in subjection to him who put all things in subjection to him, that God may be all in all.)
- 29 Since what shall the baptised for the dead do if [those that are] dead rise not at all? why also are they baptised for them?
- 30 Why do we also endanger ourselves every hour?
- 31 Daily I die, by your boasting which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 32 If, [to speak] after the manner of man, I have fought with beasts in Ephesus, what is the profit to me if [those that are] dead do not rise? let us eat and drink; for to-morrow we die.
- 33 Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.
- 34 Awake up righteously, and sin not; for some are ignorant of God: I speak to you as a matter of shame.
- 35 But some one will say, How are the dead raised? and with what body do they come?
- 36 Fool; what thou sowest is not quickened unless it die.
- 13 But if there is no resurrection of [the] dead, neither is Christ raised;
- 14 and if Christ is not raised, then also empty [is] our preaching, and empty also your faith;
- 15 and we are also found false witnesses of God, because we witnessed concerning God that he raised the Christ, whom he raised not, if indeed no dead are raised.
- 16 For if no dead are raised, neither is Christ raised;
- 17 and if Christ is not raised, vain [is] your faith; ye are yet in your sins;
- 18 then also those that fell asleep in Christ perished.
- 19 If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are most to be pitied of all men.
- 20 But now is Christ raised from [the] dead, [^] first-fruit of those fallen asleep.
- 21 For since by man [is] death, by man also resurrection of dead.
- 22 For as in the Adam all die, so also in the Christ shall all be made alive;
- 23 but each in his own rank: [the] first-fruit Christ; then those that are the Christ's at his coming;
- 24 then the end, when he giveth up the kingdom to him [who is] God and Father, when he shall have done away all rule, and all authority, and power.
- 25 For he must reign until [^] he put all the enemies under his feet.
- 26 Death, last enemy, is to be done away.
- 27 For he subjected all things under his feet. But when he saith that all things have been subjected, [it is] manifest that [it is] except him who subjected all things to him.
- 28 But when all things shall have been subjected to him, then also the Son himself will be subjected to him that subjected all things to him, that God may be all in all.
- 29 Else what shall they do that are being baptized for the dead? If no dead rise at all, why also are they baptized for them?
- 30 Why are we also in danger every hour?
- 31 Daily I die, by the boasting of you, brethren, which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 32 If after man I fought with beasts in Ephesus, what [is] the profit to me? If no dead rise, let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.
- 33 Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.
- 34 Wake up righteously, and sin not; for some are ignorant of God: I speak unto your shame.
- 35 But some one will say, How are the dead to rise? and with what body do they come?
- 36 Fool, what thou sowest is not quickened unless it die;

37 And what thou sowest, thou sowest not the body that shall be, but a bare grain: it may be of wheat, or some one of the rest:

38 and God gives to it a body as he has pleased, and to each of the seeds its own body.

39 Every flesh [is] not the same flesh, but one [is] of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another [flesh] of birds, and another of fishes.

40 And [there are] heavenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but different is the glory of the heavenly, different that of the earthly:

41 one [the] sun's glory, and another [the] moon's glory, and another [the] stars' glory; for star differs from star in glory.

42 Thus also [is] the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruptibility.

43 It is sown in dishonour, it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness, it is raised in power.

44 It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body: if there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual [one].

45 Thus also it is written, The first man Adam became a living soul; the last Adam a quickening spirit.

46 But that which is spiritual [was] not first, but that which is natural, then that which is spiritual:

47 the first man out of [the] earth, made of dust; the second man, out of heaven.

48 Such as he made of dust, such also those made of dust; and such as the heavenly [one], such also the heavenly [ones].

49 And as we have borne the image of the [one] made of dust, we shall bear also the image of the heavenly [one].

50 But this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit God's kingdom, nor does corruption inherit incorruptibility.

51 Behold, I tell you a mystery: We shall not all fall asleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 in an instant, in [the] twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must needs put on incorruptibility, and this mortal put on immortality.

54 But when this corruptible shall have put on incorruptibility, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall come to pass the word written: Death has been swallowed up in victory.

55 Where, O death [is] thy sting? where, O death, thy victory?

56 Now the sting of death [is] sin, and the power of sin the law;

57 but thanks to God, who gives us the victory by our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 So then, my beloved brethren, be firm, immovable, abounding always in the work of the Lord, knowing that your toil is not in vain in [the] Lord.

1 CORINTHIANS 16 JND

37 and what thou sowest, thou sowest not the body that shall be, but a bare grain, it may be of wheat, or of some one of the rest;

38 and God giveth to it a body as he pleased, and to each of the seeds its own body.

39 Every flesh [is] not the same flesh, but one [is] of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another flesh of birds, and another of fishes.

40 [There are] both bodies heavenly and bodies earthly; but different [is] the glory of the heavenly, and different that of the earthly:

41 one [the] sun's glory, and another [the] moon's glory, and another [the] stars' glory; for star differeth from star in glory.

42 So also [is] the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption;

43 it is sown in dishonour, it is raised in glory; it is sown in weakness, it is raised in power;

44 it is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body: if there is a natural body, there is also a spiritual [^].

45 So also it is written, The first man Adam became a living soul; the last Adam a quickening Spirit:

46 yet not first [is] the spiritual, but the natural, afterward the spiritual;

47 the first man out of the earth made of dust, the second man [^] out of heaven:

48 as [is] he made of dust, such also those made of dust; and as [is] the heavenly [one], such also the heavenly [ones];

49 and even as we bore the image of the [one] made of dust, we shall bear also the image of the heavenly [ones].

50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit God's kingdom, neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I tell you a mystery: we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 in an instant, in [the] twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet: for it shall sound, and the dead shall rise incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal put on immortality.

54 But when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall come to pass the word that is written, Death was swallowed up in victory.

55 Where, death, [is] thy victory? where, death, thy sting?

56 Now the sting of death [is] sin, and the power of sin the law;

57 but thanks to God that giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Wherefore, my brethren beloved, be firm, immoveable, abounding in the work of the Lord always, knowing that your toil is not empty in [the] Lord.

I Corinthians

- 1 Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I directed the assemblies of Galatia, so do ye do also.
- 2 On [the] first of [the] week let each of you put by at home, laying up [in] whatever [degree] he may have prospered, that there may be no collections when I come.
- 3 And when I am arrived, whomsoever ye shall approve, these I will send with letters to carry your bounty to Jerusalem:
- 4 and if it be suitable that I also should go, they shall go with me.
- 5 But I will come to you when I shall have gone through Macedonia; for I do go through Macedonia.
- 6 But perhaps I will stay with you, or even winter with you, that ye may set me forward wheresoever I may go.
- 7 For I will not see you now in passing, for I hope to remain a certain time with you, if the Lord permit.
- 8 But I remain in Ephesus until Pentecost.
- 9 For a great door is opened to me and an effectual [one], and [the] adversaries many.
- 10 Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without fear; for he works the work of the Lord, even as I.
- 11 Let not therefore any one despise him; but set him forward in peace, that he may come to me; for I expect him with the brethren.
- 12 Now concerning the brother Apollos, I begged him much that he would go to you with the brethren; but it was not at all [his] will to go now; but he will come when he shall have good opportunity.
- 13 Be vigilant; stand fast in the faith; quit yourselves like men; be strong.
- 14 Let all things ye do be done in love.
- 15 But I beseech you, brethren, (ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is the firstfruits of Achaia, and they have devoted themselves to the saints for service,)
- 16 that ye should also be subject to such, and to every one joined in the work and labouring.
- 17 But I rejoice in the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus; because they have supplied what was lacking on your part.
- 18 For they have refreshed my spirit and yours: own therefore such.
- 19 The assemblies of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla, with the assembly in their house, salute you much in [the] Lord.
- 20 All the brethren salute you. Salute one another with a holy kiss.
- 21 The salutation of [me] Paul with my own hand.
- 22 If any one love not the Lord [Jesus Christ] let him be Anathema Maran-atha.
- 23 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ [be] with you.
- 24 My love [be] with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

- 1 Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I directed the assemblies of Galatia, so do ye also.
- 2 Every first [day] of a week let each of you put by him, storing up whatsoever he may be prospered in, that there be no collections when I come.
- 3 And when I am arrived, whomsoever ye shall approve, them I will send with letters to carry your bounty unto Jerusalem:
- 4 and if it be suitable that I go, they shall go with me.
- 5 But I will come unto you when I shall have gone through Macedonia, for I go through Macedonia.
- 6 But perhaps I shall stay, or even winter, with you, that ye may send me forward wherever I may go.
- 7 For I do not wish to see you now in passing; for I hope to remain some time with you, if the Lord permit.
- 8 But I will stay on at Ephesus until Pentecost.
- 9 For a great and effectual door is open to me, and [there are] many adversaries.
- 10 But if Timothy come, see that he be with you without fear, for he worketh the Lord's work, as I also.
- 11 Let none then despise him, but send him forward in peace, that he may come unto me, for I am awaiting him with the brethren.
- 12 But concerning the brother Apollos, I besought him much to come unto you with the brethren; and it was not at all [his] will to come now, but he will come when he shall have good opportunity.
- 13 Watch, stand in the faith, play the man, ^Λ be strong.
- 14 Let all your doings be in love.
- 15 Now I beseech you, brethren — ye know the house of Stephanas, ^Λ that it is a first-fruit of Achaia, and that they appointed themselves to the saints for service —
- 16 that ye also be subject to such, and to every one that co-operateth and laboureth.
- 17 But I rejoice at the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, because what was lacking on your part these filled up;
- 18 for they refreshed my spirit and yours: own then those that are such.
- 19 The assemblies of Asia salute you. Aquila and Prisca salute you much in [the] Lord, with the assembly in their house.
- 20 All the brethren salute you. Salute one another with a holy kiss.
- 21 The salutation of Paul with mine own hand.
- 22 If any one loveth not the Lord [Jesus Christ], let him be anathema maranatha [or, a curse: the Lord cometh].
- 23 The grace of the Lord Jesus [Christ] [be] with you.
- 24 My love [be] with you all in Christ Jesus. [Amen.] ^Λ

2 CORINTHIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ by God's will, and the brother Timotheus, to the assembly of God which is in Corinth, with all the saints who are in the whole of Achaia.
- 2 Grace to you, and peace from God our Father, and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 Blessed [be] the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassions, and God of all encouragement;
- 4 who encourages us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to encourage those who are in any tribulation whatever, through the encouragement with which we ourselves are encouraged of God.
- 5 Because, even as the sufferings of the Christ abound towards us, so through the Christ does our encouragement also abound.
- 6 But whether we are in tribulation, [it is] for your encouragement and salvation, wrought in the endurance of the same sufferings which we also suffer, (and our hope for you [is] sure;) or whether we are encouraged, [it is] for your encouragement and salvation:
- 7 knowing that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so also of the encouragement.
- 8 For we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, as to our tribulation which happened [to us] in Asia, that we were excessively pressed beyond [our] power, so as to despair even of living.
- 9 But we ourselves had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not have our trust in ourselves, but in God who raises the dead;
- 10 who has delivered us from so great a death, and does deliver; in whom we confide that he will also yet deliver;
- 11 ye also labouring together by supplication for us that the gift towards us, through means of many persons, may be the subject of the thanksgiving of many for us.
- 12 For our boasting is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and sincerity before God, (not in fleshly wisdom but in God's grace,) we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly towards you.
- 13 For we do not write other things to you but what ye well know and recognise; and I hope that ye will recognise to the end,
- 14 even as also ye have recognised us in part, that we are your boast, even as ye [are] ours in the day of the Lord Jesus.
- 15 And with this confidence I purposed to come to you previously, that ye might have a second favour;
- 16 and to pass through to Macedonia by you, and again from Macedonia to come to you, and to be set forward by you to Judæa.
- 17 Having therefore this purpose, did I then use lightness? Or what I purpose, do I purpose according to flesh, that there should be with me yea yea, and nay nay?
- 18 Now God [is] faithful, that our word to you is not yea and nay.

2 CORINTHIANS 1 WK

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ by God's will, and Timothy the brother, to the assembly that is in Corinth, with all the saints that are in the whole of Achaia;
- 2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 Blessed [be] the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort,
- 4 that comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort those that are in any tribulation through the comfort with which we are comforted ourselves by God,
- 5 because as the sufferings of the Christ abound toward us, even so through the Christ aboundeth also our comfort.
- 6 But, whether we be in tribulation, [it is] for your comfort and salvation, that worketh in endurance of the same sufferings which we also suffer (and our hope [is] stedfast for you); whether we be comforted, [it is] for your comfort and salvation.
- 7 knowing that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so also of the comfort.
- 8 For we would not have you ignorant, brethren, as to our tribulation that came to pass [^] in Asia, that we were excessively pressed beyond power, so as for us to despair even of our living.
- 9 But we ourselves have had in ourselves the sentence of death, that we should not have our trust in ourselves, but in God that raiseth the dead,
- 10 who delivered us from so great a death, and doth [or, will] deliver, in whom we have hope that he will also yet deliver,
- 11 ye also labouring together by supplication for us that from many persons the gift toward us may by many be matter of [^] thanksgiving for us.
- 12 For our boasting is this, the testimony of our conscience that in holiness and sincerity before God, not in carnal wisdom but in God's grace, we conducted ourselves in the world, and more abundantly towards you.
- 13 For no other thing we write unto you than what ye read, or even recognise, and I hope that ye will recognise unto the end,
- 14 even as also ye recognised us in part that we are your boast, just as ye also are ours in the day of our Lord Jesus.
- 15 And with this confidence I was intending previously to come unto you, that ye might have a second favour,
- 16 and through you to pass into Macedonia, and again from Macedonia to come unto you, and by you to be sent forward into Judæa.
- 17 Having, then, this intention, did I, pray, use lightness? Or what I purpose, do I purpose according to flesh, that with me may be the yea yea and the nay nay?
- 18 Now God [is] faithful that our word that [was] unto you is not yea and nay.

2 Corinthians

- 19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, he who has been preached by us among you (by me and Silvanus and Timotheus), did not become yea and nay, but yea is in him.
- 20 For whatever promises of God [there are], in him is the yea, and in him the amen, for glory to God by us.
- 21 Now he that establishes us with you in Christ, and has anointed us, [is] God,
- 22 who also has sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.
- 23 But I call God to witness upon my soul that to spare you I have not yet come to Corinth.
- 24 Not that we rule over your faith, but are fellow-workmen of your joy: for by faith ye stand.

2 CORINTHIANS 2 JND

- 1 But I have judged this with myself, not to come back to you in grief.
- 2 For if I grieve you, who also [is] it that gladdens me if not he that is grieved through me?
- 3 And I have written this very [letter] [to you], that coming I may not have grief from those from whom I ought to have joy; trusting in you all that my joy is [that] of you all.
- 4 For out of much tribulation and distress of heart I wrote to you, with many tears; not that ye may be grieved, but that ye may know the love which I have very abundantly towards you.
- 5 But if any one has grieved, he has grieved, not me, but in part (that I may not overcharge [you]) all of you.
- 6 Sufficient to such a one [is] this rebuke which [has been inflicted] by the many;
- 7 so that on the contrary ye should rather shew grace and encourage, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with excessive grief.
- 8 Wherefore I exhort you to assure him of [your] love.
- 9 For to this end also I have written, that I might know, by putting you to the test, if as to everything ye are obedient.
- 10 But to whom ye forgive anything, I also; for I also, what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, [it is] for your sakes in [the] person of Christ;
- 11 that we might not have Satan get an advantage against us, for we are not ignorant of his thoughts.
- 12 Now when I came to Troas for the [publication of the] glad tidings of the Christ, a door also being opened to me in [the] Lord,
- 13 I had no rest in my spirit at not finding Titus my brother; but bidding them adieu, I came away to Macedonia.
- 14 But thanks [be] to God, who always leads us in triumph in the Christ, and makes manifest the odour of his knowledge through us in every place.
- 15 For we are a sweet odour of Christ to God in the saved and in those that perish:
- 16 to the one an odour from death unto death, but to the others an odour from life unto life; and who [is] sufficient for these things?

- 19 For the Son of God, Christ Jesus, that was preached among you by us, by me and Silvanus and Timothy, became not yea and nay, but is become yea in him.
- 20 For as many as [be] God's promises, in him [is] the yea; wherefore also by him [is] the amen for glory to God by us.
- 21 Now he that establisheth us with you in Christ, and anointed us is God,
- 22 who also sealed us, and gave the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.
- 23 But I call God as witness upon my soul, that to spare you I came not yet unto Corinth;
- 24 not that we rule over your faith, but are fellow-workers of your joy, for by faith ye stand.

2 CORINTHIANS 2 WK

- 1 But I judged this for myself not to come again unto you in grief.
- 2 For if I grieve you, who then [is] he that gladdeneth me, if not he that is grieved by me?
- 3 And I wrote [^] this very thing, that I might not on coming have grief from those from whom I ought to have joy, having trust in you all that my joy is [that] of you all.
- 4 For out of much tribulation and distress of heart I wrote to you with many tears, not that ye should be grieved, but that ye may know the love that I have very [lit. more] abundantly unto you.
- 5 But if any one hath grieved, he hath grieved not me, but in part (that I may not press heavily) all of you.
- 6 Sufficient to such an one [is] this rebuke, which [is] by the many;
- 7 so that, on the contrary, ye should rather forgive and comfort, lest somehow such an one be swallowed up with excessive grief.
- 8 Wherefore I exhort you to ratify love toward him.
- 9 For I wrote also for this, and that I might know the proof of you, whether as to all things ye are obedient.
- 10 But to whom ye forgive anything, I also; for I too, what I have forgiven, if I have forgiven anything, [do so] for your sake in Christ's person,
- 11 that we might not be overreached by Satan, for we are not ignorant of his devices.
- 12 Now when I came unto the Troad for the gospel of Christ, a door being opened to me in [the] Lord,
- 13 I had no rest in my spirit at not finding Titus, my brother; but, having taken leave of them, I went forth into Macedonia.
- 14 But thanks [be] to God that always leadeth us in triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the odour of his knowledge through us in every place.
- 15 Because we are a sweet odour of Christ to God in those to be saved, and in those that perish:
- 16 to the one an odour from death unto death, but to the others an odour from life unto life; and who [is] sufficient for these things?

- 17 For we do not, as the many, make a trade of the word of God; but as of sincerity, but as of God, before God, we speak in Christ.

2 CORINTHIANS 3 JND

- 1 Do we begin again to commend ourselves? or do we need, as some, commendatory letters to you, or [commendatory] from you?
- 2 Ye are our letter, written in our hearts, known and read of all men,
- 3 being manifested to be Christ's epistle ministered by us, written, not with ink, but [the] Spirit of [the] living God; not on stone tables, but on fleshy tables of [the] heart.
- 4 And such confidence have we through the Christ towards God:
- 5 not that we are competent of ourselves to think anything as of ourselves, but our competency [is] of God;
- 6 who has also made us competent, [as] ministers of [the] new covenant; not of letter, but of spirit. For the letter kills, but the Spirit quickens.
- 7 (But if the ministry of death, in letters, graven in stones, began with glory, so that the children of Israel could not fix their eyes on the face of Moses, on account of the glory of his face, [a glory] which is annulled;
- 8 how shall not rather the ministry of the Spirit subsist in glory?
- 9 For if the ministry of condemnation [be] glory, much rather the ministry of righteousness abounds in glory.
- 10 For also that [which was] glorified is not glorified in this respect, on account of the surpassing glory.
- 11 For if that annulled [was introduced] with glory, much rather that which abides [subsists] in glory.
- 12 Having therefore such hope, we use much boldness:
- 13 and not according as Moses put a veil on his own face, so that the children of Israel should not fix their eyes on the end of that annulled.
- 14 But their thoughts have been darkened, for unto this day the same veil remains in reading the old covenant, unremoved, which in Christ is annulled.
- 15 But unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil lies upon their heart.
- 16 But when it shall turn to [the] Lord, the veil is taken away.)
- 17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, but where the Spirit of [the] Lord [is, there is] liberty.
- 18 But we all, looking on the glory of the Lord with unveiled face, are transformed according to the same image from glory to glory, even as by [the] Lord [the] Spirit.

2 CORINTHIANS 4 JND

- 1 Therefore, having this ministry, as we have had mercy shewn us, we faint not.
- 2 But we have rejected the hidden things of shame, not walking in deceit, nor falsifying the word of God, but by

- 17 For we are not as the many, [^] corrupting [lit. retailing] the word of God; but as of sincerity, but as of God, before God, we speak in Christ.

2 CORINTHIANS 3 WK

- 1 Begin we again to commend ourselves? or need we, as some, recommendatory epistles unto you or [^] from you?
- 2 Ye are our epistle inscribed in our hearts, known and read by all men,
- 3 being manifested that ye are Christ's epistle ministered by us, having been inscribed, not with ink, but [the] Spirit of [the] living God, not on tables of stone, but on fleshy tables of [the] heart [or, hearts].
- 4 And such confidence have we through the Christ toward God;
- 5 not that we are competent from ourselves to reckon anything as of ourselves, but our competency [is] of God,
- 6 who also made us competent [as] servants of a new covenant, not of letter but of spirit, for the letter killeth but the spirit quickeneth.
- 7 (But if the ministry of death in letter, graven on stones, came with glory, so that the sons of Israel could not look intently toward the face of Moses for the glory of his face, that was to be done away,
- 8 how shall not the ministry of the Spirit rather be in glory?
- 9 For if [^] the ministry of condemnation [have] glory, much more doth the ministry of righteousness abound in glory.
- 10 For even that which hath been glorified hath not been glorified in this respect on account of the surpassing glory.
- 11 For if that to be done away [was] with glory, much more what abideth [is] in glory. [^]
- 12 Having then such hope we use much openness of speech:
- 13 and not as Moses used to put a veil on his own face, that the sons of Israel should not look stedfastly unto the end of that to be done away.
- 14 But their thoughts were darkened [lit. hardened]; for until this very day the same veil at the reading of the old covenant abideth unlifted [lit. not unveiled], which in Christ is done away.
- 15 But unto this day, when Moses is being read, a veil lieth upon their heart.
- 16 But whenever it shall turn to the Lord, the veil is taken off.)
- 17 Now the Lord is the spirit, but where the Spirit of the Lord [is, there is] liberty;
- 18 but we all, beholding [^] the glory of the Lord with unveiled face, are being transformed into the same image from glory to glory, even as from [the] Lord [the] Spirit.

2 CORINTHIANS 4 WK

- 1 On this account, having this ministry, according as we obtained mercy, we faint not,
- 2 but refused the hidden things of shame, not walking in deceit, nor guilefully using the word of God, but by the manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every conscience of men before God.

2 Corinthians

- 3 But if also our gospel is veiled, it is veiled in those that are lost;
- 4 in whom the god of this world has blinded the thoughts of the unbelieving, so that the radiancy of the glad tidings of the glory of the Christ, who is [the] image of God, should not shine forth [for them].
- 5 For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus Lord, and ourselves your bondmen for Jesus' sake.
- 6 Because [it is] the God who spoke that out of darkness light should shine who has shone in our hearts for the shining forth of the knowledge of the glory of God in [the] face of [Jesus] Christ.
- 7 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the surpassingness of the power may be of God, and not from us:
- 8 every way afflicted, but not straitened; seeing no apparent issue, but our way not entirely shut up;
- 9 persecuted, but not abandoned; cast down, but not destroyed;
- 10 always bearing about in the body the dying of Jesus, that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our body;
- 11 for we who live are always delivered unto death on account of Jesus, that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our mortal flesh;
- 12 so that death works in us, but life in you.
- 13 And having the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, I have believed, therefore have I spoken; we also believe, therefore also we speak;
- 14 knowing that he who has raised the Lord Jesus shall raise us also with Jesus, and shall present [us] with you.
- 15 For all things [are] for your sakes, that the grace abounding through the many may cause thanksgiving to abound to the glory of God.
- 16 Wherefore we faint not; but if indeed our outward man is consumed, yet the inward is renewed day by day.
- 17 For our momentary [and] light affliction works for us in surpassing measure an eternal weight of glory;
- 18 while we look not at the things that are seen, but at the things that are not seen; for the things that are seen [are] for a time, but those that are not seen eternal.

2 CORINTHIANS 5 JND

- 1 For we know that if our earthly tabernacle house be destroyed, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens
- 2 For indeed in this we groan, ardently desiring to have put on our house which [is] from heaven;
- 3 if indeed being also clothed we shall not be found naked.
- 4 For indeed we who are in the tabernacle groan, being burdened; while yet we do not wish to be unclothed, but clothed, that [what is] mortal may be swallowed up by life.

manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every conscience of men in the sight of God.

- 3 But if even our gospel is veiled, in those that perish it is veiled,
- 4 in whom the god of this age blinded the minds [or thoughts] of the faithless, that the illumination of the gospel of the glory of Christ, who is [the] image of God, should not shine forth. [^]
- 5 For not ourselves do we preach, but Jesus Christ as Lord, and ourselves your bondmen for Jesus' sake,
- 6 because it is the God that bade light shine out of darkness, who shone in our hearts for the illumination of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.
- 7 But we have this treasure in earthenware vessels, that the surpassingness of the power may be God's, and not of us,
- 8 in everything being afflicted, yet not straitened, sorely yet not utterly perplexed,
- 9 persecuted yet not forsaken, cast down yet not destroyed,
- 10 always bearing about in the body the dying [or, putting to death] of [^] Jesus, [^] that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our body.
- 11 For we that live are ever being delivered up unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus may be manifested in our mortal flesh.
- 12 So that [^] death worketh in us, but life in you.
- 13 But having the same spirit of faith, according to that which is written, I believed wherefore [also] I spake: we also believe, wherefore also we speak;
- 14 knowing that he that raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also with Jesus, and shall present [us] with you.
- 15 For all things [are] for your sakes, that the grace having multiplied through the greater number might make the thanksgiving abound to the glory of God.
- 16 Wherefore we fail not; but even if our outer man is consuming, yet the inner is being renewed day by day.
- 17 For the momentary lightness of our affliction worketh out for us in surpassing measure an eternal weight of glory:
- 18 while we have the eye not on the things that are seen, but on those not seen, for the things seen [are] temporary, but those not seen, eternal.

2 CORINTHIANS 5 WK

- 1 For we know that if our earthly tabernacle-house be dissolved, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, everlasting in the heavens.
- 2 For also in this we groan, longing to clothe ourselves with our dwelling which is from heaven,
- 3 if indeed also when clothed we shall not be found naked.
- 4 For also we that are in the tabernacle groan, being burdened, because we desire not to be unclothed but clothed upon, that what is mortal may be swallowed up of life.

- 5 Now he that has wrought us for this very thing [is] God, who also has given to us the earnest of the Spirit.
- 6 Therefore [we are] always confident, and know that while present in the body we are absent from the Lord,
- 7 (for we walk by faith, not by sight;)
- 8 we are confident, I say, and pleased rather to be absent from the body and present with the Lord.
- 9 Wherefore also we are zealous, whether present or absent, to be agreeable to him.
- 10 For we must all be manifested before the judgment-seat of the Christ, that each may receive the things [done] in the body, according to those he has done, whether [it be] good or evil.
- 11 Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord we persuade men, but have been manifested to God, and I hope also that we have been manifested in your consciences.
- 12 [For] we do not again commend ourselves to you, but [we are] giving to you occasion of boast in our behalf, that ye may have [such] with those boasting in countenance, and not in heart.
- 13 For whether we are beside ourselves, [it is] to God; or are sober, [it is] for you.
- 14 For the love of the Christ constrains us, having judged this: that one died for all, then all have died;
- 15 and he died for all, that they who live should no longer live to themselves, but to him who died for them and has been raised.
- 16 So that we henceforth know no one according to flesh; but if even we have known Christ according to flesh, yet now we know [him thus] no longer.
- 17 So if any one [be] in Christ, [there is] a new creation; the old things have passed away; behold all things have become new:
- 18 and all things [are] of the God who has reconciled us to himself by [Jesus] Christ, and given to us the ministry of that reconciliation:
- 19 how that God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself, not reckoning to them their offences; and putting in us the word of that reconciliation.
- 20 We are ambassadors therefore for Christ, God as [it were] beseeching by us, we entreat for Christ, Be reconciled to God.
- 21 Him who knew not sin he has made sin for us, that we might become God's righteousness in him.

2 CORINTHIANS 6 JND

- 1 But [as] fellow-workmen, we also beseech that ye receive not the grace of God in vain:
- 2 (for he says, I have listened to thee in an accepted time, and I have helped thee in a day of salvation: behold, now [is the] well-accepted time; behold, now [the] day of salvation:)
- 3 giving no manner of offence in anything, that the ministry be not blamed;

- 5 Now he that wrought us for this very thing [is] God, that gave [^] us the earnest of the Spirit.
- 6 Therefore being always confident, and knowing that, while present in the body, we are absent from the Lord
- 7 (for we walk by faith, not by appearance [or, sight]),
- 8 we are confident and well pleased rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord.
- 9 Wherefore also we are zealous that, whether present or absent, we may be agreeable to him.
- 10 For we must all be manifested before the judgment-seat of Christ, that each may receive the things [done] in [literally, by] the body according to what he did, whether good or evil.
- 11 Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord we persuade men; but we have been manifested to God, and I hope also to have been manifested in your consciences.
- 12 For we are not again commending ourselves to you, but giving you occasion to boast on our behalf, that ye may have [it] with those boasting in face and not in heart.
- 13 For whether we were beside ourselves, [it is] to God; or are sober, [it is] for you.
- 14 For the love of Christ constraineth us, having judged this, that if one died for all, then they all were dead [or, died];
- 15 and he died for all, that those who live should no longer live to themselves, but to him who for them died and rose.
- 16 So that we henceforth know no one as to flesh: [^] if we have even known Christ as to flesh, yet now are we no longer knowing [him];
- 17 so that, if one [is] in Christ, [there is] a new creation; the old things passed away; behold, they [or, all things] are become new.
- 18 And they all [are] of God that reconciled us to himself by Christ [^] and gave to us the ministry of the reconciliation:
- 19 how that it was God in Christ [^] reconciling [the] world to himself, not reckoning to them their offences, and putting in us the word of the reconciliation.
- 20 For Christ then we are ambassadors, God as it were beseeching by us, we entreat for Christ, Be reconciled to God:
- 21 [^] him that knew not sin he made sin for us, that we might become God's righteousness in him.

2 CORINTHIANS 6 WK

- 1 And working together [^] we also beseech that ye receive not in vain the grace of God
- 2 (for he saith, In an acceptable season I listened to thee, and in a day of salvation I helped thee: behold, now a right acceptable season, behold, now a day of salvation),
- 3 giving none offence in anything that the ministry be not blamed.

2 Corinthians

- 4 but in everything commending ourselves as God's ministers, in much endurance, in afflictions, in necessities, in straits,
5 in stripes, in prisons, in riots, in labours, in watchings, in fastings,
6 in pureness, in knowledge, in longsuffering, in kindness, in [the] Holy Ghost, in love unfeigned,
7 in [the] word of truth, in [the] power of God; through the arms of righteousness on the right hand and left,
8 through glory and dishonour, through evil report and good report: as deceivers, and true;
9 as unknown, and well known; as dying, and behold, we live; as disciplined, and not put to death;
10 as grieved, but always rejoicing; as poor, but enriching many; as having nothing, and possessing all things.
11 Our mouth is opened to you, Corinthians, our heart is expanded.
12 Ye are not straitened in us, but ye are straitened in your affections;
13 but for an answering recompense, (I speak as to children,) let your heart also expand itself.
14 Be not diversely yoked with unbelievers; for what participation [is there] between righteousness and lawlessness? or what fellowship of light with darkness?
15 and what consent of Christ with Beliar, or what part for a believer along with an unbeliever?
16 and what agreement of God's temple with idols? for ye are [the] living God's temple; according as God has said, I will dwell among them, and walk among [them]; and I will be their God, and they shall be to me a people.
17 Wherefore come out from the midst of them, and be separated, saith [the] Lord, and touch not [what is] unclean, and I will receive you;
18 and I will be to you for a Father, and ye shall be to me for sons and daughters, saith [the] Lord Almighty.

2 CORINTHIANS 7 JND

- 1 Having therefore these promises, beloved, let us purify ourselves from every pollution of flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in God's fear.
2 Receive us: we have injured no one, we have ruined no one, we have made gain of no one.
3 I do not speak for condemnation, for I have already said that ye are in our hearts, to die together, and live together.
4 Great [is] my boldness towards you, great my exulting in respect of you; I am filled with encouragement; I overabound in joy under all our affliction.
5 For indeed, when we came into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but [we were] afflicted in every way; without combats, within fears.
6 But he who encourages those that are [brought] low, [even] God, encouraged us by the coming of Titus;
7 and not by his coming only, but also through the encouragement with which he was encouraged as to you;

- 4 But in everything as ministers of God commending ourselves, in much patience, in affliction, in necessities, in straits,
5 in stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labours, in watchings, in fastings,
6 in pureness, in knowledge, in long-suffering, in kindness, in [the] Holy Ghost, in love unfeigned,
7 in [the] word of truth, in [the] power of God. Through [or, with] the arms of righteousness on the right and left,
8 through glory and dishonour, through ill report and good report, as deceivers and true,
9 as unknown and well known, as dying and, behold, we live, as chastened and not put to death,
10 as grieved but always rejoicing, as poor but enriching many, as having nothing and possessing all things.
11 Our mouth is open unto you, Corinthians, our heart is expanded:
12 ye are not straitened in us, but ye are straitened in your own bowels;
13 now for the same requital be expanded also yourselves.
14 Be not diversely yoked with unbelievers: for what partnership [is there] for righteousness and lawlessness? or what fellowship [hath] light with darkness?
15 and what consent of Christ with Beliar? or what part for a believer with an unbeliever?
16 and what agreement for God's temple with idols? For ye are [the] living God's temple, even as God said, I will dwell and walk among them, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.
17 Wherefore come out from the midst of them and be separated, saith [the] Lord, and touch no unclean thing; and I will receive you
18 and will be to you for Father, and ye shall be to me for sons and daughters, saith [the] Lord Almighty.

2 CORINTHIANS 7 WK

- 1 [^] Having therefore these promises, beloved, let us purify ourselves from every pollution of flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in God's fear.
2 Receive us; we wronged none, we corrupted none, we overreached none.
3 For condemnation I do not speak; for I have said before that ye are in our hearts to die with and to live with.
4 Great [is] my openness toward you, great my boasting in respect of you: I am filled with encouragement, I am overflowing with joy in all our affliction.
5 For also when we came into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but [we were] afflicted in every way; without fightings, within fears.
6 But he that encourageth the lowly, God, encouraged us by the coming of Titus,
7 and not by his coming only but also by the encouragement with which he was encouraged in your case, declaring to us relating to us your ardent desire, your mourning, your zeal for me; so that I the more rejoiced.

- 8 For if also I grieved you in the letter, I do not regret [it], if even I have regretted it; for I see that that letter, if even [it were] only for a time, grieved you.
- 9 Now I rejoice, not that ye have been grieved, but that ye have been grieved to repentance; for ye have been grieved according to God, that in nothing ye might be injured by us.
- 10 For grief according to God works repentance to salvation, never to be regretted; but the grief of the world works death.
- 11 For, behold, this same thing, your being grieved according to God, how much diligence it wrought in you, but [what] excusing [of yourselves], but [what] indignation, but [what] fear, but [what] ardent desire, but [what] zeal, but [what] vengeance: in every way ye have proved yourselves to be pure in the matter.
- 12 So then, if also I wrote to you, [it was] not for the sake of him that injured, nor for the sake of him that was injured, but for the sake of our diligent zeal for you being manifested to you before God.
- 13 For this reason we have been encouraged. And we the rather rejoiced in our encouragement more abundantly by reason of the joy of Titus, because his spirit has been refreshed by you all.
- 14 Because if I boasted to him anything about you, I have not been put to shame; but as we have spoken to you all things in truth, so also our boasting to Titus has been [the] truth;
- 15 and his affections are more abundantly towards you, calling to mind the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling ye received him.
- 16 I rejoice that in everything I am confident as to you.

2 CORINTHIANS 8 JND

- 1 But we make known to you, brethren, the grace of God bestowed in the assemblies of Macedonia;
- 2 that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty has abounded to the riches of their free-hearted liberality.
- 3 For according to [their] power, I bear witness, and beyond [their] power, [they were] willing of their own accord,
- 4 begging of us with much entreaty [to give effect to] the grace and fellowship of the service which [was to be rendered] to the saints.
- 5 And not according as we hoped, but they gave themselves first to the Lord, and to us by God's will.
- 6 So that we begged Titus that, according as he had before begun, so he would also complete as to you this grace also;
- 7 but even as ye abound in every way, in faith, and word, and knowledge, and all diligence, and in love from you to us, that ye may abound in this grace also.
- 8 I do not speak as commanding [it], but through the zeal of others, and proving the genuineness of your love.

your longing desire, your mourning, your zeal for me, so that I the more rejoiced.

- 8 Because if even I grieved you in the letter, I do not regret, if even I did regret; for I see that that letter if even for a time grieved you.
- 9 Now I rejoice, not that ye were grieved but that ye were grieved unto repentance, for ye were grieved according to God that in nothing ye might suffer damage from us.
- 10 For grief according to God worketh repentance to salvation not to be regretted: but the grief of the world worketh out death.
- 11 For, behold, this very thing that ye were grieved according to God, how much diligence it wrought out in you, nay self-clearing, nay indignation, nay fear, nay longing desire, nay zeal, nay avenging! In everything did ye prove yourselves to be pure in the matter.
- 12 Wherefore, if also I wrote, [it was] not for the sake of him that wronged, nor for his sake that was wronged, but for the sake of your diligence for us [or, ours for you] being manifested unto you before God.
- 13 On this account we have been encouraged; but in our comfort we rejoiced the more exceedingly over the joy of Titus, because his spirit hath been refreshed by you all.
- 14 Because if I have boasted to him anything of you, I was not put to shame; but as we speak all things to you in truth, so also our boasting of you to Titus was truth.
- 15 And his affections are more exceedingly toward you, calling to mind the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling ye received him.
- 16 I rejoice [^] that in everything I am confident in you.

2 CORINTHIANS 8 WK

- 1 Now we make known to you, brethren, the grace of God that is given in [or, among] the assemblies of Macedonia;
- 2 that in much trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality;
- 3 because according to power [I bear witness] and beyond power [they gave] of their own accord,
- 4 asking of us with much entreaty [^] the grace and the fellowship of the ministering unto the saints;
- 5 and this not as we hoped, but their own selves they gave first to the Lord and to us by the will of God;
- 6 so that we exhorted Titus, that, even as he before began, so he would also complete as to you this grace also;
- 7 but as ye abound in everything, faith and word and knowledge and all diligence and love from you to us, [see] that ye abound in this grace also.
- 8 I speak not by way of commandment, but through the diligence of others proving the genuineness of your love also.

2 Corinthians

- 9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that for your sakes he being rich became poor, in order that ye by his poverty might be enriched.
- 10 And I give [my] opinion in this, for this is profitable for you who began before, not only to do, but also to be willing, a year ago.
- 11 But now also complete the doing of it; so that as [there was] the readiness to be willing, so also to complete out of what ye have.
- 12 For if the readiness be there, [a man is] accepted according to what he may have, not according to what he has not.
- 13 For [it is] not in order that there may be ease for others, and for you distress,
- 14 but [on the principle] of equality; in the present time your abundance for their lack, that their abundance may be for your lack, so that there should be equality.
- 15 According as it is written, He who [gathered] much had no excess, and he who [gathered] little was nothing short.
- 16 But thanks [be] to God, who gives the same diligent zeal for you in the heart of Titus.
- 17 For he received indeed the entreaty, but, being full of zeal, he went of his own accord to you;
- 18 but we have sent with him the brother whose praise [is] in the glad tidings through all the assemblies;
- 19 and not only [so], but [is] also chosen by the assemblies as our fellow-traveller with this grace, ministered by us to the glory of the Lord himself, and [a witness of] our readiness;
- 20 avoiding this, that any one should blame us in this abundance [which is] administered by us;
- 21 for we provide for things honest, not only before [the] Lord, but also before men.
- 22 And we have sent with them our brother whom we have often proved to be of diligent zeal in many things, and now more diligently zealous through the great confidence [he has] as to you.
- 23 Whether as regards Titus, [he is] my companion and fellow-labourer in your behalf; or our brethren, [they are] deputed messengers of assemblies, Christ's glory.
- 24 Shew therefore to them, before the assemblies, the proof of your love, and of our boasting about you.

2 CORINTHIANS 9 JND

- 1 For concerning the ministration which [is] for the saints, it is superfluous my writing to you.
- 2 For I know your readiness, which I boast of as respects you to Macedonians, that Achaia is prepared since a year ago, and the zeal [reported] of you has stimulated the mass [of the brethren].
- 3 But I have sent the brethren, in order that our boasting about you may not be made void in this respect, in order that, as I have said, ye may be prepared;
- 4 lest haply, if Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we, that we say not ye, may be put to shame in this confidence.

- 9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that for your sakes he being rich became poor, in order that ye by his poverty might become rich.
- 10 And I give an opinion in this, for this is profitable for you who began before not only the doing, but also to be willing a year ago.
- 11 But now also complete the doing, that even as the readiness of the willing [was there], so also the completing [may be] out of what ye have.
- 12 For if the readiness be there, [one is] accepted according to what he may have, not according to what he hath not.
- 13 For [it is] not that others [should have] ease and you distress,
- 14 but on equality: at the present time your abundance for their lack, that their abundance also should be for your lack, so that there should be equality;
- 15 as it is written, He that [gathered] much had nothing over, and he that [gathered] little had no lack.
- 16 But thanks to God that giveth the same zeal for you in the heart of Titus,
- 17 in that he received indeed the exhortation, but being very zealous of his own accord he set out unto you.
- 18 But we sent together with him the brother whose praise in the gospel [is] through all the assemblies,
- 19 and not only [so] but also chosen by the assemblies our fellow-traveller with this grace that is being administered by us unto the glory of the Lord [himself] and our readiness;
- 20 guarding against this, lest any should blame us in this abundance that is being administered by us,
- 21 for we provide things honourable not only before [the] Lord but also before men.
- 22 And we have sent with them our brother whom we proved to be zealous many times in many things, but now much more zealous by great confidence that [he hath] in you.
- 23 Whether as regards Titus, [he is] my partner and fellow-labourer toward you; whether our brethren, [they are] messengers of assemblies, Christ's glory.
- 24 The shewing forth then of your love and of our boasting for you shew forth unto them ^Λ in the face of the assemblies.

2 CORINTHIANS 9 WK

- 1 For about the ministration of the saints it is superfluous for me to write to you.
- 2 For I know your readiness unto which I boast of you to Macedonians that Achaia hath been prepared a year ago, and your zeal stimulated the many.
- 3 Yet I sent the brethren in order that our boasting of you may not be made vain in this respect, that (as I said) ye may be prepared;
- 4 lest haply, if Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we may be ashamed, that we say not ye, in this confidence. ^Λ

- 5 I thought it necessary therefore to beg the brethren that they would come to you, and complete beforehand your fore-announced blessing, that this may be ready thus as blessing, and not as got out of you.
- 6 But this [is true], he that sows sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he that sows in [the spirit of] blessing shall reap also in blessing:
- 7 each according as he is purposed in his heart; not grievously, or of necessity; for God loves a cheerful giver.
- 8 But God is able to make every gracious gift abound towards you, that, having in every way always all-sufficiency, ye may abound to every good work:
- 9 according as it is written, He has scattered abroad, he has given to the poor, his righteousness remains for ever.
- 10 Now he that supplies seed to the sower and bread for eating shall supply and make abundant your sowing, and increase the fruits of your righteousness:
- 11 enriched in every way unto all free-hearted liberality, which works through us thanksgiving to God.
- 12 Because the ministration of this service is not only filling up the measure of what is lacking to the saints, but also abounding by many thanksgivings to God;
- 13 they glorifying God through the proof of this ministration, by reason of your subjection, by profession, to the glad tidings of the Christ, and your free-hearted liberality in communicating towards them and towards all;
- 14 and in their supplication for you, full of ardent desire for you, on account of the exceeding grace of God [which is] upon you.
- 15 Thanks [be] to God for his unspeakable free gift.

2 CORINTHIANS 10 JND

- 1 But I myself, Paul, entreat you by the meekness and gentleness of the Christ, who, as to appearance, [when present] [am] mean among you, but absent am bold towards you;
- 2 but I beseech that present I may not be bold with the confidence with which I think to be daring towards some who think of us as walking according to flesh.
- 3 For walking in flesh, we do not war according to flesh.
- 4 For the arms of our warfare [are] not fleshly, but powerful according to God to [the] overthrow of strongholds;
- 5 overthrowing reasonings and every high thing that lifts itself up against the knowledge of God, and leading captive every thought into the obedience of the Christ;
- 6 and having in readiness to avenge all disobedience when your obedience shall have been fulfilled.
- 7 Do ye look at what concerns appearance? If any one has confidence in himself that he is of Christ, let him think this again in himself, that even as he [is] of Christ, so also [are] we.
- 8 For and if I should boast even somewhat more abundantly of our authority, which the Lord has given [to us] for building up and not for your overthrowing, I shall not be put to shame;

- 5 I thought it necessary therefore to exhort the brethren that they would go before unto you and complete beforehand your blessing promised before, that it be ready thus as blessing, not as covetousness.
- 6 But this [I say], he that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he that soweth in blessings shall reap also in blessings;
- 7 each as he hath purposed in his heart, not of sorrow or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver.
- 8 And God is able to make every grace abound unto you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in every [thing], may abound unto every good work;
- 9 as is it written, He scattered, he gave to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever.
- 10 But he that supplieth seed to the sower and bread for eating will supply and multiply your sowing and increase the fruits of your righteousness;
- 11 ye being enriched in everything unto all liberality which worketh out through us thanksgiving to God.
- 12 Because the ministration of the service is not only filling up the wants of the saints, but also abounding through many thanksgivings to God;
- 13 through the proof of this service glorifying God for the subjection of your confession unto the gospel of Christ and liberality of fellowship toward them and toward all;
- 14 and in their supplication for you, while longing for you, on account of the surpassing grace of God [bestowed] on you.
- 15 Thanks to God for his unspeakable gift.

2 CORINTHIANS 10 WK

- 1 But I myself Paul entreat you by the meekness and gentleness of the Christ, [I] who face to face [am] mean among you but absent am bold toward you —
- 2 but I beseech that I present may not be bold with the confidence with which I think to be daring against some that think of us as walking according to flesh.
- 3 For walking in flesh we do not war according to flesh.
- 4 For the arms of our warfare [are] not fleshly but powerful with God to the pulling down of strongholds,
- 5 pulling down reasonings and every height that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and leading captive every thought unto the obedience of Christ,
- 6 and being ready to avenge every disobedience when your obedience shall have been fulfilled.
- 7 Do ye look on things according to appearance? If any one hath trust in himself that he is [^] of Christ, let him of himself consider this again, that even as he [is] of Christ, so also we. [^]
- 8 For even if I should boast somewhat more abundantly of our authority which the Lord gave [^] for building up and not for your overthrowing, I shall not be ashamed;

2 Corinthians

- 9 that I may not seem as if I was frightening you by letters:
10 because his letters, he says, [are] weighty and strong, but his presence in the body weak, and his speech naught.
11 Let such a one think this, that such as we are in word by letters [when] absent, such also present in deed.
12 For we dare not class ourselves or compare ourselves with some who commend themselves; but these, measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves with themselves, are not intelligent.
13 Now we will not boast out of measure, but according to the measure of the rule which the God of measure has apportioned to us, to reach to you also.
14 For we do not, as not reaching to you, overstretch ourselves, (for we have come to you also in the glad tidings of the Christ;)
15 not boasting out of measure in other people's labours, but having hope, your faith increasing, to be enlarged amongst you, according to our rule, yet more abundantly
16 to announce the glad tidings to that [which is] beyond you, not to be boasting in another's rule of things made ready to hand.
17 But he that boasts, let him boast in the Lord.
18 For not he that commends himself is approved, but whom the Lord commends.

2 CORINTHIANS II JND

- 1 Would that ye would bear with me [in] a little folly; but indeed bear with me.
2 For I am jealous as to you with a jealousy [which is] of God; for I have espoused you unto one man, to present [you] a chaste virgin to Christ.
3 But I fear lest by any means, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craft, [so] your thoughts should be corrupted from simplicity as to the Christ.
4 For if indeed he that comes preaches another Jesus whom we have not preached, or ye get a different Spirit which ye have not got, or a different glad tidings which ye have not received, ye might well bear with [it].
5 For I reckon that in nothing I am behind those who are in surpassing degree apostles.
6 But if [I am] a simple person in speech, yet not in knowledge, but in everything making [the truth] manifest in all things to you.
7 Have I committed sin, abasing myself in order that ye might be exalted, because I gratuitously announced to you the glad tidings of God?
8 I spoiled other assemblies, receiving hire for ministry towards you.
9 And being present with you and lacking, I did not lazily burden any one, (for the brethren who came from Macedonia supplied what I lacked,) and in everything I kept myself from being a burden to you, and will keep myself.
10 [The] truth of Christ is in me that this boasting shall not be stopped as to me in the regions of Achaia.
11 Why? because I do not love you? God knows.

- 9 that I seem not as it were to terrify you by letters:
10 because his letters, saith one, [are] weighty and strong, but the presence of the body weak and the speech contemptible.
11 Let such an one consider this, that such as we are in word by letters when absent, such also in deed when present.
12 For we dare not class or compare ourselves with some of those that commend themselves; but they, measuring themselves among themselves and comparing themselves with themselves, are unintelligent [or, misunderstand].
13 We however will not boast as to things unmeasured, but according to the measure of the rule which God distributed to us, a measure to reach as far even as you.
14 For we do not, as though not reaching unto you, overstretch ourselves, for even as far as you we advanced in the gospel of Christ,
15 not boasting as to things unmeasured in another's toils, but having hope while your faith increaseth, to be enlarged among you according to our rule unto abundance,
16 to preach the gospel unto the [quarters] beyond you, not to boast in another's rule as to things made ready.
17 But he that boasteth, in the Lord let him boast;
18 for not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth.

2 CORINTHIANS II WK

- 1 Would that ye might bear with me in some little folly; but even bear with me.
2 For I am jealous as to you with a jealousy of God; for I betrothed you to one husband to present a chaste virgin to Christ.
3 But I fear lest by any means, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craft, [^] your thoughts should be corrupted from the simplicity [^] that is toward Christ.
4 For if indeed he that cometh preacheth another Jesus whom ye preached not, or ye receive a different Spirit whom ye received not, or a different gospel which ye accepted not, ye might well bear with [it].
5 For I reckon that I am in nothing come short of those surpassing apostles;
6 but if even ordinary in speech, yet not in knowledge, but in every [way we were] made manifest [or, manifested it] in all things towards you.
7 What! did I commit sin in humbling myself that ye might be exalted, because I gratuitously announced the gospel of God to you?
8 Other assemblies I spoiled, receiving hire for service toward you.
9 And when present with you and in want, I have not been a burden to any one (for my want the brethren on coming from Macedonia supplied); and in everything unburdensome to you I kept and will keep myself.
10 There is Christ's truth in me that this boasting shall not be stopped unto me in the quarters of Achaia.
11 Wherefore? Because I love you not? God knoweth.

- 12 But what I do, I will also do, that I may cut off the opportunity of those wishing [for] an opportunity, that wherein they boast they may be found even as we.
- 13 For such [are] false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ.
- 14 And [it is] not wonderful, for Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light.
- 15 It is no great thing therefore if his ministers also transform themselves as ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works.
- 16 Again I say, Let not any one think me to be a fool; but if otherwise, receive me then even as a fool, that I also may boast myself some little.
- 17 What I speak I do not speak according to [the] Lord, but as in folly, in this confidence of boasting.
- 18 Since many boast according to flesh, I also will boast.
- 19 For ye bear fools readily, being wise.
- 20 For ye bear if any one bring you into bondage, if any one devour [you], if any one get [your money], if any one exalt himself, if any one beat you on the face.
- 21 I speak as to dishonour, as though we had been weak; but wherein any one is daring, (I speak in folly,) I also am daring.
- 22 Are they Hebrews? I also. Are they Israelites? I also. Are they seed of Abraham? I also.
- 23 Are they ministers of Christ? (I speak as being beside myself) I above measure [so]; in labours exceedingly abundant, in stripes to excess, in prisons exceedingly abundant, in deaths oft.
- 24 From the Jews five times have I received forty [stripes], save one.
- 25 Thrice have I been scourged, once I have been stoned, three times I have suffered shipwreck, a night and day I passed in the deep:
- 26 in journeyings often, in perils of rivers, in perils of robbers, in perils from [my own] race, in perils from [the] nations, in perils in [the] city, in perils in [the] desert, in perils on [the] sea, in perils among false brethren;
- 27 in labour and toil, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.
- 28 Besides those things that are without, the crowd [of cares] pressing on me daily, the burden of all the assemblies.
- 29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is stumbled, and I burn not?
- 30 If it is needful to boast, I will boast in the things which concern my infirmity.
- 31 The God and Father of the Lord Jesus knows — he who is blessed for ever — that I do not lie.
- 32 In Damascus the ethnarch of Aretas the king kept the city of the Damascenes shut up, wishing to take me;
- 33 and through a window in a basket I was let down by the wall, and escaped his hands.

2 CORINTHIANS 12 JND

- 12 But what I do I will also do that I may cut off the occasion of those desiring an occasion, that wherein they boast they may be found even as we.
- 13 For such [are] false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into apostles of Christ:
- 14 and no wonder, for Satan himself transformeth himself into an angel of light:
- 15 [it is] no great thing then if his servants also transform themselves as servants of righteousness, whose end shall be according to their works.
- 16 Again I say, let not one think me to be a fool; but if otherwise, even as a fool receive me, that I also may boast some little.
- 17 What I speak, I speak not according to the Lord but as in folly, in this confidence of boasting.
- 18 Since many boast according to flesh, I also will boast.
- 19 For ye bear fools pleasantly, being wise.
- 20 For ye bear if one bring you into bondage, if one devour you, if one receive, if one exalt himself, if one beat you on the face.
- 21 By way of dishonour I speak, as though we had been weak; but wherein any one is bold (I speak in folly) I also am bold.
- 22 Are they Hebrews? I too. Are they Israelites? I too. Are they Abraham's seed? I too.
- 23 Are they ministers of Christ? (Beside myself I speak) I above measure; in labours very abundantly, in prisons very abundantly, in stripes exceedingly, in deaths often.
- 24 From Jews five times I received forty [stripes] save one;
- 25 thrice was I beaten with rods, once I was stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day I have been in the deep;
- 26 by wayfarings often, by dangers of rivers, by dangers of robbers, by dangers from countrymen, by dangers from Gentiles, by dangers in town, by dangers in desert, by dangers at sea, by dangers among false brethren,
- 27 by toil and trouble; in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.
- 28 Apart from things without [or, besides], my pressing care day by day, the concern for all the assemblies.
- 29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is stumbled, and I burn not?
- 30 If I must boast, I will boast in the matters of my infirmity.
- 31 The God and Father of the Lord Jesus, he that is blessed for ever, knoweth that I lie not.
- 32 In Damascus the ethnarch [or, prefect] of Aretas the king garrisoned the Damascenes' city to seize me;
- 33 and through a window I was let down in a basket by the wall and escaped his hands.

2 CORINTHIANS 12 WK

2 Corinthians

- 1 Well, it is not of profit to me to boast, for I will come to visions and revelations of [the] Lord.
- 2 I know a man in Christ, fourteen years ago, (whether in [the] body I know not, or out of the body I know not, God knows;) such [a one] caught up to [the] third heaven.
- 3 And I know such a man, (whether in [the] body or out of the body I know not, God knows;)
- 4 that he was caught up into Paradise, and heard unspeakable things said which it is not allowed to man to utter.
- 5 Of such [a one] I will boast, but of myself I will not boast, unless in my weaknesses.
- 6 For if I shall desire to boast, I shall not be a fool; for I will say [the] truth; but I forbear, lest any one should think as to me above what he sees me [to be], or whatever he may hear of me.
- 7 And that I might not be exalted by the exceeding greatness of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn for the flesh, a messenger of Satan that he might buffet me, that I might not be exalted.
- 8 For this I thrice besought the Lord that it might depart from me.
- 9 And he said to me, My grace suffices thee; for [my] power is perfected in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather boast in my weaknesses, that the power of the Christ may dwell upon me.
- 10 Wherefore I take pleasure in weaknesses, in insults, in necessities, in persecutions, in straits, for Christ: for when I am weak, then I am powerful.
- 11 I have become a fool; ye have compelled me; for I ought to have been commended by you; for I have been nothing behind those who were in surpassing degree apostles, if also I am nothing.
- 12 The signs indeed of the apostle were wrought among you in all endurance, signs, and wonders, and works of power.
- 13 For in what is it that ye have been inferior to the other assemblies, unless that I myself have not been in laziness a charge upon you? Forgive me this injury.
- 14 Behold, this third time I am ready to come to you, and I will not be in laziness a charge; for I do not seek yours, but you; for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, hut the parents for the children.
- 15 Now I shall most gladly spend and be utterly spent for your souls, if even in abundantly loving you I should be less loved.
- 16 But be it so. I did not burden you, but being crafty I took you by guile.
- 17 Did I make gain of you by any of those whom I have sent to you?
- 18 I begged Titus, and sent the brother with [him]: did Titus at all make gain of you? have we not walked in the same spirit? [have we] not in the same steps?
- 19 Ye have long been supposing that we excuse ourselves to you: we speak before God in Christ; and all things, beloved, for your building up.

- 1 I must needs boast; though it be not profitable, yet I will come unto visions and revelations of [the] Lord.
- 2 I know a man in Christ, fourteen years ago (whether in the body, I know not; or whether out of the body, I know not: God knoweth), such an one caught up to the third heaven.
- 3 And I know such a man (whether in the body or without [or, apart from] the body, I know not: God knoweth),
- 4 how that he was caught up into paradise and heard unspeakable words which [it is] not lawful for a man to utter.
- 5 On behalf of such a one I will boast, but on mine own behalf I will not boast save in [my] weaknesses.
- 6 For if I should desire to boast, I shall not be foolish, for I shall speak truth; but I forbear, lest any should account as to me above that which he seeth me or heareth of me. [^]
- 7 And that I should not be uplifted by the exceeding greatness of the revelations, there was given to me thorn [or, stake] for the flesh, a messenger of Satan to buffet me, that I might not be uplifted overmuch.
- 8 For this I thrice besought the Lord that it might depart from me;
- 9 and he hath said to me, My grace is sufficient for thee; for [my] power is perfected in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather boast in my weaknesses that the power of Christ may rest on me.
- 10 Wherefore I take pleasure in weaknesses, in insults, in necessities, in persecutions, in straits for Christ; for when I am weak, then am I strong.
- 11 I am become foolish, [^] ye compelled me; for I ought to have been commended by you, for in nothing was I behind those surpassing apostles if also I am nothing.
- 12 The signs indeed of an apostle were wrought among you in all patience, by both signs and wonders and powers.
- 13 For what is there wherein ye were made inferior to the other assemblies, unless that I myself pressed not heavily on you? Forgive me this wrong.
- 14 Behold, this third time I am ready to come unto you, and I will not press heavily [^], for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children.
- 15 And I most gladly will spend and be spent for your souls, if even more abundantly loving you I am less loved.
- 16 But be it so: I did not myself burden you, but crafty as I am I caught you with guile.
- 17 Did I make a gain of any of them whom I sent unto you?
- 18 I exhorted Titus and sent the brother with [him]: did Titus make any gain of you? Did we not walk in the same spirit? [did we] not in the same steps?
- 19 Ye long ago think that we excuse ourselves to you. Before God in Christ we speak, but all things, beloved, for your building up.

- 20 For I fear lest perhaps coming I find you not such as I wish, and that I be found by you such as ye do not wish: lest [there might be] strifes, jealousies, angers, contentions, evil speakings, whisperings, puffings up, disturbances;
- 21 lest my God should humble me as to you when I come again, and that I shall grieve over many of those who have sinned before, and have not repented as to the uncleanness and fornication and licentiousness which they have practised.

2 CORINTHIANS 13 JND

- 1 This third time I am coming to you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every matter be established.
- 2 I have declared beforehand, and I say beforehand as present the second time, and now absent, to those that have sinned before, and to all the rest, that if I come again I will not spare.
- 3 Since ye seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, (who is not weak towards you, but is powerful among you,
- 4 for if indeed he has been crucified in weakness, yet he lives by God's power; for indeed we are weak in him, but we shall live with him by God's power towards you,)
- 5 examine your own selves if ye be in the faith; prove your own selves: do ye not recognise yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you, unless indeed ye be reprobates?
- 6 Now I hope that ye will know that we are not reprobates.
- 7 But we pray to God that ye may do nothing evil; not that we may appear approved, but that ye may do what is right, and we be as reprobates.
- 8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.
- 9 For we rejoice when we may be weak and ye may be powerful. But this also we pray for, your perfecting.
- 10 On this account I write these things being absent, that being present I may not use severity according to the authority which the Lord has given me for building up, and not for overthrowing.
- 11 For the rest, brethren, rejoice; be perfected; be encouraged; be of one mind; be at peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.
- 12 Salute one another with a holy kiss.
- 13 All the saints salute you.
- 14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit, [be] with you all.

- 20 For I fear lest by any means on coming I find you not such as I wish, and I be found by [or, for] you such as ye wish not; lest by any means [there be] strife, jealousy, wraths, feuds, slanderings, whisperings, swellings, confusions;
- 21 lest on my coming again my God humble me among [or, before] you, and, bewail many of those that have sinned heretofore and not repented of the uncleanness and fornication and indecency which they committed.

2 CORINTHIANS 13 WK

- 1 This third [time] I am coming unto you. At [the] mouth of two witnesses and three shall every word [or, matter] be established.
- 2 I have foretold and foretell, as if present the second [time] and now absent, to them that have sinned before and to all the rest, that if I come again I will not spare.
- 3 ^Λ Since ye seek a proof of the Christ speaking in me (who toward you is not weak, but is powerful in you₁,
- 4 for although he was crucified in weakness, yet he liveth by God's power; for indeed we are weak in him, but shall live with him by God's power toward you),
- 5 try your own selves whether ye be in the faith, prove your own selves. Or recognise ye not as to your own selves that Jesus Christ is in you, unless indeed ye be reprobate?
- 6 But I hope ye shall know that we are not reprobate.
- 7 But we pray unto God that ye may do nothing evil, not that we may appear approved, but that ye may do the right though we be as reprobate.
- 8 For we can do nothing against the truth but for the truth.
- 9 For ^Λ we rejoice when we are weak and ye are strong: this also we pray for, your perfecting.
- 10 For this cause I write these things while absent, that I may not when present deal severely according to the authority which the Lord gave me for building up and not for casting down.
- 11 For the rest, brethren, rejoice [or, farewell], be perfected, be encouraged, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.
- 12 Salute one another with a holy kiss.
- 13 All the saints salute you.
- 14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit, [be] with you all. ^Λ

GALATIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul, apostle, not from men nor through man, but through Jesus Christ, and God [the] Father who raised him from among [the] dead,
- 2 and all the brethren with me, to the assemblies of Galatia.
- 3 Grace to you, and peace, from God [the] Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 4 who gave himself for our sins, so that he should deliver us out of the present evil world, according to the will of our God and Father;
- 5 to whom [be] glory to the ages of ages. Amen.
- 6 I wonder that ye thus quickly change, from him that called you in Christ's grace, to a different gospel,
- 7 which is not another [one]; but there are some that trouble you, and desire to pervert the glad tidings of the Christ.
- 8 But if even we or an angel out of heaven announce as glad tidings to you [anything] besides what we have announced as glad tidings to you, let him be accursed.
- 9 As we have said before, now also again I say, If any one announce to you as glad tidings [anything] besides what ye have received, let him be accursed.
- 10 For do I now seek to satisfy men or God? or do I seek to please men? If I were yet pleasing men, I were not Christ's bondman.
- 11 But I let you know, brethren, [as to] the glad tidings which were announced by me, that they are not according to man.
- 12 For neither did I receive them from man, neither was I taught [them], but by revelation of Jesus Christ.
- 13 For ye have heard [what was] my conversation formerly in Judaism, that I excessively persecuted the assembly of God, and ravaged it;
- 14 and advanced in Judaism beyond many [my] contemporaries in my nation, being exceedingly zealous of the doctrines of my fathers.
- 15 But when God, who set me apart [even] from my mother's womb, and called [me] by his grace,
- 16 was pleased to reveal his Son in me, that I may announce him as glad tidings among the nations, immediately I took not counsel with flesh and blood,
- 17 nor went I up to Jerusalem to those [who were] apostles before me; but I went to Arabia, and again returned to Damascus.
- 18 Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to make acquaintance with Peter, and I remained with him fifteen days;
- 19 but I saw none other of the apostles, but James the brother of the Lord.
- 20 Now what I write to you, behold, before God, I do not lie.
- 21 Then I came into the regions of Syria and Cilicia.
- 22 But I was unknown personally to the assemblies of Judæa which [are] in Christ;
- 23 only they were hearing that he who persecuted us formerly now announces the glad tidings of the faith which formerly he ravaged:
- 24 and they glorified God in me.

GALATIANS 1 WK

- 1 Paul, apostle, not from men nor by man, but by Jesus Christ and God the Father that raised him out of the dead,
- 2 and all the brethren with me, to the assemblies of Galatia.
- 3 Grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 4 that gave himself for our sins, so that he might deliver us out of the present evil age according to the will of our God and Father,
- 5 to whom [be] the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 6 I wonder that thus quickly ye are being removed from him that called you in Christ's grace to a different gospel
- 7 which is not another, but there are some that trouble you and desire to pervert the gospel of Christ.
- 8 But even if we or an angel out of heaven preach to you contrary to what we preached to you, accursed let him be.
- 9 As we have said before, now also again I say, if one is preaching to you contrary to what ye received, accursed let him be.
- 10 For am I now conciliating men or God? or do I seek to please men? [For] if any longer I were pleasing men, Christ's bondservant I should not be.
- 11 But I let you know, brethren, that the gospel that was preached by me is not according to man.
- 12 For neither received I it from man nor was I taught [it] but by revelation of Jesus Christ.
- 13 For ye heard of my conversation formerly in Judaism, that I was excessively persecuting the assembly of God and ravaging it;
- 14 and I was advancing in Judaism beyond many contemporaries in my nation, being very exceedingly zealous for the traditions of my fathers.
- 15 But when it pleased God, that set me apart out of my mother's womb and called me by his grace,
- 16 to reveal his Son in me, that I should preach him among the nations, immediately I took not counsel with flesh and blood,
- 17 nor went up to Jerusalem to those that were apostles before me; but I went unto Arabia and again returned unto Damascus.
- 18 Then after three years I went up unto Jerusalem to make the acquaintance of Cephas, and I remained with him fifteen days;
- 19 but no other of the apostles I saw, save James the brother of the Lord.
- 20 Now what I write to you, behold, before God, I lie not.
- 21 Then I came into the regions of Syria and Cilicia;
- 22 but I was unknown personally to the assemblies of Judea that are in Christ:
- 23 only they were hearing that our former persecutor now preacheth the faith which formerly he was ravaging,
- 24 and they glorified God in me.

GALATIANS 2 JND

- 1 Then after a lapse of fourteen years I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus also with [me];
- 2 and I went up according to revelation, and I laid before them the glad tidings which I preach among the nations, but privately to those conspicuous [among them], lest in any way I run or had run in vain;
- 3 (but neither was Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, compelled to be circumcised;)
- 4 and [it was] on account of the false brethren brought in surreptitiously, who came in surreptitiously to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage;
- 5 to whom we yielded in subjection not even for an hour, that the truth of the glad tidings might remain with you.
- 6 But from those who were conspicuous as being somewhat — whatsoever they were, it makes no difference to me: God does not accept man's person; for to me those who were conspicuous communicated nothing;
- 7 but, on the contrary, seeing that the glad tidings of the uncircumcision were confided to me, even as to Peter that of the circumcision,
- 8 (for he that wrought in Peter for [the] apostleship of the circumcision wrought also in me towards the Gentiles,)
- 9 and recognising the grace given to me, James and Cephas and John, who were conspicuous as being pillars, gave to me and Barnabas [the] right hands of fellowship, that we [should go] to the nations, and they to the circumcision;
- 10 only that we should remember the poor, which same thing also I was diligent to do.
- 11 But when Peter came to Antioch, I withstood him to [the] face, because he was to be condemned:
- 12 for before that certain came from James, he ate with [those of] the nations; but when they came he drew back and separated himself, fearing those of [the] circumcision;
- 13 and the rest of the Jews also played the same dissembling part with him; so that even Barnabas was carried away too by their dissimulation.
- 14 But when I saw that they do not walk straightforwardly, according to the truth of the glad tidings, I said to Peter before all, If thou, being a Jew, livest as the nations and not as the Jews, how dost thou compel the nations to Judaize?
- 15 We, Jews by nature, and not sinners of [the] nations,
- 16 but knowing that a man is not justified on the principle of works of law [nor] but by the faith of Jesus Christ, we also have believed on Christ Jesus, that we might be justified on the principle of [the] faith of Christ; and not of works of law; because on the principle of works of law no flesh shall be justified.
- 17 Now if in seeking to be justified in Christ we also have been found sinners, then [is] Christ minister of sin.
- 18 Far be the thought. For if the things I have thrown down, these I build again, I constitute myself a transgressor.

GALATIANS 2 WK

- 1 Then after fourteen years I again went up unto Jerusalem with Barnabas, taking Titus also with [me];
- 2 and I went up according to revelation, and laid before them the gospel which I preach among the nations, but in private to those in repute, lest by any means I should be running or had run in vain;
- 3 (but neither was Titus, that was with me, being a Greek, compelled to be circumcised;)
- 4 and [this] on account of the false brethren brought in stealthily, who came in stealthily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring into bondage,
- 5 to whom we yielded in subjection, not for an hour, that the truth of the gospel might abide with you.
- 6 But from those reputed to be something, whatsoever they were maketh no difference to me — God accepteth no man's person — for to me those in repute imparted nothing;
- 7 but, on the contrary, having seen that I was entrusted with the gospel of the uncircumcision, even as Peter [with that] of the circumcision
- 8 (for he that wrought in Peter for the apostleship of the circumcision, wrought in me also toward the nations),
- 9 and having known the grace given to me, James and Cephas and John, that were reputed to be pillars, gave to me and Barnabas the right-hands of fellowship, that we [should go] unto the nations, and they unto the circumcision,
- 10 only that we should remember the poor, which very thing also I have been diligent to do.
- 11 But when Cephas came unto Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was self-condemned;
- 12 for before that certain came from James, he ate with the nations; but when they came, he was withdrawing and separating himself, being afraid of those of the circumcision;
- 13 and the rest of the Jews also dissembled with him, so that even Barnabas was carried away by their dissimulation.
- 14 But when I saw that they walk not uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said to Cephas before all, If thou, being a Jew, livest nationally and not Jewishly, how forestest thou the nations to judaize?
- 15 We, Jews by nature and not sinners of the nations,
- 16 and knowing that no man is justified by works of law, but by faith of Jesus Christ, even we believed on Christ Jesus, that we might be justified by faith of Christ and not by works of [^] law; because by works of [^] law shall no flesh be justified.
- 17 But if, while seeking to be justified in Christ, ourselves also were found sinners, then is Christ minister of sin. Let it not be.
- 18 For if the things which I pulled down, these I again build, I constitute myself a transgressor.

- 19 For I, through law, have died to law, that I may live to God.
- 20 I am crucified with Christ, and no longer live, I, but Christ lives in me; but [in] that I now live in flesh, I live by faith, the [faith] of the Son of God, who has loved me and given himself for me.
- 21 I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness [is] by law, then Christ had died for nothing.

GALATIANS 3 JND

- 1 O senseless Galatians, who has bewitched you; to whom, as before your very eyes, Jesus Christ has been portrayed, crucified [among you]?
- 2 This only I wish to learn of you, Have ye received the Spirit on the principle of works of law, or of [the] report of faith?
- 3 Are ye so senseless? having begun in Spirit, are ye going to be made perfect in flesh?
- 4 Have ye suffered so many things in vain, if indeed also in vain?
- 5 He therefore who ministers to you the Spirit, and works miracles among you, [is it] on the principle of works of law, or of [the] report of faith?
- 6 Even as Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.
- 7 Know then that they that are on the principle of faith, these are Abraham's sons;
- 8 and the scripture, foreseeing that God would justify the nations on the principle of faith, announced beforehand the glad tidings to Abraham: In thee all the nations shall be blessed.
- 9 So that they who are on the principle of faith are blessed with believing Abraham.
- 10 For as many as are on the principle of works of law are under curse. For it is written, Cursed is every one who does not continue in all things which [are] written in the book of the law to do them;
- 11 but that by law no one is justified with God [is] evident, because The just shall live on the principle of faith;
- 12 but the law is not on the principle of faith; but, He that shall have done these things shall live by them.
- 13 Christ has redeemed us out of the curse of the law, having become a curse for us, (for it is written, Cursed [is] every one hanged upon a tree,)
- 14 that the blessing of Abraham might come to the nations in Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.
- 15 Brethren, (I speak according to man,) even man's confirmed covenant no one sets aside, or adds other dispositions to.
- 16 But to Abraham were the promises addressed, and to his seed: he does not say, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed; which is Christ.
- 17 Now I say this, A covenant confirmed beforehand by God, the law, which took place four hundred and thirty years

- 19 For I, by law, died to law that I may live to God.

- 20 With Christ I am crucified, yet I live, no longer I, but Christ liveth in me; but that which I now live in flesh, I live in the faith of the Son of God that loved me and gave himself up for me.
- 21 I do not set aside the grace of God; for if righteousness is by law, then Christ died gratuitously.

GALATIANS 3 WK

- 1 O senseless Galatians! who bewitched you, [^] before whose eyes Jesus Christ was portrayed among you as crucified?
- 2 This only I wish to learn from you; received ye the Spirit by works of law, or by the report of faith?
- 3 Are ye so senseless? Having begun in Spirit, are ye now being perfected in flesh?
- 4 Suffered ye so many things in vain, if indeed in vain?
- 5 He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit and worketh miracles among you, [doeth he it] by works of law or by the hearing of faith?
- 6 Even as Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.
- 7 Know then that they who are of faith, these are sons of Abraham.
- 8 And the scripture foreseeing that God would justify the nations by faith, announced beforehand to Abraham: "In thee shall all the nations be blessed."
- 9 So that they that are of faith are blessed with the faithful Abraham.
- 10 For as many as are of works of law are under curse; for it is written, "Cursed is every one who doth not continue in all things that are written in the book of the law, to do them;"
- 11 but that in virtue of law none is justified with God [is] evident, for "the just by faith shall live;"
- 12 but the law is not of faith, but he who hath done them shall live in virtue of them.
- 13 Christ bought us out of the curse of the law, having become a curse for us, (for it is written, "Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree,")
- 14 that unto the nations the blessing of Abraham might come in Christ Jesus, that we might receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.
- 15 Brethren, I speak according to man: a ratified covenant, though man's, no one setteth aside or supplementeth.
- 16 But to Abraham were addressed the promises, and to his seed; he doth not say "and to seeds" as of many, but as of one "and to thy seed," which is Christ.
- 17 Now this I say: the covenant ratified beforehand by God [^], the law, which took place four hundred and thirty years after, does not annul, so as to make the promise of no effect.

- 18 For if the inheritance [be] on the principle of law, [it is] no longer on the principle of promise; but God gave it in grace to Abraham by promise.
- 19 Why then the law? It was added for the sake of transgressions, until the seed came to whom the promise was made, ordained through angels in [the] hand of a mediator.
- 20 But a mediator is not of one, but God is one.
- 21 [Is] then the law against the promises of God? Far be the thought. For if a law had been given able to quicken, then indeed righteousness were on the principle of law;
- 22 but the scripture has shut up all things under sin, that the promise, on the principle of faith of Jesus Christ, should be given to those that believe.
- 23 But before faith came, we were guarded under law, shut up to faith [which was] about to be revealed.
- 24 So that the law has been our tutor up to Christ, that we might be justified on the principle of faith.
- 25 But, faith having come, we are no longer under a tutor;
- 26 for ye are all God's sons by faith in Christ Jesus.
- 27 For ye, as many as have been baptized unto Christ, have put on Christ.
- 28 There is no Jew nor Greek; there is no bondman nor freeman; there is no male and female; for ye are all one in Christ Jesus:
- 29 but if ye [are] of Christ, then ye are Abraham's seed, heirs according to promise.

GALATIANS 4 JND

- 1 Now I say, As long as the heir is a child, he differs nothing from a bondman, though he be lord of all;
- 2 but he is under guardians and stewards until the period fixed by the father.
- 3 So we also, when we were children, were held in bondage under the principles of the world;
- 4 but when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, come of woman,
- 5 come under law, that he might redeem those under law, that we might receive sonship.
- 6 But because ye are sons, God has sent out the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, Abba, Father.
- 7 So thou art no longer bondman, but son; but if son, heir also through God.
- 8 But then indeed, not knowing God, ye were in bondage to those who by nature are not gods;
- 9 but now, knowing God, but rather being known by God, how do ye turn again to the weak and beggarly principles to which ye desire to be again anew in bondage?
- 10 Ye observe days and months and times and years.
- 11 I am afraid of you, lest indeed I have laboured in vain as to you.

after, doth not annul so as to make the promise void.

- 18 For if the inheritance is of law, it is no more of promise; but to Abraham by promise God graciously gave [it].
- 19 Why then the law? For the sake of transgressions it was added, until the seed came to whom the promise was made, being ordained by means of angels in a mediator's hand.
- 20 But the mediator is not [^] of one, but God is one.
- 21 [Is] therefore the law against the promises of God? Let it not be. For if there had been given a law which could quicken, in very truth by law would have been righteousness.
- 22 But the scripture hath shut up all things under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to those that believe.
- 23 But before faith came, we were guarded under law, shut up unto the faith about to be revealed.
- 24 So that the law hath been our tutor [^] unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith.
- 25 But faith having come, we are no longer under a tutor;
- 26 for ye all are sons of God by faith [^] in Christ Jesus.
- 27 For as many of you as were baptized unto Christ, put on Christ.
- 28 There is no Jew nor Greek, there is no bondservant nor freeman, there is no male and female; for all ye are one [^] in Christ Jesus.
- 29 And if ye [be] Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, [^] heirs according to promise.

GALATIANS 4 WK

- 1 But I say, as long as the heir is an infant, he differeth nothing from a bondservant, though he be lord of all;
- 2 but is under guardians and stewards until the time fore-appointed by the father.
- 3 So also we, when we were infants, were held in bondage under the principles of the world;
- 4 but when the fulness of the time came, God sent forth his Son, born of woman, born under law,
- 5 that he might buy those under law, that we might receive our sonship.
- 6 But because ye are sons, God sent forth the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, Abba Father.
- 7 So that thou art no longer a bondservant [^] but a son; and if a son, an heir also of God through Christ.
- 8 But then, not knowing God, ye were in bondage to those who by nature are not gods;
- 9 but now having known God, yea rather being known by God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly principles to which ye wish again afresh to be in bondage?
- 10 Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years.
- 11 I am afraid of you, lest somehow I have laboured in vain as to you.

- 12 Be as I [am], for I also [am] as ye, brethren, I beseech you: ye have not at all wronged me.
- 13 But ye know that in weakness of the flesh I announced the glad tidings to you at the first;
- 14 and my temptation, which [was] in my flesh, ye did not slight nor reject with contempt; but ye received me as an angel of God, as Christ Jesus.
- 15 What then [was] your blessedness? for I bear you witness that, if possible, plucking out your own eyes ye would have given [them] to me.
- 16 So I have become your enemy in speaking the truth to you?
- 17 They are not rightly zealous after you, but desire to shut you out [from us], that ye may be zealous after them.
- 18 But [it is] right to be zealous at all times in what is right, and not only when I am present with you —
- 19 my children, of whom I again travail in birth until Christ shall have been formed in you:
- 20 and I should wish to be present with you now, and change my voice, for I am perplexed as to you.
- 21 Tell me, ye who are desirous of being under law, do ye not listen to the law?
- 22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons; one of the maid servant, and one of the free woman.
- 23 But he [that was] of the maid servant was born according to flesh, and he [that was] of the free woman through the promise.
- 24 Which things have an allegorical sense; for these are two covenants: one from mount Sina, gendering to bondage, which is Hagar.
- 25 For Hagar is mount Sina in Arabia, and corresponds to Jerusalem which [is] now, for she is in bondage with her children;
- 26 but the Jerusalem above is free, which is our mother.
- 27 For it is written, Rejoice, thou barren that bearest not; break out and cry, thou that travailest not; because the children of the desolate are more numerous than [those] of her that has a husband.
- 28 But ye, brethren, after the pattern of Isaac, are children of promise.
- 29 But as then he that was born according to flesh persecuted him [that was born] according to Spirit, so also [it is] now.
- 30 But what says the scripture? Cast out the maid servant and her son; for the son of the maid servant shall not inherit with the son of the free woman.
- 31 So then, brethren, we are not maid servant's children, but [children] of the free woman.

GALATIANS 5 JND

- 1 Christ has set us free in freedom; stand fast therefore, and be not held again in a yoke of bondage.
- 2 Behold, I, Paul, say to you, that if ye are circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.
- 3 And I witness again to every man [who is] circumcised, that he is debtor to do the whole law.

- 12 Be as I, for I also [am] as ye, brethren, I beseech you: ye have in nothing wronged me;
- 13 but ye know that in weakness of the flesh I preached to you the first time;
- 14 and my temptation which was in my flesh ye slighted not nor loathed, but as an angel of God ye received me — as Christ Jesus.
- 15 What then was your blessedness? For I bear you witness that, if possible, plucking out your eyes, ye would have given them to me.
- 16 So that have I become your enemy by being truthful to you?
- 17 They are zealous about you, not rightly; but wish to shut you out, that ye may be zealous about them.
- 18 But [it is] right to be zealous in a right thing always, and not only when I am present with you.
- 19 My children, with whom I again travail, until Christ shall have been formed in you,
- 20 yea, I could wish to be present with you now and change my voice, for I am perplexed about you.
- 21 Tell me, ye who wish to be under law, do ye not hear the law?
- 22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one of the maidservant and one of the freewoman.
- 23 But he that was of the maidservant was born according to flesh, and he that was of the freewoman through the promise.
- 24 Which things are given allegorically, for these are two covenants, one from Mount Sina, gendering unto bondage, which is Agar.
- 25 For Agar is Mount Sina in Arabia, but correspondeth with the existing Jerusalem, for she is in bondage with her children.
- 26 But the Jerusalem above is free, which is our mother,
- 27 for it is written, "Rejoice, thou barren that bearest not; break out and cry, thou that travailest not; for the children of the desolate are many more than of her that hath the husband."
- 28 But we, brethren, like Isaac, are children of promise.
- 29 But as then he that was born according to flesh persecuted him that was according to Spirit, so now.
- 30 But what saith the scripture? "Cast out the maidservant and her son. For in no wise shall the son of the maidservant inherit with the son of the freewoman."
- 31 Therefore, brethren, we are not children of a maidservant, but of the freewoman.

GALATIANS 5 WK

- 1 Stand fast in the freedom with which Christ hath freed us, and be not again held in a yoke of bondage.
- 2 Behold, I Paul say to you, that if ye are circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.
- 3 And I witness again to every man if circumcised, that he is a debtor to do the whole law.

- 4 Ye are deprived of all profit from the Christ as separated [from him], as many as are justified by law; ye have fallen from grace.
- 5 For we, by [the] Spirit, on the principle of faith, await the hope of righteousness.
- 6 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision has any force, nor uncircumcision; but faith working through love.
- 7 Ye ran well; who has stopped you that ye should not obey the truth?
- 8 The persuasibleness [is] not of him that calls you.
- 9 A little leaven leavens the whole lump.
- 10 I have confidence as to you in [the] Lord, that ye will have no other mind; and he that is troubling you shall bear the guilt [of it], whosoever he may be.
- 11 But I, brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why am I yet persecuted? Then the scandal of the cross has been done away.
- 12 I would that they would even cut themselves off who throw you into confusion.
- 13 For ye have been called to liberty, brethren; only [do] not [turn] liberty into an opportunity to the flesh, but by love serve one another.
- 14 For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, in Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself;
- 15 but if ye bite and devour one another, see that ye are not consumed one of another.
- 16 But I say, Walk in [the] Spirit, and ye shall no way fulfil flesh's lust.
- 17 For the flesh lusts against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these things are opposed one to the other, that ye should not do those things which ye desire;
- 18 but if ye are led by the Spirit, ye are not under law.
- 19 Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are fornication, uncleanness, licentiousness,
- 20 idolatry, sorcery, hatred, strifes, jealousies, angers, contentions, disputes, schools of opinion,
- 21 envyings, murders, drunkennesses, revels, and things like these; as to which I tell you beforehand, even as I also have said before, that they who do such things shall not inherit God's kingdom.
- 22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, fidelity,
- 23 meekness, self-control: against such things there is no law.
- 24 But they that [are] of the Christ have crucified the flesh with the passions and the lusts.
- 25 If we live by the Spirit, let us walk also by the Spirit.
- 26 Let us not become vain-glorious, provoking one another, envying one another.

GALATIANS 6 JND

- 1 Brethren, if even a man be taken in some fault, ye who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of meekness, considering thyself lest thou also be tempted.
- 2 Bear one another's burdens, and thus fulfil the law of the Christ.

- 4 Ye have derived no effect from Christ, whoever are being justified by law; ye have fallen from grace.
- 5 For we in the Spirit await by faith the hope of righteousness.
- 6 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision hath any force nor uncircumcision, but faith working by love.
- 7 Ye were running well: who stopped you that ye should not obey the truth?
- 8 The persuasion [is] not of him that calleth you.
- 9 A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump.
- 10 I have confidence as to you in the Lord that ye will be of no other mind; but he that troubleth you shall bear the sentence, whoever he may be.
- 11 But I, brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why am I yet persecuted? Then is done away the scandal of the cross.
- 12 I would they would even cut themselves off that are unsettling you.
- 13 For ye have been called for freedom, brethren: only [use] not your freedom for an opportunity to the flesh; but by love serve one another.
- 14 For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, in "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself."
- 15 But if ye bite and devour one another, see that ye are not consumed by one another.
- 16 But I say, walk by the Spirit, and ye shall in no wise fulfil flesh's lust.
- 17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these things are opposed one to another, that ye should not do those things which ye would;
- 18 but if ye are led by the Spirit, ye are under no law.
- 19 Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are fornication, uncleanness, licentiousness,
- 20 idolatry, sorcery, hatreds, strifes, jealousies, bursts of passion, contentions, divisions, parties,
- 21 envyings, murders, drunkennesses, revels, and things like these, as to which I forewarn you, even as also I forewarned, that they who do such things shall not inherit God's kingdom.
- 22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faith,
- 23 meekness, self-control: against such things there is no law.
- 24 But they that are of Christ have crucified the flesh with its passions and its lusts.
- 25 If we live by the Spirit, by the Spirit let us also walk.
- 26 Let us not become vainglorious, provoking one another, envying one another.

GALATIANS 6 WK

- 1 Brethren, if a man be even taken in some offence, do ye, the spiritual ones, restore such an one in a spirit of meekness, looking to thyself lest thou also be tempted.
- 2 Bear one another's burdens, and so completely fulfil the law of Christ.

- 3 For if any man reputes himself to be something, being nothing, he deceives himself;
- 4 but let each prove his own work, and then he will have his boast in what belongs to himself alone, and not in what belongs to another.
- 5 For each shall bear his own burden.
- 6 Let him that is taught in the word communicate to him that teaches in all good things.
- 7 Be not deceived: God is not mocked; for whatever a man shall sow, that also shall he reap.
- 8 For he that sows to his own flesh, shall reap corruption from the flesh; but he that sows to the Spirit, from the Spirit shall reap eternal life:
- 9 but let us not lose heart in doing good; for in due time, if we do not faint, we shall reap.
- 10 So then, as we have occasion, let us do good towards all, and specially towards those of the household of faith.
- 11 See how long a letter I have written to you with my own hand.
- 12 As many as desire to have a fair appearance in [the] flesh, these compel you to be circumcised, only that they may not be persecuted because of the cross of Christ.
- 13 For neither do they that are circumcised themselves keep the law; but they wish you to be circumcised, that they may boast in your flesh.
- 14 But far be it from me to boast save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom [the] world is crucified to me, and I to the world.
- 15 For [in Christ Jesus] neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision; but new creation.
- 16 And as many as shall walk by this rule, peace upon them and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.
- 17 For the rest let no one trouble me, for I bear in my body the brands of the Lord Jesus.
- 18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with your spirit, brethren. Amen.

- 3 For if any one reputeth himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself.
- 4 But let each prove his own work, and then he will have his boast as to himself alone, and not as to the other;
- 5 for each shall bear his own load.
- 6 But let him that is taught in the word communicate to him that teacheth in all good things.
- 7 Be not deceived: God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, this also shall he reap;
- 8 for he that soweth unto his own flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth unto the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life eternal.
- 9 But in well-doing let us not be faint-hearted, for in due time we shall reap, if we do not faint.
- 10 So then, as we have opportunity, let us work that which is good toward all, and especially toward those of the household of faith.
- 11 See in how large letters I have written to you with my own hand.
- 12 As many as wish to have a fair appearance in the flesh, these are compelling you to be circumcised, only that they may not be persecuted through the cross of Christ.
- 13 For neither do they that are being circumcised themselves keep the law, but wish you to be circumcised that in your flesh they may boast.
- 14 But be it not for me to boast, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified to me and I to the world.
- 15 For in Christ Jesus neither is circumcision anything, nor uncircumcision, but a new creation.
- 16 And as many as walk by this rule, peace [be] upon them and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.
- 17 For the rest let no one give me trouble, for I bear the marks of the Lord Jesus in my body.
- 18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brethren. Amen.

EPHESIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ by God's will, to the saints and faithful in Christ Jesus who are at Ephesus.
- 2 Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 Blessed [be] the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenlies in Christ;
- 4 according as he has chosen us in him before [the] world's foundation, that we should be holy and blameless before him in love;
- 5 having marked us out beforehand for adoption through Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will,
- 6 to [the] praise of [the] glory of his grace, wherein he has taken us into favour in the Beloved:
- 7 in whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of offences, according to the riches of his grace;
- 8 which he has caused to abound towards us in all wisdom and intelligence,
- 9 having made known to us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he purposed in himself
- 10 for [the] administration of the fulness of times; to head up all things in the Christ, the things in the heavens and the things upon the earth; in him,
- 11 in whom we have also obtained an inheritance, being marked out beforehand according to the purpose of him who works all things according to the counsel of his own will,
- 12 that we should be to [the] praise of his glory who have pre-trusted in the Christ:
- 13 in whom ye also [have trusted], having heard the word of the truth, the glad tidings of your salvation; in whom also, having believed, ye have been sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise,
- 14 who is [the] earnest of our inheritance to the redemption of the acquired possession to [the] praise of his glory.
- 15 Wherefore I also, having heard of the faith in the Lord Jesus which [is] in you, and the love which [ye have] towards all the saints,
- 16 do not cease giving thanks for you, making mention [of you] at my prayers,
- 17 that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, would give you [the] spirit of wisdom and revelation in the full knowledge of him,
- 18 being enlightened in the eyes of your heart, so that ye should know what is the hope of his calling, [and] what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,
- 19 and what the surpassing greatness of his power towards us who believe, according to the working of the might of his strength,
- 20 [in] which he wrought in the Christ [in] raising him from among [the] dead, and he set him down at his right hand in the heavenlies,

EPHESIANS 1 WK

- 21 above every principality, and authority, and power, and dominion, and every name named, not only in this age, but also in that to come;
22 and has put all things under his feet, and gave him [to be] head over all things to the assembly,
23 which is his body, the fulness of him who fills all in all:

EPHESIANS 2 JND

- 1 and you being dead in your offences and sins —
2 in which ye once walked according to the age of this world, according to the ruler of the authority of the air, the spirit who now works in the sons of disobedience:
3 among whom we also all once had our conversation in the lusts of our flesh, doing what the flesh and the thoughts willed to do, and were children, by nature, of wrath, even as the rest:
4 but God, being rich in mercy, because of his great love wherewith he loved us,
5 (we too being dead in offences,) has quickened us with the Christ, (ye are saved by grace,)
6 and has raised [us] up together, and has made [us] sit down together in the heavenlies in Christ Jesus,
7 that he might display in the coming ages the surpassing riches of his grace in kindness towards us in Christ Jesus.
8 For ye are saved by grace, through faith; and this not of yourselves; it is God's gift:
9 not on the principle of works, that no one might boast.
10 For we are his workmanship, having been created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God has before prepared that we should walk in them.
11 Wherefore remember that ye, once nations in [the] flesh, who [are] called uncircumcision by that called circumcision in [the] flesh done with the hand;
12 that ye were at that time without Christ, aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world:
13 but now in Christ Jesus ye who once were afar off are become nigh by the blood of the Christ.
14 For he is our peace, who has made both one, and has broken down the middle wall of enclosure,
15 having annulled the enmity in his flesh, the law of commandments in ordinances, that he might form the two in himself into one new man, making peace;
16 and might reconcile both in one body to God by the cross, having by it slain the enmity;
17 and, coming, he has preached the glad tidings of peace to you who [were] afar off, and [the glad tidings of] peace to those [who were] nigh.
18 For through him we have both access by one Spirit to the Father.
19 So then ye are no longer strangers and foreigners, but ye are fellow-citizens of the saints, and of the household of God,
20 being built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the corner-stone,

- 21 far above every principality and authority and power and lordship and every name named not only in this age but also in that to come;
22 and put all things under his feet, and gave him as head over all things to the assembly,
23 which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all.

EPHESIANS 2 WK

- 1 And you, being dead in your offences and your sins,
2 in which ye once walked according to the age of this world, according to the ruler of the authority of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the sons of disobedience;

5 even us being dead in our offences he quickened with the Christ (by grace are ye saved),
6 and raised together and seated together in the heavenly [places] in Christ Jesus,
7 that he might shew forth in the coming ages the surpassing riches of his grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.
8 For by grace ye are saved through faith; and this not of yourselves — God's is the gift:
9 not of works, that no one might boast.
10 For his workmanship we are, created in Christ Jesus for good works which God before prepared that we should walk in them.

17 And having come he preached peace to you that were afar off and peace to those that were nigh.
18 For through him we both have an access by one Spirit to the Father.
19 So then ye are no longer strangers and foreigners, but ye are fellow-citizens of the saints and of the household of God,
20 being built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being chief corner-stone,

- 21 in whom all the building fitted together increases to a holy temple in the Lord;
 22 in whom ye also are built together for a habitation of God in [the] Spirit.

EPHESIANS 3 JND

- 1 For this reason I Paul, prisoner of the Christ Jesus for you nations,
 2 (if indeed ye have heard of the administration of the grace of God which has been given to me towards you,
 3 that by revelation the mystery has been made known to me, (according as I have written before briefly,
 4 by which, in reading it, ye can understand my intelligence in the mystery of the Christ,)
 5 which in other generations has not been made known to the sons of men, as it has now been revealed to his holy apostles and prophets in [the power of the] Spirit,
 6 that [they who are of] the nations should be joint heirs, and a joint body, and joint partakers of [his] promise in Christ Jesus by the glad tidings;
 7 of which I am become minister according to the gift of the grace of God given to me, according to the working of his power.
 8 To me, less than the least of all saints, has this grace been given, to announce among the nations the glad tidings of the unsearchable riches of the Christ,
 9 and to enlighten all [with the knowledge of] what is the administration of the mystery hidden throughout the ages in God, who has created all things,
 10 in order that now to the principalities and authorities in the heavenlies might be made known through the assembly the all-various wisdom of God,
 11 according to [the] purpose of the ages, which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord,
 12 in whom we have boldness and access in confidence by the faith of him.
 13 Wherefore I beseech [you] not to faint through my tribulations for you, which is your glory.
 14 For this reason I bow my knees to the Father [of our Lord Jesus Christ],
 15 of whom every family in [the] heavens and on earth is named,
 16 in order that he may give you according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with power by his Spirit in the inner man;
 17 that the Christ may dwell, through faith, in your hearts, being rooted and founded in love,
 18 in order that ye may be fully able to apprehend with all the saints what [is] the breadth and length and depth and height;
 19 and to know the love of the Christ which surpasses knowledge; that ye may be filled [even] to all the fulness of God.
 20 But to him that is able to do far exceedingly above all which we ask or think, according to the power which works in us,

- 21 in whom all the building fitted together increaseth unto a holy temple in [the] Lord,
 22 in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God in [the] Spirit.

EPHESIANS 3 WK

- 1 For this cause I Paul, the prisoner of the Christ Jesus for you nations,
 2 if indeed ye heard of the administration of the grace of God that was given me toward you;
 3 how that by revelation was made known to me the mystery, even as I have before written briefly,
 4 in accordance with which ye can, in reading, perceive my understanding in the mystery of the Christ,
 5 which in other generations was not made known to the sons of men, as it hath been now revealed to his holy apostles and prophets in [the] Spirit,
 6 that the nations are fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and fellow-partakers of the promises in Christ Jesus by the gospel,
 7 of which I was made minister according to the gift of the grace of God that was given me according to the working of his power.
 8 To me who am less than the least of all saints was this grace given to preach to the nations the unsearchable riches of the Christ,
 9 and to enlighten all as to what [is] the administration of the mystery which hath been hidden from the ages in God that created all things ^Λ ;
 10 in order that there might be known now to the principalities and the authorities in the heavenly [places] by the assembly the manifold wisdom of God,
 11 according to [the] purpose of the ages which he made in Christ Jesus our Lord;
 12 in whom we have ^Λ boldness and ^Λ access in confidence by the faith of him.
 13 Wherefore I entreat [you] not to faint at my tribulations for you which is your glory.
 14 For this cause I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,
 15 from whom every family in [the] heavens and on earth is named,
 16 that he would give you according to the riches of his glory to be strengthened with power by his Spirit into the inner man,
 17 that the Christ may dwell through ^Λ faith in your hearts, being in love rooted and grounded
 18 that ye may be fully able to comprehend with all the saints what [is] the breadth and length and depth and height;
 19 and to know the love of the Christ that surpasseth knowledge, that ye may be filled to all the fulness of God.
 20 Now to him that is able to do above all things far exceedingly above what we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, 21 to him be glory in the assembly in Christ Jesus unto all generations of the age of ages. Amen).

EPHESIANS 4 JND

- 1 I, the prisoner in [the] Lord, exhort you therefore to walk worthy of the calling wherewith ye have been called,
- 2 with all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, bearing with one another in love;
- 3 using diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the uniting bond of peace.
- 4 [There is] one body and one Spirit, as ye have been also called in one hope of your calling;
- 5 one Lord, one faith, one baptism;
- 6 one God and Father of all, who is over all, and through all, and in us all.
- 7 But to each one of us has been given grace according to the measure of the gift of the Christ.
- 8 Wherefore he says, Having ascended up on high, he has led captivity captive, and has given gifts to men.
- 9 But that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended into the lower parts of the earth?
- 10 He that descended is the same who has also ascended up above all the heavens, that he might fill all things;
- 11 and he has given some apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some shepherds and teachers,
- 12 for the perfecting of the saints; with a view to [the] work of [the] ministry, with a view to the edifying of the body of Christ;
- 13 until we all arrive at the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, at [the] full-grown man, at [the] measure of the stature of the fulness of the Christ;
- 14 in order that we may be no longer babes, tossed and carried about by every wind of that teaching [which is] in the sleight of men, in unprincipled cunning with a view to systematized error;
- 15 but, holding the truth in love, we may grow up to him in all things, who is the head, the Christ:
- 16 from whom the whole body, fitted together, and connected by every joint of supply, according to [the] working in [its] measure of each one part, works for itself the increase of the body to its self-building up in love.
- 17 This I say therefore, and testify in [the] Lord, that ye should no longer walk as [the rest of] the nations walk in [the] vanity of their mind,
- 18 being darkened in understanding, estranged from the life of God by reason of the ignorance which is in them, by reason of the hardness of their hearts,
- 19 who having cast off all feeling, have given themselves up to lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greedy unsatisfied lust.
- 20 But ye have not thus learnt the Christ,
- 21 if ye have heard him and been instructed in him according as [the] truth is in Jesus;

21 to him [be] glory in the assembly in Christ Jesus unto all the generations of the age of the ages. Amen.

EPHESIANS 4 WK

- 1 I exhort you therefore, I the prisoner in [the] Lord, that ye walk worthily of the calling wherewith ye were called,
- 2 with all lowliness and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love,
- 3 using diligence to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace:
- 4 one body and one Spirit, even as ye were also called in one hope of your calling;
- 5 one Lord, one faith, one baptism;
- 6 one God and Father of all, that [is] over all, and through all, and in [us, or, you] all.
- 7 But to each one of us was given grace according to the measure of the gift of the Christ.
- 8 Wherefore he saith, Having ascended on high, he led captivity captive and gave gifts to men.
- 9 Now that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended into the lower [parts] of the earth?
- 10 He that descended, he it is also that ascended far above all the heavens, that he might fill all things.
- 11 And he gave some apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers,
- 12 for the perfecting of the saints, unto work of ministry, unto edifying of the body of the Christ,
- 13 until we all arrive at the unity of the faith and of the full knowledge of the Son of God, at a fullgrown man, at [the] measure of [the] stature of the fulness of the Christ;
- 14 that we may no longer be babes, tossed and carried about by every wind of doctrine in the sleight of men, in craftiness for the scheming of error,
- 15 but, holding the truth in love, let us grow up unto him in all things, who is the head, Christ,
- 16 from whom all the body, being fitted together and compacted by every joint of supply, according to [the] working in [the] measure of each one part, worketh the increase of the body for edifying of itself in love.
- 17 This then I say and testify in [the] Lord that ye should no longer walk even as also the rest of the nations walk in vanity of their mind,
- 18 being darkened in the understanding, estranged from the life of God on account of the ignorance that is in them, on account of the hardening of their heart,
- 19 who, as being past remorse, have given themselves up to lasciviousness unto [the] working of every uncleanness with greediness.
- 20 But ye have not thus learnt the Christ,
- 21 if indeed ye have heard him and been taught in him even as [the] truth is in Jesus,

- 22 [namely] your having put off according to the former conversation the old man which corrupts itself according to the deceitful lusts;
 23 and being renewed in the spirit of your mind;
 24 and [your] having put on the new man, which according to God is created in truthful righteousness and holiness.
 25 Wherefore, having put off falsehood, speak truth every one with his neighbour, because we are members one of another.
 26 Be angry, and do not sin; let not the sun set upon your wrath,
 27 neither give room for the devil.
 28 Let the stealer steal no more, but rather let him toil, working what is honest with [his] hands, that he may have to distribute to him that has need.
 29 Let no corrupt word go out of your mouth, but if [there be] any good one for needful edification, that it may give grace to those that hear [it].
 30 And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with which ye have been sealed for [the] day of redemption.
 31 Let all bitterness, and heat of passion, and wrath, and clamour, and injurious language, be removed from you, with all malice;
 32 and be to one another kind, compassionate, forgiving one another, so as God also in Christ has forgiven you.

EPHESIANS 5 JND

- 1 Be ye therefore imitators of God, as beloved children,
 2 and walk in love, even as the Christ loved us, and delivered himself up for us, an offering and sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling savour.
 3 But fornication and all uncleanness or unbridled lust, let it not be even named among you, as it becomes saints;
 4 and filthiness and foolish talking, or jesting, which are not convenient; but rather thanksgiving.
 5 For this ye are [well] informed of, knowing that no fornicator, or unclean person, or person of unbridled lust, who is an idolater, has inheritance in the kingdom of the Christ and God.
 6 Let no one deceive you with vain words, for on account of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.
 7 Be not ye therefore fellow-partakers with them;
 8 for ye were once darkness, but now light in [the] Lord; walk as children of light,
 9 (for the fruit of the light [is] in all goodness and righteousness and truth,)
 10 proving what is agreeable to the Lord;
 11 and do not have fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather also reprove [them],
 12 for the things that are done by them in secret it is shameful even to say.
 13 But all things having their true character exposed by the light are made manifest; for that which makes everything manifest is light.

- 22 that ye should put off, according to your former conversation, the old man that is corrupt according to the lusts of deceit,
 23 and be renewed in the spirit of your mind,
 24 and put on the new man, that according to God was created in righteousness and holiness of truth.
 25 Wherefore having put off falsehood, speak truth each with his neighbour, for we are members one of another.
 26 Be angry and sin not: let not the sun set upon your wrath,
 27 nor yet give room for the devil.
 28 Let him that stealeth steal no longer but rather labour, working what is good with his own hands, that he may have to distribute to him that hath need.
 29 Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth, but if [there be] any one good for edification of the need, that it may give grace to those that hear.
 30 And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God by whom ye were sealed for redemption-day.
 31 Let all bitterness and passion and wrath and clamour and evil-speaking be removed from you with all malice;
 32 and be to one another kind, compassionate, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ hath forgiven you.

EPHESIANS 5 WK

- 1 Be therefore imitators of God, as beloved children,
 2 and walk in love, even as the Christ also loved us and gave himself up for us, an offering and sacrifice to God for an odour of sweet smell.
 3 But fornication and all uncleanness or covetousness, let it not be even named among you, even as becometh saints;
 4 and filthiness and foolish talking or jesting, which are not becoming, but rather thanksgiving.
 5 For this ye are aware of, knowing that no fornicator nor unclean nor covetous [person], who is an idolater, hath inheritance in the kingdom of the Christ and God.
 6 Let no one deceive you by vain words; for on account of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the sons of disobedience.
 7 Be not therefore fellow-partakers with them;
 8 for ye were once darkness but now [are] light in the Lord: walk as children of light
 9 (for the fruit of the light [is] in all goodness and righteousness and truth),
 10 proving what is agreeable to the Lord;
 11 and have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness but rather also reprove;
 12 for the things in secret done by them it is shameful even to speak of,
 13 but [^] all of them, when [^] reprov'd by the light, are made manifest; for everything that maketh manifest is light.

Ephesians

- 14 Wherefore he says, Wake up, [thou] that sleepest, and arise up from among the dead, and the Christ shall shine upon thee.
- 15 See therefore how ye walk carefully, not as unwise but as wise,
- 16 redeeming the time, because the days are evil.
- 17 For this reason be not foolish, but understanding what [is] the will of the Lord.
- 18 And be not drunk with wine, in which is debauchery; but be filled with the Spirit,
- 19 speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and chanting with your heart to the Lord;
- 20 giving thanks at all times for all things to him [who is] God and [the] Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 21 submitting yourselves to one another in [the] fear of Christ.
- 22 Wives, [submit yourselves] to your own husbands, as to the Lord,
- 23 for a husband is head of the wife, as also the Christ [is] head of the assembly. He [is] Saviour of the body.
- 24 But even as the assembly is subjected to the Christ, so also wives to their own husbands in everything.
- 25 Husbands, love your own wives, even as the Christ also loved the assembly, and has delivered himself up for it,
- 26 in order that he might sanctify it, purifying [it] by the washing of water by [the] word,
- 27 that he might present the assembly to himself glorious, having no spot, or wrinkle, or any of such things; but that it might be holy and blameless.
- 28 So ought men also to love their own wives as their own bodies: he that loves his own wife loves himself.
- 29 For no one has ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, even as also the Christ the assembly:
- 30 for we are members of his body; [we are of his flesh, and of his bones.]
- 31 Because of this a man shall leave his father and mother, and shall be united to his wife, and the two shall be one flesh.
- 32 This mystery is great, but I speak as to Christ, and as to the assembly.
- 33 But ye also, every one of you, let each so love his own wife as himself; but as to the wife [I speak] that she may fear the husband.

EPHESIANS 6 JND

- 1 Children, obey your parents in [the] Lord, for this is just.
- 2 Honour thy father and thy mother, which is the first commandment with a promise,
- 3 that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest be long-lived on the earth.
- 4 And [ye] fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but bring them up in [the] discipline and admonition of [the] Lord.

- 14 Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise out of [the] dead, and the Christ shall shine upon thee.
- 15 See therefore how carefully ye walk, not as unwise but as wise,
- 16 buying up the time, because the days are evil.
- 17 On this account be not foolish, but understanding what the will of the Lord [is].
- 18 And be not drunk with wine, in which is dissoluteness, but be filled with [the] Spirit,
- 19 speaking to each other in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and chanting in your heart to the Lord;
- 20 giving thanks always for all things in [the] name of our Lord Jesus Christ to him that is God and Father,
- 21 submitting yourselves one to another in fear of Christ.
- 22 Wives, [submit yourselves] to your own husbands as to the Lord;
- 23 for a husband is head of the wife, as also the Christ [is] head of the assembly: he [is] the saviour of the body.
- 24 But as the assembly is subject to the Christ, so also the wives to their own husbands in everything.
- 25 Husbands, love your own wives, even as the Christ also loved the assembly and gave himself up for it,
- 26 that he might sanctify it, having cleansed [it] by the washing of water in [the] word,
- 27 that he might himself present to himself the assembly glorious, not having spot or wrinkle, or any of such things; but that it should be holy and blameless.
- 28 Thus ought husbands to love their own wives as their own bodies: he that loveth his own wife loveth himself,
- 29 for no one ever hated his own flesh but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Christ also the assembly:
- 30 for we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.
- 31 Because of this shall a man leave father and mother and shall be closely joined to his wife, and they two shall be one flesh.
- 32 This mystery is great; but I speak as to Christ and as to the assembly.
- 33 Nevertheless, ye also every one, let each so love his own wife as himself, and let the wife fear the husband.

EPHESIANS 6 WK

- 1 Children, obey your parents in [the] Lord; for this is just.
- 2 Honour thy father and thy mother, which is a commandment first in promise,
- 3 that it may be well for thee, and thou shalt be long-lived on the earth.
- 4 And, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath, but bring them up in [the] Lord's discipline and admonition.

- 5 Bondmen, obey masters according to flesh, with fear and trembling, in simplicity of your heart as to the Christ;
- 6 not with eye service as men-pleasers; but as bondmen of Christ, doing the will of God from [the] soul,
- 7 serving with good will as to the Lord, and not to men;
- 8 knowing that whatever good each shall do, this he shall receive of [the] Lord, whether bond or free.
- 9 And, masters, do the same things towards them, giving up threatening, knowing that both their and your Master is in heaven, and there is no acceptance of persons with him.
- 10 For the rest, brethren, be strong in [the] Lord, and in the might of his strength.
- 11 Put on the panoply of God, that ye may be able to stand against the artifices of the devil:
- 12 because our struggle is not against blood and flesh, but against principalities, against authorities, against the universal lords of this darkness, against spiritual [power] of wickedness in the heavenlies.
- 13 For this reason take [to you] the panoply of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and, having accomplished all things, to stand.
- 14 Stand therefore, having girt about your loins with truth, and having put on the breastplate of righteousness,
- 15 and shod your feet with [the] preparation of the glad tidings of peace:
- 16 besides all [these] having taken the shield of faith with which ye will be able to quench all the inflamed darts of the wicked one.
- 17 Have also the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is God's word;
- 18 praying at all seasons, with all prayer and supplication in [the] Spirit, and watching unto this very thing with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints;
- 19 and for me in order that utterance may be given to me in [the] opening of my mouth to make known with boldness the mystery of the glad tidings,
- 20 for which I am an ambassador [bound] with a chain, that I may be bold in it as I ought to speak.
- 21 But in order that ye also may know what concerns me, how I am getting on, Tychicus, the beloved brother and faithful minister in [the] Lord, shall make all things known to you;
- 22 whom I have sent to you for this very thing, that ye may know of our affairs and that he may encourage your hearts.
- 23 Peace to the brethren, and love with faith, from God [the] Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 24 Grace with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ in incorruption.

- 5 Bondmen, obey your masters according to flesh with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as to the Christ;
- 6 not with eye-service as men-pleasers but as bondmen of Christ, doing the will of God from the soul,
- 7 with good-will doing service as to the Lord and not to men;
- 8 knowing that whatever good each shall do, this he shall receive of [the] Lord, whether bond or free.
- 9 And, masters, do the same things toward them, giving up threatening, knowing that the master both of them and of you is in [the] heavens; and there is no respect of persons with him.
- 10 For the rest, my brethren, be strengthened in [the] Lord and in the strength of his might.
- 11 Put on the panoply of God, that ye may be able to stand against the stratagems of the devil;
- 12 for our wrestling is not against blood and flesh, but against the principalities, against the authorities, against the world-rulers of this darkness, against the spiritual [hosts] of wickedness in the heavenly [places].
- 13 On this account take up the panoply of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and, having fully done all, to stand.
- 14 Stand therefore, having girt about your loins with truth, and having put on the breastplate of righteousness,
- 15 and having shod your feet with [the] preparation of the gospel of peace;
- 16 besides all, having taken up the shield of faith with which ye will be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked one;
- 17 and receive the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is God's word;
- 18 with all prayer and supplication praying in every season in [the] Spirit, and thereunto watching with all perseverance and supplication for all the saints,
- 19 and for me that utterance may be given me in [the] opening of my mouth with boldness to make known the mystery of the gospel,
- 20 for which I am an ambassador in chain[s], that in it I may be bold as I ought to speak.
- 21 But that ye also may know my affairs, what I do, Tychicus shall make known all to you, the beloved brother and faithful servant in [the] Lord,
- 22 whom I sent to you for this very thing, that ye may know our matters, and [that] he may comfort your hearts.
- 23 Peace to the brethren and love with faith from God [the] Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ;
- 24 grace with all that love our Lord Jesus Christ in incorruption.

Philippians

PHILIPPIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul and Timotheus, bondmen of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus who are in Philippi, with [the] overseers and ministers;
- 2 grace to you, and peace from God our Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 I thank my God for my whole remembrance of you, constantly in my every supplication, making the supplication for you all with joy,
- 5 because of your fellowship with the gospel, from the first day until now;
- 6 having confidence of this very thing, that he who has begun in you a good work will complete it unto Jesus Christ's day:
- 7 as it is righteous for me to think this as to you all, because ye have me in your hearts, and that both in my bonds and in the defence and confirmation of the glad tidings ye are all participators in my grace.
- 8 For God is my witness how I long after you all in [the] bowels of Christ Jesus.
- 9 And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in full knowledge and all intelligence,
- 10 that ye may be judge of and approve the things that are more excellent, in order that ye may be pure and without offence for Christ's day,
- 11 being complete as regards the fruit of righteousness, which [is] by Jesus Christ, to God's glory and praise.
- 12 But I would have you know, brethren, that the circumstances in which I am have turned out rather to the furtherance of the glad tidings,
- 13 so that my bonds have become manifest [as being] in Christ in all the praetorium and to all others;
- 14 and that the most of the brethren, trusting in [the] Lord through my bonds, dare more abundantly to speak the word of God fearlessly.
- 15 Some indeed also for envy and strife, but some also for good will, preach the Christ.
- 16 These indeed out of love, knowing that I am set for the defence of the glad tidings;
- 17 but those out of contention, announce the Christ, not purely, supposing to arouse tribulation for my bonds.
- 18 What is it then? at any rate, in every way, whether in pretext or in truth, Christ is announced; and in this I rejoice, yea, also I will rejoice;
- 19 for I know that this shall turn out for me to salvation, through your supplication and [the] supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ;
- 20 according to my earnest expectation and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but in all boldness, as always, now also Christ shall be magnified in my body whether by life or by death.
- 21 For for me to live [is] Christ, and to die gain;
- 22 but if to live in flesh [is my lot], this is for me worth the while: and what I shall choose I cannot tell.

PHILIPPIANS 1 WK

- 1 Paul and Timothy, bondmen of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus that are at Philippi with bishops and deacons.
- 2 Grace to you, and peace from God our Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 I thank my God upon my whole remembrance of you, always in my every supplication for you all making the supplication with joy
- 5 for your fellowship with the gospel from the first day until now,
- 6 being confident of this very thing, that he who began in you a good work will complete [it] until [the] day of Jesus Christ;
- 7 even as it is righteous for me to think this of you all, because ye have me in your heart; and both in my bonds, and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, ye are all fellow-partakers of my grace.
- 8 For God is my witness, how I long after you all in [the] bowels of Jesus Christ.
- 9 And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in full knowledge and all intelligence,
- 10 that ye may approve the things that are excellent; that ye may be pure and without offense against [the] day of Christ,
- 11 being filled with the fruit of righteousness that [is] by Jesus Christ unto God's praise and glory.
- 12 But I wish you to know, brethren, that my affairs have turned out rather for furtherance of the gospel,
- 13 so that my bonds have been manifest in Christ in the whole of the praetorium and to all the rest;
- 14 and that the most of the brethren in [the] Lord, being confident by my bonds, more abundantly dare to speak the word fearlessly.
- 15 Some, indeed, also for envy and strife, but some also for goodwill, preach the Christ:
- 16 these, indeed, out of love, knowing that I am set for the defense of the gospel;
- 17 but these out of contention announce the Christ, not purely, thinking to stir up tribulation for my bonds.
- 18 What then? Notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is announced, and in this I rejoice, yea, and I will rejoice;
- 19 for I know that this will turn to me for salvation through your supplication and [the] supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,
- 20 according to my earnest expectation and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed; but in all boldness, as always now also, Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether by life or by death.
- 21 For to me to live [is] Christ, and to die gain;
- 22 but if to live in flesh, this to me [is] worth while; and what I shall choose I know not.

- 23 But I am pressed by both, having the desire for departure and being with Christ, [for] [it is] very much better, 24 but remaining in the flesh [is] more necessary for your sakes;
 25 and having confidence of this, I know that I shall remain and abide along with you all, for your progress and joy in faith;
 26 that your boasting may abound in Christ Jesus through me by my presence again with you.
 27 Only conduct yourselves worthily of the glad tidings of the Christ, in order that whether coming and seeing you, or absent, I may hear of what concerns you, that ye stand firm in one spirit, with one soul, labouring together in the same conflict with the faith of the glad tidings;
 28 and not frightened in anything by the opposers, which is to them a demonstration of destruction, but of your salvation, and that from God;
 29 because to you has been given, as regards Christ, not only the believing on him but the suffering for him also,
 30 having the same conflict which ye have seen in me, and now hear of in me.

PHILIPPIANS 2 JND

- 1 If then [there be] any comfort in Christ, if any consolation of love, if any fellowship of [the] Spirit, if any bowels and compassions,
 2 fulfil my joy, that ye may think the same thing, having the same love, joined in soul, thinking one thing;
 3 [let] nothing [be] in the spirit of strife or vain glory, but, in lowliness of mind, each esteeming the other as more excellent than themselves;
 4 regarding not each his own [qualities], but each those of others also.
 5 For let this mind be in you which [was] also in Christ Jesus;
 6 who, subsisting in the form of God, did not esteem it an object of rapine to be on an equality with God;
 7 but emptied himself, taking a bondman's form, taking his place in [the] likeness of men;
 8 and having been found in figure as a man, humbled himself, becoming obedient even unto death, and [that the] death of [the] cross.
 9 Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and granted him a name, that which is above every name,
 10 that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of heavenly and earthly and infernal [beings],
 11 and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ [is] Lord to God [the] Father's glory.
 12 So that, my beloved, even as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much rather in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling,
 13 for it is God who works in you both the willing and the working according to [his] good pleasure.
 14 Do all things without murmurings and reasonings,

- 23 But I am perplexed by the two, having the desire for departing and being with Christ, for it is very far better;
 24 but remaining in the flesh is more necessary on your account;
 25 and having this confidence, I know that I shall remain and abide with you all for your furtherance and joy of faith;
 26 that your boast may abound in Christ Jesus in me through my presence again with you.
 27 Only conduct yourselves worthily of the gospel of Christ; that, whether coming and seeing you or absent, I may hear of your concerns, that ye stand in one spirit, with one soul striving together with the faith of the gospel;
 28 and not frightened in anything by the adversaries, which is to them a showing forth of destruction, but to you of salvation, and this from God;
 29 because to you has been given on behalf of Christ, not only the believing on him, but also the suffering for him;
 30 having the same conflict as ye saw in me and now hear of in me.

PHILIPPIANS 2 WK

- 1 If therefore [there be] any comfort in Christ, if any consolation of love, if any fellowship of [the] Spirit, if any bowels and compassions,
 2 fulfil my joy, that ye may mind the same thing, having the same love, joined in soul, minding the one thing;
 3 nothing in strifefulness, or vainglory, but in lowly-mindedness esteeming one another more excellent than themselves;
 4 regarding each not his own things, but each also those of others.
 5 For let this mind be in you which [was] also in Christ Jesus;
 6 who, being in God's form, thought it not an object of rapine to be on an equality with God;
 7 but emptied himself, taking a bondman's form, being come in men's likeness;
 8 and being found in figure as a man, humbled himself, becoming obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.
 9 Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and gave him the name that [is] above every name,
 10 that in the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of heavenly and earthly and infernal [beings],
 11 and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ [is] Lord, unto God [the] Father's glory.
 12 So that, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, with fear and trembling work out your own salvation;
 13 for it is God that worketh in you both to will and to work for his good pleasure.
 14 Do all things without murmurings and reasonings;

Philippians

- 15 that ye may be harmless and simple, irreproachable children of God in the midst of a crooked and perverted generation; among whom ye appear as lights in [the] world,
16 holding forth [the] word of life, so as to be a boast for me in Christ's day, that I have not run in vain nor laboured in vain.
17 But if also I am poured out as a libation on the sacrifice and ministration of your faith, I rejoice, and rejoice in common with you all.
18 In like manner do ye also rejoice, and rejoice with me.
19 But I hope in [the] Lord Jesus to send Timotheus to you shortly, that I also may be refreshed, knowing how ye get on.
20 For I have no one like-minded who will care with genuine feeling how ye get on.
21 For all seek their own things, not the things of Jesus Christ.
22 But ye know the proof of him, that, as a child a father, he has served with me in the work of the glad tidings.
23 Him therefore I hope to send immediately, as soon as I shall see how it goes with me:
24 but I trust in [the] Lord that I myself also shall soon come;
25 but I have thought it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother and fellow-workman and fellow-soldier, but your messenger and minister to my need,
26 since he had a longing desire after you all, and was distressed because ye had heard that he was sick;
27 for he was also sick close to death, but God had mercy on him, and not indeed on him alone, but also on me, that I might not have sorrow upon sorrow.
28 I have sent him therefore the more diligently, that seeing him ye might again rejoice, and that I might be the less sorrowful.
29 Receive him therefore in [the] Lord with all joy, and hold such in honour;
30 because for the sake of the work he drew near even to death, venturing his life that he might fill up what lacked in your ministration toward me.

PHILIPPIANS 3 JND

- 1 For the rest, my brethren, rejoice in [the] Lord: to write the same things to you, to me [is] not irksome, and for you safe.
2 See to dogs, see to evil workmen, see to the concision.
3 For we are the circumcision, who worship by [the] Spirit of God, and boast in Christ Jesus, and do not trust in flesh.
4 Though I have [my] trust even in flesh; if any other think to trust in flesh, I rather:
5 as to circumcision, [I received it] the eighth day; of [the] race of Israel, of [the] tribe of Benjamin, Hebrew of Hebrews; as to [the] law, a Pharisee;
6 as to zeal, persecuting the assembly; as to righteousness which [is] in [the] law, found blameless;
7 but what things were gain to me these I counted, on account of Christ, loss.

- 15 that ye may be blameless and sincere, irreproachable children of God amidst a crooked and perverse generation, among whom ye shine as lights in [the] world,
16 holding forth [the] word of life, for a boast to me in Christ's day, that not in vain I ran nor in vain laboured.
17 But if also I am poured out upon the sacrifice and ministration of your faith, I rejoice, and rejoice with you all;
18 and in the same thing do ye rejoice, and rejoice with me.
19 But I hope in [the] Lord Jesus soon to send Timothy to you, that I also may be cheered knowing about you.
20 For I have none like-minded who will have a genuine care about you;
21 for they all seek their own things, not those of Jesus Christ.
22 But the proof of him ye know, that, as a child a father, with me he served in the gospel.
23 Him therefore I hope to send as soon as I shall see my concerns.
24 But I trust in [the] Lord that I also myself shall come soon.
25 But I thought it necessary to send unto you Epaphroditus, my brother and fellow-labourer and fellow-soldier, but your messenger and minister to my wants;
26 since he was longing after you all and uneasy because ye heard that he was sick.
27 For indeed he was sick near to death; but God pitied him, and not him only, but me also, that I should not have sorrow upon sorrow.
28 The more diligently therefore I sent him, that seeing him again ye may rejoice and I be the less sorrowful.
29 Receive him therefore in [the] Lord with all joy, and hold such in honour;
30 because for the work of Christ he was nigh even to death, endangering his life that he might fill up the remainder of your ministrations toward me.

PHILIPPIANS 3 WK

- 1 For the rest, my brethren, rejoice in [the] Lord. To write these things to you [is] not irksome to me, but safe for you.
2 See to dogs, see to evil workers, see to the concision;
3 for we are the circumcision that worship God in Spirit and boast in Christ Jesus, and have no trust in flesh.
4 Though I have a trusting even in flesh; if any other seem to trust in flesh, I more:
5 in circumcision of eight days, of [the] race of Israel, of [the] tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of Hebrews, according to law a Pharisee,
6 according to zeal persecuting the church, according to righteousness that [is] in law blameless.
7 But what things were gain to me, these I have counted loss on account of Christ.

- 8 But surely I count also all things to be loss on account of the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, on account of whom I have suffered the loss of all and count them to be filth, that I may gain Christ;
- 9 and that I may be found in him, not having my righteousness, which [would be] on the principle of law, but that which is by faith of Christ, the righteousness which [is] of God through faith,
- 10 to know him and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being conformed to his death,
- 11 if any way I arrive at the resurrection from among [the] dead.
- 12 Not that I have already obtained [the prize], or am already perfected; but I pursue, if also I may get possession [of it], seeing that also I have been taken possession of by Christ [Jesus].
- 13 Brethren, I do not count to have got possession myself; but one thing — forgetting the things behind, and stretching out to the things before,
- 14 I pursue, [looking] towards [the] goal, for the prize of the calling on high of God in Christ Jesus.
- 15 As many therefore as [are] perfect, let us be thus minded; and if ye are any otherwise minded, this also God shall reveal to you.
- 16 But whereto we have attained, [let us] walk in the same steps.
- 17 Be imitators [all] together of me, brethren, and fix your eyes on those walking thus as you have us for a model;
- 18 (for many walk of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they [are] the enemies of the cross of Christ:
- 19 whose end [is] destruction, whose God [is] the belly, and [their] glory in their shame, who mind earthly things:)
- 20 for our commonwealth has its existence in [the] heavens, from which also we await the Lord Jesus Christ [as] Saviour,
- 21 who shall transform our body of humiliation into conformity to his body of glory, according to the working of [the] power which he has even to subdue all things to himself.

PHILIPPIANS 4 JND

- 1 So that, my brethren, beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, thus stand fast in [the] Lord, beloved.
- 2 I exhort Euodia, and exhort Syntyche, to be of the same mind in [the] Lord;
- 3 yea, I ask thee also, true yokefellow, assist them, who have contended along with me in the glad tidings, with Clement also, and my other fellow-labourers, whose names [are] in [the] book of life.
- 4 Rejoice in [the] Lord always: again I will say, Rejoice.
- 5 Let your gentleness be known of all men. The Lord [is] near.

- 8 But moreover also I count all things to be loss on account of the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, on whose account I lost all things and count them to be refuse that I may win Christ,
- 9 and be found in him, not having my righteousness that [is] of law, but that [which is] by faith of Christ, the righteousness of God on faith;
- 10 to know him, and the power of his resurrection and the fellowship of his sufferings, being conformed to his death,
- 11 if by any means I may arrive at the resurrection that [is] from [the] dead.
- 12 Not that I already received [it] or am already perfected; but I pursue if I may also lay hold, for that also I have been laid hold of by Christ.
- 13 Brethren, I do not reckon myself to have laid hold; but one thing — forgetting the things behind, and stretching out to the things before,
- 14 I pursue goalward unto the prize of the calling on high of God in Christ Jesus.
- 15 As many therefore as [are] perfect, let us mind this. And if in anything ye are differently minded, this also will God reveal to you.
- 16 Nevertheless unto what we have attained, walk by the same [, mind the same].
- 17 Be joint-imitators of me, brethren, and mark those so walking as ye have us for a pattern.
- 18 For many walk, of whom I often told you, and now tell you even weeping, the enemies of the cross of Christ,
- 19 whose end [is] destruction, whose God [is] the belly, and they glory in their shame, who mind the things of earth.
- 20 For our commonwealth has its being in [the] heavens, from whence also we await [as] Saviour [the] Lord Jesus Christ,
- 21 who shall transform our body of humiliation, conformed to his body of glory according to the working of his ability also to subject all things to him.

PHILIPPIANS 4 WK

- 1 So that, my brethren beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand in [the] Lord, beloved.
- 2 Euodia I exhort, and Syntyche I exhort, to mind the same thing in [the] Lord;
- 3 yea, I beseech thee also, genuine yokefellow, help them, seeing that they shared my conflicts in the gospel, with Clement also, and the rest of my fellow-labourers, whose names are in the book of life.
- 4 Rejoice in [the] Lord always: again I will say, rejoice.
- 5 Let your mildness be known to all men. The Lord [is] near.

Philippians

- 6 Be careful about nothing; but in everything, by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God;
- 7 and the peace of God, which surpasses every understanding, shall guard your hearts and your thoughts by Christ Jesus.
- 8 For the rest, brethren, whatsoever things [are] true, whatsoever things [are] noble, whatsoever things [are] just, whatsoever things [are] pure, whatsoever things [are] amiable, whatsoever things [are] of good report; if [there be] any virtue and if any praise, think on these things.
- 9 What ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, these things do; and the God of peace shall be with you.
- 10 But I rejoiced in [the] Lord greatly, that now however at length ye have revived your thinking of me, though surely ye did also think [of me], but lacked opportunity.
- 11 Not that I speak as regards privation, for as to me I have learnt in those circumstances in which I am, to be satisfied in myself.
- 12 I know both how to be abased and I know how to abound. In everything and in all things I am initiated both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer privation.
- 13 I have strength for all things in him that gives me power.
- 14 But ye have done well in taking part in my affliction.
- 15 And know also ye, O Philippians, that in [the] beginning of the gospel, when I came out of Macedonia, no assembly communicated [anything] to me in [the] way of giving and receiving save ye alone;
- 16 for also in Thessalonica once and even twice ye sent to me for my need.
- 17 Not that I seek gift, but I seek fruit abounding to your account.
- 18 But I have all things in full supply and abound; I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things [sent] from you, an odour of sweet savour, an acceptable sacrifice, agreeable to God.
- 19 But my God shall abundantly supply all your need according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus.
- 20 But to our God and Father [be] glory to the ages of ages. Amen.
- 21 Salute every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren who [are] with me salute you.
- 22 All the saints salute you, and specially those of the household of Cæsar.
- 23 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ [be] with your spirit. Amen.
- 6 Be anxious about nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.
- 7 And the peace of God, that surpasseth every understanding, shall keep your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus.
- 8 For the rest, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever noble, whatsoever just, whatsoever pure, whatsoever lovely, whatsoever of good report, if there [is] any virtue, and if any praise, these things consider.
- 9 Those things which ye also learned, and received, and heard, and saw in me, do; and the God of peace shall be with you.
- 10 But I rejoiced in [the] Lord greatly that now at length ye flourished again in thinking for my interest, while yet also ye did think but had no opportunity.
- 11 Not that I speak in regard to want; for I learned in the circumstances in which I am to find competence.
- 12 I know also to be abased, I know also to abound. In everything and in all things I am initiated both to be filled and to hunger, both to abound and to be in want.
- 13 In all things I am strong in him that empowereth me.
- 14 Nevertheless ye did well in sharing with my tribulation.
- 15 But ye also, O Philippians, know that in the beginning of the gospel, when I came out of Macedonia, no assembly communicated with me for an account of giving and receiving, unless ye alone;
- 16 for even in Thessalonica both once and twice ye sent for my need.
- 17 Not that I am seeking the gift, but I am seeking the fruit that aboundeth unto your account.
- 18 But I have all things and abound; I am full, having received from Epaphroditus the things from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, well-pleasing to God.
- 19 But my God will fully supply all your need according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus.
- 20 Now to our God and Father [be] the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 21 Salute every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren that [are] with me salute you.
- 22 All the saints salute you, but especially those of the household of Caesar.
- 23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with your spirit. Amen.

COLOSSIANS I JND

- 1 Paul, apostle of Christ Jesus, by God's will, and Timotheus the brother,
- 2 to the holy and faithful brethren in Christ which [are] in Colosse. Grace to you and peace from God our Father [and Lord Jesus Christ].
- 3 We give thanks to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ continually [when] praying for you,
- 4 having heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and the love which ye have towards all the saints,
- 5 on account of the hope which [is] laid up for you in the heavens; of which ye heard before in the word of the truth of the glad tidings,
- 6 which are come to you, as [they are] in all the world, [and] are bearing fruit and growing, even as also among you, from the day ye heard [them] and knew indeed the grace of God in truth:
- 7 even as ye learned from Epaphras our beloved fellow bondman, who is a faithful minister of Christ for you,
- 8 who has also manifested to us your love in [the] Spirit.
- 9 For this reason we also, from the day we heard [of your faith and love], do not cease praying and asking for you, to the end that ye may be filled with the full knowledge of his will, in all wisdom and spiritual understanding,
- 10 [so as] to walk worthily of the Lord unto all well-pleasing, bearing fruit in every good work, and growing by the true knowledge of God;
- 11 strengthened with all power according to the might of his glory unto all endurance and longsuffering with joy;
- 12 giving thanks to the Father, who has made us fit for sharing the portion of the saints in light,
- 13 who has delivered us from the authority of darkness, and translated [us] into the kingdom of the Son of his love:
- 14 in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins;
- 15 who is image of the invisible God, firstborn of all creation;
- 16 because by him were created all things, the things in the heavens and the things upon the earth, the visible and the invisible, whether thrones, or lordships, or principalities, or authorities: all things have been created by him and for him.
- 17 And he is before all, and all things subsist together by him.
- 18 And he is the head of the body, the assembly; who is [the] beginning, firstborn from among the dead, that he might have the first place in all things:
- 19 for in him all the fulness [of the Godhead] was pleased to dwell,
- 20 and by him to reconcile all things to itself, having made peace by the blood of his cross — by him, whether the things on the earth or the things in the heavens.
- 21 And you, who once were alienated and enemies in mind by wicked works,
- 22 yet now has it reconciled in the body of his flesh through death; to present you holy and unblamable and irreproachable before it,

COLOSSIANS I WK

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ by God's will, and Timothy the brother,
- 2 to the saints in Colosse and faithful brethren in Christ. Grace to you and peace from God our Father ^Λ.
- 3 We give thanks to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, continually praying for you,
- 4 having heard of your faith in Christ Jesus and the love which ye have unto all the saints,
- 5 on account of the hope that is laid up for you in the heavens, of which ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel,
- 6 which is come unto you, even as in all the world it is producing fruit and growing, even as also among you, from the day that ye heard and knew the grace of God in truth;
- 7 even as ye ^Λ learned from Epaphras, our beloved fellow-bondman, who is for you a faithful servant of Christ,
- 8 that has also manifested to us your love in [the] Spirit.
- 9 On this account we also, from the day that we heard, do not cease praying for you, and asking that ye might be filled with the full knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding;
- 10 to walk worthily of the Lord unto all pleasing, in every good work bearing fruit, and increasing in the full knowledge of God,
- 11 in all power empowered according to the might of his glory, unto all endurance and long-suffering with joy;
- 12 giving thanks to the Father that qualified us for sharing the inheritance of the saints in light;
- 13 who delivered us from the authority of darkness and translated [us] into the kingdom of the Son of his love:
- 14 in whom we have redemption, ^Λ the forgiveness of sins;
- 15 who is [the] image of the invisible God, firstborn of all creation;
- 16 for by him was created the universe, the things in the heavens and those on the earth, the seen and the unseen, whether thrones, or lordships, or principalities, or authorities. The universe has been created through him and for him.
- 17 He is before all things, and the universe in him subsisteth.
- 18 And he is the head of the body, the assembly; who is [the] beginning, firstborn from among the dead, that he might be in all things pre-eminent:
- 19 for in him all the fullness was pleased to dwell;
- 20 and by him to reconcile the universe unto him, having made peace by the blood of his cross — by him, whether the things on the earth or those in the heavens.
- 21 And you [who] once were alienated and enemies in mind by wicked works,
- 22 yet now hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death to present you holy, and unblamable, and irreproachable before him,

Colossians

- 23 if indeed ye abide in the faith founded and firm, and not moved away from the hope of the glad tidings, which ye have heard, which have been proclaimed in the whole creation which [is] under heaven, of which I Paul became minister.
- 24 Now, I rejoice in sufferings for you, and I fill up that which is behind of the tribulations of Christ in my flesh, for his body, which is the assembly;
- 25 of which I became minister, according to the dispensation of God which [is] given me towards you to complete the word of God,
- 26 the mystery which [has been] hidden from ages and from generations, but has now been made manifest to his saints;
- 27 to whom God would make known what are the riches of the glory of this mystery among the nations, which is Christ in you the hope of glory:
- 28 whom we announce, admonishing every man, and teaching every man, in all wisdom, to the end that we may present every man perfect in Christ.
- 29 Whereunto also I toil, combating according to his working, which works in me in power.

COLOSSIANS 2 JND

- 1 For I would have you know what combat I have for you, and those in Laodicea, and as many as have not seen my face in flesh;
- 2 to the end that their hearts may be encouraged, being united together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to [the] full knowledge of the mystery of God;
- 3 in which are hid all the treasures of wisdom and of knowledge.
- 4 And I say this to the end that no one may delude you by persuasive speech.
- 5 For if indeed in the flesh I am absent, yet I am with you in spirit, rejoicing and seeing your order, and the firmness of your faith in Christ.
- 6 As therefore ye have received the Christ, Jesus the Lord, walk in him,
- 7 rooted and built up in him, and assured in the faith, even as ye have been taught, abounding in it with thanksgiving.
- 8 See that there be no one who shall lead you away as a prey through philosophy and vain deceit, according to the teaching of men, according to the elements of the world, and not according to Christ.
- 9 For in him dwells all the fulness of the Godhead bodily;
- 10 and ye are complete in him, who is the head of all principality and authority,
- 11 in whom also ye have been circumcised with circumcision not done by hand, in the putting off of the body of the flesh, in the circumcision of the Christ;
- 12 buried with him in baptism, in which ye have been also raised with [him] through faith of the working of God who raised him from among the dead.

- 23 if indeed ye abide in the faith grounded and firm, and not moved away from the hope of the gospel (which ye heard, that was preached in the whole creation under the heaven), of which I, Paul, became servant;
- 24 who now rejoice in sufferings for you, and fill up what is wanting of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body, which is the assembly,
- 25 of which I became servant, according to the stewardship of God that was given me for you, to complete the word of God,
- 26 the mystery that was hidden from [^] ages and from generations, but now hath been manifested to his saints;
- 27 to whom God wished to make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory:
- 28 whom we preach, admonishing every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom, that we may present every man perfect in Christ,
- 29 whereunto also I toil in conflict according to his working that worketh in me in power.

COLOSSIANS 2 WK

- 1 For I wish you to know how great conflict I have for you and those in Laodicea, and as many as have not seen my face in flesh;
- 2 that their hearts may be comforted, being knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding unto full knowledge of the mystery of God
- 3 [^] in which are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.
- 4 And this I say that no one may beguile you by persuasive speech.
- 5 For if even in the flesh I am absent, yet I am with you in the spirit, rejoicing and seeing your order and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.
- 6 As therefore ye received the Christ, Jesus the Lord, in him [^] walk,
- 7 rooted and built up in him, and confirmed in the faith, even as ye were taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving.
- 8 See that there shall be no one that leadeth you a prey through philosophy and vain deceit, according to the tradition of men, according to the elements of the world, and not according to Christ.
- 9 For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily;
- 10 and ye are complete in him who is the head of all principality and authority;
- 11 in whom also ye were circumcised with circumcision not wrought by hand, in the putting off the body [^] of the flesh in the circumcision of the Christ;
- 12 buried with him in baptism, in which ye were also raised with [him] through faith in the working of God that raised him out of the dead.

- 13 And you, being dead in offences and in the uncircumcision of your flesh, he has quickened together with him, having forgiven us all the offences;
- 14 having effaced the handwriting in ordinances which [stood out] against us, which was contrary to us, he has taken it also out of the way, having nailed it to the cross;
- 15 having spoiled principalities and authorities, he made a show of them publicly, leading them in triumph by it.
- 16 Let none therefore judge you in meat or in drink, or in matter of feast, or new moon, or sabbaths,
- 17 which are a shadow of things to come; but the body [is] of Christ.
- 18 Let no one fraudulently deprive you of your prize, doing his own will in humility and worship of angels, entering into things which he has not seen, vainly puffed up by the mind of his flesh,
- 19 and not holding fast the head, from whom all the body, ministered to and united together by the joints and bands, increases with the increase of God.
- 20 If ye have died with Christ from the elements of the world, why as [if] alive in [the] world do ye subject yourselves to ordinances?
- 21 Do not handle, do not taste, do not touch,
- 22 (things which are all for destruction in the using [of them]:) according to the injunctions and teachings of men,
- 23 (which have indeed an appearance of wisdom in voluntary worship, and humility, and harsh treatment of the body, not in a certain honour,) to [the] satisfaction of the flesh.

COLOSSIANS 3 JND

- 1 If therefore ye have been raised with the Christ, seek the things [which are] above, where the Christ is sitting at [the] right hand of God:
- 2 have your mind on the things [that are] above, not on the things [that are] on the earth;
- 3 for ye have died, and your life is hid with the Christ in God.
- 4 When the Christ is manifested who [is] our life, then shall ye also be manifested with him in glory.
- 5 Put to death therefore your members which [are] upon the earth, fornication, uncleanness, vile passions, evil lust, and unbridled desire, which is idolatry.
- 6 On account of which things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.
- 7 In which ye also once walked when ye lived in these things.
- 8 But now, put off, ye also, all [these] things, wrath, anger, malice, blasphemy, vile language out of your mouth.
- 9 Do not lie to one another, having put off the old man with his deeds,
- 10 and having put on the new, renewed into full knowledge according to [the] image of him that has created him;
- 11 wherein there is not Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bondman, freeman; but Christ [is] everything, and in all.

- 13 And you, being dead in offenses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, he quickened you together with him, having forgiven us all the offenses,
- 14 having blotted out the handwriting in ordinances [that was] against us, which was contrary to us; and he has taken it out of the way, having nailed it to his cross;
- 15 having stripped the principalities and the authorities, he made show openly, triumphing over them in it.
- 16 Let none therefore judge you in eating and in drinking, or in respect of feast or new moon or sabbaths,
- 17 which are a shadow of things to come; but the body [is] of Christ.
- 18 Let no one defraud you of your prize, doing his will in humility and worship of the angels, intruding into things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by the mind of his flesh,
- 19 and not holding fast the head, from whom all the body, ministered to and knit together by the joints and bands, increaseth with the increase of God.
- 20 If ye died with Christ from the elements of the world, why, as alive in [the] world, do ye subject yourselves to ordinances?
- 21 Handle not, neither taste, nor even touch
- 22 (which are all for destruction in the using), according to the injunctions and trainings of men;
- 23 which have a reputation indeed of wisdom in will-worship, and humility, and unsparingness of [the] body, not in any honour to satisfying of the flesh.

COLOSSIANS 3 WK

- 1 If therefore ye were raised with Christ, seek the things above, where the Christ is seated on [the] right hand of God.
- 2 Set your mind on the things above, not on those on the earth.
- 3 For ye died, and your life is hid with the Christ in God.
- 4 When the Christ, our life, shall be manifested, then shall ye also be manifested with him in glory.
- 5 Put to death therefore your members that [are] on the earth, fornication, uncleanness, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry;
- 6 on account of which things cometh the wrath of God [upon the sons of disobedience]:
- 7 in which ye also once walked when ye lived in these things.
- 8 But now do ye also put off the whole: wrath, anger, malice, blasphemy, vile language out of your mouth.
- 9 Lie not to one another, having put off the old man with his deeds,
- 10 and having put on the new that is renewed in full knowledge according to [the] image of him that created him;
- 11 where there is no Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, bond, free, but Christ the whole, and in all.

Colossians

- 12 Put on therefore, as [the] elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, longsuffering;
- 13 forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any should have a complaint against any; even as the Christ has forgiven you, so also [do] ye.
- 14 And to all these [add] love, which is the bond of perfectness.
- 15 And let the peace of Christ preside in your hearts, to which also ye have been called in one body, and be thankful.
- 16 Let the word of the Christ dwell in you richly, in all wisdom teaching and admonishing one another, in psalms, hymns, spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to God.
- 17 And everything, whatever ye may do in word or in deed, [do] all things in [the] name of [the] Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father by him.
- 18 Wives, be subject to [your] husbands, as is fitting in [the] Lord.
- 19 Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them.
- 20 Children, obey your parents in all things, for this is well-pleasing in [the] Lord.
- 21 Fathers, do not vex your children, to the end that they be not disheartened.
- 22 Bondmen, obey in all things your masters according to flesh; not with eye services, as men-pleasers, but in simplicity of heart, fearing the Lord.
- 23 Whatsoever ye do, labour at it heartily, as [doing it] to the Lord, and not to men;
- 24 knowing that of [the] Lord ye shall receive the recompense of the inheritance; ye serve the Lord Christ.
- 25 For he that does a wrong shall receive the wrong he has done, and there is no respect of persons.

COLOSSIANS 4 JND

I Thessalonians

I THESSALONIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timotheus to the assembly of Thessalonians in God [the] Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ. Grace to you and peace.
- 2 We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you at our prayers,
- 3 remembering unceasingly your work of faith, and labour of love, and enduring constancy of hope of our Lord Jesus Christ, before our God and Father;
- 4 knowing, brethren beloved by God, your election.
- 5 For our glad tidings were not with you in word only, but also in power, and in [the] Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; even as ye know what we were among you for your sakes:
- 6 and ye became our imitators and of the Lord, having accepted the word in much tribulation with joy of [the] Holy Ghost,
- 7 so that ye became models to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia:
- 8 for the word of the Lord sounded out from you, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but in every place your faith which [is] towards God has gone abroad, so that we have no need to say anything;
- 9 for they themselves relate concerning us what entering in we had to you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve a living and true God,
- 10 and to await his Son from the heavens, whom he raised from among the dead, Jesus, our deliverer from the coming wrath.

I THESSALONIANS 2 JND

- 1 For ye know yourselves, brethren, our entering in which [we had] to you, that it has not been in vain;
- 2 but, having suffered before and been insulted, even as ye know, in Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the glad tidings of God with much earnest striving.
- 3 For our exhortation [was] not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile;
- 4 but even as we have been approved of God to have the glad tidings entrusted to us, so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, who proves our hearts.
- 5 For we have not at any time been [among you] with flattering discourse, even as ye know, nor with a pretext for covetousness, God [is] witness;
- 6 nor seeking glory from men, neither from you nor from others, when we might have been a charge as Christ's apostles;
- 7 but have been gentle in the midst of you, as a nurse would cherish her own children.
- 8 Thus, yearning over you, we had found our delight in having imparted to you not only the glad tidings of God, but our own lives also, because ye had become beloved of us.
- 9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and toil: working night and day, not to be chargeable to any one of you, we have preached to you the glad tidings of God.

I THESSALONIANS 1 WK

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timotheus to the assembly of Thessalonians in God [the] Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ: grace to you and peace ^Λ.
- 2 We thank God always for you all, making mention at our prayers,
- 3 remembering without ceasing your work of faith and labour of love and patience of hope of our Lord Jesus Christ before our God and Father,
- 4 knowing, brethren beloved by God, your election;
- 5 because our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power and in [the] Holy Spirit and in much assurance; even as ye know what we were among you for your sake.
- 6 And ye became imitators of us and of the Lord, having received the word in much tribulation with joy of [the] Holy Spirit;
- 7 so that ye became a pattern to all that believe in Macedonia and in Achaia.
- 8 For from you hath sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but in every place your faith that is toward God hath gone out, so that we have no need to say anything.
- 9 For they themselves report concerning us what sort of entrance we had unto you; and how ye turned unto God from idols to serve a living and true God,
- 10 and to await his Son from the heavens, whom he raised from the dead, Jesus that delivered us from the coming wrath.

I THESSALONIANS 2 WK

- 1 For yourselves know, brethren, our entrance unto you that it hath not been vain.
- 2 But ^Λ having suffered before, and been outraged, as ye know, at Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God in much conflict.
- 3 For our exhortation [is, or was] not of error, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile;
- 4 but even as we have been approved of God to be entrusted with the gospel, so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God that proveth our hearts.
- 5 For neither at any time were we with speech of flattery, as ye know, nor with a cloke of covetousness, God [is] witness;
- 6 nor seeking glory of men, neither from you nor from others, when we might have been burdensome as apostles of Christ.
- 7 But we were gentle in the midst of you, as when a nurse cherisheth her own children;
- 8 so yearning over you, we were well pleased to impart unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls because ye became beloved by us.
- 9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and our toil; ^Λ working night and day that we might not burden any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God.

- 10 Ye [are] witnesses, and God, how piously and righteously and blamelessly we have conducted ourselves with you that believe:
- 11 as ye know how, as a father his own children, we used to exhort each one of you, and comfort and testify,
- 12 that ye should walk worthy of God, who calls you to his own kingdom and glory.
- 13 And for this cause we also give thanks to God unceasingly that, having received [the] word of [the] report of God by us, ye accepted, not men's word, but, even as it is truly, God's word, which also works in you who believe.
- 14 For ye, brethren, have become imitators of the assemblies of God which are in Judaea in Christ Jesus; for ye also have suffered the same things of your own countrymen as also they of the Jews,
- 15 who have both slain the Lord Jesus and the prophets, and have driven us out by persecution, and do not please God, and [are] against all men,
- 16 forbidding us to speak to the nations that they may be saved, that they may fill up their sins always: but wrath has come upon them to the uttermost.
- 17 But we, brethren, having been bereaved of you and separated for a little moment in person, not in heart, have used more abundant diligence to see your face with much desire;
- 18 wherefore we have desired to come to you, even I Paul, both once and twice, and Satan has hindered us.
- 19 For what [is] our hope, or joy, or crown of boasting? [are] not ye also before our Lord Jesus at his coming?
- 20 for ye are our glory and joy.

1 THESSALONIANS 3 JND

- 1 Wherefore, being no longer able to refrain ourselves, we thought good to be left alone in Athens,
- 2 and sent Timotheus, our brother and fellow-workman under God in the glad tidings of Christ, to confirm you and encourage [you] concerning your faith,
- 3 that no one might be moved by these afflictions. (For yourselves know that we are set for this;
- 4 for also, when we were with you, we told you beforehand we are about to be in tribulation, even as also it came to pass, and ye know.)
- 5 For this reason I also, no longer able to refrain myself, sent to know your faith, lest perhaps the tempter had tempted you and our labour should be come to nothing.
- 6 But Timotheus having just come to us from you, and brought to us the glad tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have always good remembrance of us, desiring much to see us, even as we also you;
- 7 for this reason we have been comforted in you, brethren, in all our distress and tribulation, through your faith,
- 8 because now we live if ye stand firm in [the] Lord.

- 10 Ye [are] witnesses, and God, how holily and righteously and blamelessly we behaved ourselves to you that believe;
- 11 just as ye know how each one of you as a father his own children, we [were] exhorting you, and comforting, and testifying
- 12 that ye should walk worthily of God that calleth you unto his own kingdom and glory.
- 13 And for this cause we also thank God unceasingly that, when ye received [the] word of [the] report from us of God, ye accepted not men's word, but as it is truly God's word, which also worketh in you that believe.
- 14 For ye, brethren, became imitators of the assemblies of God that are in Judaea in Christ Jesus: for ye also suffered the same things of your own countrymen, even as they also of the Jews,
- 15 who both killed the Lord Jesus and the [^] prophets, and drove us out, and please not God, and [are] contrary to all men,
- 16 forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they may be saved, to fill up their sins alway; but the wrath is come upon them to the uttermost.
- 17 But we, brethren, being bereaved of you for a little season [lit., of an hour], in person, not in heart, made more exceeding diligence to see your face with much desire.
- 18 Wherefore we desired to come unto you, I, Paul, both once and twice, and Satan hindered us.
- 19 For what [is] our hope, or joy, or crown of glorying? [Are] not even ye before our Lord Jesus [^] at His coming?
- 20 For ye are our glory and joy.

1 THESSALONIANS 3 WK

- 1 Wherefore when we could no longer forbear, we thought good to be left behind at Athens alone,
- 2 and sent Timothy our brother and work-fellow under God in the gospel of Christ, to establish you and encourage concerning your faith,
- 3 that no one might be moved by [lit., in] these afflictions. For yourselves know that for this we are set.
- 4 For even when we were with you we told you beforehand that we are to suffer affliction, even as it came to pass, and ye know.
- 5 On this account I also, when I could no longer forbear, sent that I might know your faith, lest perhaps the tempter had tempted you and our labour should be in vain.
- 6 But when Timothy came just now unto us from you and brought us glad tidings of your faith and love, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, longing to see us even as we also [to see] you:
- 7 on this account we were comforted by you, brethren, in all our distress and tribulation through your faith;
- 8 because now we live if ye stand fast in [the] Lord.

1 Thessalonians

- 9 For what thanksgiving can we render to God for you, for all the joy wherewith we rejoice on account of you before our God,
- 10 night and day beseeching exceedingly to the end that we may see your face, and perfect what is lacking in your faith?
- 11 But our God and Father himself and our Lord Jesus direct our way to you.
- 12 But you may the Lord make to exceed and abound in love toward one another, and toward all, even as we also towards you,
- 13 in order to the confirming of your hearts unblamable in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus with all his saints.

1 THESSALONIANS 4 JND

- 1 For the rest, then, brethren, we beg you and exhort you in [the] Lord Jesus, even as ye have received from us how ye ought to walk and please God, even as ye also do walk, that ye would abound still more.
- 2 For ye know what charges we gave you through the Lord Jesus.
- 3 For this is [the] will of God, [even] your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication;
- 4 that each of you know how to possess his own vessel in sanctification and honour,
- 5 (not in passionate desire, even as the nations who know not God,)
- 6 not overstepping the rights of and wronging his brother in the matter, because the Lord [is] the avenger of all these things, even as we also told you before, and have fully testified.
- 7 For God has not called us to uncleanness, but in sanctification.
- 8 He therefore that [in this] disregards [his brother], disregards, not man, but God, who has given also his Holy Spirit to you.
- 9 Now concerning brotherly love ye have no need that we should write to you, for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another.
- 10 For also ye do this towards all the brethren in the whole of Macedonia; but we exhort you, brethren, to abound still more,
- 11 and to seek earnestly to be quiet and mind your own affairs, and work with your [own] hands, even as we charged you,
- 12 that ye may walk reputably towards those without, and may have need of no one.
- 13 But we do not wish you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them that are fallen asleep, to the end that ye be not grieved even as also the rest who have no hope.
- 14 For if we believe that Jesus has died and has risen again, so also God will bring with him those who have fallen asleep through Jesus.

- 9 For what thanksgiving can we render again to God for you for all the joy wherewith we rejoice on your account before our God,
- 10 night and day beseeching exceedingly that we may see your face, and perfect what is lacking in your faith?
- 11 Now our God and Father Himself, and our Lord Jesus ^Λ direct our way unto you;
- 12 and the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another and toward all, even as we also toward you;
- 13 in order to establish your hearts unblameable in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus with all his saints.

1 THESSALONIANS 4 WK

- 1 Further, then, brethren, we beseech and exhort you in the Lord Jesus that, as ye received from us how ye ought to walk and please God, even as also ye do walk, ye abound still more.
- 2 For ye know what charges we gave you through the Lord Jesus.
- 3 For this is [the] will of God, ^Λ your sanctification, that ye abstain from fornication;
- 4 that each of you know how to possess himself of his own vessel in sanctification and honour,
- 5 not in passion of lust, even as also the Gentiles that know not God;
- 6 that he should not over-reach and wrong his brother in the matter; because the Lord is an avenger in respect of all these things, even as we told you before and fully testified.
- 7 For God called us not for uncleanness but in sanctification.
- 8 Wherefore then he that disregardeth disregardeth not man but God that [also] gave His Holy Spirit unto you.
- 9 Now concerning brotherly love, ye have no need that we write to you; for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another;
- 10 for, indeed, ye do it toward all the brethren that are in the whole of Macedonia. But we exhort you, brethren, that ye abound still more,
- 11 and that ye make it your aim to be quiet and mind your own affairs and work with your own hands, even as we charged you,
- 12 that ye may walk honourably toward those without, and may have need of nothing.
- 13 But we would not have you ignorant, brethren, concerning those that fall asleep; that ye be not grieved even as the rest also that have no hope.
- 14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, so also those put to sleep through Jesus will God bring with Him.

- 15 (For this we say to you in [the] word of [the] Lord, that we, the living, who remain to the coming of the Lord, are in no way to anticipate those who have fallen asleep;
 16 for the Lord himself, with an assembling shout, with archangel's voice and with trump of God, shall descend from heaven; and the dead in Christ shall rise first;
 17 then we, the living who remain, shall be caught up together with them in [the] clouds, to meet the Lord in [the] air; and thus we shall be always with [the] Lord.
 18 So encourage one another with these words.)

1 THESSALONIANS 5 JND

- 1 But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that ye should be written to,
 2 for ye know perfectly well yourselves, that the day of [the] Lord so comes as a thief by night.
 3 When they may say, Peace and safety, then sudden destruction comes upon them, as travail upon her that is with child; and they shall in no wise escape.
 4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that the day should overtake you as a thief:
 5 for all ye are sons of light and sons of day; we are not of night nor of darkness.
 6 So then do not let us sleep as the rest do, but let us watch and be sober;
 7 for they that sleep sleep by night, and they that drink drink by night;
 8 but we being of [the] day, let us be sober, putting on [the] breastplate of faith and love, and as helmet [the] hope of salvation;
 9 because God has not set us for wrath, but for obtaining salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ,
 10 who has died for us, that whether we may be watching or sleep, we may live together with him.
 11 Wherefore encourage one another, and build up each one the other, even as also ye do.
 12 But we beg you, brethren, to know those who labour among you, and take the lead among you in [the] Lord, and admonish you,
 13 and to regard them exceedingly in love on account of their work. Be in peace among yourselves.
 14 But we exhort you, brethren, admonish the disorderly, comfort the fainthearted, sustain the weak, be patient towards all.
 15 See that no one render to any evil for evil, but pursue always what is good towards one another and towards all;
 16 rejoice always;
 17 pray unceasingly;
 18 in everything give thanks, for this is [the] will of God in Christ Jesus towards you;
 19 quench not the Spirit;
 20 do not lightly esteem prophecies;
 21 but prove all things, hold fast the right;
 22 hold aloof from every form of wickedness.

- 15 For this we say to you in [the] word of [the] Lord, that we, the living that remain unto the coming of the Lord, shall in no wise precede those put to sleep;
 16 because the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout of command, with archangel's voice, and with trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first;
 17 then we, the living that remain, shall be caught up together with them in clouds to meet [the] Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord.
 18 So then encourage one another with these words.

1 THESSALONIANS 5 WK

- 1 But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need to be written to.
 2 For yourselves know thoroughly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief at night.
 3 [^] When they are saying peace and safety, then sudden destruction cometh on them as the pain on her that is with child; and they shall in no wise escape.
 4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that the day should overtake you as a thief;
 5 for ye all are sons of light and sons of day: we are not of night nor of darkness.
 6 So, then, let us not sleep as [do] the rest, but let us watch and be sober.
 7 For they that sleep sleep by night, and they that are drunk drink by night;
 8 but we being of day, let us be sober, putting on a breastplate of faith and love, and hope of salvation as helmet.
 9 Because God did not appoint us unto wrath, but unto obtaining of salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ
 10 who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we may live together with Him.
 11 Therefore encourage one another, and edify each other, even as also ye do.
 12 Now we beseech you, brethren, to know those that labour among you and are over you in [the] Lord and admonish you,
 13 and to esteem them exceedingly in love because of their work. Be at peace among yourselves.
 14 And we exhort you, brethren, admonish the disorderly, comfort the faint-hearted, support the weak, be long-suffering toward all.
 15 See that none render to anyone evil for evil, but always pursue that which is good one toward another, and toward all.
 16 Rejoice always;
 17 pray unceasingly;
 18 in everything give thanks, for this [is] God's will in Christ Jesus toward you.
 19 Quench not the Spirit;
 20 despise not prophecies;
 21 but prove all things; hold fast that which is good;
 22 abstain from every form of evil.

2 THESSALONIANS 1 JND

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timotheus to the assembly of Thessalonians in God our Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 2 Grace to you, and peace from God our Father, and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 We ought to thank God always for you, brethren, even as it is meet, because your faith increases exceedingly, and the love of each one of you all towards one another abounds;
- 4 so that we ourselves make our boast in you in the assemblies of God for your endurance and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations, which ye are sustaining;
- 5 a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, to the end that ye should be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for the sake of which ye also suffer;
- 6 if at least [it is a] righteous thing with God to render tribulation to those that trouble you,
- 7 and to you that are troubled repose with us, at the revelation of the Lord Jesus from heaven, with [the] angels of his power,
- 8 in flaming fire taking vengeance on those who know not God, and those who do not obey the glad tidings of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 9 who shall pay the penalty [of] everlasting destruction from [the] presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his might,
- 10 when he shall have come to be glorified in his saints, and wondered at in all that have believed, (for our testimony to you has been believed,) in that day.
- 11 To which end we also pray always for you, that our God may count you worthy of the calling, and fulfil all [the] good pleasure of [his] goodness and [the] work of faith with power,
- 12 so that the name of our Lord Jesus [Christ] may be glorified in you and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of [the] Lord Jesus Christ.

2 THESSALONIANS 2 JND

- 1 Now we beg you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together to him,
- 2 that ye be not soon shaken in mind, nor troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as [if it were] by us, as that the day of the Lord is present.
- 3 Let not any one deceive you in any manner, because [it will not be] unless the apostasy have first come, and the man of sin have been revealed, the son of perdition;
- 4 who opposes and exalts himself on high against all called God, or object of veneration; so that he himself sits down in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God.
- 5 Do ye not remember that, being yet with you, I said these things to you?

2 THESSALONIANS 1 WK

- 1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy to the assembly of Thessalonians in God our Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ;
- 2 grace to you and peace from God [the] Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 3 We are bound to give thanks to God always for you, brethren, even as it is meet, because your faith increaseth exceedingly, and the love of each of you all toward one another aboundeth;
- 4 so that we ourselves glory in you in the assemblies of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and the tribulations which ye are all enduring.
- 5 A manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, to the end that ye be counted worthy of the kingdom of God for which ye also suffer;
- 6 if so be that it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to those who trouble you,
- 7 and to you that are troubled rest with us, at the revelation of the Lord Jesus from heaven with angels of his power
- 8 in flaming fire, rendering vengeance to those that know not God and to those that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus
- 9 Who [men of the class which] shall pay as penalty everlasting destruction from [the] presence of the Lord and from the glory of his might,
- 10 when he shall come to be glorified in his saints and to be wondered at in all that believed (because our testimony unto you was believed) in that day.
- 11 Whereunto we also pray always for you, that our God may count you worthy of the calling and fulfil every good pleasure of goodness and work of faith with power;
- 12 so that the name of our Lord Jesus [^] may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.

2 THESSALONIANS 2 WK

- 1 Now we beseech you, brethren, for [or, for the sake of] the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and [^] our gathering together unto Him.
- 2 That ye be not quickly shaken in [lit., from your] mind nor yet troubled, either by spirit, or by word, or by letter as from [lit., by] us, as that the day of the Lord is present.
- 3 Let none deceive you in any way; because [it will not be] except the falling away shall have come first, and the man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition.
- 4 He that opposeth and exalteth himself exceedingly against every one called god, or object of veneration; so that he [^] sitteth down in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God.
- 5 Remember ye not that, being yet with you, I told you these things?

2 Thessalonians

- 6 And now ye know that which restrains, that he should be revealed in his own time.
- 7 For the mystery of lawlessness already works; only [there is] he who restrains now until he be gone,
- 8 and then the lawless one shall be revealed, whom the Lord Jesus shall consume with the breath of his mouth, and shall annul by the appearing of his coming;
- 9 whose coming is according to the working of Satan in all power and signs and wonders of falsehood,
- 10 and in all deceit of unrighteousness to them that perish, because they have not received the love of the truth that they might be saved.
- 11 And for this reason God sends to them a working of error, that they should believe what is false,
- 12 that all might be judged who have not believed the truth, but have found pleasure in unrighteousness.
- 13 But we ought to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved of [the] Lord, that God has chosen you from [the] beginning to salvation in sanctification of [the] Spirit and belief of [the] truth:
- 14 whereto he has called you by our glad tidings, to [the] obtaining of [the] glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 15 So then, brethren, stand firm, and hold fast the instructions which ye have been taught, whether by word or by our letter.
- 16 But our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and our God and Father, who has loved us, and given [us] eternal consolation and good hope by grace,
- 17 encourage your hearts, and establish you in every good work and word.

2 THESSALONIANS 3 JND

- 1 For the rest, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may run and be glorified, even as also with you;
- 2 and that we may be delivered from bad and evil men, for faith [is] not [the portion] of all.
- 3 But the Lord is faithful, who shall establish you and keep [you] from evil.
- 4 But we trust in the Lord as to you, that the things which we enjoin, ye both do and will do.
- 5 But the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patience of the Christ.
- 6 Now we enjoin you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw from every brother walking disorderly and not according to the instruction which he received from us.
- 7 For ye know yourselves how ye ought to imitate us, because we have not walked disorderly among you;
- 8 nor have we eaten bread from any one without cost; but in toil and hardship working night and day not to be chargeable to any one of you:
- 9 not that we have not the right, but that we might give ourselves as an example to you, in order to your imitating us.

- 6 And now ye know that which [^] restraineth, that he may be revealed in his own season.
- 7 For the mystery of lawlessness already worketh: only [there is] one that restraineth now until he be out of the way.
- 8 And then shall be revealed the lawless one, whom the Lord Jesus shall destroy with the breath of his mouth, and bring to nought by the manifestation of his coming.
- 9 Whose coming is according to the working of Satan in all power and signs and wonders of falsehood,
- 10 and in all deceit of unrighteousness for those that perish, because they received not the love of the truth that they might be saved.
- 11 And for this cause God sendeth them a working of error that they should believe falsehood,
- 12 that all might be judged who believed not the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness.
- 13 But we are bound to give thanks to God always for you, brethren beloved of [the] Lord, that God chose you from [the] beginning unto salvation in sanctification of [the] Spirit and belief of [the] truth;
- 14 whereunto [^] he called you by our gospel unto obtaining of [the] glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 15 So then, brethren, stand firm and hold fast the traditions which ye were taught whether by word or by letter of ours.
- 16 But our Lord Jesus Christ Himself, and God our Father, that loved us and gave everlasting encouragement and good hope through grace,
- 17 encourage your hearts and stablish [^] in every good work and word.

2 THESSALONIANS 3 WK

- 1 For the rest, brethren, pray for us that the word of the Lord may run and be glorified, even as also with you;
- 2 and that we may be delivered from unreasonable and evil men, for all have not faith.
- 3 But faithful is the Lord who shall stablish you and keep from evil.
- 4 And we have trust in [the] Lord touching you, that ye both do and will do the things which we charge [^].
- 5 And the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God and into the patience of the Christ.
- 6 Now we charge you, brethren, in [the] name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw from every brother walking disorderly and not according to the tradition which they received from us.
- 7 For yourselves know how ye ought to imitate us; because we were not disorderly among you,
- 8 nor did we eat bread for nought from any one, but in toil and travail, working night and day, that we might not burden any of you:
- 9 not because we have not title, but to make ourselves an example to you that ye should imitate us.

- 10 For also when we were with you we enjoined you this, that if any man does not like to work, neither let him eat.
- 11 For we hear that [there are] some walking among you disorderly, not working at all, but busybodies.
- 12 Now such we enjoin and exhort in [the] Lord Jesus Christ, that working quietly they eat their own bread.
- 13 But ye, brethren, do not faint in well-doing.
- 14 But if any one obey not our word by the letter, mark that man, and do not keep company with him that he may be ashamed of himself;
- 15 and do not esteem him as an enemy, but admonish [him] as a brother.
- 16 But the Lord of peace himself give you peace continually in every way. The Lord [be] with you all.
- 17 The salutation by the hand of me Paul, which is [the] mark in every letter; so I write.
- 18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with you all.

- 10 For even when we were with you, this we charged you, that if any will not work, neither let him eat.
- 11 For we hear of some walking among you disorderly, doing no business, but busybodies.
- 12 Now those that are such we charge and exhort in [the] Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work and eat their own bread.
- 13 But ye, brethren, faint not in well-doing.
- 14 And if any obeyeth not our word by the epistle, mark him to keep no company with him, that he may be ashamed;
- 15 and count [him] not as an enemy but admonish as a brother.
- 16 Now the Lord of peace himself give you peace constantly in every way. The Lord [be] with you all.
- 17 The salutation by the hand of me Paul, which is a mark in every epistle; so I write.
- 18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with you all.

1 Timothy

1 TIMOTHY 1 JND

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ, according to [the] command of God our Saviour, and of Christ Jesus our hope,
- 2 to Timotheus, [my] true child in faith: grace, mercy, peace, from God our Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 3 Even as I begged thee to remain in Ephesus, [when I was] going to Macedonia, that thou mightest enjoin some not to teach other doctrines,
- 4 nor to turn their minds to fables and interminable genealogies, which bring questionings rather than [further] God's dispensation, which [is] in faith.
- 5 But the end of what is enjoined is love out of a pure heart and a good conscience and unfeigned faith;
- 6 which [things] some having missed, have turned aside to vain discourse,
- 7 desiring to be law-teachers, not understanding either what they say or concerning what they [so] strenuously affirm.
- 8 Now we know that the law [is] good if any one uses it lawfully,
- 9 knowing this, that law has not its application to a righteous person, but to [the] lawless and insubordinate, to [the] impious and sinful, to [the] unholy and profane, to smiters of fathers and smiters of mothers; to murderers,
- 10 fornicators, sodomites, kidnappers, liars, perjurers; and if any other thing is opposed to sound teaching,
- 11 according to the glad tidings of the glory of the blessed God, with which I have been entrusted.
- 12 [And] I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who has given me power, that he has counted me faithful, appointing to ministry
- 13 him who before was a blasphemer and persecutor, and an insolent overbearing [man]: but mercy was shewn me because I did it ignorantly, in unbelief.
- 14 But the grace of our Lord surpassingly over-abounded with faith and love, which [is] in Christ Jesus.
- 15 Faithful [is] the word, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am [the] first.
- 16 But for this reason mercy was shewn me, that in me, [the] first, Jesus Christ might display the whole long-suffering, for a delineation of those about to believe on him to life eternal.
- 17 Now to the King of the ages, [the] incorruptible, invisible, only God, honour and glory to the ages of ages. Amen.
- 18 This charge, [my] child Timotheus, I commit to thee, according to the prophecies as to thee preceding, in order that thou mightest war by them the good warfare,
- 19 maintaining faith and a good conscience; which [last] some having put away, have made shipwreck as to faith;
- 20 of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have delivered to Satan, that they may be taught by discipline not to blaspheme.

1 TIMOTHY 2 JND

1 TIMOTHY 1 WK

- 1 Paul, apostle of Christ Jesus according to command of God our Saviour and of Christ Jesus [^] our hope,
- 2 to Timothy, genuine child in faith: grace, mercy, peace from [^] God [the] Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 3 Even as when setting out for Macedonia I besought thee to remain in Ephesus, that thou mightest charge some not to be strange teachers,
- 4 nor to pay heed to fables and endless genealogies, such as furnish questionings rather than God's [^] dispensation that is in faith.
- 5 [^] Now the end of the charge is love out of a pure heart and a good conscience and faith unfeigned;
- 6 which [things] some, having missed, turned aside unto vain talk,
- 7 desiring to be law-teachers, not understanding either what they say, or whereof they affirm.
- 8 Now we know that the law [is] good if one use it lawfully,
- 9 knowing this that [^] law is not laid down for a righteous person, but for lawless and insubordinate, for ungodly and sinful, for unholy and profane, for smiters of fathers and smiters of mothers, for murderers,
- 10 fornicators, sodomites, menstealers, liars, perjurers, and if there be any other thing contrary to the sound teaching,
- 11 according to the gospel of the glory of the blessed God with which I was entrusted.
- 12 [^] I thank Him that strengthened me, Christ Jesus our Lord, that He counted me faithful, appointing me unto ministry,
- 13 [^] though before I was a blasphemer and persecutor and doer of outrage. But I had mercy shown me because I did [it] ignorantly in unbelief;
- 14 and the grace of our Lord abounded exceedingly with faith and love that is in Christ Jesus.
- 15 Faithful [is] the word and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief.
- 16 But for this cause mercy was shown me that in me, [as] chief, Christ might display the whole long-suffering for an outline-sketch of those that should believe on Him unto life eternal.
- 17 Now to Him Who is King of the ages, incorruptible, invisible, only [^] God, [be] honour and glory unto the ages of ages. Amen.
- 18 This charge I commit to thee, child Timothy, according to the prophecies on thee going before, that by them thou mightest war the good warfare,
- 19 holding faith and a good conscience; which some having thrust away made shipwreck concerning the faith;
- 20 of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I delivered to Satan that they may be taught not to blaspheme.

1 TIMOTHY 2 WK

1 I exhort therefore, first of all, that supplications,
 2 prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings be made for all men;
 3 for kings and all that are in dignity, that we may lead a
 4 quiet and tranquil life in all piety and gravity;
 5 for this is good and acceptable before our Saviour God,
 6 who desires that all men should be saved and come to [the]
 7 knowledge of [the] truth.
 8 For God is one, and [the] mediator of God and men one,
 9 [the] man Christ Jesus,
 10 who gave himself a ransom for all, the testimony [to be 11 rendered] in its own times;
 12 to which I have been appointed a herald and apostle, (I 13 speak [the] truth, I do not lie,) a teacher of [the] nations in 14 faith and truth.
 15 I will therefore that the men pray in every place, lifting
 16 up pious hands, without wrath or reasoning.
 17 In like manner also that the women in decent deportment
 18 and dress adorn themselves with modesty and discretion,
 19 not with plaited [hair] and gold, or pearls, or costly
 20 clothing,
 21 but, what becomes women making profession of the fear of 22 God, by good works.
 23 Let a woman learn in quietness in all subjection;
 24 but I do not suffer a woman to teach nor to exercise
 25 authority over man, but to be in quietness;
 26 for Adam was formed first, then Eve:
 27 and Adam was not deceived; but the woman, having been 28 deceived, was in transgression.
 29 But she shall be preserved in childbearing, if they continue
 30 in faith and love and holiness with discretion.

1 TIMOTHY 3 JND

1 The word [is] faithful: if any one aspires to exercise
 2 oversight, he desires a good work.
 3 The overseer then must be irreproachable, husband of one
 4 wife, sober, discreet, decorous, hospitable, apt to teach;
 5 not given to excesses from wine, not a striker, but mild, not
 6 addicted to contention, not fond of money,
 7 conducting his own house well, having [his] children in
 8 subjection with all gravity;
 9 (but if one does not know how to conduct his own house,
 10 how shall he take care of the assembly of God?)
 11 not a novice, that he may not, being inflated, fall into [the]
 12 fault of the devil.
 13 But it is necessary that he should have also a good
 14 testimony from those without, that he may fall not into 15 reproach and [the] snare of the devil.
 16 Ministers, in like manner, grave, not double-tongued, not 17 given to much wine, not seeking gain by base means,
 18 holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience.
 19 And let these be first proved, then let them minister, being 20 without charge [against them].
 21 [The] women in like manner grave, not slanderers, sober,
 22 faithful in all things.

1 I exhort, therefore, first of all, that supplications,
 2 prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings, be made for all men,
 3 for kings and all that are in high rank, that we may lead a
 4 quiet and peaceful life in all piety and gravity.
 5 For this [is] good and acceptable before our Saviour God,
 6 Who desireth that all men should be saved and come unto
 7 full knowledge of truth.
 8 For [there is] one God, one Mediator also of God and men,
 9 Christ Jesus a man,
 10 Who gave Himself a ransom for all, the testimony in its 11 own times,
 12 to which I was appointed a preacher and apostle (I speak
 13 truth, I lie not), a teacher of Gentiles in faith and truth.
 14 I wish then that the men pray in every place, lifting up holy 15 hands without wrath and doubting;
 16 in like manner also that a women in seemly deportment
 17 adorn themselves with modesty and sobriety, not with 18 braids and gold or pearls or costly apparel,
 19 but, what becometh women professing godliness, by good
 20 works.
 21 Let a woman in quietness learn in all subjection.
 22 But to teach I permit not a woman, nor to exercise authority
 23 over a man, but to be in quietness.
 24 For Adam was first formed, then Eve;
 25 and Adam was not deceived, but the woman quite deceived
 26 is become in transgression;
 27 but she shall be saved in a child-bearing, if they continue
 28 in faith and love and holiness with sobriety.

1 TIMOTHY 3 WK

1 Faithful [is] the word: if anyone is eager for oversight,
 2 he is desirous of a good work.
 3 The overseer [or bishop] therefore must be irreproachable,
 4 husband of one wife, temperate, sober, orderly, hospitable,
 5 apt to teach,
 6 not given to wine, no striker, a but gentle, not contentious,
 7 not fond of money,
 8 one that ruleth well his own house, having children in
 9 subjection with all gravity,
 10 (but if one knoweth not how to rule his own house, how 11 shall he care for God's assembly?),
 12 not a novice, lest being puffed up he fall into the devil's
 13 charge [or judgment].
 14 But he must also have good testimony from those without,
 15 lest he fall into reproach and a snare of the devil.
 16 Deacons likewise [must be] grave, not double-tongued, not 17 given to much wine, not greedy of base gain,
 18 holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience.
 19 And let these also be first proved, then let them serve as 20 deacons, being blameless.
 21 Women likewise [must be] grave, not slanderers,
 22 temperate, faithful in all things.

1 Timothy

- 12 Let [the] ministers be husbands of one wife, conducting [their] children and their own houses well;
- 13 for those who shall have ministered well obtain for themselves a good degree, and much boldness in faith which [is] in Christ Jesus.
- 14 These things I write to thee, hoping to come to thee more quickly;
- 15 but if I delay, in order that thou mayest know how one ought to conduct oneself in God's house, which is [the] assembly of [the] living God, [the] pillar and base of the truth.
- 16 And confessedly the mystery of piety is great. God has been manifested in flesh, has been justified in [the] Spirit, has appeared to angels, has been preached among [the] nations, has been believed on in [the] world, has been received up in glory.

1 TIMOTHY 4 JND

- 1 But the Spirit speaks expressly, that in latter times some shall apostatise from the faith, [^] giving their mind to deceiving spirits and teachings of demons
- 2 speaking lies in hypocrisy, cauterised as to their own conscience,
- 3 forbidding to marry, [bidding] to abstain from meats, which God has created for receiving with thanksgiving for them who are faithful and know the truth.
- 4 For every creature of God [is] good, and nothing [is] to be rejected, being received with thanksgiving;
- 5 for it is sanctified by God's word and freely addressing [him].
- 6 Laying these things before the brethren, thou wilt be a good minister of Christ Jesus, nourished with the words of the faith and of the good teaching which thou hast fully followed up.
- 7 But profane and old wives' fables avoid, but exercise thyself unto piety;
- 8 for bodily exercise is profitable for a little, but piety is profitable for everything, having promise of life, of the present one, and of that to come.
- 9 The word [is] faithful and worthy of all acceptance;
- 10 for, for this we labour and suffer reproach, because we hope in a living God, who is preserver of all men, specially of those that believe.
- 11 Enjoin and teach these things.
- 12 Let no one despise thy youth, but be a model of the believers, in word, in conduct, in love, in faith, in purity.
- 13 Till I come, give thyself to reading, to exhortation, to teaching.
- 14 Be not negligent of the gift [that is] in thee, which has been given to thee through prophecy, with imposition of the hands of the elder-hood.
- 15 Occupy thyself with these things; be wholly in them, that thy progress may be manifest to all.

- 12 Let deacons be husbands of one wife, ruling [their] children and their own houses well;
- 13 for those that have served well as deacons gain for themselves a good degree, and great boldness in faith that is in Christ Jesus.
- 14 These things write I to thee, hoping to come unto thee rather quickly;
- 15 but if I should tarry, that thou mayest know how one ought to behave in God's house, seeing it is a living God's assembly, pillar and groundwork of the truth. [^]
- 16 And confessedly great is the mystery of piety: He Who was manifested in flesh, was justified in [^] Spirit, appeared unto angels, was preached among Gentiles, was believed on in [the] world, was received up in glory.

1 TIMOTHY 4 WK

- 1 But the Spirit saith expressly that in latter times some shall fall away from the faith, [^] giving heed to seducing spirits and teachings of demons,
- 2 by hypocrisy of legendmongers, branded in their own conscience,
- 3 forbidding to marry, [bidding] to abstain from meats which God created for reception with thanksgiving by those faithful and fully acquainted with the truth.
- 4 Because every creature of God [is] good, and nothing to be rejected when received with thanksgiving,
- 5 for it is sanctified through God's word and intercession.
- 6 Setting these things before the brethren, thou wilt be a good servant of Christ Jesus, nourished in the words of the faith and the good teaching which thou hast followed up.
- 7 But the profane and old-womanish fables refuse, and exercise thyself unto piety;
- 8 for bodily exercise is profitable for a little, but piety is profitable for all things, having promise of life that is now and of that which is to come.
- 9 The word [is] faithful and worthy of all acceptance;
- 10 for unto this end we [^] labour and suffer reproach, because we have our hope set on a living God Who is Saviour of all men, especially of faithful [men].
- 11 These things charge and teach.
- 12 Let none despise thy youth, but be a pattern of the faithful in word, in conduct, in love, [^] in faith, in purity.
- 13 Till I come, give heed to reading, to exhortation, to teaching.
- 14 Neglect not the gift that was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the elderhood.
- 15 Bestow care on these things; be wholly in them; that thy progress may be manifest to all.

- 16 Give heed to thyself and to the teaching; continue in them; for, doing this, thou shalt save both thyself and those that hear thee.

1 TIMOTHY 5 JND

- 1 Rebuke not an elder sharply, but exhort [him] as a father, younger [men] as brethren,
- 2 elder women as mothers, younger women as sisters, with all purity.
- 3 Honour widows who are really widows;
- 4 but if any widow have children or descendants, let them learn first to be pious as regards their own house, and to render a return on their side to [their] parents; for this is acceptable in the sight of God.
- 5 Now she who [is] a widow indeed, and is left alone, has put [her] hope in God, and continues in supplications and prayers night and day.
- 6 But she that lives in habits of self-indulgence is dead [while] living.
- 7 And these things enjoin, that they may be irreproachable.
- 8 But if any one does not provide for his own, and specially for those of [his] house, he has denied the faith, and is worse than the unbeliever.
- 9 Let a widow be put upon the list, being of not less than sixty years, [having been] wife of one man,
- 10 borne witness to in good works, if she have brought up children, if she have exercised hospitality, if she have washed saints' feet, if she have imparted relief to the distressed, if she have diligently followed every good work.
- 11 But younger widows decline; for when they grow wanton against Christ, they desire to marry,
- 12 being guilty, because they have cast off their first faith.
- 13 And, at the same time, they learn also [to be] idle, going about to people's houses; and not only idle, but also gossipers and meddlers, speaking things not becoming.
- 14 I will therefore that the younger marry, bear children, rule the house, give no occasion to the adversary in respect of reproach.
- 15 For already some have turned aside after Satan.
- 16 If any believing man or woman have widows, let them impart relief to them, and let not the assembly be charged, that it may impart relief to those [that are] widows indeed.
- 17 Let the elders who take the lead [among the saints] well be esteemed worthy of double honour, specially those labouring in word and teaching;
- 18 for the scripture says, Thou shalt not muzzle an ox that treadeth out corn, and, The workman [is] worthy of his hire.
- 19 Against an elder receive not an accusation unless where there are two or three witnesses.
- 20 Those that sin convict before all, that the rest also may have fear.
- 21 I testify before God and Christ Jesus and the elect angels, that thou keep these things without prejudice, doing nothing by favour.

- 16 Take heed to thyself and the teaching; continue in them; for in doing this thou shalt save thyself and those that hear thee.

1 TIMOTHY 5 WK

- 1 Reprimand not an elder, but exhort [him] as father, younger men as brethren,
- 2 elder women as mothers, younger women as sisters in all purity.
- 3 Honour widows that are widows indeed;
- 4 but if any widow hath children or descendants, let them learn first to shew piety toward their own house and render requital to their parents; for this is [^] acceptable in the sight of God.
- 5 Now she that is a widow indeed, and left desolate, hath set her hope on God and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.
- 6 But she that devoteth herself to pleasure is dead while living.
- 7 And these things charge that they may be irreproachable.
- 8 But if one doth not provide for his own and especially his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an unbeliever.
- 9 Let a widow be enrolled not less than sixty years old, [^] wife of one man,
- 10 witnessed of in good works, if she reared children, if she entertained strangers, if she washed saints' feet, if she relieved afflicted [persons], if she followed up every good work.
- 11 But younger widows refuse; for when they wax wanton against Christ, they desire to marry,
- 12 having as accusation that they slighted their first faith.
- 13 And withal they learn also [to be] idle, going about the houses; and not only idle but also tattlers and busy-bodies, speaking things that are not fitting.
- 14 I wish therefore that the younger [^] marry, bear children, rule the house, give none occasion to the adversary for railing;
- 15 for already have some been turned aside after Satan.
- 16 If any believing [man or] woman hath widows, let [such an one] relieve them, and let not the assembly be burdened, that it may relieve those that are really widows.
- 17 Let the elders that preside well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they that labour in word and teaching.
- 18 For the scripture saith, An ox when treading out corn thou shalt not muzzle, and Worthy [is] the workman of his hire.
- 19 Against an elder receive not an accusation except at [the mouth of] two or three witnesses.
- 20 [^] Those that sin rebuke [or rather, convict] before all that the rest also may have fear.
- 21 I testify [or charge thee] before [^] God and Christ Jesus and the elect angels that thou keep these things apart from prejudice, doing nothing according to partiality.

1 Timothy

- 22 Lay hands quickly on no man, nor partake in others' sins. Keep thyself pure.
- 23 Drink no longer only water, but use a little wine on account of thy stomach and thy frequent illnesses.
- 24 Of some men the sins are manifest beforehand, going before to judgment, and some also they follow after.
- 25 In like manner good works also are manifest beforehand, and those that are otherwise cannot be hid.

1 TIMOTHY 6 JND

- 1 Let as many bondmen as are under yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and the teaching be not blasphemed.
- 2 And they that have believing masters, let them not despise [them] because they are brethren; but let them the rather serve them with subjection, because they are faithful and beloved, who profit by the good and ready service [rendered]. These things teach and exhort.
- 3 If any one teach differently, and do not accede to sound words, those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the teaching which [is] according to piety,
- 4 he is puffed up, knowing nothing, but sick about questions and disputes of words, out of which arise envy, strife, injurious words, evil suspicions,
- 5 constant quarrellings of men corrupted in mind and destitute of the truth, holding gain to be [the end of] piety.
- 6 But piety with contentment is great gain.
- 7 For we have brought nothing into the world: [it is] [manifest] that neither can we carry anything out.
- 8 But having sustenance and covering, we will be content with these.
- 9 But those who desire to be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and many unwise and hurtful lusts, which plunge men into destruction and ruin.
- 10 For the love of money is [the] root of every evil; which some having aspired after, have wandered from the faith, and pierced themselves with many sorrows.
- 11 But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and pursue righteousness, piety, faith, love, endurance, meekness of spirit.
- 12 Strive earnestly [in] the good conflict of faith. Lay hold of eternal life, to which thou hast been called, and hast confessed the good confession before many witnesses.
- 13 I enjoin thee before God who preserves all things in life, and Christ Jesus who witnessed before Pontius Pilate the good confession,
- 14 that thou keep the commandment spotless, irreproachable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 15 which in its own time the blessed and only Ruler shall shew, the King of those that reign, and Lord of those that exercise lordship;
- 16 who only has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light; whom no man has seen, nor is able to see; to whom [be] honour and eternal might. Amen.

- 22 Lay hands quickly on no one, neither be a partaker in others' sins; keep thyself pure.
- 23 Be no longer a water-drinker, but use a little wine on account of thy stomach and thy frequent illnesses.
- 24 Of some men the sins are openly manifest, going before unto judgment, and some also they follow after;
- 25 and likewise also the good works are openly manifest, and those that are otherwise cannot be hid.

1 TIMOTHY 6 WK

- 1 Let as many as are bondmen under yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and the teaching be not reviled.
- 2 And they that have believing masters let them not despise [them] because they are brethren, but the more let them serve, because they that partake of the good service are faithful and beloved. [^] These things teach and exhort.
- 3 If anyone teach differently, and accede not to sound words, those of our Lord Jesus Christ and the teaching that is according to piety,
- 4 he is puffed up, knowing nothing, but sick about questionings and word-disputes, out of which cometh envy, strife, revilings, evil suspicions,
- 5 wranglings of men corrupted in mind and bereft of the truth, supposing that piety is gain. [^]
- 6 But piety with contentment is great gain.
- 7 For [^] we brought nothing into the world; because neither can we carry anything out.
- 8 But having food and covering we shall be therewith satisfied.
- 9 But those that wish to be rich fall into temptation and a snare [^], and many unwise and hurtful lusts, such as sink men into destruction and perdition.
- 10 For a root of all evils is the love of money, which some eagerly seeking were led astray from the faith and pierced themselves through with many pains.
- 11 But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and pursue righteousness, piety [godliness], faith, love, endurance, meekness of spirit.
- 12 Combat the good combat of faith; lay hold on the life eternal whereunto thou wast [^] called, and didst confess the good confession in the sight of many witnesses.
- 13 I charge thee in the sight of the God that keepeth all things alive, and Christ Jesus that witnessed before Pontius Pilate the good confession,
- 14 that thou keep the commandment spotless, irreproachable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 15 which in its own times shall show the blessed and only Potentate, the King of those that reign and Lord of those that exercise lordship;
- 16 Who only hath immortality, dwelling in light unapproachable, Whom none of men saw nor can see; to Whom [be] honour and might eternal. Amen.

- 17 Enjoin on those rich in the present age not to be highminded, nor to trust on the uncertainty of riches; but in the God who affords us all things richly for [our] enjoyment;
- 18 to do good, to be rich in good works, to be liberal in distributing, disposed to communicate [of their substance],
- 19 laying by for themselves a good foundation for the future, that they may lay hold of [what is] really life.
- 20 O Timotheus, keep the entrusted deposit, avoiding profane, vain babblings, and oppositions of false-named knowledge,
- 21 of which some having made profession, have missed the faith. Grace [be] with thee.

- 17 Those rich in the present age charge not to be highminded, nor to set their hope on uncertainty of riches, but on the ^Λ God that affordeth us all things richly for enjoyment;
- 18 to do good, to be rich in good works, to be liberal in distributing, ready to communicate,
- 19 laying up for themselves a good foundation for the future, that they may lay hold on the real life.
- 20 O Timothy, keep the deposit, turning away from the profane babblings and oppositions of the falsely-named knowledge,
- 21 in professing which some missed the mark concerning the faith. Grace [be] with you.

2 Timothy

2 TIMOTHY 1 JND

- 1 Paul, apostle of Jesus Christ by God's will, according to promise of life, the [life] which [is] in Christ Jesus,
- 2 to Timotheus, [my] beloved child: grace, mercy, peace, from God [the] Father, and Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 3 I am thankful to God, whom I serve from [my] forefathers with pure conscience, how unceasingly I have the remembrance of thee in my supplications night and day, earnestly desiring to see thee, remembering thy tears, that I may be filled with joy;
- 5 calling to mind the unfeigned faith which [has been] in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and I am persuaded that in thee also.
- 6 For which cause I put thee in mind to rekindle the gift of God which is in thee by the putting on of my hands.
- 7 For God has not given us a spirit of cowardice, but of power, and of love, and of wise discretion.
- 8 Be not therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner; but suffer evil along with the glad tidings, according to the power of God;
- 9 who has saved us, and has called us with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to [his] own purpose and grace, which [was] given to us in Christ Jesus before [the] ages of time,
- 10 but has been made manifest now by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who has annulled death, and brought to light life and incorruptibility by the glad tidings;
- 11 to which I have been appointed a herald and apostle and teacher of [the] nations.
- 12 For which cause also I suffer these things; but I am not ashamed; for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep for that day the deposit I have entrusted to him.
- 13 Have an outline of sound words, which [words] thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which [are] in Christ Jesus.
- 14 Keep, by the Holy Ghost which dwells in us, the good deposit entrusted.
- 15 Thou knowest this, that all who [are] in Asia, of whom is Phygellus and Hermogenes, have turned away from me.
- 16 The Lord grant mercy to the house of Onesiphorus, for he has often refreshed me, and has not been ashamed of my chain;
- 17 but being in Rome sought me out very diligently, and found [me]
- 18 — the Lord grant to him to find mercy from [the] Lord in that day — and how much service he rendered in Ephesus thou knowest best.

2 TIMOTHY 2 JND

- 1 Thou therefore, my child, be strong in the grace which [is] in Christ Jesus.
- 2 And the things thou hast heard of me in the presence of many witnesses, these entrust to faithful men, such as shall be competent to instruct others also.

2 TIMOTHY 1 WK

- 1 Paul, apostle of Christ Jesus, by God's will according to promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,
- 2 to Timotheus [my] beloved child: Grace, mercy, peace, from God [the] Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.
- 3 I thank God Whom I serve from [my] forefathers in a pure conscience, how unceasingly I have the remembrance of thee in my supplications,
- 4 night and day longing to see thee, remembering thy tears, that I may be filled with joy,
- 5 calling to mind the unfeigned faith that [is] in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice, and, I am persuaded, in thee also.
- 6 For which cause I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of my hands.
- 7 For God gave us not a spirit of cowardice, but of power, and love, and sobriety of mind.
- 8 Be not ashamed therefore of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me His prisoner; but suffer hardship with the gospel, according to the power of God,
- 9 Who saved us, and called [us] with a holy calling, not according to our works, but according to His purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before times everlasting,
- 10 but hath now been manifested by the appearing of our Saviour Christ Jesus, Who abolished death, and brought life and incorruption to light through the gospel,
- 11 whereunto I was appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher [of Gentiles].
- 12 For which cause also I suffer these things; yet I am not ashamed; for I know Whom I have believed; and I am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have entrusted [or, my deposit] against that day.
- 13 Have an outline of sound words, which [words] thou heardest from me, in faith and love which are in Christ Jesus.
- 14 The good thing entrusted [or, the good deposit] keep through [the] Holy Spirit that dwelleth in us.
- 15 Thou knowest this, that all that are in Asia turned away from me; of whom is Phygellus and Hermogenes.
- 16 The Lord grant mercy to the house of Onesiphorus; for he often refreshed me and was not ashamed of my chain;
- 17 but being in Rome he sought me out diligently and found [me];
- 18 (the Lord grant him to find mercy from [the] Lord in that day.) And in how many things he ministered at Ephesus thou knowest very well.

2 TIMOTHY 2 WK

- 1 Thou therefore, my child, be strengthened in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.
- 2 And the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses, commit these to faithful men, such as shall be able to teach others also.

- 3 Take thy share in suffering as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.
- 4 No one going as a soldier entangles himself with the affairs of life, that he may please him who has enlisted him as a soldier.
- 5 And if also any one contend [in the games], he is not crowned unless he contend lawfully.
- 6 The husbandman must labour before partaking of the fruits.
- 7 Think of what I say, for the Lord will give thee understanding in all things.
- 8 Remember Jesus Christ raised from among [the] dead, of [the] seed of David, according to my glad tidings,
- 9 in which I suffer even unto bonds as an evildoer: but the word of God is not bound.
- 10 For this cause I endure all things for the sake of the elect, that they also may obtain the salvation which [is] in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.
- 11 The word [is] faithful; for if we have died together with [him], we shall also live together;
- 12 if we endure, we shall also reign together; if we deny he also will deny us;
- 13 if we are unfaithful, he abides faithful, for he cannot deny himself.
- 14 Of these things put in remembrance, testifying earnestly before the Lord not to have disputes of words, profitable for nothing, to the subversion of the hearers.
- 15 Strive diligently to present thyself approved to God, a workman that has not to be ashamed, cutting in a straight line the word of truth.
- 16 But profane vain babblings shun, for they will advance to greater impiety,
- 17 and their word will spread as a gangrene; of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus;
- 18 [men] who as to the truth have gone astray, saying that the resurrection has taken place already; and overthrow the faith of some.
- 19 Yet the firm foundation of God stands, having this seal, [The] Lord knows those that are his; and, Let every one who names the name of [the] Lord withdraw from iniquity.
- 20 But in a great house there are not only gold and silver vessels, but also wooden and earthen; and some to honour, and some to dishonour.
- 21 If therefore one shall have purified himself from these in separating himself from them, he shall be a vessel to honour, sanctified, serviceable to the Master, prepared for every good work.
- 22 But youthful lusts flee, and pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace, with those that call upon the Lord out of a pure heart.
- 23 But foolish and senseless questionings avoid, knowing that they beget contentions.
- 24 And a bondman of [the] Lord ought not to contend, but be gentle towards all; apt to teach; forbearing;
- 3 [^] Take thy share [^] of suffering hardship as a good soldier of Christ Jesus.
- 4 No one on service entangleth himself with the businesses of life, that he may please him that enlisted [him].
- 5 But if one also contend [in the games], he is not crowned unless he have contended lawfully.
- 6 The labouring husbandman must first partake of the fruits.
- 7 Apprehend what I say; for the Lord shall give thee understanding in all things.
- 8 Remember Jesus Christ raised out of [the] dead, of David's seed, according to my gospel,
- 9 in which I suffer unto bonds as an evil-doer; but the word of God is not bound.
- 10 For this cause I endure all things for the sake of the elect, that they also may obtain salvation, that [is] in Christ Jesus, with eternal glory.
- 11 Faithful [is] the word: for if we died together with [Him], we shall also live together;
- 12 if we endure, we shall also reign together; if we shall deny [Him], He also will deny us;
- 13 if we are unfaithful, He abideth faithful, for He cannot deny Himself.
- 14 Of these things put in remembrance, testifying earnestly before the Lord that they fight not about words, to no profit, for subversion of those that hear.
- 15 Be diligent to present thyself approved to God, a workman not to be ashamed, cutting straightly the word of truth.
- 16 But shun profane babblings, for they will advance unto greater ungodliness,
- 17 and their word will eat up as a gangrene: of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus,
- 18 [men] who concerning the truth went astray, saying that the resurrection hath already taken place, and overthrow the faith of some.
- 19 Nevertheless the firm foundation of God standeth, having this seal, [The] Lord knoweth those that are His; and, Let every one that nameth the name of [the] Lord depart from unrighteousness.
- 20 Now in a great house there are vessels not only of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earthenware, and some unto honour, and some unto dishonour.
- 21 If one therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, [^] serviceable for the master, prepared unto every good work.
- 22 But flee youthful lusts, and follow after righteousness, faith, love, peace, [^] with [^] those that call on the Lord out of a pure heart.
- 23 But [^] foolish and ignorant questionings avoid, knowing that they beget contentions.
- 24 And a bondman of [the] Lord must not contend, but be gentle towards all, apt to teach, forbearing,

2 Timothy

- 25 in meekness setting right those who oppose, if God perhaps may sometime give them repentance to acknowledgment of [the] truth,
26 and that they may awake up out of the snare of the devil, [who are] taken by him, for his will.

2 TIMOTHY 3 JND

- 1 But this know, that in [the] last days difficult times shall be there;
2 for men shall be lovers of self, lovers of money, boastful, arrogant, evil speakers, disobedient to parents, ungrateful, profane,
3 without natural affection, implacable, slanderers, of unsubdued passions, savage, having no love for what is good,
4 traitors, headlong, of vain pretensions, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God;
5 having a form of piety but denying the power of it: and from these turn away.
6 For of these are they who are getting into houses, and leading captive silly women, laden with sins, led by various lusts,
7 always learning, and never able to come to [the] knowledge of [the] truth.
8 Now in the same manner in which Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, thus these also withstand the truth; men corrupted in mind, found worthless as regards the faith.
9 But they shall not advance farther; for their folly shall be completely manifest to all, as that of those also became.
10 But thou hast been thoroughly acquainted with my teaching, conduct, purpose, faith, longsuffering, love, endurance,
11 persecutions, sufferings: what [sufferings] happened to me in Antioch, in Iconium, in Lystra; what persecutions I endured; and the Lord delivered me out of all.
12 And all indeed who desire to live piously in Christ Jesus will be persecuted.
13 But wicked men and juggling impostors shall advance in evil, leading and being led astray.
14 But thou abide in those things which thou hast learned, and [of which] thou hast been fully persuaded, knowing of whom thou hast learned [them];
15 and that from a child thou hast known the sacred letters, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation, through faith which [is] in Christ Jesus.
16 Every scripture [is] divinely inspired, and profitable for teaching, for conviction, for correction, for instruction in righteousness;
17 that the man of God may be complete, fully fitted to every good work.

2 TIMOTHY 4 JND

- 1 I testify before God and Christ Jesus, who is about to judge living and dead, and by his appearing and his kingdom,

- 25 in meekness instructing those that oppose, if haply God may give them repentance unto acknowledgment of [^] truth,
26 and they may wake up out of the snare of the devil, taken as they are by him, for His will.

2 TIMOTHY 3 WK

- 1 But this know, that in [the] last days grievous times shall be there.
2 For men shall be lovers of self, lovers of money, boastful, haughty, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,
3 without natural affection, implacable, slanderers, uncontrolled, fierce, haters of good,
4 traitors, headstrong, puffed up, pleasure-lovers rather than God-lovers,
5 having a form of piety [godliness], but having denied the power thereof; and from these turn away.
6 For of these are they that enter into houses and lead captive [^] silly women, laden with sins, led by various lusts,
7 always learning and never able to come unto knowledge of truth.
8 And in the manner that Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also withstand the truth, men corrupted in mind, reprobate concerning the faith.
9 But they shall not advance farther; for their folly shall be very manifest to all, as theirs also became.
10 But thou hast followed closely my teaching, course, purpose, faith, long-suffering, love, patience,
11 persecutions, sufferings; what things befell me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured, and out of all the Lord delivered me.
12 Yea, and all that desire to live piously in Christ Jesus shall be persecuted.
13 But wicked men and impostors shall advance for the worse, deceiving and being deceived.
14 But abide thou in those things which thou didst learn and wast persuaded of, knowing of whom thou didst learn [them];
15 and that from a babe thou knowest the sacred writings that are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith that is in Christ Jesus.
16 Every scripture [is] God-inspired, and profitable for teaching, for conviction, for correction, for instruction that is in righteousness;
17 that the man of God may be complete, furnished thoroughly unto every good work.

2 TIMOTHY 4 WK

- 1 [^] I testify earnestly [or, charge] before God and Christ Jesus [^] that is about to judge living and dead, and by His appearing and His kingdom:

- 2 proclaim the word; be urgent in season [and] out of season, convict, rebuke, encourage, with all longsuffering and doctrine.
- 3 For the time shall be when they will not bear sound teaching; but according to their own lusts will heap up to themselves teachers, having an itching ear;
- 4 and they will turn away their ear from the truth, and will have turned aside to fables.
- 5 But thou, be sober in all things, bear evils, do [the] work of an evangelist, fill up the full measure of thy ministry.
- 6 For I am already being poured out, and the time of my release is come.
- 7 I have combated the good combat, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith.
- 8 Henceforth the crown of righteousness is laid up for me, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will render to me in that day; but not only to me, but also to all who love his appearing.
- 9 Use diligence to come to me quickly;
- 10 for Demas has forsaken me, having loved the present age, and is gone to Thessalonica; Cresces to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia.
- 11 Luke alone is with me. Take Mark, and bring [him] with thyself, for he is serviceable to me for ministry.
- 12 But Tychicus I have sent to Ephesus.
- 13 The cloak which I left behind [me] in Troas at Carpus's, bring when thou comest, and the books, especially the parchments.
- 14 Alexander the smith did many evil things against me. The Lord will render to him according to his works.
- 15 Against whom be thou also on thy guard, for he has greatly withstood our words.
- 16 At my first defence no man stood with me, but all deserted me. May it not be imputed to them.
- 17 But the Lord stood with [me], and gave me power, that through me the proclamation might be fully made, and all [those of] the nations should hear; and I was delivered out of the lion's mouth.
- 18 The Lord shall deliver me from every wicked work, and shall preserve [me] for his heavenly kingdom; to whom [be] glory for the ages of ages. Amen.
- 19 Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the house of Onisephorus.
- 20 Erastus remained in Corinth, but Trophimus I left behind in Miletus sick.
- 21 Use diligence to come before winter. Eubulus salutes thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and the brethren all.
- 22 The Lord Jesus Christ [be] with your spirit. Grace [be] with you.
- 2 preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; convict, rebuke, encourage with all long-suffering and doctrine.
- 3 For the time will be when they will not endure sound teaching; but according to their own lusts they will heap up to themselves teachers, having an itching ear;
- 4 and from the truth they will turn away their ear, and will be turned aside unto fables.
- 5 But be thou sober in all things, suffer hardship [evils], do an evangelist's work, fully perform thy ministry.
- 6 For I am already being poured out, and the time of my departure is all but come.
- 7 The good combat I have combated, the course I have finished, the faith I have kept:
- 8 henceforth is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will award to me in that day; and not to me only, but also to all those that love His appearing.
- 9 Use diligence to come unto me quickly;
- 10 for Demas, having loved the present age, forsook me and went unto Thessalonica; Crescens unto Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.
- 11 Luke alone is with me. Take up and bring Mark with thee, for he is useful to me for ministry.
- 12 But Tychicus I sent unto Ephesus.
- 13 The cloak which I left behind in Troas with Carpus bring when thou comest, and the books, especially the parchments.
- 14 Alexander, the coppersmith, did [lit. shewed] many evil things against me: the Lord will render to him according to his works;
- 15 of whom be thou ware also, for he exceedingly withstood our words.
- 16 At my first defence no one took my part, but all deserted me: may it not be laid to their account.
- 17 But the Lord stood by me and gave me power, that through me the proclamation might be fully made, and all the Gentiles might hear; and I was delivered out of a lion's mouth.
- 18 ^ The Lord will deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve for His heavenly kingdom; to Whom [be] the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 19 Salute Prisca and Aquila and the house of Onesiphorus.
- 20 Erastus remained at Corinth, but Trophimus I left at Miletus sick.
- 21 Do thy diligence to come before winter. Eubulus saluteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.
- 22 The Lord [Jesus Christ be] with thy spirit. Grace be with you.

TITUS 1 JND

- 1 Paul, bondman of God, and apostle of Jesus Christ according to [the] faith of God's elect, and knowledge of [the] truth which [is] according to piety;
- 2 in [the] hope of eternal life, which God, who cannot lie, promised before the ages of time,
- 3 but has manifested in its own due season his word in [the] proclamation with which I have been entrusted according to [the] commandment of our Saviour God;
- 4 to Titus, my own child according to [the] faith common [to us]: Grace and peace from God [the] Father, and Christ Jesus our Saviour.
- 5 For this cause I left thee in Crete, that thou mightest go on to set right what remained [unordered], and establish elders in each city, as I had ordered thee:
- 6 if any one be free from all charge [against him], husband of one wife, having believing children not accused of excess or unruly.
- 7 For the overseer must be free from all charge [against him] as God's steward; not headstrong, not passionate, not disorderly through wine, not a striker, not seeking gain by base means;
- 8 but hospitable, a lover of goodness, discreet, just, pious, temperate,
- 9 clinging to the faithful word according to the doctrine taught, that he may be able both to encourage with sound teaching and refute gainsayers.
- 10 For there are many and disorderly vain speakers and deceivers of people's minds, specially those of [the] circumcision,
- 11 who must have their mouths stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which ought not [to be taught] for the sake of base gain.
- 12 One of themselves, a prophet of their own, has said, Cretans are always liars, evil wild beasts, lazy gluttons.
- 13 This testimony is true; for which cause rebuke them severely, that they may be sound in the faith,
- 14 not turning [their] minds to Jewish fables and commandments of men turning away from the truth.
- 15 All things [are] pure to the pure; but to the defiled and unbelieving nothing [is] pure; but both their mind and their conscience are defiled.
- 16 They profess to know God, but in works deny [him], being abominable, and disobedient, and found worthless as to every good work.

TITUS 2 JND

- 1 But do thou speak the things that become sound teaching;
- 2 that the elder men be sober, grave, discreet, sound in faith, in love, in patience;
- 3 that the elder women in like manner be in deportment as becoming those who have to say to sacred things, not

TITUS 1 WK

- 1 Paul, bondman of God and apostle of Jesus Christ according to faith of God's elect, and full knowledge [or acknowledgment] of truth that is according to piety.
- 2 Upon hope of life eternal which God that cannot lie promised before the times of the ages [or everlasting],
- 3 but manifested in its own seasons His word in a preaching, with which I was entrusted, according to command of our Saviour God.
- 4 To Titus, genuine child according to common faith: grace [^] and peace from God [the] Father and Christ Jesus our Saviour.
- 5 For this cause I left thee in Crete, that thou shouldest order further the things wanting, and appoint elders city by city, as I directed thee.
- 6 If any one is blameless [or, unaccused], husband of one wife, having children faithful, not under charge of profligacy, or unruly.
- 7 For the bishop [or, overseer] must be blameless [or, free from accusation], as God's steward; not self-willed, not passionate, not quarrelsome [lit. remaining over wine], not a striker, not a seeker of base lucre;
- 8 but hospitable, a lover of good, sober-minded, just, holy, temperate,
- 9 holding to the faithful word that is according to the teaching, that he may be able both to encourage in the healthful doctrine, and to convict the gainsayers.
- 10 For there are many [^] unruly ones, vain speakers and deceivers, specially those of [the] circumcision,
- 11 whose mouths must be stopped, who are such as overthrow whole houses, teaching things which they ought not for filthy lucre's sake.
- 12 One of themselves, a prophet of their own, said, 'Cretans [are] always liars, evil beasts, idle bellies' [i.e., gorged gluttons].
- 13 This testimony is true: for which cause rebuke them sharply, that they may be healthful in the faith,
- 14 not giving heed to Jewish fables and commandments of men turning away as they do from the truth.
- 15 To the pure all things [are] pure; but to the defiled and unfaithful [is] nothing pure; but both their mind and their conscience have been defiled.
- 16 They profess to know God; but in works they deny [him], being abominable and disobedient, and for every good work reprobate.

TITUS 2 WK

- 1 But speak thou the things which become the healthful teaching:
- 2 that elder men be sober, grave, discreet, healthful in their faith, in their love, in their patience.
- 3 That aged women likewise be in deportment reverent, not slanderers, not enslaved to much wine, teachers of slanderers, not enslaved to much wine, teachers of what is right;

- 4 that they may admonish the young women to be attached to [their] husbands, to be attached to [their] children,
- 5 discreet, chaste, diligent in home work, good, subject to their own husbands, that the word of God may not be evil spoken of.
- 6 The younger men in like manner exhort to be discreet:
- 7 in all things affording thyself as a pattern of good works; in teaching uncorruptedness, gravity,
- 8 a sound word, not to be condemned; that he who is opposed may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say about us:
- 9 bondmen to be subject to their own masters, to make themselves acceptable in everything; not gainsaying;
- 10 not robbing [their masters], but shewing all good fidelity, that they may adorn the teaching which [is] of our Saviour God in all things.
- 11 For the grace of God which carries with it salvation for all men has appeared,
- 12 teaching us that, having denied impiety and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, and justly, and piously in the present course of things,
- 13 awaiting the blessed hope and appearing of the glory of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ;
- 14 who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all lawlessness, and purify to himself a peculiar people, zealous for good works.
- 15 These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no one despise thee.

TITUS 3 JND

- 1 Put them in mind to be subject to rulers, to authorities, to be obedient to rule, to be ready to do every good work,
- 2 to speak evil of no one, not to be contentious, [to be] mild, shewing all meekness towards all men.
- 3 For we were once ourselves also without intelligence, disobedient, wandering in error, serving various lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, [and] hating one another.
- 4 But when the kindness and love to man of our Saviour God appeared,
- 5 not on the principle of works which [have been done] in righteousness which we had done, but according to his own mercy he saved us through [the] washing of regeneration and renewal of [the] Holy Spirit,
- 6 which he poured out on us richly through Jesus Christ our Saviour;
- 7 that, having been justified by his grace, we should become heirs according to [the] hope of eternal life.
- 8 The word [is] faithful, and I desire that thou insist strenuously on these things, that they who have believed God may take care to pay diligent attention to good works. These things are good and profitable to men.

good;

- 4 that they may train the young women to be lovers of husbands, lovers of children,
- 5 discreet [or, right-minded], chaste, workers at home, good, subject to their own husbands, that the word of God be not ill-spoken of.
- 6 The younger men likewise exhort to be right-minded,
- 7 in all things showing thyself a pattern of good works, in the teaching uncorruptness, gravity, [^]
- 8 healthy speech that cannot be condemned, that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil to say concerning us.
- 9 Bond-servants to be in subjection to their own masters, to be well-pleasing in all things, not gainsaying,
- 10 not purloining, but showing all good fidelity, that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.
- 11 For the grace of God appeared bringing salvation to all men,
- 12 instructing us that, having denied ungodliness [or, impiety] and worldly lusts, we should live soberly [or, discreetly] and righteously and godlily [or, piously] in this present age.
- 13 Looking for the blessed hope and appearing of the glory of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ.
- 14 Who gave Himself for us, that He might redeem us from all lawlessness, and purify to himself a people for his own possession, zealous of good works.
- 15 These things speak, and exhort, and reprove, with all authority. Let no man despise thee.

TITUS 3 WK

- 1 Put them in mind to be in subjection to principalities, [^] to authorities; to obey, to be ready for every good work,
- 2 to speak evil of no one, to be uncontentious, gentle, showing all meekness toward all men.
- 3 [^] For at one time even we were foolish, disobedient, gone [or led] astray, in slavery to divers lusts and pleasures, passing time in malice and envy, abominable, hating one another.
- 4 But when the kindness and the love to man of our Saviour God appeared.

- 7 That, having been justified by His grace, we should become heirs according to hope of eternal life. [^]
- 8 Faithful [is] the saying; and concerning these things I will that thou affirm strongly, in order that those who have believed God may be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable to men;

PHILEMON JND

- 1 Paul, prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timotheus the brother, to Philemon the beloved and our fellow-workman,
- 2 and to the sister Apphia and to Archippus our fellow-soldier, and to the assembly which [is] in thine house.
- 3 Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 4 I thank my God, always making mention of thee at my prayers,
- 5 hearing of thy love and the faith which thou hast towards the Lord Jesus, and towards all the saints,
- 6 in such sort that thy participation in the faith should become operative in the acknowledgment of every good thing which is in us towards Christ [Jesus].
- 7 For we have great thankfulness and encouragement through thy love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed by thee, brother.
- 8 Wherefore having much boldness in Christ to enjoin thee what is fitting,
- 9 for love's sake I rather exhort, being such a one as Paul the aged, and now also prisoner of Jesus Christ.
- 10 I exhort thee for my child, whom I have begotten in [my] bonds, Onesimus,
- 11 once unserviceable to thee, but now serviceable to thee and to me:
- 12 whom I have sent back to thee: [but do thou receive] him, that is, my bowels:
- 13 whom I was desirous of keeping with myself, that for thee he might minister to me in the bonds of the glad tidings;
- 14 but I have wished to do nothing without thy mind, that thy good might not be as of necessity but of willingness:
- 15 for perhaps for this reason he has been separated [from thee] for a time, that thou mightest possess him fully for ever;
- 16 not any longer as a bondman, but above a bondman, a beloved brother, specially to me, and how much rather to thee, both in [the] flesh and in [the] Lord?
- 17 If therefore thou holdest me to be a partner [with thee], receive him as me;
- 18 but if he have wronged thee anything or owe anything [to thee], put this to my account.
- 19 I Paul have written [it] with mine own hand; I will repay [it]: that I say not to thee that thou owest even thine own self also to me.
- 20 Yea, brother, I would have profit of thee in [the] Lord: refresh my bowels in Christ.
- 21 Being confident of thine obedience, I have written to thee, knowing that thou wilt do even more than I say.
- 22 But withal prepare me also a lodging; for I hope that I shall be granted to you through your prayers.
- 23 Epaphras salutes thee, my fellow-prisoner in Christ Jesus;
- 24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, my fellow-workmen.
- 25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with your spirit.

PHILEMON WK

- 1 Paul, prisoner of Christ Jesus, and Timothy the brother, to Philemon our beloved and fellow-worker,
- 2 and to Apphia the sister, and to Archippus our fellow-soldier, and to the assembly in thy house:
- 3 grace to you and peace from God our Father and [the] Lord Jesus Christ.
- 4 I thank my God always making mention of thee in my prayers,
- 5 hearing of thy love and of the faith which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints,
- 6 so that the fellowship of thy faith may become effectual in the acknowledgment of every good thing that is in us toward Christ.
- 7 For we have great joy and encouragement in thy love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed through thee, brother.
- 8 Wherefore, having much boldness to enjoin thee what is befitting,
- 9 for love's sake I rather entreat, being such a one as Paul aged and now also prisoner of Christ Jesus.
- 10 I entreat thee for my child whom I begot in [^] bonds, Onesimus,
- 11 the once unprofitable to thee but now [^] profitable both to thee and to me;
- 12 whom I send back to thee, in person, [^] that is my bowels;
- 13 whom I could wish to have kept with myself, that for thee he might minister to me in the bonds of the gospel.
- 14 But without thy mind I would do nothing, that thy good might not be as of necessity but of willingness.
- 15 For perhaps he was therefore parted for a time that thou mightest have him for ever,
- 16 no longer as a bondman but above a bondman, a brother beloved, specially to me but how much rather to thee, both in [the] flesh and in [the] Lord.
- 17 If then thou countest me a partner, receive him as me.
- 18 But if he wronged thee or oweth thee aught, put this to my account:
- 19 I Paul write with mine own hand, I will repay; that I say not to thee that thou owest to me besides even thine own self.
- 20 Yea, brother, let me have profit of thee in [the] Lord; refresh my bowels in Christ.
- 21 Having confidence of thine obedience I write to thee, knowing that thou wilt do even beyond what I say.
- 22 But withal prepare me also a lodging; for I hope that through your prayers I shall be granted to you.
- 23 Epaphras, my fellow-captive in Christ Jesus, saluteth thee;
- 24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, my fellow-workers.
- 25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

HEBREWS 1 JND

- 1 God having spoken in many parts and in many ways formerly to the fathers in the prophets,
- 2 at the end of these days has spoken to us in [the person of the] Son, whom he has established heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;
- 3 who being [the] effulgence of his glory and [the] expression of his substance, and upholding all things by the word of his power, having made [by himself] the purification of sins, set himself down on the right hand of the greatness on high,
- 4 taking a place by so much better than the angels, as he inherits a name more excellent than they.
- 5 For to which of the angels said he ever, Thou art my Son: this day have I begotten thee? and again, I will be to him for father, and he shall be to me for son?
- 6 and again, when he brings in the firstborn into the habitable world, he says, And let all God's angels worship him.
- 7 And as to the angels he says, Who makes his angels spirits and his ministers a flame of fire;
- 8 but as to the Son, Thy throne, O God, [is] to the age of the age, and a sceptre of uprightness [is] the sceptre of thy kingdom.
- 9 Thou hast loved righteousness and hast hated lawlessness; therefore God, thy God, has anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy companions.
- 10 And, Thou in the beginning, Lord, hast founded the earth, and works of thy hands are the heavens.
- 11 They shall perish, but thou continuest still; and they all shall grow old as a garment,
- 12 and as a covering shalt thou roll them up, and they shall be changed; but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.
- 13 But as to which of the angels said he ever, Sit at my right hand until I put thine enemies [as] footstool of thy feet?
- 14 Are they not all ministering spirits, sent out for service on account of those who shall inherit salvation?

HEBREWS 2 JND

- 1 For this reason we should give heed more abundantly to the things [we have] heard, lest in any way we should slip away.
- 2 For if the word which was spoken by angels was firm, and every transgression and disobedience received just retribution,
- 3 how shall we escape if we have been negligent of so great salvation, which, having had its commencement in being spoken [of] by the Lord, has been confirmed to us by those who have heard;
- 4 God bearing, besides, witness with [them] to [it], both by signs and wonders, and various acts of power, and distributions of [the] Holy Ghost, according to his will?
- 5 For he has not subjected to angels the habitable world which is to come, of which we speak;

HEBREWS 1 WK

- 1 In many measures and in many manners of old God having spoken to the fathers in the prophets
- 2 at [the] end of these days spoke to us in a [or, the] Son, whom he constituted heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;
- 3 who being effulgence of his glory and expression of his substance, and upholding all things by the word of his power, having made [by himself] purification of our sins sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high,
- 4 having become by so much better than the angels as he hath by inheritance a name more excellent than they.
- 5 For to which of the angels did he ever say, My Son art thou: I this day have begotten thee? and again, I will be to him for father, and he shall be to me for Son?
- 6 But again, when he bringeth in the firstborn into the inhabited earth, he saith, And let all God's angels worship him.
- 7 And indeed as to the angels he saith, Who maketh his angels winds and his ministers a flame of fire;
- 8 but as to the Son, Thy throne, O God, [is] for ever and ever [or, unto the age of the age]; a sceptre of righteousness [is] the sceptre of thy kingdom.
- 9 Thou lovedst righteousness and hatedst lawlessness: for this reason, God, thy God, anointed thee with oil of gladness above thy companions.
- 10 And, Thou in the beginning, Lord, foundedst the earth, and the heavens are works of thy hands.
- 11 They shall perish, but thou continuest; and they all shall grow old as a garment,
- 12 and as a covering thou shalt roll them up [^], and they shall be changed; but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.
- 13 But as to which of the angels hath he ever said, Sit at my right hand until I set thine enemies a footstool of thy feet?
- 14 Are they not all ministering spirits sent forth for service on account of those who are about to inherit salvation?

HEBREWS 2 WK

- 1 For this reason we ought to give heed more abundantly to the things heard, lest in any way we should be carried [or, slip] away.
- 2 For if the word spoken by angels was made firm, and every transgression and disobedience received just retribution,
- 3 how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation, which, having begun to be spoken by the Lord, was confirmed unto us by those that heard,
- 4 God joining witness with both signs and wonders, and various powers, and distributions of the Holy Spirit according to his will.
- 5 For not to angels he subjected the inhabited earth that is to come whereof we speak;

- 6 but one has testified somewhere, saying, What is man, that thou rememberest him, or son of man that thou visitest him?
- 7 Thou hast made him some little inferior to the angels; thou hast crowned him with glory and honour, [and hast set him over the works of thy hands;]
- 8 thou hast subjected all things under his feet. For in subjecting all things to him, he has left nothing unsubject to him. But now we see not yet all things subjected to him,
- 9 but we see Jesus, who [was] made some little inferior to angels on account of the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; so that by the grace of God he should taste death for every thing.
- 10 For it became him, for whom [are] all things, and by whom [are] all things, in bringing many sons to glory, to make perfect the leader of their salvation through sufferings.
- 11 For both he that sanctifies and those sanctified [are] all of one; for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren,
- 12 saying, I will declare thy name to my brethren; in [the] midst of [the] assembly will I sing thy praises.
- 13 And again, I will trust in him. And again, Behold, I and the children which God has given me.
- 14 Since therefore the children partake of blood and flesh, he also, in like manner, took part in the same, that through death he might annul him who has the might of death, that is, the devil;
- 15 and might set free all those who through fear of death were subject to bondage.
- 16 For he does not indeed take hold of angels [by the hand], but he takes hold of the seed of Abraham.
- 17 Wherefore it behoved him in all things to be made like to [his] brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things relating to God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people;
- 18 for, in that himself has suffered, being tempted, he is able to help those that are being tempted.

HEBREWS 3 JND

- 1 Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of [the] heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our confession, Jesus,
- 2 who is faithful to him that has constituted him, as Moses also in all his house.
- 3 For he has been counted worthy of greater glory than Moses, by how much he that has built it has more honour than the house.
- 4 For every house is built by some one; but he who has built all things [is] God.
- 5 And Moses indeed [was] faithful in all his house, as a ministering servant, for a testimony of the things to be spoken after;
- 6 but Christ, as Son over his house, whose house are we, if indeed we hold fast the boldness and the boast of hope firm to the end.

- 6 but one somewhere testified, saying, What is man that thou rememberest him? or son of man that thou visitest him?
- 7 Thou madest him some little less than angels; thou crownest him with glory and honour [and didst set him over the works of thy hands];
- 8 thou didst subject all things under his feet. For in subjecting all things to him, he left nothing unsubject to him. But now we see not yet all things subjected to him;
- 9 but we behold Jesus that was made some little less than [^] angels on account of the suffering of death crowned with glory and honour; so that by God's grace he should taste of death for every thing [or, one].
- 10 For it became him for whom [are] all things and by whom [are] all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to perfect through sufferings the leader of their salvation.
- 11 For both he that sanctifieth and those sanctified [are] all of one; for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren, saying,
- 12 I will declare thy name to my brethren, amidst the congregation [or, church] will I sing thy praise.
- 13 And again, I will trust in him; and again, Behold, I and the little children which God gave to me.
- 14 Since then the little children are partakers of blood and flesh, he also in like manner took part of the same, that through death he might annul him that hath the might of death, that is, the devil;
- 15 and might set free all those who through fear of death were through all their life subject to bondage.
- 16 For verily not of angels doth he take hold but of Abraham's seed he taketh hold.
- 17 Wherefore it behoved him in all things to be made like to his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things relating to God, to make propitiation for the sins of the people;
- 18 for in that himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to help those that are tempted.

HEBREWS 3 WK

- 1 Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of a heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our confession, Jesus [^],
- 2 faithful as he was to him that appointed him, as also Moses in all his house.
- 3 For he hath been accounted worthy of more glory than Moses by how much he that built it hath more honour than the house.
- 4 For every house is builded by some one; but he that built all things [is] God.
- 5 And Moses indeed [was] faithful in all his house as an attendant, for a testimony of the things to be spoken,
- 6 but Christ as [^] Son over his house, whose house are we if indeed we hold fast the boldness and the boast of the hope firm unto the end.

- 7 Wherefore, even as says the Holy Spirit, To-day if ye will hear his voice,
- 8 harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness;
- 9 where your fathers tempted [me], by proving [me], and saw my works forty years.
- 10 Wherefore I was wroth with this generation, and said, They always err in heart; and they have not known my ways;
- 11 so I swore in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.
- 12 See, brethren, lest there be in any one of you a wicked heart of unbelief, in turning away from [the] living God.
- 13 But encourage yourselves each day, as long as it is called To-day, that none of you be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin.
- 14 For we are become companions of the Christ if indeed we hold the beginning of the assurance firm to the end;
- 15 in that it is said, To-day if ye will hear his voice, do not harden your hearts, as in the provocation;
- 16 (for who was it, who, having heard, provoked? but [was it] not all who came out of Egypt by Moses?)
- 17 And with whom was he wroth forty years? [Was it] not with those who had sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?
- 18 And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but to those who had not hearkened to the word?
- 19 And we see that they could not enter in on account of unbelief;)

HEBREWS 4 JND

- 1 Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left of entering into his rest, any one of you might seem to have failed [of it].
- 2 For indeed we have had glad tidings presented to us, even as they also; but the word of the report did not profit them, not being mixed with faith in those who heard.
- 3 For we enter into the rest who have believed; as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest; although the works had been completed from [the] foundation of [the] world.
- 4 For he has said somewhere of the seventh [day] thus, And God rested on the seventh day from all his works:
- 5 and in this again, If they shall enter into my rest.
- 6 Seeing therefore it remains that some enter into it, and those who first received the glad tidings did not enter in on account of not hearkening to the word,
- 7 again he determines a certain day, saying, in David, To-day, after so long a time; (according as it has been said before), To-day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.
- 8 For if Jesus had brought them into rest, he would not have spoken afterwards about another day.
- 9 There remains then a sabbatism to the people of God.

- 7 Wherefor even as the Holy Spirit saith, To-day, if ye will hear his voice,
- 8 harden not your hearts as in the provocation, through the day of temptation in the wilderness
- 9 when your fathers tempted [me], proved [me], and saw my works forty years.
- 10 Wherefore I was wroth with this generation and said, They always err in their heart, and they knew not my ways:
- 11 as I swore in my wrath, If they shall [or, They shall not] enter into my rest.
- 12 See, brethren, lest haply there shall be in any one of you a wicked heart of unbelief in falling away from a living God.
- 13 But encourage yourselves each day while it is called To-day, that none of you be hardened by [the] deceitfulness of sin.
- 14 For we are become companions of Christ if indeed we hold fast the beginning of the confidence firm unto the end.
- 15 In that it is said, To-day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts as in the provocation.
- 16 For who having heard provoked? But did not all that came out of Egypt by Moses?
- 17 And with whom was he wroth forty years? [Was it] not with those that sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?
- 18 And to whom swore he that they should not enter into his rest but to those that disobeyed?
- 19 And we see that they could not enter in on account of unbelief.

HEBREWS 4 WK

- 1 Let us therefore fear lest haply, a promise being left of entering into his rest, any one of you might seem to have failed [or, come short] of it.
- 2 For indeed we have had glad tidings presented to us, just as they also; but the word of the report did not profit them, not having been mixed with faith in those that heard.
- 3 For we that believed enter into the rest, even as he hath said, As I swore in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest, although the works were done from the world's foundation.
- 4 For he hath said somewhere of the seventh [day] thus, And God rested on the seventh day from all his works;
- 5 and in this again, If they shall enter into my rest.
- 6 Since therefore it remaineth that some enter into it, and those who first had the glad tidings entered not on account of disobedience,
- 7 again he determineth a certain day, saying in David, To-day after so long a time, even as it hath been said before, To-day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.
- 8 For if Joshua [or, Jesus] had given them rest, he would not have spoken afterward of another day.
- 9 There remaineth therefore a sabbatism for the people of God.

- 10 For he that has entered into his rest, he also has rested from his works, as God did from his own.
- 11 Let us therefore use diligence to enter into that rest, that no one may fall after the same example of not hearkening to the word.
- 12 For the word of God [is] living and operative, and sharper than any two-edged sword, and penetrating to [the] division of soul and spirit, both of joints and marrow, and a discernor of the thoughts and intents of [the] heart.
- 13 And there is not a creature unapparent before him; but all things [are] naked and laid bare to his eyes, with whom we have to do.
- 14 Having therefore a great high priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast the confession.
- 15 For we have not a high priest not able to sympathize with our infirmities, but tempted in all things in like manner, sin apart.
- 16 Let us approach therefore with boldness to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy, and find grace for seasonable help.

HEBREWS 5 JND

- 1 For every high priest taken from amongst men is established for men in things relating to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins;
- 2 being able to exercise forbearance towards the ignorant and erring, since he himself also is clothed with infirmity;
- 3 and, on account of this [infirmity], he ought, even as for the people, so also for himself, to offer for sins.
- 4 And no one takes the honour to himself but [as] called by God, even as Aaron also.
- 5 Thus the Christ also has not glorified himself to be made a high priest; but he who had said to him, Thou art my Son, I have to-day begotten thee.
- 6 Even as also in another [place] he says, Thou [art] a priest for ever according to the order of Melchisedec.
- 7 Who in the days of his flesh, having offered up both supplications and entreaties to him who was able to save him out of death, with strong crying and tears; (and having been heard because of his piety;)
- 8 though he were Son, he learned obedience from the things which he suffered;
- 9 and having been perfected, became to all them that obey him, author of eternal salvation;
- 10 addressed by God [as] high priest according to the order of Melchisedec.
- 11 Concerning whom we have much to say, and hard to be interpreted in speaking [of it], since ye are become dull in hearing.
- 12 For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have again need that [one] should teach you what [are] the elements of the beginning of the oracles of God, and are become such as have need of milk, [and] not of solid food.

- 10 For he that entered into his rest himself also rested from his works as God from his own.
- 11 Let us therefore use diligence to enter into that rest that no one fall in [or, after] the same example of disobedience.
- 12 For living [is] the word of God, and effectual, and sharper than any two-edged sword, and piercing even to division of soul and spirit, of both joints and marrow, and able to judge heart's thoughts and intents.
- 13 And not a creature is unmanifest in his sight; but all things [are] naked and laid bare to his eyes with whom [is] our account.
- 14 Having therefore a great high priest, passed as he hath through the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast the [or, our] confession.
- 15 For we have not a high priest unable to sympathise with our infirmities, but tempted as he hath been in all things alike [^] apart from sin.
- 16 Let us approach therefore with boldness to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy, and find grace for seasonable help.

HEBREWS 5 WK

- 1 For every high priest taken from among men is constituted for men in things relating to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins;
- 2 being able to forbear with the ignorant and erring, since himself also is compassed with infirmity;
- 3 and on account of this he ought, even as for the people, so also for himself to offer for sins.
- 4 And no one taketh the honour to himself but [^] called by God, just as Aaron also.
- 5 So the Christ also glorified not himself to be made high priest; but he that spoke unto him, My Son art thou: I to-day have begotten thee;
- 6 even as also in another [place] he saith, Thou [art] priest for ever according to the order of Melchizedek;
- 7 who in the days of his flesh having offered up both supplications and entreaties to him that was able to save him out of death, with strong crying and tears, and having been heard because of his godly fear,
- 8 though being [^] Son, he learned obedience from the things which he suffered,
- 9 and, perfected, he became to all those that obey him [^] author of salvation everlasting,
- 10 addressed by God high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.
- 11 Of whom we have much to say and hard to be interpreted in speaking,
- 12 since ye have become dull of hearing. For when on account of the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need again that some one teach you the elements of the beginning of the oracles of God, and have become such as have need of milk, not of solid food.

- 13 For every one that partakes of milk [is] unskilled in the word of righteousness, for he is a babe;
- 14 but solid food belongs to full-grown men, who, on account of habit, have their senses exercised for distinguishing both good and evil.

HEBREWS 6 JND

- 1 Wherefore, leaving the word of the beginning of the Christ, let us go on [to what belongs] to full growth, not laying again a foundation of repentance from dead works and faith in God,
- 2 of [the] doctrine of washings, and of imposition of hands, and of resurrection of [the] dead, and of eternal judgment;
- 3 and this will we do if God permit.
- 4 For it is impossible to renew again to repentance those once enlightened, and who have tasted of the heavenly gift, and have been made partakers of [the] Holy Spirit,
- 5 and have tasted the good word of God, and [the] works of power of [the] age to come,
- 6 and have fallen away, crucifying for themselves [as they do] the Son of God, and making a show of [him].
- 7 For ground which drinks the rain which comes often upon it, and produces useful herbs for those for whose sakes also it is tilled, partakes of blessing from God;
- 8 but bringing forth thorns and briars it is found worthless and nigh to a curse, whose end [is] to be burned.
- 9 But we are persuaded concerning you, beloved, better things, and connected with salvation, even if we speak thus.
- 10 For God [is] not unrighteous to forget your work, and the love which ye have shewn to his name, having ministered to the saints, and [still] ministering.
- 11 But we desire earnestly that each one of you shew the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end;
- 12 that ye be not sluggish, but imitators of those who through faith and patience have been inheritors of the promises.
- 13 For God, having promised to Abraham, since he had no greater to swear by, swore by himself,
- 14 saying, Surely blessing I will bless thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee;
- 15 and thus having had long patience he got the promise.
- 16 For men indeed swear by a greater, and with them the oath is a term to all dispute, as making matters sure.
- 17 Wherein God, willing to shew more abundantly to the heirs of the promise the unchangeableness of his purpose,
- 18 intervened by an oath, that by two unchangeable things, in which [it was] impossible that God should lie, we might have a strong encouragement who have fled for refuge to lay hold on the hope set before us,
- 19 which we have as anchor of the soul, both secure and firm, and entering into that within the veil,
- 20 where Jesus is entered as forerunner for us, become for ever a high priest according to the order of Melchisedec.

HEBREWS 7 JND

- 13 For every one that partaketh of milk [is] unskilled in the word of righteousness; for he is an infant.
- 14 But solid food belongeth to perfect [or, full-grown], those that on account of habit have their senses exercised for distinguishing both good and evil.

HEBREWS 6 WK

- 1 Wherefore leaving the word of the beginning of the Christ, let us go on to perfection [or, full growth], not laying again a foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith Godward,
- 2 of teaching of washings, and of imposition of hands, and of resurrection of dead [men], and of judgment everlasting;
- 3 and this will we do if God permit.
- 4 For [it is] impossible to renew again unto repentance those that were once enlightened
- 5 and tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Spirit and tasted God's good word, and powers of an age to come,
- 6 and have fallen away, while for themselves crucifying and making a show of the Son of God.
- 7 For ground [or, land] that drank the rain coming oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for those for whose sake also it is tilled, participateth in blessing from God;
- 8 but if bringing forth thorns and briars, [is] worthless and near a curse, whose end [is] for burning.
- 9 But of you, beloved, we are persuaded things better and connected with salvation, if even thus we speak.
- 10 For God is not unrighteous to forget your work, and the [^]love which ye shewed unto his name, in that ye ministered to his saints and do minister.
- 11 But we desire earnestly that each of you should shew the same diligence unto the full assurance of hope until the end,
- 12 that ye become not sluggish but imitators of those who through faith and long-suffering inherit the promises.
- 13 For God when he made promise to Abraham, since he had no greater to swear by, swore by himself,
- 14 saying, Surely blessing I will bless thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee,
- 15 and thus after long-suffering he obtained the promise.
- 16 For men, indeed, swear by the greater, and to them the oath for confirmation [is] an end of all dispute.
- 17 Wherein God willing to shew more abundantly to the heirs of the promise the unchangeableness of his counsel,
- 18 intervened by an oath, that by two unchangeable things in which [it was] impossible that God should lie we might have strong encouragement that fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us,
- 19 which we have as the soul's anchor both secure and firm and entering into the inner [side] of the veil,
- 20 where entered [^]forerunner for us Jesus, become for ever high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

HEBREWS 7 WK

1 For this Melchisedec, King of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from smiting the kings, and blessed him;
 2 to whom Abraham gave also the tenth portion of all; first being interpreted King of righteousness, and then also King of Salem, which is King of peace;
 3 without father, without mother, without genealogy; having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but assimilated to the Son of God, abides a priest continually.
 4 Now consider how great this [personage] was, to whom [even] the patriarch Abraham gave a tenth out of the spoils.
 5 And they indeed from among the sons of Levi, who receive the priesthood, have commandment to take tithes from the people according to the law, that is from their brethren, though these are come out of the loins of Abraham:
 6 but he who has no genealogy from them has tithed Abraham, and blessed him who had the promises.
 7 But beyond all gainsaying, the inferior is blessed by the better.
 8 And here dying men receive tithes, but there [one] of whom the witness is that he lives;—
 9 and, so to speak, through Abraham, Levi also, who received tithes, has been made to pay tithes.
 10 For he was yet in the loins of his father when Melchisedec met him.
 11 If indeed then perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, for the people had their law given to them in connexion with it, what need [was there] still that a different priest should arise according to the order of Melchisedec, and not be named after the order of Aaron?
 12 For, the priesthood being changed, there takes place of necessity a change of law also.
 13 For he, of whom these things are said, belongs to a different tribe, of which no one has [ever] been attached to the service of the altar.
 14 For it is clear that our Lord has sprung out of Juda, as to which tribe Moses spake nothing as to priests.
 15 And it is yet more abundantly evident, since a different priest arises according to the similitude of Melchisedec,
 16 who has been constituted not according to law of fleshly commandment, but according to power of indissoluble life.
 17 For it is borne witness, Thou art a priest for ever according to the order of Melchisedec.
 18 For there is a setting aside of the commandment going before for its weakness and unprofitableness,
 19 (for the law perfected nothing,) and the introduction of a better hope by which we draw nigh to God.
 20 And by how much [it was] not without the swearing of an oath;
 21 (for they are become priests without the swearing of an oath, but he with the swearing of an oath, by him who said, as to him, The Lord has sworn, and will not repent [of it], Thou [art] priest for ever [according to the order of Melchisedec];)

1 For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, that met Abraham returning from smiting the kings, and blessed him;
 2 to whom also Abraham divided a tenth from all, first being interpreted King of righteousness, and then also King of Salem, which is peace,
 3 without father, without mother, without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but assimilated to the Son of God, abideth a priest continuously.
 4 Now consider how great he [was] to whom the patriarch Abraham gave a tenth out of the spoils.
 5 And they indeed from among the sons of Levi that receive the priesthood have a commandment to take tithes from the people according to the law, that is, from their brethren, though these have come out of the loins of Abraham;
 6 but he who hath no genealogy from them hath tithed Abraham, and hath blessed him that hath the promises.
 7 Now apart from all dispute the less is blessed by the better.
 8 And here dying men receive tithes, but there one witnessed of that he liveth;
 9 and, so to speak, through Abraham even Levi that receiveth tithes hath been tithed.
 10 For he was yet in the loins of his father when Melchizedek met him.
 11 If therefore perfection were through the Levitical priesthood, for [based] on it the people had the law, what further need that a different priest should arise according to the order of Melchizedek, and not be said according to the order of Aaron?
 12 For the priesthood being changed there cometh of necessity a change of law also.
 13 For he of whom these things are said hath part in a different tribe from which no one hath attended to the altar;
 14 for [it is] evident beforehand that our Lord hath sprung out of Judah, as to which tribe Moses spoke nothing about priests.
 15 And it is yet more abundantly evident if according to the similitude of Melchizedek there ariseth a different priest
 16 who hath been made not according to law of fleshly commandment but according to power of indissoluble life.
 17 For the witness is, Thou [art] priest for ever according to the order of Melchizedek.
 18 For there cometh a setting aside of foregoing commandment on account of its weakness and unprofitableness
 19 (for the law perfected nothing), and an introduction of a better hope a through which we draw near to God.
 20 And by how much not apart from oath-swearing
 21 (for they indeed apart from oath-swearing are become priests, but he with oath-swearing by him that saith unto him, The Lord [Jehovah] swore and will not repent, Thou [art] priest for ever [according to the order of Melchizedek]),

Hebrews

- 22 by so much Jesus became surety of a better covenant.
23 And they have been many priests, on account of being hindered from continuing by death;
24 but he, because of his continuing forever, has the priesthood unchangeable.
25 Whence also he is able to save completely those who approach by him to God, always living to intercede for them.

26 For such a high priest became us, holy, harmless, undefiled, separated from sinners, and become higher than the heavens:
27 who has not day by day need, as the high priests, first to offer up sacrifices for his own sins, then [for] those of the people; for this he did once for all [in] having offered up himself.
28 For the law constitutes men high priests, having infirmity; but the word of the swearing of the oath which [is] after the law, a Son perfected for ever.

HEBREWS 8 JND

- 1 Now a summary of the things of which we are speaking [is], We have such a one high priest who has sat down on [the] right hand of the throne of the greatness in the heavens;
2 minister of the holy places and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord has pitched, [and] not man.
3 For every high priest is constituted for the offering both of gifts and sacrifices; whence it is needful that this one also should have something which he may offer.
4 If then indeed he were upon earth, he would not even be a priest, there being those who offer the gifts according to the law,
5 (who serve the representation and shadow of heavenly things, according as Moses was oracularly told [when] about to make the tabernacle; for See, saith He, that thou make all things according to the pattern which has been shewn to thee in the mountain.)
6 But now he has got a more excellent ministry, by so much as he is mediator of a better covenant, which is established on the footing of better promises.
7 For if that first was faultless, place had not been sought for a second.
8 For finding fault, he says to them, Behold, days come, saith the Lord, and I will consummate a new covenant as regards the house of Israel, and as regards the house of Juda;

9 not according to the covenant which I made to their fathers in [the] day of my taking their hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they did not continue in my covenant, and I did not regard them, saith [the] Lord.
10 Because this [is] the covenant that I will covenant to the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord: Giving the laws into their mind, I will write them also upon their

- 22 by so much [^] Jesus hath become [^] surety of a better covenant.
23 And they indeed are become many more priests, because by death they are hindered from continuing;
24 but he because of his abiding for ever hath the priesthood untransferable.
25 Whence also he is able to save completely those that approach God through him, as ever living to intercede for them.
26 For such a high priest [^] became us, holy [or, pious], guileless, undefiled, separated from sinners, and become higher than the heavens,
27 who hath no need day by day as the high priests, first to offer up sacrifices for his own sins, then [for] those of the people; for this he did once for all when he offered up himself.
28 For the law constituteth men high priests, having infirmity; but the word of the oath-swearing that [was] after the law, a Son perfected for ever.

HEBREWS 8 WK

- 1 Now a chief point [in connection] with the things said [is]: We have such a high priest who sat down on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens;
2 minister of the holies and of the true tabernacle which the Lord pitched, [^] not man.
3 For every high priest is constituted for the offering both gifts and sacrifices, whence necessity [is] that he also have something which he may offer.
4 If then indeed he were on earth, he would not even be a priest, as there are those that offer the gifts according to [^] law;
5 being such as serve for example and shadow of the heavenly things, even as Moses is oracularly told when about to make [or, effect] the tabernacle, for, See, saith he, thou shalt make all things according to the pattern that was shewn to thee in the mountain.
6 But now he hath obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is mediator of a better covenant which hath been enacted upon better promises.
7 For if that first was faultless, no place had been sought for a second.
8 For finding fault he saith to them, Behold, days come, saith Jehovah, and [or, that] I will make [or, consummate] a new covenant on [or, with] the house of Israel and with the house of Judah;
9 not according to the covenant which I made with their fathers in a day when I took their hand to lead them out of Egypt's land; because they continued not in my covenant, and I disregarded them, saith Jehovah.
10 Because this [is] the covenant which I will covenant to the house of Israel after those days, saith Jehovah, giving my laws into their mind, I will also write them upon their hearts; and I will be to them for God, and they shall be to me for people.

- 11 And they shall not teach each his fellow-citizen, and each his brother, saying, Know the Lord; because all shall know me in themselves, from [the] little one [among them] unto [the] great among them.
- 12 Because I will be merciful to their unrighteousnesses, and their sins and their lawlessnesses I will never remember any more.
- 13 In that he says New, he has made the first old; but that which grows old and aged [is] near disappearing.

HEBREWS 9 JND

- 1 The first therefore also indeed had ordinances of service, and the sanctuary, a worldly one.
- 2 For a tabernacle was set up; the first, in which [were] both the candlestick and the table and the exposition of the loaves, which is called Holy;
- 3 but after the second veil a tabernacle which is called Holy of holies,
- 4 having a golden censer, and the ark of the covenant, covered round in every part with gold, in which [were] the golden pot that had the manna, and the rod of Aaron that had sprouted, and the tables of the covenant;
- 5 and above over it the cherubim of glory shadowing the mercy-seat; concerning which it is not now [the time] to speak in detail.
- 6 Now these things being thus ordered, into the first tabernacle the priests enter at all times, accomplishing the services;
- 7 but into the second, the high priest only, once a year, not without blood, which he offers for himself and for the errors of the people:
- 8 the Holy Spirit shewing this, that the way of the [holy of] holies has not yet been made manifest while as yet the first tabernacle has [its] standing;
- 9 the which [is] an image for the present time, according to which both gifts and sacrifices, unable to perfect as to conscience him that worshipped, are offered,
- 10 [consisting] only of meats and drinks and divers washings, ordinances of flesh, imposed until [the] time of setting things right.
- 11 But Christ being come high priest of the good things to come, by the better and more perfect tabernacle not made with hand, (that is, not of this creation,)
- 12 nor by blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood, has entered in once for all into the [holy of] holies, having found an eternal redemption.
- 13 For if the blood of goats and bulls, and a heifer's ashes sprinkling the defiled, sanctifies for the purity of the flesh,
- 14 how much rather shall the blood of the Christ, who by the eternal Spirit offered himself spotless to God, purify your conscience from dead works to worship [the] living God?

hearts, and I will be to them for God, and they shall be to me for people.

- 11 And they shall not teach each his fellow-citizen and each his brother, saying, Know the Lord, because all shall inwardly know me from little of them unto great of them;
- 12 because I will be merciful to their unrighteousnesses, and their sins and their lawlessnesses I will never remember more.
- 13 In his saying, New, he hath made the first old; but that which growth old and aged [is] near disappearing.

HEBREWS 9 WK

- 1 The first [^] then also had ordinances of service, and its sanctuary worldly.
- 2 For a tabernacle was constituted, the first, in which [were, or are] both the candlestick and the table and the setting forth of the loaves, which is called Holy;
- 3 but after the second veil a tabernacle that is called Holy of holies,
- 4 having a golden censer and the ark of the covenant covered round everywhere with gold, in which [were] a golden pot having the manna, and the rod of Aaron that sprouted, and the tables of the covenant,
- 5 and above over it cherubim of glory overshadowing the mercy-seat, concerning which things it is not now [opportune] to speak in detail [or, severally].
- 6 Now these things having been thus constituted, into the first tabernacle indeed the priests enter at all times accomplishing the services,
- 7 but into the second the high priest alone once the year, not apart from blood, which he offereth for himself and for the errors [or, ignorances] of the people:
- 8 the Holy Spirit showing this that the way of the holies hath not yet been manifested, while yet the first tabernacle hath a standing:
- 9 the which [is] a parable for the time present, according to which are offered both gifts and sacrifices, unable as to conscience to perfect the worshipper [or, him that serveth],
- 10 only with meats and drinks and different [or, divers] washings, ordinances of flesh imposed until a season of rectification.
- 11 But Christ having come high priest of the good things to come by the better and more perfect tabernacle, not handmade (that is, not of this creation),
- 12 neither by blood of goats and calves but by his own blood, [^] entered once for all into the holies, having found an everlasting redemption. [^]
- 13 For if the blood of goats and bulls and a heifer's ashes sprinkling the defiled sanctifieth for the purity of the flesh,
- 14 by how much rather shall the blood of the Christ, who by [the] eternal Spirit offered himself spotless to God, purify your conscience from dead works to serve [or, worship] a living [^] God?

- 15 And for this reason he is mediator of a new covenant, so that, death having taken place for redemption of the transgressions under the first covenant, the called might receive the promise of the eternal inheritance.
- 16 (For where [there is] a testament, the death of the testator must needs come in.
- 17 For a testament [is] of force when men are dead, since it is in no way of force while the testator is alive.)
- 18 Whence neither the first was inaugurated without blood.
- 19 For every commandment having been spoken according to [the] law by Moses to all the people; having taken the blood of calves and goats, with water and scarlet wool and hyssop, he sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,
- 20 saying, This [is] the blood of the covenant which God has enjoined to you.
- 21 And the tabernacle too and all the vessels of service he sprinkled in like manner with blood;
- 22 and almost all things are purified with blood according to the law, and without blood-shedding there is no remission.
- 23 [It was] necessary then that the figurative representations of the things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with sacrifices better than these.
- 24 For the Christ is not entered into holy places made with hand, figures of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear before the face of God for us:
- 25 nor in order that he should offer himself often, as the high priest enters into the holy places every year with blood not his own;
- 26 since he had [then] been obliged often to suffer from the foundation of the world. But now once in the consummation of the ages he has been manifested for [the] putting away of sin by his sacrifice.
- 27 And forasmuch as it is the portion of men once to die, and after this judgment;
- 28 thus the Christ also, having been once offered to bear the sins of many, shall appear to those that look for him the second time without sin for salvation.

HEBREWS 10 JND

- 1 For the law, having a shadow of the coming good things, not the image itself of the things, can never, by the same sacrifices which they offer continually yearly, perfect those who approach.
- 2 Since, would they not indeed have ceased being offered, on account of the worshippers once purged having no longer any conscience of sins?
- 3 But in these [there is] a calling to mind of sins yearly.
- 4 For blood of bulls and goats [is] incapable of taking away sins.
- 5 Wherefore coming into the world he says, Sacrifice and offering thou wilt not; but thou hast prepared me a body.

- 15 And for this reason he is mediator of a new covenant, so that, [^] death having taken place for redemption of the transgressions under [or, upon] the first covenant, those that are called might receive the promise of the everlasting inheritance.
- 16 For where a testament [is], the death of the testator must be brought in;
- 17 for a testament [is] valid after men [are] dead: since it is in no wise hath force while the testator liveth.
- 18 Whence neither the first hath been inaugurated without blood.
- 19 For when every commandment was spoken according to law by Moses to all the people, having taken the blood of calves and of goats with water and scarlet wool and hyssop, he sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,
- 20 saying, This [is] the blood of the covenant which God enjoined on you.
- 21 And the tabernacle too, and all the vessels of service he sprinkled alike with the blood;
- 22 and almost all things are purified with [^] blood according to the law, and apart from blood-shedding cometh no remission.
- 23 Necessity therefore [was] that the examples of the things in the heavens should be purified with these, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.
- 24 For the Christ entered not into handmade holies, figures of the true, but into the heaven itself now to appear to the face of God for us;
- 25 neither that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holies yearly with blood not his own,
- 26 since he were bound often to suffer from [the] world's foundation. But now once on consummation of the ages he hath been manifested for putting away of sin by his sacrifice.
- 27 And forasmuch as it is appointed to men once to die, and, after this, [^] judgment;
- 28 so also the Christ, having been once offered to bear sins of many, shall appear a second time apart from sin to those that look for him unto salvation.

HEBREWS 10 WK

- 1 For the law, having a shadow of the coming good things, not the image itself of the things, [^] can never by the same sacrifices, which they offer yearly continuously, perfect those that approach.
- 2 Since would they not have ceased being offered on account of the worshippers once purified having no longer any conscience of sins?
- 3 But in these [is] a calling to mind of sins yearly.
- 4 For [^] blood of bulls and goats [is] incapable of taking away sins.
- 5 Wherefore entering into the world he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wilt not, but a body thou preparedst for me:

6 Thou tookest no pleasure in burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sin.

7 Then I said, Lo, I come (in [the] roll of the book it is written of me) to do, O God, thy will.

8 Above, saying Sacrifices and offerings and burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sin thou willedst not, neither tookest pleasure in (which are offered according to the law);

9 then he said, Lo, I come to do thy will. He takes away the first that he may establish the second;

10 by which will we have been sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

11 And every priest stands daily ministering, and offering often the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins.

12 But he, having offered one sacrifice for sins, sat down in perpetuity at [the] right hand of God, 13 waiting from henceforth until his enemies be set [for the] footstool of his feet.

14 For by one offering he has perfected in perpetuity the sanctified.

15 And the Holy Spirit also bears us witness [of it]; for after what was said:

16 This [is] the covenant which I will establish towards them after those days, saith [the] Lord: Giving my laws into their hearts, I will write them also in their understandings;

17 and their sins and their lawlessnesses I will never remember any more.

18 But where there [is] remission of these, [there is] no longer a sacrifice for sin.

19 Having therefore, brethren, boldness for entering into the [holy of] holies by the blood of Jesus,

20 the new and living way which he has dedicated for us through the veil, that is, his flesh,

21 and [having] a great priest over the house of God,

22 let us approach with a true heart, in full assurance of faith, sprinkled as to our hearts from a wicked conscience, and washed as to our body with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the confession of the hope unwavering, (for he [is] faithful who has promised;)

24 and let us consider one another for provoking to love and good works;

25 not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the custom [is] with some; but encouraging [one another], and by so much the more as ye see the day drawing near.

26 For where we sin wilfully after receiving the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains any sacrifice for sins,

27 but a certain fearful expectation of judgment, and heat of fire about to devour the adversaries.

28 Any one that has disregarded Moses' law dies without mercy on [the testimony of] two or three witnesses:

29 of how much worse punishment, think ye, shall he be judged worthy who has trodden under foot the Son of God, and esteemed the blood of the covenant, whereby he has been sanctified, common, and has insulted the Spirit of grace?

6 in whole burnt-offerings and [sacrifices] for sin thou hadst no pleasure.

7 Then I said, Lo, I am come (in the book-roll it is written of me) to do thy will, O God.

8 Above saying, Sacrifice and offering and whole burnt-offerings and sacrifices for sin thou willedst not nor hadst pleasure in (the which are offered according to the law),

9 then he hath said, Lo, I am come to do thy will [^]. He taketh away the first that he may establish the second;

10 by which will we have been sanctified through the offering of the body of [^] Jesus Christ once for all.

11 And every priest indeed standeth daily ministering and offering often the same sacrifices, the which can never take away sins;

12 but he having offered one sacrifice for sins, continuously sat down on God's right hand, 13 henceforth waiting until his enemies be set as footstool of his feet.

14 For by one offering he hath perfected continuously the sanctified.

15 And the Holy Spirit also witnesseth to us; for after he had said [^],

16 This [is] the covenant which I will covenant unto them after those days, saith Jehovah, Giving my laws on their hearts, I will also write them on their understanding; [^]

17 and their sins and their lawlessnesses I will never remember more.

18 But where remission of these [is] [there is] no longer an offering for sin.

19 Having therefore, brethren, boldness for the entrance into the holies by the blood of Jesus,

20 [^] a new and living way which he inaugurated for us through the veil, that is, his flesh,

21 and [having] a great priest over the house of God,

22 let us approach with true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from a wicked conscience, and our body washed with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the confession of the hope unwavering, for [he is] faithful that promised;

24 and let us consider one another for provoking love and good works,

25 not forsaking the gathering of ourselves together as [is] a custom for some, but encouraging, and by so much rather as ye see the day drawing near.

26 For if we sin wilfully after receiving the full knowledge of the truth, there no longer remaineth a sacrifice for sins,

27 but a certain fearful expectation of judgment and heat of fire about to devour the adversaries.

28 Any one if he set at nought Moses' law dieth apart from mercy on two or three witnesses:

29 of how much worse punishment, think ye, shall he be judged worthy that trod down the Son of God, and counted common the blood of the covenant whereby he was sanctified, and insulted the Spirit of grace?

- 30 For we know him that said, To me [belongs] vengeance; I will recompense, saith the Lord: and again, The Lord shall judge his people.
- 31 [It is] a fearful thing falling into [the] hands of [the] living God.
- 32 But call to mind the earlier days in which, having been enlightened, ye endured much conflict of sufferings;
- 33 on the one hand, when ye were made a spectacle both in reproaches and afflictions; and on the other, when ye became partakers with those who were passing through them.
- 34 For ye both sympathised with prisoners and accepted with joy the plunder of your goods, knowing that ye have for yourselves a better substance, and an abiding one.
- 35 Cast not away therefore your confidence, which has great recompense.
- 36 For ye have need of endurance in order that, having done the will of God, ye may receive the promise.
- 37 For yet a very little while he that comes will come, and will not delay.
- 38 But the just shall live by faith; and, if he draw back, my soul does not take pleasure in him.
- 39 But we are not drawers back to perdition, but of faith to saving [the] soul.

HEBREWS II JND

- 1 Now faith is [the] substantiating of things hoped for, [the] conviction of things not seen.
- 2 For in [the power of] this the elders have obtained testimony.
- 3 By faith we apprehend that the worlds were framed by [the] word of God, so that that which is seen should not take its origin from things which appear.
- 4 By faith Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained testimony of being righteous, God bearing testimony to his gifts, and by it, having died, he yet speaks.
- 5 By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him; for before [his] translation he has the testimony that he had pleased God.
- 6 But without faith [it is] impossible to please [him]. For he that draws near to God must believe that he is, and [that] he is a rewarder of them who seek him out.
- 7 By faith, Noe, oracularly warned concerning things not yet seen, moved with fear, prepared an ark for the saving of his house; by which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which [is] according to faith.
- 8 By faith Abraham, being called, obeyed to go out into the place which he was to receive for an inheritance, and went out, not knowing where he was going.
- 9 By faith he sojourned as a stranger in the land of promise as a foreign country, having dwelt in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with [him] of the same promise;

- 30 For we know him that said, To me [is] vengeance; I will recompense, saith Jehovah; and again, Jehovah shall judge his people.
- 31 Fearful [it is] to fall into a living God's hands.
- 32 But call to mind the former days, in which enlightened as ye were ye endured a great fight of afflictions,
- 33 on this side made a spectacle in both reproaches and afflictions, and on that become companions of those so used;
- 34 for ye both sympathised with prisoners and accepted with joy the plunder of your goods, knowing that ye have for yourselves a better and abiding substance. ^Λ
- 35 Cast not away therefore your confidence, the which hath great recompense.
- 36 For ye have need of endurance, that having done the will of God ye may receive the promise.
- 37 For yet a very little while: he that cometh will have come and will not delay.
- 38 But the [or, my] just shall live by faith; and if he [or, one] draw back, my soul hath no pleasure in him.
- 39 But we are not of drawing back unto perdition but of faith unto soul-saving.

HEBREWS II WK

- 1 Now faith is substance [or, substantiating] of [things] hoped for, demonstration [or, test] of things not seen.
- 2 For in [virtue of] this the elders were witnessed of.
- 3 By faith we apprehend that the worlds were framed by God's word, so that the [things] beheld have not derived their being out of [things] apparent [or, phenomena].
- 4 By faith Abel offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain by which it was witnessed that he was righteous, God witnessing in respect of his gifts; and through it he, having died, yet speaketh.
- 5 By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death, and was not found because God translated him; for before the translation, it hath been witnessed that he had pleased God.
- 6 But apart from faith [it is] impossible to please [him], for he that approacheth to God must believe that he is, and becometh a rewarder of those that seek him out.
- 7 By faith Noah, oracularly warned of things not yet beheld, moved with fear, constructed an ark for saving his house, by which he condemned the world and became heir of righteousness that is according to faith.
- 8 By faith Abraham, when called, obeyed to go out into a place which he was to receive for an inheritance, and went out not knowing where he was going.
- 9 By faith he sojourned in the land of promise as not his own, dwelling as he did in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the joint-heirs of the same promise;

- 10 for he waited for the city which has foundations, of which God is [the] artificer and constructor.
- 11 By faith also Sarah herself received strength for [the] conception of seed, and [that] beyond a seasonable age; since she counted him faithful who promised.
- 12 Wherefore also there have been born of one, and that of one become dead, even as the stars of heaven in multitude, and as the countless sand which [is] by the sea shore.
- 13 All these died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them from afar off and embraced [them], and confessed that they were strangers and sojourners on the earth.
- 14 For they who say such things shew clearly that they seek [their] country.
- 15 And if they had called to mind that from whence they went out, they had had opportunity to have returned;
- 16 but now they seek a better, that is, a heavenly; wherefore God is not ashamed of them, to be called their God; for he has prepared for them a city.
- 17 By faith Abraham, [when] tried, offered up Isaac, and he who had received to himself the promises offered up his only begotten [son],
- 18 as to whom it had been said, In Isaac shall thy seed be called:
- 19 counting that God [was] able to raise [him] even from among [the] dead, whence also he received him in a figure.
- 20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.
- 21 By faith Jacob [when] dying blessed each of the sons of Joseph, and worshipped on the top of his staff.
- 22 By faith Joseph [when] dying called to mind the going forth of the sons of Israel, and gave commandment concerning his bones.
- 23 By faith Moses, being born, was hid three months by his parents, because they saw the child beautiful; and they did not fear the injunction of the king.
- 24 By faith Moses, when he had become great, refused to be called son of Pharaoh's daughter;
- 25 choosing rather to suffer affliction along with the people of God than to have [the] temporary pleasure of sin;
- 26 esteeming the reproach of the Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt, for he had respect to the recompense.
- 27 By faith he left Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king; for he persevered, as seeing him who is invisible.
- 28 By faith he celebrated the passover and the sprinkling of the blood, that the destroyer of the firstborn might not touch them.
- 29 By faith they passed through the Red sea as through dry land; of which the Egyptians having made trial were swallowed up.
- 30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell, having been encircled for seven days.
- 31 By faith Rahab the harlot did not perish along with the unbelieving, having received the spies in peace.

- 10 for he waited for the city that hath the foundations, of which God is architect and master-builder.
- 11 By faith also Sarah herself received power for deposition of seed even beyond season of age, since she counted faithful him that promised.
- 12 Wherefore also there were born from one, and that one become dead, even as the stars of the heaven in multitude, and as the countless sand that is by the sea-shore.
- 13 All these died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them from afar, [^] and greeted [or, embraced], and confessed that they were strangers and sojourners on the earth.
- 14 For they that say such things make plain that they seek out a country.
- 15 And if indeed they called to mind that from which they went out, they might have had opportunity to return;
- 16 but now they desire a better, that is, a heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them, to be called their God, for he prepared for them a city.
- 17 By faith Abraham when tried offered up Isaac, and he that received to himself the promises was offering his only-begotten
- 18 as to whom it was spoken, In Isaac shall thy seed be called;
- 19 accounting that God [is] able to raise even from out of dead [men], whence also he received him back in parable [or, figure].
- 20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.
- 21 By faith Jacob when dying blessed each of the sons of Joseph, and worshipped on the top of his staff.
- 22 By faith Joseph when ending life called to mind the going forth of the sons of Israel and gave commandment concerning his bones.
- 23 By faith Moses when born was hid three months by his parents, because they saw the child beautiful; and they did not fear the order of the king.
- 24 By faith Moses when become great refused to be called son of Pharaoh's daughter,
- 25 choosing rather to be ill-treated with the people of God than to have temporary pleasure of sin,
- 26 counting the Christ's reproach greater riches than the treasures of Egypt, for he looked off unto the recompense.
- 27 By faith he left Egypt, not afraid of the wrath of the king; for he persevered as seeing the Invisible.
- 28 By faith he hath celebrated the passover and the sprinkling of the blood, that the destroyer of the firstborn should not touch them.
- 29 By faith they passed through the Red Sea, as through dry land, of which the Egyptians made trial and were swallowed up.
- 30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell, having been encircled seven days.
- 31 By faith Rahab the harlot perished not along with the disobedient, having received the spies with peace.

- 32 And what more do I say? For the time would fail me telling of Gedeon, and Barak, and Samson, and Jephthae, and David and Samuel, and of the prophets:
- 33 who by faith overcame kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped lions' mouths,
- 34 quenched [the] power of fire, escaped [the] edge of the sword, became strong out of weakness, became mighty in war, made [the] armies of strangers give way.
- 35 Women received their dead again by resurrection; and others were tortured, not having accepted deliverance, that they might get a better resurrection;
- 36 and others underwent trial of mockings and scourgings, yea, and of bonds and imprisonment.
- 37 They were stoned, were sawn asunder, were tempted, died by the death of the sword; they went about in sheepskins, in goatskins, destitute, afflicted, evil treated,
- 38 (of whom the world was not worthy,) wandering in deserts and mountains, and [in] dens and caverns of the earth.
- 39 And these all, having obtained witness through faith, did not receive the promise,
- 40 God having foreseen some better thing for us, that they should not be made perfect without us.

HEBREWS 12 JND

- 1 Let us also therefore, having so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, laying aside every weight, and sin which so easily entangles us, run with endurance the race that lies before us,
- 2 looking stedfastly on Jesus the leader and completer of faith: who, in view of the joy lying before him, endured [the] cross, having despised [the] shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.
- 3 For consider well him who endured so great contradiction from sinners against himself, that ye be not weary, fainting in your minds.
- 4 Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, wrestling against sin.
- 5 And ye have quite forgotten the exhortation which speaks to you as to sons: My son, despise not [the] chastening of [the] Lord, nor faint [when] reproved by him;
- 6 for whom [the] Lord loves he chastens, and scourges every son whom he receives.
- 7 Ye endure for chastening, God conducts himself towards you as towards sons; for who is the son that the father chastens not?
- 8 But if ye are without chastening, of which all have been made partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.
- 9 Moreover we have had the fathers of our flesh as chasteners, and we revered [them]; shall we not much rather be in subjection to the Father of spirits, and live?
- 10 For they indeed chastened for a few days, as seemed good to them; but he for profit, in order to the partaking of his holiness.

- 32 And what more do I say? For the time would fail me telling of Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah, of David ^Λ and Samuel and the prophets;
- 33 who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped lions' mouths,
- 34 quenched fire's power, escaped sword's edge, were strengthened from weakness, became mighty in war, put to flight armies of aliens.
- 35 Women received their dead again by [or, out of] resurrection; and others were tortured, not having accepted their deliverance that they might obtain a better resurrection;
- 36 and others had trial of mockings and scourgings, yea and of bonds and imprisonment.
- 37 They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, they were tempted, they died by slaughter of sword. They went about in sheepskins, in goatskins, destitute, afflicted, ill-treated
- 38 (of whom the world was not worthy), wandering in deserts and mountains and caves and the chinks of the earth.
- 39 And these all having been witnessed of through their faith received not the promise,
- 40 God having foreseen some better thing concerning us ^Λ that apart from us they should not be perfected.

HEBREWS 12 WK

- 1 Therefore let us also, having so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, laying aside every weight and the readily besetting sin, run with [or, through] endurance the race that is set before us,
- 2 looking off unto Jesus the leader and completer of [or, the] faith; who for the joy set before him endured cross, despising shame, and is set down on the right hand of the throne of God.
- 3 For consider well him that endured so great contradiction by sinners against himself, that ye weary not, fainting in your souls.
- 4 Not yet unto blood resisted ye, wrestling against sin.
- 5 And ye have quite forgotten the exhortation the which discourseth with you as sons, My son, regard not lightly Jehovah's chastening, nor faint when reproved of him:
- 6 for whom Jehovah loveth, he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth.
- 7 For chastisement ye are enduring: God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son [is he] whom a father chasteneth not?
- 8 But if ye are apart from chastisement of which all have been made partakers, then are ye bastards and not sons.
- 9 Then indeed we had fathers of our flesh as chasteners, and we revered them: shall we not much rather be in subjection to the Father of the spirits and live?
- 10 For they indeed chastened ^Λ for a few days, as seemed good to them; but he for ^Λ profit in order to the partaking of his holiness.

- 11 But no chastening at the time seems to be [matter] of joy, but of grief; but afterwards yields [the] peaceful fruit of righteousness to those exercised by it.
- 12 Wherefore lift up the hands that hang down, and the failing knees;
- 13 and make straight paths for your feet, that that which is lame be not turned aside; but that rather it may be healed.
- 14 Pursue peace with all, and holiness, without which no one shall see the Lord:
- 15 watching lest [there be] any one who lacks the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble [you], and many be defiled by it;
- 16 lest [there be] any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one meal sold his birthright;
- 17 for ye know that also afterwards, desiring to inherit the blessing, he was rejected, (for he found no place for repentance) although he sought it earnestly with tears.
- 18 For ye have not come to [the mount] that might be touched and was all on fire, and to obscurity, and darkness, and tempest,
- 19 and trumpet's sound, and voice of words; which they that heard excusing themselves, declined [the] word being addressed to them any more:
- 20 (for they were not able to bear what was enjoined: And if a beast should touch the mountain, it shall be stoned;
- 21 and, so fearful was the sight, Moses said, I am exceedingly afraid and full of trembling;)
- 22 but ye have come to mount Zion; and to [the] city of [the] living God, heavenly Jerusalem; and to myriads of angels,
- 23 the universal gathering; and to [the] assembly of the firstborn [who are] enregistered in heaven; and to God, judge of all; and to [the] spirits of just [men] made perfect;
- 24 and to Jesus, mediator of a new covenant; and to [the] blood of sprinkling, speaking better than Abel.
- 25 See that ye refuse not him that speaks. For if those did not escape who had refused him who uttered the oracles on earth, much more we who turn away from him [who does so] from heaven:
- 26 whose voice then shook the earth; but now he has promised, saying, Yet once will I shake not only the earth, but also the heaven.
- 27 But this Yet once, signifies the removing of what is shaken, as being made, that what is not shaken may remain.
- 28 Wherefore let us, receiving a kingdom not to be shaken, have grace, by which let us serve God acceptably with reverence and fear.
- 29 For also our God [is] a consuming fire.

HEBREWS 13 JND

- 1 Let brotherly love abide. Be not forgetful of hospitality;
- 2 for by it some have unawares entertained angels.

- 11 Now no chastisement for the time seemeth to be of joy but of grief; yet afterward it yieldeth peaceable fruit of righteousness to those that have been exercised thereby.
- 12 Wherefore lift up the exhausted hands and the enfeebled knees,
- 13 and make straight paths for your feet that what is lame be not turned out of the way but rather be healed.
- 14 Pursue peace with all, and holiness apart from which no one shall see the Lord,
- 15 looking carefully lest [there be] any one falling short of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up give trouble and through it [the] many be defiled;
- 16 lest [there be] any fornicator or profane one as Esau who for one meal sold his own birthright;
- 17 for ye know that even when afterward desiring to inherit the blessing he was rejected (for he found no place of repentance), though he sought it earnestly with tears.
- 18 For ye have not approached to a palpable thing and all aglow with fire, and to obscurity and gloom and tempest,
- 19 and to trumpet's sound, and a voice of words, which those that heard deprecated that a word more should be addressed to them;
- 20 for they could not bear what was enjoined, And if a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned [^];
- 21 and, so fearful was the appearance, Moses said, I am affrighted and trembling all over.
- 22 But ye have approached to mount Zion; and to a living God's city, heavenly Jerusalem; and to myriads of angels, a universal assemblage;
- 23 and to an assembly of firstborns, enrolled in heavens; and to God judge of all; and to spirits of just ones made perfect;
- 24 and to Jesus mediator of a new covenant, and to blood of sprinkling speaking better than [^] Abel.
- 25 Look that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if those did not escape, refusing as they did him speaking oracularly on earth, much more we that turn away from him from [the] heavens;
- 26 whose voice then shook the earth, but now hath he promised, saying, Yet once will I shake not only the earth but also the heaven.
- 27 But this Yet once signifieth the removing of what are shaken as being made that what are not shaken may remain.
- 28 Wherefore let us, receiving a kingdom not to be shaken, have grace by which we may [or, let us] serve God acceptably with reverence and fear.
- 29 For also our God is a consuming fire.

HEBREWS 13 WK

- 1 Let brotherly love abide.
- 2 Be not forgetful of hospitality; for by it some unawares entertained angels.

- 3 Remember prisoners, as bound with [them]; those that are evil-treated, as being yourselves also in [the] body.
 - 4 [Let] marriage [be held] every way in honour, and the bed [be] undefiled; but fornicators and adulterers will God judge.
 - 5 [Let your] conversation [be] without love of money, satisfied with [your] present circumstances; for he has said, I will not leave thee, neither will I forsake thee.
 - 6 So that, taking courage, we may say, The Lord [is] my helper, and I will not be afraid: what will man do unto me?
 - 7 Remember your leaders who have spoken to you the word of God; and considering the issue of their conversation, imitate their faith.
 - 8 Jesus Christ [is] the same yesterday, and to-day, and to the ages [to come].
 - 9 Be not carried away with various and strange doctrines; for [it is] good that the heart be confirmed with grace, not meats; those who have walked in which have not been profited by [them].
 - 10 We have an altar of which they have no right to eat who serve the tabernacle;
 - 11 for of those beasts whose blood is carried [as sacrifices for sin] into the [holy of] holies by the high priest, of these the bodies are burned outside the camp.
 - 12 Wherefore also Jesus, that he might sanctify the people by his own blood, suffered without the gate:
 - 13 therefore let us go forth to him without the camp, bearing his reproach:
 - 14 for we have not here an abiding city, but we seek the coming one.
 - 15 By him therefore let us offer [the] sacrifice of praise continually to God, that is, [the] fruit of [the] lips confessing his name.
 - 16 But of doing good and communicating [of your substance] be not forgetful, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.
 - 17 Obey your leaders, and be submissive; for they watch over your souls as those that shall give account; that they may do this with joy, and not groaning, for this [would be] unprofitable for you.
 - 18 Pray for us: for we persuade ourselves that we have a good conscience, in all things desirous to walk rightly.
 - 19 But I much more beseech [you] to do this, that I may the more quickly be restored to you.
 - 20 But the God of peace, who brought again from among [the] dead our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep, in [the power of the] blood of [the] eternal covenant,
 - 21 perfect you in every good work to the doing of his will, doing in you what is pleasing before him through Jesus Christ; to whom [be] glory for the ages of ages. Amen.
 - 22 But I beseech you, brethren, bear the word of exhortation, for it is but in few words that I have written to you.
- 3 Remember prisoners as bound with [them]; the ill-treated, as being yourselves also in a body.
 - 4 [Be] marriage in all [things] held in honour, and the bed undefiled; but [or, for] fornicators and adulterers God will judge.
 - 5 Free from love of money [be] your course of life, satisfied with present things, for he hath said, I will not leave thee, neither will I in any wise forsake thee:
 - 6 so that we courageously say, Jehovah [is] my helper, and I will not be afraid: what shall man do to me?
 - 7 Remember your leaders the which spoke to you the word of God; and considering the issue of their conduct imitate their faith.
 - 8 [^] Jesus Christ [is] the same yesterday and to-day, and unto the ages [or, for ever].
 - 9 Be not carried away with divers and strange doctrines; for [it is] good that the heart be confirmed with grace; not with meats, in which those that walked were not profited.
 - 10 We have an altar of which they have no right to eat that serve the tabernacle.
 - 11 For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the holies for sin, are burned without the camp.
 - 12 Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people through his own blood, suffered without the gate.
 - 13 Therefore let us go forth unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach.
 - 14 For here we have not an abiding city, but we seek after the coming one.
 - 15 Through him then let us offer sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, fruit of lips confessing his name.
 - 16 But to do good and communicate forget not; for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.
 - 17 Obey your leaders, and be submissive, for they watch over [or, in behalf of] your souls, as those that shall give account; that they may do this with joy, and not groaning, for this [were] unprofitable for you.
 - 18 Pray for us: for we persuade ourselves that we have a good conscience, in all things desiring to walk well [or, honourably].
 - 19 And more exceedingly I exhort [you] to do this, that I may be more quickly restored to you.
 - 20 But the God of peace, that brought again from among [the] dead our Lord Jesus the great Shepherd of the sheep in virtue of blood of an everlasting covenant,
 - 21 perfect you in every good work unto the doing of his will, working in you [or, us] what is well-pleasing in his sight through Jesus Christ; to whom [be] the glory unto the ages of the ages [or, for ever and ever]. Amen.
 - 22 But I exhort you, brethren, bear with the word of exhortation, for also briefly do I write to you.

- 23 Know that our brother Timotheus is set at liberty; with whom, if he should come soon, I will see you.
- 24 Salute all your leaders, and all the saints. They from Italy salute you.
- 25 Grace [be] with you all. Amen.

- 23 Know that our brother Timothy is set at liberty [or, let go]; with whom if he come soon I will see you.
- 24 Salute all your leaders, and all the saints. They from Italy salute you.
- 25 Grace [be] with you all. Amen.

JAMES 1 JND

- 1 James, bondman of God and of [the] Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which [are] in the dispersion, greeting.
- 2 Count it all joy, my brethren, when ye fall into various temptations,
- 3 knowing that the proving of your faith works endurance.
- 4 But let endurance have [its] perfect work, that ye may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing.
- 5 But if any one of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all freely and reproaches not, and it shall be given to him:
- 6 but let him ask in faith, nothing doubting. For he that doubts is like a wave of the sea driven by the wind and tossed about;
- 7 for let not that man think that he shall receive anything from the Lord;
- 8 [he is] a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.
- 9 But let the brother of low degree glory in his elevation,
- 10 and the rich in his humiliation, because as [the] grass's flower he will pass away.
- 11 For the sun has risen with its burning heat, and has withered the grass, and its flower has fallen, and the comeliness of its look has perished: thus the rich also shall wither in his goings.
- 12 Blessed [is the] man who endures temptation; for, having been proved, he shall receive the crown of life, which He has promised to them that love him.
- 13 Let no man, being tempted, say, I am tempted of God. For God cannot be tempted by evil things, and himself tempts no one.
- 14 But every one is tempted, drawn away, and enticed by his own lust;
- 15 then lust, having conceived, gives birth to sin; but sin fully completed brings forth death.
- 16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.
- 17 Every good gift and every perfect gift comes down from above, from the Father of lights, with whom is no variation nor shadow of turning.
- 18 According to his own will begat he us by the word of truth, that we should be a certain firstfruits of his creatures.
- 19 So that, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath;
- 20 for man's wrath does not work God's righteousness.
- 21 Wherefore, laying aside all filthiness and abounding of wickedness, accept with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.
- 22 But be ye doers of [the] word and not hearers only, beguiling yourselves.
- 23 For if any man be a hearer of [the] word and not a doer, he is like to a man considering his natural face in a mirror:
- 24 for he has considered himself and is gone away, and straightway he has forgotten what he was like.

JAMES 1 WK ^Λ

- 1 James, bondman of God and of [the] Lord Jesus Christ. to the twelve tribes that [are] in the dispersion, greeting.
- 2 Count [it] all joy, my brethren, when ye fall into various temptations,
- 3 knowing that the proving of your faith worketh out endurance;
- 4 but let endurance have a ^Λ perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking in nothing.
- 5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God that giveth to all freely and reproacheth not; and it shall be given him.
- 6 But let him ask in faith, nothing doubting. For he that doubteth is like a wave of the sea wind-driven and tossed
- 7 (for let not that man think that he shall receive anything of the Lord):
- 8 a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.
- 9 But let the lowly brother glory in his elevation,
- 10 and the rich in his humiliation, because as ^Λ flower of ^Λ grass, he will pass away.
- 11 For the sun arose with its scorching, and withered the grass, and its flower fell away, and the comeliness of its look perished: thus also will the rich one fade in his goings.
- 12 Blest [is] a man who endureth trial; because, having been put to the proof, he shall receive the crown of life which He promised to those that love Him.
- 13 Let none when tempted say, I am tempted of God; for God cannot be tempted by evils, and Himself tempteth none.
- 14 But each is tempted when by his own lust drawn away and enticed;
- 15 then lust having conceived bringeth forth sin; and ^Λ sin when completed giveth birth to death.
- 16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.
- 17 Every good giving and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, with whom can be no variation nor shadow of turning.
- 18 Having purposed He begot us by [the] word of truth, that we should be a certain first-fruits of His creatures.
- 19 Ye know [it], my brethren beloved, but let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath;
- 20 for man's wrath worketh not God's righteousness.
- 21 Wherefore, having laid aside every sort of filthiness and overflowing of wickedness, receive with meekness the implanted word which is able to save your souls.
- 22 But be word-doers, and not hearers only, deluding yourselves.
- 23 Because if any one is a word-hearer, and not a doer, he is like a man considering his natural face in a mirror:
- 24 for he considered himself and is gone away, and straightway forgot of what sort he was.

- 25 But he that fixes his view on [the] perfect law, that of liberty, and abides in [it], being not a forgetful hearer but a doer of [the] work, he shall be blessed in his doing.
- 26 If any one think himself to be religious, not bridling his tongue, but deceiving his heart, this man's religion is vain.
- 27 Pure and undefiled religion before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their affliction, to keep oneself unspotted from the world.

JAMES 2 JND

- 1 My brethren, do not have the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, [Lord] of glory, with respect of persons:
- 2 for if there come unto your synagogue a man with a gold ring in splendid apparel, and a poor man also come in in vile apparel,
- 3 and ye look upon him who wears the splendid apparel, and say, Do thou sit here well, and say to the poor, Do thou stand there, or sit here under my footstool:
- 4 have ye not made a difference among yourselves, and become judges having evil thoughts?
- 5 Hear, my beloved brethren: Has not God chosen the poor as to the world, rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom, which he has promised to them that love him?
- 6 But ye have despised the poor [man]. Do not the rich oppress you, and [do not] they drag you before [the] tribunals?
- 7 And [do not] they blaspheme the excellent name which has been called upon you?
- 8 If indeed ye keep [the] royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well.
- 9 But if ye have respect of persons, ye commit sin, being convicted by the law as transgressors.
- 10 For whoever shall keep the whole law and shall offend in one [point], he has come under the guilt of [breaking] all.
- 11 For he who said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. Now if thou dost not commit adultery, but killest, thou art become transgressor of [the] law.
- 12 So speak ye, and so act, as those that are to be judged by [the] law of liberty;
- 13 for judgment [will be] without mercy to him that has shewn no mercy. Mercy glories over judgment.
- 14 What [is] the profit, my brethren, if any one say he have faith, but have not works? can faith save him?
- 15 Now if a brother or a sister is naked and destitute of daily food, and
- 16 and one from amongst you say to them, Go in peace, be warmed and filled; but give not to them the needful things for the body, what [is] the profit?
- 17 So also faith, if it have not works, is dead by itself.
- 18 But some one will say, Thou hast faith and I have works. Shew me thy faith without works, and I from my works will shew thee my faith.

- 25 But he that closely looked into perfect law, that of liberty, and abode close, being not a quite forgetful hearer, but a work-doer, he shall be blessed in his doing.
- 26 If any one [^] thinks he is religious, not bridling his tongue, but deceiving his heart, this [man's] religion is vain.
- 27 A religious service pure and undefiled before Him that is [^] God and Father is this, to visit orphans and widows in their affliction, to keep himself unspotted from the world.

JAMES 2 WK

- 1 My brethren, do not with respectings of persons have the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, [Lord] of glory.
- 2 For if there come into your meeting [lit. synagogue] a man gold-ringed in splendid clothing, and there come in also a poor one in vile clothing;
- 3 and ye look upon him that weareth the splendid clothing, and say, Sit thou here well [or, in a good place]; and ye say to the poor one, Stand thou there, or sit under my footstool,
- 4 did you not make a difference among yourselves and become judges of evil thoughts?
- 5 Hear, my beloved brethren; did not God choose the poor as to the world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which He promised to those that love Him?
- 6 But ye dishonoured the poor [man]. Do not the rich oppress you, and they drag you before tribunals?
- 7 Do not they blaspheme the worthy name that was called on you?
- 8 If however ye fulfil law royal according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well;
- 9 but if ye have respect to persons, ye work sin, being convicted by the law as transgressors.
- 10 For whoever shall keep the law as a whole, but shall offend in one [point] is become guilty of all.
- 11 For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adultery, said also, Thou shalt not kill. And if thou commit not adultery but killest, thou art become a transgressor of law.
- 12 So speak, and so act, as about to be judged by a law of liberty;
- 13 for the judgment [is] merciless to him that [^] showed no mercy. Mercy glorieth over judgment.
- 14 What [is] the profit, my brethren, if one say he have [^] faith, but have not works? Can faith save him?
- 15 If a brother or a sister be naked, and destitute of daily food,
- 16 and one from among you say to them, Go in peace, be warmed and filled, but ye give them not the things needful for the body, what [is] the profit?
- 17 So also faith, if it have not works, is dead in [or, by] itself.
- 18 But some one will say, Thou hast faith, and I have works. Show me thy faith apart from [^] works, and out of [or, by] my works I will show thee my faith.

- 19 Thou believest that God is one. Thou doest well. The demons even believe, and tremble.
- 20 But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?
- 21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar?
- 22 Thou seest that faith wrought with his works, and that by works faith was perfected.
- 23 And the scripture was fulfilled which says, Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness, and he was called Friend of God.
- 24 Ye see that a man is justified on the principle of works, and not on the principle of faith only.
- 25 But was not in like manner also Rahab the harlot justified on the principle of works, when she had received the messengers and put [them] forth by another way?
- 26 For as the body without a spirit is dead, so also faith without works is dead.

JAMES 3 JND

- 1 Be not many teachers, my brethren, knowing that we shall receive greater judgment.
- 2 For we all often offend. If any one offend not in word, he [is] a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body too.
- 3 Behold, we put the bits in the mouths of the horses, that they may obey us, and we turn round their whole bodies.
- 4 Behold also the ships, which are so great, and driven by violent winds, are turned about by a very small rudder, wherever the pleasure of the helmsman will.
- 5 Thus also the tongue is a little member, and boasts great things. See how little a fire, how large a wood it kindles!
- 6 and the tongue [is] fire, the world of unrighteousness; the tongue is set in our members, the defiler of the whole body, and which sets fire to the course of nature, and is set on fire of hell.
- 7 For every species both of beasts and of birds, both of creeping things and of sea animals, is tamed and has been tamed by the human species;
- 8 but the tongue can no one among men tame; [it is] an unsettled evil, full of death-bringing poison.
- 9 Therewith bless we the Lord and Father, and therewith curse we men made after [the] likeness of God.
- 10 Out of the same mouth goes forth blessing and cursing. It is not right, my brethren, that these things should be thus.
- 11 Does the fountain, out of the same opening, pour forth sweet and bitter?
- 12 Can, my brethren, a fig produce olives, or a vine figs? Neither [can] salt [water] make sweet water.
- 13 Who [is] wise and understanding among you; let him shew out of a good conversation his works in meekness of wisdom;

- 19 Thou believest that God is one; thou doest well; the demons also believe and shudder.
- 20 But art thou willing to learn [know], O vain man, that faith apart from works is dead [or, idle]?
- 21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when [or, in that] he offered Isaac his son upon the altar?
- 22 Thou seest that faith wrought with his works, and by works faith was perfected.
- 23 And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him for righteousness, and he was called ^ Friend of God.
- 24 Ye see that a man is justified by works and not by faith only.
- 25 And likewise was not also Rahab the harlot justified by [out of] works, in that she received the messengers and sent [them] out another way?
- 26 For as the body without a spirit is dead, so also ^faith without ^ works is dead.

JAMES 3 WK

- 1 Be not many ^ teachers, my brethren, knowing that we shall receive greater judgment.
- 2 For in many things [or, often] we all offend. If any one offendeth not in word, he [is] a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body also.
- 3 Now if we put the horses' bridles [or, bits] in their mouths, that they may obey us, we turn about their whole body also.
- 4 Behold, the ships also, ^ though they are so great and are driven by rough winds, are turned about by a very small rudder, where the impulse of the helmsman may purpose.
- 5 So also the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. See how large a wood how little a fire kindleth!
- 6 And the tongue [is] fire, the world of iniquity; ^ the tongue cometh to be in our members that which defileth the whole body, and setteth in a blaze the course [lit. wheel] of nature, and is set in a blaze by gehenna.
- 7 For every nature of both wild beasts and birds, of both things that creep and things in the sea, is tamed and hath been tamed by the nature of man;
- 8 but the tongue is none of men able to tame; an unsettled evil, full of deadly poison.
- 9 Therewith we bless the Lord and [the] Father, and therewith we curse men that are made according to God's likeness.
- 10 Out of the same mouth cometh blessing and cursing. Not so, my brethren, ought these things to be.
- 11 Doth the fountain out of the same opening pour forth the sweet and the bitter?
- 12 Can, my brethren, a figtree produce olives, or a vine, figs? ^ Neither [can] ^ salt water produce sweet.
- 13 ^ Who [is] wise and understanding among you? Let him show out of his good conduct his works in meekness of wisdom.

- 14 but if ye have bitter emulation and strife in your hearts, do not boast and lie against the truth.
- 15 This is not the wisdom which comes down from above, but earthly, natural, devilish.
- 16 For where emulation and strife [are], there [is] disorder and every evil thing.
- 17 But the wisdom from above first is pure, then peaceful, gentle, yielding, full of mercy and good fruits, unquestioning, unfeigned.
- 18 But [the] fruit of righteousness in peace is sown for them that make peace.

JAMES 4 JND

- 1 Whence [come] wars and whence fightings among you? [Is it] not thence, — from your pleasures, which war in your members?
- 2 Ye lust and have not: ye kill and are full of envy, and cannot obtain; ye fight and war; ye have not because ye ask not.
- 3 Ye ask and receive not, because ye ask evilly, that ye may consume [it] in your pleasures.
- 4 Adulteresses, know ye not that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whoever therefore is minded to be [the] friend of the world is constituted enemy of God.
- 5 Think ye that the scripture speaks in vain? Does the Spirit which has taken his abode in us desire enviously?
- 6 But he gives more grace. Wherefore he says, God sets himself against [the] proud, but gives grace to [the] lowly.
- 7 Subject yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.
- 8 Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse [your] hands, sinners, and purify [your] hearts, ye double-minded.
- 9 Be wretched, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and [your] joy to heaviness.
- 10 Humble yourselves before [the] Lord, and he shall exalt you.
- 11 Speak not against one another, brethren. He that speaks against [his] brother, or judges his brother, speaks against [the] law and judges [the] law. But if thou judgest [the] law, thou art not doer of [the] law, but judge.
- 12 One is the lawgiver and judge, who is able to save and to destroy: but who art thou who judgest thy neighbour?
- 13 Go to now, ye who say, To-day or to-morrow will we go into such a city and spend a year there, and traffic and make gain,
- 14 ye who do not know what will be on the morrow, ([for] what [is] your life? It is even a vapour, appearing for a little while, and then disappearing,)
- 15 instead of your saying, If the Lord should [so] will and we should live, we will also do this or that.
- 16 But now ye glory in your vauntings: all such glorying is evil.
- 17 To him therefore who knows how to do good, and does it not, to him it is sin.

- 14 But if ye have bitter emulation and faction in your heart, do not boast and lie against the truth.
- 15 This wisdom is not descending from above, but earthly, natural, demoniacal.
- 16 For where envying and faction [are], there disorder [is] and every bad deed.
- 17 But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, uncontentious, impartial [or, unfeigned].
- 18 And righteousness' fruit in peace is being sown for those that make peace.

JAMES 4 WK

- 1 Whence [are] wars and whence fightings among you? [Are they] not hence, from your pleasures that combat in your members?
- 2 Ye lust and have not; ye kill and are jealous, and cannot obtain; ye fight and war; ye have not because ye ask not;
- 3 ye ask and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may spend [it] in your pleasures.
- 4 Adulteresses, know ye not that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Whosoever therefore shall be minded to be friend of the world is constituted enemy of God.
- 5 Or think ye that the scripture saith in vain? [^] Doth the Spirit that took his dwelling in us long unto envy?
- 6 But he giveth more grace; wherefore he saith, God setteth himself against haughty [men], but giveth grace to lowly.
- 7 Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.
- 8 Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse hands, sinners, and purify hearts, ye double-minded.
- 9 Sorrow, and mourn, and weep; let your laughter be turned unto mourning, and [your] joy unto heaviness.
- 10 Humble yourselves before [the] Lord, and he will exalt you.
- 11 Speak not against one another, brethren. He that speaketh against a brother, or judgeth his brother, speaketh against law and judgeth law; but if thou judgest law, thou art not a doer of law but a judge.
- 12 One is the law-giver and judge that is able to save and destroy; but who art thou that judgest [thy] neighbour?
- 13 Go to now, ye that say, To-day or to-morrow we will go to this city here, and spend there a year, and traffic and make gain,
- 14 whereas ye know not what [will be] the morrow. [^] Of what sort [is] your life? Why, it is [^] a vapour that appeareth for a little and then disappeareth,
- 15 instead of your saying, If the Lord will, we shall both live and do this or that.
- 16 But now ye glory in your vauntings; all such glorying is wicked.
- 17 To one therefore knowing to do a comely [thing], and not doing [it], it is a sin to him.

JAMES 5 JND

- 1 Go to now, ye rich, weep, howling over your miseries that [are] coming upon [you].
- 2 Your wealth is become rotten, and your garments motheaten.
- 3 Your gold and silver is eaten away, and their canker shall be for a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as fire. Ye have heaped up treasure in [the] last days.
- 4 Behold, the wages of your labourers, who have harvested your fields, wrongfully kept back by you, cry, and the cries of those that have reaped are entered into the ears of [the] Lord of sabaoth.
- 5 Ye have lived luxuriously on the earth and indulged yourselves; ye have nourished your hearts [as] in a day of slaughter;
- 6 ye have condemned, ye have killed the just; he does not resist you.
- 7 Have patience, therefore, brethren, till the coming of the Lord. Behold, the labourer awaits the precious fruit of the earth, having patience for it until it receive [the] early and [the] latter rain.
- 8 Ye also have patience: stablish your hearts, for the coming of the Lord is drawn nigh.
- 9 Complain not one against another, brethren, that ye be not judged. Behold, the judge stands before the door.
- 10 Take [as] an example, brethren, of suffering and having patience, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of [the] Lord.
- 11 Behold, we call them blessed who have endured. Ye have heard of the endurance of Job, and seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is full of tender compassion and pitiful.
- 12 But before all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, nor by the earth, nor by any other oath; but let your yea be yea, and your nay, nay, that ye do not fall under judgment.
- 13 Does any one among you suffer evil? let him pray. Is any happy? let him sing psalms.
- 14 Is any sick among you? let him call to [him] the elders of the assembly, and let them pray over him anointing him with oil in the name of [the] Lord;
- 15 and the prayer of faith shall heal the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he be one who has committed sins, it shall be forgiven him.
- 16 Confess therefore your offences to one another, and pray for one another, that ye may be healed. [The] fervent supplication of the righteous [man] has much power.
- 17 Elias was a man of like passions to us, and he prayed with prayer that it should not rain; and it did not rain upon the earth three years and six months;
- 18 and again he prayed, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth caused its fruit to spring forth.
- 19 My brethren, if any one among you err from the truth, and one bring him back,

JAMES 5 WK

- 1 Come then, ye rich, weep howling over your miseries that are coming on.
- 2 Your wealth is corrupted, and your garments are become moth-eaten.
- 3 Your gold and [your] silver are rusted through, and their rust shall be for a witness to you, and shall eat your flesh as fire. Ye laid up treasure in [the] last days.
- 4 Behold, the hire of the labourers who reaped your fields, that is kept back of you [or, from you], calleth out, and the cries of those that reaped entered into the ears of Jehovah of hosts.
- 5 Ye lived luxuriously on the earth and indulged yourselves; ye nourished your hearts [^] in a day of slaughter.
- 6 Ye condemned, ye slew the just one; he doth not resist you.
- 7 Be patient therefore, brethren, until the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, being patient for [or, over] it, until it receive early and latter rain.
- 8 Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts; for the coming of the Lord is at hand.
- 9 Murmur [or, groan] not, brethren, one against another, that ye be not judged. Behold, the judge standeth before the door.
- 10 Take, brethren, [for] an example of suffering and of patience, the prophets who spoke in the name of [the] Lord.
- 11 Behold, we call them blessed who endured. Ye heard of the endurance of Job, and saw [the] Lord's end; for the Lord is full of compassion, and merciful.
- 12 But before all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, nor by the earth, nor by any other oath; but let your yea be yea, and nay nay, lest ye fall under judgment.
- 13 Doth any among you suffer trouble? Let him pray. Is any happy? Let him sing praise.
- 14 Is any sick among you? Let him call to [him] the elders of the assembly, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil, in the name of the Lord.
- 15 And the prayer of faith shall save [heal] the sick, and the Lord will raise him up, and if he have committed sins, it shall be forgiven him.
- 16 Confess therefore your sins [or, 'offences'] to one another, and pray for one another, that ye may be healed. A righteous [one's] supplication hath much power if it work.
- 17 Elijah was a man of like passions with us, and he prayed prayerfully that it might not rain; and it rained not on the earth for three years and six months.
- 18 And he prayed again; and the heaven gave rain, and the earth sprouted forth its fruit.
- 19 My brethren, if any among you should err from the [^] truth, and one turn him back, 20 let him know that he that brings back a sinner from [the] error of his way shall save a soul from death and shall cover a multitude of sins.

20 let him know that he that turneth back a sinner from the error of his way shall save a [or, his] soul from death, and shall cover a multitude of sins.

I PETER I JND

- 1 Peter, apostle of Jesus Christ, to [the] sojourners of [the] dispersion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,
- 2 elect according to [the] foreknowledge of God [the] Father, by sanctification of [the] Spirit, unto [the] obedience and sprinkling of [the] blood of Jesus Christ: Grace to you and peace be multiplied.
- 3 Blessed [be] the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who, according to his great mercy, has begotten us again to a living hope through [the] resurrection of Jesus Christ from among [the] dead,
- 4 to an incorruptible and undefiled and unfading inheritance, reserved in [the] heavens for you,
- 5 who are kept guarded by [the] power of God through faith for salvation ready to be revealed in [the] last time.
- 6 Wherein ye exult, for a little while at present, if needed, put to grief by various trials,
- 7 that the proving of your faith, much more precious than of gold which perishes, though it be proved by fire, be found to praise and glory and honour in [the] revelation of Jesus Christ:
- 8 whom, having not seen, ye love; on whom [though] not now looking but believing ye exult with joy unspeakable and filled with the glory,
- 9 receiving the end of your faith, [the] salvation of [your] souls.
- 10 Concerning which salvation prophets, who have prophesied of the grace towards you, sought out and searched out;
- 11 searching what, or what manner, of time, the Spirit of Christ which [was] in them pointed out, testifying before of the sufferings which [belonged] to Christ, and the glories after these.
- 12 To whom it was revealed, that not to themselves but to you they ministered those things, which have now been announced to you by those who have declared to you the glad tidings by [the] Holy Ghost, sent from heaven, which angels desire to look into.
- 13 Wherefore, having girded up the loins of your mind, [be] sober [and] hope with perfect stedfastness in the grace [which will be] brought to you at [the] revelation of Jesus Christ;
- 14 as children of obedience, not conformed to [your] former lusts in your ignorance;
- 15 but as he who has called you is holy, be ye also holy in all [your] conversation;
- 16 because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy.
- 17 And if ye invoke as Father him who, without regard of persons, judges according to the work of each, pass your time of sojourn in fear,
- 18 knowing that ye have been redeemed, not by corruptible [things, as] silver or gold, from your vain conversation handed down from [your] fathers,
- 19 but by precious blood, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot, [the blood] of Christ,

I PETER I WK

- 1 Peter, [^] apostle of Jesus Christ to [^] elect [^] sojourners scattered through Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia.
- 2 Elect according to foreknowledge of God [the] Father, in [or, by] [the] Spirit's sanctification, unto [^] obedience and blood-sprinkling of Jesus Christ: grace to you and peace be multiplied.
- 3 Blessed [be] the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, that according to his abundant mercy begot us again unto a living hope through Jesus Christ's resurrection out of [the] dead,
- 4 unto an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and unfading, reserved in [the] heavens for you,
- 5 that are being guarded by God's power through faith unto a salvation ready to be revealed in a [or, the] last season.
- 6 Wherein ye exult, now for a little (if it is needful) put to grief in manifold trials,
- 7 that the proof of your faith, much more precious than [^] gold that perisheth though proved by fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at [the] revelation of Jesus Christ.
- 8 Whom, having not seen, ye love; in whom, though not now seeing but believing, ye exult with joy unspeakable and glorified [or, full of glory],
- 9 receiving the end of your faith, salvation of souls.
- 10 Of which salvation [^] prophets that prophesied of the grace that [was] toward you sought out and searched out.
- 11 Searching what or what sort of time the Spirit of Christ that [was] in them did indicate when testifying beforehand the sufferings that [were] for Christ, and the glories after them.
- 12 To whom it was revealed that not to themselves but to you they were ministering the very things which have now been announced to you through those that brought you glad tidings by [the] Holy Spirit sent forth from heaven; which things angels desire to look into.
- 13 Wherefore, having girded up the loins of your mind, being sober, hope perfectly for the grace that is to be brought to you at Jesus Christ's revelation.
- 14 As children of obedience, not conformed to the former lusts in your ignorance,
- 15 but according to the Holy One that called you, be ye also holy in every [part of] conduct,
- 16 because it is written, Holy ye shall be, because I [am] holy.
- 17 And if as Father ye call on Him that impartially judgeth according to the work of each, pass the time of your sojourning [^] in fear.
- 18 Knowing that not by corruptibles, silver or gold, ye were redeemed, from your vain course ancestrally handed down,
- 19 but by precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb unblemished and spotless,

- 20 foreknown indeed before [the] foundation of [the] world, but who has been manifested at the end of times for your sakes,
- 21 who by him do believe on God, who has raised him from among [the] dead and given him glory, that your faith and hope should be in God.
- 22 Having purified your souls by obedience to the truth to unfeigned brotherly love, love one another out of a pure heart fervently.
- 23 Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by [the] living and abiding word of God.
- 24 Because all flesh [is] as grass, and all its glory as [the] flower of grass. The grass has withered and [its] flower has fallen;
- 25 but the word of [the] Lord abides for eternity. But this is the word which in the glad tidings [is] preached to you.

1 PETER 2 JND

- 1 Laying aside therefore all malice and all guile and hypocrisies and envyings and all evil speakings,
- 2 as newborn babes desire earnestly the pure mental milk of the word, that by it ye may grow up to salvation,
- 3 if indeed ye have tasted that the Lord [is] good.
- 4 To whom coming, a living stone, cast away indeed as worthless by men, but with God chosen, precious
- 5 yourselves also, as living stones, are being built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.
- 6 Because it is contained in the scripture: Behold, I lay in Zion a corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believes on him shall not be put to shame.
- 7 To you therefore who believe [is] the preciousness; but to the disobedient, the stone which the builders cast away as worthless, this is become head of [the] corner,
- 8 and a stone of stumbling and rock of offence; [who] stumble at the word, being disobedient, to which also they have been appointed.
- 9 But ye [are] a chosen race, a kingly priesthood, a holy nation, a people for a possession, that ye might set forth the excellencies of him who has called you out of darkness to his wonderful light;
- 10 who once [were] not a people, but now God's people; who were not enjoying mercy, but now have found mercy.
- 11 Beloved, I exhort [you], as strangers and sojourners, to abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul;
- 12 having your conversation honest among the Gentiles, that [as to that] in which they speak against you as evildoers, they may through [your] good works, [themselves] witnessing [them], glorify God in [the] day of visitation.
- 13 Be in subjection [therefore] to every human institution for the Lord's sake; whether to [the] king as supreme,
- 14 or to rulers as sent by him, for vengeance on evildoers, and praise to them that do well.
- 15 Because so is the will of God, that by well-doing ye put to silence the ignorance of senseless men;

- 20 ^Λ foreknown indeed before [the] world's foundation, but manifested at [the] last of the times for your sake,
- 21 that through him believe on God that raised him out of [the] dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope are in God.
- 22 Purified your souls as ye have in your obedience to the truth ^Λ unto brotherly affection unfeigned, love one another out of a pure heart fervently.
- 23 Having been begotten again, not of corruptible seed but of incorruptible, through God's living and abiding word ^Λ.
- 24 Because all flesh [is] as grass, and all its glory as a flower of grass. The grass withered and the flower fell away;
- 25 but the word of [the] Lord [Jehovah] abideth for ever. And this is the word that as glad tidings was preached unto you.

1 PETER 2 WK

- 1 Putting away therefore all malice and all guile and hypocrisies and envyings and all evil-speakings,
- 2 as new-born babes long for the guileless intelligent milk that by it ye may grow unto salvation,
- 3 if indeed ye tasted that the Lord is good.
- 4 Unto whom approaching, a living stone, by men indeed rejected but with God chosen, precious,
- 5 yourselves also as living stones are being builded up a spiritual house, ^Λ a holy priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.
- 6 Because it is contained in scripture, Behold, I lay in Zion a corner-stone, elect, precious; and he that believeth on him [or, it] shall in no way be shamed.
- 7 To you therefore that believe [is] the preciousness; but to disobedient [ones] a stone which the builders rejected, this became head of corner,
- 8 and stone of stumbling, and rock of offence; stumbling as they do at the word, being disobedient, unto which also they were appointed.
- 9 But ye [emphatically, are] a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for a ^Λ possession, that ye might set out the excellencies of him who called you out of darkness unto his marvellous light;
- 10 who once [were] no people but now God's people, the unpitied, but now pitied.
- 11 Beloved, I exhort [you] as strangers and sojourners to abstain from the fleshly lusts such as war against the soul,
- 12 having your behaviour comely among the Gentiles; that in what they speak against you as evil-doers, they, as observing, may from your comely works glorify God in [the] day of visitation.
- 13 Be subject ^Λ to every human institution for the Lord's sake; whether to a king as supreme,
- 14 or to rulers as being sent through him, for vengeance on evil-doers and for praise to those that do well.
- 15 Because so is the will of God, that by well-doing ye put to silence the ignorance of senseless men;

1 Peter

- 16 as free, and not as having liberty as a cloak of malice, but as God's bondmen.
- 17 Shew honour to all, love the brotherhood, fear God, honour the king.
- 18 Servants, [be] subject with all fear to your masters, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the ill-tempered.
- 19 For this [is] acceptable, if one, for conscience sake towards God, endure griefs, suffering unjustly.
- 20 For what glory [is it], if sinning and being buffeted ye shall bear [it]? but if, doing good and suffering, ye shall bear [it], this is acceptable with God.
- 21 For to this have ye been called; for Christ also has suffered for you, leaving you a model that ye should follow in his steps:
- 22 who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth;
- 23 who, [when] reviled, reviled not again; [when] suffering, threatened not; but gave [himself] over into the hands of him who judges righteously;
- 24 who himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, in order that, being dead to sins, we may live to righteousness: by whose stripes ye have been healed.
- 25 For ye were going astray as sheep, but have now returned to the shepherd and overseer of your souls.

1 PETER 3 JND

- 1 Likewise, wives, [be] subject to your own husbands, that, even if any are disobedient to the word, they may be gained without [the] word by the conversation of the wives,
- 2 having witnessed your pure conversation [carried out] in fear;
- 3 whose adorning let it not be that outward one of tressing of hair, and wearing gold, or putting on apparel;
- 4 but the hidden man of the heart, in the incorruptible [ornament] of a meek and quiet spirit, which in the sight of God is of great price.
- 5 For thus also the holy women who have hoped in God heretofore adorned themselves, being subject to their own husbands;
- 6 as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord; whose children ye have become, doing good, and not fearing with any kind of consternation.
- 7 [Ye] husbands likewise, dwell with [them] according to knowledge, as with a weaker, [even] the female, vessel, giving [them] honour, as also fellow-heirs of [the] grace of life, that your prayers be not hindered.
- 8 Finally, [be] all of one mind, sympathizing, full of brotherly love, tender hearted, humble minded; not rendering evil for evil,
- 9 or railing for railing; but on the contrary, blessing [others], because ye have been called to this, that ye should inherit blessing.
- 10 For he that will love life and see good days, let him cause his tongue to cease from evil and his lips that they speak no guile.

- 16 as free, and not having liberty as a cloak of [^] malice, but as God's bondmen.
- 17 Honour all, love the brotherhood, fear God, honour the king.
- 18 Household servants, be in subjection with all fear to your masters, not only to the good and gentle, but also to the crooked.
- 19 For this [is] grace if for conscience toward God one endureth griefs, suffering unjustly.
- 20 For what glory [is it] if when ye sin and are buffeted ye shall endure? but if when ye do well and suffer ye shall endure, this [is] grace with God.
- 21 For to this were ye called; because Christ also suffered for you, leaving you a model that ye should follow up his steps;
- 22 who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth;
- 23 who when reviled did not again revile, when suffering did not threaten, but gave over [^] to him that judgeth righteously.
- 24 Who himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, that we, having died to sins, might live to righteousness; by whose stripes ye were healed.
- 25 For ye were going astray as sheep, but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Overseer of your souls.

1 PETER 3 WK

- 1 Likewise, ye wives, [be] subject to your own husbands, that even if any are disobedient to the word, they may be gained without word through the behaviour of the wives,
- 2 having beheld your chaste behaviour in fear;
- 3 whose adornment let it not be the outward one of plaiting the hair, and of wearing [^] gold, or of putting on apparel,
- 4 but the hidden man of the heart, in the incorruptible of the meek and quiet spirit which is in the sight of God very precious.
- 5 For thus also heretofore the holy women that hoped in God adorned themselves, being subject to their own husbands;
- 6 as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord, whose children ye became, doing good and not being afraid of any dismay.
- 7 Ye husbands, likewise, dwelling with [them] according to knowledge, awarding honour as to a weaker vessel — the female, as also fellow-heirs of the grace of life, that your prayers be not hindered.
- 8 Finally [be] all likeminded, sympathetic, brother-loving, tender-hearted, humble-minded;
- 9 not rendering evil for evil, or reviling for reviling, but on the contrary blessing, because hereunto ye were called, that ye should inherit blessing.
- 10 For he that will love life and see good days, let him stop his tongue from evil and his lips that they speak no guile;

- 11 And let him avoid evil, and do good; let him seek peace and pursue it;
- 12 because [the] eyes of [the] Lord [are] on [the] righteous, and his ears towards their supplications; but [the] face of [the] Lord [is] against them that do evil.
- 13 And who shall injure you if ye have become imitators of that which [is] good?
- 14 But if also ye should suffer for righteousness sake, blessed [are ye]; but be not afraid of their fear, neither be troubled;
- 15 but sanctify [the] Lord the Christ in your hearts, and [be] always prepared to [give] an answer [to] every one that asks you to give an account of the hope that [is] in you, but with meekness and fear;
- 16 having a good conscience, that [as to that] in which they speak against you as evildoers, they may be ashamed who calumniate your good conversation in Christ.
- 17 For [it is] better, if the will of God should will it, to suffer [as] well-doers than [as] evildoers;
- 18 for Christ indeed has once suffered for sins, [the] just for [the] unjust, that he might bring us to God; being put to death in flesh, but made alive in [the] Spirit,
- 19 in which also going he preached to the spirits [which are] in prison,
- 20 heretofore disobedient, when the longsuffering of God waited in [the] days of Noe while [the] ark was preparing, into which few, that is, eight souls, were saved through water:
- 21 which figure also now saves you, [even] baptism, not a putting away of [the] filth of flesh, but [the] demand as before God of a good conscience, by [the] resurrection of Jesus Christ,
- 22 who is at [the] right hand of God, gone into heaven, angels and authorities and powers being subjected to him.

1 PETER 4 JND

- 1 Christ, then, having suffered for us in [the] flesh, do ye also arm yourselves with the same mind; for he that has suffered in [the] flesh has done with sin,
- 2 no longer to live the rest of [his] time in [the] flesh to men's lusts, but to God's will.
- 3 For the time past [is] sufficient [for us] to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, walking in lasciviousness, lusts, wine-drinking, revels, drinkings, and unhallowed idolatries.
- 4 Wherein they think it strange that ye run not with [them] to the same sink of corruption, speaking injuriously [of you];
- 5 who shall render account to him who is ready to judge [the] living and [the] dead.
- 6 For to this [end] were the glad tidings preached to [the] dead also, that they might be judged, as regards men, after [the] flesh, but live, as regards God, after [the] Spirit.
- 7 But the end of all things is drawn nigh: be sober therefore, and be watchful unto prayers;
- 8 but before all things having fervent love among yourselves, because love covers a multitude of sins;

- 11 and let him turn away from evil and do good; let him seek peace and pursue it;
- 12 because [the] Lord's eyes [are] on the righteous and his ears unto their supplication; but [the] Lord's face is against evil-doers.
- 13 And who shall injure you if ye become zealous of the good?
- 14 But if even ye should suffer for righteousness, blessed [are ye]; and be not afraid of their fear, nor be troubled,
- 15 but sanctify the Christ as Lord in your hearts, ready always for answer [or, defence] to every one that asketh you a reason for the hope that is in you, but with meekness and fear,
- 16 having a good conscience, that in what they speak against you as evil-doers, they may be ashamed that revile your good behaviour in Christ.
- 17 For [it is] better, if the will of God should will [it], to suffer [for] well-doing than [for] evil-doing.
- 18 Because even Christ once suffered for sins, just for unjust, that He might bring us to God, put to death indeed in flesh, but made alive in [the] Spirit.
- 19 In [virtue of] which also he went and preached to the spirits in prison,
- 20 in disobedient aforetime when the long-suffering of God was waiting in Noah's days, while an ark was being prepared, in which few, that is eight souls, were brought safe through water.
- 21 Which figure [or, antitype] also now saveth you, baptism, not a putting away of filth of flesh, but a request of a good conscience toward God through Jesus Christ's resurrection;
- 22 who is at God's right hand, having proceeded into heaven, angels, and authorities, and powers being subjected to him.

1 PETER 4 WK

- 1 Since Christ then suffered [for us] in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same mind; because he that suffered in flesh hath ceased from sin,
- 2 no longer to live the rest of time in flesh to men's lusts but to God's will.
- 3 For the past time in [is] sufficient to have wrought out [or, purposed] the will of the Gentiles, walking as ye had done in lasciviousness, lusts, wine-bibbings, revels, carousings, and unhallowed idolatries;
- 4 wherein they think it strange that ye run not with [them] into the same excess of profligacy, speaking injuriously,
- 5 who shall render account to him that is ready to judge in living and in dead.
- 6 For to this end was the gospel preached to dead men also, that they might be judged according to men in flesh, and live according to God in spirit.
- 7 But the end of all things hath drawn nigh. Be discreet therefore and watch [or, be sober] unto prayers,
- 8 and before all things having your love toward each other fervent, for love covereth a multitude of sins;

- 9 hospitable one to another, without murmuring;
 10 each according as he has received a gift, ministering it to one another, as good stewards of [the] various grace of God.
 11 If any one speak — as oracles of God; if any one minister — as of strength which God supplies; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom is the glory and the might for the ages of ages. Amen.
 12 Beloved, take not [as] strange the fire [of persecution] which has taken place amongst you for [your] trial, as if a strange thing was happening to you;
 13 but as ye have share in the sufferings of Christ, rejoice, that in the revelation of his glory also ye may rejoice with exultation.
 14 If ye are reproached in [the] name of Christ, blessed [are ye]; for the [Spirit] of glory and the Spirit of God rests upon you: [on their part he is blasphemed, but on your part he is glorified.]
 15 Let none of you suffer indeed as murderer, or thief, or evil-doer, or as overseer of other people's matters;
 16 but if as a christian, let him not be ashamed, but glorify God in this name.
 17 For the time of having the judgment begin from the house of God [is come]; but if first from us, what [shall be] the end of those who obey not the glad tidings of God?
 18 And if the righteous is difficultly saved, where shall the impious and [the] sinner appear?
 19 Wherefore also let them who suffer according to the will of God commit their souls in well-doing to a faithful Creator.

1 PETER 5 JND

- 1 The elders which [are] among your I exhort, who [am their] fellow-elder and witness of the sufferings of the Christ, who also [am] partaker of the glory about to be revealed:
 2 shepherd the flock of God which [is] among you, exercising oversight, not by necessity, but willingly; not for base gain, but readily;
 3 not as lording it over your possessions, but being models for the flock.
 4 And when the chief shepherd is manifested ye shall receive the unfading crown of glory.
 5 Likewise [ye] younger, be subject to [the] elder, and all of you bind on humility towards one another; for God sets himself against [the] proud, but to [the] humble gives grace.
 6 Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in [the due] time;
 7 having cast all your care upon him, for he cares about you.
 8 Be vigilant, watch. Your adversary [the] devil as a roaring lion walks about seeking whom he may devour.

- 9 hospitable toward one another without murmuring;
 10 according as each received a gift, ministering it toward each other as good stewards of God's various grace:
 11 if one speak, [let it be] as oracles of God; if one ministereth, as of strength which God supplieth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, whose is the glory and the might unto the ages of the ages. Amen.
 12 Beloved, be not surprised at [count not strange] the fire among you that cometh for your trial, as though a strange thing were happening to you;
 13 but inasmuch as ye share in the sufferings of Christ, rejoice, that in the revelation of his glory also ye may rejoice exultingly.
 14 If ye are reproached in Christ's name, blessed [are ye], because the [Spirit] of glory and the Spirit of God [^] resteth upon you: [on their part he is blasphemed, but on your part he is glorified].
 15 For let none of you suffer as murderer or thief or evil-doer, or as spy on another's matter;
 16 but if as a Christian, let him not be ashamed but glorify God in this name.
 17 Because the time [is] that judgment begin from the house of God; and if first from us, what [shall be] the end of those that obey not the gospel of God?
 18 And if the righteous is with difficulty saved, where shall the impious and sinful appear?
 19 Wherefore also let those that suffer according to the will of God commit their souls in well-doing [^] to a faithful Creator.

1 PETER 5 WK

- 1 [^] Elders [therefore] that [are] among you I exhort that [am] fellow-elder, and witness of the sufferings of Christ, that [am] also partaker of the glory about to be revealed.
 2 Tend [or, shepherd] the flock of God that [is] among you, exercising oversight, not by necessity but willingly, [^] not for base gain, but readily,
 3 nor as lording it over your [^] allotments, but becoming models of the flock.
 4 And when the Chief-shepherd is manifested, ye shall receive the unfading crown of glory.
 5 Likewise, ye younger, be subject to elders; and all of you [^] bind on humility to one another; because God setteth himself against haughty ones, and giveth grace to lowly.
 6 Humble yourselves [or, Be humbled] therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time,
 7 having cast all your anxiety upon him, because he careth for you.
 8 Be vigilant, watch: [^] your adversary [the] devil as a roaring lion walketh about, seeking whom he may devour;

- 9 Whom resist, stedfast in faith, knowing that the selfsame sufferings are accomplished in your brotherhood which [is] in [the] world.
- 10 But the God of all grace who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ Jesus, when ye have suffered for a little while, himself shall make perfect, stablish, strengthen, ground:
- 11 to him [be] the glory and the might for the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 12 By Sylvanus, the faithful brother, as I suppose, I have written to you briefly; exhorting and testifying that this is [the] true grace of God in which ye stand.
- 13 She that is elected with [you] in Babylon salutes you, and Marcus my son.
- 14 Salute one another with a kiss of love. Peace be with you all who [are] in Christ.

- 9 whom resist, steadfast in faith, knowing that the same sufferings are accomplished in your brotherhood that [is] in the world.
- 10 But the God of all grace that called you unto his everlasting glory in Christ Jesus, after having suffered a little while, shall himself perfect, stablish, strengthen, ground:
- 11 to him [be or, is] the glory and the might for the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 12 By Silvanus, the faithful brother, as I account, I write to you in [by] few [words], exhorting and testifying that this is God's true grace in which stand [or, ye stand].
- 13 She that is in Babylon elect with [you] saluteth you, and Mark my son.
- 14 Salute one another with a kiss of love. Peace to you all that are in Christ.

2 PETER 1 JND

- 1 Simon Peter, bondman and apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have received like precious faith with us through [the] righteousness of our God and Saviour Jesus Christ:
- 2 Grace and peace be multiplied to you in [the] knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.
- 3 As his divine power has given to us all things which relate to life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that has called us by glory and virtue,
- 4 through which he has given to us the greatest and precious promises, that through these ye may become partakers of [the] divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.
- 5 But for this very reason also, using therewith all diligence, in your faith have also virtue, in virtue knowledge,
- 6 in knowledge temperance, in temperance endurance, in endurance godliness,
- 7 in godliness brotherly love, in brotherly love love:
- 8 for these things existing and abounding in you make [you] to be neither idle nor unfruitful as regards the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 9 for he with whom these things are not present is blind, shortsighted, and has forgotten the purging of his former sins.
- 10 Wherefore the rather, brethren, use diligence to make your calling and election sure, for doing these things ye will never fall;
- 11 for thus shall the entrance into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ be richly furnished unto you.
- 12 Wherefore I will be careful to put you always in mind of these things, although knowing [them] and established in the present truth.
- 13 But I account it right, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting [you] in remembrance,
- 14 knowing that the putting off of my tabernacle is speedily [to take place], as also our Lord Jesus Christ has manifested to me;
- 15 but I will use diligence, that after my departure ye should have also, at any time, [in your power] to call to mind these things.
- 16 For we have not made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, following cleverly imagined fables, but having been eye-witnesses of his majesty.
- 17 For he received from God [the] Father honour and glory, such a voice being uttered to him by the excellent glory: This is my beloved Son, in whom I have found my delight;
- 18 and this voice we heard uttered from heaven, being with him on the holy mountain.
- 19 And we have the prophetic word [made] surer, to which ye do well taking heed (as to a lamp shining in an obscure

2 PETER 1 WK

- 1 Simon Peter, [^] bondman and apostle of Jesus Christ to them that obtained like precious faith with us in virtue of [the] righteousness of our God and [^] Saviour Jesus Christ.
- 2 Grace to you and peace be multiplied in knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.
- 3 As his divine power hath granted to us all things that [are] for life and godliness through the knowledge of him that called us by his own glory and excellence.
- 4 Through which he hath granted to us the greatest and precious promises, that through these ye may become partakers of a divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world in [or, by] lust.
- 5 But for this very thing also, bringing in besides all diligence, in your faith supply virtue, and in virtue knowledge,
- 6 and in [^] knowledge temperance, and in [^] temperance endurance, and in [^] endurance godliness,
- 7 and in [^] godliness brotherly affection, and in [^] brotherly affection love.
- 8 For these things being in you and abounding make [you] [^] not idle nor unfruitful for the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ:
- 9 for he with whom they are not present is blind, shortsighted, having forgotten the cleansing of his old sins.
- 10 Wherefore the rather, brethren, use diligence to make your calling and election sure; for in doing these things ye shall never stumble.
- 11 For thus shall be richly furnished to you the entrance into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.
- 12 Wherefore I shall be ready always to put you in mind of those things, though knowing [these] and established in the present truth.
- 13 And I deem [it] right, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting [you] in mind,
- 14 knowing that the putting off of my tabernacle is speedy, according as our Lord Jesus Christ manifested to me.
- 15 And I will be diligent also that at every time ye may have [it, or the power] after my departure to call to mind these things.
- 16 For we made known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, not following cleverly devised fables, but made eyewitnesses of his majesty.
- 17 For he received [literally, having received] from God the Father honour and glory, when such a voice was borne to him by the magnificent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I found my delight [or, complacency].
- 18 And this voice we heard uttered [or, brought] out of heaven, being with him on the holy mountain.
- 19 And we have the prophetic word firmer, to which ye do well in paying heed, as to a lamp shining in a dark place, place) until [the] day dawn and [the] morning star arise in your hearts;

- 20 knowing this first, that [the scope of] no prophecy of scripture is had from its own particular interpretation,
21 for prophecy was not ever uttered by [the] will of man, but holy men of God spake under the power of [the] Holy Ghost.

2 PETER 2 JND

- 1 But there were false prophets also among the people, as there shall be also among you false teachers, who shall bring in by the bye destructive heresies, and deny the master that bought them, bringing upon themselves swift destruction;
2 and many shall follow their dissolute ways, through whom the way of the truth shall be blasphemed.
3 And through covetousness, with well-turned words, will they make merchandise of you: for whom judgment of old is not idle, and their destruction slumbers not.
4 For if God spared not [the] angels who had sinned, but having cast them down to the deepest pit of gloom has delivered them to chains of darkness [to be] kept for judgment;
5 and spared not [the] old world, but preserved Noe, [the] eighth, a preacher of righteousness, having brought in [the] flood upon [the] world of [the] ungodly;
6 and having reduced [the] cities of Sodom and Gomorrha to ashes, condemned [them] with an overthrow, setting [them as] an example to those that should [afterwards] live an ungodly life;
7 and saved righteous Lot, distressed with the abandoned conversation of the godless,
8 (for the righteous man through seeing and hearing, dwelling among them, tormented [his] righteous soul day after day with [their] lawless works,)
9 [the] Lord knows [how] to deliver the godly out of trial, and to keep [the] unjust to [the] day of judgment [to be] punished;
10 and specially those who walk after the flesh in [the] lust of uncleanness, and despise lordship. Bold [are they], self-willed; they do not fear speaking injuriously of dignities:
11 when angels, who are greater in might and power, do not bring against them, before the Lord, an injurious charge.

12 But these, as natural animals without reason, made to be caught and destroyed, speaking injuriously in things they are ignorant of, shall also perish in their own corruption,
13 receiving [the] reward of unrighteousness; accounting ephemeral indulgence pleasure; spots and blemishes, rioting in their own deceits, feasting with you;

14 having eyes full of adultery, and that cease not from sin, alluring unestablished souls; having a heart practised in covetousness, children of curse; until day dawn and a [or, the] morning star arise in your hearts.

- 20 Knowing this first that no prophecy of scripture is for, becometh of its own interpretation.
21 For no prophecy was ever brought [^] by will of man, but [holy] men spoke from God, moved [or, borne along] by [the] Holy Spirit.

2 PETER 2 WK

- 1 But there were false prophets also among the people, as there shall be also false teachers among you, such as shall bring in by-the-bye sects of perdition, denying even the Sovereign Master that bought them, bringing on themselves swift perdition;
2 and many shall follow their dissolutenesses; because of whom the way of the truth shall be blasphemed.
3 And in covetousness with feigned [or, well-turned] words, they shall make merchandise of you: for whom judgment from of old is not idle, and their perdition slumbereth not.
4 For if God spared not angels when they sinned, but cast them down to lowest hell and gave them up to chains [or, pits] of gloom reserved for judgment,

5 and spared not an ancient world but preserved Noah an eighth, [i.e., with seven others], a preacher of righteousness, having brought a flood upon a world of ungodly ones.
6 And reducing to ashes [the] cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, he condemned [them] with overthrow, having set an example to those that should live ungodlily,

7 and rescued righteous Lot, distressed by the behaviour of those abandoned in licentiousness;
8 for the righteous [man] dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing was tormenting a righteous soul day after day with lawless works.
9 [The] Lord [or, Jehovah] knoweth to deliver the godly out of trial, and to keep unjust [men] for judgment-day to be punished;
10 and especially those that walk after flesh in lust of uncleanness, and despise lordship. Daring, selfwilled, they tremble not speaking railingly of dignities [or, glories],
11 when angels, being greater in might and power, bring not against them before [the] Lord [or, Jehovah] a railing charge.

12 But these, as irrational animals born by nature for capture and destruction, speaking evil in what things they are ignorant, shall also perish in their corruption,
13 receiving as they shall wages of unrighteousness, accounting [their] ephemeral luxury pleasure; spots and blemishes, luxuriating in their love feasts [or, deceits], feasting with you;

14 having eyes full of an adulteress and without cessation from sin; setting baits for unstable souls; having a heart practised in covetousness, children of curse;

2 Peter

- 15 having left [the] straight way they have gone astray, having followed in the path of Balaam [the son] of Bosor, who loved [the] reward of unrighteousness;
16 but had reproof of his own wickedness — [the] dumb ass speaking with man's voice forbad the folly of the prophet.
- 17 These are springs without water, and mists driven by storm, to whom the gloom of darkness is reserved [for ever].
18 For [while] speaking great highflown words of vanity, they allure with [the] lusts of [the] flesh, by dissoluteness, those who have just fled those who walk in error,
19 promising them liberty, while they themselves are slaves of corruption; for by whom a man is subdued, by him is he also brought into slavery.
20 For if after having escaped the pollutions of the world through [the] knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, again entangled, they are subdued by these, their last state is worse than the first.
21 For it were better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than having known [it] to turn back from the holy commandment delivered to them.
22 But that [word] of the true proverb has happened to them: [The] dog [has] turned back to his own vomit; and, [The] washed sow to [her] rolling in mud.

2 PETER 3 JND

- 1 This, a second letter, beloved, I already write to you, in [both] which I stir up, in the way of putting you in remembrance, your pure mind,
2 to be mindful of the words spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of the Lord and Saviour by your apostles;
3 knowing this first, that there shall come at [the] close of the days mockers with mocking, walking according to their own lusts,
4 and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for from the time the fathers fell asleep all things remain thus from [the] beginning of [the] creation.
- 5 For this is hidden from them through their own wilfulness, that heavens were of old, and an earth, having its subsistence out of water and in water, by the word of God,
6 through which [waters] the then world, deluged with water, perished.
7 But the present heavens and the earth by his word are laid up in store, kept for fire unto a day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men.
8 But let not this one thing be hidden from you, beloved, that one day with [the] Lord [is] as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.
9 [The] Lord does not delay his promise, as some account of delay, but is longsuffering towards you, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.
10 But the day of [the] Lord will come as a thief, in which the heavens will pass away with a rushing noise, and [the]

- 15 abandoning as they did a straight way, they went astray, following out in the way of Balaam [son] of Beor, who loved wages of unrighteousness, 16 but had reproof of his own iniquity; a dumb beast of burden speaking with man's voice forbade the madness of the prophet.
- 17 These are springs without water, and mists driven by storm, to whom the gloom of darkness is reserved. [^]
18 For uttering overswellings of vanity, they allure in lusts of the flesh, by dissolutenesses, those that are just escaping from them that walk in error,
19 promising them liberty while they themselves are slaves of corruption; for by whom a man is worsted, by him is he also held in bondage.
20 For if after having escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, but again entangled and worsted thereby, the last for them is become worse than the first.
21 For it were better for them not to have known well the way of righteousness than knowing well to have turned back from the holy commandment delivered to them.
22 [But] there hath happened to them the [saying] of the true proverb, A dog returned to his own vomit, and A sow washed into rolling in mire.

2 PETER 3 WK

- 1 This already a second epistle, beloved, I write to you, in both which I stir up your pure mind by putting in remembrance,
2 that ye be mindful of the words spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of the Lord and Saviour [by] your apostles.
3 Knowing this first, that in the last of the days mockers shall come with mockery walking according to their own lusts,
4 and saying, Where is the promise of his coming [or presence]? for from the [day] that the fathers fell asleep, all things continue thus [or, as they were] from beginning of creation.
- 5 For this willingly escapeth their notice that heavens were of old and an earth having its subsistence out of water and through water by the Word of God;
6 by means of which [waters] the then world being overflowed with water perished.
7 But the now heavens and the earth by the same word have been stored with fire, being kept for a day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men.

elements, burning with heat, shall be dissolved, and [the] earth and the works in it shall be burnt up.

- 11 All these things then being to be dissolved, what ought ye to be in holy conversation and godliness,
- 12 waiting for and hastening the coming of the day of God, by reason of which [the] heavens, being on fire, shall be dissolved, and [the] elements, burning with heat, shall melt?
- 13 But, according to his promise, we wait for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwells righteousness.
- 14 Wherefore, beloved, as ye wait for these things, be diligent to be found of him in peace, without spot and blameless;
- 15 and account the longsuffering of our Lord [to be] salvation; according as our beloved brother Paul also has written to you according to the wisdom given to him,
- 16 as also in all [his] epistles, speaking in them of these things; among which some things are hard to be understood, which the untaught and ill-established wrest, as also the other scriptures, to their own destruction.
- 17 Ye therefore, beloved, knowing [these] things before, take care lest, being led away along with the error of the wicked, ye should fall from your own steadfastness:
- 18 but grow in grace, and in [the] knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him [be] glory both now and to [the] day of eternity. Amen.

- 11 All these things being thus to be dissolved, of what sort ought ye to be in [^] holy ways and godliness,
- 12 waiting for and hastening the coming of the day of God, by reason of which (day) heavens being on fire shall be dissolved and elements in fervent heat shall melt?
- 13 But according to his promise we wait for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.
- 14 Wherefore, beloved, as ye wait for these things, use diligence, spotless and blameless to be found by Him in peace;
- 15 and count the long-suffering of our Lord salvation, even as our beloved brother Paul wrote to you according to the wisdom given to him,
- 16 as also in all [his] epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which (epistles) some things are hard to understand, which the untaught and unestablished wrest, as also the rest of the scriptures, to their own destruction.
- 17 Ye therefore, beloved, knowing beforehand, be on your guard lest, led away along with the error of the wicked, ye fall from your own steadfastness.
- 18 But grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ: to him [be] the glory both now and unto eternity's day. Amen.

1 JOHN 1 JND

- 1 That which was from [the] beginning, that which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes; that which we contemplated, and our hands handled, concerning the word of life;
- 2 (and the life has been manifested, and we have seen, and bear witness, and report to you the eternal life, which was with the Father, and has been manifested to us:)
- 3 that which we have seen and heard we report to you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and our fellowship [is] indeed with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.
- 4 And these things write we to you that your joy may be full.
- 5 And this is the message which we have heard from him, and declare to you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.
- 6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not practice the truth.
- 7 But if we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanses us from all sin.
- 8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
- 9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us [our] sins, and cleanse us from all unrighteousness.
- 10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

1 JOHN 2 JND

- 1 My children, these things I write to you in order that ye may not sin; and if any one sin, we have a patron with the Father, Jesus Christ [the] righteous;
- 2 and he is the propitiation for our sins; but not for ours alone, but also for the whole world.
- 3 And hereby we know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.
- 4 He that says, I know him, and does not keep his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him;
- 5 but whoever keeps his word, in him verily the love of God is perfected. Hereby we know that we are in him.
- 6 He that says he abides in him ought, even as he walked, himself also [so] to walk.
- 7 Beloved, I write no new commandment to you, but an old commandment, which ye have had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which ye heard.
- 8 Again, I write a new commandment to you, which thing is true in him and in you, because the darkness is passing and the true light already shines.
- 9 He who says he is in the light, and hates his brother, is in the darkness until now.
- 10 He that loves his brother abides in light, and there is no occasion of stumbling in him.

1 JOHN 1 WK

- 1 What was from [the] beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we looked on, and our hands handled, concerning the Word of life
- 2 (and the life was manifested, and we have seen, and bear witness, and report to you the eternal life, the which was with the Father and was manifested to us);
- 3 that which we have seen and have heard we report to you also, that ye also may have fellowship with us; yea, and [or, and also] our fellowship [is] with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.
- 4 And these things [we] write [to you] that your joy may be made full.
- 5 And this is the message which we have heard from him, and announce to you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.
- 6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in [^] darkness, we lie and do not the truth.
- 7 But if we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus [Christ] his Son cleanseth us from all [or, every] sin.
- 8 If we say that we have no sin, we mislead ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
- 9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us the sins, and to cleanse us from all [or, every] unrighteousness.
- 10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

1 JOHN 2 WK

- 1 My dear children, these things I write to you, that ye may not sin. And if any one sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ [the] righteous;
- 2 and he is [the] propitiation for our sins, and not only for ours, but also for [^] the whole world.
- 3 And herein we know that we have known [or, have the knowledge of] him, if we keep his commandments.
- 4 He that saith, I have known him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.
- 5 But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily the love of God hath been perfected. Herein we know that we are in him.
- 6 He that saith he abideth in him ought, even as he walked, himself also to walk.
- 7 Beloved [^], no new commandment I write to you, but an old commandment, which ye had from [the] beginning: the old commandment is the word which ye heard. [^]
- 8 Again, a new commandment I write to you, which thing is true in him and in you; because the darkness is passing, and the true light already shineth.
- 9 He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in the darkness until now.
- 10 He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is no occasion of stumbling in him.

- 11 But he that hates his brother is in the darkness, and walks in the darkness, and knows not where he goes, because the darkness has blinded his eyes.
- 12 I write to you, children, because [your] sins are forgiven you for his name's sake.
- 13 I write to you, fathers, because ye have known him [that is] from the beginning. I write to you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked [one]. I write to you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
- 14 I have written to you, fathers, because ye have known him [that is] from the beginning.
I have written to you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abides in you, and ye have overcome the wicked [one].
- 15 Love not the world, nor the things in the world. If any one love the world, the love of the Father is not in him;
- 16 because all that [is] in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.
- 17 And the world is passing, and its lust, but he that does the will of God abides for eternity.
- 18 Little children, it is [the] last hour, and, according as ye have heard that antichrist comes, even now there have come many antichrists, whence we know that it is [the] last hour.
- 19 They went out from among us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would have surely remained with us, but that they might be made manifest that none are of us.
- 20 And ye have [the] unction from the holy [one], and ye know all things.
- 21 I have not written to you because ye do not know the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
- 22 Who is the liar but he who denies that Jesus is the Christ? He is the antichrist who denies the Father and the Son.
- 23 Whoever denies the Son has not the Father either; he who confesses the Son has the Father also.
- 24 As for you let that which ye have heard from the beginning abide in you: if what ye have heard from the beginning abides in you, ye also shall abide in the Son and in the Father.
- 25 And this is the promise which he has promised us, life eternal.
- 26 These things have I written to you concerning those who lead you astray:
- 27 and yourselves, the unction which ye have received from him abides in you, and ye have no need that any one should teach you; but as the same unction teaches you as to all things, and is true and is not a lie, and even as it has taught you, ye shall abide in him.
- 28 And now, children, abide in him, that if he be manifested we may have boldness, and not be put to shame from before him as his coming.
- 29 If ye know that he is righteous, know that every one who practices righteousness is begotten of him.
- 11 But he that hateth his brother is in the darkness, and walketh in the darkness, and knoweth not where he goeth, because the darkness [^] blinded his eyes.
- 12 I write to you, dear children, because your sins have been forgiven you for his name's sake.
- 13 I write to you, fathers, because ye have known him [that is] from [the] beginning; I write to you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one; I write to you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
- 14 I wrote [or, write, the epistolary aorist] to you, fathers, because ye have known Him [that is] from [the] beginning.
I wrote to you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one.
- 15 Love not the world nor the things in the world. If anyone loveth the world, the love of the Father is not in him:
- 16 because all that [is] in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride [or, boasting] of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.
- 17 And the world is passing, and its lust; but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.
- 18 Little children, it is [the] last hour, and even as ye heard that antichrist cometh, even now many antichrists have come, whence we know that it is [the] last hour.
- 19 From us they went out, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would have abode with us, but [they went out] that they might be manifested that none are of us.
- 20 And ye have anointing from the Holy One, and know all things.
- 21 I wrote not to you, because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that [or, because] no lie is of the truth.
- 22 Who is the liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is the antichrist that denieth the Father and the Son.
- 23 Every one that denieth the Son hath not the Father either; he that confesseth the Son hath the Father also.
- 24 As for you, let [^] what ye heard from [the] beginning abide in you: if what ye heard from the beginning abide in you, ye also shall abide in the Son and in the Father.
- 25 And this is the promise which He promised us, life eternal.
- 26 These things I wrote to you concerning those that lead you astray.
- 27 And as for you, the anointing which ye received from Him abideth in you, and ye have no need that anyone should teach you; but as the same anointing teacheth you, and is true, and is no lie, and even as it taught you, ye [or, do ye, or, ye shall] abide in Him.
- 28 And now, dear children, abide in him that, if he be manifested, we may have boldness, and not be put to shame from before him at his coming.
- 29 If ye know that he is righteous, know that every one [^] that doeth righteousness hath been begotten of him.

1 JOHN 3 JND

- 1 See what love the Father has given to us, that we should be called [the] children of God. For this reason the world knows us not, because it knew him not.
- 2 Beloved, now are we children of God, and what we shall be has not yet been manifested; we know that if it is manifested we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is.
- 3 And every one that has this hope in him purifies himself, even as he is pure.
- 4 Every one that practices sin practices also lawlessness; and sin is lawlessness.
- 5 And ye know that he has been manifested that he might take away our sins; and in him sin is not.
- 6 Whoever abides in him does not sin: whoever sins has not seen him or known him.
- 7 Children, let no man lead you astray; he that practices righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous.
- 8 He that practices sin is of the devil; for from [the] beginning the devil sins. To this end the Son of God has been manifested, that he might undo the works of the devil.
- 9 Whoever has been begotten of God does not practice sin, because his seed abides in him, and he cannot sin, because he has been begotten of God.
- 10 In this are manifest the children of God and the children of the devil. Whoever does not practice righteousness is not of God, and he who does not love his brother.
- 11 For this is the message which ye have heard from the beginning, that we should love one another:
- 12 not as Cain was of the wicked one, and slew his brother; and on account of what slew he him? because his works were wicked, and those of his brother righteous.
- 13 Do not wonder, brethren, if the world hate you.
- 14 We know that we have passed from death to life, because we love the brethren. He who does not love [his] brother abides in death.
- 15 Every one that hates his brother is a murderer, and ye know that no murderer has eternal life abiding in him.
- 16 Hereby we have known love, because he has laid down his life for us; and we ought for the brethren to lay down [our] lives.
- 17 But whoso may have the world's substance, and see his brother having need, and shut up his bowels from him, how abides the love of God in him?
- 18 Children, let us not love with word, nor with tongue, but in deed and in truth.
- 19 And hereby we shall know that we are of the truth, and shall persuade our hearts before him —
- 20 that if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart and knows all things.
- 21 Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, we have boldness towards God,

1 JOHN 3 WK

- 1 See what [or, what manner of] love the Father hath given us, that we should be called children of God [and we are]. For this reason, the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.
- 2 Beloved, now are we God's children, and not yet was it manifested what we shall be. [^] We know that if he should be manifested we shall be like him, because we shall see him even as he is.
- 3 And every one that hath this hope [^] on him purifieth himself even as he is pure.
- 4 Every one that doeth sin doeth also lawlessness; and sin is lawlessness.
- 5 And ye know that he was manifested that he might take away our sins; and in him is no sin.
- 6 Every one that abideth in him sinneth not; every one that sinneth hath not seen him, nor known him.
- 7 Dear children, let no one lead you astray: he that doeth righteousness is righteous even as he is righteous.
- 8 He that doeth sin is of the devil, for from [the] beginning the devil sinneth. To this end was manifested the Son of God that he might undo the works of the devil.
- 9 Every one that hath been born of God doeth not sin, because his seed abideth in him; and he cannot sin, because he hath been begotten of God.
- 10 Herein are manifest the children of God and the children of the devil. [^]
- 11 For this is the message which ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another:
- 12 not as Cain was of the wicked one, and slew his brother; and for what did he slay him? Because his works were wicked, and those of his brother righteous.
- 13 Wonder not, [^] brethren, if the world hateth you.
- 14 We know that we have passed out of death into life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not the brother abideth in death.
- 15 Every one that hateth his brother is a murderer; and ye know that no murderer hath life eternal abiding in him.
- 16 Herein we know love, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought for the brethren to lay down our lives.
- 17 But whoso may have the world's means of living, and behold his brother having need, and shut up his bowels from him, how abideth the love of God in him?
- 18 [^] Dear children, let us not love with word nor with the tongue, but in deed and truth.
- 19 And herein we shall know that we are of the truth, and shall persuade our hearts before him,
- 20 that if our heart condemn us, [it is] that God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.
- 21 Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, we have boldness toward God,

- 22 and whatsoever we ask we receive from him, because we keep his commandments, and practice the things which are pleasing in his sight.
- 23 And this is his commandment, that we believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and that we love one another, even as he has given us commandment.
- 24 And he that keeps his commandments abides in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abides in us, by the Spirit which he has given to us.

1 JOHN 4 JND

- 1 Beloved, believe not every spirit, but prove the spirits, if they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world.
- 2 Hereby ye know the Spirit of God: every spirit which confesses Jesus Christ come in flesh is of God;
- 3 and every spirit which does not confess Jesus Christ come in flesh is not of God: and this is that [power] of the antichrist, [of] which ye have heard that it comes, and now it is already in the world.
- 4 Ye are of God, children, and have overcome them, because greater is he that [is] in you than he that [is] in the world.
- 5 They are of the world; for this reason they speak [as] of the world, and the world hears them.
- 6 We are of God; he that knows God hears us; he who is not of God does not hear us. From this we know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error.
- 7 Beloved, let us love one another; because love is of God, and every one that loves has been begotten of God, and knows God.
- 8 He that loves not has not known God; for God is love.
- 9 Herein as to us has been manifested the love of God, that God has sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.
- 10 Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son a propitiation for our sins.
- 11 Beloved, if God has so loved us, we also ought to love one another.
- 12 No one has seen God at any time: if we love one another, God abides in us, and his love is perfected in us.
- 13 Hereby we know that we abide in him and he in us, that he has given to us of his Spirit.
- 14 And we have seen, and testify, that the Father has sent the Son [as] Saviour of the world.
- 15 Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God abides in him, and he in God.
- 16 And we have known and have believed the love which God has to us. God is love, and he that abides in love abides in God, and God in him.
- 17 Herein has love been perfected with us that we may have boldness in the day of judgment, that even as he is, we also are in this world.

- 22 and whatsoever we ask we receive from him, because we keep his commandments, and do the things pleasing in his sight.
- 23 And this is his commandment, that we believe the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and that we love one another, even as he gave us commandment.
- 24 And he that keepeth his commandments abideth in him, and he in him. And herein we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he gave to us.

1 JOHN 4 WK

- 1 Beloved, believe not every spirit, but prove the spirits, if they are of God; because many false prophets are [or, have] gone out into the world.
- 2 Herein ye know the Spirit of God: every spirit which confesseth [^] Jesus Christ [^] come in flesh is of God;
- 3 and every spirit which confesseth not [^] Jesus [^] is not of God; and this is the [spirit or principle] of the antichrist whereof ye have heard that it cometh; and now it is already in the world.
- 4 Ye are of God, dear children, and have overcome them, because greater is he that [is] in you than he that [is] in the world.
- 5 They are of the world: for this reason they speak [as] of the world, and the world heareth them.
- 6 We are of God: he that knoweth God heareth us; he that is not of God doth not hear us. From this we know the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.
- 7 Beloved, let us love one another; because love is of God; and every one that loveth hath been begotten of God, and knoweth God.
- 8 He that loveth not knew not God, because God is love.
- 9 Herein was manifested the love of God in us [or, in our case], that God hath sent His only-begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.
- 10 Herein is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us, and sent his Son [as] propitiation for our sins.
- 11 Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another.
- 12 No one hath beheld God at any time: if we love one another, God abideth in us, and his love hath been perfected in us.
- 13 Herein we know that we abide in him, and he in us, because he hath given to us of his Spirit.
- 14 And we have beheld, and testify that the Father hath sent his Son as Saviour of the world.
- 15 Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God abideth in him, and he in God.
- 16 And we have known and have believed the love which God hath in us. God is love, and he that abideth in love abideth in God, and God in him.
- 17 Herein hath love been perfected with us, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment, because even as he is, we also are in this world.

- 18 There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts out fear; for fear has torment, and he that fears has not been made perfect in love.
- 19 We love because he has first loved us.
- 20 If any one say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: for he that loves not his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?
- 21 And this commandment have we from him, That he that loves God love also his brother.

1 JOHN 5 JND

- 1 Every one that believes that Jesus is the Christ is begotten of God; and every one that loves him that has begotten loves also him that is begotten of him.
- 2 Hereby know we that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep his commandments.
- 3 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments; and his commandments are not grievous.
- 4 For all that has been begotten of God gets the victory over the world; and this is the victory which has gotten the victory over the world, our faith.
- 5 Who is he that gets the victory over the world, but he that believes that Jesus is the Son of God?
- 6 This is he that came by water and blood, Jesus [the] Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that bears witness, for the Spirit is the truth.
- 7 For they that bear witness are three:
- 8 the Spirit, and the water, and the blood; and the three agree in one.
- 9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater. For this is the witness of God [which] he has witnessed concerning his Son.
- 10 He that believes on the Son of God has the witness in himself; he that does not believe God has made him a liar, because he has not believed in the witness which God has witnessed concerning his Son.
- 11 And this is the witness, that God has given to us eternal life; and this life is in his Son.
- 12 He that has the Son has life: he that has not the Son of God has not life.
- 13 These things have I written to you that ye may know that ye have eternal life who believe on the name of the Son of God.
- 14 And this is the boldness which we have towards him, that if we ask him anything according to his will he hears us.
- 15 And if we know that he hears us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions which we have asked of him.
- 16 If any one see his brother sinning a sin not unto death, he shall ask, and he shall give him life, for those that do not sin unto death. There is a sin to death: I do not say of that that he should make a request.

- 18 There is no fear in love, but perfect love casteth out fear, because fear hath punishment; and he that feareth hath not been perfected in love.
- 19 We love, [^] because he first loved us.
- 20 If any one say, I love God, and hate his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?
- 21 And this commandment have we from him, that he that loveth God love also his brother.

1 JOHN 5 WK

- 1 Every one that believeth that Jesus is the Christ is begotten of God, and every one that loveth him that begot loveth also him that is begotten of him.
- 2 Herein we know that we love the children of God when we love God and keep his commandments.
- 3 For this is the love of God that we keep his commandments; and his commandments are not grievous.
- 4 For all that is begotten of God overcometh the world, and this is the victory that overcame the world, our faith.
- 5 [^] Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?
- 6 This is he that came through water and blood, Jesus Christ; not by [or, in the power of] the water only but by the water and [^] the blood; and it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is the truth.
- 7 Because three are those that bear witness, [^]
- 8 the Spirit, and the water, and the blood; and the three agree in one.
- 9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater; because this is the witness of God which he hath witnessed concerning his Son.
- 10 He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself; he that believeth not God hath made him a liar, because he hath not believed in the witness which God hath witnessed concerning his Son.
- 11 And this is the witness that God gave to us life eternal, and this life is in his Son.
- 12 He that hath the Son hath life; he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.
- 13 These things I wrote [or, write] to you that ye may know that ye that believe on the name of the Son of God have life eternal.
- 14 And this is the boldness which we have toward him, that if we ask anything according to his will he heareth us.
- 15 And if we know that he heareth us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions which we have asked of him.
- 16 If anyone see his brother sinning a sin not unto death, he shall ask, and he will give him life for those that sin not unto death. There is sin unto death: I do not say that he should request for it.

- 17 Every unrighteousness is sin; and there is a sin not to death.
- 18 We know that every one begotten of God does not sin, but he that has been begotten of God keeps himself, and the wicked one does not touch him.
- 19 We know that we are of God, and the whole world lies in the wicked [one].
- 20 And we know that the Son of God has come, and has given us an understanding that we should know him that [is] true; and we are in him that [is] true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life.
- 21 Children, keep yourselves from idols.

- 17 Every unrighteousness is sin, and there is sin not unto death.
- 18 We know that everyone that is begotten of God sinneth not, but the begotten of God keepeth himself, and the wicked one toucheth him not.
- 19 We know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in the wicked one.
- 20 And we know that the Son of God came, and hath given to us understanding that we should know the true one; and we are in the true one, in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God and life eternal.
- 21 Dear children, keep yourselves from idols.

2 JOHN JND

- 1 The elder to [the] elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not I only but also all who have known the truth,
- 2 for the truth's sake which abides in us and shall be with us to eternity.
- 3 Grace shall be with you, mercy, peace from God [the] Father, and from [the] Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.
- 4 I rejoiced greatly that I have found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received commandment from the Father.
- 5 And now I beseech thee, lady, not as writing to thee a new commandment, but that which we have had from [the] beginning, that we should love one another.
- 6 And this is love, that we should walk according to his commandments. This is the commandment, according as ye have heard from the beginning, that ye might walk in it.
- 7 For many deceivers have gone out into the world, they who do not confess Jesus Christ coming in flesh — this is the deceiver and the antichrist.
- 8 See to yourselves, that we may not lose what we have wrought, but may receive full wages.
- 9 Whosoever goes forward and abides not in the doctrine of the Christ has not God. He that abides in the doctrine, he has both the Father and the Son.
- 10 If any one come to you and bring not this doctrine, do not receive him into [the] house, and greet him not;
- 11 for he who greets him partakes in his wicked works.
- 12 Having many things to write to you, I would not with paper and ink; but hope to come to you, and to speak mouth to mouth, that our joy may be full.
- 13 The children of thine elect sister greet thee.

2 JOHN WK

- 1 The elder to an elect lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not I only but also all who have known the truth,
- 2 for the truth's sake, which abideth in us, and it shall be with us for ever.
- 3 Grace shall be with you, mercy, peace, from God [the] Father and from [^] Jesus Christ the Son of the Father, in truth and love.
- 4 I rejoiced exceedingly that I have found of thy children walking in truth even as we received commandment from the Father.
- 5 And now I beseech thee, lady, not as writing to thee a new commandment but that which we had from [the] beginning that we should love one another.
- 6 And this is love that we should walk according to his commandments. This is the commandment even as ye heard from [the] beginning that ye should walk in it.
- 7 Because many misleaders went forth into the world, they that confess not [^] Jesus Christ coming in flesh. This is the misleader and the antichrist.
- 8 Look to yourselves, that we may not lose what we wrought but receive full reward.
- 9 Every one that goeth onward and abideth not in the doctrine of the Christ hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine [^], he hath both the Father and the Son.
- 10 If any one cometh to you and bringeth not this doctrine, receive him not at [^] home and greet him not;
- 11 for he that greeteth him partaketh in his wicked works.
- 12 Having many things to write to you, I would not with paper and ink; but I hope to come unto you and to speak mouth unto mouth that our joy may be made full.
- 13 The children of thine elect sister greet thee.

3 JOHN JND

- 1 The elder to the beloved Gaius, whom I love in truth.
- 2 Beloved, I desire that in all things thou shouldest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospers.
- 3 For I rejoiced exceedingly when [the] brethren came and bore testimony to thy [holding fast the] truth, even as thou walkest in truth.
- 4 I have no greater joy than these things that I hear of my children walking in the truth.
- 5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully [in] whatever thou mayest have wrought towards the brethren and that strangers,
- 6 (who have witnessed of thy love before [the] assembly,) in setting forward whom on their journey worthily of God, thou wilt do well;
- 7 for for the name have they gone forth, taking nothing of those of the nations.
- 8 We therefore ought to receive such, that we may be fellow-workers with the truth.
- 9 I wrote something to the assembly; but Diotrephes, who loves to have the first place among them, receives us not.
- 10 For this reason, if I come, I will bring to remembrance his works which he does, babbling against us with wicked words; and not content with these, neither does he himself receive the brethren; and those who would he prevents, and casts [them] out of the assembly.
- 11 Beloved, do not imitate what is evil, but what is good. He that does good is of God. He that does evil has not seen God.
- 12 Demetrius has witness borne to him by all, and by the truth itself; and we also bear witness, and thou knowest that our witness is true.
- 13 I have many things to write to thee, but I will not with ink and pen write to thee;
- 14 but I hope soon to see thee, and we will speak mouth to mouth. Peace [be] to thee. The friends greet thee. Greet the friends by name.

3 JOHN WK

- 1 The elder to the beloved Gaius [or, Caius] whom I love in truth.
- 2 Beloved, I desire that in all things thou shouldest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.
- 3 For I rejoiced exceedingly when [^]brethren came and bore witness to thy truth, even as thou walkest in truth.
- 4 I have no greater joy than these things, that I hear of my children walking in the truth.
- 5 Beloved, thou doest a faithful thing whatsoever thou mayest do unto the brethren and this strangers
- 6 who bore witness to thy love before the church [or, assembly]; in setting forward whom on their journey worthily of God thou wilt do well;
- 7 for they went forth for the name's sake, taking nothing of the Gentiles.
- 8 We therefore ought to receive [or, welcome] such, that we may be fellow-workers with the truth.
- 9 I wrote something to the church; but Diotrephes that loveth pre-eminence among them receiveth us not.
- 10 For this reason if I come, I will bring to remembrance his works which he doeth, babbling against us with wicked words; and not content with these things, neither himself receiveth the brethren, and those who would he hindereth and casteth out of the church.
- 11 Beloved, imitate not the evil but the good. The good-doer is of God; [^]the evil-doer hath not seen God.
- 12 Demetrius hath been witnessed to by all, and by the truth itself; and we also bear witness, and thou knowest that our witness is true.
- 13 Many things I had to write to thee, but with ink and pen I will not write to thee;
- 14 but I hope soon to see thee, and we will speak mouth unto mouth. Peace [be] to thee. The friends greet thee. Greet the friends by name.

JUDE JND

- 1 Jude, bondman of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to the called ones beloved in God [the] Father and preserved in Jesus Christ:
- 2 Mercy to you, and peace, and love be multiplied.
- 3 Beloved, using all diligence to write to you of our common salvation, I have been obliged to write to you exhorting [you] to contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints.
- 4 For certain men have got in unnoticed, they who of old were marked out beforehand to this sentence, ungodly [persons], turning the grace of our God into dissoluteness, and denying our only Master and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 5 But I would put you in remembrance, you who once knew all things, that the Lord, having saved a people out of [the] land of Egypt, in the second place destroyed those who had not believed.
- 6 And angels who had not kept their own original state, but had abandoned their own dwelling, he keeps in eternal chains under gloomy darkness, to [the] judgment of [the] great day;
- 7 as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities around them, committing greedily fornication, in like manner with them, and going after other flesh, lie there as an example, undergoing the judgment of eternal fire.
- 8 Yet in like manner these dreamers also defile [the] flesh, and despise lordship, and speak railingly against dignities.
- 9 But Michael the archangel, when disputing with the devil he reasoned about the body of Moses, did not dare to bring a railing judgment against [him], but said, [The] Lord rebuke thee.
- 10 But these, whatever things they know not, they speak railingly against; but what even, as the irrational animals, they understand by mere nature, in these things they corrupt themselves.
- 11 Woe to them! because they have gone in the way of Cain, and given themselves up to the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.
- 12 These are spots in your love-feasts, feasting together [with you] without fear, pasturing themselves; clouds without water, carried along by [the] winds; autumnal trees, without fruit, twice dead, rooted up;
- 13 raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shames; wandering stars, to whom has been reserved the gloom of darkness for eternity.
- 14 And Enoch, [the] seventh from Adam, prophesied also as to these, saying, Behold, [the] Lord has come amidst his holy myriads,
- 15 to execute judgment against all; and to convict all the ungodly of them of all their works of ungodliness, which they have wrought ungodlily, and of all the hard [things] which ungodly sinners have spoken against him.

JUDE WK

- 1 Jude, [^] servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are called, beloved in God the Father, and preserved by [or for] Jesus Christ.
- 2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love be multiplied.
- 3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the [^] common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered to the saints.
- 4 For certain men have crept in unawares.
They, who before of old were ordained to this sentence ungodly men turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness and denying our only Master [^] and Lord Jesus Christ.
- 5 But I would remind you, though once for all knowing all things, that [the] Lord [^] having saved a people out of Egypt's land, in the second place destroyed those that believed not.
- 6 And [^] angels which kept not their own original estate, but abandoned their proper dwelling, He hath kept in everlasting bonds under gloom unto [the] great day's judgment;
- 7 as Sodom and Gomorrah and the cities around them, having in the like manner with them greedily committed fornication and gone after strange flesh, lie there an example, undergoing [^] judgment of eternal fire.
- 8 Yet likewise, these [^] dreamers also defile [^] flesh, and set at nought lordship and rail at dignities.
- 9 But Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.
- 10 But these rail at whatever things they know not; but whatever they understand naturally, as the irrational animals, in these things they corrupt themselves [or, perish].
- 11 Woe unto them! because they went in the way of Cain, and rushed greedily into the error of Balaam's hire, and perished in the gainsaying of Korah.
- 12 These are [^] spots [or, hidden rocks] in your love-feasts, feasting together, fearlessly pasturing themselves; clouds without water, carried along by winds; autumnal trees without fruit, twice dead, rooted up;
- 13 raging sea-waves, foaming out their own shames; wandering stars for whom hath been reserved the gloom of darkness for ever.
- 14 And Enoch, seventh from Adam, prophesied also as to these, saying, Behold, [the] Lord came amid His holy myriads,
- 15 to execute judgment against all, and to convict all the ungodly [of them] of all their works of ungodliness which they ungodlily wrought, and of all the hard things which ungodly sinners spoke against him.

- 16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their lusts; and their mouth speaks swelling words, admiring persons for the sake of profit.
- 17 But ye, beloved, remember the words spoken before by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 18 that they said to you, that at [the] end of the time there should be mockers, walking after their own lusts of ungodliness.
- 19 These are they who set [themselves] apart, natural [men], not having [the] Spirit.
- 20 But ye, beloved, building yourselves up on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit,
- 21 keep yourselves in the love of God, awaiting the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.
- 22 And of some have compassion, making a difference,
- 23 but others save with fear, snatching [them] out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.
- 24 But to him that is able to keep you without stumbling, and to set [you] with exultation blameless before his glory,
- 25 to the only God our Saviour, through Jesus Christ our Lord, [be] glory, majesty, might, and authority, from before the whole age, and now, and to all the ages. Amen.

- 16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their lusts, and their mouth speaketh swelling things, admiring persons for the sake of profit.
- 17 But ye, beloved, remember ye the words that were spoken before by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 18 that they said to you, In [the] end of the time shall be mockers walking after their own lusts of ungodliness.
- 19 These are they that make ^ separations, natural [or, soulish], not having [the] Spirit.
- 20 But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in [the] Holy Spirit,
- 21 keep yourselves in [the] love of God, awaiting the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto life eternal.
- 22 And some convict when contending.
- 23 Others save, pulling them out of [the] fire.
And others pity with fear, hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.
- 24 But to Him that is able to keep you without stumbling, and to set you with exultation blameless before His glory;
- 25 to an only ^ God our Saviour through Jesus Christ our Lord [be] glory, majesty, might, and authority, before all times, and now, and unto all the ages. Amen.

REVELATION I JND

- 1 Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to him, to shew to his bondmen what must shortly take place; and he signified [it], sending by his angel, to his bondman John,
- 2 who testified the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ, all things that he saw.
- 3 Blessed [is] he that reads, and they that hear the words of the prophecy, and keep the things written in it; for the time [is] near.
- 4 John to the seven assemblies which [are] in Asia: Grace to you and peace from [him] who is, and who was, and who is to come; and from the seven Spirits which [are] before his throne;
- 5 and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us, and has washed us from our sins in his blood,
- 6 and made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father: to him [be] the glory and the might to the ages of ages. Amen.
- 7 Behold, he comes with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, and they which have pierced him, and all the tribes of the land shall wail because of him. Yea, amen.
- 8 I am the Alpha and the Ω, saith [the] Lord God, he who is, and who was, and who is to come, the Almighty.
- 9 I John, your brother and fellow-partaker in the tribulation and kingdom and patience, in Jesus, was in the island called Patmos, for the word of God and for the testimony of Jesus.
- 10 I became in [the] Spirit on the Lord's day, and I heard behind me a great voice as of trumpet, saying,
- 11 What thou seest write in a book, and send to the seven assemblies: to Ephesus, and to Smyrna, and to Pergamos, and to Thyatira, and to Sardis, and to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea.
- 12 And I turned back to see the voice which spoke with me; and having turned, I saw seven golden lamps,
- 13 and in the midst of the [seven] lamps [one] like [the] Son of man, clothed with a garment reaching to the feet, and girt about at the breasts with a golden girdle:
- 14 his head and hair white like white wool, as snow; and his eyes as a flame of fire;
- 15 and his feet like fine brass, as burning in a furnace; and his voice as the voice of many waters;
- 16 and having in his right hand seven stars; and out of his mouth a sharp two-edged sword going forth; and his countenance as the sun shines in its power.
- 17 And when I saw him I fell at his feet as dead; and he laid his right hand upon me, saying, Fear not; I am the first and the last,
- 18 and the living one: and I became dead, and behold, I am living to the ages of ages, and have the keys of death and of hades.

REVELATION I WK

- 1 REVELATION of Jesus Christ which God gave him to shew his servants [^] things which must shortly come to pass; and sending by his angel [^] he signified it to his servant John;
- 2 who testified the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ — [^] whatsoever things he saw. [^]
- 3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of the prophecy and keep the things written in it; for the time is at hand.
- 4 JOHN to the seven churches that are in Asia: Grace to you and peace from him that is and that was and that is to come; and from the seven Spirits who are before his throne;
- 5 and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the first-born of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. To him that loveth us and washed us from our sins in his blood,
- 6 and he made us a kingdom, priests to his God and Father: to him be the glory and the might unto the ages of the ages. Amen.
- 7 Behold, he cometh with the clouds, and every eye shall see him, and those which pierced him; and all the tribes of the earth shall wail on account of him. Yea, Amen.
- 8 I am the Alpha and the Omega, [^] saith the Lord [^] God, that is and that was and that is to come, the Almighty.
- 9 I, John, [^] your brother and joint-partaker in tribulation and [^] the kingdom and patience in Christ [Jesus], was in the isle that is called Patmos, because of the word of God and [because of] the testimony of Jesus [Christ].
- 10 I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a loud voice as of a trumpet,
- 11 saying, [^] What thou seest write in a book, and send to the seven churches [^]; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.
- 12 And [^] I turned to see the voice which was speaking with me. And having turned I saw seven golden lamp-stands,
- 13 and in the midst of the [seven] lamp-stands one like the Son of man, clad in a garment down to the foot, and girt about at the paps with a golden girdle:
- 14 his head and his hairs white as white wool, as snow; and his eyes as a flame of fire;
- 15 and his feet like fine brass, as glowing in a furnace; and his voice as a voice of many waters:
- 16 and he had in his right hand seven stars; and out of his mouth proceeded a sharp two-edged sword: and his countenance as the sun shineth in [^] its strength.
- 17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead: and he laid his right hand upon me, saying [^], Fear not; I am the first and the last,
- 18 and the living one: and I was dead, and, behold, I am alive unto the ages of the ages [^]; and I have the keys of death and of hades.

- 19 Write therefore what thou hast seen, and the things that are, and the things that are about to be after these.
- 20 The mystery of the seven stars which thou hast seen on my right hand, and the seven golden lamps. — The seven stars are angels of the seven assemblies; and the seven lamps are seven assemblies.

REVELATION 2 JND

- 1 To the angel of the assembly in Ephesus write: These things says he that holds the seven stars in his right hand, who walks in the midst of the seven golden lamps:
- 2 I know thy works and [thy] labour, and thine endurance, and that thou canst not bear evil [men]; and thou hast tried them who say that themselves [are] apostles and are not, and hast found them liars;
- 3 and endurest, and hast borne for my name's sake, and hast not wearied:
- 4 but I have against thee that thou hast left thy first love.
- 5 Remember therefore whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works: but if not, I am coming to thee, and I will remove thy lamp out of its place, except thou shalt repent.
- 6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.
- 7 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies. To him that overcomes, I will give to him to eat of the tree of life which is in the paradise of God.
- 8 And to the angel of the assembly in Smyrna write: These things says the first and the last, who became dead, and lived:
- 9 I know thy tribulation and thy poverty; but thou art rich; and the railing of those who say that they themselves are Jews, and are not, but a synagogue of Satan.
- 10 Fear nothing [of] what thou art about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to cast of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days. Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give to thee the crown of life.
- 11 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies. He that overcomes shall in no wise be injured of the second death.
- 12 And to the angel of the assembly in Pergamos write: These things says he that has the sharp two-edged sword:
- 13 I know where thou dwellest, where the throne of Satan [is]; and thou holdest fast my name, and hast not denied my faith, even in the days in which Antipas my faithful witness [was], who was slain among you, where Satan dwells.
- 14 But I have a few things against thee: that thou hast there those who hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balak to cast a snare before the sons of Israel, to eat [of] idol sacrifices and commit fornication.

- 19 Write therefore the things which thou sawest, and the things which are, and the things which are about to come to pass after these:
- 20 [^] the mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest on my right hand, and the seven golden lamp-stands; the seven stars are [^] angels of the seven churches, and the seven lamp-stands [^] are [^] seven churches.

REVELATION 2 WK

- 1 To the angel of the church that is in Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seven stars in his right hand, that walketh in the midst of the seven golden lamp-stands:
- 2 I know thy works and [thy] toil and thy patience, and that thou canst not bear evil men; and thou hast tried those that call themselves apostles and are not, and hast found them liars:
- 3 and hast patience, and hast borne for my name's sake, [^] and art not wearied.
- 4 But I have [^] against thee that thou hast relaxed thy first love.
- 5 Remember therefore whence thou art fallen, and repent, and practise the first works; but if not, I am coming to thee [quickly], and will remove thy lamp-stand out of its place, except thou repent.
- 6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the deeds of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.
- 7 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the [^] churches. To him that overcometh I will give him to eat of the tree of life, which is in [^] the paradise of [my] God.
- 8 And to the angel of the church that is in Smyrna write, These things saith the first and the last, who was dead and lived:
- 9 I know [thy works and] thy tribulation and poverty (but thou art rich), and the blasphemy of those who say they are Jews and are not, but a synagogue of Satan.
- 10 Fear not the things which thou art about to suffer: behold, [^] the devil is about to cast of you into prison that ye may be tried, and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life.
- 11 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches. He that overcometh shall in no wise be hurt of the second death.
- 12 And to the angel of the church that is in Pergamos write, These things saith he that hath the sharp two-edged sword:
- 13 I know [thy works, and] where thou dwellest, where the throne of Satan is; and thou holdest fast my name and hast not denied my faith, even in those days wherein was Antipas, [^] my faithful witness who was killed among you, where Satan dwelleth.
- 14 But I have a few things against thee, [because] thou hast there some that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught [^] Balak to cast a stumbling-block before the sons of Israel, [^] to eat things sacrificed to idols and to commit fornication.

Revelation

- 15 So thou also hast those who hold the doctrine of Nicolaitanes in like manner.
- 16 Repent therefore: but if not, I come to thee quickly, and I will make war with them with the sword of my mouth.
- 17 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies. To him that overcomes, to him will I give of the hidden manna; and I will give to him a white stone, and on the stone a new name written, which no one knows but he that receives [it].
- 18 And to the angel of the assembly in Thyatira write: These things says the Son of God, he that has his eyes as a flame of fire, and his feet [are] like fine brass:
- 19 I know thy works, and love, and faith, and service, and thine endurance, and thy last works [to be] more than the first.
- 20 But I have against thee that thou permittest the woman Jezebel, she who calls herself prophetess, and she teaches and leads astray my servants to commit fornication and eat of idol sacrifices.
- 21 And I gave her time that she should repent, and she will not repent of her fornication.
- 22 Behold, I cast her into a bed, and those that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, unless they repent of her works,
- 23 and her children will I kill with death; and all the assemblies shall know that I am he that searches [the] reins and [the] hearts; and I will give to you each according to your works.
- 24 But to you I say, the rest who [are] in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, who have not known the depths of Satan, as they say, I do not cast upon you any other burden;
- 25 but what ye have hold fast till I shall come.
- 26 And he that overcomes, and he that keeps unto the end my works, to him will I give authority over the nations,
- 27 and he shall shepherd them with an iron rod; as vessels of pottery are they broken in pieces, as I also have received from my Father;
- 28 and I will give to him the morning star.
- 29 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies.

REVELATION 3 JND

- 1 And to the angel of the assembly in Sardis write: These things saith he that has the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars:
I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead.
- 2 Be watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, which are about to die, for I have not found thy works complete before my God.
- 3 Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and keep [it] and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come [upon thee] as a thief, and thou shalt not know at what hour I shall come upon thee.

- 15 So hast thou also some that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes in like manner.
- 16 [^] Repent therefore; but if not, I am coming to thee quickly, and will fight with them with the sword of my mouth.
- 17 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches. To him that overcometh, I will give him [^] of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and upon the stone a new name written, which no one knoweth save he that receiveth it.
- 18 And to the angel of the church that is in Thyatira write, These things saith the Son of God, that hath his eyes as a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass:
- 19 I know thy works and love and faith and service, and thy patience, and thy last works more than the first.
- 20 But I have [^] against thee that thou lettest alone the woman Jezebel that calleth herself a prophetess; and she teacheth and deceiveth my servants to commit fornication and to eat things sacrificed to idols.
- 21 And I gave her space to repent, and she willeth not to repent of her fornication.
- 22 Behold, I cast her into a bed, and those that commit fornication with her into great tribulation, except they repent of her works.
- 23 And I will kill her children with death; and all the churches shall know that I am he that searcheth reins and hearts; and I will give you each according to your [^] works.
- 24 But to you I say, [^] the rest that are in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine [^] which have not known the depths of Satan (as they say): I put upon you no other burden:
- 25 but that which ye have hold fast till I shall come.
- 26 And he that overcometh and he that keepeth my works until the end, I will give him authority over the nations;
- 27 and he shall rule them with an iron rod, — as the vessels of a potter [^] are broken to shivers: as I also received of my Father.
- 28 And I will give him the morning star.
- 29 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches.

REVELATION 3 WK

- 1 And to the angel of the church that is in Sardis write, These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars: I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead.
- 2 Be watchful, and strengthen the things that remain which were about to die: for I have not found thy [^] works complete before my God.
- 3 Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard; and keep it, and repent. If therefore thou watch not, I will come [upon thee] as a thief, and thou shalt in no wise know what hour I will come upon thee.

- 4 But thou hast a few names in Sardis which have not defiled their garments, and they shall walk with me in white, because they are worthy.
- 5 He that overcomes, he shall be clothed in white garments, and I will not blot his name out of the book of life, and will confess his name before my Father and before his angels.
- 6 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies.
- 7 And to the angel of the assembly in Philadelphia write: These things saith the holy, the true; he that has the key of David, he who opens and no one shall shut, and shuts and no one shall open:
- 8 I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an opened door, which no one can shut, because thou hast a little power, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.
- 9 Behold, I make them of the synagogue of Satan who say that they are Jews, and are not, but lie; behold, I will cause that they shall come and shall do homage before thy feet, and shall know that I have loved thee.
- 10 Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee out of the hour of trial which is about to come upon the whole habitable world to try them that dwell upon the earth.
- 11 I come quickly: hold fast what thou hast, that no one take thy crown.
- 12 He that overcomes, him will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more at all out; and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven, from my God, and my new name.
- 13 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies.
- 14 And to the angel of the assembly in Laodicea write: These things says the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God:
- 15 I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would thou wert cold or hot.
- 16 Thus because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I am about to spue thee out of my mouth.
- 17 Because thou sayest, I am rich, and am grown rich, and have need of nothing, and knowest not that thou art the wretched and the miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked;
- 18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold purified by fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white garments, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness may not be made manifest; and eye-salve to anoint thine eyes, that thou mayest see.
- 19 I rebuke and discipline as many as I love; be zealous therefore and repent.
- 20 Behold, I stand at the door and am knocking; if any one hear my voice and open the door, I will come in unto him and sup with him, and he with me.

- 4 But thou hast a few names [^] in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white, for they are worthy.
- 5 He that overcometh, he shall be clothed in white garments; and I will in no wise blot out his name from the book of life, and I will confess his name before my Father and before his angels.
- 6 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches.
- 7 And to the angel of the church that is in Philadelphia write, These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of [^] David, he that openeth and no one shall shut, and that shutteth and no one shall open:
- 8 I know thy works. Behold, I have set before thee an open door which no one can shut: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.
- 9 Behold, I give of the synagogue of Satan those that say they are Jews and are not but lie: behold, I will make them to come and do homage before thy feet, and know that I have loved thee.
- 10 Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of trial that is about to come on all the habitable world, to try those that dwell on the earth.
- 11 [^] I am coming quickly: hold fast that which thou hast, that no one take thy crown.
- 12 He that overcometh, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall never go out more: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, that cometh down out of the heaven from my God, and my new name.
- 13 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches.
- 14 And to the angel of the church that is in Laodicea write, These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God:
- 15 I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot; I would thou wert cold or hot.
- 16 So, because thou art lukewarm and neither hot nor cold, I am about to spue thee out of my mouth.
- 17 Because thou sayest, [^] I am rich and am become rich and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art the wretched and the pitiable and poor and blind and naked;
- 18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold purified by fire that thou mayest wax rich, and white garments that thou mayest be clothed and the shame of thy nakedness may not be manifested; and eye-salve to anoint thine eyes that thou mayest see.
- 19 I, as many as I love, rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore and repent.
- 20 Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any one hear my voice, and open the door, I will [both] come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

Revelation

- 21 He that overcomes, to him will I give to sit with me in my throne; as I also have overcome, and have sat down with my Father in his throne.
- 22 He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the assemblies.

REVELATION 4 JND

- 1 After these things I saw, and behold, a door opened in heaven, and the first voice which I heard as of a trumpet speaking with me, saying, Come up here, and I will shew thee the things which must take place after these things.
- 2 Immediately I became in [the] Spirit; and behold, a throne stood in the heaven, and upon the throne one sitting,
- 3 and he [that was] sitting like in appearance to a stone [of] jasper and a sardius, and a rainbow round the throne like in appearance to an emerald.
- 4 And round the throne twenty-four thrones, and on the thrones twenty-four elders sitting, clothed with white garments; and on their heads golden crowns.
- 5 And out of the throne go forth lightnings, and voices, and thunders; and seven lamps of fire, burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God;
- 6 and before the throne, as a glass sea, like crystal. And in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, four living creatures, full of eyes, before and behind;
- 7 and the first living creature like a lion, and the second living creature like a calf, and the third living creature having the face as of a man, and the fourth living creature like a flying eagle.
- 8 And the four living creatures, each one of them having respectively six wings; round and within they are full of eyes; and they cease not day and night saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, who was, and who is, and who is to come.
- 9 And when the living creatures shall give glory and honour and thanksgiving to him that sits upon the throne, who lives to the ages of ages,
- 10 the twenty-four elders shall fall before him that sits upon the throne, and do homage to him that lives to the ages of ages; and shall cast their crowns before the throne, saying,
- 11 Thou art worthy, O our Lord and [our] God, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy will they were and they have been created.

REVELATION 5 JND

- 1 And I saw on the right hand of him that sat upon the throne a book, written within and on the back, sealed with seven seals.
- 2 And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who [is] worthy to open the book, and to break its seals?

- 21 He that overcometh, I will give him to sit down with me in my throne, as I also overcame and sat down with my Father in his throne.
- 22 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith to the churches.

REVELATION 4 WK

- 1 After these things I saw, and, behold, a door [^] opened in the heaven; and the first voice which I heard [^] as of a trumpet talking with me said, Come up hither, and I will shew thee the things which must come to pass after these.

- 3 and he that sat [^] in appearance like a jasper stone and a sardius: and a rainbow round about the throne in appearance like an emerald.
- 4 And round about the throne were twenty-four thrones: and upon the twenty-four thrones I saw elders sitting clothed in white garments, and [^] upon their heads golden crowns.
- 5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings and voices and thunders; and seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God;
- 6 and before the throne as a sea of glass like crystal; and in the midst of the throne, and around the throne, four living creatures full of eyes before and behind:
- 7 and the first living creature like a lion, and the second living creature like a calf, and the third living creature had the face as of a man, and the fourth living creature like a flying eagle.
- 8 And the four living creatures, having each of them six wings, round about and [^] within are full of eyes; and they have no rest day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, the Lord God the Almighty that [^] was and that is and that is to come.
- 9 And when the living creatures shall give glory and honour and thanks to him that sitteth on the throne unto the ages of the ages,
- 10 the twenty-[^]-four elders shall fall down before him that sitteth on the throne, and shall worship him that liveth unto the ages of the ages, and shall cast their crowns before the throne, saying,
- 11 Thou art worthy, O Lord [and our God], to receive the glory and the honour and the power: for thou createdest [^] all things, and because of thy will they were and were created.

REVELATION 5 WK

- 1 And I saw upon the right hand of him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the back, sealed up with seven seals.
- 2 And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book and to loose the seals thereof?

- 3 And no one was able in the heaven, or upon the earth, or underneath the earth, to open the book, or to regard it.
- 4 And I wept much because no one had been found worthy to open the book nor to regard it.
- 5 And one of the elders says to me, Do not weep. Behold, the lion which [is] of the tribe of Juda, the root of David, has overcome [so as] to open the book, and its seven seals.
- 6 And I saw in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, a Lamb standing, as slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God [which are] sent into all the earth:
- 7 and it came and took [it] out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.
- 8 And when it took the book, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell before the Lamb, having each a harp and golden bowls full of incenses, which are the prayers of the saints.
- 9 And they sing a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open its seals; because thou hast been slain, and hast redeemed to God, by thy blood, out of every tribe, and tongue, and people, and nation,
- 10 and made them to our God kings and priests; and they shall reign over the earth.
- 11 And I saw, and I heard [the] voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders; and their number was ten thousands of ten thousands and thousands of thousands;
- 12 saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that has been slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing.
- 13 And every creature which is in the heaven and upon the earth and under the earth, and [those that are] upon the sea, and all things in them, heard I saying, To him that sits upon the throne, and to the Lamb, blessing, and honour, and glory, and might, to the ages of ages.
- 14 And the four living creatures said, Amen; and the elders fell down and did homage.

REVELATION 6 JND

- 1 And I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seven seals, and I heard one of the four living creatures saying, as a voice of thunder, Come [and see].
- 2 And I saw: and behold, a white horse, and he that sat upon it having a bow; and a crown was given to him, and he went forth conquering and that he might conquer.
- 3 And when it opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature, saying, Come [and see].
- 4 And another, a red horse, went forth; and to him that sat upon it, to him it was given to take peace from the earth, and that they should slay one another; and there was given to him a great sword.
- 5 And when it opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature saying, Come [and see]. And I saw: and

- 3 And no one in the heaven [^] nor on the earth nor under the earth was able to open the book neither to look thereon.
- 4 And I wept much, because no one was able to open the book [^] neither to look thereon.
- 5 And one of the elders saith to me, Weep not: behold, the lion hath overcome that is of the tribe of Judah, the root of David, that openeth the book and [^] the seven seals thereof.
- 6 And I saw in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures, and in the midst of the elders, a Lamb standing as slain, having seven horns and seven eyes which are the [seven] Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.
- 7 And he came and took [the book] out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.
- 8 And when he took the book, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb, having each a harp and golden bowls full of incense, which is the prayers of the saints.
- 9 And they sing a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain and hast bought [us] to God by thy blood out of every tribe and tongue and people and nation;
- 10 and hast made them to our God kings and priests; and they shall reign over the earth.
- 11 And I saw, and I heard [^] the voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders: and the number of them was myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands,
- 12 saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that is slain to receive the power and [^] riches and wisdom and strength and honour and glory and blessing.
- 13 And every creature which is in the heaven and on the earth and under the earth and [such as are] on the sea and all things in them heard I saying, To him that sitteth on the throne and to the Lamb be the blessing and the honour and the glory and the might unto the ages of the ages. [^]
- 14 And the four living creatures said, [^] Amen: and the [^] elders fell down and worshipped. [^]

REVELATION 6 WK

- 1 And I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seven seals, and I heard one of the four living creatures saying, as a voice of thunder, Come.
- 2 And I saw, and, behold, a white horse, and he that sat upon him having a bow; and there was given him a crown: and he came out [^] conquering and that he might conquer. [^]
- 3 And when he [^] opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature saying, Come. [^]
- 4 And there came out another horse that was red: and to him that sat upon him it was given him to take peace from the earth, and that they should slay one another; and there was given him a great sword.

behold, a black horse, and he that sat upon it having a balance in his hand.

6 And I heard as a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, A choenix of wheat for a denarius, and three choenices of barley for a denarius: and do not injure the oil and the wine.

7 And when it opened the fourth seal, I heard [the voice of] the fourth living creature saying, Come [and see].

8 And I saw: and behold, a pale horse, and he that sat upon it, his name [was] Death, and hades followed with him; and authority was given to him over the fourth of the earth to slay with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and by the beasts of the earth.

9 And when it opened the fifth seal, I saw underneath the altar the souls of them that had been slain for the word of God, and for the testimony which they held;

10 and they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, O sovereign ruler, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell upon the earth?

11 And there was given to them, to each one a white robe; and it was said to them that they should rest yet a little while until both their fellow-bondmen and their brethren, who were about to be killed as they, should be fulfilled.

12 And I saw when it opened the sixth seal, and there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as hair sackcloth, and the whole moon became as blood, 13 and the stars of heaven fell upon the earth, as a fig tree, shaken by a great wind, casts its unseasonable figs.

14 And the heaven was removed as a book rolled up, and every mountain and island were removed out of their places.

15 And the kings of the earth, and the great, and the chiliarchs, and the rich, and the strong, and every bondman and freeman, hid themselves in the caves and in the rocks of the mountains;

16 and they say to the mountains and to the rocks, Fall on us, and have us hidden from [the] face of him that sits upon the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb;

17 because the great day of his wrath is come, and who is able to stand?

REVELATION 7 JND

1 And after this I saw four angels standing upon the four corners of the earth, holding fast the four winds of the earth, that no wind might blow upon the earth, nor upon the sea, nor upon any tree.

2 And I saw another angel ascending from [the] sun-rising, having [the] seal of [the] living God; and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels to whom it had been given to hurt the earth and the sea,

3 saying, Hurt not the earth, nor the sea, nor the trees, until we shall have sealed the bondmen of our God upon their foreheads.

black horse, and he that sat upon him had a balance in his hand.

6 And I heard [as] a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, A choenix of wheat for a denarius, and three choenices of barley for a denarius; and the oil and the wine thou must not hurt.

7 And when he [^] opened the fourth seal, I heard the fourth living creature's voice saying, Come. [^]

8 And I saw, and, behold, a pale horse, and his name that sat on him was death, and hades followed with him; and there was given him authority over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword and with hunger and with death and by [^] the beasts of the earth.

9 And when he [^] opened the fifth seal, I saw [^] under the altar the souls [^] of those slain because of the word of God and because of the testimony [^] which they held.

10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, How long, O Master, the holy and [^] true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on those that dwell on the earth?

11 And there was given them [each] a white robe; and it was said to them that they should rest yet for a [little] space, until [^] their fellow-servants also and their brethren should be completed [^] that were to be killed even as they.

12 And I saw [^] when he [^] opened the sixth seal, and [^] there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the whole moon became as blood;

13 and the stars of the heaven fell unto the earth, as a fig tree shaken by a great wind casteth its untimely figs.

14 And the heaven departed as a scroll rolled up; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places.

15 And the kings of the earth and the great men and the chiliarchs and the rich and the mighty and every bondman and [^] freeman hid themselves in the caves and in the rocks of the mountains;

16 and they say to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb:

17 for the great day of his wrath is come; and who is able to stand?

REVELATION 7 WK

1 [And] after this I saw four angels standing upon the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that no [^] wind should blow on the earth nor on the sea nor upon any tree.

2 And I saw another angel rising up from the east, having the seal of the living God; and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea,

3 saying, Hurt not the earth nor the sea nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God on their foreheads.

- 4 And I heard the number of the sealed, a hundred [and] forty-four thousand, sealed out of every tribe of [the] sons of Israel:
- 5 out of [the] tribe of Juda, twelve thousand sealed; out of [the] tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Gad, twelve thousand;
- 6 out of [the] tribe of Aser, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Nephthalim, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Manasseh, twelve thousand;
- 7 out of [the] tribe of Simeon, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Levi, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Issachar, twelve thousand;
- 8 out of [the] tribe of Zabulon, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand; out of [the] tribe of Benjamin, twelve thousand sealed.
- 9 After these things I saw, and lo, a great crowd, which no one could number, out of every nation and tribes and peoples and tongues, standing before the throne and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palm branches in their hands.
- 10 And they cry with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God who sits upon the throne, and to the Lamb.
- 11 And all the angels stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell before the throne upon their faces and worshipped God,
- 12 saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and strength, to our God, to the ages of ages. Amen.
- 13 And one of the elders answered, saying to me, These who are clothed with white robes, who are they, and whence came they?
- 14 And I said to him, My lord, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they who come out of the great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and have made them white in the blood of the Lamb.
- 15 Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple, and he that sits upon the throne shall spread his tabernacle over them.
- 16 They shall not hunger any more, neither shall they thirst any more, nor shall the sun at all fall on them, nor any burning heat;
- 17 because the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall shepherd them, and shall lead them to fountains of waters of life, and God shall wipe away every tear from their eyes.

REVELATION 8 JND

- 1 And when it opened the seventh seal, there was silence in the heaven about half an hour.
- 2 And I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and seven trumpets were given to them.
- 3 And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and much incense was given to him, that he might give [efficacy] to the prayers of all saints at the golden altar which [was] before the throne.

REVELATION 8 WK

- 1 And when he Λ opened the seventh seal, there was silence in the heaven about half an hour.
- 2 And I saw the seven angels who stand before God; and there were given to them seven trumpets.
- 3 And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given him much incense, that he should give efficacy to the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar that was before the throne.

Revelation

- 4 And the smoke of the incense went up with the prayers of the saints, out of the hand of the angel before God.
- 5 And the angel took the censer, and filled it from the fire of the altar, and cast [it] on the earth: and there were voices, and thunders and lightnings, and an earthquake.
- 6 And the seven angels who had the seven trumpets prepared themselves that they might sound with [their] trumpets.
- 7 And the first sounded [his] trumpet: and there was hail and fire, mingled with blood, and they were cast upon the earth; and the third part of the earth was burnt up, and the third part of the trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up.
- 8 And the second angel sounded [his] trumpet: and as a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood;
- 9 and the third part of the creatures which were in the sea which had life died; and the third part of the ships were destroyed.
- 10 And the third angel sounded [his] trumpet: and there fell out of the heaven a great star, burning as a torch, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters.
- 11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood; and the third part of the waters became wormwood, and many of the men died of the waters because they were made bitter.
- 12 And the fourth angel sounded [his] trumpet: and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars; so that the third part of them should be darkened, and that the day should not appear [for] the third part of it, and the night the same.
- 13 And I saw, and I heard an eagle flying in mid-heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to them that dwell upon the earth, for the remaining voices of the trumpet of the three angels who are about to sound.

REVELATION 9 JND

- 1 And the fifth angel sounded [his] trumpet: and I saw a star out of the heaven fallen to the earth; and there was given to it the key of the pit of the abyss.
- 2 And it opened the pit of the abyss; and there went up smoke out of the pit as [the] smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened with the smoke of the pit.
- 3 And out of the smoke came forth locusts on the earth, and power was given to them as the scorpions of the earth have power;
- 4 and it was said to them, that they should not injure the grass of the earth, nor any green thing, nor any tree, but the men who have not the seal of God on their foreheads:
- 5 and it was given to them that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months; and their torment [was] as [the] torment of a scorpion when it strikes a man.
- 6 And in those days shall men seek death, and shall in no way find it; and shall desire to die, and death flees from them.

- 4 And the smoke of the incense [^] rose up with the prayers of the saints out of the angel's hand before God.
- 5 And the angel took the censer and filled it with the fire of the altar and cast it unto the earth; and there were thunders and lightnings and voices and an earthquake.
- 6 And the seven angels that had the seven trumpets prepared themselves that they should sound.
- 7 And the first [^] sounded; and there was hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast unto the earth; and the third of the earth was burnt up, and the third of the trees was burnt up, and all the green grass was burnt up.
- 8 And the second angel sounded; and as a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea; and the third of the sea became blood:
- 9 and the third of the creatures that were in the sea that had life died; and the third of the ships were destroyed.
- 10 And the third angel sounded; and there fell out of the heaven a great star burning as a torch, and it fell upon the third of the rivers and upon the fountains of the waters.
- 11 And the name of the star is called [^] Wormwood; and the third of the waters became wormwood; and many of the men died of the waters because they were made bitter.
- 12 And the fourth angel sounded; and the third of the sun was smitten and the third of the moon and the third of the stars, that the third of them might be darkened, and the day should not shine for the third thereof and the night likewise.
- 13 And I saw, and I heard an eagle flying in mid-heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to those that dwell on the earth from the rest of the voices of the trumpet of the three angels that are to sound!

REVELATION 9 WK

- 1 And the fifth angel sounded; and I saw a star fallen out of the heaven unto the earth, and there was given him the key of the pit of the abyss.
- 2 And he opened the pit of the abyss, and smoke arose out of the pit as the smoke of a great furnace: and the sun was darkened and the air by the smoke of the pit.
- 3 And out of the smoke came forth locusts unto the earth, and there was given them power as the scorpions of the earth have power.
- 4 And it was said to them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth nor any green thing nor any tree, but the men [^] which have not the seal of God on their foreheads.
- 5 And it was given them that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months; and their torment was as the torment of a scorpion when it strikes a man.
- 6 And in those days shall men seek death and shall in no wise find it, and shall desire to die, and death fleeth from them.

- 7 And the likenesses of the locusts [were] like to horses prepared for war; and upon their heads as crowns like gold, and their faces as faces of men;
- 8 and they had hair as women's hair, and their teeth were as of lions,
- 9 and they had breastplates as breastplates of iron, and the sound of their wings [was] as the sound of chariots of many horses running to war;
- 10 and they have tails like scorpions, and stings; and their power [was] in their tails to hurt men five months.
- 11 They have a king over them, the angel of the abyss: his name in Hebrew Abaddon, and in Greek he has [for] name Apollyon.
- 12 The first woe has past. Behold, there come yet two woes after these things.
- 13 And the sixth angel sounded [his] trumpet: and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which [is] before God,
- 14 saying to the sixth angel that had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound at the great river Euphrates.
- 15 And the four angels were loosed, who are prepared for the hour and day and month and year, that they might slay the third part of men;
- 16 and the number of the hosts of horse [was] twice ten thousand times ten thousand. I heard their number.
- 17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and those that sat upon them, having breastplates of fire and jacinth and brimstone; and the heads of the horses [were] as heads of lions, and out of their mouths goes out fire and smoke and brimstone.
- 18 By these three plagues were the third part of men killed, by the fire and the smoke and the brimstone which goes out of their mouths.
- 19 For the power of the horses is in their mouth and in their tails: for their tails [are] like serpents, having heads, and with them they injure.
- 20 And the rest of men who were not killed with these plagues repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship demons, and the golden and silver and brazen and stone and wooden idols, which can neither see nor hear nor walk.
- 21 And they repented not of their murders, nor of their witchcrafts, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.

REVELATION 10 JND

- 1 And I saw another strong angel coming down out of the heaven, clothed with a cloud, and the rainbow upon his head, and his countenance as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire,
- 2 and having in his hand a little opened book. And he set his right foot on the sea, and the left upon the earth,
- 3 and cried with a loud voice as a lion roars. And when he cried, the seven thunders uttered their own voices.

- 7 And the likenesses of the locusts were like horses prepared for war, and upon their heads as crowns like gold, and their faces as the faces of men.
- 8 And they had hair as hair of women, and their teeth were as of lions.
- 9 And they had breastplates as iron breastplates, and the sound of their wings was as a sound of chariots of many horses running unto war.
- 10 And they have tails like scorpions, and stings; and in their tails was their power to hurt men five months.
- 11 They have a king over them, the angel of the abyss: his name in Hebrew is Abaddon; and in the Greek he hath the name Apollyon.
- 12 The first woe is past; behold, there come two woes more after these things.
- 13 And the sixth angel sounded; and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar that is before God,
- 14 ^ saying to the sixth angel that had the trumpet, Loose the four angels that are bound at the great river Euphrates.
- 15 And the four angels were loosed that were prepared for the hour and ^ day and month and year, that they might slay the third of men.
- 16 And the number of the armies of the cavalry was two myriads of myriads: ^ I heard the number of them.
- 17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and those that sat on them, having breastplates of fire and of jacinth and of brimstone: and the heads of the horses were as heads of lions; and out of their mouths proceeded fire and smoke and brimstone.
- 18 By these three plagues were killed the third of men, by the fire and ^ the smoke and ^ the brimstone that proceeded out of their mouths.
- 19 For the power of the horses is in their mouth and in their tails: for their tails are like serpents and have heads; and with them they do hurt.
- 20 And the rest of the men who were not killed by these plagues repented not of the works of their hands, that they should not worship demons, and ^ idols of gold and of silver and of brass and of stone and of wood which can neither see nor hear nor walk;
- 21 and they repented not of their murders nor of their sorceries nor of their fornication nor of their thefts.

REVELATION 10 WK

- 1 And I saw another strong angel coming down out of the heaven, clothed with a cloud; and the rainbow on ^ his head, and his face as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire:
- 2 and he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot on the sea, and the left ^ on the earth,
- 3 and cried with a loud voice, as a lion roareth: and when he cried, the seven thunders uttered their own voices.

Revelation

- 4 And when the seven thunders spoke, I was about to write: and I heard a voice out of the heaven saying, Seal the things which the seven thunders have spoken, and write them not.
- 5 And the angel whom I saw stand on the sea and on the earth lifted up his right hand to the heaven,
- 6 and swore by him that lives to the ages of ages, who created the heaven and the things that are in it, and the earth and the things that are in it, and the sea and the things that are in it, that there should be no longer delay;
- 7 but in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he is about to sound the trumpet, the mystery of God also shall be completed, as he has made known the glad tidings to his own bondmen the prophets.
- 8 And the voice which I heard out of the heaven [was] again speaking with me, and saying, Go, take the little book which is opened in the hand of the angel who is standing on the sea and on the earth.
- 9 And I went to the angel, saying to him to give me the little book. And he says to me, Take and eat it up: and it shall make thy belly bitter, but in thy mouth it shall be sweet as honey.
- 10 And I took the little book out of the hand of the angel, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth as honey, sweet; and when I had eaten it my belly was made bitter.
- 11 And it was said to me, Thou must prophesy again as to peoples and nations and tongues and many kings.

REVELATION II JND

- 1 And there was given to me a reed like a staff, saying, Rise, and measure the temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship in it.
- 2 And the court which [is] without the temple cast out, and measure it not; because it has been given [up] to the nations, and the holy city shall they tread under foot forty-two months.
- 3 And I will give [power] to my two witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred [and] sixty days, clothed in sackcloth.
- 4 These are the two olive trees and the two lamps which stand before the Lord of the earth;
- 5 and if any one wills to injure them, fire goes out of their mouth, and devours their enemies. And if any one wills to injure them, thus must he be killed.
- 6 These have power to shut the heaven that no rain may fall during the days of their prophecy; and they have power over the waters to turn them into blood, and to smite the earth as often as they will with every plague.
- 7 And when they shall have completed their testimony, the beast who comes up out of the abyss shall make war with them, and shall conquer them, and shall kill them:
- 8 and their body [shall be] on the street of the great city, which is called spiritually Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified.

- 4 And when the seven thunders spoke [^], I was about to write: and I heard a voice from the heaven, saying [^], Seal the things which the seven thunders spoke, and write them not.
- 5 And the angel whom I saw standing on the sea and on the earth lifted up his right hand unto the heaven,
- 6 and sware by him that liveth unto the ages of the ages, who created the heaven and the things therein, and the earth and the things therein, and the sea and the things therein, that there should be no more space,
- 7 but in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he is to sound, [^] the mystery of God should be finished, as he announced the glad tidings to his servants the prophets.
- 8 And the voice which I heard from heaven was again speaking with me, and said, Go, take the book that is open in the hand of the angel that standeth on the sea and on the earth.
- 9 And I went away to the angel, saying to him that he should give me the little book. And he said to me, Take, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but in thy mouth it shall be sweet as honey.
- 10 And I took the little book out of the hand of the angel, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey, and when I ate it, my belly was made bitter.
- 11 And they say to me, Thou must again prophesy of peoples and [of] nations and tongues and many kings.

REVELATION II WK

- 1 And there was given me a reed like a rod, [^] saying, Rise, and measure the temple of God, and the altar, and those that worship therein.
- 2 And the court that is without the temple cast out, and measure it not; for it was given to the nations: and the holy city shall they tread forty [and] two months.
- 3 And I will give efficacy to my two witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed with sackcloth.
- 4 These are the two olive trees, and the two lamp-stands that stand before the Lord of the earth.
- 5 And if any one desire to hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouth, and devoureth their enemies: and if [^] any one desire to hurt them, thus must he be killed.
- 6 These have authority to shut the heaven that no rain fall during the days of their prophecy; and they have authority over the waters to turn them into blood, and to smite the earth with every plague as often as they will.
- 7 And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast [^] that riseth up out of the abyss shall make war with them and shall overcome them and shall kill them.
- 8 And their dead body shall be on the street of the great city which is called spiritually Sodom and Egypt, where also their Lord was crucified.

- 9 And [men] of the peoples and tribes and tongues and nations see their body three days and a half, and they do not suffer their bodies to be put into a sepulchre.
- 10 And they that dwell upon the earth rejoice over them, and are full of delight, and shall send gifts one to another, because these, the two prophets, tormented them that dwell upon the earth.
- 11 And after the three days and a half [the] spirit of life from God came into them, and they stood upon their feet; and great fear fell upon those beholding them.
- 12 And I heard a great voice out of the heaven saying to them, Come up here; and they went up to the heaven in the cloud, and their enemies beheld them.
- 13 And in that hour there was a great earthquake, and the tenth of the city fell, and seven thousand names of men were slain in the earthquake. And the remnant were filled with fear, and gave glory to the God of the heaven.
- 14 The second woe has past; behold, the third woe comes quickly.
- 15 And the seventh angel sounded [his] trumpet: and there were great voices in the heaven, saying, The kingdom of the world of our Lord and of his Christ is come, and he shall reign to the ages of ages.
- 16 And the twenty-four elders, who sit on their thrones before God, fell upon their faces, and worshipped God,
- 17 saying, We give thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, [He] who is, and who was, that thou hast taken thy great power and hast reigned.
- 18 And the nations have been full of wrath, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead to be judged, and to give the recompense to thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and to those who fear thy name, small and great; and to destroy those that destroy the earth.
- 19 And the temple of God in the heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen in his temple: and there were lightnings, and voices, and thunders, and an earthquake, and great hail.

REVELATION 12 JND

- 1 And a great sign was seen in the heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars;
- 2 and being with child she cried, [being] in travail, and in pain to bring forth.
- 3 And another sign was seen in the heaven: and behold, a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and on his heads seven diadems;
- 4 and his tail draws the third part of the stars of the heaven; and he cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman who was about to bring forth, in order that when she brought forth he might devour her child.
- 5 And she brought forth a male son, who shall shepherd all the nations with an iron rod; and her child was caught up to God and to his throne.

- 9 And some of the peoples and [^] tribes and tongues and nations see their [^] dead body three days and a half, and do not suffer their dead bodies to be put into a sepulchre.
- 10 And those that dwell on the earth [^] rejoice over them and make merry and shall send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented those that dwell on the earth.
- 11 And after the three days and a half the spirit of life from God entered [into] them, and they stood upon their feet, and great fear fell upon those that beheld them.
- 12 And I heard a loud voice out of the heaven saying to them, Come up hither. And they went up to the heaven in the cloud; and their enemies beheld them.
- 13 And in that hour was there a great earthquake, and the tenth of the city fell, and there were slain in the earthquake seven thousand names of men: and the rest became afraid, and gave glory to the God of the heaven.
- 14 The second woe is past; behold, the third woe cometh quickly.
- 15 And the seventh angel sounded; and there were loud voices in the heaven, saying, The kingdom of the world hath become our Lord's and his Christ's, and he shall reign unto the ages of the ages.
- 16 And the twenty-[^]four elders, who sit before [^] God upon their thrones, fell upon their faces and worshipped God,
- 17 saying, We give thee thanks, O Lord God the Almighty, that art and that wast [^] ; because thou hast taken thy great power and reigned.
- 18 And the nations were wroth, and thy wrath [^] is come, and the time of the dead to be judged, and to give the reward to thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and to them that fear thy name, the little and the great; and to destroy those that destroy the earth.
- 19 And there was opened the temple of God [that is] in the heaven, and there was seen the ark of his covenant in his temple; and there were lightnings and voices and thunders [and an earthquake] and great hail.

REVELATION 12 WK

- 1 And a great sign was seen in the heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars;
- 2 and being with child she crieth, [^] travailing and pained to bring forth.
- 3 And there was seen another sign in the heaven; and, behold, a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his heads seven diadems.
- 4 And his tail draweth the third of the stars of the heaven, and cast them unto the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman that was about to bring forth, that when she brought forth he might devour her child.
- 5 And she brought forth a male son, who is to rule all the nations with an iron rod: and her child was caught up to God, and to his throne.

Revelation

- 6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has there a place prepared of God, that they should nourish her there a thousand two hundred [and] sixty days.
- 7 And there was war in the heaven: Michael and his angels went to war with the dragon. And the dragon fought, and his angels;
- 8 and he prevailed not, nor was their place found any more in the heaven.
- 9 And the great dragon was cast out, the ancient serpent, he who is called Devil and Satan, he who deceives the whole habitable world, he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.
- 10 And I heard a great voice in the heaven saying, Now is come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ; for the accuser of our brethren has been cast out, who accused them before our God day and night:
- 11 and they have overcome him by reason of the blood of the Lamb, and by reason of the word of their testimony, and have not loved their life even unto death.
- 12 Therefore be full of delight, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the earth and to the sea, because the devil has come down to you, having great rage, knowing he has a short time.
- 13 And when the dragon saw that he had been cast out into the earth, he persecuted the woman which bore the male [child].
- 14 And there were given to the woman the two wings of the great eagle, that she might fly into the desert into her place, where she is nourished there a time, and times, and half a time, from [the] face of the serpent.
- 15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth behind the woman water as a river, that he might make her be [as] one carried away by a river.
- 16 And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed the river which the dragon cast out of his mouth.
- 17 And the dragon was angry with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, who keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus.
- 18 And I stood upon the sand of the sea;

REVELATION 13 JND

- 1 and I saw a beast rising out of the sea, having ten horns and seven heads, and upon its horns ten diadems, and upon its heads names of blasphemy.
- 2 And the beast which I saw was like to a leopardess, and its feet as of a bear, and its mouth as a lion's mouth; and the dragon gave to it his power, and his throne, and great authority;
- 3 and one of his heads [was] as slain to death, and his wound of death had been healed: and the whole earth wondered after the beast.

- 6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath [^] a place prepared of God, that there they should nourish her a thousand two hundred and sixty days.
- 7 And there was war in the heaven: [^] Michael and his angels went to war with the dragon: and the dragon made war and his angels;
- 8 and he prevailed not, neither was their place found any more in the heaven.
- 9 And the great dragon was cast out, the ancient serpent, that is called the Devil and [^] Satan, that deceiveth the whole habitable world: he was cast into the earth, and his angels were cast with him.
- 10 And I heard a loud voice in the heaven, saying, Now is come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast out that accused them before our God day and night.
- 11 And they overcame him because of the blood of the Lamb, and because of the word of their testimony; and they loved not their life unto death.
- 12 Therefore rejoice, ye [^] heavens, and ye that tabernacle in them. Woe to [^] the earth and to the sea! for the devil is gone down unto you, [^] having great fury, knowing that he hath a short time.
- 13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the male child.
- 14 And there were given to the woman [the] two wings of the great eagle, that she should fly into the wilderness into her place, where she is nourished there a time and times and half a time from the serpent's face.
- 15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth after the woman water as a river, that he might make her as carried away by a river.
- 16 And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth and swallowed up the river which the dragon cast out of his mouth.
- 17 And the dragon was wroth at the woman, and went away to make war with the rest of her seed that keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus.

REVELATION 13 WK

- 1 And I stood upon the sand of the sea. And I saw a beast rising out of the sea, having ten horns and seven heads, and on his horns ten diadems, and upon his heads names of blasphemy.
- 2 And the beast which I saw was like [^] a leopard, and his feet as a bear's, and his mouth as a lion's mouth; and the dragon gave him his power and his throne and great authority [^].
- 3 And I saw one of his heads as slain unto death; and his deadly wound was healed: and the whole earth wondered after the beast.

- 4 And they did homage to the dragon, because he gave the authority to the beast; and they did homage to the beast, saying Who [is] like to the beast? and who can make war with it?
- 5 And there was given to it a mouth, speaking great things and blasphemies; and there was given to it authority to pursue its career forty-two months.
- 6 And it opened its mouth for blasphemies against God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, and those who have their tabernacle in the heaven.
- 7 And there was given to it to make war with the saints, and to overcome them; and there was given to it authority over every tribe, and people, and tongue, and nation;
- 8 and all that dwell on the earth shall do it homage, [every one] whose name had not been written from [the] founding of [the] world in the book of life of the slain Lamb.
- 9 If any one has an ear, let him hear.
- 10 If any one [leads] into captivity, he goes into captivity. If any one shall kill with [the] sword, he must with [the] sword be killed. Here is the endurance and the faith of the saints.
- 11 And I saw another beast rising out of the earth; and it had two horns like to a lamb, and spake as a dragon;
- 12 and it exercises all the authority of the first beast before it, and causes the earth and those that dwell in it to do homage to the first beast, whose wound of death was healed.
- 13 And it works great signs, that it should cause even fire to come down from heaven to the earth before men.
- 14 And it deceives those that dwell upon the earth by reason of the signs which it was given to it to work before the beast, saying to those that dwell upon the earth to make an image to the beast, which has the wound of the sword, and lived.
- 15 And it was given to it to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should also speak, and should cause that as many as should not do homage to the image of the beast should be killed.
- 16 And it causes all, the small and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the bondmen, that they should give them a mark upon their right hand or upon their forehead;
- 17 and that no one should be able to buy or sell save he that had the mark, the name of the beast, or the number of its name.
- 18 Here is wisdom. He that has understanding let him count the number of the beast: for it is a man's number; and its number [is] six hundred [and] sixty-six.

REVELATION 14 JND

- 1 And I saw, and behold, the Lamb standing upon mount Zion, and with him a hundred [and] forty-four thousand, having his name and the name of his Father written upon their foreheads.

- 4 And they worshipped the dragon, because he gave the authority to the beast; and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like the beast? and who is able to make war with him?
- 5 And there was given him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemy; and there was given him authority to work [^] forty-[^]two months.
- 6 And he opened his mouth unto blasphemies against God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle [and] those that tabernacle in the heaven.
- 7 And it was given him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them; and there was given him authority over every tribe and people and tongue and nation.
- 8 And all that dwell on the earth shall worship him, of whom the name is not written in the book of life of the Lamb that was slain, from the world's foundation.
- 9 If any one hath an ear, let him hear.
- 10 If any one is for captivity, into captivity he goeth; if any one will kill with sword, with sword must he be killed. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints.
- 11 And I saw another beast rising up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.
- 12 And all the authority of the first beast he exerciseth before him, and causeth the earth and those that dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.
- 13 And he doeth great signs, so that even fire he maketh come down out of the heaven unto the earth before men;
- 14 and he deceiveth [^] those that dwell on the earth because of the signs which it was given him to do before the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, who hath the wound of the sword and lived.
- 15 And it was given him to give breath to the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak and cause [that] as many as [^] would not worship the image of the beast [^] should be killed.
- 16 And he causeth all, the little and the great, and the rich and the poor, and the free and the bond, that they should give them a mark on their right hand, or upon their forehead,
- 17 and that no one may be able to buy or sell, save he that hath the mark, [^] the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
- 18 Here is wisdom. Let him that hath [^] understanding count the number of the beast: for it is a man's number; and his number is 666.

REVELATION 14 WK

- 1 And I saw, and, behold, the Lamb standing upon the mount Sion, and with him [^] an hundred forty and four thousand, having his name and his Father's name [^] written on their foreheads.

Revelation

- 2 And I heard a voice out of the heaven as a voice of many waters, and as a voice of great thunder. And the voice which I heard [was] as of harp-singers harping with their harps;
- 3 and they sing a new song before the throne, and before the four living creatures and the elders. And no one could learn that song save the hundred [and] forty-four thousand who were bought from the earth.
- 4 These are they who have not been defiled with women, for they are virgins: these are they who follow the Lamb wheresoever it goes. These have been bought from men [as] first-fruits to God and to the Lamb:
- 5 and in their mouths was no lie found; [for] they are blameless.
- 6 And I saw another angel flying in mid-heaven, having [the] everlasting glad tidings to announce to those settled on the earth, and to every nation and tribe and tongue and people,
- 7 saying with a loud voice, Fear God and give him glory, for the hour of his judgment has come; and do homage to him who has made the heaven and the earth and the sea and fountains of waters.
- 8 And another, a second, angel followed, saying, Great Babylon has fallen, has fallen, which of the wine of the fury of her fornication has made all nations drink.
- 9 And another, a third, angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any one do homage to the beast and its image, and receive a mark upon his forehead or upon his hand,
- 10 he also shall drink of the wine of the fury of God prepared unmixed in the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy angels and before the Lamb.
- 11 And the smoke of their torment goes up to ages of ages, and they have no respite day and night who do homage to the beast and to its image, and if any one receive the mark of its name.
- 12 Here is the endurance of the saints, who keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.
- 13 And I heard a voice out of the heaven saying, Write, Blessed the dead who die in [the] Lord from henceforth. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; for their works follow with them.
- 14 And I saw, and behold, a white cloud, and on the cloud one sitting like [the] Son of man, having upon his head a golden crown, and in his hand a sharp sickle.
- 15 And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Send thy sickle and reap; for the hour of reaping is come, for the harvest of the earth is dried.
- 16 And he that sat on the cloud put his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.
- 17 And another angel came out of the temple which [is] in the heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

- 2 And I heard a voice out of the heaven, as a voice of many waters and as a voice of loud thunder: and the voice which I heard was as of harpers harping with their harps;
- 3 and they sing [as] a new song before the throne, and before the four living creatures and the elders; and no one could learn the song but the hundred forty and four thousand that were bought from the earth.
- 4 These are they who were not defiled with women: for they are virgins. These [are] they that follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were bought from among men, first-fruits to God and to the Lamb:
- 5 and in their mouth was found no falsehood; [for] they are blameless. ^
- 6 And I saw [another] angel flying in mid-heaven, having the everlasting gospel to announce unto those that sit on the earth, and unto every nation and tribe and tongue and people,
- 7 saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give him glory; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made the heaven and the earth and [the] sea and fountains of waters.
- 8 And another, a second angel followed, saying, Fallen [fallen] is Babylon the great ^, who hath given all the nations to drink of the wine of the fury of her fornication.
- 9 And another, a third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any one ^ worshippeth the beast and his image, and receiveth a mark on his forehead or upon his hand,
- 10 even he shall drink of the wine of the indignation of God that is mixed undiluted in the cup of his wrath; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone before the holy angels and before the Lamb:
- 11 and the smoke of their torment riseth up unto the ages of the ages; and they have no rest day and night, that worship the beast and his image, and if any one receiveth the mark of his name.
- 12 Here is the patience of the saints, ^ that keep the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.
- 13 And I heard a voice out of the heaven, saying ^, Write, Blessed are the dead that die ^ in the Lord henceforth. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their toils; for their works follow with them.
- 14 And I saw, and, behold, a white cloud; and upon the cloud I saw one sitting like the Son of man, having upon ^ his head a golden crown and in his hand a sharp sickle.
- 15 And another angel came forth out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to him that sat on the cloud, Send thy sickle and reap; for the time to reap hath come ^: for the harvest of the earth is dried up.
- 16 And he that sat upon the cloud put his sickle upon the earth; and the earth was reaped.
- 17 And another angel came forth out of the temple that is in the heaven, he also having a sharp sickle.

- 18 And another angel came out of the altar, having power over fire, and called with a loud cry to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, Send thy sharp sickle, and gather the bunches of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripened.
- 19 And the angel put his sickle to the earth, and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast [the bunches] into the great winepress of the fury of God;
- 20 and the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood went out of the winepress to the bits of the horses for a thousand six hundred stadia.

REVELATION 15 JND

- 1 And I saw another sign in the heaven, great and wonderful: seven angels having seven plagues, the last; for in them the fury of God is completed.
- 2 And I saw as a glass sea, mingled with fire, and those that had gained the victory over the beast, and over its image, and over the number of its name, standing upon the glass sea, having harps of God.
- 3 And they sing the song of Moses bondman of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and wonderful [are] thy works, Lord God Almighty; righteous and true [are] thy ways, O King of nations.
- 4 Who shall not fear [thee], O Lord, and glorify thy name? for [thou] only [art] holy; for all nations shall come and do homage before thee; for thy righteousnesses have been made manifest.
- 5 And after these things I saw, and the temple of the tabernacle of witness in the heaven was opened;
- 6 and the seven angels who had the seven plagues came out of the temple, clothed in pure bright linen, and girded about the breasts with golden girdles.
- 7 And one of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls, full of the fury of God, who lives to the ages of ages.
- 8 And the temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power: and no one could enter into the temple until the seven plagues of the seven angels were completed.

REVELATION 16 JND

- 1 And I heard a great voice out of the temple, saying to the seven angels, Go and pour out the seven bowls of the fury of God upon the earth.
- 2 And the first went and poured out his bowl on the earth; and there came an evil and grievous sore upon the men that had the mark of the beast, and those who worshipped its image.
- 3 And the second poured out his bowl on the sea; and it became blood, as of a dead man; and every living soul died in the sea.
- 4 And the third poured out his bowl on the rivers, and [on] the fountains of waters; and they became blood.

- 18 And another angel came forth out of the altar, [^] having authority over the fire, and cried with a loud voice to him that had the sharp sickle, saying, Send thy sharp sickle, and gather the clusters of the vine of the earth; for her grapes are fully ripe.
- 19 And the angel put his sickle unto the earth, and gathered the fruit of the vine of the earth, and cast it into the great winepress of the indignation of God.
- 20 And the winepress was trodden without the city, and blood came forth out of the winepress unto the bridles of the horses, a thousand six hundred stadia off.

REVELATION 15 WK

- 1 And I saw another sign in the heaven, great and wonderful: seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them was finished the indignation of God.
- 2 And I saw as a sea of glass mingled with fire, and those that won the victory over the beast, [and over his image,] and [^] over the number of his name, standing upon the sea of glass, having [^] harps of God.
- 3 And they sing the song of Moses the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, Great and wonderful are [^] thy works, O Lord God the Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of the nations.
- 4 Who shall not fear [^], O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all the nations shall come and worship before thee [^]; for thy righteousnesses were manifested.
- 5 And after these things I saw, and [^] there was opened the temple of the tabernacle of the testimony in the heaven;
- 6 and the seven angels [^] that had the seven plagues came [out of the temple], [^] clad in pure [^] bright linen, and girt round about their breasts with golden girdles.
- 7 And one of the four living creatures gave the seven angels seven golden bowls, full of the indignation of God that liveth unto the ages of the ages.
- 8 And the temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God, from his power; and no one was able to enter into the temple till the seven plagues of the seven angels were finished.

REVELATION 16 WK

- 1 And I heard a loud voice [out of the temple] saying to the seven angels, Go your ways, and pour out the seven bowls of the indignation of God unto the earth.
- 2 And the first [^] went away and poured out his bowl unto the earth; and there came an evil and grievous sore upon the men that had the mark of the beast, and upon those that worshipped his image.
- 3 And the second [^] poured out his bowl into the sea; and it became blood as of a dead man; and every living soul died, those in the sea.
- 4 And the third [^] poured out his bowl into the rivers and [into] the fountains of waters; and they became blood.

Revelation

- 5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying, Thou art righteous, who art and wast, the holy one, that thou hast judged so;
- 6 for they have poured out the blood of saints and prophets, and thou hast given them blood to drink; they are worthy.
- 7 And I heard the altar saying, Yea, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous [are] thy judgments.
- 8 And the fourth poured out his bowl on the sun; and it was given to it to burn men with fire.
- 9 And the men were burnt with great heat, and blasphemed the name of God, who had authority over these plagues, and did not repent to give him glory.
- 10 And the fifth poured out his bowl on the throne of the beast; and its kingdom became darkened; and they gnawed their tongues with distress,
- 11 and blasphemed the God of the heaven for their distresses and their sores, and did not repent of their works.
- 12 And the sixth poured out his bowl on the great river Euphrates; and its water was dried up, that the way of the kings from the rising of the sun might be prepared.
- 13 And I saw out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet, three unclean spirits, as frogs;
- 14 for they are [the] spirits of demons, doing signs; which go out to the kings of the whole habitable world to gather them together to the war of [that] great day of God the Almighty.
- 15 (Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed [is] he that watches and keeps his garments, that he may not walk naked, and that they [may not] see his shame.)
- 16 And he gathered them together to the place called in Hebrew, Armagedon.
- 17 And the seventh poured out his bowl on the air; and there came out a great voice from the temple of the heaven, from the throne, saying, It is done.
- 18 And there were lightnings, and voices, and thunders; and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were upon the earth, such an earthquake, so great.
- 19 And the great city was [divided] into three parts; and the cities of the nations fell: and great Babylon was remembered before God to give her the cup of the wine of the fury of his wrath.
- 20 And every island fled, and mountains were not found;
- 21 and a great hail, as of a talent weight, comes down out of the heaven upon men; and men blasphemed God because of the plague of hail, for the plague of it is exceeding great.

REVELATION 17 JND

- 1 And one of the seven angels, which had the seven bowls, came and spoke with me, saying, Come here, I will shew thee the sentence of the great harlot who sits upon the many waters;

- 5 And I heard the angel of the waters say, Righteous [^] art thou that art and that wast [^] holy, because thou hast judged these things.
- 6 For they shed the blood of saints and prophets, and thou gavest them blood to drink: [^] they are worthy.
- 7 And I heard [^] the altar say, Yea, O Lord God the Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.
- 8 And the fourth [^] poured out his bowl upon the sun; and it was given him to scorch men with fire.
- 9 And the men were scorched with great scorching, and blasphemed [^] the name of [^] God that had [^] authority over these plagues; and they repented not to give him glory.
- 10 And the fifth [^] poured out his bowl upon the throne of the beast; and his kingdom became darkened; and they gnawed their tongues for the pain,
- 11 and blasphemed the God of the heaven for their pains and for their sores, and repented not of their works.
- 12 And the sixth [^] poured out his bowl upon the great river, the Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the kings that are from the east might be prepared.
- 13 And I saw out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet, three unclean spirits as frogs.
- 14 For they are spirits of demons working signs, who go forth unto the kings [^] of the whole habitable world to gather them together unto the war of [that] great day of God the Almighty.
- 15 (Behold, I come as a thief: blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his raiment, that he walk not naked, and they see not his shame.)
- 16 And they gathered them together unto the place that is called in Hebrew Harmagedon.
- 17 And the seventh [^] poured out his bowl upon the air; and there came forth a loud voice from the temple [of the heaven], from the throne, saying, It is done.
- 18 And there were lightnings and voices and thunders, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since a man was [^] on the earth — such an earthquake, so great.
- 19 And the great city became three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: and Babylon the great was remembered before God to give her the cup of the wine of the indignation of his wrath.
- 20 And every island fled away, and no mountains were found.
- 21 And great hail as of a talent's weight cometh down out of the heaven upon men: and men blasphemed God for the plague of the hail; because the plague thereof is exceeding great.

REVELATION 17 WK

- 1 And there came one of the seven angels that had the seven bowls, and spoke with me, saying [^] , Come hither; I will shew thee the judgment of the great harlot that sitteth on [the] many waters;

- 2 with whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication; and they that dwell on the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.
- 3 And he carried me away in spirit to a desert; and I saw a woman sitting upon a scarlet beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.
- 4 And the woman was clothed in purple and scarlet, and had ornaments of gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and the unclean things of her fornication;
- 5 and upon her forehead a name written, Mystery, great Babylon, the mother of the harlots, and of the abominations of the earth.
- 6 And I saw the woman drunk with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the witnesses of Jesus. And I wondered, seeing her with great wonder.
- 7 And the angel said to me, Why hast thou wondered? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast which carries her, which has the seven heads and the ten horns.
- 8 The beast which thou sawest was, and is not, and is about to come up out of the abyss and go into destruction: and they who dwell on the earth, whose names are not written from the founding of the world in the book of life, shall wonder, seeing the beast, that it was, and is not, and shall be present.
- 9 Here is the mind that has wisdom: The seven heads are seven mountains, whereon the woman sits.
- 10 And there are seven kings: five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come; and when he comes he must remain [only] a little while.
- 11 And the beast that was and is not, he also is an eighth, and is of the seven, and goes into destruction.
- 12 And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have not yet received a kingdom, but receive authority as kings one hour with the beast.
- 13 These have one mind, and give their power and authority to the beast.
- 14 These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them; for he is Lord of lords and King of kings: and they [that are] with him called, and chosen, and faithful.
- 15 And he says to me, The waters which thou sawest, where the harlot sits, are peoples and multitudes and nations and tongues.
- 16 And the ten horns which thou sawest, and the beast, these shall hate the harlot, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and shall burn her with fire;
- 17 for God has given to their hearts to do his mind, and to act with one mind, and to give their kingdom to the beast until the words of God shall be fulfilled.
- 18 And the woman which thou sawest is the great city, which has kingship over the kings of the earth.

- 2 with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication, and those that inhabit the earth were made drunk with the wine of her fornication.
- 3 And he carried me away in the Spirit into a wilderness; and I saw a woman sitting upon a scarlet beast full of [the] names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.
- 4 And the woman was clothed with purple and scarlet, and decked with gold and precious stone and pearls, having in her hand a golden cup full of abominations and the unclean things of her fornication [^],
- 5 and upon the forehead a name written: MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF THE HARLOTS AND OF THE ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.
- 6 And I saw the woman drunk with the blood of the saints and with the blood of the witnesses of Jesus; and when I saw her, I wondered with [^] great wonder.
- 7 And the angel said to me, Wherefore didst thou wonder? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that beareth her, [^] that hath the seven heads and the ten horns.
- 8 The beast which thou sawest was and is not, and is to rise up out of the abyss and go into perdition: and they shall wonder that dwell on the earth, of whom the name is not written in the book of life from the world's foundation, when they behold the beast that he was and is not and shall be present.
- 9 Here is the mind that hath wisdom.
- 10 The seven heads are seven mountains, where the woman sitteth on them; and they are seven kings: [^] five are fallen, [^] one is, the other is not yet come; and when he shall have come, he must continue a short space.
- 11 And the beast which was and is not, even he is an eighth and is of the seven and goeth into perdition.
- 12 And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings which have not yet received a kingdom; but they receive authority as kings [^] one hour with the beast.
- 13 These have one mind and give their power and [^] authority to the beast.
- 14 These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them (for he is Lord of lords and King of kings), and those that are with him [^], called and chosen and faithful.
- 15 And he saith to me, The waters which thou sawest, where the harlot sitteth, are peoples and multitudes and nations and tongues.
- 16 And the ten horns which thou sawest, and the beast, these shall hate the harlot and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh and shall burn her with fire.
- 17 For God hath put into their hearts to accomplish his mind, and to accomplish one mind, and to give their kingdom to the beast, till the words of God shall be finished.
- 18 And the woman whom thou sawest is the great city that hath kingship over the kings of the earth.

REVELATION 18 JND

- 1 After these things I saw another angel descending out of the heaven, having great authority: and the earth was lightened with his glory.
- 2 And he cried with a strong voice, saying, Great Babylon has fallen, has fallen, and has become the habitation of demons, and a hold of every unclean spirit, and a hold of every unclean and hated bird;
- 3 because all the nations have drunk of the wine of the fury of her fornication; and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth have been enriched through the might of her luxury.
- 4 And I heard another voice out of the heaven saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye have not fellowship in her sins, and that ye do not receive of her plagues:
- 5 for her sins have been heaped on one another up to the heaven, and God has remembered her unrighteousnesses.
- 6 Recompense her even as she has recompensed; and double [to her] double, according to her works. In the cup which she has mixed, mix to her double.
- 7 So much as she has glorified herself and lived luxuriously, so much torment and grief give to her. Because she says in her heart, I sit a queen, and I am not a widow; and I shall in no wise see grief:
- 8 for this reason in one day shall her plagues come, death and grief and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire; for strong [is the] Lord God who has judged her.
- 9 And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived luxuriously with her, shall weep and wail over her, when they see the smoke of her burning,
- 10 standing afar off, through fear of her torment, saying, Woe, woe, the great city, Babylon, the strong city! for in one hour thy judgment is come.
- 11 And the merchants of the earth weep and grieve over her, because no one buys their lading any more;
- 12 lading of gold, and silver, and precious stones, and pearl, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet dye, and all thyine wood, and every article in ivory, and every article in most precious wood, and in brass, and in iron, and in marble,
- 13 and cinnamon, and amomum, and incense, and unguent, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and cattle, and sheep, and of horses, and of chariots, and of bodies, and souls of men.
- 14 And the ripe fruits which were the lust of thy soul have departed from thee, and all fair and splendid things have perished from thee, and they shall not find them any more at all.
- 15 The merchants of these things, who had been enriched through her, shall stand afar off through fear of her torment, weeping and grieving,
- 16 saying, Woe, woe, the great city, which [was] clothed with fine linen and purple and scarlet, and had ornaments of gold and precious stones and pearls!

REVELATION 18 WK

- 1 [^] After these things I saw another angel coming down out of the heaven, having great authority; and the earth was illumined with his glory.
- 2 And he cried [^] with a strong voice, saying, Fallen [fallen] is Babylon the great, and is become a habitation of demons, and a haunt of every unclean [^] spirit, and a haunt of every unclean and hated bird.
- 3 For of the wine of the fury of her fornication all the nations drank, and the kings of the earth committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth became rich by the power of her luxury.
- 4 And I heard another voice out of the heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye have no fellowship with her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues:
- 5 for her sins have reached unto the heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.
- 6 Render to her as she also rendered [^], and double [^] [the] double [^] according to her works: in the [^] cup which she mixed mix to her double.
- 7 How much she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, so much torment and mourning give her. Because in her heart she saith, [^] I sit a queen and am no widow and shall in no wise see mourning;
- 8 therefore in one day shall her plagues come, death and mourning and famine; and she shall be utterly burnt with fire: for strong is the Lord God that judged her.
- 9 And the kings of the earth that committed fornication and lived luxuriously with her shall weep [^] and wail on account of her, when they see the smoke of her burning,
- 10 standing afar off because of the fear of her torment, saying, Woe, woe, the great city Babylon, the strong city! for in one hour came thy judgment.
- 11 And the merchants of the earth weep and mourn on account of her; for their lading no one buyeth any more —
- 12 [^] lading of gold and of silver and of precious stone and of pearl and of fine linen and of purple and of silk and of scarlet; and all thyine wood and all furniture of ivory and all furniture of most precious wood, and of brass and of iron and of marble;
- 13 and cinnamon and amomum and incense and unguent and frankincense and wine and oil and fine flour and wheat and cattle and sheep, and of horses and of chariots and of bodies and souls of men.
- 14 And the fruits of the [^] desire of thy soul have departed from thee, and all the sumptuous and the bright things have perished from thee, and never shall they find them any more.
- 15 The merchants of these things that became rich by her shall stand afar off because of the fear of her torment, [^] weeping and mourning,
- 16 [^] saying, Woe, woe, the great city, that was clothed with fine linen and purple and scarlet, and decked with gold and precious stone and pearls!

- 17 for in one hour so great riches has been made desolate. And every steersman, and every one who sailed to any place, and sailors, and all who exercise their calling on the sea, stood afar off,
- 18 and cried, seeing the smoke of her burning, saying, What [city] is like to the great city?
- 19 and cast dust upon their heads, and cried, weeping and grieving, saying, Woe, woe, the great city, in which all that had ships in the sea were enriched through her costliness! for in one hour she has been made desolate.
- 20 Rejoice over her, heaven, and [ye] saints and apostles and prophets; for God has judged your judgment upon her.
- 21 And a strong angel took up a stone, as a great millstone, and cast [it] into the sea, saying, Thus with violence shall Babylon the great city be cast down, and shall be found no more at all;
- 22 and voice of harp-singers and musicians and flute-players and trumpeters shall not be heard any more at all in thee, and no artificer of any art shall be found any more at all in thee, and voice of millstone shall be heard no more at all in thee,
- 23 and light of lamp shall shine no more at all in thee, and voice of bridegroom and bride shall be heard no more at all in thee; for thy merchants were the great ones of the earth; for by thy sorcery have all the nations been deceived.
- 24 And in her was found [the] blood of prophets and saints, and of all the slain upon the earth.

REVELATION 19 JND

- 1 After these things I heard as a loud voice of a great multitude in the heaven, saying, Hallelujah: the salvation and the glory and the power of our God:
- 2 for true and righteous [are] his judgments; for he has judged the great harlot which corrupted the earth with her fornication, and has avenged the blood of his bondmen at her hand.
- 3 And a second time they said, Hallelujah. And her smoke goes up to the ages of ages.
- 4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and did homage to God who sits upon the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelujah.
- 5 And a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his bondmen, [and] ye that fear him, small and great.
- 6 And I heard as a voice of a great crowd, and as a voice of many waters, and as a voice of strong thunders, saying, Hallelujah, for [the] Lord our God the Almighty has taken to himself kingly power.
- 7 Let us rejoice and exult, and give him glory; for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife has made herself ready.
- 8 And it was given to her that she should be clothed in fine linen, bright [and] pure; for the fine linen is the righteousnesses of the saints.

- 17 for in one hour were so great riches made desolate. And every pilot and every voyager and sailors and as many as trade by the sea stood afar off,
- 18 and cried, seeing the smoke of her burning, saying, What city is like the [^] great city!
- 19 And they cast dust upon their heads, and cried, weeping and mourning, [^] saying, Woe, woe, the great city, wherein all that had [^] ships in the sea became rich by reason of her costliness! for in one hour was she made desolate.
- 20 Rejoice over her, O [^] heaven, and ye saints, and ye apostles, and ye prophets: for God hath judged your judgment on her.
- 21 And a strong angel took up a stone as a great millstone, and cast it into the sea, saying, Thus with violence shall Babylon the great city be cast down, and shall in no wise be found more [^] .
- 22 And no voice of harpers and musicians and pipers and trumpeters shall be heard any more in thee; and no craftsman of any craft shall be found any more in thee; and no sound of millstone shall be heard any more in thee;
- 23 and no light of lamp shall shine any more in thee; and no voice of bridegroom and [^] of bride shall be heard any more in thee; for thy merchants were the great ones of the earth; for by thy sorcery were all the nations deceived.
- 24 And in her the blood of prophets and of saints was found, and of all that were slain on the earth.

REVELATION 19 WK

- 1 [^] After these things I heard as a loud voice of a great multitude in the heaven, saying, Alleluia! the salvation, [^] the glory, and the power of our God:
- 2 for true and righteous are his [^] judgments; for he hath judged the great harlot who corrupted the earth with her fornication, and hath avenged the blood of his servants at [^] her hand.
- 3 And a second time they said, Alleluia! and her smoke riseth up unto the ages of the ages.
- 4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshipped God that sitteth on the throne, saying, Amen, Alleluia!
- 5 And a voice came forth out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his servants, and ye that fear him, [^] the little and the great.
- 6 And I heard as a voice of a great multitude, and as a voice of many waters, and as a voice of strong thunders, saying, Alleluia! for the Lord [our] God the Almighty hath reigned.
- 7 Let us be glad and rejoice and give the glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready.
- 8 And to her it was granted that she should be clothed with fine linen bright [and] pure: for the fine linen is the righteousnesses of the saints.

Revelation

- 9 And he says to me, Write, Blessed [are] they who are called to the supper of the marriage of the Lamb. And he says to me, These are the true words of God.
- 10 And I fell before his feet to do him homage. And he says to me, See [thou do it] not. I am thy fellow-bondman, and [the fellow-bondman] of thy brethren who have the testimony of Jesus. Do homage to God. For the spirit of prophecy is the testimony of Jesus.
- 11 And I saw the heaven opened, and behold, a white horse, and one sitting on it, [called] Faithful and True, and he judges and makes war in righteousness.
- 12 And his eyes are a flame of fire, and upon his head many diadems, having a name written which no one knows but himself;
- 13 and [he is] clothed with a garment dipped in blood; and his name is called The Word of God.
- 14 And the armies which [are] in the heaven followed him upon white horses, clad in white, pure, fine linen.
- 15 And out of his mouth goes a sharp [two-edged] sword, that with it he might smite the nations; and he shall shepherd them with an iron rod; and he treads the wine-press of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty.
- 16 And he has upon his garment, and upon his thigh, a name written, King of kings, and Lord of lords.
- 17 And I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the birds that fly in mid-heaven, Come, gather yourselves to the great supper of God,
- 18 that ye may eat the flesh of kings, and flesh of chiliarchs, and flesh of strong men, and flesh of horses and of those that sit upon them, and flesh of all, both free and bond, and small and great.
- 19 And I saw the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies gathered together to make war against him that sat upon the horse, and against his army.
- 20 And the beast was taken, and the false prophet that [was] with him, who wrought the signs before him by which he deceived them that received the mark of the beast, and those that worship his image. Alive were both cast into the lake of fire which burns with brimstone;
- 21 and the rest were slain with the sword of him that sat upon the horse, which goes out of his mouth; and all the birds were filled with their flesh.

REVELATION 20 JND

- 1 And I saw an angel descending from the heaven, having the key of the abyss, and a great chain in his hand.
- 2 And he laid hold of the dragon, the ancient serpent who is [the] devil and Satan, and bound him a thousand years,
- 3 and cast him into the abyss, and shut [it] and sealed [it] over him that he should not any more deceive the nations until the thousand years were completed; after these things he must be loosed for a little time.

- 9 And he saith to me, Write: Blessed are those that are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb. And he saith to me, These are the true words of God.
- 10 And I fell before his feet to worship him. And he saith to me, See thou do it not: I am fellow-servant of thee and of thy brethren that have the testimony of a Jesus: worship God. For the testimony of a Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.
- 11 And I saw the heaven opened, and behold, a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called faithful and true, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war.
- 12 His eyes were as a flame of fire, and upon his head were many diadems; he had names written and a name written which no one knoweth but he himself;
- 13 and he was clothed with a garment dyed with blood: and his name is called THE WORD OF GOD.
- 14 And the armies that are in the heaven followed him upon white horses, clad in white a pure fine linen.
- 15 And out of his mouth proceeded a [two-edged] sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with an iron rod: and he treadeth the winepress of the wine of the indignation a of the wrath of God the Almighty.
- 16 And he hath upon the garment and upon his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS.
- 17 And I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the fowls that fly in mid-heaven, Come, a gather yourselves together unto the great supper of God;
- 18 that ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of chiliarchs, and the flesh of strong men, and the flesh of horses, and of those that sit on them, and the flesh of all, both free and bond, and both little and great.
- 19 And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make a war with him that sat on the horse and with his army.
- 20 And the beast was taken, and with him the false prophet that wrought the signs before him, with which he deceived those that had received the mark of the beast and those that worshipped his image: they two were cast alive into the lake of fire that burneth with a brimstone.
- 21 And the rest were slain with the sword of him that sat on the horse — the sword that came forth out of his mouth; and all the fowls were filled with their flesh.

REVELATION 20 WK

- 1 And I saw an angel coming down from the heaven, having the key of the abyss, and a great chain upon his hand.
- 2 And he laid hold on the dragon, the ancient serpent, which is the Devil and a Satan a, and bound him a a thousand years,
- 3 and cast him into the abyss, and shut a and sealed it a over him, that he might deceive the nations no more till the thousand years were finished: after these must he be loosed a a little space.

- 4 And I saw thrones; and they sat upon them, and judgment was given to them; and the souls of those beheaded on account of the testimony of Jesus, and on account of the word of God; and those who had not done homage to the beast nor to his image, and had not received the mark on their forehead and hand; and they lived and reigned with the Christ a thousand years:
- 5 the rest of the dead did not live till the thousand years had been completed. This [is] the first resurrection.
- 6 Blessed and holy he who has part in the first resurrection: over these the second death has no power; but they shall be priests of God and of the Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.
- 7 And when the thousand years have been completed, Satan shall be loosed from his prison,
- 8 and shall go out to deceive the nations which [are] on the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to the war, whose number [is] as the sand of the sea.
- 9 And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city: and fire came down [from God] out of the heaven and devoured them.
- 10 And the devil who deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where [are] both the beast and the false prophet; and they shall be tormented day and night for the ages of ages.
- 11 And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled, and place was not found for them.
- 12 And I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and books were opened; and another book was opened, which is [that] of life. And the dead were judged out of the things written in the books according to their works.
- 13 And the sea gave up the dead which [were] in it, and death and hades gave up the dead which [were] in them; and they were judged each according to their works:
- 14 and death and hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death, [even] the lake of fire.
- 15 And if any one was not found written in the book of life, he was cast into the lake of fire.

REVELATION 21 JND

- 1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away, and the sea exists no more.
- 2 And I saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down out of the heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.
- 3 And I heard a loud voice out the heaven, saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God [is] with men, and he shall tabernacle with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, their God.

- 4 And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given to them; and the souls of those beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus and because of the word of God; and those who had not worshipped the beast nor his image and had not received the mark upon their forehead and upon their hand: and they lived and reigned with [^] Christ [the] thousand years.
- 5 [And] the rest of the dead [^] lived not till the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.
- 6 Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: over these the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ and shall reign with him a thousand years.
- 7 And when the thousand years shall have been finished, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,
- 8 and shall go out to deceive the nations in the four corners of the earth, Gog and [^] Magog, to gather them together unto the war: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea.
- 9 And they went up upon the breadth of the earth, and encompassed [^] the encampment of the saints [^] and the beloved city: and there came down fire out of the heaven [from God] and devoured them.
- 10 And the devil that deceived them was cast also into the lake of fire and brimstone, where also the beast and the false prophet are; and they shall be tormented day and night unto the ages of the ages.
- 11 And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat upon it, from whose [^] face the earth and the heaven fled away, and there was found no place for them.
- 12 And I saw the dead, the great and the little, standing before the throne, and books were opened; and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of the things written in the books according to their works.
- 13 And the sea gave up the dead that were in it; and death and hades gave up the dead that were in them; and they were judged each according to their works.
- 14 And death and hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death, the lake of fire.
- 15 And if any one was not found written in the book of life, he was cast into the lake of fire.

REVELATION 21 WK

- 1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away; and the sea is no more.
- 2 And [^] the holy city, new Jerusalem, I [^] saw coming down out of the heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.
- 3 And I heard a loud voice out of the throne, saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he shall tabernacle with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, their God.

Revelation

- 4 And he shall wipe away every tear from their eyes; and death shall not exist any more, nor grief, nor cry, nor distress shall exist any more, for the former things have passed away.
- 5 And he that sat on the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he says [to me], Write, for these words are true and faithful.
- 6 And he said to me, It is done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give to him that thirsts of the fountain of the water of life freely.
- 7 He that overcomes shall inherit these things, and I will be to him God, and he shall be to me son.
- 8 But to the fearful and unbelieving, [and sinners], and those who make themselves abominable, and murderers, and fornicators, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, their part [is] in the lake which burns with fire and brimstone; which is the second death.
- 9 And there came one of the seven angels which had had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues, and spoke with me, saying, Come here, I will shew the bride, the Lamb's wife.
- 10 And he carried me away in [the] Spirit, [and set me] on a great and high mountain, and shewed me the holy city, Jerusalem, coming down out of the heaven from God, having the glory of God.
- 11 Her shining [was] like a most precious stone, as a crystal-like jasper stone;
- 12 having a great and high wall; having twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names inscribed, which are those of the twelve tribes of [the] sons of Israel.
- 13 On [the] east three gates; and on [the] north three gates; and on [the] south three gates; and on [the] west three gates.
- 14 And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
- 15 And he that spoke with me had a golden reed [as] a measure, that he might measure the city, and its gates, and it wall.
- 16 And the city lies four-square, and its length [is] as much as the breadth. And he measured the city with the reed — twelve thousand stadia: the length and the breadth and height of it are equal.
- 17 And he measured its wall, a hundred [and] forty-four cubits, [a] man's measure, that is, [the] angel's.
- 18 And the building of its wall [was] jasper; and the city pure gold, like pure glass:
- 19 the foundations of the wall of the city [were] adorned with every precious stone: the first foundation, jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, chalcedony; the fourth, emerald;
- 20 the fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius; the seventh, chrysolite; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, topaz; the tenth, chrysoprasus; the eleventh, jacinth; the twelfth, amethyst.
- 4 And [God] shall wipe away every tear from their eyes; and [^] death shall be no more, and no mourning nor crying nor pain shall be any more: for the first things have passed away.
- 5 And he that sat upon the throne said, [^] Behold, I make all things new. And he saith [to me], Write: for these words are [^] faithful and true.
- 6 And he said to me, They are done. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. To him that is athirst I will give [^] of the fountain of the water of life freely.
- 7 He that overcometh shall inherit these things; and I will be God to him, and he shall be a son to me.
- 8 But for the cowardly and faithless [^] and abominable and murderers and fornicators and sorcerers and idolaters and all liars, their part shall be in the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.
- 9 And there came [^] one of the seven angels that had the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues and talked with me, saying, Come hither, I will shew thee the bride, the Lamb's wife.
- 10 And he carried me away in the Spirit to a great and high mountain, and shewed me the [^] holy city Jerusalem, coming down out of the heaven from God, having the glory of God.
- 11 [^] Its light was like a stone most precious, as a jasper stone clear as crystal;
- 12 it had a wall great and high; it had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels, and names written thereon, which are the names of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel:
- 13 on the east three gates, and on the north three gates, and on the south three gates, and on the west three gates.
- 14 And the wall of the city had twelve foundations, and on them twelve names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.
- 15 And he that talked with me had a golden measuring rod to measure the city and the gates of it and the wall of it.
- 16 And the city lieth quadrangular, and the length of it is as much as [^] the breadth; and he measured the city with the reed — twelve thousand stadia: the length and the breadth and the height of it are equal.
- 17 And he measured the wall of it, [^] an hundred forty and four cubits, a man's measure which is of the angel.
- 18 And the building of its wall was jasper; and the city pure gold like pure glass.
- 19 [^] The foundations of the wall of the city were adorned with every precious stone; the first foundation jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald,
- 20 the fifth sardonyx, the sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolyte, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprasus, the eleventh jacinth, the twelfth amethyst.

- 21 And the twelve gates, twelve pearls; each one of the gates, respectively, was of one pearl; and the street of the city pure gold, as transparent glass.
- 22 And I saw no temple in it; for the Lord God Almighty is its temple, and the Lamb.
- 23 And the city has no need of the sun nor of the moon, that they should shine for it; for the glory of God has enlightened it, and the lamp thereof [is] the Lamb.
- 24 And the nations shall walk by its light; and the kings of the earth bring their glory to it.
- 25 And its gates shall not be shut at all by day, for night shall not be there.
- 26 And they shall bring the glory and the honour of the nations to it.
- 27 And nothing common, nor that maketh an abomination and a lie, shall at all enter into it; but those only who [are] written in the book of life of the Lamb.

REVELATION 22 JND

- 1 And he shewed me a river of water of life, bright as crystal, going out of the throne of God and of the Lamb.
- 2 In the midst of its street, and of the river, on this side and on that side, [the] tree of life, producing twelve fruits, in each month yielding its fruit; and the leaves of the tree for healing of the nations.
- 3 And no curse shall be any more; and the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him,
- 4 and they shall see his face; and his name [is] on their foreheads.
- 5 And night shall not be any more, and no need of a lamp, and light of [the] sun; for [the] Lord God shall shine upon them, and they shall reign to the ages of ages.
- 6 And he said to me, These words [are] faithful and true; and [the] Lord God of the spirits of the prophets has sent his angel to shew to his bondmen the things which must soon come to pass.
- 7 And behold, I come quickly. Blessed [is] he who keeps the words of the prophecy of this book.
- 8 And I, John, [was] he who heard and saw these things. And when I heard and saw, I fell down to do homage before the feet of the angel who shewed me these things.
- 9 And he says to me, See [thou do it] not. I am thy fellow-bondman, and [the fellow-bondman] of thy brethren the prophets, and of those who keep the words of this book. Do homage to God.
- 10 And he says to me, Seal not the words of the prophecy of this book. The time is near.
- 11 Let him that does unrighteously do unrighteously still; and let the filthy make himself filthy still; and let him that is righteous practise righteousness still; and he that is holy, let him be sanctified still.
- 12 Behold, I come quickly, and my reward with me, to render to every one as his work shall be.

- 21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; each one of the gates severally was [^] of [^] one pearl; and the street of the city pure gold as transparent glass.
- 22 And I saw no temple in it: for the Lord God the Almighty is the temple of it, and the Lamb.
- 23 And the city has no need of the sun nor of the moon, that they should shine on it: for the glory of God illumined it, and the Lamb is the lamp of it.
- 24 And the nations [^] shall walk by its light; and the kings of the earth bring their glory [^] unto it.
- 25 And the gates of it shall in no wise be shut by day: for there shall be no night there.
- 26 And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations unto it [^].
- 27 And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing common, and one practising abomination and a lie; but those that are written in the Lamb's book of life.

Notes for Matthew

1:1 (title) There is good ground to believe that the Greek is, to say the least, no less original than the Hebrew, which, if it really existed, had a transient object as compared with the Greek which abides. (Bible Treasury 19:316)

1:11 "About (or close upon) the carrying away to Babylon." . . . 'Ἐπί expresses the time in the course of which a thing happened. "They were carried away," "they were brought," might convey more than the Greek to an English reader. It is better, therefore, to render verses 11 and 12 uniformly with verse 17, in the English Bible. (Christian Annotator 3:93)

1:12 "The carrying away to Babylon." (Christian Annotator 3:93)

1:18 the birth of ^Λ Christ: The true reading in verse 18 is a matter of considerable difficulty, τοῦ δὲ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ is not only in the Elzevir or Rec. Text. but it is read by the Sinaitic, Wolfenbützel (P), and the Dublin Rescript MSS., not to speak of the mass of cursives. The Vatican (1209) gives X. before 'I. But Cod. Bezae Cant. (here defective in the Greek), if we may judge from its accompanying Latin version, must have read X., and so the Vulgate, It., Sax., Curetonian Syr., etc. What is more, Irenaeus expressly reasons (contra Haer. iii. c. xvi. § 2) on the phraseology of this verse against the Valentinian doctrine that Jesus was but the vessel for the Christ, who at His baptism was imagined to have descended into that human body born of the virgin. This falsehood, destructive of our Lord's person, the good bishop of Lyons confronts with the words of our Gospel. "Non, sicut ipsi dicunt, Iesum quidem ipsum esse, qui ex Maria sit natus, Christum vero qui desuper descendit. Caeterum potuerat dicere Matthaeus; Iesu vero generatio sic erat, sed praeviciens Spiritus Sanctus depravatores et praemuniens contra fraudulentiam eorum per Matthaeum dit: Christi autem generatio sic erat." It is plain then, as the Benedictine note says, that Irenaeus did not read in his copy 'Ιησοῦ as in more modern manuscripts: but Massuet is mistaken in thinking that "Jesus," if added, would have increased the force of the argument. The first verse of the chapter had coupled them together already, and Irenaeus had referred to this in the beginning of the section. The emphatic fact he urges from the language of verse 18, as it stood in his manuscript, is the generation of the Christ or Messiah. This was inconsistent with, and destructive of, the Gnostic hypothesis.

I cannot but think this confirmed by the fact that ὁ I. X. is nowhere else found in genuine scripture. In the Received Text it occurs in Acts 8:12, 37; Hebrews 10:10; 1 John 4:3; and Revelation 12:17. In every instance the proof fails. Thus few even of the less important copies insert the article before I. X. in the first: and the second disappears in the best authorities, being in all probability a mere marginal gloss, though it crept in at a very early epoch. In Hebrews 10:10, the article has no good authority whatever. In John 4:3, Christ should not be inserted (in the preceding verse 'I. X. is anarthrous, as it is regularly). In the last all the uncials and most others give simply "Jesus." Thus in fact, not only is the vulgar reading in Matthew 1:18 unsupported by the language of scripture everywhere else (the apparent parallels melting away when looked into), but it seems to me that it is not even Greek, unless the object were to assert the generation of Jesus as Christ, or the evangelist treated 'I. X. as practically one word.

If verse 18 refer to verse 17 where the phrase is unquestionably τοῦ Χριστοῦ, the order would be this. First, "Jesus Christ" is naturally brought before us in verse 1, which winds up with verse 16, "Jesus that is called Christ," and with the summary that follows, which gives the distinctive title, "the Christ" or Messiah. Then the portion that next commences unfolds the mysterious birth of this long-looked-for Messiah, whose name when born is Jesus (chap. 1:21, 25; 2:1). Bengel has given a similar judgment, and Dr. Tregelles also.

Tischendorf omitted Ἰησοῦ in his seventh, and as far as I can trace his previous editions, but recurs to the common reading in his eighth, moved especially by the Sinaitic MS.

That Bloomfield sees nothing to remark does not surprise one, but it certainly does that Alford passes it over sicco pede, even in the margin (save, of course, the readings). Kühnöl and Vater are equally silent. (Lect. on Mat., p.28-29)

1:20 an angel: . . . Clearly "an angel" is meant here, and in 2:13. Compare the authorised version in 2:19. On the other hand, "the angel" is correct. (Christian Annotator 3:93)

1:23 "the virgin." (Christian Annotator 3:93)

1:25 her firstborn: Lachmann and Tischendorf omit τὸν . . . αὐτῆς τὸν πρωτότοκον on the authority of B. Z., two curious MSS. (one of Basle, of the tenth century; and the other, of Paris, of the eleventh), the Coptic, Salindic, and, at least, four copies of the Itala, not to speak of Ambrose and other fathers. I believe that nearly all the other authorities support the ordinary text, save that D². L. d. omit αὐτῆς. It is obvious that the omitted phrase occurs verbatim in Luke 2:7. (Christian Annotator 3:93)

her firstborn: . . . the tendency to assimilate the Gospels has been watched against [in the RV], as in 1:25 (cf. Luke 2:7; 5:44 (cf. Luke 6:27, 28); 9:13 and Mark 2:17 (cf. Luke 5:32); 17:21 (cf. Mark 9:29); 18:11 (cf. Luke 19:10); 19:16, 17 (cf. Mark 10:17, 18, Luke 18:18, 19); 20:16 (cf. 22:16); 20:22, 23 (cf. Mark 10:38, 39); 23:14 (cf. Mark 12:40, Luke 20:47); 25:13 (cf. 24:42, 44). (Bible Treasury 13:288)

2:1 Now: It is singular that the Revisers [1881] have left 2:1 as it stands in the Authorised Version, when a slight and lawful change of rendering would guard the reader from a really groundless misapprehension of the history. As it stands one might infer, with superficial poets and painters, according to tradition, that the visit of the magi followed close upon the Messiah's birth. And this error has been greedily misused by sceptics. But a comparison of Luke 2 shows that it was not so; confirmed by the accurate ascertainment of the time by Herod, and his consequent slaughter of the male babes at Bethlehem from two years old and under. Room must be left for several months', if not a year's, interval. As we know, the parents came up to Jerusalem for the passover every year; and is anything more intelligible than the interest which would draw to Bethlehem those who knew that the Child was the promised son and heir of David's throne? Then, on a subsequent occasion, came the magi who had seen the star in the east, and gone to Jerusalem in consequence. They had learnt, through Herod, from the scribes that Bethlehem was the predicted spot; and the star, to their joy, re-appears to guide them, till it stood over the place where the Child was. The aorist participle leaves the sense quite open, where "Now when," &c., limits it in this case unduly. Translate, therefore, "Now Jesus having been born," or "Now after Jesus was born," &c. (Bible Treasury 13:288)

2:5 is written: . . . a perfect [tense] we have in γέγραπται, 2:5, &c. The Authorised Version rightly translates, "it is written." It is true that γέγραπται could not have been used, if the action were not past: but it supposes this, but presents also the idea of the prediction being actually in the prophecy which was familiar to them. In other words, what was permanent is also before the mind, which, not ἐγράφη, but γέγραπται, conveys. (Prospect 1:87)

2:6 Bethlehem, ^Λ land: Omit "in the". (Christian Annotator 3:156)

2:12 "divinely warned." (Christian Annotator 3:156)

2:13 "an angel." (Christian Annotator 3:156)

"is about to seek." (Christian Annotator 3:156)

2:22 “over Judea.” (Christian Annotator 3:156)

“divinely warned.” (Christian Annotator 3:156)

2:23 so that it might be fulfilled: I think it is intended by the Spirit of God that we should distinguish between ἵνα πληρωθῇ, which is the general formula, and ὅπως πλ. as here (8:17; 12:17; and 13:35). It is not a modern question; but one agitated at least since the days of Theophylact, who raises it on Matt. 13:35. Some have supposed that ὅπως πλ. = ὥστε πληρωθῆναι, which amounts to a correspondence between the event and the prophecy, without affirming that it was the intended fulfillment. It is certain that in the New Testament the particles of design occur in some cases where those of result are necessary in our language. Others scout the notion of any difference between ἵνα and ὅπως πλ. as purely imaginary; but these do not pretend to account for the distinction of phrase in the same writer — a distinction so much the more striking, as it appears to be used on an uniform principle, i.e., ἵνα where the direct aim of the prophecy is concerned, ὅπως where the matter is included within the terms, though not their full scope. (Christian Annotator 3:156)

3:2 is at hand: ἤγγικε “is at hand:” “hath drawn nigh,” though true, is not the whole truth: nay, it is not only weak, but it might mislead. The present state, (flowing doubtless from a past action and very distinct from the present tense of the same verb,) is the real thought. (Prospect 1:87)

3:4 “John himself.” (Christian Annotator 3:220)

3:7 to his baptism: [In the American corrections to the RV] the marginal “for baptism” is fair. (Bible Treasury 14:335)

3:8 fruit worthy of repentance: The reading is not καρπὸς ἀξίους, as in Text. Rec. and rightly in Luke 3:8 (though it has the support of L, U, many cursive MSS. the Curetonian and Peschito Syriac, and several Greek and Latin fathers), but καρπὸν ἀξίον, on the authority of B, C, D^{.}, E, K, M, S, V, Δ, and most of the cursives, the Itala (save Cod. Vercell. and Sang². which give the plural), Vulg. Cop. Sah. &c. not to speak of very early patristic authority. (Christian Annotator 3:220)

3:10 and now α the axe: Καὶ was probably an assimilation of our text to Luke 3:9, for while it has the support of some half-dozen uncial MSS. from the eighth century and later, it is wanting in B, C, D^{.}, M, Δ, as well as the early versions and fathers. (Christian Annotator 3:220)

is applied: “lieth at” hardly gives the moral force (Bible Treasury 14:335)

3:14 forbad: Perhaps this should be added to the cases where our translators failed to give the force of the imperfect, which, conveying essentially the idea of continuity, often expresses the agent’s wish or endeavour (as in Luke 1:59; Gal. 1:13), not the action executed. By an easy transition this led to such an idiomatic use of the imperfect as we have in Acts 25:22; Rom. 9:3; Gal. 4:20, which is strictly correct for expressing a hearty, but impracticable, or impossible, wish. (Christian Annotator 3:220)

3:15 all righteousness: It is desirable to give the distributive “every” rather than “all,” but that our idiom forbids its use with “righteousness,” which is in my judgment, far better than “ordinance,” or “institution,” suggested by Campbell and others. (Christian Annotator 3:220)

4:5 the pinnacle: There is no reason why the force of the Greek article should not be expressed, in verses 5 and 21, in English. (Christian Annotator 3:267)

4:10 get thee behind me: The reading “Get thee behind me,” οπισω μου, is far from certain; for, though it has the support of C^{.} D E L M U Z, about 100 cursives, besides some ancient versions and fathers, it is omitted by B C^{*} K P S V Δ, &c. not to speak of other ancient authorities. Griesbach, Vater, Scholz, and Tischendorf accept the words; Lachmann brackets them. Bengelius argues upon their absence here in contrast with Matt. 16:23. “Abi non post me, sed plane a me.” It evident that the latter passage may have suggested the addition. (Christian Annotator 3:267)

4:12 he: The repetition of our Lord’s name, Jesus, is corrected [in the RV] as in 4:12, 18, 8:5, 13:36, 14:14, 25, 15:16, 30, 16:20, 17:11, 22:37, 24:2. (Bible Treasury 13:288)

4:18 and walking by the sea of Galilee, he saw: . . . Ο Ἰησοῦς must disappear from this verse on the authority of B C D K M P S U Y, about 100 cursives, with most versions, and many fathers. Knapp and Hahn hesitate; but all editors of note reject the words, which probably crept in as containing a fresh lesson in the service of the Greek Church, as Mr. SCRIVENER observes. (Christian Annotator 3:267) [see note to Mat. 4:12]

net: [Q. — As there are three different Greek words in the N.T. translated “net,” would it not be well to have the distinction explained? Q.]

A. — Ἀμφίβληστρον occurs only in Matt. 4:18 (implied also in Mark 1:16, where the most ancient MSS. omit the noun), and means a casting net. It was thrown round the object, whence the term was derived. The more usual word is δίκτυον, but in the plural form in Matt. 4:20,21, Mark 1:18, in the sing. in John 21:6,8,11. It is derived frkrom δικεῖν, to cast. Trawl net has been suggested as appropriate. But the σαγήνη (in Matt. 13:47 only), from σάττειν to pack or load, was a dragnet or seine, on a larger scale. (Bible Treasury N1:32, see also Bible Treasury 13:288)

5:1 “the mountain country.” (Christian Annotator 3:300)

“had sat.” (Christian Annotator 3:300)

5:11 falsely: Tischendorf omits ψευδομενοι on the slender authority, as far as Gr. MSS. are concerned, of D, supported by several old Latin Codices and Greek and Latin Fathers. The mass of MSS. (B C E K M S U V Δ) and many ancient versions have the word. (Christian Annotator 3:300)

the same . . . the Gentiles the same: The evidence is conflicting, and the choice of the Editors, to my mind, arbitrary. Thus in 46 Tisch. reads οὕτως on the authority of D Z 33 and 4 other cursive MSS. not to speak of two Latin copies and Fathers, while he owns that the common reading το αυτο is found in B E K L M S U Δ, &c. Again, in 47 he reads οι εθνικοι, with B D Z and 19 cursives, rather than τελωναι with E K L M S U Δ, &c. and το αυτο with B D M U Z, besides more than 30 cursives, instead of οὕτω (or ως), with E K L SA, &c. Stranger still, Griesbach receives εθνικοι, but merely marks το αυτο as probable, though the latter has evidently more authority than the other. (Christian Annotator 3:301)

6:1 righteousness: I take the liberty of altering the word "alms" into "righteousness," (ver. 1,) which last a few of the very best authorities support. There are, of course, always persons that differ here as elsewhere; but, at the same time, internal and spiritual reasons confirm the external grounds. Thus, if you use the word "alms" in the first verse, is there not a mere repetition in the next verse? On the other hand, take the word as "righteousness" (so the margin), and all is plain. (Bible Treasury 3:311)

6:2 [whole verse]: [Or:] "When therefore thou doest alms, sound not a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, so that they may be glorified by men. Verily I say to you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth; so that thine alms may be secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret will repay thee" (Bible Treasury N5:22)

6:4 [whole verse]: [See note to Mat. 6:2]

6:5 [whole verse]: [Or:] "But when ye pray, ye shall not be as the hypocrites; for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may appear to men. Verily I say to you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber, and having shut thy door pray to thy Father that is in secret, and thy Father that seeth in secret will recompense thee" (Bible Treasury N5:40)

6:6 [whole verse]: [See note to Mat. 6:5]

6:7 [whole verse]: [Or:] "But when praying use not vain repetitions, as the Gentiles; for they think that they shall be heard by their much speaking. Be not therefore likened to them; for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye beg of him" (Bible Treasury N5:55) use not vain repetitions: But here our Lord reprehends a far more prevalent snare. "When praying use not vain repetitions, as the Gentiles." The words occur nowhere else in the New Testament, nor did the Seventy employ them in the Greek version of the O.T. Nor is βαρ. found in any writing independently of ver. 7 till 500 years after Christ. There is therefore divergence of views as to its precise meaning. This is not the occasion for such a discussion; and though it has been sought to derive what is peculiar from the Hebrew for "unadvisedly" or "rashly babbling," the context tends to support the Authorised Version. (Bible Treasury N5:55)

6:8 [whole verse]: [See note to Mat. 6:7]

6:11 needful: In 6: 11 (as in Luke 11:3) the rendering [of the RV] is "daily," which the context seems to refute as tautology. "Needful" or "sufficient" I believe to be the true thought, in contrast with περιούσιος, "abundant," "superfluous," "more than enough." Doubtless the word is unusual, coined (Origen thought) for the purpose. Bishop Lightfoot argues against this source, as if the form in that case should be ἐπουσιος. But ἐπιετής is opposed to this rigidity of derivation, being as far as we know a word of late formation like ἐπιούσιος, without question of the digamma. Hence οὐσία does not require the derivation ἐπουσιος. Still less must we restrict οὐσία to mean "essential being" or "substance" in that sense; for the New Testament itself uses it only in the meaning of "subsistence;" and its application in well-known orators, &c., to "property" real (φανερὰ) or "personal" (ἀφανής) is certain and common. It is unnecessary therefore to trace the word to ἐπιούσα (ἡμέρα) "the morrow," and if we did, we could not without harshness make it mean "til to-morrow," that is of to-day, which (as we have seen) does not suit the context. Nor is the mystical sense, founded either on ὁ ἐπιών κ. (the coming world) or on ἐπι-ούσιος (supersubstantial) worthy of serious argument. Nor is it worthy reasoning, finally, to say that because the disciples were not to be anxious for the morrow, they were not to pray for their bread today. (Bible Treasury 13:288)

6:26 [whole verse]: [Or:] “Look at the birds of the heavens, that they sow not, nor reap, nor gather into barns; and your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are not ye of much more value than they? And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit to his stature?” (Bible Treasury N5:165)

6:27 [whole verse]: [See note to Mat. 6:26]

6:27 stature: “a cubit to the measure of his life” would be strange phraseology. “Stature” is the clear sense of Luke 14:3, and so here, and in Luke 12:29. (Bible Treasury 14:335)

6:28 [whole verse]: [Or:] “And why be anxious about a garment? Consider the lilies of the field how they grow: they toil not nor spin; but I say to you that not even Solomon in all his glory was arrayed as one of these. 6:33 [whole verse]: [Or:] “But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you. Be not careful [or, anxious] for the morrow for the morrow will be careful about itself: sufficient for the day is the evil thereof” (Bible Treasury N4:135)

7:14 [whole verse]: [See note to Mat. 7:14]

7:17 good . . . good: So there is no attempt even in the margin [of the RV] to distinguish between ἀγαθός and καλός, both indiscriminately rendered “good;” though the one means “kind,” “beneficial,” “excellent,” the other “upright” or “honourable.” (Bible Treasury 13:288)

8:4 go _Λ : 8:4, and elsewhere, “go” might suffice without “thy” or “your” way. (Bible Treasury 14:335)

8:5 he: [see note to Mat. 4:12]

8:28 demons: It would have been well . . . that “demons” and “demoniacs” (8:28, 31) had always taken the place of “devils,” &c., keeping the word “devil” for the different term which scripture gives to their chief. (Bible Treasury 13:288)

8:31 demons: [see note to Mat. 8:28]

9:6 power: the truth is that the usage does imply “power” (8) as well as “authority.” It is a nice point, sometimes, to say which predominates. Compare Rev. 9:3, 10, 19; 11:6; 20:6. (Bible Treasury 14:335)

9:13 sinners _Λ : [see note to Mat. 1:25]

9:17 It would have been well, if so small a point as “wine-skins” (9:17) is carefully substituted for “bottles.” (Bible Treasury 13:288)

9:35 Whoever attentively examines this chapter with the following one can hardly fail to see that the proper break is at the end of verse 25, [sic] the last three verses of chapter 9 forming properly the introduction to chapter 10. (Bible Treasury 3:359)

10:29 without: [What is the difference between ἀνευ and χωρίς, as both mean “without”?]

A. The first expresses privation or non-existence; the second only separation, or apartness. Thus on the one hand Mat. 10:29 denies the exclusion or non-existence of their Father’s care in the least thing; 1 Pet. 3:1 shows how unbelieving husbands may be won absolutely without the word by the pious conduct of saintly wives; and 4:9 would have hospitality quite without a murmur. On the other hand Mat. 13:34 and Mark 4:34 only assert that apart from parable He spoke nothing then. So Mat. 14:21 and 15:38 may not deny the presence of women and children, as ἀνευ would, but do not count them. In John 1:3, 15:5, χωρίς alone suits: apart from Him did not anything come into being; apart from Him the disciples can produce no fruit. So Rom. 3:21 does not negative the existence or importance of law, but shows that God’s righteousness is now manifested apart from law. In Rom. 4:6 ἀνευ (privation) of works would never do, but χωρίς apart from them. (Bible Treasury N2:112)

10:39 life: 10:39 and often in the Gospels elsewhere, “life” is right, not “soul” (Bible Treasury 14:335)

11:19 children: A seriously mistaken change of reading is adopted in 11:19 [in the RV], ἔργων, “works,” on the authority of κ B^{pm}. 124 (a Vienna cursive of cent. XII) and of some ancient versions, instead of τέκνων as in all other authorities, not to speak of Luke 7:35. Even Origen lends “works” no support, any more than Chrysostom. It is monstrous to suppose that we are carried back in thought to the moment when Wisdom’s works were planned. The contrast is with “this generation;” as the Lord also in the verses following sets forth, the latter as objects of more than outward judgment, whilst the former are objects of the Father’s sovereign grace. That the Wisdom of God should be justified of its works seems a truism — of its children is a weighty truth. (Bible Treasury 13:288)

12:23 Is: [The American correctors of the RV suggested “Can this be the son of David?”] 12:23 seems a needless, even if a lawful, change; though the Revisers expose themselves to it in John 4:29 (Bible Treasury 14:335)

12:24 [man]: The English translators have thus given the sense well; for the expression really conveys this slight, though the word “fellow” is printed in italics. The Greek word is constantly so used as an expression of contempt, . . . (Lect. Intro. to the Gospels, p.70-71)

12:31 unto men: [In the RV] slender indeed is the authority for the awkward marginal "unto you men." (Bible Treasury 14:335)

12:32 age: The word αιωνιος. Before treating of the force and usage of this adjective, it is well to examine briefly into αιων, from which it is formed. The earliest application of the substantive in Greek writers (as Homer, Hesiod, Pindar, the tragic poets, and Herodotus) is in the sense of a man's life, or lifetime. In the later history of the language (not to speak of its medical application to "the spinal marrow") it denoted a long period of time (Æschin. Axioch. 17), while the philosophers employed it in contradistinction to χρονος to express the duration, αιων of eternal and unchangeable objects, χρονος of such as are transient and corporeal. Hence αιων was used in the ancient philosophy as = the infinite and immutable eternity of God, and by an obvious metonymy = God himself, and subordinate spiritual beings who were supposed to proceed from Him, the term of duration being also extended to those invisible agents or entities themselves. Thus Philo Judæus says, εν αιωνι δε ουτε παρεληλυθεν ουδεν ουτε μελλει αλλα μονον υφεστηκε. This is important, as showing that in Hellenistic Greek authors of the same age as those of the New Testament the word was used properly and specifically to set forth eternity. "In eternity nothing is past or future, but only subsists." Equally plain is its application to the invisible beings or aeons of Oriental philosophy, as may be seen from the following extract, cited by Mosheim, from Arrian: — ου γαρ ειμι Αιων αλλ ανθρωπος, μερος των παντων ως ωρα ημερας, ενστηναι μεδει ως την ωραν και παρελθειν ως ωραν. Excluding the imaginary personal force, nothing can be clearer than its use in the time and language of the New Testament inspired writers to represent what is immutable and eternal. Aristotle, I may add, derives it from αιεν ων (De Cælo, i.11).

Besides, when qualified by words which modify its sense, it is used in Scripture for the continuous course of a given system ruled by certain principles, as in Matt. 12:32; 13:39,40; 24:3; 28:20; or, again, in a moral rather than in a dispensational sense, as in Gal. 1:4; Ephes. 2:2.

I conclude, then, that while αιων may be so used as to express the continuous existence of a thing which from its nature does not last for ever (as human life, an unbroken age or dispensation, or the general course of this world), its proper sense, taken by itself, is to express eternity. And the same thing is true of αιωνιος. It is used in certain special connections, as in Rom. 16:25; 2 Tim. 1:9; and Tit. 1:2 where χρονος modifies its force, and gives a relative rather than an absolute sense; but its natural meaning, unless positively restricted, is eternal in contrast with temporary. It occurs seventy-one times in the received text of the New Testament, the examination of which need leave no doubt on the believer's mind. Donnegan gives Philemon 15 as exceptional; but he is, in my opinion, mistaken. (Christian Annotator 2:173)

13:3 to sow: If a sower go forth on his task, it might be said either σπείρειν or σπείραι, viewed continuously or as a point; in fact σπείρειν, D, L, M, X, with more than sixty cursives, have σπείραι in Matthew 13:3; while in verse 4 of both Gospels [Mat. 13:4 & Mk. 4:4] εν τῷ σπείρειν is used necessarily because it is a course of action, not an act in itself. Thus we see, even when either [present or aorist tense] might be used, that there are limits. (Bible Treasury 9:349)

13:24 likened: We refer to the only similitude in the chapter that is historical (ὡμοιωθη, "likened," not merely "is like"). ("The Coming, and the Day, of the Lord," p. 102 in Three Prophetic Gems)

13:25 darnel: [Q. — Matt. 13:25. What is the true force of the word (ζιζάνια) translated "tares" in the A. & R. Versions? Is there any ground for the strange notion, among many of old to our day, that the noxious weed intended is degenerate wheat? QUERIST.]

A. — The word beyond doubt means "darnel," which is in Latin "lolium," or "l. temulentum" because of its deleterious properties. The "tare" or vetch is in Latin "vicia," and, far from being a noxious weed, a leguminous grain wholesome in itself and useful to the agriculturist in spring and winter for feeding his cattle. There is no more ground in natural science to confound tares with darnel than there is in philology. The things are as distinct as the terms. Nor is there the smallest evidence, since man began to observe, that wheat ever degenerated into either. It is a mere and baseless fancy. Yet so farmers talked and fathers wrote, to say nothing of natural philosophers like Pliny of old, and grave divines, as Dr. J. Lightfoot down to Abp. Trench, who goes so far as to treat as a Manichean error that wheat and tares (or rather darnel) are different in kind, and their spiritual counterparts incapable of passing from the one into the other! As his assumption is not the fact in natural history, so it is a mistake doctrinally to deduce from our Lord's words that the sons of the kingdom and those of the evil one are interchangeable. They are viewed as the results of the respective sowings. It is still more palpably the error of ancients and moderns to overlook our Lord's interpretation of "the field" as "the world." To regard it as "the church" opens the door to confusion and evil without end, as every Christian ought to see. (Bible Treasury N3:159)

13:38-40 world . . . age . . . age: The "world," in verse 38, must not be confounded with "the world," in verse 39. They are totally distinct words and things. . . . In verse 38 the sphere is intended, wherein the gospel goes forth; in verse 39 it is the space of time in which the gospel is either advancing, or hindered by the enemy's power. . . . The same word is used for "world" in verse 40 as in verse 39. Unfortunately, our version gives only the same English word in all. (Bible Treasury 4:52-53)

13:39 age: [See notes to Mat. 12:32, 13:38 and 13:40]

13:40 age: We repeat also that the end of the age is not the end of the world. The phrase "end of the world" in Matthew 13:39, 40, is an unequivocal error. There is no scholar who ought not to be ashamed of such a blunder. Far from being the end of the world, the very next verse proves the contrary. 14:5 held: Mr. CAINE may rest assured that the Authorised Version of the last clause is incomparably better than Mr. Alford's. The verb ἔχω occurs very frequently in senses widely extended beyond "possession." It was used, especially with adverbs or nouns preceded by prepositions, when a state of mind or feeling was meant to be expressed, as ἔχειν τίνα ἐν ὀργῇ. The transition hence to the sense of "regard," which is required here, and in Mark 11:32, is most natural. In fact, there is the analogous case of "hold" in our own tongue, which means idiomatically to "account," as well as literally to "keep," or "possess." The best translations agree with the English Bible. Thus the most recent German version has "sie ihn für einen Propheten hielten;" and De Wette, "als einen Propheten achteten." Luther's translation coincides with the Elberfeld Testament. The Vulgate has not "possederunt," but "sicut

16:2 sky: the Revisers are capricious in their treatment of οὐρ., giving sometimes "heaven," sometimes, "the heavens." The inspired writers use the two phrases with distinctness of purpose. Thus it is always in Matthew "the kingdom of the heavens," but in the Revised Version, as in the Authorised Version, "of heaven;" and so with "your," "our," or "My Father which is in heaven," whereas really it is "in the heavens." Yet the evangelist uses the singular form in chapter 5:18, 34; 6:10, 20, 26; 8:20; 11:23, 25; 13:32; 14:19; 16:1, 2, 3 (if 2,3 be genuine); 18:18 twice (19:21 being doubtful perhaps); 21:25 twice; 22:30; 23:22; 24:29, 30 twice, 35; 26:64; 28:2, 18. On the other hand, the Revisers rightly say "the heavens" in chapter 3:16, 17, but not (in addition to the phrases already referred to) in chapter 5:12; 16:19 twice, while again they give "the heavens" in chapter 24:29, yet the singular form wrongly in verses 31, 36. Similar caprice might be shewn in Mark and Luke where both forms occur (for John's gospel has only the singular), save that the Revisers in the Acts give the plural correctly in its two occurrences. In Ephesians they give the plural twice rightly, and twice as singular wrongly, as also in Philippians 3:20, the only occurrence there. In our Epistle [Col.], chapter 1, they give the plural three times accurately in verses 5, 16, 20 (in chap. 4:1 they adopt the singular variant), but not in 1 Thessalonians 1:10. In Hebrews they are right save in chapter 12:23, 25, in both like the Authorised Version. In 1 Peter 1:4 they are wrong, in 2 Peter 3:5, 7, 10, 12, 13 right, in both again following the Authorised Version. In the Revelation there is but one plural occurrence, and the Authorised Version and Revised Version agree in reflecting it rightly. (Bible Treasury 14:13-14)

16:18 I also say: It is not only that the Father had revealed that, but the Lord adds His revelation also to Peter. For it is not, "I say also," but "I also say." rock: Controversialists may prattle about the Syriac or Aramaic they imagine our Lord to have used. Of this neither we nor they have a right to speak; but none can deny that the sole revelation given expressly distinguishes a stone from the rock. And it is inconceivable that any language beneath the sky should be unable to mark the difference of ideas so distinct, as it is corrupting the faith to level down the Lord in order to raise Peter to the same height. bound: [Q. What is the true force of the future with the perfect part. in these texts? Does it teach, what has been drawn from it and apparently by more than one Christian recently, not a ratification in heaven consequent on the binding on earth, but that what was bound on earth had been previously bound in heaven? W.]

A. I am of opinion that there is no ground grammatically, any more than in the scope of our Lord's doctrine, to suppose that the participle δεδεμένον expresses time past relatively to that which is signified by the future ἔσται. The idea is that of a certain condition viewed abstractedly from consideration of actual time. "Whatever thou mayest bind on the earth shall be a thing bound in the heavens," &c. It is well known that, according to the grammarians, the futurum III or exactum in many verbs (as δέω, κόπτω, παύω, πιπράσκω) supplies the place of the simple future passive, as may be seen in Jelf's Gr. Gr. second ed. Vol. 2, p. 71. The difference, I would add, is that the complex form before us views the result as permanent (δεδεμένον) but, beyond doubt, of a future act (ἔσται). Had the meaning contended for been meant, care would have been taken to express it distinctly, as ἤδη δεδεμένον ἔσται ἐν τ. οὐ., or ἔσται τὸ δεδεμένον or in some other way quite different from the actual construction, which appears to me to admit of no other translation than that which is given in the Authorized Version. 17:8 except: [Q. When ἀλλὰ is used substantially as εἰ μὴ, are they precisely the same, as after the transfiguration scene, &c.? Compare Matthew 17:8 with Mark 9:8. O.P.]

A. I do not think them the same. For εἰ μὴ supposes already that there is that one of the kind to which the negative generally applies; it is an exception. But ἀλλὰ retains its adversative force as to the whole, but something modifies it in result. Thus in Matthew 11:27 there is one who knows — no one else except; — in chapter 12:4 it was lawful to none else except. In Matthew 17:8 they saw no one, οὐδένα εἶδον εἰ μὴ τὸν Ἰ. In Mark 9:8, "and suddenly looking round," οὐκέτι οὐδένα εἶδον, ἀλλὰ τὸν Ἰ. Here the scene had disappeared, but they saw Jesus alone with themselves. So in Matthew 20:23, Mark 10:40, οὐκ ἔστιν ἔμὸν δοῦναι, that is all denied — only modified by ἀλλὰ οἷς ἡτοίμασται. He does not give places at all as His will, or His patronage, but to those for whom, &c. In Mark and Luke, if not Matthew, we have οὐδεὶς ἀγαθὸς εἰ μὴ εἷς, ὁ Θεός. Naturally, good ones were before His mind: He excludes all but God. (Bible Treasury 7:287)

18:11 [whole verse]: [see note to Mat. 1:25]

18:15 against thee: . . . the omission of εἰς σέ in Matthew 18 is read by Tischendorf in the eighth edition of his New Testament, following such slender evidence as the Sinai and Vat. MSS., two cursives, and fathers who cite loosely and insert as well as omit.

The mass of the uncials and cursives, and every ancient version known, save one, as far as I can speak, add the words, as Tischendorf did in his valuable seventh edition, and almost all editors, save Lachmann, including one so extreme as the late Dr. Tregelles, disposed as he was to the narrow line of a very few witnesses of extreme antiquity. Dean Alford even suggested hierarchical reasons as the motive for the omission, in order to enlarge the church's discipline; but this seems questionable, especially as the Latins, ready enough for practice of that kind, give unanimous testimony to what limits the scope to individual trespass. (Bible Treasury 12:142-143) against thee: For I do not doubt, spite of the omission of εἰς σέ, "against thee," in verse 15 (according to the Sinai and Vatican manuscripts, supported by three cursives, &c.), that they are genuine, resting as they do on most ample ancient authority, and falling in exactly with the context, which is embarrassed by the omission — an omission easily accounted for by the similarity of their sound in a Greek's mouth to the last two syllables of the preceding word. (Notes on First Corinthians, p.88)

18:18 bound: [See note to 16:19]

18:20 unto: [Q. Matt. 18:20. It has been recently stated that men like Mr. J. N. Darby sought to help out their interpretation [of this scripture] "by a quite unwarrantable change in the translation of the words εἰς τὸ ἐμὸν ὄνομα, which they rendered unto my name, and took to import a gathering to Christ's Name as a rallying point." Is there any doubt of the right version? or any warrant for so evil an imputation? Μαθητῆς.]

A. None whatever for either: no true scholar could have weighed the usage and given such an opinion. The evidence is decisively for the change. The aim for opposing it is to set aside the ecclesiastical character of the context, on which the Lord has impressed it so indelibly, that almost all the jarring parties of Christendom recognise that character, though they naturally overlook a word which none of them heeds, and which does mean a living and exclusive centre. Its denial is a very bold exegetical error; for any serious inspection of the Lord's words suffices to prove that the case adduced had passed out of individual dealing to "the church" or assembly (not the synagogue). Then the Lord (18) strengthens this with His solemn averment of heaven's sanction of their binding and loosing (not the keys), and His gracious assurance of His Father's answer to the united petition of even two. Then He closes with the general principle for the worst of times (20) that He is in the midst, where two or three are gathered unto His name. The last promise is an invaluable guard against party work, as well as unbelief and the world. It speaks little to hearts which never had, or have lost, faith in His word or presence.

As to usage, the case in question quite differs from ἐπὶ τῷ ὄν. in ver. 5, where His name is made the motive, condition, or ground for receiving a little child, and εἰς would have been out of place. It is therefore strictly "on," not "in"; and so in Acts 2:38 Peter bade repentant Jews be baptized, each of them on (ἐπὶ) the name of Jesus Christ for remission of sins; and they should receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. If they had repented, they were already born of the Spirit, as where real is invariably the case. Compare Matt. 24:5, Mark 9:37, 39, 12:6, 9. In Luke 1:5, 9 it shades into "after." In Acts 10:48 the same Peter commanded the Gentile believers to be baptized in (ἐν) the Lord's name. See Mark 16:17; Luke 10:17; John 5:43 &c. It would have been just as possible and true to have said "on"; but it is not the same thought or expression as in virtue (or, in the power) of His name. In Acts 11:16 Peter speaks of the Holy Spirit's baptism, contrasted with John's, as ἐν Πν. ἁγ. in the Holy Spirit, where ἐπὶ, on, would have failed, for ἐν means in the power of the Spirit Himself. In Acts 19:5 as in 8:16 the object proposed in baptism occurs, and here it is neither "in" nor "on," but "unto," εἰς. The Revisers correct the faulty "in" of the A. V. but say "into" which is refuted by their own rendering of 1 Cor. 10:2 (where "into" would be improper), and by the A. V. of Acts 19:3. The Greek admits of either "unto," or "into" according to context, which here requires the former. Water baptism does not imply more than "to" or "unto." It is profession only; and the very aim of the apostle in 1 Cor. 10 is to insist that it might be without life. So in our Lord's commission in Matt. 28:19 it is baptizing "to" or "unto" the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit. It was baptism with water, and could not itself carry deeper. But the baptism of the Spirit has quite a different power, and effects incorporation, not "unto" merely as profession, but "into" one body, Christ's body. Dean Alford gave up "in" but argued for "into" invalidly, his views being uncertain here as too often.

In Matt. 10:41, 42 we have indeed the peculiar phrase of receiving a prophet, a righteous man, and a disciple, "unto" (εἰς) each's respective name, or as such. Here it is perhaps hard to avoid in English saying "in the prophet's name"; but it really means as aforesaid, and not what would have been imported by ἐν, in the power or authority of each, as in Christ's name or even without any preposition as in Matt. 7:22. But Meyer thinks that here "by" Thy name is preferable; and this may well be the just sense of a Greek phrase which differs from the rest, the instrumental dative.

Again, such forms as ἕνεκεν τοῦ or διὰ τὸ (or, ὑπὲρ τοῦ) ὄν. are indisputably "for thy Name's sake," so that we need not say more.

In the A. V., &c. Phil. 2:10 is, we all know, rendered "at" the name of Jesus, a rendering on which a well known and pervading practice of superstition was founded. The Revisers here say "in" (ἐν). If right, it means as usual in virtue of His name all creatures shall bow.

In 1 Cor. 5:4-13 where putting out for wickedness is laid down peremptorily and perspicuously, it is in (ἐν) the Lord's name that the assembled saints were charged to act. It was ordered of God that the written word should enjoin excommunication, when no apostle was actually there, nor apostolic delegate like Titus, and no elders had yet been appointed. This abides as the inalienable duty, as does the divine warrant for the assembly's act, whenever the sorrowful need calls for this last resort. The Corinthian saints were light in various ways and had shirked or ignored what was due to the Lord, not even mourning that one so guilty should be taken away from them. The apostle insisted on purging the leaven out, in accordance with the sacrifice of Christ our passover; and the Spirit took care that as Christendom would show special disregard of this Epistle, it should be more impressively addressed than in any other, not to that assembly only, but coupling with it "all that call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, both theirs and ours." Slight is therefore verily inexcusable.

As a matter of fact too, it was not till long after the Christians referred to had gathered, not as belonging to denominations, but simply as members of Christ, recognising the one body and one Spirit according to the word, that the precise force of the Lord's word in Matt. 18:20 struck any. Believing in the abiding presence of the Holy Spirit since Pentecost, they had learnt the immense value of every inspired word. Tradition had no place in their eyes. Since they accepted every scripture as God-breathed and profitable, they sought entire subjection to it as a living word, while declining either to claim more than they had or to substitute human devices in lieu of what they had not. Any scholar who looks into the text in question must allow that, unless there were an obstacle from our idiom in this particular case, "unto" must be the exact force; for "into" would be absurd, and ἐν properly, not εἰς, means "in." But, far from a difficulty, the context here favours nothing so much as the proper import of εἰς, gathered "unto" My Name as the central presence on which they all depend and confide.

It was thus and only then perceived to be a confirmation of their position, already founded on the revealed principles of God's assembly, modified as this must be by the ruin not less carefully foreshown in the later Epistles and the Revelation, of which we are bound to take account, if we avoid that assumption which is so unworthy of Christ and so unbecoming in all that are His. How blessed to know that Christ remains as ever the centre for even two or three gathered to His Name!

But it was received as certain truth, on the evidence of scripture better understood and independently of any ground other than the precise and full meaning of our Saviour's words. Just so for many other truths of moment we have learnt since: we acted on the little that we first knew to be from God and of God; for we need the Spirit as well as the word. "To him that hath shall be given; but from him that hath not, even that which he hath shall be taken from him.” Nothing more perilous to man, nothing more dishonouring to God, than to give up what we once confessed and enjoyed as divine. Who can tell where departure once begun may end? (Bible Treasury N4:94-96)

In chap. 13:23, 45, 52, 28:23, it is simply an enemy, a merchant, a householder, the shepherds. In fact, it was not emphatically a man that was hostile, but the devil, and a King who in truth was not a mere man. So in 21:33, which may have led the Trans-Atlantics [American correctors of the RV] to “that was.” (Bible Treasury 14:335)

20:29-34 The last verses properly belong to the next chapter, which is the approach of our Lord to Jerusalem from the way of Jericho. And it is necessary to take the two chapters together, to have the proper connexion of all that the Holy Ghost has given us here. (Bible Treasury 4:212)

21:31 The first: Can there be a doubt which of the two did the will of his father? It was “the first,” and such is the testimony of eleven old uncial MSS., the mass of the cursives, and some of the best ancient versions, eastern and western; yet, sad to say, Lachmann and Tischendorf, followed, we believe, by their English imitators, Alford and Tregelles, have boldly made the people give the absurd answer, “The last!” Now this is against the very evidence which themselves adduce. For the Vatican MS. (B) is the sole Greek witness of importance (if not, in fact, the only witness) which gives ὁ ὑστερος (4 exhibiting δεύτερος, and 13, 69, ἔσχατος, supported by some versions and fathers). But then it is most unfair to base the proposed change upon this authority; because in the Vatican MS. and its reflectors, the answers of the two sons stand in inverted order; so that in effect the sense is the same as that of the common text. The Cambridge Codex Bezae (D) has the unenviable distinction among the uncials of reading ὁ αἰσχάτος (= ὁ ἔσχατος) while it retains the usual order. Manifestly, then, these critics have slipped into the false position of rejecting the overwhelming majority of the best authorities, and of furnishing, as the real text of the evangelist, that which is the reading of not one uncial MS. in existence, for it is neither the order of B nor the text of D; and this in spite of strong and unambiguous internal reasons which fix the right word, and in opposition to their own professed and almost mechanical attachment to the ancient external evidence! It is but fair to observe that Dr. Tischendorf has long abandoned this with many more wretched burlesques on scripture — the more wretched because accompanied by a vast deal of ill-founded pretension to accuracy. But the lesson of the Leipsic Professor seems to have been lost on Mr. [Thomas Sheldon] Green, who weaves an elaborate cobweb (pp. 23-26 [A Course of developed Criticism on passages of the New Testament, materially affected by various readings. London: Samuel Bagster & Sons.] round this plain question. He appears to lean towards ἔσχατος, a term stronger than ὑστερος, and he explains it, after a mode unprecedentedly far-fetched, as = πρώτος! He takes the second son's answer as the language of a sincerity (!) inconsiderate and fruitless; and in that case, the first son was in the rear of the other, for he had not advanced as far as well-meant profession!! He might as well argue that white = black. Happily, however, such a vagary as this was destined to the ephemeral existence it deserved, if it could be said to deserve existence [at] all. In a revised or new version of Matthew, which Mr. G. has published since his “Developed Criticism,” he has wisely returned to the king's highroad from the bye-path of a crotchety reading and a still more crotchety explanation. (Bible Treasury 1:295-296)

22:23 who say: [The American correctors of the RV for marginal “saying” suggest “Many ancient authorities read saying”] they are right in correcting the oversight of the Revisers; for it is a question between divided authorities, and not of mere Greek rendering; some deprecating “which say,” others “saying” only. 24:3 age: It is important to note the inexcusable error, in both the A.V. and the Revision, of confounding the end of “the age” with that of “the world.” There is not a shadow of ground for it; for the coming age of a thousand years and more is after the age that still is, and before the eternal scene. Even disciples, as yet preoccupied with Jewish hopes and prejudices, and wholly unintelligent of the new and large and heavenly associations of Christianity, knew better. They did not say τοῦ κόσμου (“of the world”) but τοῦ αἰῶνος (“of the age”); and the Lord in Matt. 13:38,40 had amply guarded against such a confusion. The field or sowing-place was “the world”; the judgment on the darnel and the display of the wheat should be at the close of “the age.” (“The Lord's Prophecy on Olivet,” Three Prophetic Gems, p.7, Bible Treasury N4:152) age: Observe, here, that the end of “the age” (αἰών) is the only proper meaning. It has no reference to the last catastrophe of the world as a material system, but to a certain dispensation running out its course in the world, from which the term κόσμος is totally distinct. generation: Mr. ALFORD is not correct in making ἡ γενεὰ αὐτῆς = "this race," because the race of Israel is not to pass away when all these things are fulfilled; but on the contrary Israel is then to reach its full blessing and glory as a people here below. The true force is, "this (Christ-rejecting, unbelieving) generation of Israel," not the mere existing generation, but such as bore the same moral fruits as those who then refused the Messiah.
